DEADLINE DATES APPROACHING FOR FILING FOR OFFICES

This is the last issue of the Success in which it is possible to remind local aspirants that they may file for a place on the ballot in April elections for city aldermen and for school trustee.

Saturday, March 3rd is the deadline date for filing with the city secretary for those who wish to run for city alderman.

March the 7th, which is next Wednesday, is the final date for filing for school trustee. In this case you file your name with County Judge W. R. Bearce. The terms of Joe Christian and Bill Lester are the ones that expire this year. Early this week the Judge reported that they had not yet presented their names for re-election, but it was hoped that they would do so. As the Judge remarked, "These men have done a good job and the district needs men like that." Trustees, incidentally, draw no pay—they all give their time free gratis—about all they get is "cussin'" when something goes wrong.

In the city election are three aldermen whose terms expire—Davidson, Hall and Peters. City Secretary Lum Burk reported that all three have announced for re-election, and no new names have appeared for these positions.

So it looks like quiet elections all around as far as local politics are concerned.

But district and statewide, it is something else again.

Frigid Weather Returns

Frigid, icy weather returned to the area this week following many days of warm summery weather during which fruit trees flowered and a number of gardeners prepared their land.

Yesterday morning at 6:30, we had a frigid 14-degree reading, three degrees colder than San Angelo's low of 17. The cold nipped fruit trees and other growth which had come out prematurely during the preceding cold spell.

Some reports at the coffee counter Wednesday morning had readings as low as 10 degrees.

This was another dry norther which brought clear skies and little prospects of rain, which Schleicher county is beginning to need badly.

It should create good pipe business for local plumbers.

"It sure was a short summer," was a remark heard on the streets of Eldorado.

The gas pressure held up strong through this spell and householders remained snug and comfortable in their homes and businesses.

Barber Moves To Hobbs

B. A. Ivy, who has been employed at Johnny's Barber Shop for the past month, left this week for Hobbs, New Mexico, where he was formerly employed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivy moved here from Monahans.

Johnny Griffith states that he has no replacement for Ivy, and will continue to operate the shop by himself for the time being.

Mrs. John West is home after having minor surgery in Sonora last week.

Post Script

Earl Parker is busy these days dolling-up the show room in his establishment in preparation for the arrival of a line of new Rambler cars which he expects about a week from now.

Earl recently signed up for the Rambler agency and he will probably have more to say about next week.

According to local high school authorities, daily attendance is now at an all-time high, indicating that illness among pupils as happily at an all-time low. The greatest amount of absence occurred the latter part of January following the extreme cold spell during that month. Since that time daily attendance has been steadily climbing.

To be sure, there is a child here and there who is at home sick, but they are very few.

Public School Week To Be Observed March 5-8

Visitation, a hobby show, and routine class activities will be observed by parents, friends, and patrons of the Schleicher county schools, beginning Monday, March 5, and continuing through Thursday, March 8th.

A. M. Whittis, superintendent, emphasizes again that the schools belong to the people, and that he and the entire faculty insist that all are urged to come to school this coming week. He further insists that parents come at any time they so desire during the school year for conferences, visitation, and any educational information that they so desire. DORSEY B. HARDEMAN

SEN. HARDEMAN SUBMITS STATEMENT FOR RE-ELECTION

Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo has announced his candidacy for re-election as State Senator from the 25th District.

Senator Hardeman has been a member of the Senate since 1947 and has served as chairman or member of all major standing committees of the Senate, as well as on many important special and interim committees. He is presently chairman of the powerful Senate General Investigating Committee, a position he has previously occupied, and is a member of the Legislative Budget Board on which he has served for ten years. He was elected President Pro Tempore of the Senate and served as acting governor of the state on December 3, 1954, during the absence of Governor Allan Shivers and Lieutenant Governor Ben Ramsey.

Senator Hardeman is recognized and respected by his colleagues as an authority on constitutional law and Texas and American history. He has been invited by his colleagues to address the Senate on constitutional questions and historical subjects on a number of occasions. He was made an honorary life member of the Texas Historical Association for outstanding service rendered to Texas, which is the highest honor the association bestows. Only five other persons currently hold this honor.

