Funeral services for Mrs. Belle Austin McClain (Mrs. H. W.) of 6257 Heliotrope Ave., Bell, California, were held at 1:00 p.m., on Monday, at the Chapel of Chimes, Paul Sampson Funeral Home, in Bell, California.

Mrs. McClain died on February 7th, at her home, after a several months' illness.

Mr. and Mrs. McClain formerly lived in Eldorado, and oldtimers here will remember that Mr. McClain established the Eldorado Hardware store with Mr. Wilson back in 1907, and operated it for several years before selling to the late D. C. Hill.

Mrs. McClain was the aunt of W. F. and T. C. Meador.

FATHER-DAUGHTER BANQUET OF GIRL SCOUTS RE-SET

Iraan Lions To Serve Pancake Supper Friday

Basketball fans who follow the Eldorado Eagle cagers to Iraan tomorrow night for the game, were informed this week that the Iraan Lions club will serve a pancake supper there that evening and that proceeds of the supper will be used for purchase of the sign to be installed on the highway west of Iraan directign traffic over the new highway route which passes through Eldorado.

So . . . if you attend the game tomorrow evening, go early enough to attend the pancake supper.

The Success publisher drove to Weatherford last week and made purchase of several pieces of equipment from a printing plant which was going out of business. We are now in the process of arranging for a trucker to bring it here.

According to Mrs. Roach there was no insurance on the household goods which were damaged by fire in their storage garage recently. The contents consisted of used furniture and several antiques. The family had been under the impression that it was insured, but it developed that it was not.

There is no explanation of how the fire started except a cigarette carelessly thrown in nearby dry grass.

During our recent spell of weather, several people got stuck and ran into ditches from the icy roads.

H. A. and Dixie Belk made a business trip to Fort Worth over the week end. They had to negotiate icy roads on their way back and report that the usual five hour trip took nine hours.

Bethel Jeffrey is back at work in the Eldorado Hardware store in the plumbing and sheet metal department.

Mrs. J. Tom Williams reported this week that a rabid skunk was killed on her place. The animal's head was sent in and the report came back positive.

Vincent C. Hobbs, Scout Executive of the Concho Valley Council, wrote us as follows last week end from the headquarters office in San Angelo:

"Today I received your latest issue of the Eldorado Success in which you have certainly done a wonderful job of Boy Scout Week promotion.

"On behalf of the fine young men of your community and those who read your paper may I express my thanks for this space as well as the time and money that it took to do the job."

Hartgraves Livestock Company considers themselves lucky as they had but a small number of livestock on hand during the cold spell. Several hundred lambs and about 150 head of cattle were all they were responsible for.

With our subscribers: Mrs. M. M. Reynolds is now taking the Success at Box 14, Lowake, Texas.

Claude Alexander is now receiving the Success at 304 E. 32nd in Austin.

Arnie Lee Westbrook, Jr., has moved from Dallas to Alpine and his new address is box 147, Sul Ross College.

Two pictures on this page have to do with recent grass fires. These, of course, are last week's fires—this week the dry grass has been covered with snow.

Has it ever failed? Just when we are digging out from the last blizzard and getting water pipes thawed again, along comes some kill-joy and brightly reports: "They say there's another one coming tomorrow!"

Rash Of Alarms Keep Firemen Busy

CONTINUED dry weather and tall cover on vacant lots kept local firemen busy through last week. Here the truck is at a fire at the rear of the pool hall.

The Davidsons are already operating the store, and state that they will continue to give the same service and merchandise. In addition, Bud will be doing plumbing and heating work. The name of the store will be Davidson Hardware.

The transfer included the store building and lots, as well as the stock of merchandise.

Parent-Son Barbecue To Highlight F.F.A. Week

Highlight of the week honoring the Future Farmers of America, here in Eldorado, will be the parent-son barbecue coming up Monday night at 7:00 at the Memorial Building.

FFA Week comes this year from February 16-23.

Walter Powell is president of the local FFA chapter, and Oliver Burk, vocational agriculture instructor, is advisor.

News Of The Sick

Ed T. Davis was taken to the Sonora hospital last Thursday night. His family were called to his bedside and some of them have now returned to their homes. Mr. Davis was some improved this week.

Frank Blair of San Angelo, formerly of Eldorado, is seriously ill at Shannon hospital. He is father of Delwood Blair and Mrs. Jack Griffin.

Mr. Turnbow, father of W. E. Turnbow, who moved recently to San Angelo to live with another son, has been in a San Angelo hospital since sustaining a stroke. His condition is improved and the paralysis is receding.

Sam McGinnes returned Monday from the Clinic-Hospital where he underwent eye surgery. He is continuing convalescence at home.

