Gathering System Assured For Wells In Velrex Gas Field

Standard Oil Co. of Texas has been coring below 6,644 feet in their No. 1 R. L. Henderson, some 20 miles northwest of Eldorado. Location is 467 feet from east line and 1700 feet from south line of section 1215, TCRR survey. Tucker Drilling Co. of San Angelo has the drilling contract. Standard has also staked location for a No. 2 Henderson which will be located 1320 feet from east line and 1320 from north line of Sec. 56, block TT, TCRR survey. These operations are in the Velrex gas field where four or five gassers have been shut in for the past year and a half.

Gathering System

A gathering system for the Velrex field is now being worked out whereby the gas will be piped to the Mertonson gas processing plant. Brooks Gas Corporation of Houston will build the gathering system. Ed Meador's oil properties office in Eldorado has had the job of securing right-of-way for the pipelines. It is expected that the system will be in operation by mid-summer. Residue gas from the Mertonson processing plant will be piped to Northern Natural's main line.

No official report has been made on the Delta Whitten gasser, which still remains shut in. It was flared for a few hours Tuesday night.

Texaco's shallow well on Edwin Jackson's was being swabbed and tested this week.

Oriental Theme For Jr-Sr. Banquet

A large wall mural in the main room of the Memorial Building, painted by Gary Donaldson, with the caption, "Sayonara Seniors of '63" and crepe paper decorations along the ceiling and side walls, paper lanterns, and a small fountain, all carried out the Far East or Oriental theme when the Junior class entertained the Seniors with a banquet and prom Saturday. The banquet was served in the basement banquet room with Lynn Meador, president of the Junior class, acting as master of ceremonies. George Draper gave the invocation.

John McGregor gave the response as Senior class president.

A number of faculty members were present including Raymond Mittel, Oliver Burk, and Leslie Woullard, all three Junior class sponsors.

School trustees, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Jo Ed Hill, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Case, as well as Supt. and Mrs. A. M. Whitis and High School Principal Frank Kemble, were also present.

Following the banquet the Juniors and Seniors and their dates went upstairs to the club room and main room for the prom.

News of the Sick

Ed Hicks was brought home Monday from St. John's hospital where he underwent surgery. He is continuing recovery at home.

Jerry Don was released from the hospital where he underwent surgery and treatment on his injured knee, and has been continuing convalescence at home. He is wearing a cast, but is able to attend some of his classes at Tech.

J. B. Belk was released recently from Clinic-Hospital where he spent three weeks. He joined his wife on the H. A. Belk place for a few days, and they have now returned to their home near Miles.

Miss Dana Owens came home Monday from Shannon hospital and is staying at her home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Brooks are expected home today from San Antonio where he underwent surgery in a hospital.

Cancer Crusade Set For April 16th

The American Cancer Society launches its 1963 Crusade in Eldorado Tuesday, April 16. More than 25 volunteers will join forces with some 2,000,000 similar volunteers throughout the nation in the annual April Cancer Crusade.

Mrs. Vida Kreklow, Crusade chairman, said the drive has two objectives—"to save lives now and to save lives in the future."

The chairman urged "all of the people of Eldorado to take an active part in achieving these objectives."

"Heeding the advice in the literature left by a volunteer calling on you can help save your life. A generous contribution would help save other lives now as well as in the future."

The immediate objective of the Crusade, Mrs. Kreklow explained, "is to save half of those who develop cancer each year—or the lives of 265,000 men, women and children. We know this can be done if we are able to persuade people to get to their doctors in time for prompt treatment. But now we are saving only one out of three patients because of delay in diagnosis. This is why the educational phase of the Crusade is so important."

The long-range objective of the Crusade, the chairman explained, "is to supply the funds needed to save the other half of the people who develop cancer each year. Achievement of this objective rests on more research, for more funds are urgently needed. Scientists are optimistic today about possible breakthroughs—new cures or even a vaccine against cancer."

Mrs. Kreklow observed: "We look forward to that day—we hope not too distant—when cancer will be wiped out—when our families and friends and people everywhere will be freed from the dread prospect of a disease which has caused so much pain and suffering. "I hope that all of the people in this community will open their doors and their hearts when a Crusade volunteer calls."

April 16th is the Tuesday following Easter Sunday. Complete details on the canvass will be given in next week's Success, including the list of workers.