Mr. Hardeman is married to the former Geneva Moore, daughter of the late Lawrence Moore and Mrs. Moore, of Schleicher county. They have two young sons, Mark and Bryan, attending public school in San Angelo. Mr. and Mrs. Hardeman are members of the Church of Christ.

Senator Hardeman, a lawyer, is a partner with Earl W. Smith and Joe H. Foy in the law firm of Hardeman, Smith & Foy, in San Angelo.

Mr. Hardeman is a former mayor of San Angelo, and former State Representative, which latter office he resigned and volunteered as a private in the Air Force in November, 1942. He attended Officer Candidate School, and, upon graduation, received a commission in the Judge Advocate General's Department and was assigned to the 2nd Air Force. He later was aide to Major U. G. Ent and was honorably discharged with the rank of Captain, February, 1946.

Senator Hardeman is a native of Tennessee, and came to San Angelo in 1932, where he has since resided. He holds membership in the Sons of the American Revolution, Sons of the Republic of Texas, Sons of Confederate Veterans, the American Legion and B. P. O. E.

In his announcement, Senator Hardeman said:

"As a candidate for re-election to the office of State Senator, I respectfully solicit the support and votes of all the people of the 20 counties comprising the 25th Senatorial District. I shall try to see as many of the voters personally as I am able during the remaining weeks of the campaign.

"My record in office has been made on the basis of my deep and abiding respect for the principles of our Constitution and for constructive and economical government. This is not a 'single-issue' office. It involves numerous matters of vital importance to Texas and the 25th District.

"Many controversial issues have arisen during my tenure, which have been met with courage and due deliberation and with the best interests of my State, and this District, ever in mind.

"Legislation of local interest, to the various counties of the district, has been handled with dispatch, as is well known by the representatives and the people of those several counties.

"On such record I submit my bid for re-election, with the pledge to continue my support of constructive, progressive and Constitutional measures."

Both the opposing generals in the Battle of Mill Springs on January 19, 1862, just 100 years ago, saw service in Texas prior to the War. They were General George H. Thomas, the Virginian who remained loyal to the Union, and General George B. Crittenden, the Kentuckian who joined the Confederacy to fight against his brother general in the Union Army.

We suggested earlier that each should have been on the other side on the basis of their birth and training.

General Thomas came to Texas with the crack Second Cavalry which Secretary of War Jefferson Davis staffed with some of the most promising officers of Southern birth including the commander Colonel Albert Sidney Johnston, Lt. Col. Robert E. Lee, Major W. J. Hardee, and Major George H. Thomas.

Thomas saw service at several Texas forts including Fort Belknap, Fort Mason, Camp Cooper, and Camp Colorado. He also served as a member of a courts martial at Ringgold Barracks on the Rio Grande, at Indianola and at San Antonio.

For a time, the major was in command of the entire regiment and was wounded in the face by a Comanche arrow on August 26, 1860.

Prior to this Major Thomas and Lt. Col. Robert E. Lee, served as members of a courts martial at Ringgold Barracks and Lee was a guest of the Thomases for Christmas dinner that year. Mrs. Thomas had joined her husband just prior to Christmas and had brought with her two white servants from New Orleans.

Sometime later, while still in Texas, one of the Thomas' white servants married a soldier and Major Thomas solved the servant problem by purchasing a slave for his wife—further proof that the "Rock of Chickamauga" belonged on the Confederate side of the War. General George B. Crittenden, the Confederate commander at the Battle of Mill Springs, commanded several companies of the U. S. Mounted Rifles (later the Third U. S. Cavalry Regiment) which were dispatched in 1852 to Ft. Inge near Uvalde.

Crittenden, whose father Sen. John J. Crittenden, remained loyal to the Union and whose brother General Thomas L. Crittenden also stayed in the Union Army, is reported by General Randolph C. Marcy to have said during his tour in Texas, "I am sure I shall find my father with the South when I get home."

His disappointment must have been quite keen when he finally arrived back in Kentucky.

