Precinct Conventions Also Held On Primary Day Throughout County

County Democratic Chairman Edwin Jackson wishes to call all voters' attention to the fact that Democratic precinct conventions will be held at all voting places on Saturday, the day of the First Democratic Primary.

These are the smallest conventions of the Democratic party and are supposed to show the "grass roots" sentiment of the party voters. Often they are not very well attended—especially in the rural precincts.

In Precinct No. 1 the convention will be held at the Memorial Building starting at 4:00 p.m. Tom Ratliff, precinct chairman, will preside.

In the other voting precincts over the county the conventions will be held at 2:00 p.m., with precinct chairmen in charge as follows:

- No. 2A—Mrs. M. H. Woodward.
- No. 2B—Mrs. R. A. Frieske.
- No. 3A—Mrs. Curtis Short.
- No. 4A—Jimmy West.
- No. 4B—Nick Jurecek.

The principal business in each of these conventions is to elect a delegate to the county convention.

The county convention will be held one week later, on Saturday, May 12. The county chairman will open the convention, which will be held in the court house and will start at 2:00 p.m.

Post Script

A number of men have dropped by our shop this week for copies of the sample ballot for this Saturday's Democratic Primary.

Maybe interest is picking up, or maybe they just want to take a copy home and explain to their wives just how to vote.

 Visitors in Eldorado over the week end were Mr. and Mrs. Orville A. Berry of Richmond, Calif.

"I used to read this paper 20 years ago," Mr. Berry remarked, when he came in Monday for a copy of the Success and to enter a new subscription. He said he worked for Richey's grocery 'long about that time.

 John Stigler reports a successful 15th Anniversary Sale recently.

Mrs. Bill Gunstead won the first prize of an Elgin cordless electric clock. The second prize of a Sheaffer pen and pencil set was won by Mrs. Orval Edmiston and Mrs. Eldon Calk won third prize of a three-piece Evans cigarette lighter set.

 With our subscribers: Jack Steward has been transferred by the Air Force from Massachusetts to California. His new address is: 1st Lt Steward, Jack G., Box 872, Class K62-11C, 4017th CTS, Castle AFB, California.

Roy Martin of box 244, McCamey, Texas, is a new subscriber. Orville A. Berry of 1836 San Benito Street, Richmond, California, is a new subscriber.

 With passing of the deadline at 5:00 p.m. Tuesday for voting absentee in the First Democratic Primary, the county clerk's office reported yesterday that 62 had voted, including a few ballots mailed out and not yet received back in the office.

 The women's softball team is to be reorganized today, Thursday. Women interested in playing are asked to meet at 5:00 o'clock at the Little League ball park.

The women's softball team and their games attracted quite a bit of attention and created interest during the summer months last year.

Top Candidates In Saturday's Primary?

PRICE DANIEL

JOHN CONNALLY

The Democratic primary is now just two days away and we are sure that all television viewers will be getting more than their fill of politics in the brief time remaining.

If opinions given in all the state-wide papers are an accurate barometer, it seems that Price Daniel the incumbent governor will be in the run-off with John Connally, but we'd better wait until Sunday and not take anything for granted.

CONNALLY is running a strong and well-financed campaign. Some of his opponents charge that he is Lyndon Johnson's man. That may hurt him with some but help him with others. He has been endorsed by most of the big-city daily newspapers of the State of Texas.

DANIEL as the incumbent, probably has the best organization back of him and is in a position to command a lot of quiet support. His administration has been free of scandal.

WILL WILSON has made some headlines in the Billie Sol Estes case. His attacks on Daniel may have hurt Daniel to some extent but it probably hasn't advanced Wilson himself. Although considered a "has-been" by most observers, Wilson has a hard-core of voters who will back him.

FORMBY, a good solid man but regarded as a regional candidate, will get most of his support in the Panhandle.

DON YARBOROUGH of Harris county comes out flatly in support of Kennedy's New Frontier, and is regarded as the only ultra-liberal in the race. All the rest of the candidates stress the fact that they are "conservative." He should get strong labor and union support in the big cities. Alone of the six candidates for governor, Yarbrough favors repeal of the sales tax enacted by the state legislature last year. He might make the run-off if the "conservative" vote split sufficiently among the other five men in the race for governor.