School Trustee Election Saturday

Little interest is in prospect for the school election coming up Saturday, since all candidates are on the ballot without opposition.

Henry Moore, Sam Henderson, and Jim Martin are listed as Trustees, and Archie Mittel and Henry Speck, Jr., are County Trustee nominees.

A sample of the ballot is printed on page 2 of this Success issue. Nevertheless, be good citizen, exercise your rights, and go to the polls Saturday and vote.

The one polling place for all the county will be the school hallway near the auditorium. Polls will be open from 8:00 a. m. to 7:00 p. m.

MOVE COMPLETED

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Humphrey moved into their home in Glendale Monday from the Oliver house. They left their home in Eldorado several years ago when he was transferred to New Mexico, and it had been vacant since then.

The Humphreys moved back to Eldorado a few months ago and rented the Dora Oliver house.

Mrs. Keno Ogden moved into the Oliver house she purchased recently and the Shaws moved to the motel they bought from Mrs. Ogden.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Anderson of Rankin spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rozean and family at the Northern compressor plant in Reynolds.

Mr. and Mrs. James Williams plan to go to Houston to see their new grandson and to visit their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Davis, for the Easter holidays.

Post Script

The Texas Legislature is considering redistricting of the state for new Congressional districts. One proposal being considered would add several counties to the west to our own 21st district, and would make the new district larger than 23 states.

State Rep. Gene Hendryx of Alpine wrote recently, "In my opinion, this is an ill-conceived bill. I believe our West Texas counties have more in common with the 16th District than with Pearsall, Castroville and Lampasas. Historically, geographically, and economically, our counties should remain in the 16th District."

The 16th District takes in El Paso and the area to the east, including towns as close to us as Ozona and Big Lake. That district has always been a competitive one as far as their office of Congressman is concerned. Every election year the 16th seems to have a challenger actively trying to unseat the incumbent Congressman.

In November of 1962, opponents of the incumbent Democratic Congressman, J. T. Rutherford, made an issue out of his alleged ties with Billie Sol Estes. The voters elected Ed Foreman of Odessa, a Republican, as their new Congressman and he is now serving the district in Washington.

All this is in contrast with our own 21st Congressional district where O. C. Fisher has been in office 20 years, has not had an opponent in the Democratic Primary since 1952, and gets only token opposition from the Republicans in the General Elections.

We are sure that towns like Alpine, Fort Stockton, McCamey, Ozona, and Big Lake would rather stay in the competitive 16th district where they are.

At the Open House held Saturday at Clarence Fish's new Western Motel in south Eldorado, Billy Singleton won the door prize of a lamp by guessing closest to the number of beans in a jar. There were 1717 in it, and Mr. Singleton guessed 1700.

Mr. Fish expects the large neon Motel sign to come in about today for installation on the Sonora highway, near the Jva Junction.

Curtis Humphries, principal of the elementary school, reported this week that the display of art masterpieces in the gym the past two weeks netted the schools $115, which will be used to purchase copies of the masterpieces for permanent display on the walls of various classrooms.

Rusty Gibson's new building was constructed in nothing flat one day last week. It will house his stock of rough hardware which he will carry in connection with his fencing and construction work.

H. E. Abbott & Sons, Inc., general contractors of Odessa, were contractors for the building.

People moving:

W. J. Humphrey to his own house from the Dora Oliver house.

Mrs. Keno Ogden to Dora Oliver house which she bought.

E. H. Sweatt Jr. to Clevie Clark house.

Bernice Duke to W. S. Carrell house.

Cement tile walls were going up this week on the new building being built back of Ed Meador's insurance agency office. When complete the new quarters will house the county ASC offices.

Knight-Susen Lumber Company of San Angelo is contractor.

Next week's Success issue will be the one just before Easter Sunday.

All local ministers and pastors of churches, and their designated reporters, are urged to turn in their schedules for Easter services as early as possible next week.

Clouds were hanging low yesterday morning, the wind blew, the air was damp and cold. Directly a few drops of rain splattered on the sidewalk. A drouth-weary citizen observed bitterly, "I guess that's our April rain quota!"

FLASH!

Rain, which started at 4:30 this morning, was still drizzling down at 6:00 a.m., when this paper went to press. It measured four-tenths.

Hwy. Dept. Brochure Aimed At Tourists

Austin.—Tourists unfamiliar with Texas are expected to get an eye-opening look at the state as the result of a colorful new travel brochure released recently by the Texas Highway Department.

