$5,300 Pledged For Screwworm Program

By W. G. Godwin

According to Leslie Baker, treasurer of the screwworm program $5,300 has been contributed by Schleicher producers to the program to be used for eradication of the screwworm.

On February 1st the local funds will be turned over to the Texas Animal Health Commission so— (1) A correct count can be made of the money contributed and (2) to see if enough funds have been collected to begin work in 1962.

This money will be held in escrow by the State commission until used on the screwworm program.

If not used, all money will be returned to Mr. Baker and refunded to the contributors.

Approximately 30% of the total funds—on the basis of 50 cents for breeding cattle, horses, deer and breeding sheep and goats at 10 cents per head—has been contributed. It is hoped that this county would have $10,000 to be used on this work by February 1st in order to meet the total possible quota of 65-70%.

All contributions are on a voluntary basis and it is estimated that each $3.00 contributed will net approximately $100.00 in the long run for the producers. Then too, with the recent cold weather driving the screwworm into a small area, several hundred thousand dollars can be saved by starting in 1962.

Producers who have contributed up to this time are:

W. R. Bearce, T. B. Cox, Jr., Otis Deal, Howard Derrick, Aubrey DeLong, George DeLong, P. S. Dudley, Joe Edens, B. F. Hartgraves, Gerald Hartgraves, Sam Henderson, Chester Wheeler, Tom R. Henderson, R. D. Johnson.

A. W. Keys, Mrs. Mary McBurnett, P. K. McIntosh, C. L. McMillian, C. S. McMillian, C. L. Meador & Son, W. F. Meador, T. C. Meador, Henry Moore, Frank Newman, Jim O'Harrow.

John Rae Powell, David Powell, Elizabeth Powell, J. F. Runge, Henry Speck, Faye Baugh Spence, L. W. Steen, Thad A. Thomson, J. F. Webster, Carrol White, Mrs. Myrtle Williams, Josh Ewing, F. Luckenback.

Eagles Win One, and Lose One At Ozona

Eldorado won its first round game in the Ozona tournament, beating Rankin 50-31.

Jim Runge led the Eagles with 21 points. Pete Logan made 12 and a fine job on both backboards. John McGregor, Lynn Meador and Jim Cheek all turned in a good performance also.

The Eagles lost their second round game 48-42 to Sanderson. Sanderson then beat Big Lake for the championship. Sanderson jumped off to a 15-6 first quarter lead but the Eagles hit 21 points in the second quarter and tied the score at 27 all at half time. Jim Runge sprained his ankle just before half time, and was unable to play at top form during the second half. He scored 29 points, 23 coming the first half. Runge made the all-tournament team.

Junction will be here for two games Friday.

Another Spell of Cold Hits

Eldorado motorists came out Tuesday morning and found themselves slewing all over the street when they attempted to make a simple turn. Streets were ice covered and tree branches and foliage of all kinds were heavily covered with a coating of ice.

This cold spell got under way Monday with the temperature bobbing around twenty and to make the misery worse there was a bitter north wind. At bedtime Monday night thermometers were hovering around 16 and remained there throughout the night, but the wind died down which helped to make the next day somewhat less rugged.

Stockmen were busy as usual making trips to feed lots, putting out feed and breaking ice on water troughs. Many of them stopped at the coffee counters in town before leaving out for their rugged outdoor chores.

Schools in Eldorado remained open and buses made their regular runs Tuesday but it probably called for careful driving on the part of bus drivers. Attendance was about normal according to school administrators.

And to add to the bright side of the picture there was no slacking in the gas pressure. Eldoradoans remained snug and warm in their houses.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Faught spent the week end in Austin at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Bonnett. Another daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bonnett of Leesville, La., were also visiting there at the same time.

Corky Hodges and Champion Lamb of Show — 1961

Corky, twice winner of the Nathan Trophy, will be competing for his third champion and permanent possession of the trophy. He will be a strong contender in fine-wool, crossbred and mutton fat lambs, a new class for the 1962 show.

