

MRS. ARCH EDMISTON BUYS BEAUTY SHOP, OPERATES BUSINESS

Mrs. Arch Edmiston, resident of Schleicher County, and wife of a local rancher, has bought the Eldorado Beauty Shop from Mrs. Roy Crider (the former Fay McAlpine) and has taken over operation of the business.

Mrs. Solon Booth, the former Ollie Lee Jeffrey, closed out her connection with the shop as operator last Saturday. Mrs. Crider will work another week or ten days.

Mrs. Edmiston is an experienced beauty shop owner and operator. She has owned and operated shops in Ballinger, Sweetwater and San Angelo, and at one time she instructed for Mrs. McIntyre.

She has already engaged an operator, who arrived here to start work last Monday. She is Mrs. Helen Ingram, formerly with Hillcrest Beauty Shop in San Angelo.

Mrs. Edmiston states that she will add another operator soon, and will make other improvements, such as addition of a cosmetics counter, before long.

Mrs. Crider has been with the establishment since it was opened in the Frozen Foods building eight years ago. Her operator, Mrs. Booth, began to work for her after finishing beauty school, several years ago.

Lions Hear Discussion Of Highway Problems

Highway problems relating to Eldorado and this general area were discussed at the Lions Club meeting yesterday, when T. J. Kelly, district highway engineer, and several others were guests.

One proposal which has come before the club at times has been the establishing of a speed zone through the business district with traffic lights. It was pointed out that the highway department first conducts a traffic survey to determine the need of signal lights, and if the need is shown, the lights are installed.

Destruction of highway property in this area was cited by the department men as being unusually heavy. They urged the support of all in helping keep down damage to the roadside park north of town and loss and damage of highway signs along the roads.

Another hazard pointed out was the narrow bridge near the railroad crossing on the Menard highway. Since the Eagle Drive-In Theatre has been built, traffic has been heavier over this road.

Eagle Cagers Down Sonora By 83-52 Score

Eagle Cagers downed Sonora 83 to 52 Tuesday night, in a game which was Eldorado's all the way. An early lead was set so that the score at the half stood 36-20.

By the time the fourth quarter came around Coach Johnson was playing mostly second string players.

Wilson Humphrey was high-point man for the Eagles with 24. Crises was high for Sonora with 16. Eagles' Scores

City Takes Steps To Provide Third Well For Water System

To offset danger of a water shortage in Eldorado which might be the unwelcome result of increasing consumption, the City of Eldorado this week awarded contract for another water well, the third for this city.

The contract to drill the well was awarded to Ira Glascock, Jr., who will drill it at $4.50 per foot, and set casing, with the city furnishing the material. The hole will be 12½ inches for 10-inch casing.

After the well is drilled to necessary depth, which will probably be about 360 feet or more, the water will be tested and the size of the pipe determined by the production.

Rock Church Of Christ Congregation Engages Floor Sanding Crew

The good grain of the pine floors in the Rock Church of Christ building has been brought out by a complete sanding job which is under way this week.

Waxing has followed the sanding, and polishing will complete the job. San Angelo contractors are in charge of the work.

The crew had to stack the furniture on alternate sides of the room as the work progressed. The pews had been recently renovated.

Because the work will not be finished in time for week end services, the congregation will go to the Memorial building for all of the worship services next Sunday. Minister Quentin Dunn's announcement concerning the time of services appears elsewhere in the Success news columns.

The Board of Education met in their regular meeting Monday evening, February 2nd and after a very enjoyable dinner prepared by Miss Barton and the Homemaking girls, went into their business session.

Prizes, Ribbons, Money, Medals At 4-H Lamb and Sheep Show At 4-H Barns Last Saturday

"Each year the show gets better," was the opinion expressed by an interested rancher, one of many who took in the Schleicher County 4-H Fat Lamb and Breeding Show Saturday.

Judges were Oscar Carpenter of the Experiment Station at Sonora, live stock; and Edwin Jackson and Jess Koy, showmanship.

Hard working committees had laid the groundwork for the show, which has been going through progressive stages of planning for months. Clear weather added to the pleasantness of the day.

Several local 4-H'ers walked away with big prizes. Ronnie Mittel, age 15, had grand champion lamb of the show. Bred by Henry Moore of this county, the lamb is a Rambouillet-Suffolk crossbred animal. Ronnie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Mittel. For this honor he received a $10 award, from Nathans.

Sonny Moore, 16-year-old grandson of the B. E. Moores, won the reserve grand champion award of $5. The lamb was from the Coupe ranch. Sonny won grand championship last year.

Mike Moore showed the champion ewe, and was awarded a rosette and a Stetson from Charlie Trigg Motors.

John Williams, winner of champion ram, won a rosette and a Stetson from Ratliff's.