Schleicher residents had another taste of winter this week when they awoke Monday to find the ground covered with snow and highway driving conditions hazardous.

Schools here dismissed at 2:30 Monday and remained closed the following day. By Wednesday morning the blizzard had done its stuff—the sun rose on a cold, white land, but there was every evidence that rapid warm-up was on its way. Temperatures here were about 14 degrees shortly after sun-up, but the worst was over and school buses were again making their appointed rounds.

The latest spell brought with it the usual inconveniences of frozen water pipes, but gas pressure remained constant and everyone was comfortable indoors. Stockmen had the usual chore of breaking ice on water troughs.

Dry as the area has been for the last five months, the snowfall was welcome from a moisture standpoint.

SINGING CONVENTION SET

The Kimble-Menard County singing convention will meet Sunday, Feb. 17, 1963, at London Baptist church at 2:00 p.m.

The Woman's club was canceled this week because of the bad weather.

School News

Tuesday was an unscheduled holiday from school on account of the severe weather, but classes were back in session yesterday.

The Eagle cagers go to Iraan Friday night, and Tuesday night will meet Sanderson at Ozona.

In connection with FFA Week, the parent-son barbecue will be held Monday evening at 7:00 in the Memorial Building.

This week end, the band festival will be held in Del Rio and the speech meet will be held at Baylor.

Sweetheart Banquet Held

The recreation room of the First Baptist church was the scene of the Brotherhood's annual Sweetheart Banquet, on Feb. 11 at 7:30 p.m. The room was gaily decorated in the Valentine theme with red hearts, streamers, etc.

During a short business session, presided over by G. R. Hext, the Brotherhood president, new officers were elected.

It was decided that the church would observe Layman's Day. Four Intermediate girls served the meal to the 50-plus people present.

Rev. Vaughan gave a Quiz on Sweethearts of the Bible. Several mother-in-law jokes were told and a musical program was rendered by Frank O'Banion and Rev. Vaughan, with Mrs. Roy Phelps at the piano. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ramsay were complimented by a song dedicated to them as the oldest couple present.

Roy Phelps introduced the speaker, Rev. Brookley, pastor of the First Baptist church of Sonora, who spoke on the Christian Home.

Mrs. Sadie Davidson, Mrs. Granvill Hext, Mrs. Ruth Finnigan and Mrs. W. A. Van Dusen are taking a leadership course at the Lakeview Baptist church in San Angelo. They attended last Thursday night and will go again tonight (Thurs.). Anyone interested in attending tonight is invited to go with them.

Because of the icy roads and streets, the WMU meeting and the Sunbeam meetings were not held Monday afternoon.

The three million men and women of the electrical industry observe National Electrical Week each year during the week of Thomas A. Edison's birthday, February 11. National Electrical Week is a time when attention is focused on the contributions that electricity makes to our economy, our high standard of living, and our progress as a nation

Do you know that...

Today the United States has more power capacity than the next 5 nations combined and almost three times the power capacity of the Soviet Union.

West Texas Utilities has increased its electric generating capacity over 6 times since 1942.

In terms of residential use, the American home uses nearly eight times the electricity of the Russian home. Americans use twice as much for lighting alone as the Russian total.

The average cost of a kilowatt hour to residential customers served by WTU has decreased 35% in the last 20 years.

...you can live better electrically

NEFF'S CAFE
C. O., Opal, and Nell

By Dayton Kelley
Mary Hardin-Baylor College
Belton, Texas

We wondered aloud in this space some time ago as to what a man like General John C. Moore, the hero of Shiloh, was doing in a little village like Osage in Coryell county. Many of the men of the South who reached such high rank in the Confederate Army came home after the War and went into business, became lawyers, or got into such industries as railroad, shipping or manufacturing. In most cases they lived in the larger towns.

Our curiosity finally got the better of us and we drove up to Osage and the surrounding area to see if we could find out the answer to our question.

Mrs. W. E. Patton of Crawford is a granddaughter of General Moore and we found her our best source of information. Although she was quite young when the General died, she nevertheless remembers him quite distinctly and recalled that he taught school as long as he was able in such places as Mexia, Coryell City, Dallas and perhaps other towns.

Later he moved to Ennis to live with a son who was in business there, but came to Osage to live with another son, Will, who owned property in that area. Will Moore built a small house for his father near his own home where the General lived out his life. The house is still standing today.

Mrs. Patton recalled that the General had been fond of the nearby town of Coryell City when he taught school there and always liked his "retirement" home. She also remembered that on one occasión, he returned to Mexia where he had been a teacher and while there was presented a finely-made chair by some of his former students. Mrs. Patton has the chair and has had it restored to its original beauty. It is what one might call a forerunner of what we today would call a platform rocker.

