Masons Meet Tonight To See Bldg. Plans

Orval Edmiston, chairman of the building committee of the Masonic Lodge, reports that plans for the proposed new hall will be presented for consideration of local Masons at their meeting tonight.

The plans were shown Monday night at the meeting of the Eastern Star.

In addition to Orval Edmiston, other members of the building committee are Edgar Spencer, Richard Jones, John Stigler, and Gus Love. They urge all local Masons to attend the meeting tonight to see the plans.

Bids will be called for from contractors and if a suitable bid is received, the regulation is that the local Masonic Lodge must have 70% of the amount in cash on hand before construction can begin.

The Masons and members of the O.E.S. have had a finance campaign under way for the past 2½ years to get the project going.

If members vote approval of the plans, said plans will be forwarded to Waco for Grand Lodge approval and after that, construction can get under way on the corner lots north of the court house which the local Masonic Lodge has owned for some time.

The meeting tonight will be in the landmark frame structure on South Main street which has served as the Masonic hall since it was erected away back in 1909; when William Howard Taft was in the White House, and Peary made his expedition to the North Pole, and the Navy's Great White Fleet had just returned from their 'round the world tour.

The structure has been deemed unsafe in recent years and the proposed new hall has been in the discussion and planning stage for some time.

Cub Scouts To Meet Week From Tonight

Dan Sebesta, chairman of the Cub Scout pack committee, stated this week that the first meeting for this fall of Cub Scouts will be held a week from tonight, on September 19th, at the Memorial Building.

All boys 8, 9, and 10 years old who have not yet signed up to be Cub Scouts the coming year and who are interested in doing so, should get in touch with Mr. Sebesta immediately.

Bob Rowe is Cubmaster. Further arrangements for the meeting next week will be given in next Thursday's Success.

Gin Processing 20 Bales Daily

At the close of business Monday night Eldorado's Mikeska Gin had a total of 130 bales and were ginning at an average of 20 bales a day.

Mikeska said that so far the cotton was about half dry-land and half irrigated. Ginning was expected to pick up soon when strippers were put into the fields.

The 130 bales now on the yard was all hand picked or pulled.

Annual Sonora Game Big Event for Tomorrow Night

There won't be any titles at stake tomorrow night in Sonora when the Eldorado Eagles and the Sonora Broncos step out for the encounter; but 35 years of fierce rivalry between the two schools will insure a bruising, slashing, wham-bang contest and a capacity crowd to see it.

Schleicher High coaches Earl Barnett and Douglas Jung were not particularly anxious to make statements concerning the game; but after being pressed, they commented as follows:

"These Sonora-Eldorado games are always tough; and both teams are always fired up to a high pitch for them. Tomorrow night's game won't be any exception and it will be tougher for us because we play in Sonora."

Examination of team rosters shows that Sonora has a team composed of five juniors and six seniors with possibly some weight advantage and with eight team members weighing in the 150-165 pound bracket.

Eldorado will field seven seniors, three juniors, and one sophomore; but most frequently occurring weights see four boys at 150 pounds or less.

Starting Bronco lineup is as follows:

No.	Name—Pos.	Wt.	Cls.
34	M. St Clair, LE	158	Jr.
73	Alf. Perez, LT	196	Sr.
65	Pat Castro, LG	207	Sr.
50	John Friess, C	164	Jr.
63	Pat Brown, RG	163	Jr.
70	Maxie Delrie, RT	182	Jr.
81	Ray Glasscock, RE	150	Jr.
44	Johnny Merck, LHB	154	Sr.
20	Tino Noreigo, RHB	150	Sr.
31	Jim Brown, FB	150	Sr.
10	Bill Elliott, QB	151	Jr.

Ruben Castillo, a half back, replaced Merck in the Iran contest last Friday night. His number is 40 and he is a senior weighing 126 pounds.

Another change of defensive nature often sees Arturo Sanchez, a 280-pound junior, at guard. His number is 74.

Probable Eagle line-up is as follows:

No.	Name—Pos.	Wt.	Cls.
83	Larry Blair, LE	160	Sr.
71	Rex McCormick, LT	175	Sr.
75	Jim Belk, LG	150	So.
50	Bob Halbert, C	160	Jr.
64	George Draper, RG	165	Sr.
73	Jack Mackey, RT	210	Jr.
80	Richard Preston, RE	170	Jr.
14	Ronald Griffin, LHB	135	Jr.
21	Ron. Williams, RHB	145	Jr.
37	Marv. McAngus, FB	175	Sr.
15	Lynn Meador, QB	150	Sr.

Defensive changes probably will see Scott McGregor, a 135-pound sophomore, Number 13, as one of two safeties; Tipton Finley, a 155-pound senior, Number 33, as an outside linebacker; and Beep Cain, 190-pound junior, Number 55, at defensive guard. But Eldorado coaches said they would make many changes and more if possible.

Game time is 8:00 o'clock in Bronco Stadium; and the same sentiments as were dolefully sung years ago in the classic "After The Ball Is Over" will remain in the stadium or take to the road shortly after the final period.