Post Script

During the recent cold spell, we heard of a Dallas plumber who had it so good fixing broken water pipes that he threatened to stop making house calls.

Here in late January some important deadlines are in the offing.

Wednesday, January 31, is deadline for paying your poll taxes to qualify yourself to vote throughout the remainder of 1962. As of 3:00 p. m. yesterday, the sheriff's office had sold exactly 500. The office will remain open this coming Saturday morning until noon to sell poll taxes, Sheriff Edmiston stated. Just 10 days remain until the February 5 deadline for candidates who have not already done so to file for a place on the ballot for the May 5 Democratic primary. No more candidates have announced lately, and the offices of county judge, county clerk and county treasurer are still uncontested, as well as Precinct 4 commissioner.

Mothers March Tuesday Night

Tuesday night, January 30th, is the time set for the Mothers' March here in Eldorado, when women will canvass the town for contributions for the National Foundation, which is continuing its research and treatment of polio and has added birth defects and arthritis to its areas of service.

Mrs. Frank O'Banion is in charge of arrangements for the Mothers' March. When the fire siren sounds at 6:30 Tuesday evening, residents are asked to turn on their porch lights to welcome the neighborhood mother who calls.

The drive for the National Foundation has been going on during January with Fred Watson as county chairman. Some direct mail letters with return envelopes for contributions were sent out recently and quite a few of these have already been returned. Mr. Watson stated that anyone wishing to contribute who did not receive a letter, should either send the payment to him or give it to the neighborhood mother Tuesday night.

Mr. Watson also emphasized that the Mothers' March is to be held Tuesday night here, although a number of T-V programs give the date other places as the 31st.

Statistics on Schleicher county's contributions in the past to the National Foundation were cited by Mr. Watson as follows:

County per capita	3212
State per capita	1511
National per capita	1487
Rank in area	7

Pay Your Poll Tax Now! Qualify Yourself to Vote During 1962

Austin.—A highway policy matter which has plagued both Houses of the Legislature for 10 years was settled when the House of Representatives passed a Farm-to-Market road bill introduced by Sen. Neveille Colson of Navasota and Rep. Grainger McIlhenny of Wheeler.

Senate already had approved the bill by a 26-2 vote.

At first, it looked like the House Agriculture Subcommittee, dominated by rural representatives, would succeed in pushing through a modified version of the bill by Rep. Max Carriker of Roby. His proposal was to space out the switch of funds from farm-to-market road construction to maintenance over 10 years.

House Agriculture committee approved Carriker's bill unanimously until Gov. Price Daniel attended a final hearing with President J. H. West of the Texas Farm Bureau, Executive Vice President Callan Graham of the Texas Good Roads Association, Highway Chairman Herb Petry Jr. and a dozen members of the County Judges and Commissioners Association.

After their urging, the House Agriculture Committee reversed its original decision and voted 10-9 to table the Carriker version and submit the Colson bill, which reduces the annual appropriation for rural road construction by about $17,500,000.

When the Farm-to-Market road bill becomes effective about May

1, it will make these provisions:

1. Restoration of the $15,000,000 appropriation from general State taxes to the Colson-Briscoe farm-to-market road program for the year starting Sept. 1, 1962.

2. A flat instruction for the State Highway Department to build $23 million worth of newly-designated farm-to-market roads a year from now on, using the $15 million, plus Federal aid of $10 million a year.

3. Allocation of half the surplus in the road bond assumption fund—which comes from one fourth of the gasoline sales tax—to maintenance of farm-to-market roads in the State system. That will be $17,500,000 the first year—gradually increasing as gasoline sales tax revenues rise.

4. Freeing an equal $17,500,000 in the State Highway Fund, now being used for rural road maintenance, for construction and improvement of secondary and primary highways.