Recommended reading for this week: Selections for Texas readers. THE GALVESTON ERA by Earl Wesley Fornell, brought out last month by the University of Texas Press, is a book which provides a penetrating look at the old port city and the surrounding area during the period just prior to the secession of Texas from the Union. Covering the period from 1845 to 1860, Dr. Fornell's study is an important contribution to Texas literature of the Civil War period; a period sadly lacking in material about the Lone Star State's part in the Great Conflict.

At the other end of the War is ESCAPE FROM RECONSTRUCTION by Dr. W. C. Nunn of the history department at Texas Christian Un. in Ft. Worth. Dr. Nunn tells the story of the Confederates under Generals Sterling Price, E. Kirby Smith, John B. Magruder, Joseph Shelby, Jubal A. Early and others who fled to Mexico at the war's end rather than surrender to the Union.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernal Sudduth and Mrs. Ruby Dameron visited over the past week end with Mr. and Mrs. Myrl Sudduth and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bonnett at Leesville, La.

'Making The Most Of Your Looks' HD Theme

The Good Neighbor Home Demonstration club met Feb. 27 in the home of Mrs. Fred Logan. The meeting was called to order by the vice president, Mrs. Truett Stanford, in absence of the president, Mrs. Branham.

The following members were present: Mmes. Farris Nixon, W. C. Parks Jr., Bethel Jeffrey, L. Kent, Wilson Smith, Bill Blaylock, Fred Gillaspay, Fred Logan, one one visitor, Mrs. J. C. Wells.

Mrs. Duane Branham was chosen from the club to be the THDA delegate to district meeting which will be held in April in Abilene. Mrs. Farris Nixon was selected as alternate. The recreation was given by Mrs. Fred Gillaspay. The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. Vida Kreklow, and she gave a demonstration on the subject "Making the Most of Your Looks." She read a prayer or line of poetry which was very impressive, dealing with the character and well being of persons.

In continuing her line of thought she stressed that people should look the best they can. She thinks that it is a matter of opinion that we look different from someone else. If we feel we can improve and be charming, why not experiment with eye make up, facial cosmetics, learning fully how to apply them. In applying these things properly, using the right shades and colors, we have made our looks be what we really are.

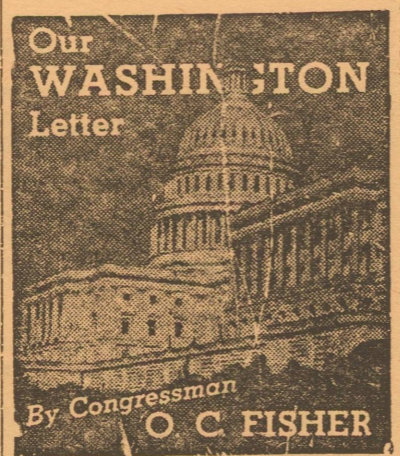

Mrs. Kreklow showed a number of shades of rouge, lip stick, eye make up, and demonstrated it on each person.

The meeting adjourned and cookies and coffee were served. —Reporter.

Jimmy McDonald recently joined the National Honor Society in East Central High school in San Antonio. Mrs. Nolan McDonald reports that her granddaughter, Donna McDonald, also recently joined the Society in Big Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stanford of Wichita Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Truett Kent Stanford and children of Andrews and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Alsop of San Antonio visited Mr. and Mrs. Truett Stanford and Mrs. A. E. Kent over the week end.

Rev. and Mrs. Carl Lee and children, Julie and Jason, had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Smith Tuesday night and attended the ball game. Rev. Lee is also a student at Hardin-Simmons and held services a few times at East-side Baptist church a few years ago.

By a decisive majority of 114 votes the House last week put the quietus on the controversial Presidential move to create a new Department of Urban Affairs. I joined with 18 other Texans in voting against the proposal. Two Texans—Albert Thomas of Houston and Henry Gonzales of San Antonio—voted for it.

Many valid objections were raised to the new agency. Designed to accelerate the flow of federal funds to the cities to be used in solving their housing, transportation, welfare and other local problems, its approval would undoubtedly have been a tough break for the American taxpayers.