W. J. Steward Funeral Today

W. J. Steward, 88, long-time resident of San Angelo, died at St. Johns hospital at 9:50 a.m., Wednesday.

Funeral services are scheduled to be held at 3:00 p.m., today at Rockwood, Texas.

The deceased is survived by his wife, five daughters and six sons, including Aaron Steward of Eldorado.

RESERVED SEATS FOR GAME AT SONORA

There will be a 285-seat section reserved for Eldorado people at the game in Sonora Friday night. Tickets go on sale at Eldorado Drug at noon today (Thursday) at $1.25 each.

Eagles Defeat Rocksprings

When Captains Lynn Meador, "Mauling" Marvin McAngus, and Larry Blair deployed their contingent of Eldorado Eagles last Friday night on Eagle Field to pen the Rocksprings Angoras, they encountered a flock of stubborn and self-opinionated Billies instead.

But in spite of all reluctance, they got the job done and closed the gate on a season opening win by a score of 34-6.

The Angoras surprisingly had slightly more avoirdupois than the Eagles although they were not so fortunate in the way of speed and reserves. Incidentally, in their own district, they have the dubious honor of being named as probable district winners. At any rate their stubborn line contained nearly all Eagle backs consistently to some degree except for Fullback "Mauling" Marvin McAngus who runs with his mind made up. Halfback Ronnie Griffin, Halfback Ronnie Williams and Quarterback Lynn Meador who have run a good ways before most folks can crank up and get started. Other Eagles could make short yardage but the Angoras forcibly disapproved in nearly all instances.

Such Eagles included Speedy David Whitten, a junior; Sophomore Apprentice Q.B., Scott McGregor; and fine punter as well as ball carrier Charles Nixon; and defensive stalwart Tipton Finley. Mr. Finley, as an outside linebacker, more than made up for any disappointments he may have suffered with his offensive efforts by his authoritative vetoes of any and all Goat trespassing in his vicinity.

Eldorado Coach Earl Barnett passed the "playing candy" to every lad on the Eagle bench in the contest, always a crowd-pleasing act; and a wholesome one for future Eagles as well.

Standout Eagle lineman for the night was Richard Preston who not only was a toughminded lad as a defensive tackle but who graciously accepted a Lynn Meador

In addition to football, another thing that reminds you that autumn is here and days are growing shorter is that show time at the Eagle Theatre is moved up to 7:30 p.m.

Now you can get back home by 9:30 and still enjoy an hour's reading or T-V.

Building going on:

Dan Sebesta, pastor of the Presbyterian church, reports that foundation will probably be poured Friday for the new educational building to be erected behind the church. Materials are on the site, and Knight-Susen Lbr. Co. of San Angelo is contractor.

The central year-around air conditioning system is being installed in the Presbyterian church this week; it is not definite whether it will be completed in time for services this Sunday.

The Lone Star Theater building on South Main street presents a vacant appearance this week. Mr. Martin and his crew have completed removal of the old front doors and glasses and the interior partitions near the front. The ground floor of the structure which fronts on the street is being remodeled into new quarters for Tom Ratliff's insurance office.

Brown construction workmen continue filling the several blocks of highway right-of-way here in town with caliche and other fill.

"Well, I guess I'm better off than last year," concluded Johnno Mayo, irrigated cotton farmer when I ran across him at the gin office Monday and got him talking crops.

"Last year I poisoned 13 times and had a hail; this year I've poisoned 8 times and had no hail."

But he went on to say that his neighbor, Bill McWhorter, had already poisoned 14 times. Johnno's opinion was that as dryland cotton went to burning up, the insects all moved over to the green, tender irrigated fields.

That was not a very encouraging prospect, and we asked him if he wasn't just about ready to quit raising cotton.

Johnno started to say something about coastal bermuda, but right then Mikeska interrupted and said they always ran off reporters who even mentioned such a thing. We hastily assured him we were for cotton 100 per cent.

When Dr. George Cartwright of Wabash, Indiana, visited in Schleicher county a few weeks ago, he caused me to go out hunting for another book.

Here's how it came about . . .

In Carl Sandburg's history of Lincoln there is an account of Lincoln as a candidate for Congress in 1846. He was running on the Whig ticket, and he had an opponent by the name of Peter Cartwright running on the Democratic ticket. This Peter Cartwright was described as a militant, two-fisted Methodist circuit rider preacher, famous in Illinois and all surrounding states. He labored in many frontier settlements and it was told of him that if drunks came in to disturb his meetings he was capable of stepping out of the pulpit, throw the trouble-makers out, and then go back and resume his preaching.

So—when George was here in August, we made it our business to find out if his family was in any way connected with this famous old character of 120 years ago.

"Why, yes, Peter Cartwright was a first cousin to my great-grandfather!"

Then George went on to say, "Brother, if you want to read something interesting, you should get 'Peter Cartwright's Autobiography'."

Well, that did it.

Went to the Angelus book store and they thumbed through their big catalog, and sure enough the autobiography was available thru the Abingdon publishing house. So I plunked down $4.65 and ordered it out.