5. Application of the balance in the farm-to-market road fund (between $17,500,000 and $20 million in the 1962-63 fiscal year) toward improvement of existing F-M roads which need some 11,000 miles of repairs.

Agreement by the State Highway Commission to raise its goal from 35,000 to 50,000 miles of farm-to-market roads.

This legislation accomplishes the long-time goal of the Highway Commission and Good Roads Association: To give annual construction boosts—starting at $17,500,000 a year—to the highways in the State system above the F-M classification and below the Interstate classification.

Where's The Money Coming From?

Gov. Price Daniel's proposals that the 57th Legislature approve appropriations of $300,000 for tourist advertising, $100,000 expansion in the juvenile parole system and $150,000 for repair of the San Jacinto Monument seemed to be in danger when Rep. James M. Cotten of Weatherford got the House to endorse appropriation of $220,000 for special session expenses.

According to the State Comptroller's estimate, this would leave less than $300,000 for the governor's projects. But Governor Daniel powdered with Speaker James A. Turman and Senator Charles Herring, as well as State Treasurer Jesse James.

He reported that James' first report on anticipated income from the Escheat Enforcement Act, submitted since the Comptroller made his estimate, lists more than $2 million in reports tabulated to date.

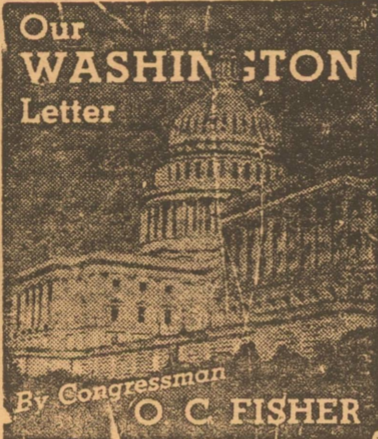

"I have asked the Comptroller to consider this," Daniel said, "and I believe it will be possible for him to raise his estimate enough to take care of the recommendations before the Legislature."

The Senate Finance Committee came up with a compromise bill authorizing $200,000 for tourist advertising, $75,000 of monument repairs, $65,000 for the juvenile parole system, plus $79,600 for a marine laboratory at Seabrook.

Short Snorts

The Texas Municipal League reports that nine states—including Alabama, Arizona, California, Louisiana and Mississippi—allow cities to levy sales taxes, in addition to state sales taxes.

Marshall Formby has officially opened his race for governor. Sen. Crawford Martin of Hillsboro announced for lieutenant governor. Waggoner Carr, former Speaker of the House, paid his $1,000 filing fee as a candidate for attorney general. Austin attorney Les Proctor vacated his post as Travis County District Attorney to run for the same post.

Will the city hall and the courthouse be bypassed in the quest for federal dollars to help finance local projects? That question has been raised with the drive for legislation to create a new government agency to be known as "The Department of Urban Affairs and Housing," to be acted upon in Congress early in the session.

If approved, this proposal will create a Secretary as head of the new agency and he will become a member of the President's cabinet.

The primary purpose of the new agency is to enable local cities and communities to come directly to Washington for federal assistance, and avoid dependence on local tax revenues to finance certain functions of a local nature which are normally financed locally. At least the new agency would facilitate that procedure. And the big cities are pushing hard for this new approach.

Another motive behind the Administration's insistence on the creation of the new agency, according to observers, is to enable the President to appoint Robert Weaver, presently Administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, as Secretary and thereby be able to placate the Negroes who would like to see a member of that race in the President's cabinet.

In any event, if the new department is created it will not be good for American taxpayers because it will open the gate for more and more dependence by local communities upon federal financing, and will undoubtedly cost billions in additional spending in the years ahead.

This, it is said, would be only the first step of the long range strategy—a strategy apparently designed to bring the solution of the day-to-day problems of community life under the direction of centralized government.