A new questionnaire, covering a variety of current issues, is being sent to all residents of the 21st Congressional district. Twenty-four questions are included, ranging from foreign aid to unemployment benefits. Based upon prior experience, it is believed the results of this test will provide a fairly accurate barometer of public opinion in our district, on the issues covered. Your cooperation is earnestly solicited.

The questionnaire technique for finding out what the people are thinking is now employed by many Congressmen and Senators. I initiated the practice in the House several years ago, and others picked it up. The results provide a valuable source of information regarding public interest and public reaction to legislation pending before the Congress. And the tests generate many interesting and useful comments.

It costs me, out of my own pocket, close to $1,000 to send these questionnaires out. But I feel it is worth every cent of it and then some, to thus encourage public interest and participation in the affairs of government, with the resulting benefits.

'Parrish' Is Showing Tonight And Tomorrow

Because bad weather back in December severely cut attendance at one night's showing of "Parrish," and canceled the second scheduled night, the Eagle Drive-In Theatre is having a repeat booking of the Warner Brothers' movie tonight and tomorrow night.

Donahue becomes involved with the valley's girls, first with Connie Stevens and subsequently with Diane McBain and Sharon Huguenuy.

Claudette Colbert, now 56, is coaxed before the camera again after five years on the stage. She plays Troy's mother, a widow who snares the richest tobaccoist of them all, with her resonant voice and a face and figure that gives the young fillies a run for their money as well as Judd Raikes. This lout is enacted with loud heavy villainy by Karl Malden. Method Actor Malden is wall-shattering in this role. Donahue, in the title role, does all right by himself wooing Misses McBain, Stevens and Huguenuy.

Home Demonstration Agent's Column

By MRS. VIDA KREKUCW

The feat of Col. John Glenn staggered me. Everything which happened on that fabulous day seemed virtually impossible.

But—the thing which impressed me almost as much as the orbital flight was the fact that for once, the whole country was for the same thing at the same time. Pretty remarkable.

I went to my state meetings, one in Dallas and one in Temple, and they were interesting, informative, challenging and fun. Sure enough, as I predicted, some old acquaintances didn't know me and I had some trouble myself with names and faces. But goodness, I left some of them on the steps of the administration building and graduation morning several Junes ago and as we all rather wistfully admitted, we aren't college girls any more.

It's lucky for you that I don't have total recall on all the things I have heard in the last two weeks. The speakers and speeches were so stimulating I can't help but want to share them with you and to a small degree, I will.

Parts were so appropriate, so quotable, I'm going to repeat some of them.

Dr. Gladys Brown, the mother of three sons, ages from 8 to 15, and a practicing psychologist in Dallas now, had these things to say about children:

"A child should NOT have his way; if he had his way you'd be the child and he'd be the parent."

"The task of a parent of an adolescent is to let him go—he will go whether you want him to or not."

"You must let a 15-year-old get by with things you would not let an 11-year-old get by with; it's a necessary part of growing up."

"Fear is not born into a child; it is taught by a teacher, which is usually the mother."

"The emerging healthy adult should be:

1. Comfortable; accepting the world around him in a normal way.

2. Should have a sense of values and effort, especially for others.

3. Should have a sense of belonging to a group—the family, the neighborhood, the church."

These things which Dr. Moore said impressed me very much; other speakers were equally as well equipped and gave us just as much to think about and ponder. I will refer to them at some other time.

For five years, the Texas Home Economics Association has sponsored a "Texas Experts Recipe Contest" and at the meeting in Dallas, which I've been speaking of, the results of the 1961 contest were announced. Mrs. Patsy Sommer of Edna, Texas, copped the first prize with this—

Company Meat Loaf

- 1 pound meat loaf
 - 1 teaspoon baking powder
 - 1 egg
 - 2 teaspoons salt (scant)
 - dash black pepper
 - 4 oz. can mushrooms
 - ¼ cup chopped onion
 - ¼ cup chopped celery
 - ½ cup cracker crumbs
 - ¼ cup catsup
 - 3 medium slices velveeta cheese.
- Combine all ingredients except cheese and mushrooms. Layer half of mixture into a greased 9 x 5 x 3 inch loaf pan. Spread drained mushrooms and cheese on meat and cover with remaining meat mixture. Bake in moderate oven, 350 F., for one hour. Serves from four to six people.