Jerry Johnson won the Holland award—a Sterling belt buckle, and Jack Stanford, winner of first place in showmanship, was awarded a sterling spur clip by NFLA of Sonora. Here are the day's entries, with names of 4-H'ers, in order, premiums, and breeders:

Quite a lot of plastic from what must have been a weather balloon was found Monday morning over an area of possibly several miles on the J. Tom Williams place. Mrs. Cecil Williams at first found two small pieces and later began to pick up pieces as big as a bed sheet. When she stopped at J. Tom's with her find they were coming in from feeding their stock and they also had armloads of the material.

They describe it as shimmering plastic such as is used in making of table cloths and aprons. Assuming that there should be some instruments somewhere which dropped when the balloon exploded, they spent some time looking for them—put no luck.

TEACHER SALARY PROBLEMS STUDIED BY GOVERNOR

(NOTE: The Governor of Texas says our school teachers must have a cost-of-living increase in pay. The problem is finding the money. His plan, as presented to the Legislature recently, is outlined in a series of articles of which this is the second.)

By Allan Shivers, Governor of Texas
Our schools cannot be run properly without good teachers.

Most of our teachers are devoted to their careers, but they have to make a living.

Young people are not interested in preparing for jobs that don't pay well. So we have not only to pay today's teachers adequately but to attract tomorrow's. Like everything else in Texas, our school population grows year by year.

The question, then, is not whether we must raise teachers' pay—but how and how much.

As explained in the first article of this series, I believe it is possible to give the teachers a cost-of-living increase without raising State taxes.

The first step would be the redistribution of state funds now on hand, to get more of our state dollars to the schools that need them most.

Here, again, we start with our "two-pocket" method of financing public schools.

From the available school fund, one pocket of the State school finance setup, money goes out to school districts whether or not they actually need it. It is paid on a straight per capita basis—that is, so much for each youngster of school age living within the district.

The minimum foundation, or Gilmer Aikin, fund supplies money to school districts purely on a basis of need. From this pocket come the dollars to insure that every school gets all the money it requires to operate up to standards set by the State Board of Education.

This is the way your two-pocket system now operates:

School district A, a prosperous and well-populated community, gets $400,000 from the available school fund in per capita payments. By Gilmer-Aikin standards, the State Board of Education figures this district's actual need of State funds at $350,000. Thus, it receives no money from the minimum foundation pocket. But it already has obtained $50,000 more in State assistance than it requires.

Now let's take a look at school district B, in a less prosperous neck of the woods. In per capita payments it receives $325,000. But the Gilmer-Aikin yardstick shows that, just like district A, this district also needs $350,000 to meet the standards. So it is granted another $25,000 from the minimum foundation pocket, bringing its total to $350,000. But poor B's rich neighbor A has received $50,000 in State money that it doesn't actually need to meet the State's minimum standards.

I realize that district A probably can put that extra $50,000 to good use. But the problem must be considered from the standpoint of State assistance which, under the Gilmer-Aikin program, is granted for the purpose of assuring every school child a minimum standard of education.

Besides the taxes the Constitution definitely sets aside for public schools, the available school fund receives about $15 million a year from tax sources the Constitution does not require to be so allocated.

This $15 million could be transferred from the available school fund to the minimum foundation fund. The redistribution would (1) reduce per capita payments from $68 to about $58, (2) ease the drain on the general revenue fund, (3) provide more Gilmer-Aikin money for needy schools, and (4) help make a cost-of-living raise possible for the teachers without increasing taxes.

My other suggestion is that the school districts of Texas return to the original Gilmer-Aikin plan of contributing to the minimum foundation fund on the basis of growing tax values, rather than on the present flat ceiling basis of local contributions.

In my opinion the Gilmer-Aikin program is the most progressive achievement ever made in Texas public school education. It provides workable means by which every child in the state can be assured of an adequate education.

I believe that these adjustments, which can be made, will contribute to the spirit and effectiveness of this over-all educational program and help us continue to build a greater Texas.

Calling all young people: Our youth revival date is set. Our workers have been secured. Mark this date in your book. April 12-19. We will serve breakfast each morning to our young people at 7:00. We are to have morning worship each morning at 7:30. Evening services will begin at 7:30 with prayer groups and the song service will begin at 8:00 p. m. The preacher will be Bubba Woods. The singer will be Wayne Philpot, state B. S. U. music director. The pianist will be R. B. Cooper. Make this a must on your calendar. All youth of Eldorado will be welcome at these services.

Our pastor will bring both of our messages this Lord's day. His subject for the morning hour will be, "Our Greatest Hour." He will preach at the evening hour on this subject, "Thus We Dedicate Ourselves." We are always grateful for our visitors. If you a Baptist and living in Eldorado we offer you our church for a church home. If you have no church preference you will be welcome with us. We try our best to be the "Friendly Church with a Spiritual Program." Come see us. We believe you will be glad that you did, and we know that we will be glad that you did.