The 32-page booklet, "Texas—Today's Fun-tier," is one of several devices used by the State Highway Department to assist Texas in winning a fair share of the burgeoning national travel market.

"Texas realized $471 million from tourism in 1962, an increase of $31 million over 1961," explained D. C. Greer, state highway engineer. "But the potential is far greater."

"Before our state can command this potential, however, we must overcome some unfortunate misconceptions about Texas. This new brochure is dedicated to this end."

One of the most prevalent misunderstandings is that Texas is all a vast desert, arid and highly uninviting as a vacation land. The new brochure, coupled with the state's first series of travel posters and the holiday-oriented 1963 highway map, punctures this idea.

Together they emphasize Texas as a land of infinite variety with its roots in gaiety and excitement. The concept is embodied in the theme that yesterday's frontier has yielded to "today's fun-tier."

The new line was adopted by the Highway Department's Travel Division after scores of suggestions had been studied and re-studied.

By the same token the promotion campaign was built around findings gleaned from a nationwide survey.

The study asked prospective visitors what they would least expect to find in Texas. They stressed lakes and rivers, mountains, forests and greenery, beaches and water sports, tall buildings and a cultural atmosphere.

Taking its cue from the replies, the new brochure is filled with 76 full color pictures, most of them devoted to those features the state is not expected to possess yet which it offers in abundance. A case in point are numerous shots of water and water sports, emphasis not out of place since Texas has more inland water than any state except Alaska.

Care has been taken to give equal representation to all parts of the state. As a guide to the uninitiated, brochure divides the state of Texas into six regions with double page spreads to each.

Another portion discusses the variety of attractions common to the entire state or to more than one region: historical shrines, fine foods, superb accommodations, metropolitan bustle, wide open spaces, international flavor, amusement parks and sports.

There is also a section dealing with hunting and fishing information, highway safety and the extensive tourist services provided by the Highway Department thru its mail operation and its eight Tourist Bureaus.

Enclosing the 9 by 12 inch brochure is a bright panoramic cover painted by a Texas artist. It contains several dozen of Texas' better-known attractions, all arranged in an imaginative tapestry woven about the "Today's Fun-tier" theme.

The new book, six months in preparation, will complement the existing "Texas" brochure which the Highway Department brought out in October, 1960. Since its introduction, nearly 700,000 copies have been printed and distributed throughout the world.

Like the earlier book, the new publication will be sent on request to persons contemplating Texas visits. Although designed primarily for the out-of-state residents, Texans too are likely to find something new about their state from its pages.

"We have every confidence that tools such as this brochure and its companion pieces will help dispel the gross misconceptions many people have about Texas," said Greer. "And when they find we have something more to offer than desert wasteland, there is every likelihood our tourist industry will attain the stature we expect of it."

First Christian C.W.F.

The meeting date was changed to Monday beginning in April and there will be only one meeting a month.

The Bible Lesson was given by Mrs. Schrank and was from the 18th chapter of Matthew.

Home Demonstration Agent's Column
By MRS. VIDA KREKLOW

Congratulations to the Junior class for the way the Memorial Building looked on the occasion of the Junior-Senior banquet last Saturday night. The effect was bewitching, utterly original and the finest thing about it all was that the Juniors did the work themselves.

Incidentally—we can just well afford to keep our eye on Gary Donaldson—the young man has a wonderful way with murals and I predict that he will go a long way in the world of drawing and painting. He already has a good start; talent.

Do you know why a pound of red meat costs more than a pound of poultry? It does, you know.

The U. S. Dept. of Agriculture says it's the cost of the feed. It takes 2 pounds of feed to develop one pound of broiler meat—but 6 to 8 pounds of feed to produce one pound of beef.

And to go a little further into the subject of chicken and beef—do you know how they compare from a food value standpoint?

Very favorably. In fact, pound for pound of edible meat, chicken has an advantage. Chicken is higher than beef in protein, lower in calories and higher in the important B vitamins.

No—I'm not selling chicken. Yes I know we are in red meat country. But—I am selling good nutrition and at the best price possible.

Wash plastic shower curtains in the clothes washer. Just takes a few minutes. The same thing can be done for plastic window curtains.

And another cleaning trick that works is to—

Let the clothes dryer fluff and remove dust from shag rugs, chenille bed spreads, and bed and sofa pillows.

Tumble draperies for a few minutes in the dryer to dust and refreshen.