An outstanding American industrialist, in a statement made recently, predicted that "by 1980 (18 years from now) approximately 70 per cent of the things we will be buying have not yet been invented."

Sometime, when you get a little tired and bored by it all, take a pencil and see how many things you can name which may be, or in your judgment should be, invented in the next 15 or 20 years.

So—save your money. There is simply no idea what you may need it for.

Joins Social Sorority

Miss Nancy Jo Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Jackson of Eldorado, is one of 18 girls selected for membership in Theta Phi Delta social sorority on the Austin College campus, at Sherman.

Miss Jackson was also recently elected secretary-treasurer of the Student National Education Association. She serves the organization this year as state representative, in which capacity she will represent her chapter at the State Convention in Corpus Christi, March 14, 15, 16 and 17.

Mr. and Mrs. Bing Crosby and Karen of Christoval were visiting their parents Mr. and Mrs. Arch Crosby Sunday.

ATTEND BROTHER'S FUNERAL

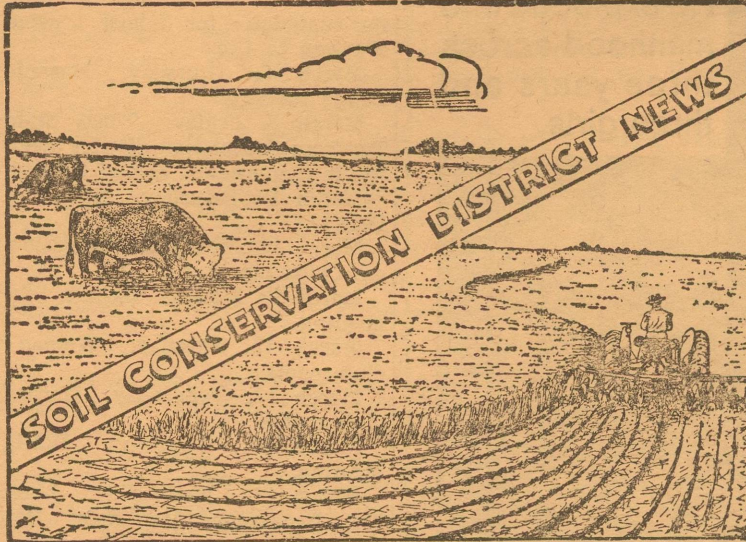

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Holden were notified Saturday night that his brother, Clint Holden, 52, had died of a heart attack in Midland.

Funeral services were held Monday in Brady at the Wilkerson Funeral Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Holden attended the funeral from here, along with Ohio Oil Co. employees Buster Hale, L. V. Newport, Bob Hartley, and C. O. Dewey.

The deceased is survived by five brothers and sisters.

Visiting Mrs. Rutha Boyer last Sunday were her daughter and son-in-law and grandson, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stevens and Mack, and Mrs. H. A. Henry from Menard.

Ranch Soil Conservation Program

By J. Forrest Runge

First of a series in working up a soil conservation program for a ranch (by ranch we speak of a spread of grazing land that is denoted to raising sheep, goats or cattle). These animals sustain themselves by grazing the native forage at their will in pastures enclosed by woven wire fencing. The first procedure is to work up a land use capability table and determine the capabilities or possibilities of that particular acreage. Each ranch unit is different from all others and is treated individually.

Aerial photographs aid in studying the topography and proportion of grassland to brush, principally live oak, shin oak, and mesquite in our section of Texas.

Soil studies are also made of the entire area.

The physical studies of the ranch completed, the soil, the topography, the amount of brush to grassland; then comes the detailed vegetative study of the kinds and amounts of the various grasses.