We learned while in Crawford that another Civil War general officer made his home in the town following the war. He was Brigadier General Felix Huston Robertson to whom we hope to devote an entire column in the near future.

Recommended Reading For This Week: A novelist of great talent who has turned to the Civil War for her latest book is Frances Parkinson Keyes. Her "Madame Castel's Lodger," published by Farrar, Straus and Cudahy, is a romantic story built around P. G. T. Beauregard, the hero of Fort Spunter and one of the most respected of all Confederate general officers. For those who like their Civil War reading in fictionalized form, we cannot recommend this one highly enough.

And another Confederate state whose participation in the Civil War is now told in book form is North Carolina. To tell the state's story, the North Carolina Confederate Centennial Commission chose Glenn Tucker, a foremost authority on the Civil War, who has put it all down in "Front Rank," a book we predict will become "front rank" with Confederate partisans.

And for those who would read a history of the entire war without having to wade through several volumes, we recommend Harry Hansen's "The Civil War," published in one volume by Duell, Sloan and Pierce. Here is a distillation of the more important activities of the War that brings an understanding of the times without all the frills.

Supervised Farming Programs In Texas

Future Farmers of Texas make a big business out of their laboratory experiences in vocational agriculture. Last year 38,000 FFA members in Texas cleared over four million dollars from 102,000 head of livestock, 51,000 acres of crops, and nearly a million head of poultry.

In the classrooms of over 900 high schools in Texas, students study scientific agricultural practices as a part of their regular high school curriculum. When the school day is over, all is not finished for the vocational agriculture student, because he is responsible for his supervised farming program which is supervised by his vocational agriculture teacher.

With money he earns from his project, using improved practices he has studied in class, the student launches into the very competitive field of agricultural production where he must use every managerial skill at his command to show a profit.

Governor Proclaims FFA Week In Texas

Governor John Connally has proclaimed the week of February 16-23 as FFA Week in Texas.

In presenting the proclamation to Jerry Clark, Texas FFA Association president from Buna, the Governor pointed out that the importance of agriculture in our state increases as Texas progresses, and it is vital to our well-being that we train skilled farmers and ranchers to provide a plentiful supply of food in years to come.

Jerry Clark received the proclamation on behalf of the 39,000 active FFA members in 937 chapters and more than a quarter of a million former students.

The FFA is composed of boys who are studying vocational agriculture in the public schools in preparation for careers in farming, ranching and related fields.

In studying the science of agriculture, these Future Farmers are striving to improve this great industry for the welfare of all citizens.

The Role Of The V. A. Teacher

By Alton Ice, Executive Secretary
Vocational Agriculture Teachers
Association Of Texas

What has happened in Agriculture during the last half century? If you are a close observer of the Agricultural Industry—your reply would no doubt be—plenty!!! In fact, few would question that we have had a revolution in the last half century.

The agricultural abundance in America is the envy of people throughout the world. Yet, during the last half century, the number of acres and man power utilized in agricultural production has decreased while production has increased. This points to advanced technology which has been most effectively applied to give the world its best fed and clothed nation in the history of mankind.

The Smith-Hughes Act of 1917 gave the states of our nation the ignition for a program which has sparked the agricultural revolution. The Vocational Agriculture Teacher has played the major role in the education of our farm and ranch people as they work together with other agencies, commercial and governmental research and the local communities.

The curriculum of Vocational Agriculture has encountered as much revolution as Agriculture itself. Some major items in the first Vocational Agriculture classes included seed corn selection, harness repair, elementary pruning of plants, and running of terrace lines. The 1963 Vocational Agriculture Student in our 875 high schools throughout the state will find that he is studying complex plant and animal breeding programs, complete conservation programs for our land and other natural resources, and spending an increasing amount of time in the areas of business management on the farm. In the farm shop, he will be studying electricity, plumbing, farm construction, welding and the management of expensive farm machinery and equipment.

The Vocational Agriculture Teacher must be well trained to cope with the ever increasing complexities of Agriculture, and he must be alert to the challenging needs of the Agriculture he serves.

The farm jobs known to the farm boy of a half century ago have moved to town. The wood he chopped, the water he drew for livestock, the hand milking chores, the laborious household and farmstead chores now performed by machines and conveniences not dreamed of in his day. There are large numbers of workers employed in agricultural occupations and professions to support the efficient farmer of today. More will be needed in the years to come and the Vocational Agriculture Teacher will have an important part in the training needed by these farmers and workers in the Agricultural Industry.

A chemical firm manager said recently, "Agricultural Science is calling youth." By 1970 over 20,000 additional scientists will be needed to feed the nation's population. This is a 40% increase over today. Careers in agricultural chemistry, biology, and marketing, to name a few, must come from students in schools today. Space-men need food, possibly grown aboard their capsules, the chemist said. His plea to Future Farmers? Stay and train in Agricultural Technology.