Bills approving this new agency have been reported by committees in both the House and Senate. It remains for the House and Senate to act, and action in both bodies is expected within the next two or three weeks. Unless public opinion manifests itself strongly against this new spending program, it now appears likely that House and Senate approval will surely result.

Don Yarborough Blasts Extending Of Sales Tax

Austin.—Democrat Don Yarborough recently blasted a majority of the Texas House of Representatives for "trying" to palm off a cruel hoax on the people of Texas on the sales tax issue.

"By their votes on a slippery resolution yesterday, a majority of our representatives proved they are stooges for plundering lobbyists while only 49, a courageous 49, stood by the people," Yarborough said.

The Houston attorney, an expected candidate for the governorship, warned that a resolution on the sales tax passed by the House yesterday was part of a "thinly-veiled drive to slap an across-the-board tax on groceries and household medicines."

"I advise Texans in all walks of life to keep one hand on their wallets and both eyes trained on the same old clique of Austin lobbyists who have looted the people for so many years," Yarborough said.

"The real story behind the sales tax debate in the House has yet to come out," he said. "Rep. Wesley Roberts and some 76 of his lobby-oriented cohorts, in effect, put themselves on record in favor of a straight-across-the-board sales tax, which would wipe out the present exemption on food. Thanks to the fact that 49 representatives, led by Bob Eckhardt of Houston and Jake Johnson of San Antonio, stood firm, this attempt to further pick the people's pockets was temporarily sidetracked."

Yarborough referred to Rep. Robert's resolution calling on the Governor to open the special session to sales tax revision. As originally worded, the resolution contained the statement: "The majority of Texans" want a "straight-across-the-board sales tax." Roberts marshalled 77 votes for the resolution, but with 49 votes against, it fell short of the needed 2/3 majority. After the offending phrase was deleted, the House passed the resolution, 127-6.

"Texans should be thankful that House rules call for a two-thirds majority or Austin lobbyists would have another hunk of the public hide hanging from their belts," Yarborough concluded.

District Supervisors J. Forrest Runge and Ben Hext along with Bill Rountree, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, attended the 21st annual convention of the Association of Texas Soil Conservation District supervisors in San Antonio on January 10-12.

The convention is now history but the long hours of work put in at the convention and the outstanding program presented will leave its mark on the lands of the state for many years.

One of the highlights of the convention was the special recognition given to some 25 supervisors for twenty year's service. This took place at the Friday night banquet held in the Crystal ballroom of the Granada Hotel. The Eldorado-Divide district with supervisors J. Forrest Runge and B. E. Moore was one of three districts in the state having two supervisors to serve for twenty years. In addition to the recognition they received a pin for the service they had rendered.

Jack Garrett, supervisor Southwest Soil Conservation district, brought out in his keynote address that there are now some 910 supervisors serving in Texas and the districts now take in 99 per cent of the area of the state and have more than 185,000 cooperators. He mentioned that supervisors are elected by landowners in the region they represent. They serve for a period of five years and serve without pay. They are the vital link between the man who works the land the agencies and organizations who stand ready to help.

Featured speakers included Henry LeBlanc, Jr., president of Sportsmens Club of Texas; Soil Conservation chief Don Williams; and Don Settle, conservation director for Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company.

Supervisors of the Alamo Soil Conservation district with the help of nearby districts gave a hearty welcome, door prizes and entertainment for the visitors.

Even though it was cold in San Antonio—13 degrees—it was a well attended meeting with good representation of districts from over the state.

All in all, the meeting was a big success. Everyone greeted old friends and met new ones.

FIRST BAPTIST NOTES

The L. O. A. class of the First Baptist church met January 18 at the church for a covered dish luncheon. Mrs. Gail Mittel gave the devotional on "What Christ Means to Us."

FACTORY-GROWN VEGETABLES COMING UP AT BRADY

A new "factory" is being built on the old Calf Creek road to grow vegetables in huge quantities—24 hours per day—the year around—and without soil.