With the aid of a technically trained conservationist, the different parts of the ranch are classified as to the present condition of the range vegetation. Four classes—excellent, good, fair, and poor—are used to describe the different conditions. This information is the basis for deciding what rates of stocking the range will stand and what conservation practices are needed to improve it. The fair condition classes can be described as follows:

1. Excellent condition is applied to a pasture that has been lightly grazed in the past. It has been demonstrated that proper use is better than to use at all to obtain the best livestock feed. To be placed in this class the range should be well covered with a luxuriant growth of a large variety of the best grasses, such as: sidecoats grama, bluestem, vine mesquite, Texas wintergrass, green sprangletop, and hairy grama.

Upon observation it will be noticed that only the most palatable grasses are grazed and in some portions of the area may not even be touched.

It might be well to say that these are considered the best grasses because: they are more palatable, they contain larger quantities of the desirable food elements, they cure out well, and they produce more forage. Unfortunately, ranches in this category are scarce.

In condition class Good, which is the moderately grazed or properly used, the best plants show more use and still leave plenty for the litter and cover. The less palatable plants have been lightly used. By this time you notice some of the less valuable plants, such as sand dropseed, hairy triodia, red grama, and needle grass appearing.

Ranches in this class are not too plentiful. However, there are a number of ranches that have been improving since the drought and might be on a border line between high fair and good condition. Any feeding done when ranges are in good condition would be to make livestock do better and not to keep them alive.

Practically all of our grasses are summer growing and our green winter feed consists mainly of Texas wintergrass and cold season annual weeds and grasses. It naturally follows that good weeds are found on ranges of corresponding good grass covered ranges.

Fair and poor condition ranges will be described in next week's issue.

District Work

One of the pressing needs of soil conservation districts is to get recognition of work which they have done and are doing. And even outstanding work on the land must be pointed out and understood if districts are to be given recognition by the public.

Water

"Water is as old as the earth—every bit of it. The next drink of it you take could be, in part, the very same that washed the hands of Pilate, trickled down the face of Ruth as she stood in tears, rained on Noah, or irrigated the forbidden fruit that was plucked by Lady Eve. It's the stuff of rainbows, the sap of plants, the blood of animals, the humidity that's worse than the heat, the cloud mass that spoils the astronaut's view. It makes up more than 70 per cent of the human body—and the world is running out of it."

Now is the time to stock up with . . .

405-HP THUNDERBIRD V-8—Thirty years of Ford experience culminate in this startling V-8. Available in every Galaxie, it puts 405 horses under the throttle, a dazzling level of acceleration that cannot be imagined but must be felt. A super-performance option, it comes only with the four-speed gear box. But, unlike some "special" engines that require delicate tuning and modification, it puts out its potential right off the showroom floor. Even more impressive, Ford skill has made it a docile tiger; it idles smoothly, it is durable, its super capacity does not come at the expense of harshness and noise. Among expert drivers, it is praised as a true high-performance V-8 in America . . . the pace-setter for 9 other V-8's tailored to every driving need.

NEW FAIRLANE CHALLENGER "260" V-8—When the 221-cubic-inch Fairlane V-8 appeared last fall, automotive writers hailed it as a great basic advance, a compact jewel of design. Now, the "260" V-8 proves their prediction. With 164 hp, 19 more than the standard version, Fairlane gains a new brilliance of performance—but it still runs on "regular," still outsaves any standard-size Six. It has the durability of time-tested cast iron, slimmed and lightened by Ford's precision-casting technique. Created by the one maker who has built 30,000,000 V-8's since 1932, it brings the sparkle and smoothness of V-8 power well within the thrifty budget's reach, puts truly sophisticated engineering at the service of truly economical motoring.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by Tiny Godwin

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

The county is proud of three former 4-H club members, now students at A&M College. Not only have Farris Nixon, Ernest K. Nimitz, and Dick Runge distinguished themselves as above average students, but they have won national recognition in range management and other activities.

At the national Plant Identification contest, sponsored by the American Society of Range Management at the Driscoll hotel in Corpus Christi, Farris Nixon won 2nd individual in the nation, Ernest K. Nimitz was 4th, and Dick Runge was 8th. The scores of these three former 4-H boys was consistent and enabled them to win an all expense trip to Monterrey, Old Mexico, sponsored by the Perry Foundation.