Somebody, a woman, has cataloged us into three classes of homemakers: The "scrubber," who thoroughly enjoys cleaning and having her home shining every moment; the "mug wump," a fence sitter who would like to keep a perfect house but lacks the time necessary to accomplish it; and the "scorner" who tends to dislike house keeping and directs her energies to interests outside her home.

Which one are you, honestly, a "scrubber," a "mug wump" or a "scorner"?

The number of teen agers in the United States continues to increase each year so that by 1970, 40% of our population will be under 20 years of age. And 1970 is only seven years away.

This is a good cookie recipe. Easy to make and not too, too expensive:

Vanilla Butter Balls
½ cup butter or oleomargarine
3 tablespoons powdered sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sifted flour
¾ cup packaged grated coconut.

Cream fat, add sugar and vanilla. Cream together until light and fluffy. Add flour all at once and blend well. Add coconut, mixing well. Shape into ¾ inch balls and place on ungreased baking sheet. Chill for 15 minutes. Bake in moderate (350) oven for 15 minutes or until delicately browned. Roll in additional confectioners sugar while warm.

Makes 3 dozen cookies.
Chocolate Butter Balls
Add ½ bar sweet cooking chocolate, coarsely chopped, along with the coconut. Roll balls in an additional ¼ cup grated coconut instead of powdered sugar as directed for vanilla cookies. Bake at same temperature for only 12 minutes. (Chocolate cooks more quickly.)

Herman Walker, Jr., and his roommate from Sul Ross, Don Stone of Banquete, expect to make a canoe trip from Camp Mayer, near Fort McKavett, to Austin this week end.

A substantial cut in foreign aid got a boost last week when a committee headed by retired General Lucius D. Clay, after an exhaustive study of the subject, reported that the USA has been attempting too much aid for too many and often in the wrong ways. The report called for an overhaul and a reduction.

From July 1, 1945 to June 30, 1962, our total economic and military aid to foreign countries was $97.6 billion.

Last year President Kennedy asked for $4.9 billion, but the House cut this figure to $3.9 billion, and the Senate went along. This year the President asked for another $4.9 billion plus an additional half billion in obligational authority.

In the face of this, there is a carry-over of funds appropriated in previous years, of $21.3 billion—not yet spent, but in the pipe line or waiting to be committed.

The Clay report calls for a curb on aid to countries which use the money to build up socialistic econ-

Austin.—Texas' Padre Island National Seashore project is getting closer and closer to reality. Already proposed by Congress, it now is waiting for financing by the U. S. and approval by the State of Texas. Project could become a vast tourist attraction for Texas.

Final version of the bill giving Laguna Madre and the state approval of the project was worked out in conference committee. It won Senate approval. House endorsement virtually is assured.

This will convert the northern 81 miles of Padre Island into a natural reservation of seashore, to be kept unspoiled for the enjoyment of future generations.

Loans

One phase of the battle over interest rates has ended. But more rounds likely are to come.

Senate spent two tough days in debate before passing a bill which allows those who lend $1,500 or less to charge more than 10 per cent interest. It does not apply to banks, savings and loan institutions, credit unions and many types of co-operative lending organizations. But it does apply to all finance companies.

Sponsors of the bill wanted to allow more than 10 per cent interest on loans up to $3,000. But the Senate cut it down to $1,500. Rates as high as 46 2/3 per cent were permitted on loans as small as $5, under a fixed fee basis of calculating charges on loans under $100. Further revision in the House, and probably thereafter in conference committee, is expected.

Nets

While one state agency was burning fishing nets, another was advertising for bids to buy some net. So a law change sailed thru the Legislature to put a stop to that.

Old law says that when the Game & Fish Commission men find an illegal net, they confiscate it, advertise for the owner, and when he does not appear to claim it, they burn it. The new law says stage, they can give it the Marine Research agencies of the University of Texas or Texas A&M.

Bills Killed

Legislators appear to have killed

some hot proposals. One is the effort to abolish the state tax on property. Senate voted 23-4 to kill a proposed constitutional amendment to do away with the smallest part of that tax—that which furnishes cash for state office buildings and pensions for old Texas Rangers and Confederate widows. House killed a bill by Rep. Howard Green of Fort Worth to prevent city councils from saying that employees of their cities must live in the cities.