EDWIN WALKER, the ex-general who was relieved of his command, has an axe to grind with the Washington military. He is an extreme anti-communist. He may not get in the run-off, but those who are for him are supporting him strong as horse radish. This at least is in contrast with the others, where support seems to be lukewarm.

State Senate

The nearest thing to a local contest is the race for State Senator between incumbent Dorsey Hardeman and Bill Stroman, both of San Angelo. Both have been campaigning intensively. Since Angelo delivers the biggest vote, the issue will probably be settled there. This is our first State Senate race since 1946, the year Hardeman defeated Penrose Mecalfe.

Frequent Inspection Called In Screwworm Eradication

Officials in charge of the screwworm eradication program have recently announced new screwworm cases extending north and east in the state at a fairly rapid rate, this being due to very favorable weather, warm temperatures, and high humidity. The increase of the number of screwworm cases points up the importance for individual livestock producers' part in this eradication program. Cases have been reported as far north as Scurry county.

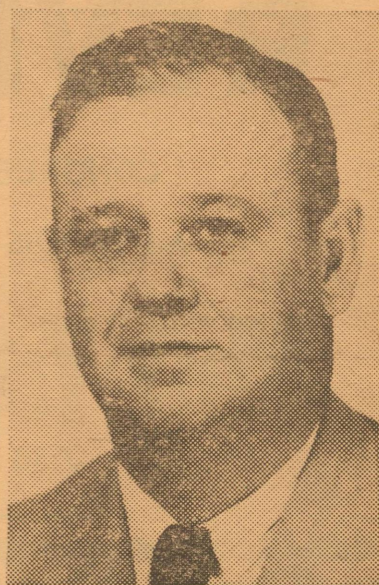

Stockmen in the county are urged to inspect livestock frequently for possible screwworm cases, treat all wounds promptly, collect specimen from such wounds, and if you have the proper vials, send to the address on the collection kit. If you do not have such equipment, please call at the county agent's office and be furnished with collection kits.

Every livestock producer has a stake in this program and the success of the eradication program is to an extent dependent upon each producer's practicing good livestock management. If you plan to ship livestock, it would certainly help to inspect for any wounds, treat and spray the animals prior to shipment. This would help reduce the spread of screwworms.

Plans call for expanding the release area to include the northernmost infested counties. The majority of sterile flies will be released in barrier zones along the northern edge of the infested area.

The ranchman's continued emphasis on inspection of animals, treatment, and collection of specimens from wounds is urgently requested. Every untreated screwworm case spreads this pest a little more.

Spraying of livestock with systemic insecticides will also reduce screwworm cases. All producers have received a copy of the 1962 Texas Guide for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock.

Eldorado-Divide Soil Conservation District News

Great Plains Conservation Program

The purpose of the Great Plains Conservation Program is to help farmers and ranchers use each acre of agricultural land within its capability and treat it according to its needs.

It is a long time program to promote correct land use through stepped-up conservation program.

The program is designed to help you solve difficult long-term land use and conservation problems on your farm or ranch.

It gives the rancher, farmer or operator long-term assurance of needed financial aid through cost-sharing contracts to carry out a complete soil and water conservation program for the entire farm or ranch. It works with existing programs which contribute to eliminating erosion hazards in the Great Plains area.

The program is not a drought or disaster relief program and it is not intended to replace other programs, nor act as a production and adjustment program. Neither is it intended as an increase supplement program, but a program which if followed through the years, will result in increased projects. The results of wind and water conservation will become apparent in increased yields and lower production costs.

each of the patriots to 30 years at hard labor. But if $62 million can be raised, the prisoners will be exchanged for that amount.

Here is a brand of trafficking in human beings that belongs to the dark ages. The incident serves to remind us that Castro is after all nothing but a common bandit.

This Havana tyrant was let out of prison within 15 months after he had sought to overthrow the Batista regime. But now, with the shoe on the other foot, he metes out 30-year sentences to rebel patriots, and then seeks to extort money for their liberation.

If the United Nations is interested in such repulsive conduct, then here would be a chance for it to at least condemn such debauchery, & let the world know that the UN is interested in human rights and does not condone international banditry.