The Vocational Agriculture Student's challenges of tomorrow are the Vocational Agriculture Teacher's role in Agriculture today.

PROMPTLY REPORT YOUR CHANGE OF ADDRESS

Persons receiving monthly social security checks were reminded recently that a change of address should be reported promptly to both the Social Security Administration and to the Post Office.

Failure to do this, Floyd B. Ellington, social security manager, said, can result in a delay in receiving your check and the possibility that the check will be returned to the Treasury rather than be forwarded.

Forms for changing an address on a social security's records are available at the San Angelo social security office, 204 Continental Building, Mr. Ellington said. If a change is reported before the middle of the month, the next check can be sent to the new address.

The Post Office should be notified also of a forwarding address in case some social security checks are already in the mail, Mr. Ellington said.

Presbyterians Plan For New Educational Annex

Local Presbyterians have selected a planning committee which is to make long-range plans for the local church property, and make recommendations to the congregation as to their findings.

An immediate project being considered is an addition to the rear of the present church for an educational building. The committee plans to visit other churches in the area and recommend a type of building and facilities to be incorporated into it. After that a building committee will be appointed.

Present plans are to have construction under way by summer.

The Rev. Dan Sebseta is pastor of the church.

The Presbyterian church also acquired in December the corner lots to the north of their present church property. These are to be used for church expansion in the more distant future.

The small frame house which was erected on one of the lots a number of years ago by Rev. F. E. King is to be removed.

Next Monday, the 18th, we will have our annual FFA banquet. It will consist of the school board, faculty, buyers of the FFA lambs, sweethearts of this year and last and their parents, other special guests, and FFA members and their parents.

The banquet will be held during our national FFA week, which begins Saturday the 16th. —Rep., Phil Edmiston.

Agriculture—Vital To America

By Preston Smith
Lieutenant Governor

Agriculture has always been, and will remain, a basic factor in the Texas economy. It is also a vital part of the Texas tradition. Even though our towns and cities are rapidly running up a big population lead over our rural areas, Texans will always be thought of as people of the farm, the ranch, the great outdoors.

Change and challenge are the order of the day for Texas agriculture. To conquer our new problems and temper our old ones, Texas agriculture needs now—as never before—people who are equipped, trained and dedicated to a role of modern farm leadership.

I know of no better training for this vital leadership than the Future Farmers of America program. Having grown up on the farm myself, I have always had more than a casual interest in FFA work. Past accomplishments have been most praiseworthy. In my opinion, the responsibility and the opportunity for service are greater today than ever.

Intelligent, progressive, aggressive solutions of the "farm problem" in all of its modern connotations, are necessary—not merely for a healthy agricultural industry, but for the general health of our state and national economies. The Future Farmers of America will be in the forefront of our march toward a better tomorrow for Texas agriculture.

DAUGHTERS OF AMERICAN COLONISTS HOLD FIRST MEET

Nine Eldorado women interested in organizing a chapter of the National Society of the American Colonists, met last Saturday afternoon at the library. These women are eligible, prospective members and they will meet again soon to organize as soon as their papers are all signed.

Anyone eligible to become a member is invited to send in her application. Another meeting will be announced later.

First Christian Church

C.W.F. met in the home of Mrs. Charles Young. Meeting opened with the C.W.F. prayer, and roll call was given. Mrs. Raymond Schrank gave thought on Heb. 12:1, Mrs. Bud Haynes gave How God Speaks, Heb. 1:1-9. Minutes were read of the last meeting and the treasurer's report was given.

Mrs. W. R. Nicks has moved to San Angelo. She was the first C.W.F. secretary and also held the treasurer's office. This last year Mrs. Nicks has been out of town a great deal and has always been a great help to our project-work when at home.

Our Church Library was started by Mrs. Roy Rountree in memory of Mr. W. R. Nicks. We have used Mrs. Nicks' home as our temporary library.

Plans are to complete our church library, and we should have a place for our library books.

Our love and regards go with Mrs. Nicks to her new home.

Our Bible lesson was Matthew 16 and 17 chapters, given by Mrs. Raymond Schrank.

Meeting closed with prayer and the C. W. F. benediction.

Refreshments were served by our hostess, Mrs. Charles Young. —Rep.

The next meeting, in March, is scheduled to be held at the A. J. Stevens home.

Garland Williams and family of Roby spent the week end with Mrs. J. Tom Williams, and other relatives and friends.

