J&S Motors in Sonora is now showing the Cadillac for 1964. New standards of performance, comfort and convenience are coupled with unmistakable Cadillac styling in the 11 models that make up the 1964 line up.

The performance gains result from a new engine and a new transmission, while the comfort and convenience story for the new year is high-lighted by the first fully automatic year around air conditioning system ever offered in an automobile.

Harold G. Warner, general manager of Cadillac and vice president of General Motors, in announcing the 1964 models said they would appear in dealers' showrooms on Thursday, October 3.

The 11 models, one less than last year, are realigned into three series: three models are in the Sixty-Two series; four models, including the convertible, are in the de Ville series; and four models in the Fleetwood series. Overall length is increased one-half inch to 223.5 inches on nine models and 243.8 inches on the Seventy-Five Sedan and Limousine. Other exterior and interior dimensions remain unchanged.

One high performance V-8 engine is standard in all models. Displacement is 429 cubic inches, a boost of ten per cent, and horsepower is up from 325 to 340.

Two automatic transmissions are offered in 1964—the Hydra-Matic and the new Turbo Hydra-Matic.

An industry first in the areas of comfort and convenience is Cadillac's new Comfort Control, a completely automatic heating and air conditioning system. The driver merely sets a dial thermostat on the instrument panel and Comfort Control does the rest, supplying cooled or warmed conditioned air at the temperature specified.

Garden Club Tour

The Eldorado Garden Club took their annual pilgrimage to the garden of Mrs. S. A. Hartgrove in San Angelo on Wednesday, Sept. 25. Ginger, wild blue-bells, yellow Mexican morning-glory, Dutchman's pipe, and other vines were among her rare plants. Use of compost and mulching cuts down on the work in caring for a large, well-planted yard.

The San Angelo Garden Club which sponsored the Eldorado Garden Club when it was organized, entertained the ten women who went, with a coffee in the Hartgrove yard.

The next regular meeting of the Garden Club will be Oct. 9. The program will be: "Conditioning Cut Flowers for Long-Lasting Beauty and the Use of Suitable Containers."

On Oct. 11, the placement flower show will be held at the home of Mrs. E. L. Dyer, one mile east of Eldorado on the Menard highway, from 3:00 to 6:00.

The theme of the show is "Wonders of Discovery" based on Columbus Day.

Arrangements in one room will suggest those of fifteenth century Italy, which is the homeland of Columbus, and the period in which he lived.

Arrangements in another room will suggest sailing and navigation and the compass—which enabled Columbus to reach America. Spain, the country which provided ships and crew for the journey, will be the theme of another room. The islands of the Caribbean, where Columbus landed, furnishes another theme. "Riches of the new world" will be featured in the kitchen, which will be decorated in fruits and vegetables.

There will be on exhibit herbs growing in the Mediterranean area at the time of Columbus and of plants which he introduced in America and the spices which motivated his search for a new route to India.

Non-members are invited to bring specimens from their gardens to the horticulture section. A basket of flowers, not an arrangement, and a plate of five vegetables of one kind may be entered.

Everyone is invited to attend.—Reporter.

Jackie is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Sharp of Eldorado, Texas, and made her home here until she was 12, then she moved to Crane, Texas. From there she moved to Denton where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Miller still reside.

P-TA Play Is Tuesday

"The Man In the Dog Suit" was first produced on Broadway in 1958 starring Jessica Tandy and Hume Cronyn. It has served more recently as a vehicle for the talents of Art Carney on the Dupont Show of the Month.

Now it has arrived in Eldorado with Howard Derrick in the title role.

This gently hilarious comedy tells of a quiet, modest young man who had wanted to be a tree surgeon, but, having married an attractive girl whose relatives are small-town bankers, is being groomed by them for a good job in their organization. A shy and ineffectual fellow under ordinary circumstances, he discovers that he can be bold and independent when wearing the dog costume he has acquired for a masquerade ball. Donning it on the proper occasions, he can even outface his wife's kin. The in-laws, naturally, are appalled at the thought of Oliver's wearing the dog suit in public; and when he wears it to work at the bank, he's told he must choose between the dog suit and the job. To his delight, he discovers that his wife is as bored with their stuffy life as he is, and they decide to throw away the mortgage on their ranch house and head for Oregon and the great woods. The in-laws are shocked, except for one brother-in-law who has been among the most proper of the family; as Oliver leaves, the brother-in-law takes over the dog suit; and another hilarious rebellion is apparently on its way.