Castro's economy is in very bad shape, and this may account for his quest for dollars. All our trade with Cuba has been cut off, except for a small amount of medical supplies.

WHAT HORSERACING WILL DO FOR TEXAS

MILLIONS $$$$$$ IN EXTRA INCOME FOR STATE AND COUNTIES

The State of Texas and every County in Texas will share in the pari-mutuel tax. In 1961, New York State received over $99 million dollars from horseracing taxes; California over $38 million, New Jersey over $25 million, Illinois over $19 million plus 20 other States for a total in excess of one quarter billion dollars.

TOURIST ATTRACTIONS DESPERATELY NEEDED

Texas' sagging tourist industry dropped from 10.3 million visitors spending $531 million in 1957 to 8.6 million visitors spending $457 million in 1960, according to the State Highway Department.

FARMERS AND RANCHERS TO BENEFIT

Texas leads the nation in quarter horse registration and is 6th in the breeding and raising of thoroughbreds. Texas, because of its climate and horse raising background, can greatly expand the business of breeding, raising and training horses if horses can race in Texas at first class tracks with first class competition.

HORSERACING OUTDRAWS FOOTBALL-BASEBALL COMBINED

In 1961, horseracing retained its position as the nation's number one spectator sport with a new record total of over 59 million in attendance, almost 5 million more than the total baseball and football attendance combined.

HORSERACING BOON TO BUSINESS

A survey made by Chambers of Commerce in cities enjoying horseracing, resulted in a 100% agreement that business increased because of horseracing.

OMAHA — "... motels and restaurants at capacity, downtown business increased." ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, ILLINOIS — "the businessmen welcome the horsemen."

PHOENIX — "... a mighty good adjunct to the tourist business, about $150,000,000 annually."

EL PASO — "... (track just across border) Credit managers not reporting any rise in delinquent accounts. Business feeling the effect of "extra" business from race track patrons. Definite asset."

TEXAS FLOCK TO RACES IN OTHER STATES

By car, by plane and even by special trains, thousands and thousands of Texans go to Hot Springs, New Orleans, Kentucky, New York, California, New Mexico, etc. Let's keep these $$$$$$ in Texas.

CHARITIES BENEFIT

Tracks all over the nation regularly have "Charity Days" with all gate proceeds going to a particular charity. In one State last year over 5 million dollars went to charity. All of the net profits of Del Mar track in California goes into boys work. Texas tracks can provide millions for charity work in Texas.

HORSERACING, BEST SUPERVISED OF ALL SPORTS

Federal, State, County and City supervision plus the industry's own Bureau have virtually eliminated all scandals and corruption from what today no less a personage than J. Edgar Hoover has called a "well supervised and clean sport, a wholesome diversion." The completely electronic Totalisator board guarantees an exact and accurate count of all monies bet as a protection to the State and the public.

LEADING TEXANS BACK HORSERACING

The Citizens Committee, composed of bankers, industrialists, retailers, farmers, ranchers and other prominent civic leaders, is for horseracing because of its economic benefits to Texas. The Committee wants to see proper legislation setting up strong administrative safeguards to insure a well-regulated horseracing program for Texas.

VOTE "FOR" PROPOSITION 1 FOR the legislature to submit a Constitutional amendment to legalize pari-mutuel wagering on horse races. PROPOSITION 2 FOR the legislature to enact a law legalizing pari-mutuel wagering on horse races with the state and the track sharing 14% of the pari-mutuel pool, the horse county receiving 2% of the total pool, and all other counties receiving 1/5 of the net state share on the basis of population. NO RACING ON SUNDAY.

Austin.—Whether voters take part in the Democratic or Republican primary elections Saturday, they'll face a mighty long list of decisions regarding national, state and county offices—plus the much-touted question of parimutuel betting on the horse races. Democrats will attack the matter on two fronts:

"FOR (or AGAINST) the Legislature to submit a constitutional amendment to legalize pari-mutuel wagering on horse races."

"FOR (or AGAINST) the Legislature to enact a law legalizing pari-mutuel wagering on horse races with the state and the track sharing 14 per cent of the pari-mutuel pool, the home county receiving two per cent of the total pool, and all other counties receiving one-half the net state share on the basis of population. No racing on Sunday."