Screwworm Fund Drive Reaction Good

Mission.—Early reports indicate that livestock producers and sportsmen are giving their all-out support to the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation drive to prevent the Screwworm Eradication Program from having to be terminated because of the exhaustion of funds. Even some California livestockmen have sent in their contribution of $500.

The Foundation has set its sights on collecting the remaining $1,000,000 of their $3,000,000 goal by March 1 and is conducting an intensive campaign to achieve that goal. By that date, the $2,000,000 already collected will be practically expended and the program may have to be stopped. Federal funds cannot be used unless they are at least matched by state and private money.

Marvin J. Bridges, executive director of the Foundation, said he had personally talked to the majority of the county animal health chairmen during recent weeks, and judging from their comments, he is confident the livestock industry will rise to the challenge that is facing it. Bridges said some of the counties have already collected up to 50% as much as they had in the previous drive. He said a group of California Livestockmen expressed their interest in the eradication program and sent a check for $500. The Perry Foundation of San Antonio has made a contribution of $50,000, its second to the program.

Governor John Connally recently stated that he would await the result of the fund drive before considering an emergency appropriation by the State Legislature. He said he believes the livestock producers and sportsmen have an obligation to fulfill their commitment, and to demonstrate that belief he gave a personal contribution, his second as a Texas rancher.

The Foundation's president, C. G. Scruggs, said the Governor's statement makes it imperative that the money be raised by March 1. Every livestock producer, regardless if he has donated before or not, will be asked to contribute again on the basis of fifty cents per animal unit. Many of the state's sportsmen are actively participating by contributing one dollar for each deer they killed during 1962.

"We cannot afford to let this valuable program die just when its success is so readily apparent," Scruggs remarked. He pointed out that screwworms in 1962 had been almost totally confined to the Southwestern states, whereas in the previous year, 17 states reported infestation. He urges livestockmen and sportsmen to contact their local county animal health committee and make their donation immediately.

Wet Weather Grooves Reduce Accidents

Austin.—An expressway in San Antonio is safer now because the Texas Highway Department has found a way to make drivers "stay in the groove" in wet weather.

With diamond-bladed rotary saws the department sliced small grooves in 344,557 square feet of Interstate Highway 35, a strip which once had the highest wet-weather accident rate in San Antonio.

Until the Highway Department took saws to the problem, accidents had almost tripled in two years' time on the expressway section between Broadway and South Flores Street. Accidents had jumped from 42 in 1959 to 120 in 1961.

Engineers tried roughing up the unusually slick paving with acid, resins and slurry seal with disappointing results. Then the Research Section of the Department's Highway Design Division at Austin suggested striating the strip with grooves 1/8-inch deep and 3/16-inch apart.

Accidents were reduced dramatically. During a 7-day period of rainy weather last November, not one accident occurred on the treated strip. Nearby on a stretch of similar distance on the same expressway, 12 vehicles were involved in skidding accidents during the same period.

Subsequent tests on the pin-striped highway indicate wet weather stopping distances are significantly reduced by grooving. Before the longitudinal saw cuts were made, it took 94 feet to brake to a stop in wet weather. Now it takes just 72 feet. Dry weather stopping distances remain about the same.

But in both wet and dry highway conditions, test drivers report, vehicles always skid in a straight line when braking on the grooved expressway. Before grooving, they say, vehicles were frequently wrenched out of the lane by quickstop skidding.

Highway officials think the saw cut project is paying off quickly in a savings of property and human injury. They feel they have made an important beginning toward eliminating the menace of highways with abnormally high slick-when-wet coefficients.

Germany, Lone Star Steel board chairman, who suggested to the employees that in lieu of sending Christmas cards to fellow workers that they contribute to the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children at Dallas to aid in the care and treatment of the little patients who are admitted from all over the state. The plan is said to have now been adopted by other companies interested in aiding these children back to normal lives.

Girls Tie For District

The Eldorado girls undaunted by snow and ice took the court Tuesday night and made the district race hot by downing Rankin 47-30. Both teams now are 4-1 in district play with a game left. Jan Davis paced the Eldorado Eagles with 20 points and Christy Moore had 13. Susie Scott and Marsha Mund had 6 and 8 respectively.

The Eldorado guards poured it on the two tall forwards from Rankin holding the 6' girl to 16 points and the 5' 10" girl to 8. Linda Nixon, Tissie Enochs, Phyllis Parker, Joan Griffin, Frankie Blaylock and Barbara Johnson were responsible for the fine defensive playing.

The Eagles are now 18-5 for the season.

F. F. A. WEEK

Vocational Education In Agriculture

Vocational education in agriculture is a federally-aided program of systematic instruction in agriculture and farm mechanics of less than college grade, conducted in public schools or classes for those persons over 14 years of age, "who have entered upon or who are preparing to enter upon the work of the farm or the farm home." Instruction is given by teachers who are specially trained agricultural college graduates, and they are employed on a 12-month basis. The instructional program is designed to fit the needs of the individual students and the local community.