The local cast is as follows: Oliver Walling, Howard Derrick; Martha Walling, Hedy Bowen; Letty Gaxton, Becky Mund; Henry Gaxton, Ed Meador; George Stoddard, Bob Bland; Eileen Stoddard, Jan Mobley; Mrs. Louisa Stoddard, Martha Lee Meador; Stewart Stoddard, Eldon Calk; Anthony Roberti, Ronnie Mittel; Mr. Beal, Bill Lester.

Don't miss it! High School Auditorium, Tuesday, October 8, at 7:30 p.m.

P-TA DISTRICT WORKSHOP WAS HELD HERE TUESDAY

The "6" district workshop of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers was held Tuesday in the Eldorado school auditorium. The theme of the program was "Focus on the Family, Strength Through Parent Education." Mrs. Joe Couch, Education for Family Living chairman, was in charge of the program throughout the day with the assistance of the district board and members.

During the day several inspiring methods of presenting the programs were demonstrated by films, tapes and table talks.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Thompson are home after spending a two-weeks vacation visiting relatives in Houston and various places, the Hall Haglers in Stamford, former Eldorado residents, and their son, Jerry, and family in Hobbs, N.M.

POISONING DOGS

The person or persons poisoning dogs in and around Eldorado should have to watch the agonies of the poor, dumb creatures as they stiffen and suffer before death releases them from the horrible suffering. Some few are the unlucky ones who do not get enough to kill them outright, but must suffer until they either get over it on their own or make their way back home in agony where their owners either watch them die or find some way to help them.

Surely if the town needs to be rid of a few dogs some other means could be found to eliminate them.

Shirley Ann Allen To Marry Bert Bruton

SHIRLEY ANN ALLEN

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Allen of Big Lake announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Shirley Ann Allen to Bertram Lee Bruton, son of Mrs. Ray Bruton and the late Mr. Bruton of Eldorado.

The bride-to-be is a 1961 graduate of Reagan County High school and has been employed as secretary by Gordon F. Thrall, Reagan County Attorney, for the past two years.

Her fiancé is a 1961 graduate of Eldorado High School. He is employed in farming and ranching in Schleicher county and is completing his second year at San Angelo College.

The couple plan to be married November 2, in Big Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bowen and Mrs. Eldon Calk were in Austin last week end.

Elton Donelson spent last week in Eldorado visiting his family and taking a week's vacation.

"Lee upon seeing the Texans come up the Orange Plank Road on the morning of May 6th (1864) at the Wilderness was so animated at the sight that he insisted on leading them against Hancock's Union Corps bearing down on the Confederate right. The Texans refused to go into battle unless Lee would remain behind, hence the bridge holding incident and the cries 'Lee to the rear, Lee to the rear.'"

"At the 1873 reunion of Hood's Texas Brigade Association at Austin, the painting by McArdle, 'Lee at the Wilderness,' was exhibited at Mather's Furniture Store in Austin. All members of the Association were asked to view it and 'all who are lovers of the beautiful and grand in art will be delighted with the splendid painting. Let no one fail to see it.'"

"Again at the 1874 annual reunion, this time in Galveston, the painting was exhibited in Harmony Hall where the reunion meetings were being held. During this reunion a committee of 3, headed by Capt. F. M. Hume, was appointed by the Association to 'look into the purchase of Lee at the Wilderness' for the Association."

At the 1875 reunion in Huntsville the painting was again mentioned. Gen. Jerome B. Robertson, president of the Association, reported that $1,012.90 had been raised to buy the painting, but the Association could raise no more and suggested that the painting be returned to McArdle and that he keep the money already given him. General Robertson further suggested that the State of Texas purchase the painting and that the Association would "give all possible support in helping raise the money."

Colonel Simpson doesn't know the price of the painting, but estimates that it was at least $2,000. He says that members of Hood's Texas Brigade worked with the artist and cites the "Handbook of Texas" as the source of this information. Simpson thinks the men may have posed for the artist as he painted the canvas.

"The painting was mentioned for the last time in the minutes of the Association for the reunion held in Corsicana in 1878. At this time A. J. Roberts of the Association reported that the painting was under mortgage and that it would be sold unless the $3,000 balance was raised right away. Roberts gave the members of the Association 90 days to raise the balance.

"Apparently the money was not raised and the state paid the balance and secured the painting only to have it burn in 1880."