I finished reading it this week and now it is loaned out. But it will soon be available if others of you are interested in it.

Lincoln, incidentally, defeated Cartwright in that election in 1846, and he (Lincoln) was in Congress in 1847-48. Cartwright's autobiography came out about ten years later. In no place in his book does he ever mention the name of Abraham Lincoln. But of course, Peter was writing a church history and not a political one.

I can say one thing—I'm glad Methodists and Baptists get along better now than they did in old Peter's day. When their paths crossed then, the fur really flew.

Through the courtesy of Vida Kreklow, the Success crew is the recipient of two glasses of clear, red prickly pear jelly.

We'd never heard of it before. Vida explained that it was made by Mrs. J. Tom Williams with the assistance of Mrs. H. A. Belk and Mrs. Billy Jack Reynolds. It is a beautiful-looking product and some of it is going to be put on sale at local food stores.

And how did these geniuses get the stickers removed from prickly pear?

Simply by running them through an agitator-type washing machine! What'll they think of next?

Heard in Sonora recently: "We ain't got much chance in our double-A district, but at least we're gonna give Eldorado a beating Friday night."

Dinner Monday Cites 5-Year Safety Record

A. L. Vaughan and Charles Wimer

Sonora.—Fourteen employees at Northern Natural Gas Company's Eldorado Compressor Plant were honored at a luncheon Monday in Sonora for working more than 5 years without a lost-time injury.

Vice President A. L. Vaughan, Omaha, of Northern's Operating Division, presented an engraved plaque to C. A. Wimer, Eldorado Plant Superintendent, in recognition of the employees' safety achievement.

Each of the 14 Eldorado employees who helped compile the safety record was presented with an engraved cigarette lighter by Jack Seaman, Northern's Area Manager at Midland.

There has never been a lost-time injury at Eldorado since the facility became part of Northern's system on December 13, 1957.

Also attending the luncheon at Sonora was Glen Grove, of Northern's Operating Division in Omaha, and Marion Nelson, Omaha, representing the Company's Safety Department.

Northern Natural Gas Company is honoring employees at 26 field locations from West Texas to Minnesota for working five or more years without a lost-time injury.

On The Screen . . .

Trombones Climax 'The Music Man'

Someone tagged "The Music Man" as the happiest musical of all time when the Meredith Willson's tuneful story of a con man opened on Broadway a few years back. The tag stuck through more than four years on the road, numerous stock company productions, and now comes the motion picture version which does nothing to change the label.

The big-screen movie in color comes to the Eagle Drive-In Theatre screen Sunday and Monday nights.

Audiences in movie theaters these days are proving the aptness of the tag—"The Music Man" is most certainly a happy musical and it certainly could be the happiest of all time.

Obviously, "The Music Man" leaves its viewers with their hearts tingling, a sense of having rediscovered the joys of the Fourth of July band concerts, a time when life was uncomplicated by electrons and space flights.

But it seems that the film patrons are missing an opportunity to become even more a part of this nostalgic dip into 50 years ago. When the finale was reached on the opening night of "The Music Man" on Dec. 19, 1957, at Broadway's Majestic Theater, the pit band launched into the stirring "76 Trombones" march as Robert Preston and the other stars pranced on stage to take their bows.

The 1,700 people in the audience, mesmerized by the warmth of the story that turns out happy for all concerned, began to slam their hands together in the rhythm of the march. It was a spontaneous outburst, but so satisfying to the audience that the in-time hand claps became traditional for the finale.

"The Music Man" never was billed as anything but an unsophisticated, corn husk story of Prof. Harold Hill, a glib-tongued traveling salesman who charms the frozen-faced populace of River City into digging into their cookie jars and mattresses to buy instruments and uniforms for a boys band to be led by Professor Hill himself.

Before the Broadway opening, the wisecracks were betting it would fall on its corn-pone; after the opening the same smart boys were most lavish in their praise.

The film version, thanks to the canny and shrewd direction of Morton DaCosta, has lost none of its warmth in translation from stage to screen. In fact, the motion picture is, if anything, even better than the stage presentation.

Robert Preston stars and on the screen shares top honors with Shirley Jones, Buddy Hackett, Hermione Gingold, Paul Ford, The Buffalo Bills Quartet, Harry Hickox and Ronny Howard as the lispng Winthrop.

To begin with, DaCosta was thoroughly acquainted with his product—he had staged both the Broadway and national company productions. He knew just exactly how to take full advantage of the opportunities for expansion which the cameras allow and yet maintain the intimate nature of the story.

As an example, for the "Shipoo-pi" dance number, DaCosta lifted his camera 75 feet above the sound stage floor level and filmed portions of the dance overhead for a striking view of red petticoats and pink dresses of the high-kicking dancing girls.

And, whereas the stage production used 10 dancers, the film spotlights 40 of them; whereas there were 50 townspeople on stage during the finale on the screen there were 500 in the climactic "76 Trombones" number.

Best of all is DaCosta's taste and style. His creative touch for the stage was to keep Meredith's homely realism on the plane of brightly-colored fable, delicious untroubled nostalgia and never sociological ugliness.