Students Of Farming

Vocational agriculture students study in the techniques and science of agricultural production; receive training in marketing and other phases of farm management. Soil conservation and improvement is studied. Considerable emphasis is given to farm mechanics training involving the selection, care, maintenance, and operation of modern farm machinery. Instruction also is provided in the construction and maintenance of farm buildings, fences, and other equipment. The instructor frequently takes his vocational agriculture students on field trips to neighboring farms and ranches to observe good practices of farming and farm management.

While not all students actually become full-time farmers, most of them do find careers in some phase of agriculture. Their experiences in vocational agriculture and the FFA serve well to help them to success. Many continue their studies through agricultural college.

The Future Farmers of America is the national organization, of, by, and for farm boys studying vocational agriculture in public secondary schools. It is an educational, non-profit, non-political farm youth organization of voluntary membership, designed to develop agricultural leadership, character, thrift, scholarship, cooperation, citizenship, and patriotism. The national FFA organization was launched at Kansas City, Missouri, in November, 1928, following many years of development of vocational agriculture student organizations in the states and local communities. The FFA has approximately 380,000 active members in 9,000 local high school chapters located in farming areas throughout the 50 States and Puerto Rico.

Learn By Doing

Through participating experiences in the Future Farmers of America, members learn how to take part in meetings, to follow parliamentary procedure, to speak in public, and to co-operate with their fellow students in programs for individual and community betterment.

The National Convention

Each year in October, eight to ten thousand blue-jacketed members of the Future Farmers of America converge on the Municipal Auditorium in Kansas City, Mo., for the annual National convention.

The convention is the culmination point for many activities that are begun in local chapters. It is a time when regional and national awards are presented to boys whose achievements in farming and leadership have been outstanding. Official delegates discuss and solve organizational problems, and new national officers are elected.

Aim And Purposes Of The FFA

The primary aim of the Future Farmers of America is the development of agricultural leadership, cooperation and citizenship. The specific purposes for which this organization was formed are:

2. To create and nurture a love of country life.
3. To strengthen the confidence of farm boys and young men in themselves and their work.
4. To create more interest in the intelligent choice of farming occupations.
5. To encourage members in the development of individual farming programs and establishment in farming.
6. To encourage members to improve the farm home and its surroundings.
7. To participate in worthy undertakings for the improvement of agriculture.
8. To develop character, train for useful citizenship, and foster patriotism.
9. To participate in co-operative effort.

Austin.—Lawyers are wondering if the Texas Senate really passed a constitutional amendment resolution proposing that the voters give women equal rights.

Records show that this resolution passed the Senate 26-5. But it also shows that the Senate voted down an amendment which would have made it clear that the purpose of the proposal was to repeal all laws on the statute books which treat women differently from men.

When courts interpret the laws and the constitution, legislative intent is what they must determine. Records show that the legislative intent of the Senate was not to repeal all the discriminatory laws about women.

This proposal, by Sen. William T. Moore of Bryan, has been DEFEATED in the Senate many times before.

It now goes to the House of Representatives, which has PASSED it many times before.

Texas Sells Itself

Legislators' proposals to add such slogans as "Lone Star State" and "Texas Has Everything" to auto license plates haven't found favor with Dewitt Greer, chief engineer with the State Highway Department.

"T-E-X-A-S is the only slogan this state needs," Greer told the House Appropriations Committee. He added that more wording on car tags just means additional expense.

"All law enforcement officers will tell you," Greer explained, "the readability of the rest of the plate is lessened if you crowd in slogans."

Parks-Highway Tie In

Greer testified before the same committee during hearings on a bill by Rep. David Haines of Bryan to put state parks under the Highway Commission's jurisdiction.

Greer made it clear that his commission is not seeking an extra job. But he stated, "If you give us the parks to administer, we would do an outstanding job of it."

Haines' proposal is an alternative to Gov. John Connally's suggestion that the Parks Board be combined with the Game and Fish Commission.

Rep. Haines said he thought Greer's agency could and should take over the parks, and make each highway district responsible for the parks in its district.

"If the parks were improved," Haines stated, "it would increase highway travel, which would increase gas consumption. And that would increase the gas taxes to the highway commission, so they would have a high stake in doing a good job."

Death Of Poll Tax?

If the rest of the Senate feels like the Senate committee on constitutional amendments, the poll tax may be on its way to extinction.

Committee gave a nine-to-two approval of Laredo Sen. Abraham Kazen's bill to submit to the people a constitutional amendment that would kill the poll tax as of February 1, 1965.