"This," says Colonel Simpson, "is the story of McArdle's painting 'Lee at the Wilderness' and the veterans of Hood's Texas Brigade who were the subject of the painting and apparently at one time owned 50 per cent of it."

This department has referred frequently in the past to Hood's Texas Brigade, one of the finest fighting forces fielded by the Confederacy during the whole four years and more of the Civil War.

Aside from being a fierce fighting outfit, the Brigade, or at least a part of it, was in on the event that gave birth to one of the best known War songs—"The Old Gray Mare."

It all happened when the Brigade was encamped on the slope of a hill in Northern Virginia. Somebody kicked over a barrel near the top of the hill, it came rolling down and scared an old gray commissary mare loaded with pots and pans. The mare stampeded through the camp and the brush and the Texans thought the Yanks were after them. They, too, stampeded in every direction. Pvt. James Augustus Bailey of the Fifth Texas wrote the words and music to the song which told how the old gray mare "come a tearin' out of the wilderness," a song which everybody knows today as "the old gray mare ain't what she used to be."

The state recently erected a granite marker in the home town of Gus Bailey: Blum, Hill county. The inscription reads:

Home town of "Old Gray Mare" composer Gus Bailey. Leader, Hood's Texas Brigade Band. His wife Mollie smuggled notes and quinine past enemy in her hair. Baileys' post-war shows still flew Confederate flag, 1869 and afterwards Gus and Mollie and nine children headquartered circus in Blum. Owned show lots in 100 towns of Texas. Ex-Confederates saw their circus free. Bailey wrote "Old Gray Mare Ain't What She Used to Be" on eve of Second Manassas battle, when mare spooked camp by running thru with load of tin pans.

The back side of the marker lists other Texas Confederate songs. See how many of them you recall.

"Lone Star Defenders", "Land of Texas", "Bombardment and Battle of Galveston", "Dick Dowling and the Davis Guards at Sabine Pass", "The Ranger's Farewell", "Baylor's Partisan Rangers", "My Texas Land", "Awake! To Arms in Dixie!", "Capture of 17 of Co. H, 4th Texas Cavalry", "To the Beloved Memory of Maj. Gen. Tom Green", "Lone Star Banner of the Free", "The Gallant Second Texans", "The Rum Raid at Velasco", "The Texas Rangers at the Battle of Chickamauga", "Terry's Texas Rangers", "Hood's Texas Brigade", "The Navasota Volunteers", "A Song of the Fifth Texas Regiment", "The Dying Texas Soldier Boy", "Texians, to your Banner Fly", "The Horse Marines at Galveston", "O, He's Nothing But a Soldier", "The Martyrs of Texas", "The Texas Sentinel in Virginia", "An Old Texian's Appeal."

We'd like to hear from readers who have words or music to any of the above songs.

Texas Confederate Briefs—Just about the finest periodical we know of on the Civil War is "Civil War Times Illustrated," published in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. The magazine, published 10 times a year, frequently contains items relating to Texas. The most recent issue, for example, contains an excellent article on the Sibley tent which provided shelter for both Confederates and Yankees during the early months of the war. The Sibley tent, of course, got its name from Gen. H. H. Sibley, who led many Texans in the unsuccessful invasion of New Mexico in 1861.

We recently ran across two items of interest from Williamson county. One concerns a plant located in Georgetown which manufactured cotton cards and the other items concerns Chaplain Edward Hudson of Hutton. If anyone reading this column knows anything about the plant or knows of any of Chaplain Hudson's family, we would like to hear from them.

Recommended Reading for This Week—We occasionally like to mention in this space some of the better books appearing for younger readers and this week recommend two publications by Franklin Watts Publishing Company.

"The First Book of Civil War Naval Actions" by Trevor Dupuy and "The First Book Edition of the Gettysburg Address" and "The Second Inaugural" with introduction by Carl Sandburg.

And more advanced young readers will like "Mosby, Gray Ghost of the Confederacy" by Jonathan Daniels, published by J. B. Lippincott Co., and "Abraham Lincoln, Man of Courage" by Bernadine Bailey, published by the Houghton Mifflin Company.

AND LOTS, LOTS MORE!

In our opinion the greatest artist Texas has ever known and perhaps will ever know was Harry Arthur McArdle, whose paintings "Dawn at the Alamo" and "The Battle of San Jacinto" hang as companion pieces in the Senate chamber at Austin.