Democrats fathered the issue after 200,000 voters petitioned the State Democratic Executive Committee to submit the proposal on the primary ballot to meet legal requirements for including specific legislation in the party platform.

Republicans added the issue to their ballot too, and phrased the following proposition: "FIR (or AGAINST) the State Legislature of Texas submitting for a vote of the people of Texas, a constitutional amendment which would legalize pari-mutuel wagering in Texas, on a local county option basis."

Both parties will take a sampling of voter sentiment on the question of repealing the poll tax as a prerequisite for voting.

Should the proposals carry on May 5, it probably would be two or more years before either issue is settled. They would have to pass by two-thirds majorities in both houses of the Legislature, and then win a majority vote of the people in a statewide election—which likely would be the November election of 1964.

New Life Congressman-at-Large race took on new life with Internal Revenue's verification that Judge W. W. Bean of El Paso, generally regarded as the leading candidate in that race, had not filed an income tax report since 1952.

One of his opponents, Phil Willis of Kaufman county, who calls himself "the middle-of-the-road Democrat", immediately demanded that Bean "withdraw from the race and apologize to El Paso newspapers and organizations that have endorsed him."

Bean's reply to newsmen was that he didn't believe in the income tax and that the government already had taken the money out of his paycheck in withholding taxes.

Courts Could Rock 'Merit' Plan If the Texas Supreme Court inherits a recent traffic law case from the Eastland Court of Civil Appeals, State Board of Insurance merit-rating plan of auto insurance rates, as well as the whole driver license suspension law, could be upset.

Court of Appeals upheld a Bexar county court ruling that when 28-year-old Billy Van Williams mailed in his payment for a traffic fine, it was not a "conviction" on which his driver's license could be suspended.

When Insurance Board chairman Ned Price learned of the decision, he said: "My quick opinion is that if the courts finally hold such are not convictions, then they would not be, for purposes of the point system of the safe driving insurance plan."

If the Department of Public Safety appeals the case to the Supreme Court and that court approves the appellate court's decision, a driver then could avoid the "extra punishment" of higher insurance rates and loss of license by paying his fine by mail.

Just a few miles south of the Georgia-Tennessee line the locomotive "Texas" manned by six determined Confederate railroaders armed only with a shotgun, finally overtook the "General," the locomotive stolen 87 miles deep in the Confederacy by 19 heavily armed Northern soldiers led by a Union secret service agent.

Yankees scattered in all directions and thus ended one of the most melodramatic events of the Civil War; an event that has since become popularly known as "The Great Locomotive Chase."

The event took place on April 12, 1862 and began at a place called Big Shanty, Georgia (now Kennesaw), when a train halted unobtrusively for a 20 minute breakfast stop. While the crew was having breakfast inside the Lacy Hotel, the 20 disguised Yankees made off with the locomotive and three boxcars.

The men were all specially chosen members of raiding party led by James J. Andrews and all had gone deep into the Confederacy on a "commando-type" raid which, it was hoped by some, would cripple the South and shorten the war by several months.

At the time of the raid, the Confederate front ran from Memphis, Tenn., to Alexandria, Va., with Gen. P. G. T. Beauregard commanding the western anchor of the line and General Robert E. Lee in command of the eastern terminus.

Federal military strategists believed that they could cut this front by crippling the rail supply link between Atlanta and Chattanooga, and to do this they conceived the idea of sending a raiding party into the Confederacy, where they would commandeer a locomotive and on their way north burn as many bridges as possible on the Western & Atlantic Railroad.

When the "General" pulled out of the yards at Big Shanty, the Confederate crew pursued the Yankees for a short distance on a handcar, then took over another locomotive, and finally set out on foot when they ran into a section of track that had been ripped up.

After walking some three miles, the men took over another locomotive and set out in hot pursuit of the Yankees who now had a substantial lead. The name of that 2nd locomotive was the "Texas."

For the rest of the chase the Confederates in the "Texas" stayed so close on the Union raiders that there was no time to burn bridges or do anything else except try to escape. The "General" ran out of steam just before reaching the Georgia-Tennessee line and was abandoned. Within a week all the raiders were captured and placed in prison at Chattanooga.

On June 7, 1862, less than two months after the raid, Andrews was hanged as a spy and 11 days later, seven others were also hanged. Several of them escaped from prison the following October and the remaining six were paroled in March, 1863.