We have a new organization in the making, R. A. chapter for both junior and intermediate boys. Any boy from 9 through 13 is urged to investigate the possibilities of this organization. It will be meet-each Tuesday afternoon at 4:15. For our camps at Lake Brownwood We need to begin now to get ready which will be held from June 15-18. WILLIAMS-ALDRIDGE WEDDING IS HELD SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Helen Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Williams, and Everet G. Aldridge, son of Mrs. Jerome Mitchell, were married Sunday afternoon at the First Baptist Church, the pastor, Rev. Clifford Nelson, officiating with the double ring ceremony.

For the wedding the bride wore a gray two-piece suit with pink blouse, and her accessories were black. The bride's sister Juanice Williams and the groom's half brother, Voy J. Mitchell, were the couple's only attendants.

Baskets of white and pink carnations decorated the church.

After the wedding Mrs. Williams entertained about 50 at a reception at the family home in Eldorado. The white wedding cake, which was decorated with pink, was served from a lace-covered table which was centered with pink and white flowers. Mrs. Agnes Wallace, of Odessa, aunt of the bride, cut and served the cake.

The couple spent the weekend in Brady, returning to Eldorado early this week to stay with relatives until the groom leaves for over-sea assignment.

The bride received schooling at Rochelle and Frady, moving with the family to Eldorado over two years ago. She is a high school senior, and after missing a week of school will return to her school work to complete her last semester and graduate with her class. She will continue to make her home with her parents.

The groom attended the Eldorado public school, and after a short period of employment here he enlisted in the air force two years ago for a four-year term. Now having the rank of sergeant, he has been stationed at Savannah, but after completing his 25-day furlough will report at Pittsburg, California, from where he will leave for Okinawa.

Among the relatives and close friends attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hughes and son and daughter, relatives of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. John Masey, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Williams, Ab Williams, and Mrs. Agnes Wallace of Odessa.

A bridal shower is planned at the Memorial Building Thursday night and old friends will sponsor a shower Saturday night in the Calf Creek club room.

POLIO FUND DRIVE VERY SUCCESSFUL; MAIL YOUR CHECK!

A total of $1046 for the March of Dimes fund was reported Wednesday afternoon by Schleicher Co. Chairman Mrs. Lawrence Steen. She states that the drive is still under way, and that checks may be mailed to her or to Mrs. Frank Meador, in case anyone has failed to make his donation.

Of the amount raised, half goes into the local fund and the other half will be mailed to national headquarters for research purposes.

Committeemen urge that every person should give to this worthy cause—at once.

Mrs. Steen and her assistants have raised over twice as much this year as last year, for which all public spirited residents of the county commend them highly. Mrs. Steen states that she has had excellent help and perfect cooperation from the public, for which they extend their thanks.

"We have not heretofore needed a large fund here, and we do hope we never have an epidemic during which we have to draw on these local funds," states Mrs. Steen who further adds that the amount raised this year, added to present funds, would help a great deal if the disease got a start here. Treatment is expensive—requiring a great deal of money—and in case of a major epidemic much more would be needed.

The most successful Mothers March the city has ever had resulted Friday night in collections amounting to over $717. If any were missed in this "porchlight parade" of solicitors, they are urged to send in their contributions.

The Business Men's Bible Class, which disbanded a few months ago, donated their treasury, consisting of about $29, to this year's drive.

Six local businesses donating coffee proceeds for one day each, were responsible for $131.40—these were Java Junction, West Texas Cafe, Roysters Cafe, City Cafe, Ballew Drug and Eldorado Drug. Four oil and pipeline companies have sent checks for a total of $65. The remaining amount represents other donations.

WCS MEETING MONDAY

Seventeen were present when the WCS of the Methodist Church met in regular session at the church Monday afternoon. The Pioneer Circle was in charge of the program, with Mrs. Luke Thompson and Mrs. L. Wheeler bringing the lesson from the mission study book. Cake and coffee was served.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Wilton and son Billy came in Tuesday night from New Mexico to spend several days with Mr. and Mrs. James Page.

Mrs. Dorsey Hardeman and two sons of San Angelo are spending several days here with the L. Moores.

The J. C. McCoy family have recovered from flu and the children have returned to school.

Mrs. Paul Page and baby are spending the week in Dallas with relatives.

The Farm Family At The Mid-Century

It was not long after the first farm demonstration commenced in Kaufman county in 1903, that the Extension method of teaching began to include the women of the family. Dr. Seaman A. Knapp, the founder of this idea which has become international in its scope, early in his teaching believed in having the women and girls take part in demonstrations in the home.

Bonnie Cox, acting state home demonstration leader for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says the first Texas home demonstration agent, Mrs. Edna W. Trigg, was appointed for Milam County in 1912. In the beginning, emphasis was largely placed upon teaching skills in canning, cooking, and sewing. Through the years, the approach shifted to the family as well as the individual, and the program included health and health facilities, economics, consumer education and marketing, family relationships and recreation, in addition to foods, clothing, home management, and home furnishings.