These two canvases are of such technical accuracy that they are regarded as pictorial histories of Texas' battles for freedom and have brought fame both to the artist and to his adopted state.

McArdle was born in Ireland and came to Baltimore with his parents as a small boy. He was about ready to graduate from art school when the Civil War broke out and he immediately enlisted in the Confederate army. He was soon transferred, however, to the navy department where he became a designer of ships and performed a "highly complimentary" service during the War years.

A few years after the War, he came to Texas and settled at Independence, where he opened a studio and also became art instructor in Baylor Female College, a position he held until the removal of the school from there in 1896.

During 1869 and 1870, McArdle painted what may have been his greatest canvas, "Lee at the Wilderness." Fresh from the scene of war and his memory unclouded, he produced a painting which many who saw it said "it beggars description." The painting was on display in the old state capitol when that building burned in 1880 and so was destroyed.

Col. H. B. Simpson of Waco, who is perhaps the greatest living authority on Hood's Texas Brigade, told us the story of that painting and the attempts of survivors of the Brigade to purchase it prior to its destruction, a story which we think worth recording here.

The painting, of course, depicted members of the Texas Brigade grabbing the bride of Lee's horse, "Traveler" and trying to lead Lee to the rear out of danger. According to Colonel Simpson:

Editorial Comments From Our Neighbors

How To Increase Business By A Half Million Dollars A Year

Sporadically, during the 7 years this newspaper has been under its present ownership, there has been talk of improving the local economy by trying to bring in some kind of industrial plant.

There have been several drawbacks to such a plan. To begin with, we did not have a hospital. We have as yet failed to effect a permanent solution to the water problem. Housing is inadequate to take care of an appreciable number of extra people. It is doubtful that Menard County could supply a working force for an industry of any size.

Therefore, this newspaper has advocated starting with what we ourselves can develop; and the most likely possibility seems to be tourist attractions, built around our community's rich history.

But there is one other way in which the local economy could be improved—a way which depends largely on the will of the people. In years past, this newspaper has made mention of this possibility: Increased trading at home. We have found it to be a touchy subject.

Some merchants, even, are afraid to breathe the phrase, "Shop at home" lest they alienate some customers. And certainly that possibility is a real one, for some out-of-town shoppers resent any implication that they are not free to shop where they please.

Certainly everyone is free to shop where he chooses. But at the same time, his choice may affect the welfare of his home community. There is no way of calculating how much money Menard people spend each year shopping in other communities. It is their privilege. But if all Menard people did all their shopping in Menard, we estimate the extra business volume in the community would amount to half a million dollars per year.

Of course, there are many sides to the "shop at home" question. Some goods and services simply are not available here, and our people are forced to go elsewhere to fill a need.

Prices on some types of merchandise may not compare too favorably with those in a larger city; but contributing to this is the fact that the small-town merchant has a slow turn-over. Some items cannot be stocked at all because the turn-over is too slow. And contributing to THIS is the person who habitually goes out of town to do his buying.

It is a vicious circle. But it seems the problem could be alleviated through an increased awareness of and sympathy for the problems of the small-town merchant; an appreciation of what the local merchant does for his community, in supporting schools, churches and other vital institutions with taxes and donations; an increased willingness by the merchants to make special orders for the sake of keeping business at home, and an increased effort by business people to promote their business in particular and their community in general.

For Menard to keep at home the business that has been going elsewhere will require increased community patriotism. The dollar spent in another town never returns, but the dollar spent in Menard helps us all.

Are we willing to get out of our rut for half a million dollars worth of business a year? -The Menard News.

Earl Parker Showing New Ramblers Today

Today, Thursday, Earl Parker is showing the new Ramblers for 1964 and invites the Schleicher County public to come in for refreshments and see them.

Detroit.—American Motors today announced new and broadened 1964 Rambler Classic and Ambassador lines.

Styling refinements, new hardtop models and new convenience options are prominent among the advances in both American Motors' top-selling Classic line and the Ambassador luxury line.

With the company's lowest-priced Rambler the drastically changed 1964 American that was announced last week, the company has now introduced three distinct lines of 1964 compact cars that completely span the market for this popular car type.

Thomas A. Coupe, vice-president of automotive sales, said:

"The compacts definitely emerged with full stature during the past model year and now offer the motorist the things he can get in other cars, plus lower relative price and the special advantages of trim design.