All had been members of a district and state grass identification team that won state honors while members of the county 4-H team.

For 12 consecutive years the local 4-H club has represented Schleicher county and district 7 at the state 4-H round-up in June in grass identification and range management, never placing lower than 4th in state competition.

You cannot help man permanently by doing for him what they could and should do for themselves.

Shrubs that are dormant now need to be watered as the soil dries. Even though the plant is not growing, drying of the soil will injure the tiny feeder roots and weaken the plant making it more susceptible to disease control.

The same is true of lawns. If the soil is allowed to dry out completely during the winter, many grass roots will die. The lawn will be slow to green and there may be dead spots.

For healthy vigorous shrubs and lawn, water every two weeks this winter and spring. Application of fertilizer will pay dividends.

Watch out for you! Three out of five fatal holiday accidents involved only one vehicle which ran off the roadway, hit a fixed object, or struck a pedestrian.

Watch out for you! Danger is really just around the corner. Half of all fatal accidents happen within 10 miles of home. Two-thirds were within 25 miles, while only 7 per cent happened 250 miles from home.

Ranchmen should be well aware of the fact that cattle and sheep should have their protein needs met first. Protein needs must be met before additional hay or grain is fed to make any supplemental feeding operation successful. Cows fed ample protein on experiment wintered better and were 64 pounds heavier than those fed 3 pounds of 20 per cent pellets as a supplement.

The Beatitudes For Farmers
"Blessed are we who have a business in an area of fertile fields."

"Blessed are they who mourn over low yields, for they shall be comforted to know it wasn't the land's fault but theirs."

"Blessed are they that are meek, but will work, seek information, and plan, for theirs will be a full life."

"Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after knowledge, for they shall inherit the better land."

"Blessed are the charitable, for they will be lenient with fields and fertilizer."

"Blessed are they who plant pure seed, for they shall see the maker's handiwork in the harvest."

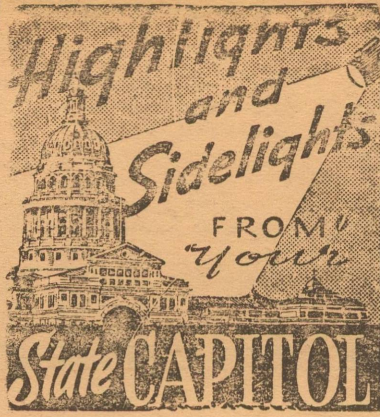

"Blessed are they who make peace with the soil, for they shall be called children of God's land."

"Blessed are they which are persecuted for being progressive, for theirs is the reward of good homes and happy youngsters."

"Blessed are ye when non-progressives shall say, 'Let good enough alone.'"

"Rejoice and be exceedingly glad, for great is your reward in your community. For so criticized were they the progressives, who were before you."

"Agriculture prepares a table for cities that are set on hills; and, may well informed stewards recognize the basic values of good land and inhabit it."

Austin.—After the labor unions gave Houstonian Don Yarborough their coveted COPE "Commendation", some sections of the Political Association of Spanish-Speaking Organizations started worrying about joining the state body in a PASSO pronouncement for Gov. Price Daniel.

First splinter off the block was Hidalgo County chapter—third largest PASSO unit—which voted 44-16 to make no endorsement in the governor's race.

Yarborough made no comment as he rounded the Gulf Coast area to line up more support.

He's been conspicuously absent from his Austin headquarters, while all other statewide candidates touch base frequently to counteract the almost constant presence of gubernatorial candidate Will Wilson and the incumbent who dwells in the mansion.

Daniel almost had trouble getting his campaign off the ground when a Department of Public Safety plane nipped its wing while lifting the governor off Austin ground for the Houston appearance. The party changed to a private plane, and proceeded to inspect the Carla-damaged San Jacinto Monument with representatives from the State Board of Control Building Commission and State Archives.

Former Secretary of the Navy John Connally also suffered aerial setbacks in his search for support. Bad weather prevented him from landing for San Marcos and San Antonio speaking engagements. When the clouds cleared he carried his campaign to Laredo.