The two "no" votes in committee came from Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas and Sen. Galloway Calhoun Jr. of Tyler.

"Ayes came from Sens. Kazen, Charles Herring of Austin, Roy Harrington of Fort Arthur, Don Kennard of Fort Worth, Culp Krueger of El Campo, Walter Richter of Gonzales, Aaron Schwartz of Galveston, Franklin Spears of San Antonio and Jack Strong of Longview.

If Kazen's bill passes the full legislature, voters would make the final decision in the 1964 general election. So far, every state that has voted on the federal constitutional amendment to do away with poll taxes, except Mississippi, has voted to drop it.

'Color-Blind' Tax

Rep. Howard Green of Fort Worth introduced a bill to make the poll tax "color blind."

Green called the race notation on voter registration forms useless and outmoded. Furthermore, "it is an additional bar to full citizenship."

He believes his bill will pass with little opposition, but there are many who consider the race notation a necessary aid to voter identification.

Anti-Pollution Bill

A bill to give a county health officer the power to enter and check business establishments and manufacturing plants "to discover threats to the public health" from air or water pollution was revived by Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston. He failed to get it passed in previous sessions.

What FFA Training Has Meant To Me

By Jerry Clark, President Texas Association, FFA

Next to my church work, the organization of the Future Farmers of America has made the most satisfying and useful contribution thus far to affect my life. As I reflect on my years spent in the FFA and all that I have enjoyed and gained, it seems as though it was there just to fill my particular needs. History, present day relations, and logic prove that I am not the only boy to feel this way about our organization. I came to the FFA as a young boy wanting to do what was right and best, just as many other boys have in the past and I hope, will in the future. Certainly I was open and ready for the sound directives and inspiring challenges of this great farm boy organization.

Now as an older member, I look back and see that truly I was receiving the most basic training and growing in the purest of Christian and American virtues. I will always be gratefully indebted to this program interwoven with our Agricultural education in America. Training and experience in leadership ability, cooperative activities, patriotic activity, scholarship, and over-all good citizenship are the things which I needed and desired and found in the FFA Organization. These and many others have been the challenging fields of opportunity to enter my mind and heart. Our organization seeks not only to make the member aware of opportunity, but also to give him ways and means for utilizing this opportunity thus helping it to become experience, which is the greatest teacher. We as Future Farmers believe in and love our organization. We will "practice brotherhood, honor rural opportunities and responsibilities and develop those qualities of leadership which a Future Farmer should possess."

FFA Work Valuable As Preparation For College

By Jarrell D. Gray, Head Dept. of Agricultural Education East Texas State College

A college education is worth approximately $100,000 more than a high school education.

According to the U. S. census information, a person with four years of college education can expect to earn in his lifetime approximately $100,000 more than a person with only a high school education.

With the increased emphasis that is on education in our present time, it behooves the high school student to consider further educational achievements. Such increased emphasis will no doubt continue as we progress further into the Space Age.

Of course there are many reasons for one obtaining a college education. Increased earning capacity is only one—and perhaps a minor one at that. For most people, a college education is valuable because it provides them an opportunity to be of further help to their fellow man, gives one a feeling of achievement, increases his potentials for acquiring and progressing in occupational positions, and adds economical security for himself and his family.

The high school student who is making plans to attend college is naturally concerned with preparing himself for college work. How, then does participating in the organization of Future Farmers of America increase one's chances for success in college?

The FFA is most beneficial in 2 areas—the area of leadership training and the area of scientific agriculture.

Why is training in leadership & scientific agriculture important for success in college and how does the FFA help students in these areas?

A partial answer to these questions is found in a recent scientific study among college students to determine the success of college students with and without agricultural training in high school. It was found that students who had had vocational agriculture in high school did as well as, or, in most instances, better than those who did not have such training. Students having had vocational agriculture in high school were found to be more persistent in their college work. Such students who were studying agriculture, engineering, education and arts and science had higher grade averages than those without vo-ag training.

Results from such a study indicate that courses in vocational agriculture are acceptable as preparation for students who pursue a program in either an agricultural or a non-agricultural college.

Results such as these are no doubt brought about by the fact that students studying vocational agriculture in high school and who belong to the FA receive much training that is most beneficial in college.

In FFA judging contests, for example, students must know much scientific agriculture in order to make proper selections of animals, crops, plants and meats. They must also exercise good judgment in such selections. There, knowledge and judgment, have a carry-over in college that is of great value.

cupation. This leadership training is also most beneficial to college students. The outstanding students in any college are those who are leaders.

To provide the leadership training, FFA members spend considerable time studying parliamentary procedure, radio broadcasting, farm skill demonstrations, and public speaking.