"The extension and broadening of compact appeal for 1964 confirms the rising popularity of these cars. We expect their sales volume to be boosted by the newest Ramblers as well as by the growing influence of the compact idea throughout the industry."

The 1964 Classics and Ambassadors went on display in dealer showrooms today—Thursday, October 3.

"The 1964 Ambassador 990-H hardtop is the most luxurious car ever offered by American Motors and will take a top position among the fine cars of America, with luxury second to none," Coupe stated. "Its smart, sports-type styling will appeal to all age groups, and its performance is comparable to the best."

The Rambler American

Detroit.—American Motors today announced its newest version of the original compact car that touched off major changes in the automobile industry.

The 1964 Rambler American is wholly transformed in appearance, with its first complete body change since the series was introduced in 1950. Its overall length has been increased from 173 to 177 inches, with all of the added inches "going into greater passenger comfort and more usable space and none into overhanging sheet metal," according to Thomas A. Coupe, vice-president of automotive sales.

"For example, hiproom in the rear seat has been increased 12 inches and cargo space in station wagons increased nearly 20%," Coupe said. "The superior balance in the new design has also resulted in greatly improved riding qualities.

"While interior room has been greatly increased through important body changes, the American's common-sense balance in economy and performance continues to be emphasized in the new design," Coupe said. "The total American concept is a car specifically designed to meet the growing demand for personal transportation with more convenience and luxury features."

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by Tiny Godwin

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

There is no doubt that there will be a fall screwworm build-up this year. Moisture conditions have been conducive to the build-up. No one is pushing the "panic button," although the situation is extremely serious. Each case is being treated special as soon as reported, the same procedure that has worked effectively in the program.

As pointed out so often, the key is in the hands of the producer who must treat animal wounds and report cases. Action taken the next few weeks may well determine whether screwworms will be a problem in 1964. Vials to send in samples are at the county agent's office for your use.

The Fall Armyworm will probably be present in small areas to the extent that control measures will have to be used on lawns, shrubs, and small grains. Best results are obtained if applications are applied when worms are small.

Fall armyworms can be controlled by the use of DDT, chlordane, sevin or toxaphene for lawns and small areas. For grass or small grains use parathion, toxaphene and sevin. Sevin is not approved on small grains.

Follow direction on manufacturer's label when using these materials.

The reason so many people don't live within their incomes is that they don't consider that living.

Recertifying the county for brucellosis is gradually nearing completion. 20% of the cattle have been tested. There are only three herds to test that are listed as "suspect" or "reactor" herds, which means the best way to insure safety to all individual producers is to check at the end of three years to be sure that all infection is gone.

Thanks to the producers of the county for your co-operation.

Survival should be the major factor in determining small grain varieties. Practically all of the varieties planted were destroyed in 1963 cutting grazing and oat yield to nil. Some of the most cold tolerant varieties recommended are mustang, bronco, followed by Alamo-X and Moregrain.

Wheat varieties: tascosa and kaw.

Barley varieties: Kearney, Rogers, Cordoun.

Rye varieties: Elbon and gater. The varieties listed are not only more cold resistant but less susceptible to disease.

This year's cotton crop is in the harvest stage. Now is the time to plan next year's crop.

Root rot has shown up heavily on some farms. Plan a crop rotation. A good three year rotation would be grain sorghum and small grain and cotton. Grain sorghum and small grain are high residue crops. By following small grain after cotton the farmer has the opportunity to deep plow the stubble during the hot, dry summer months, which will kill root-rot fungi.

These practices may not kill root-rot completely but will greatly reduce it.

Vacations date back to the time when Columbus started the fad of taking a trip on borrowed money.

fun during the winter time; —check on your school children and see how the assignments are coming along. As I hear it, 6 weeks tests will be showing up any time now; —make a broom cover, two in fact, the clean one for walls and ceilings, the other one for floors; —plan something special for Sunday morning breakfast; —enjoy the gentle haziness of our fall days; —do something so wonderful for someone else that it will surprise even you; —keep on reading.

This would also be a fine time to read about and understand the Texas 65 Insurance Program.

As the words of the old song go—"T is for Texas" and the 65 means that if you are 65 years old you are eligible.

What's it all about? Ten insurance companies banded together and gone before the Texas legislature and have obtained legal authority to write policies described in the T-65 program.