"We hope to have our first crop during the last of May or the first of June," says Charlie Dodds of Brady, general manager of the newly organized firm, Scientific Farms, Inc.

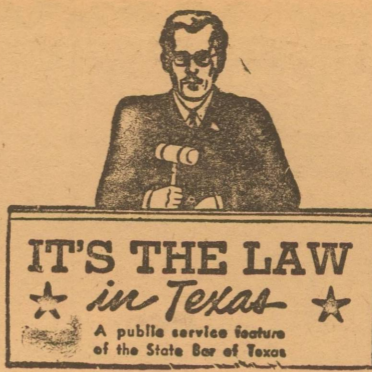

The "hydroponic" plant is located on one acre of Dodds' place purchased recently from Richard Davis, "and by next winter we'll have five acres."

The vegetables, rooted in gravel, will be grown in long troughs then will be flooded with the essential chemicals, minerals and nutrients for perfect growth. The gravel, providing no food for the plants, is used only for support.

"The fruit will be as perfect as the genes and cells will let it be," Dodds explained. "It's the same as the difference between a long-horn steer out on the range and a polled shorthorn in a pen on a balanced diet."—The Brady Standard.

Mrs. Robert Milligan had a letter from her daughter, Mrs. Jack Ratliff who lives on a ranch near Roswell, N. M., saying the temperature there got down to 28 below zero recently. A friend of theirs was killed when his plane crashed during the storm and it was several days before the wrecked plane and his body could be found.

Miss Lee Halbert and Irene Rutland were in Tatum, N. M., last week visiting Mrs. Rutland's daughter, Mrs. Bill Hall, and on their way back stopped in Lubbock and visited the "Tiny" King family.

ENGLISH LAWYERS

Even though the American Revolution ended the dominion of the English king over the colonies, the common law of England as a tie with the mother country remained. It has stood as the common heritage of a sister people and has served as the fountainhead of American legal thought. However, in the years that have passed since the Revolution, the legal professions of Britain and America have proceeded along separate lines of development.

In the English legal profession lawyers are split into two classes. They are called solicitors and barristers. Broadly speaking, solicitors deal directly with clients and prepare cases. Barristers conduct the cases before the courts. The closest analogy that can be drawn to the American profession is the habit that has grown up in some of the large firms of having office lawyers and trial lawyers. Actually, there is more difference. In the United States, when a lawyer is admitted to the bar of a particular state, he becomes a combination barrister and solicitor.

The profession of law in England came into being between the Eleventh and Thirteenth centuries. During the earlier portion of this period, it was customary for a litigant to bring a friend to help him in his law suit. By the end of the Twelfth century, the common law had become so complicated that the friend gave way to a professional called a "narrator." This narrator was the ancestor of the present day English barrister.

Toward the last part of the Thirteenth century, a second class of professionals emerged. Many litigants who were large landowners, found it difficult to make a personal appearance in court to assist with the case. In lieu of their presence, they sent an agent or "attorney" who was the forerunner of the English solicitor of today.

Thus, the distinction between the attorney or solicitor, and the barrister or narrator. As written pleadings became the vogue, it was the attorney or solicitor who saw the client, elicited the facts and prepared the necessary papers. The barrister then argued the case in court.

The American legal profession has not followed the English system since the frontier atmosphere and experimentation with new government and new laws did not lend itself to the divided English method of handling legal matters.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Harris are moving to Lake Buchanan where he is employed as a carpenter. He stated that they have about ten units to build in the near future.

Due to icy conditions the Woman's Club meeting has been postponed until Friday afternoon at 2:30.

James Storrs of the Eldorado faculty was admitted Saturday to the Scott & White clinic in Temple and was scheduled to undergo surgery there today.

On The Screen . . .

'Mr. Sardonicus' And 'The Young Doctors' To Be Shown Coming Week

"Mr. Sardonicus," showing Saturday night at the Eagle Drive-In Theatre, will appeal mainly to the high school set. This is another in the succession of horror epics by William Castle.