The newly-authorized Congressional Medal of Honor was presented to each of the members of the raiding party or to their next of kin.

On Saturday, April 14, 1962, the "General," which has been put in operating condition in the shops of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, made a re-run under its own power over the territory of the famous chase. All along the route, there were celebrations and commemorative events to mark the 100th anniversary of the event.

And following the re-run, the "General" will go on a tour of the principle cities in the L & N Area so that more people may see it in actual operation.

What happened to the "Texas" used in the final 51 miles of the chase? It is on exhibit in the basement of the Cyclorama Building in Grant Park in Atlanta. It has been restored to look as it did during the War but is not in operating condition.

And by the way, the "Texas" was running backward while it was chasing the Yankee operated "General." It was headed south when taken over by the Confederate railroaders and they had no opportunity to turn it around.

Mrs. Charley Morris has returned to her home in Del Rio after a two week's visit with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jud Brannan.

AIR POWER TO BE DISPLAYED IN SAN ANGELO

America's air power will be on display for the celebration of Armed Forces Week 1962 in the San Angelo area. More than three dozen aircraft from all the military services will participate at Mathis Field May 13 or will appear during the Armed Forces Day parade, May 19. The planes will cover the city from nine bases throughout the Southwest.

Preceding the huge open-house program at Mathis Field, Sunday, May 13, fifteen of the aircraft will overfly the area from 12 noon to 1:45 p. m. in four groups. In these formations will be F-100 fighters, T-33 jet trainers, and C-119 and C-131 transports. Two of the groups will be coming from Holloman AFB (Alamogordo), N. M., one from the Cannon AFB (Clovis), N. M., and one from Kelly AFB at San Antonio.

Armed Forces Week plans call for a wide variety of aircraft to be on static display at Mathis for sight-seeing by open-house visitors. Arrayed on the field will be U. S. Air Force planes consisting of T-33 and T-37 jet trainers; C-54, C-119, and C-123 transports; and a U-3.

Miss Lee Halbert and Mrs. Ruth Finnigan visited in Lubbock last week end. Lee was a guest of the G. J. King family while Ruth visited her brother, Ira Hudson and family.

'Susan Slade' Is Showing Sunday, Monday Nights

In case you haven't heard, the younger element have an entertainment world of their own, the leading actors of which are named Connie Stevens, Troy Donahue, Bert Convy and Grant Williams.

It is immaterial whether they see them on movie screen or television. And they run to type. The boys are tall, slim and their well-cut hair grows low over their brows like the President of the United States. The girls are shapely and well-displayed. When they get into trouble, as they always do, it is a result of their honesty and innocence, never of their original sin.

All are seen in "Susan Slade", which will have its local showing Sunday and Monday nights at the Eagle Drive-In Theatre. The Technicolor photography is excellent, and Max Steiner's theme from "A Summer Place" drifts hauntingly in the background in a picture that sweeps from Chile to California.

Connie Stevens portrays Susan Slade, the wide-eyed daughter of a mining engineer. She falls in love unwisely on a luxury liner en route from Chile to California. The reason she doesn't know how to kiss is that her parents have kept her down in Chile all those years she was growing up.

Dorothy McGuire and Lloyd Nolan, who used to play the romantic leads but who now portray the parents of Warner's stable of teenage TV stars, worry about her when she strikes up a shipboard romance with Grant Williams. ("When she really does find someone, she's got so much love stored up to give.")

Williams is a playboy who climbs mountains because they are there. "A virgin peak is always a challenge," he murmurs in Connie's ear. And later she tells him, "We have sinned. But it's all right because we're going to be married, aren't we?"

When he touches land, he is off to scale Mt. McKinley. Susan is with child and freshout of a boy friend. When he is killed in an adventure she tries to commit suicide. When the truth must be told to her parents, they spirit her away to Guatemala. She has the baby and the parents assume parenthood.

They reckon without mother love, however, and Susan manifests eyebrow-raising devotion to her "little brother." The baby almost burns himself up with a cigarette lighter, which leads to further disclosures.

Miss Stevens, and Messrs. Convy, Donahue, and Williams inhabit, in this picture, some of the prettiest rambling bungalows ever built among the white sands and wind-swept cypresses of Carmel and Monterey, California.