The picture has this same priceless quality, the same flow of episodes and the use of camera mobility and closeups only to intensify the intimate. So the film "Music Man" comes over in all its liveliness.

The famous opening scene with,

"You've Got to Know the Territory," in which a bunch of traveling salesmen sing to the rhythm of a "clacking day-coach," is the only sequence in which DaCosta could not improve on the stage. This was the case of the movie "take" in comparison with the sense of achievement against physical limitations in the staging.

Otherwise, DaCosta trumps everything he did on Broadway, including the close-harmony quarteting of the Buffalo Bills, the "Pick-alittle" patter song of the town gossips and the stunning dance in the library, using Onna White's Choreography.

P-TA Schedules Play For October 1st

Bill Bowen, finance chairman of the Eldorado unit of the Parent-Teacher Association, reported this week that a play to be given the night of October 1st will be the main money-raising project of the organization for this Fall.

"The Man In The Dog Suit" is the title of the play which is a "contemporary comedy". Howard Derrick has the lead role and rehearsals are getting under way with the remainder of the cast.

Mr. Bowen states that this is a highly entertaining play and is expected to draw a good crowd the night of October 1st. Mr. Bowen is directing it.

Further information on this play will be given in the Success later.

Former W. Texan Makes New York City Debut

New York, Sept. 3.—An unexpected New York City debut came this past week to soprano Elaine Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Johnson formerly of Midland, and granddaughter of Mrs. T. W. Johnson of Eldorado. At last minute's notice Miss Johnson replaced the soloist at famous Radio City Music Hall and sang Verdi's "Sempre Libera" to a total crowd of 24,000 people.

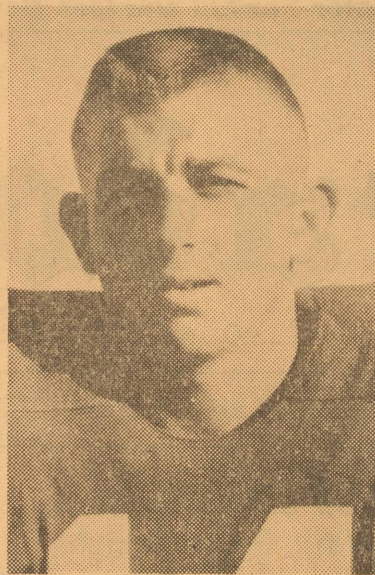

Miss Johnson has performed with the Santa Fe Opera Company in Santa Fe, New Mexico; and she has appeared throughout the world on three different U.S. State Department concert and opera tours.

This past year Miss Johnson traveled in the United States and Canada with the Columbus Boychoir of Princeton, N.J., singing the role of the Mother in "Amahl and the Night Visitors."

Miss Johnson graduated in 1953 from Midland High school, from Westminster Choir College at Princeton, N.J., in 1957, and from the University of Texas in 1960.

Celebrates 84th Birthday

M. M. Schafer of Brady is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Granvil Hext, Mr. Hext, and Deanne this week. Mr. Schafer was 84 years old last Sunday and celebrated by attending the homecoming at the First Baptist church and the singing that followed the barbecue dinner. His favorite song, "Sweet Hour of Prayer" was dedicated to him. Mr. Schafer is very active and is eagerly looking forward to seeing Eldorado beat Sonora Friday night.

Our WASHINGTON Letter. By Congressman O. C. FISHER

Another drive to increase salaries of government employees is under way. Committee hearings are now being held, following a special message from the President recommending a general increase across the board, with a few substantial raises. This proposal follows recommendations by a 12-man advisory panel, appointed by the President.

Under this plan, Cabinet Members would get $50,000 a year; members of the House and Senate, $35,000; and Supreme Court Justices, the Vice President and the Speaker of the House would receive $30,000 a year.

I am opposed to any such increases this year. It will be recalled that there was a very substantial general increase for government employees last year, costing about $1.2 billion per year in addition to what was previously paid. Faced with $10 billion deficit this year, it hardly makes sense to talk about pay increases now. It would seem to be much more appropriate for the Congress to think in terms of reducing costs of government, tightening our belts, and making a concerted effort to achieve a balanced budget.

In June of 1962, the President appointed a special group, headed by a lawyer named Gerhard A. Gesell, to study racial problems in the military. On June 21, of this year that group filed a report that has raised grave concern among man people. Already the Secretary of Defense has indicated the Gesell recommendations will be put into effect.

Under this controversial proposal, a military base commander would have the authority to prohibit any of those under his command to visit or trade in business establishments in nearby communities which were allegedly practicing racial discrimination. Such business places could be declared "off-limits" for all such military personnel, whether on duty or off duty.

Basis for opposition stems from the belief that the military should not have responsibilities not connected with training for our national security. The attempt to mix the military into enforcement of social customs would be a dangerous departure from the whole concept of military preparedness, and could do serious harm to our defense efforts.

aerial which the Billie Goats enviously couldn't reach and contributed six points to the Eagle cause.