Also, House killed a proposal by Rep. "Red" Berry of San Antonio to allow 13-year-olds to vote. It got a bare majority—72-71—but as a constitutional amendment it needed a two-thirds majority. Berry abandoned his proposal to allow betting on horse races and regulate companies which sell funerals in advance on the easy payment or "lay-away" plan was killed in a point of order.

Faster Speeds

The long talked about proposal to allow 70 miles an hour speeds on open highways went to Gov. John Connally for signature. Rep. Forrest Harding of San Angelo was the sponsor. The proposal sets top speed at 70, but gives State Highway Department the power to reduce that speed limit where it is not safe.

License Fees

House passed a bill to exempt anhydrous ammonia tanks from the license plate fee if they weigh less than 4,000 pounds and are on wheels. If weight is between 4,000 and 8,000 will be $5.00. Cotton seed trailers were given the same treatment, extending to them the exemption trailers. Senate action now is required.

Home-Town Treatment

A program aimed to save money and do a better job on treating mental illness went to Governor Connally for signature. Rep. Malcolm McGregor of El Paso and Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth sponsored the plan. It allows the Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools to contract with local city or county hospitals to treat mentally ill or tuberculars in their home counties.

Authorization of such a program on a statewide basis followed a test at El Paso which proved highly successful from both medical and financial standpoints.

Study Ordered

A group of 25 Texans to be named by Governor Connally will take a long look at the state's system of education beyond the high school. Bill to allow him to appoint such a group went to his desk.

Group will report back to the next Legislature in 1965.

Land Fuss

A dispute over ownership of 1,812 acres of land in Laguna Madre in Cameron County has resulted in a House resolution by Rep. Eligio (Kika) de la Garza of McAllen.

Resolution now is in a House State Affairs subcommittee. It would allow J. W. Luttes and Shell Oil Companies to sue the state and establish title to the Laguna Madre tract.

Water For Alice

The city of Alice in Jim Wells county proposes to solve its water problem by creating a reservoir to capture water from Chiltipin Creek and by drawing on Lake Corpus Christi for an additional supply.

Project was approved by the Texas Water Commission.

Alice has been depending on wells, but C. R. Marks, engineer for the project, said the wells are no longer sufficient. However, they will be continued in use after the Chiltipin-Lake Corpus Christi program is completed.

Slick Operators In Liquor

An illicit liquor scheme, being worked along the Texas border in such a way as to escape taxes, is the target of Rep. John E. Blaine of El Paso.

He says his bill—or the committee substitute for it—would mean thousands of additional dollars to state and federal governments.

The bill, which is in a House Liquor Regulation subcommittee, would authorize Liquor Control Board to require a bonded liquor exporter, with a state license fee $750 per year, and eliminate a "bootlegging" operation along the border, Blaine said.

Operation, which is devious and complex, would be hampered by requiring the Texas-Mexican liquor traffic to move by common carrier.

Candy Barr

Governor Connally approved recommendation of the Board of Pardons & Paroles to parole Juanita Dale Phillips, known as Candy Barr, who has been serving a prison sentence for narcotics violation.

Short, Short Snorts

Governor Connally urged Congress to reject the changes in oil and gas tax laws proposed by President Kennedy . . . Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said he will send an assistant to help in the Jim Wells County grand jury investigation of last November's general election . . . Hardin, Jasper, Stone-wall and Tyler counties are among those for whom hospital district laws are being passed under a new constitutional authority. If legislators authorize them, voters in the counties can tax themselves to set up and operate hospitals . . . Rep. Charles Wilson of Trinity wants to outlaw professional boxing in Texas, as an aftermath of deaths of fighters . . . A Senate committee killed a bill which would have prohibited the state or local units of government from discriminating against anyone because of sex, race, creed, color or national origin. Vote was 12-4 . . . Flying while intoxicated will be against the law if Governor Connally signs a bill to that effect by Rep. Stanford Smith of San Antonio . . . Texans who run crop-dusting services want a state licensing agency, but there is legislative resistance to setting up any new state agencies. Trend this year is to abolish them, not create them . . . Higher retirement benefits for teachers will be possible under a bill by Rep. George Hinson of Mineola awaiting the Governor's signature. Rep. Alonzo Jamison of Denton, one of the original sponsors of the bill, voted against it on final passage because he felt it had lost its original purpose—improvement of benefits for those who retired when teacher salaries were low.