The most unusual thing about this coverage is the fact that no physical disability will bar an applicant. This particular policy is designed to cover people who before now have been denied insurance because of physical condition. In fact children may insure parents without the parent's signature—or aunts, or uncles or grandparents as for that.

Call your insurance agent now. He will be glad to tell you more of this most unusual opportunity of the insurance field today.

It's apple time—and it's always peanut brittle time. But the two together and you have a quick dessert and a good one at that.

Brittle Apple Pudding

4 cups sliced apples
1 cup sugar
½ cup flour
¼ cup butter or oleo
1 cup crushed peanut brittle.
Slice apples into a greased baking dish. Sprinkle with sugar. Mix flour and butter. (The electric mixer does this job very well.) Add peanut brittle to flour mixture. Add ¼ teaspoon salt. Spread on top of apples. Bake in hot oven about 400F. for 30 to 40 minutes. Serve warm to six hungry people.

For months I've been fascinated by an old, old cook book which belongs to Dale Preston. The book belonged to Dale's grandmother and was bought at Stratford and Green's, Los Angeles, California, in 1908.

It is titled "Mrs. Gillette's Cook Book—or 50 years of Practical House Keeping."

It's interesting to find that basic recipes have not changed very much. A white cake which was good 55 years ago is good today. Eating habits have changed a great deal, however. We don't serve as many kinds of food at one meal as in those days.

The best reading comes from the household hints and the medical care section.

These are examples—and I would say that they will work as well today as then. The only thing is that we don't need the hints today. Some things bigger than a hint has taken over as in this one:

To keep milk sweet: Put into a panful of milk a spoonful of grated horseradish; it will keep sweet for days.

Scouring, soap for cotton and silk goods: Mix one pound of common soap, half a pound of beef-gall, and one ounce and a half of venetian turpentine. I'd say off hand that you are out of that mixture right this minute.

And look at this one—

Slicing pineapples: The knife used for peeling a pineapple should NOT be used for slicing it as the rind contains an acid that is apt to cause a swollen mouth and sore lips. The Cubans use salt as an antidote for the ill effects of the peel. (And I guess that Castro invented that, too.)

You might even find this one a workable hint today—if the paint is not a plastic.

To take out paint: Equal parts of ammonia and turpentine will take paint out of clothing, no matter how dry or hard it may be.

Lampwicks soaked in vinegar will not smoke—

And—To remove paint from window glass rub well with hot, sharp vinegar.

This recipe for Hair Invigorator might be a money maker today. If you make up a batch and it works, let me know.

Hair Invigorator No. 1
1 drachm of lac sulphur
½ drachm of sugar of lead
1 pint rose water

Put the ingredients together and bottle. Use once a day, shaking the bottle well before each using. It will gradually turn the hair dark, and will also promote its growth.

Note: In case you have skipped around in your reading, the last few paragraphs have been lifted from an old book with recipes and remedies for nearly every thing.

I believe that you will like Hair Invigorator No. 1 much better than formula No. 2.

"Pure kerosene, such as can be obtained at any grocery, rubbed into the roots of the hair once a fortnight, (two weeks to us) will promote growth. If used at night, the odor will nearly disappear in 24 hours."

Now where was it you were going to stay for that 24 hours? Maybe you'd better just go on to the drug store after all. I think you can buy a lot of those things already made up.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam McGinnes returned home last week after spending a week in Lamesa where they visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Low and children. The Floyd McGinnes of Crosbyton joined them there for the week end.

O. C. Fisher Discusses Election At Boston On Integration

By Cong O. C. Fisher

A municipal election held in Boston on September 24 created quite a stir in Washington. It all began a few weeks ago when a Mrs. Hix, chairman of the Boston School Board, refused to hold a hearing demanded by NAACP, to set up a system of transferring white and colored students from their neighborhood schools across the city to other schools in order to equalize a mixture of Negro and white students in all the schools.

Mrs. Hix insisted she would have no part in forcing children to leave their neighborhood schools and be transported across town to other schools, solely to force a mixture of races. As a result she was condemned as a "disgrace", whose action was "reprehensible" by a leading prelate at Boston University. And 10,000 Negroes marched in a demonstration of disapproval. Others, including liberal extremists, joined in the tirade. But Mrs. Hix held her ground. She said she would let the voters decide the issue. The lines were drawn, and a lively campaign was waged with the integration issue clearly defined.