Standout Eagle lineman was Junior Highschooler Bobby Halbert who as offensive center and defensive outside linebacker perpetrated what Angora Back Kenneth Nunley considered as "The Great Train Robbery" of the night. Halbert simply pilfered two of Mr. Nunley's passes, each interception providing many megatons of discouragement for the struggling Goats.

Big Jack Mackey led the Eagles' unsung lads down front where the offensive and defensive bruises grow, these including George Draper who makes like the "Hammer of Thor" when he stops some reckless-hapless-ball carrier; Rex McCormick who delights in the "wrecks" he deals out to opponents; Captain Larry Blair whose willingness to accept a pass or extend an enthusiastic buffet to a ball carrier discourages enemy travel in his vicinity; Beep Cain's hard-headed strolls across the line of scrimmage in spite of frenzied disapproval; Mike McCravey's willingness to trade buffets and reluctance to accept Angora travel tickets; Sophomore Jimmy Belk's authoritative blocks; Joe Phillips and Roy Swain's enthusiastic disapproval of any Angora forward progress; Bob Lester and Stephen Blaylock's obviously sincere disapproval of Angora antics in general all combined to give Eagle fans a pleasant evening.

But the Eagle backfield ntade like breakfast grapefruit for the Angoras: Everytime they looked up Ronnie Griffin has spurted 10, 20, 30 or more yards. If they took an eye off Lynn Meador in watching Griffin, Meador was off on a hair raising jaunt that would probably wind up where it hurt; and when it wasn't Griffin or Meador, Ronnie Williams was making like a jackrabbit. Then just to keep Goat linemen honest, "Mauling" Marvin McAngus was liable to run right over the toughest Goat. These four lads pooled their efforts to provide an evening's instruction for the Angoras.

It was a beautiful night and no still forms and timeouts for injuries on the field made it doubly pleasant. But a promising Eagle lineman, Phil McCormick, nursing a sprained ankle from early training, did bump a knee. Eagle coaches felt that there was no need to aggravate the condition although McCormick did not agree. He wanted to play.

Game statistics show that Eldorado scored seven points in the first quarter, 21 in the second, six in the third, and none in the last.

They ground out 381 yards in land warfare and 50 in aerial raids for a total of 431, losing 75 via red flags. Rocksprings garnered a hard-earned 97 yards on the turf and 18 in the air for a total of 115 yards—too little and not on time.

The Eagles hurled five passes and completed two while Rocksprings could complete but one out of nine—except to Eagle Bobby Halbert.

Game highlight was the tremendous kicking performance by "Mauling" Marvin McAngus both on kickoffs and for the four out of five extra points his well trained toe propelled through the goal posts for the night, Tip Finley, serving as ground crew.

Scoring saw Halfback Ronnie Williams, Fullback "M" Marvin McAngus, and End Richard Preston contribute one each to the Eagle cause while Quarterback Lynn Meador turned in two. Halfback Ronnie Griffin chipped in nearly 100 yards of set-up mileage and acted as a deadly decoy.

It was the kind of night when no tranquilizers were needed; pneumonia was out of mind; and even the penalties did not rattle the homefolks.

Home Demonstration Agent's Column

By MRS. VIDA KREKLOW

It is a fact, West Texans just don't like lamb and most hunters don't like their game. And—I've even heard of some fishermen who wouldn't cross the street for a fish fry.

But if you do happen to be among the fortunates who enjoy the hunt and the feast too, let me give a few ideas that might be usable.

Since it's dove season this menu could be used to a great flavor advantage. Don't ignore the fact that what goes with what makes a big difference in the taste of the whole meal. Sometimes it makes the meal.

Stuffed Dove
Pecan Dressing Green Salad
Sweet Pickled Beets
Toasted Garlic Bread
Lemon Sherbet with frozen raspberries

Pecan dressing for stuffed dove: Make dressing of well buttered bread crumbs and chopped pecans. Use pecans according to your taste. Season this mixture with salt and pepper.

Stuff doves. It won't take but about one-half cup per bird. Use a strong thread and tie legs together to hold dressing in.

Salt and pepper doves. Roll in a combined mixture of flour and corn meal. Brown doves in butter—other fat may be used than butter; take your choice.

Add a small amount of water. Cover and simmer birds over low heat until tender. This dish may be cooked in a 300-degree oven until tender.

The other foods appearing on the menu are simple to prepare; for garlic bread add a clove to the amount of melted butter required to spread on bread.

The sherbet may be either lemon, lime, orange or pineapple.

The dressing for the green salad may be simple oil and vinegar.

If you want to freeze a few birds at a time in preparation for the "big supper", follow these directions:

Clean small game and game birds thoroughly and cool before freezing.

Freeze birds whole; then they can be stuffed, halved or used in any way preferred.

Wrap each bird separately. Label and date the package.

If wrapped properly, in vapor-proof freezing paper, birds will keep as long as a year. Hearts and livers should not be kept longer than six months.

Enjoy the hunt, if you are a hunter. Bill Works, Schleicher county game warden, told me the other day that 25% of any bird population would not last from one year to another anyway. He said sometimes people would become attached to a covey of quail and wouldn't let anybody shoot into them; but it would be better to go ahead and hunt in the right season and in the right way.