Miss Cox, adviser to the Texas Home Demonstration Association which has more than 3,000 affiliated clubs with 44,000 members, says through their organizations the rural women participate in county program planning, not only studying community and civic problems but devoting considerable time to state and national affairs. They study agricultural resources and local, state and national conditions that affect agriculture, and they are increasing their efforts to acquire an understanding of world problems.

Home demonstration club women are making plans for the observance of the fiftieth anniversary of the Extension Service. Miss Cox says Mrs. B. M. Harris, Hale county, president of the association, will represent its members on the opening program at the Porter Farm in Kaufman County, February 26.

Recipe of the Week

Lima Bean And Sausage Casserole

1 cup large dry lima beans
2½ cups water
1 teaspoon salt
3 medium sized carrots, sliced
½ pound sausage
2 tablespoons chopped onion

Add water to beans. Boil two minutes and soak one hour before cooking, or soak overnight if preferred. After soaking, add salt and simmer gently for 30 minutes. Add carrots the last five minutes. Do not drain.

If bulk sausage is used, blend onion with it, shape into small patties, and brown in frying pan. If link sausage is used, cut in ½-inch slices and brown with the onion.

Add the cooked sausage and 2 tablespoons of the drippings to the beans.

Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, in a covered casserole until beans are tender, about one hour. If necessary, add extra water during baking. Makes 4 servings.

CAN YOU AFFORD TO LOSE YOUR RIGHT TO DRIVE?

Thousands of motorists face loss of their driving licenses unless properly insured, under Texas law.

Thousands of Texas motorists face loss of their driving licenses, plus heavy financial loss, unless they take steps now to obtain or maintain proper automobile liability insurance, says Ed Meador, local State Farm Mutual automobile agent.

"Uninsured motorists involved in an accident causing physical injury to others—or $100 or more in property damage—face severe penalties unless they can raise up to $15,000 in cash or equivalent within seventy days after the accident," Meador points out.

Insurance The Answer
To protect motorists from the hardships this would cause, State Farm

Mutual offers a liability policy which enables any Texas motorist to meet all the financial requirements of the law, provided the policy is in force at the time the accident happens.

"I sell State Farm Mutual because this company writes more full-coverage auto insurance than any other automobile insurance company and my company has a national as well as a state-wide reputation for prompt, fair settlement and sound protection," Meador says. "Sound automobile insurance is the only practical way for anyone to insure his right to drive under the Texas law. The way to avoid trouble in the future is to take out State Farm Mutual liability insurance and renew it conscientiously as expiration dates arrive."

Day and Night Service
Ed "Two-Bits" Meador is on duty day and night to serve State Farm policy-holders in this community. He can be reached at 23161 during business hours, and at 21054 in the evenings or on Sundays and holidays.

Gas For Sonora
Sonora went "over the top" Thursday afternoon on its quota of subscribers needed to bring natural gas here. Lea Roy Aldwell, chairman of the businessmen's committee, said they had 378, three over the required number meter deposits and subscribers agreements were still coming in. He estimated that at least 400 will be signed up before laying of the gas mains begins.

Dick Morrison was the 375th signer.

Working with Aldwell Thursday were E. L. Buelow, San Angelo, division superintendent, Lone Star Gas Company, and Clyde S. Perkins, industrial engineer with Lone Star. Perkins spent Thursday discussing changing over from butane to natural gas with industrial users and other large consumers.

Aldwell pointed out that persons wanting natural gas hook-ups should sign up as soon as possible because it will be much cheaper for the company to run mains while its construction crews are here than it will be to run an extension later on a private contract. It is unlikely the company will run an extension after it has piped the town unless there is a chance of serving quite a few customers.

Buelow and Perkins were spotted

Bronte Bank Robbed
Bronte residents were aroused from a quiet afternoon Tuesday when it became known that two bandits had entered the First National Bank, tied up two employees, and walked away with $8,927.04.

A road block on all highways leading from here was immediately arranged through Sheriff Paul Good's office when he was notified of the theft.

Thursday as The Enterprise went to press the robbers had not been apprehended and clues were scarce. A service station attendant in San Angelo said that two men with guns in their belts asked him to change a $100 bill Tuesday night. Local Schools To Join In State Observance Of Public Schools Week

The schools of Eldorado will join with others throughout the state in observance of Public Schools Week, March 1 through 7, and through the month of February will be working out details for this important event.

From J. W. Edgar, commissioner of Education, comes this explanation of the purposes and aims of the Week:

Texas public schools are administered according to the idea that the best results can be obtained only through strong interest and participation in school affairs on the part of local citizens, and close cooperation between those citizens and their public school officials.