Castle is the producer who has buzzed theatre seats with mild charges of electricity in "The Tingler," given movie goers a heart attack insurance policy in "Macabre" and even clanked a skeleton across the theater rafters in "The House on Haunted Hill."

Castle's gimmick in "Mr. Sardonicus" is his own appearance on the screen before the movie ends.

"It's up to you—you make the decision," he says. "The picture could end now, but if you think 'Mr. Sardonicus' should have more punishment, merely hold up your ballot with the printed thumb down. Or, if you think he's had enough, display your ballot with the thumb pointed up."

Sardonicus has plenty of troubles earlier in the film. After he had buried his father he discovered that he had tucked a winning lottery ticket into the vest he was buried in. So Sardonicus goes grave robbing, and he is so shaken when he sees the skeletal remains, that his face freezes in such a horrible mess that he has to wear a mask.

"That's where he got his name," Castle intones from the screen. "Sardonicus is the Latin term for the death grimace on the face of lockjaw victims."

Castle leaves the screen, and the movie comes back for five more ghoulish minutes.

"The Young Doctors," showing Sunday and Monday nights, carries out the theme that doctors are human and doing the best they can.

The place known as Three Counties Hospital is not as trustworthy as it looks. Its chief pathologist (Fredric March), makes mistakes, is late with surgical reports and trails cigar smoke around laboratory and operating room as if he were a sky-writer. When a pretty nurse (Ina Balin) catches a hitch in her kneecap, the assistant pathologist (Ben Gazzara) accuses her of faking for sympathy.

Dr. March is so pinchpenny that he will not arrange for three blood tests, sticking to two, and almost loses the baby of a young interne. Eddie Albert, an obstetrician, by breathing for the premature infant, does bring around, no thanks to March.

Mr. Gazzara, new on the job, is eager to change everything.

The picture is technically honest and has a documentary quality, somewhat similar to "Not As a Stranger" of several years ago.

Mr. March is fiery and forthright. Mr. Gazzara is tired and patient, although you expect a shout that never comes. Miss Balin has an exotic beauty and a slight accent when pushed, but she speaks her pieces with the inflections of truth.

And there is Dick Clark, away from discs and kids, to play an impassive man in white.

The cast:

Dr. Joseph Pearson—Fredric March
Dr. David Coleman—Ben Gazzara
Dr. Alexander—Dick Clark
Cathy Hunt—Ina Balin
Dr. Chas. Dornberger—E. Albert
Mrs. Alexander—Phyllis Love
Bannister—Edward Andrews
Dr. Lucy Grainger—Aline McMahon
Tomaselli—Arthur Hill
Miss Graves—Rosemary Murphy

Graham Landrum, who teaches English at Austin College in Sherman, is one of those people who find history so intriguing that they spend hours tracking down the little details that make the study of history fun.

Though he says he is not a historian, Landrum has done a considerable amount of research in the history of Grayson County and is the author of An Illustrated History of Grayson County, published a short while ago and already out of print. "History is one of those things that catches my imagination and will not turn loose," he says.

Landrum says our story two weeks ago in this space about the Bonnie Blue Flag and dug back into his notes to come up with a local item about the flag that first began to take shape when he learned that the ladies of Sherman called their chapter of the U. D. C. the "Bonnie Blue Flag Chapter."

"I did not suppose that they might have greater right to that title than any other," the English teacher turned historian said. "However, when I began to look into Grayson County history, I began to suspect that the Bonnie Blue Flag was first raised as a flag of revolt in 1860 in Whitesboro, Grayson County."

As proof of this Landrum cites a story from the Dallas Herald of December 12, 1860, which contains an account of a meeting held in Whitesboro the previous November 23. The following is taken from the account.