When the votes were counted on Tuesday Mrs. Hix won—not by a mere majority but by nearly three-fourths of the 100,000 who voted! It was a landslide unheard of in Boston. No wonder the municipal election there created quite a stir in Washington.

But the battle for the Negro vote continues on Capitol Hill. With both Democratic and Republican politicians vying with each other for advantage, civil rights legislation is moving toward a showdown. The House will probably act first, probably in late October or early November. Over in the Senate it will be a long drawn out battle. Filibusters are taboo under House rules, but unless as many as two-thirds of the Senators cut it off the rules permit unlimited debate in the Senate.

This legislation, as proposed by the Administration, has been described by a former President of the American Bar Association as "ten percent 'civil rights' and ninety percent extension of raw federal power." Politicians, while privately admitting some concern at what happened in Boston, continue to talk glibly of yielding to NAACP demands on the federal level, and the pot of gold at the end of the civil rights rainbow—those 20 million Negroes and a sizeable bloc vote.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Whitis of Waco spent the week end here visiting, and attended the game with Menard.

New Oldsmobile Will Be Shown Friday

Eagle Chevrolet-Olds here in Eldorado will have the 1964 Oldsmobiles on display in their show room tomorrow, Friday. They invite the public to come in any time of day for refreshments and to see the all-new Olds for the coming year.

Lansing, Mich. — Oldsmobile's new Jetstar 88, along with the new F-85's, Dynamic and Super 88's, 98's, and Starfires, will be on display at dealer showrooms across the nation on Friday, October 4, it was announced recently by J. F. Wolfram, Oldsmobile's general manager and a vice president of General Motors.

"The new Jetstar 88, the lower-priced companion to Oldsmobile's other famous, high performance 88's," Wolfram said, "is powered by the new Jetfire Rocket engine, an ultra-high compression, 330 cu. inch member of the Rocket engine family.

"In addition," he said, "our dealers will also be showing Oldsmobile's new medium price class sports-car, the Jetstar I, powered by the big, powerful Starfire engine.

"All 1964 Oldsmobiles," Wolfram continued, "are designed to meet the most discriminating taste of the buyer, with brilliant styling and exciting performance to appeal to the young of all ages."

Olds F-85 Totally New For '64
Lansing.—Oldsmobile's entry in the low price field, the F-85 for 1964, will be displayed along with all other 1964 Oldsmobile models, at dealer showrooms across the nation on Friday, Oct. 4, J. F. Wolfram announced.

"The F-85," Wolfram said, "is a totally new automobile, styled for more beauty, designed with greater interior measurements for maximum utility, and powered by a brand new engine for more performance.

"The F-85," he added, "is a greater value than ever before, with more leg-room, head-room and entrance room.

"It is styled to present a clean, sharp image," Wolfram said, "with the immediately recognizable 'action' look of Oldsmobile from every angle."

1964 Oldsmobile List Prices
Lansing—With the availability of a V-6 engine in the F-85, and with the introduction of the new Jetstar 88, customers will be able to buy an Oldsmobile for less in both the low price and medium price fields, it was announced by Oldsmobile's general manager, J. F. Wolfram.

"And too," Wolfram said, "for the sixth consecutive year, list prices for 1964 Dynamic 88's, Super 88's, Ninety-Eight's and Starfires remain constant.

"We have been able to hold our price levels," he said, "despite the many added product values built into every 1964 Oldsmobile in interior and exterior styling, performance, comfort and reliability."

He said that Oldsmobile's 1964 list prices range from $2126 for the F-85 Club Coupe (equipped with the V-6 engine) to $4340 for the Starfire Convertible.

WMU PLANNING MEETING

Nineteen members of the W. M. U. of the First Baptist church met Monday in the library at the church and made plans for the new church year.

Ruth Davis, president, announced that the society attained 15 out of the 16 goals set for the 75th anniversary year making it an Honor society. 1964 will be the Jubilee year making the end of the 5-year Jubilee program started in 1959.

She announced that a Jubilee Prayer Retreat will be held in San Angelo Oct. 8 in the Sunken Gardens and asked that anyone interested in going to contact her.

She appointed a committee to work out plans for a leadership training course to be taught here sometime during the year, consisting of Mrs. L. M. Hoover, Mrs. Dorothy Ratliff and Mrs. Kenneth Vaughan.

Mrs. Vernon Rogers, Mrs. Frank O'Banion and Mrs. Bob Davis gave brief talks on workshops they attended at Waco and Brownwood.