I know he is right. For several years we had a little covey of quail that would eat in the yard and offered a lot of pleasure with their "bob-white" calls. But just as Bill said, they have disappeared. The skunks finally got them.

The Porter variety tomato is as dependable as a good friend. They came early and stay late.

In case you have an abundance of green ones, try this recipe for

Hot Dill Tomatoes

Wash and stem green tomatoes. If the tomatoes are a larger size halve or quarter them. Fill sterile jars with tomatoes and two heads and stem of dill.

To each quart add three pods garlic and five hot peppers.

For each quart tomatoes heat the following: ¾ cup vinegar, ¼ cup water, 1½ teaspoon salt, and teaspoon black pepper. Bring these ingredients to a boil; pour over tomatoes and seal while hot.

Let stand two or three weeks for the curing process.

All summer the doors of the red school house at Six Flags have been nailed shut with a sign saying "School Closed, Gone Cotton Picking." The cotton has all been baled and school bells are ringing for many of the Park's hosts and hostesses. Back to school marks the end of summer vacation, and the beginning of Saturday and Sunday only operation for the giant family Park.

SIX FLAGS BEGINS SATURDAY AND SUNDAY OPERATING SCHEDULE

Labor Day marked the beginning of Saturday and Sunday only operation for Six Flags Over Texas, and that means that a great many of the Park's collegiate hosts and hostesses will be carrying their happy smiles and courteous manners into the classrooms of dozens of universities and colleges throughout the United States.

The 1,200-plus student staff who manned the 115-acre family funland every day during June, July and August, has been adjusted with additions of new personnel and deletions of those students who attend school too far distant from the Park to work during the fall when Six Flags is open only on Saturday and Sunday.

Beginning the weekend of September 7, Six Flags will be open from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. on weekends only. Labor Day marked the end of seven day a week operations for the Park. Thus far during the 1963 season, which opened April 20, 1,300,000 guests have enjoyed Six Flags and its over 70 rides and attractions.

All rides, shows and attractions will remain in full operation until Six Flags closes for the season on December 1.

The No. 1-A Jones was finished for 7 million cubic feet per day. No report was given on the No. 1 Delhi Jones, located east of the Mertzon highway and apparently a failure.

Chambers & Kennedy No. 1 Tom Johnson was abandoned as a dry hole early this week.

B. E. Moore Resigning His Job As District Supervisor

After some 22 years as a Soil Conservation District Supervisor, B. E. Moore, Eldorado stock farmer, turned in his resignation last week to the local district supervisors and to the State Soil Conservation Board. His one and only reason for resigning was due to ill health and he could not attend the supervisors' meetings. During these 22 years one could almost count on his fingers the number of times he missed attending the monthly supervisors' meeting. Only a fishing trip now and then would he let interfere with his attending to his duties as a supervisor.

B. E. MOORE

B. E. Moore was right in the big middle of the organization of this district. In its beginning Mr. Moore was appointed along with J. Forrest Runge as district supervisors of the Eldorado-Divide Soil Conservation District in the spring of 1941. After serving for a short period of time he was elected to serve a period of five years. Since that time after each five years he has been re-elected by land owners in his zone, Zone 3, to represent them as their supervisor.

Some two years ago "Ec", as he is known in these parts, received a 20-year pin from the State Soil Conservation Board in recognition and as a symbol of his years of service to the Eldorado-Divide Soil Conservation district. This pin was presented with the feeling that it was a richly deserved emblem of his honor and service.

This community owes far more than they realize to "Ec" for what he has done for this district and other districts of the state.

Yes, "Ec" is a man long dedicated to the cause of conservation. Generations for years to come will owe him thanks for the time and effort he has put in on trying to conserve our soil, water and plant resources. He has seen wet spells and dry spells come and go. He has seen good rains fall and the water run where it could only do the least amount of good. This didn't happen long on "Ec" Moore's farm for he got busy and he was one of the first in the district to get all of his land terraced and planted on the contour.

Through his own sound conservation plan and program he has done a good job down through the years of holding the water where it falls in order to produce high yielding crops. It's been said many times in these parts—if anyone makes a crop in this country "Ec" Moore will. This has been due to the fact that he didn't leave everything up to the weather. In other words he did some things to help the rain when it did fall.

In this his last year of farming his grain sorghum averaged 2160 lbs. per acre. This isn't a bad yield for a year that has done well to receive at least half of its normal rainfall. Yes, the "Ec" Moore farm will be rented out next year, but you can just bet that "Ec" will continue staying as close to the land as he can and watching those terraced fields, planted on the contour with lots of residue—thus producing high yields.

Kenneth Rosford came in recently with a 40-pound yellow catfish he caught at Buchanan lake. This is the largest fish caught this year at that lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McLaughlin Jr. and daughter spent the week end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McLaughlin, and attended the Rocksprings game.

Annual Homecoming At First Baptist Church

The First Baptist church held its annual homecoming last Sunday with a good attendance at the church for the morning services and roll call of resident members. After services a barbecue dinner was served at the Memorial Building, the barbecue being furnished by a family of the church and served by the Men's Fellowship Class and assisted by the Intermediate boys who helped with the children. Orland Harris prepared the food. About 240 people were served.