"During the proceedings of the day a pole was erected in the center of the public square, on which was placed a banner ornamented with a lone star, with the general understanding that there was room enough upon its ample folds for fourteen others. After the adjournment of the meeting, the movement contemplated in the resolutions, or organizing a company of minute men, was set on foot and quite a number of gentlemen came forward and submitted their names . . ."

Landrum feels that the date of this meeting is quite early and was the result of the first news that Lincoln had been elected. Grayson County would perhaps have been the first locality in Texas to learn this news since the Overland Stage entered Texas as Colbert's Ferry nearby, he says.

When the Confederate monument was dedicated in Sherman in 1897, the girls of the North Texas Female College are said to have waved "bannerets appropriate to the song, The Bonnie Blue Flag." Landrum believes this was probably accidental since the school flag was a blue triangle with the school name written on it in gold. He says the students raised a good deal of the money for the building of the monument and that perhaps the "bannerets" became the school flag after they had been selected for the dedication of the monument.

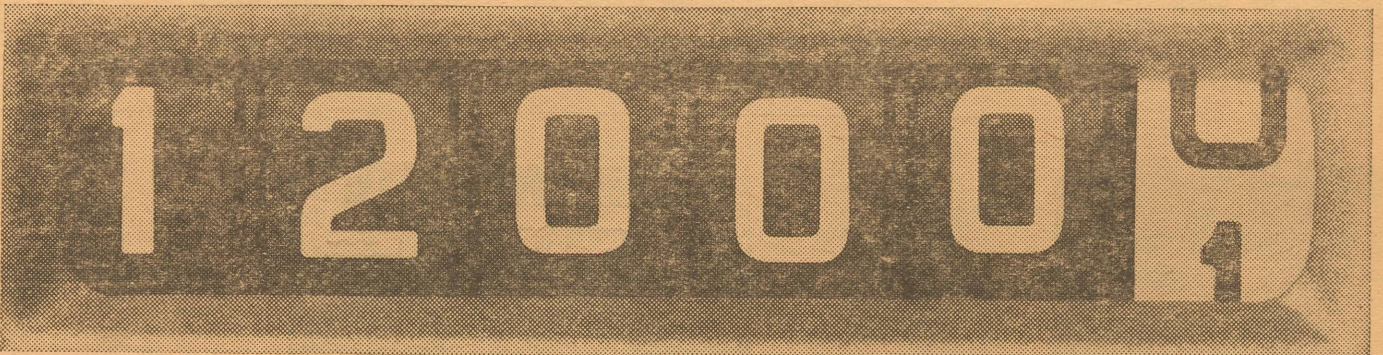

The citizens of Grayson County were divided on the war question and were right in the middle of the Peace Party plot during the War. And perhaps the man who has collected as much material on this phase of the war as anyone is Graham Landrum. Since his account of the Plot appears in his book, we plan to devote a column to it in the next few weeks.

Now—
Ford frees you forever from the expense and bother of frequent car servicing.
Twice-a-year maintenance is here—and only the cars from Ford have it!

In a new Ford Galaxie or Fairlane, the odometer rolls off a long 6,000 miles between every service stop. Compare this with other '62 cars and here's what you'll find: many cars still have to check in for service every 1,000 miles; some every 2,000 miles; others every 4,000 miles. Only the cars from Ford need service only twice a year, or every 6,000 miles.

When you own a '62 Galaxie or Fairlane, you don't have to drive with one eye on the odometer to make sure you're not forgetting an oil change or a grease job or other servicing. Ford's twice-a-year maintenance saves you time, saves you money. Just one stop every 6,000 miles takes care of servicing. You'll go 30,000 miles between major lubrications, 6,000 miles between oil changes and minor lubrications, 2 years or 30,000 miles without changing engine coolant-antifreeze. Brakes adjust themselves.

Why buy a service headache when Ford is ready with the cure? See your Ford Dealer—and see how close Ford has come to the fill-it-and-forget-it car!