Each year the Texas Education Agency sponsors a Citizens Advisory Conference on Education and a School Administrators Advisory Conference on Education. The purpose of these advisory conferences is to give school patrons and school officials an opportunity to voice their opinions on what is needed in the way of State and local public school management in Texas. Both patrons and officials render more productive assistance to the state-wide program of education when their efforts are based on their experiences in working and planning for the improvement of the schools in their own districts and communities. It is important, that local citizens have an officially designated opportunity to visit their schools to see them in operation, and to exchange understanding of local problems with teachers and administrators.

Public Schools Week in Texas, which we are observing for the third time March 1 through 7, 1953, is one of the ways we have for bringing about cooperation and understanding between patrons and educators, and for stimulating local citizen interest in school affairs.

At our 1952 Citizens Advisory Conference there were many strong recommendations for more citizen interest in public schools, and for greater emphasis on Public Schools Week in Texas. We take this as a healthy sign for public education, for we feel that the schools of Texas can be just as good as the people want them to be.

We are requesting that, during 1953 Public Schools Week, teachers and administrators do all they can to promote school visitation and to interpret their schools to their communities. We urge all citizens to take active interest in their public schools throughout the entire year, and this week in particular.

Arthur Mund was in Sonora Tuesday to attend the regular meeting of the draft board. Two have received calls for physicals: Billy Ray Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Jones, and Gerald Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hicks—both are in the 19½-year-old (or over) classification.

Because of the recent death of J. H. Wagley, Mrs. Wagley and Joe and his family will exchange houses. Mrs. Wagley moves this week to Eldorado to occupy the cottage which Joe and his family have been living in, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wagley and children will occupy the larger ranch house on the San Angelo Highway. Mrs. J. H. Wagley has been ill with flu but is improving.

Gerald Wayne, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Alexander of Snyder, was operated on for appendicitis at Colorado City this week.

Henry Moore of Eldorado, Herman Allen of Menard, and J. S. Johnson of Veribest went to Fort Worth Tuesday to spend several days at the Fat Stock Show.

JOHNNY REGAN

Johnny Regan, world-famous cowboy, will present a program of trick ropings and stunts Tuesday morning at 9:00 in the high school auditorium, sponsored by the Student Council. School officials state that the public is invited and that admission will be 20c.

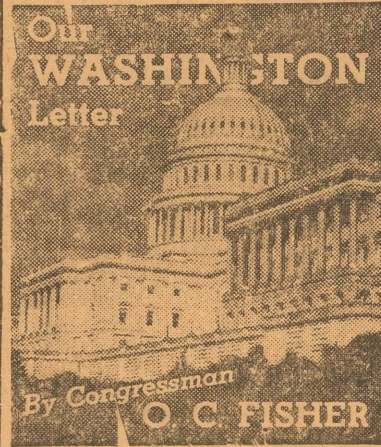

From England's Windsor Castle to our South and Southwest is a long way, but Johnny Regan made it. His act will include the "Texas Wagon Wheel," an origination of the late Will Rogers. He says, "Will taught me the stunt while we were together in London." During the stunt Regan twirls a huge lasso sideways and jumps back and forth through the loop.

Regan got his start when his father, a member of the Kings Royal Horse Guard at Windsor Castle, sent him to live with an uncle, who was a cattle rancher, in Queensland, Australia.

OF INTEREST to every American was the recent appointment of Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor to replace General Van Fleet as commander of the Eighth Army in Korea. The importance of this assignment is underscored because of the likelihood of a change in tactics which would be designed to break the Korean stalemate this year. The success of such a venture will, of course, depend in no small part on the caliber of the man in command.

The Taylor appointment was announced by General Collins at a luncheon at the Pentagon, where our committee on Armed Services had gone for a briefing on the Army's Research and Development program. Taylor, a calm, calculating sort, made a little talk in which he commended General Van Fleet and said those shoes would be hard to fill. "However," he continued, "in taking over the command I feel that I will have the home-front viewpoint. I think I know something of the feeling of the American people about the war in Korea. I am a soldier, and I shall go there as a replacement in our military program and shall do my best to maintain the great reputation of the 8th Army."

Taylor, now only 51, has behind him a brilliant record in World War II where he commanded the 101st Airborne Division. He parachuted with his Division into Normandy to become the first general American officer to land there. He was acclaimed for his generalship in the Battle of the Bulge, and in 1944 was chosen to fly behind the German lines to negotiate with the Italian government.

Following the war, General Taylor was Superintendent at West Point for three years, then in 1949 took over command of both the American Military Government and Army forces in Berlin. More recently he has been deputy Chief of Staff of Operations. He speaks four foreign languages—French, Spanish, German and Japanese.

Thus, our troops in Korea will be under command of a man who has proven his competence under the test of battle. He has demonstrated his qualities as an educator, negotiator, and administrator, as well as a strategist and military leader. There is a lot of comfort in the knowledge that General Van Fleet—one of the very greatest combat leaders in American Army—will be succeeded by a man so capable and so highly respected as is true of General Taylor.