A period of informal singing followed the meal including solos, duets, quartets and congregational singing led by Duane Branham and Frank O'Banion. Mrs. John Stigler and Frank O'Banion took turns at the piano.

5th ANNIVERSARY 4-H Beef Program

The 1963 National 4-H Club Congress and the International Live Stock show the first week in December are destined to be once-in-a-lifetime experiences for a 4-H beef project winner.

An all-expense trip to Chicago awaits the state's top prize winner. The boy or girl also will be considered for one of six $500 college scholarships presented to the highest ranking 4-H beef cattle producers in the nation.

This year marks the 5th anniversary of the beef program sponsorship by E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company. During the last five years participation and awards won by 4-H'ers have increased markedly.

Extension Supervised
 Supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service, the program in 1962 attracted more than 145,000 boys and girls in nearly every state compared to about 135,000 in 1959. Enrollment is expected to show another increase when the 1963 figures are compiled.

Chance to Learn

The beef program offers 4-H'ers opportunities to learn and apply latest methods of breeding, feeding and marketing. Much of the original research and testing were done by the agricultural experiment stations.

The youths also practice judging, fitting and showing of animals, and demonstrate various aspects of livestock production and management.

Awards Not Easy

Progress reports, personal development and service to the community are considered when 4-H award winners are selected.

Three girls and 21 boys already have claimed scholarships and next December six more youths will join this elite group.

Austin.—Now in effect is a new compulsory school attendance law which requires school children, ages seven to 16, to go to school 165 days out of each 175-day school year.

Before the 58th Legislature passed this law, the minimum attendance requirement was 120 days. This left a wide margin for truancy—especially by children of migrant farm workers who are on the move two to four months out of the year.

Laxity of compulsory attendance laws has been cited as one reason for the high rate of illiteracy among Latin Americans. Texas' rate of illiteracy is high for all races. It has been estimated that almost 10% of the state's population is functionally illiterate.

A recent U.S. census survey showed that the average school child in Texas, with a Spanish surname, did not go past the fourth grade. Average Anglo finished the 10th grade and the average Negro completed the eighth.

It will be up to individual school districts to see that children attend school 165 days a year, according to Leon Graham, deputy commissioner of the Texas Education Agency. However, the main responsibility lies with the parents. If a school officer warns the parents of a truant child, they are subject to a fine of $5 for the next day he fails to attend school; $10 for the second offense, after a warning, and $25 for each subsequent offense.

Graham said it is no problem for a migrant parent to enroll his child in any school. No formal transfer is required. "Our schools are here to serve the children of Texas," he said. "All they have to do is say, 'Here I am.'"

Screwworm Program Praised

Dr. E. F. Knipling—known as the "father of the screwworm eradication program"—addressed the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation trustees at their annual meeting in Austin, and praised the progress of their eradication campaign. But he cautioned them against complacency.

Knipping reported that in August, only 81 screwworm cases were reported in Texas, compared to 5,088 in August, 1962. But a large percentage of the 81 were in the Trans-Pecos area.

Animal health officials feel the Trans-Pecos problem is a direct result of screwworm flies migrating from Mexico. Mexico's northern border has been the target of sterile fly drops for several months now. But newly-gained knowledge that the fly can travel about 180 miles on his own volition is worrying the officials.

Knipping said "We must intensify our survey efforts to find where fly drops will be most effective; then widen the barrier to prevent infestation."

Fall Rains May Pose Problem

Charlie Scruggs of Dallas, president of the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation, said his group is beginning to worry about a growing rate of screwworm infestation when fall rains come.

Cool weather and dampness, usually associated with early fall, may couple with shearing and calving wounds to foster screwworms if livestock producers don't take precautions. Scruggs said an "information campaign" will be launched soon.

New Officers

Dolph Eriscoe of Uvalde is the new president SWAHRF. The young rancher just completed a term as president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, before he took the animal health post.

New vice-president is Joe Lane of Alpine. T. J. Richards of Paducah is secretary-treasurer.

Educators Meeting Set

Texas Association of School Administrators and Texas Association of School Boards will hold a joint meeting in Austin on September 22 and 23 to hear talks on education in the Space Age. They will hold seminars on: School dropouts, the migrant pupil, religion and the schools, teaching Americanism-versus-communism, and textbook selection in Texas.

Poll Tax Repeal

Campaign for repeal of the poll tax as a requirement for voting was launched by the Texas League of Women Voters, with Gov. Connally and Vice President Lyndon Johnson giving their support to the movement.

On November 9 Texans will vote on a constitutional amendment to remove the 60-year-old requirement that you pay a poll tax to vote. Texas voting will be under the shadow of a proposed U. S. constitutional amendment outlawing taxes on the right to vote in elections of Federal officials. Legislatures of 36 states already have ratified this amendment, and when two more approve, it will go into effect.