Donahue, poorest of the lot, and horse-trainer, still occupies a plush stable apartment fixed up for his sideline, the writing of fiction.

Susan escapes a high-society marriage, and Mr. Donahue sells his first story and gets Susan.

Brian Aherne has a supporting role. Lloyd Nolan, one of the best actors alive, plays the father. Dorothy McGuire is Susan's sympathetic mother; Natalie Schafer a family friend and Kent Smith, no less, the family doctor. Another seasoned hand, Delmer Daves, is responsible for the script, the production and the story.

The most exacting demands are made on Miss Stevens, whose eyes are more knowing than the rest of her personality. She does a neat job of conventional registrations such as anguish, perplexity, flare of spirit.

Troy Donahue remains the good-looking brooder. And does he have problems? At the start of the picture his father is convicted of embezzlement and hangs himself in a prison cell.

DEPT. INVITES GAME WARDEN APPLICATIONS

San Angelo.—Applications for employment of a limited number of game wardens are now being accepted by the Game and Fish Commission. The Commission is interested in receiving these applications from young men between ages 21 and 40, who are high school graduates and have an interest in wildlife conservation. The need for the additional applications has been brought about through reorganization of the Game and Fish Commission, which has created additional opportunities for advancement of men who can meet the requirements.

Application forms are available at local Game and Fish Commission offices or from the Personnel office in Austin. Completed applications must be received by the Personnel Office prior to May 5, 1962. Written and oral examinations will be conducted in selected areas throughout the state in June to make final selections.

ROMAN HOLIDAY IS THEME OF 1962 JR - SR. BANQUET

The ancient splendor that was Rome was exemplified on Friday evening, April 27, 1962, when the members of the Junior Class of Eldorado high school entertained the members of the Senior Class of 1962 with a banquet at 6:30, followed by dancing in the Memorial Building.

In honor of this year's Seniors—those Noble Patricians—the Plebian Juniors recaptured an age that in its day marked the greatest civilization the world has ever known—a day when all known cultures were gathered together in the Eternal City. The BEST of all that was BEAUTIFUL in thought—literature—and art of the world at that time was typified in "the Grandeur that was Rome." Never has an era been more exciting, more colorful, more romantic, (even the word is theirs) than in the days of the Caesars—the Marc Antonys—and the Cleopatras! So was the Junior-Senior Banquet and Dance of 1962.

For the Banquet a title of "When in Rome, do as the Romans do" was chosen. With the decorations one could drive his chariot over the cobblestones of the Appian Way, as the gladiators in the time of the true Roman style and enjoy himself as grandly as "the noblest Roman of them all." The meal was set before the guests by slave girls, while the speeches were being presented by the Plebian Juniors.

John McGregor presided as master of ceremonies at the banquet. The invocation was by Terry Phelps, and Ray Lewis Ballew welcomed the Seniors and other guests. Buren Whitten, Senior class president, gave the response, after which Lannie Hester of Abilene entertained the group with several vocal selections.

For the dance that followed a Roman holiday setting furnished at atmosphere of elegance and grandeur that the guests, perhaps, may have completely forgotten that this was all just "make believe," and may have well expected at any minute for the draperies to part and see the Caesars, themselves, make a grand entry.

The setting, a formal garden in the open courtyard of a Roman palace, was complete with flowing fountain, stone pedestals, statues, Roman disk, gold benches, marble stands topped with flaming torches and spacious promenade outlining the garden by an imposing colonade of majestic Roman pillars covered with golden grape clusters and laurel garland trim. Above all this splendor was a Sunny Italy heavenly blue daytime sky filled with drifting clouds.

Guests danced to the music of The Esquires. During the evening of dancing, slave girls served grape punch from a beautifully decorated table, centered by a golden punch bowl. —(Class Rep.)

It was stated that the district convention will be held May 18-19 in San Angelo and about half a dozen men are expected to attend from the local club.

W.M.U. ENTERTAINS SENIORS

The Woman's Missionary Union of the First Baptist church was host to the Senior class on the church lawn Monday evening with a picnic supper.

A 10-year-old child prodigy from Ballinger, Jackie Canada, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Canada, entertained the group at a Hammond organ which was set up on the lawn for the occasion. She rendered popular music by request.