Will May Cut Costs, Red Tape In Settling Estate

A properly drawn will can be the means of short-cutting many legal formalities, and save a great deal of time in distributing the estate of a decedent among his rightful heirs. It may also serve to save many dollars in legal fees and court costs.

As an example, whenever a person dies without a will and it is necessary for the probate court to appoint an administrator of his estate, the person so appointed is required to post a bond. This bond is for the purpose of insuring the faithful performance of his duties. When signed by individuals, the amount thereof must be double the estimated value of the personal property of the estate plus a reasonable amount to cover prospective rents and other income from real estate involved.

When issued by a bonding company, the estimated value of the personal property need not be doubled. The administrator's bond must be kept in force until the estate is finally closed and he is discharged from his obligation by the court.

The same rule applies to an executor under a will, unless the testator has specified that no bond shall be required. This provision may be inserted or left out of the will at the option of the maker. Needless to say, there are situations in which the bond serves a real purpose. But when not needed, the statutory requirement may prove a distinct annoyance to the executor and a burden upon the estate in the form of annual premium payments.

Another example: A court appointed administrator may not sell any property of an estate without an order of the court authorizing him to do so. He must make application to the court for approval of each sale. The court must be advised of and approve the sales price and the manner in which the same is to be collected. Similar provisions apply to the making of mineral leases and other transactions.

These provisions apply equally to the executor of a will, unless the testator has freed him from such requirements. A single short paragraph inserted in a will designating him as an independent executor in appropriate phraseology may serve this purpose. Then he will have a free hand to dispose of property upon short notice whenever a favorable opportunity arises, with a minimum of legal formality.

Since every application or other paper filed with the probate court and ever yorder obtained from the court involves the expenditure of attorney fees for its preparation and court costs for its handling by the clerk, in proper cases many dollars may be saved for the heirs by adequate provisions of a will.

A new type motor oil for the new cars.

Your new car needs this new type oil

Prevents "4000-mile knock." Many 1952 and practically all the 1953 automobiles have high compression engines.

You've heard about these fine new engines.

You know, for example, that they require gasoline with extra anti-knock performance . . . a gasoline like Humble Esso Extra.

Now, Detroit's automotive engineers have discovered that high compression engines need an entirely new type of motor oil. With conventional oils in the crankcase, the new engines have a tendency to ping, or knock, after four to eight thousand miles of driving.

This "4000-mile knock" is caused by combustion chamber deposits; these increase the compression ratio to a point where no commercial gasoline will give you anti-knock performance.

Humble Esso Uniflo, an entirely new type motor oil, prevents the formation of deposits that cause "4000-mile knock" in high compression engines if you begin to use it regularly in the first 1000 miles of driving.

Protects against friction wear and acid corrosion. Second, the engineers discovered that friction is the chief cause of wear in automobile engines. Moving parts in the new engines are so carefully machined that they fit very closely. This gives you much better performance from your car, but it also requires superior lubrication. Heavy oils and oils that "thicken" in cold weather don't flow readily between such closely fitting parts. The result is excessive wear from friction, and expensive engine overhauls . . . To minimize friction wear . . . again you need Humble's new Esso Uniflo Motor Oil.

Esso Uniflo has such an amazingly high viscosity index that it gives you the quick-flowing characteristics of an SAE 5W oil at 25° below zero Fahrenheit, and the tough, full body of an SAE 20 oil at 110° Fahrenheit.

Furthermore, the additives in Esso Uniflo are anti-acid—this new type oil cuts acid corrosion as much as 50%.

You Need Only One Grade of Humble Esso Uniflo.

You use it year 'round. Esso Uniflo meets all the specifications for SAE viscosity classifications 5W, 10W, 20W and 20. It is a heavy duty, detergent oil, recommended for API service classifications ML (light duty), MM (medium duty), MS (severe duty) and DG (general diesel duty). Its viscosity index is amazingly high.

Premium Value—Premium Price

Humble Esso Uniflo costs something more than most motor oils. But you'll agree that the small extra cost—less than one-tenth of a cent for each mile of driving—is cheap insurance against "4000-mile knock," friction wear, and acid corrosion!

A Word to Owners of Older Automobiles

If you use an oil meeting SAE viscosity classifications up to 20—you will find it profitable to change to Humble's new type Esso Uniflo. It will protect your car against friction wear and acid corrosion; reduce starting drag and extend battery life.

If your engine has just been rebuilt—change to Esso Uniflo. It will prevent the deposits causing "4000-mile knock"; it will protect against wear from friction and corrosion, reduce starting drag and extend battery life.