Texas Legislature provided Texans a "do it yourself first" route by submitting the proposed amendment to the Texas constitution at the November 9 election. There is no chance for the U. S. amendment to go into effect until after that date.

Tourists

Texas' first formal effort to attract tourists will get under way now that Governor Connally has appointed the seven men to head the new Texas Tourist Development Agency.

Interestingly enough, most of the seven are natives of other states, indicating that Connally felt they would know best how to bring other Americans into Texas.

Frank Hildebrand Jr., former Louisiana, Baytown, Houston and Dallas news writer, will be executive director. For the last year, he has been chief of the travel promotion section of the Texas Highway Department.

On the advisory board which will help Connally direct Hildebrand are Bill Berger of the Hondo Anvil Herald and president of the Texas Press Association; Chris Fox, El Paso banker; James M. Gaines, San Antonio radio-TV executive and president of the Texas Tourist Council; John McCarty of Dallas, vice president of advertising for Frito-Lay, Inc.; G. A. (Pop) Mabry of Houston, public relations director for Humble Oil & Refining Co.; and John Powell, Austin hotelman.

Aging

State Senator Walter H. Richter of Gonzales was named by Governor Connally to head the Governor's Committee on Aging.

Secretary of State Crawford Martin headed this committee while he was in the Texas Senate. Many of its recommendations have become law, but Connally said much remains to be done.

On his list of assignments the governor suggested work to remove from state mental hospitals about 2,100 persons over 65 who are senile, but not really mentally ill. Many feel they have been sent to the mental hospitals simply because there was no other place for them to go. Effort will be made to transfer them to nursing homes.

Because people are living longer, the number of Texans over 65 increased 45% between 1950 and 1960. Population increased only 24%.

Talking Books

A new record was set in August on circulation of "talking books."

These are the albums of phonograph records distributed by the State Library under a federal-state program to aid the blind. Current magazines and popular books are read onto records and distributed free to the blind persons.

During August a total of 6,374 albums were distributed.

State Library also distributes books in Braille as a part of this service.

Gas

Natural gas continues to be one of the major cash crops of Texas.

Texas Railroad Commission reports that in June, 21,044 gas wells and 125,169 oil wells produced 573 trillion cubic feet of gas. The lion's share, 406 trillion, went into transmission lines.

Of all the gas produced, 39.83% was exported to other states, and 30.99% was carried by pipelines for use in Texas.

Graveside Rites Held For Spinks Infant

Graveside funeral services were conducted August 22 in Artesia, New Mexico, for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Spinks of Artesia. The baby was born August 19 and died August 22 in Artesia General Hospital.

In addition to the parents, survivors include the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Hill of Alpine and Mr. and Mrs. A. Fred Spinks now of Roswell, New Mexico. Also surviving are great grandparents Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Kerby, Lovington, New Mexico, and Mrs. Joe L. Brown of San Saba.

The Spinks family were well-known to Eldorado and Sonora people since A. Fred Spinks was formerly engineer at Humble's old Station A in the southwest corner of this county.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Rogers and daughter, Anna, of Midland, visited Mrs. Rogers' sister, Mrs. T. P. Robinson, Sr. last week end and attended homecoming at the First Baptist church.

Mrs. Lora Morris of Del Rio visited her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jud Brannan, from Thursday of last week until Monday.

Sept. 17 To Mark Anniversary Of U.S. Constitution

"If men were angels, no government would be necessary," James Madison once pointed out. But Madison and the political leaders of his generation were practical men, and so it happened that on September 17, 1787, he and 38 other state representatives put their signatures to the Constitution of the United States of America.

The ceremony climaxed some four months of work, mostly unauthorized, for the delegates to the Philadelphia convention had been empowered only to revise the Articles of Confederation, reports the World Book Encyclopedia. In fact, Patrick Henry, who opposed a stronger national government, had refused to attend the convention because, as he later put it, "I smelt a rat."

Under these circumstances, and to ensure that each delegate would have the fullest freedom of speech during the debates, the convention ruled that its proceedings would be kept absolutely secret. Sentries were posted at the doors to the meeting hall. The anxious delegates even appointed one of their number to accompany the 81-year-old Benjamin Franklin to his sociable dinners, to make sure he did not slip any mention of the debates during a friendly conversation.

It wasn't until 1819, when the first journal of the convention was printed, that the American public learned of the proceedings.

Nevertheless, gossip was rampant, and, at one point during the summer, reports circulated of wide disagreement among the delegates. Apparently the convention members decided on counterpropaganda, for one newspaper reported, "So great is the unanimity, we hear, that prevails in the Convention . . . that it has been proposed to call the room in which they assemble—Unanimity Hall."

When September 17 arrived, however, and the committee on style presented the finished document to the convention, three delegates refused to sign. To conceal this fact, a note added to the document read: "Done in Convention, by the unanimous consent of the States present . . ."

The Constitution was hotly debated when it was submitted to the states for ratification, and even those who had signed it had their doubts. Ben Franklin probably summed up the feelings of the 39 signers . . . and of all those who have since admired the Constitution . . . when he said, "I consent, sir, to this Constitution, because I expect no better, and because I am not sure it is not the best."