Becoming proficient in any of these areas makes it possible for one to become a better college leader. The college student, to be most effective, must be able to lead others. To do this, he must possess the ability to speak properly and to preside efficiently at group meetings. Acquiring these leadership abilities in high school gives him a distinct advantage in college.

The high school student, then, who is bound for college can feel certain that experiences gained in FFA will do much to increase his chances for success in college, regardless of whether he is preparing for an occupation related to agriculture or whether he is preparing for one in a non-agricultural occupation. He may also feel certain that his college education will pay dividends in later life through increased earning capacities or through self-satisfaction of being able to render greater contributions to one's fellow man, to our society and to our democratic way of life.

County Unit Change Proposed

Rep. George T. Hinson of Mineola thinks it's time someone started doing something about "modernizing county government." So he has introduced a bill to require county commissioners to be elected by the county at large.

Each county precinct would have to put up resident candidates, which, Hinson explained, would assure continued local representation through pooled knowledge of each precinct's problems, and prevent the largest community from filling a commissioners court with its own residents.

Hinson believes his county-at-large election plan would get commissioners from all precincts to work at all times for the best interests of the entire county.

If his bill becomes law, Hinson sees it as a forerunner to eventual economical pooling of the resources—capital, road machinery, manpower and equipment—of all a county's precincts into one central unit.

Do 'Eyes' Have It?

A proposal by Rep. Bill Walker of Cleveland that the state song be changed from "Texas, Our Texas" to "The Eyes of Texas" has been referred to a study subcommittee which includes no Texas exes.

Subcommittee chairman Gene Hendryx of Alpine is a Sul Ross graduate. One member, Howard Green of Fort Worth, finished at T.C.U., and the third member is an ex-Aggie, Rep. Richard C. Slack of Pecos.

Some interested legislators have suggested that the "Eyes of Texas" might be made more palatable if the opening bars of the "Aggie War Hymn" were added.

But a state association of music clubs has indicated that the Aggies aren't the only ones opposed to a change of the state anthem.

LBJ Law Hit

Rep. O. H. (Ike) Harris (R-Dallas) has introduced a bill to repeal the so-called "Lyndon Johnson law."

Present law permits a candidate's name to appear on the ballot twice, thus permitting him to run for two offices at the same time.

Convict Labor

Use of prison labor to improve state parks is under consideration. This fact was brought out in a legislative hearing of the House Appropriations Committee.

Dr. George Beto, director of the Texas Department of Corrections, was asked about the prospect of using convicts to clean up and repair parks buildings. He replied that prison officials are considering this.

H. D. Council Holds Luncheon Meeting

The Schleicher County Home Demonstration Council met for a luncheon meeting on Feb. 5, in the special dining room of the West Texas Cafe. The occasion was to welcome to the county Miss Bonnie Cox, organization specialist of A&M College and Miss Thelma Casey, district Home Demonstration Agent of San Angelo.

Council members attending the luncheon from Schleicher county clubs were council chairman, Mrs. Roy Boynton from the Glendale club and Mrs. Archie Mittel and Mrs. Hollis McCormick, of the Glendale club; Mrs. Ruth Williams president and Mrs. Ruth Finnigan of the Earn and Learn Club; Texas Home Demonstration Association chairman Mrs. Bascom Hartgraves of the Reynolds club; Mrs. Charles Wimer, president, Mrs. Cecil Williams and Mrs. J. Tom Williams also of the Reynolds club; Mrs. Duane Branham, president of the Good Neighbor club of Bailey Ranch and Mrs. Chas. Warnock, president of the Young Homemakers Club of Eldorado.

After a very delicious meal and enjoyable fellowship, the final touches were put on the plans for the District 7 planning meeting which will be Feb. 22 in Eldorado.

Miss Cox stated that 48% of the women of the United States are not members of any club, but most of those that are members belong to more than one club. Club work is a source of further education to women. They seek no glory of their own; but by learning how to help and influence their husbands and sons to become able leaders, is their satisfaction.

Publicity is an important factor in anything. It is said, "Public sentiment is everything, with it nothing can fail, without it nothing can succeed."

The basis for public relations can be found in Matthew, "Let your light so shine before men that they will see your good works."

It was announced that the Home Demonstration State Convention will be held at the Granada hotel in San Antonio Sept. 18-19. The theme will be: "In essentials: Unity; In Non-Essentials: Liberty; In All Things: Charity."

After the meeting adjourned most of the women went to the court house to an interesting meeting of the Schleicher County Advisory Board. Mrs. Cox was guest speaker there also.—Rep., Mrs. J. Tom Williams.

Mrs. Claude Doyle visited in Irving all last week with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Etheredge, and her granddaughter, Jackie. Mr. Etheredge is a Texaco salesman.