If you use SAE 30 or SAE 40 oil—Humble continues to recommend Esso Extra Motor Oil No. 3, a high quality, heavy duty, detergent oil with a viscosity index second only to that of Esso Uniflo.

C. O. Bruton, of the Eldorado-Divide Soil Conservation District, says droughts like the present one are not new to West Texas. Bruton thinks the present drought is worse than that of 1917-18, and that West Texas will continue to have good rainfall years as well as low rainfall years.

From a moisture standpoint, Bruton does not think the cycle has changed in the past 50 years. Farming practices and farming methods have changed considerably since the drought of 1917. Most all farm implements were drawn by horses or mules. Fields were bedded and cultivated with straight rows with little thought to soil and moisture conservation. At the present time most farmers use tractors to do all their farm work. Most farmers have quit straight row farming and make their rows on the contour (water level) for soil and water conservation.

Bruton has farmed his cropland on the contour for the past several years. He realizes that contour rows will not hold all the water in big rains. He has constructed level terraces on part of his farmland, and plans to construct terraces on all farmland that is not terraced. Bruton says, "Although I have not had a good rainfall year to realize the full benefits from my terraces, I received some benefit in 1949. I combined six bushels of wheat per acre for about 40 feet above each terrace. The remainder of the field was not good enough to combine." Bruton maintains the needed height to his terraces by plowing to them each year. This enables him to receive the maximum benefits from rains received. He also maintains the end closures to a full closure to conserve all the water possible.

Bruton realizes that terraces and contour farming alone are not the answer to the soil and moisture problem on his farm. To receive the full benefits from conservation practices, a combination of these practices are included in his well rounded soil and water conservation plan. One of these practices included in his plan is stubble mulch farming. Stubble mulch farming is leaving approximately 1,500 lbs. of crop residue on the land following small grain and grain sorghum crops. This practice has been comparatively easy for Bruton to apply because his crop rotation includes crops that produce good residue. Bruton states that he does not know any way to determine the dollar and cent value of stubble mulch, but from observation he has seen several benefits. Some of the benefits of stubble mulching observed by Bruton are: fields with good stubble mulch do not lose soil by wind erosion; stubble mulch helps hold water where it falls, keeps soil open so water will go into the soil, and moisture does not dry out so fast. He also states, "I have seen a good stand of small grain ruined by wind as compared to no loss on fields with good stubble mulch."

Bruton's 299 acres of cropland on his stock farm is divided into several fields so some fields can be used for grazing purposes along with his 181 acres of rangeland. Due to the fact that during the past two years he has not grown any crops or grass, he has reduced his sheep to 68 registered Rambouillet ewes. Bruton states, "If I keep all my ewe lambs for breeding purposes and sell all buck lambs, I will have more sheep than I need before my pasture reaches a good condition."

To further bear out the need for applying soil and water conservation practices, Bruton states, "A crop can be grown on a field where conservation practices have been applied and are being maintained, with half the water it takes to produce a crop on a field with no conservation practices applied."

NEWS FROM THE STATE CAPITOL

By VERN SANFORD
 Texas Press Association

Austin.—No husband is legally permitted to be present when his wife is signing a legal document. The theory is that he might unduly influence her.

Some theory! Anyhow it's the law. But women who take an interest in legislative matters are trying to bring about its repeal.

This is one of the dozen projects that attract the interest of women, who have come a long way in establishing themselves around the capital in the last 30 years.

Take it from Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum, who was secretary of state from 1927 to 1933—things were a lot different 30 years ago.

Then the women were trying to get the right to vote, but the "suffragettes" were subject to more ridicule than serious consideration from the male lawmakers.

The women were determined, however, and in 1918 Texas became the first Southern state to grant primary suffrage to women.

The difference today is like that between the daguerreotype and television. Today there are more women than men around the legislative halls. There are some 200 of them who attend to the members' typing, filing, and other secretarial chores. Not only that, but there also are four feminine lawmakers.

Senator Neville H. Colson of Navatosa is the first Texas woman to have served in both House and Senate. She was first elected to the House in 1939, served five terms, and was promoted in 1949 to the Senate, where she still serves.

Two women are serving their second terms in the House. They are Mrs. Dorothy Gillis Gurley of Del Rio and Miss Virginia Duff of Ferris.

Miss Duff is thought to be the smallest person ever to serve in the legislature. She is just under five feet tall and weighs 91 pounds. During last summer's campaign her weight went down to 86. Miss Duff says she is "little but loud."

A freshman member of the House is Miss Anita Blair of El Paso, who lost her sight in an automobile accident in 1936. Miss Blair has been informed by the American Foundation for the Blind that she is the first blind woman ever to be elected to public office. Fawn, a 14-year-old seeing-eye dog, accompanies Miss Blair around the capital.

The legislature's present four women members were antedated by Miss Margie E. Neal of Carthage, who was Texas' first woman senator. She was elected in 1927 and served until 1935. Also by Mrs. Edith Wilmans of Dallas, first Texas woman legislator. She was elected to the House and served in the 38th Legislature.