Jackie made her first public appearance at the age of 7 and has made numerous appearances the last three years.

The menu consisted of barbecued ham, beans, potato salad, pickle, onions, cake and tea.

About 24 Seniors attended the picnic along with their sponsors, several teachers, the pastors and wives, and WMU president of the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam McGinnes and two of Mr. McGinnes's sisters, Mrs. Christy Doyal of San Angelo and Mrs. Jessie Clark of Menard, and Mrs. L. T. Wilson attended the funeral of their long-time friend, Mrs. E. J. Skelton, in Mason last Thursday.

Mr. McGinnes also served as one of the pall bearers at the funeral.

Mrs. Wilson visited her brother, Millage Doyal, at the Anna Lee Nursing Home while in Mason. She reported that he is much better than when she saw him last.

Mrs. Doyal came to Eldorado last week to visit the McGinneses when they returned from their visit to the Floyd McGinnes family at Crosbyton.

F. H. A. Girls Attend Convention In Dallas

Dallas was host to 5,000 Texas Future Homemakers of America at their annual convention which was held on Friday and Saturday of last week. The local chapter was represented by Wanda Mills Eileen Kent, and accompanied by Miss Dana Owens.

Varied talent numbers, speeches, vocal and drama numbers and other forms of entertainment were scattered throughout the meeting, and these were by the members and officers from all over the state.

Friday night the traditional fun night was highlighted by the beautiful pageant, "FHA's Miss America." The music and some of the props were used that have been used in the recent Miss America show. Delegates' meeting was held Saturday morning and closed the convention. This was a very profitable meeting and long to be remembered.

Are you above the average? Before you answer, find out what average. In this case it is an average weekly grocery bill. How do you check out?

For 2 persons, the U. S. average is $20. For 3: $22; for 4: $23; for 5, $24; for 6, -25; and for 7, $25.

Two can't eat as cheaply as one but if there happen to be 7 people in a family, the seventh one seems to eat free.

National Institutes of Health says there is no scientific evidence that specific items in the diet of an average person with arthritis will either cure or benefit his condition in the fight against the disease.

This may be upsetting to the people who take alfalfa tablets and declare that they have been almost cured by them.

Americans are the best fed people in the world. On the average, the children are bigger than those in other countries and will live longer than his parents.

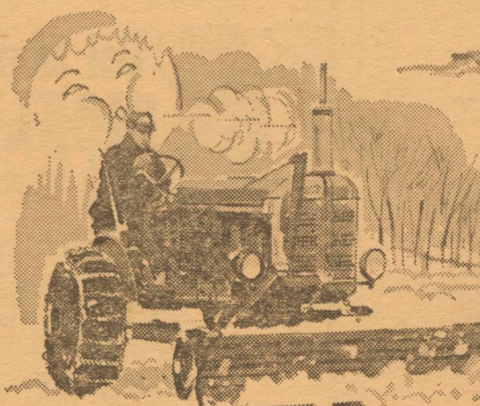

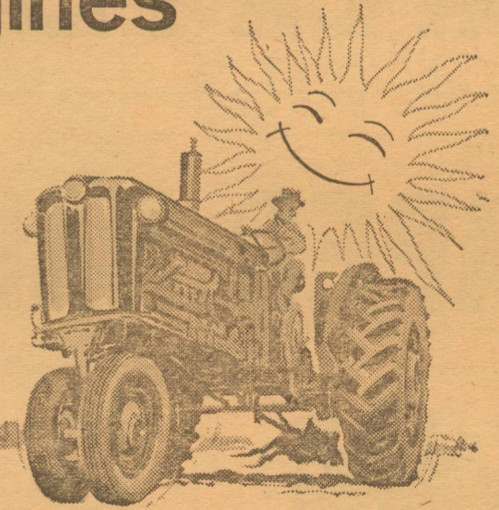

But, even though our children are well fed, some children's diets are still inadequate in calcium, vitamin C and vitamin A.

Calcium is furnished by milk and milk products; vitamin C is found in tomatoes, citrus fruits, cabbage and green pepper; and vitamin A is found in butter, enriched margarine, greens and yellow fruits and vegetables.