YOUNG MEN SOUGHT TO BE ARMY AVIATORS

Young men between the ages of 18 and 30 may now become Army aviators under a recently announced Army aviation program expansion.

There is an urgent need for Army aviators to pilot helicopters and fixed-wing aircraft in order that the Army may increase its air mobility, according to Major Thad E. Farris, VIII U. S. Army Corps aviation officer.

To qualify for the training an individual must be a high school graduate, a U. S. citizen between 64 and 78 inches in height, and weigh no more than 200 pounds. He must also be physically and mentally qualified and willing to enlist in the Active Army for a two-year period.

Interested individuals may contact U. S. Army recruiting stations for further information and application forms. Information on the over-all Army aviation program may be obtained from the Aviation Section at Headquarters VIII U. S. Army Corps, Austin 1, Texas.

We doubt that our mention last week and on previous occasions of the Irishman Dick Dowling had anything to do with it, but the hero of Sabine Pass came in for more than his share of attention over the St. Patrick's Day week end.

Dowling, of course, along with some 40-odd other Irishmen, turned back a Federal invasion fleet of several thousand men on September 8, 1863 at Sabine Pass near Beaumont.

In Houston, where a statue of Dowling stands in Herman Park, an 80-year-old Irish man, Tom H. Needham, took scrub brushes, brooms and mops and gave the statue its yearly cleaning. Needham has been doing this every year just before St. Patrick's Day for about 20 years.

Houston Irishmen have been paying tribute to Dowling and his men since 1905 when the statue was first erected. Every year they get together for a parade and a ceremony calling attention to the incomparable feat of the young Irish-born Confederate and his fellows.

This year they dedicated a monument over Dowling's grave in old St. Vincent's Cemetery on the grounds of the Guadalupe Church. The grave has heretofore been unmarked and the monument was erected by the Albert Sidney Johnson Camp of the Sons of Confederate Veterans and the San Jacinto Caravan of the Order of Alhambra, a Catholic military and patriotic order.

Four of Dowling's descendants were on hand for the ceremony which was followed by a St. Patrick's Day Parade in downtown Houston.

And over at Sabine Pass, in the Beaumont-Port Arthur area, a life size statue of Dowling, erected by the state in 1936, kept watch over the Pass much as the real-life Dowling and his men must have done a hundred years ago come this September.

The statue is in the Dick Dowling State Park and overlooks the pass through which Federal vessels attempted an invasion of Texas almost a hundred years ago. Shrimp boats and modern tankers and merchants vessels ply the waters in full view of the park and its guardian statue of Texas' Irish hero.

Recommended Reading For This Week: We have just received copies of several items published some time ago which we believe to be important contributions to the literature of the Civil War, particularly the Union side of the conflict.

Among these highly readable yet scholarly publications are "The Civil War Letters of Sergeant Onley Andrus," published by the University of Illinois Press, a collection of letters which are quite intriguing and informative, "A Soldier's Experience," the Civil War experiences of Ben C. Johnson of Michigan now published by the Western Michigan University Press; and "Charles Summer," an essay by Carl Schurz which is previously unpublished and which adds new facts to one of the most controversial figures of the War years.

And on the other side of the War and also published some time ago but only recently discovered by this writer is "Mason Smith Family Letters," published by the University of South Carolina Press. These letters take in the period of 1860-1868 and are here brought together with annotations about the persons mentioned by several members of the Smith family. We recommend these because of their uniqueness and their picture of domestic life in the South during the War.

TORNADO LEAFLETS TO BE AVAILABLE

Austin.—"If spring comes, can tornadoes be far behind?"

Texans can appreciate the paraphrase of Shelley's poem. In the past two years, the U. S. Weather Bureau tallied 253 tornadoes which resulted in millions of dollars of property damage, 85 deaths and 668 injuries.

With tornado season in full swing, the Office of Defense and Disaster relief of the Texas Department of Public Safety issued a special leaflet containing safety information for coping with these destructive storms. Titled "Tornado Precautions," the leaflet details procedures to follow when tornadoes threaten, whether in open country, in cities and towns, schools, factories or industrial plants. Knowing a few basic rules of what to do when a tornado is approaching may mean the difference between life and death.

The leaflet also contains descriptive material on recurrence, frequency and weather conditions most apt to produce tornadoes.

Free copies of the special leaflet can be obtained through local civil defense directors and from the Office of Defense and Disaster Relief, Texas Department of Public Safety, in Austin.