Sen. Jarrard Secret, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, followed Connally into Laredo to speak to PASSO supporters where champion traveler Tom Reavley joined him to get help for his attorney general's race.

Secret announced the opening of his Austin office this week with a blaring banner on the avenue leading to the Capitol.

Will Wilson started crowding Daniel's position as a patron of Texas teachers. Wilson stated that Texans need to take a "long, hard look at the curricula of our schools—and then pay a little more attention to the advice of professional educators instead of well-meaning but ill-informed amateurs." He also suggested higher pay.

Another lieutenant governor contender, Sen. Crawford C. Martin, also started keeping shop in the capital city.

A Friday coffee party served as "house" warming for Waggoner Carr, former Speaker of the House, who's an attorney general hopeful. Carr's office is just a block and a half from the Capitol grounds. Les Procter, another attorney general candidate, has his headquarters in a long silver trailer, across the street from the Capitol.

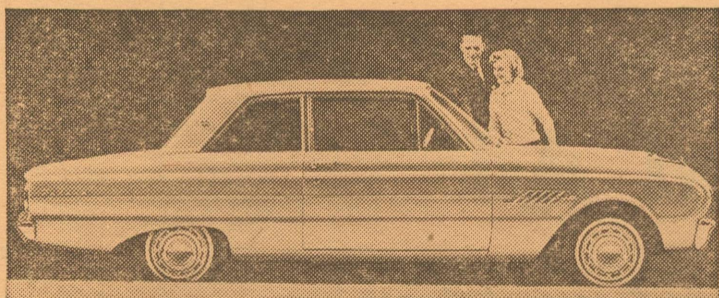

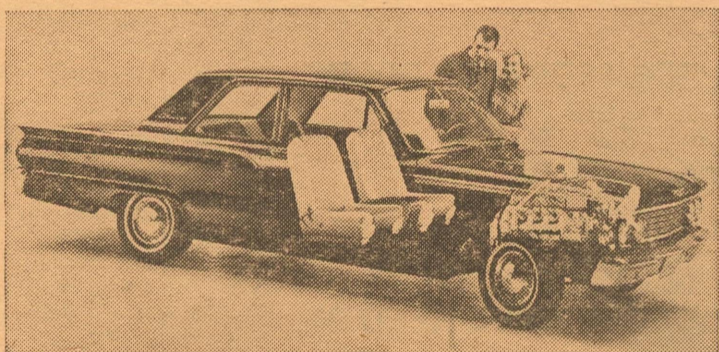

GOP Hopes To Blanket State

After State Democratic Executive Committee officials slung verbal arrows at the Republicans for not holding primary elections in every county and precinct, the GOP's embarked on a campaign to finance a primary in every county.

Paul Desrochers at Republican State Headquarters said, "We're working like mad to get a primary in every county." Two obstacles stand in the way: Getting funds in about 235 counties where the party has county chairmen, and getting chairmen for the other 19 counties.

Some Republican candidates have a regional flavor—like the 12 senatorial candidates who hope to represent 67 counties; or the 76 House of Representative hopefuls for 77 counties; and congressional candidates in all but seven districts. Republican party still wants general ballot representation for the winners among its two gubernatorial candidates, two candidates for lieutenant governor, and those seeking posts as congressman-at-large, commissioner of agriculture, general land office and on the railroad commission.

A step toward solicitations was made by GOP state chairman Tad R. Smith who appointed Dudley C. Sharp of Houston, former US Secretary of the Air Force, chairman of the Republicans' finance committee.

Featuring sporty interiors and spirited performance, a new model has been added to Ford's intermediate-size Fairlane series. Designated the "Fairlane 500 Sports Coupe," the car offers a new and more powerful 260-cubic-inch V-8 engine along with a luxuriously appointed bucket seat interior. Identified by a personality of its own, Ford's new Falcon sports Futura (bottom) is the latest model to join the ranks of America's top selling compact line. In addition to its Thunderbird-type roof and bucket seats, this new model also offers an optional 4-speed, floor mounted, manual transmission that is fully synchronized.