Some of the measures in which women are interested at this session are those that would:

- 1. Permit women to serve on juries. A resolution for this purpose has the support of Representatives Horace B. Houston Jr. of Dallas and Lamar Zively of Temple. The resolution, if passed, would result in a vote of the people on a constitutional amendment.
- 2. Permit women to sell separate property without the consent of their husbands, if the property belonged to the woman before her marriage or was acquired by her through inheritance. Women have long sought this privilege.
- 3. Abolish the separate acknowledgment for wives. This is the one that chases the husband out of the room while the wife is signing a legal document. Representative D. H. Buchanan of Longview is a supporter of this one.
- 4. Extend homestead tax exemptions to single persons. Many single women, as well as men, support relatives and should have the exemption the same as married couples, say adherents of this proposal.
- 5. Keep the motor vehicle inspection law. Officials of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers are behind this proposition. Some changes might be required, the board of managers agreed, to make the law workable. But the P.T.A. group thought the law ought to be retained.
- 6. Increase the basic teaching salary to $3,000 per year and give raises to principals and supervisors. This is another goal of the P.T.A.

Approved by a house committee was a proposed constitutional amendment that would increase the salaries of legislators from $10 to $25 per day during the first 120 days of the session. Members would get $5 per day after the first 120 days, the same as at present.

Proposed constitutional changes were introduced in both houses that would lift the present $35 million ceiling on welfare spending.

If passed by both houses and approved by the voters, this measure would permit greater payments to the aged, needy blind, and dependent children.

Two bills were aimed at reducing traffic accidents. Senator Carlos Ashley of Llano introduced one that would impose a minimum five-day jail sentence on drunken drivers. Representative Thomas R. Joseph Jr. of Waco advocates increasing drivers' license fees and spending the money to hire more highway patrolmen.

Governor Allan Shivers, who owns two newspapers, became a reporter to advocate raising salaries for teachers. Last week many Texas newspapers printed the first of a series of articles, under the Governor's by-line, advocating the increase.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lloyd moved this week to Batesville near Uvalde. He has been employed here with REA.

Mrs. W. L. James and baby of San Angelo are here spending a week while Mr. James is in Kingsville working on a bridge.

Mrs. Frank Bradley is able to be up after her recent illness.

Mrs. Marvin Logan has been on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sloan entertained Mr. and Mrs. E. Kennedy of Christoval at a birthday dinner Sunday night honoring Mrs. Kennedy.

Mrs. R. H. Dameron has been on the sick list this week.

Multi-Million Dollar Case Decided In Favor Of The State of Texas

AUSTIN (Spl.)—Attorney General John Ben Shepperd was notified January 29 by District Judge Paul Martineau of Corpus Christi that the multi-million dollar Texas Company case had been decided in favor of the State of Texas.

The suit was the first major case tried under Shepperd's administration.

In Austin, Shepperd termed the judgment a "far-reaching victory for the school children of Texas."

All funds recovered will go to the Permanent School Fund.

The Corpus Court set aside two mineral deeds and held the State has title to the minerals under 4000 acres of Duval County land including all oil and gas produced. The land now has over 40 producing oil wells, drilled by the Texas Company.

Under the judge's decision, the Texas Company will be allowed to deduct good faith expenses spent in developing the property.

John Peace, Executive Assistant Attorney General tried the case for the State. He was assisted by Special Assistant Charles D. Mathews of Austin.

If upheld by the appellate courts, the trial court's decision will mean several millions in income to the Permanent School Fund. Approximately one million dollars in past income and the value of the minerals and the wells would immediately accrue to the state.

Further development of the area would result through releasing of the land and the wells.

Melton To Be Speaker On Highway Problems At Meeting Of Lions

JAMES F. MELTON

James F. Melton, director of state and national affairs of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, will address the Eldorado Lions Club February 11. He will discuss Texas highway problems.

James F. Melton was manager of the taxation and legislation department of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce before he joined the WTCC staff in January, 1951. In that position he was a leader in the movement which launched the Texas Economy Commission. He was legislative assistant to the executive vice president of the Texas Manufacturers Association before joining the WTCC staff. He was instrumental in obtaining legislation which revised portions of the Unemployment Compensation Act with reference to notification and merit rating that has saved Texas business firms many millions.

During the war, Melton was assistant superintendent of the Security and Intelligence section of the Oak Ridge atomic energy installation. Prior to the war he practiced law in Cleveland, Ohio, and Knoxville, Tenn. He is a 1941 graduate of Cumberland Law School and a native of Troup, Texas. He attended the University of Texas.

In his talk Wednesday he will give some of the facts contained in his analysis, which he prepared on Texas roads and highways. This publication contains explanatory material, figures, and charts on highway problems.
