Home Demonstration Agent's Column

By MRS. VIDA KREKLOW

I think I have discovered a bit of poetry in Jim Bob. The other afternoon he came in and stood very still, didn't say one word but managed to look very mysteriously pleased.

Neither of us spoke—I figured I'd let him break the spell. Finally he did.

"Do you see this smile I have on my face?" he asked.

 "Yes," I said.
 "Do you know why I am so happy?" he encouragingly continued.
 "I couldn't even guess," I answered.
 "We have two fruit trees in bloom and that's why I'm happy," was the most unexpected reply of the year.

My abject apologies to Mrs. Roy Boynton of Richmond, Va., for having waited so long to answer her welcome letter which came with her Christmas card. The Boynton family, Roy, Ethel and daughter, Linda, moved from Eldorado to Virginia in the late summer of 1963 and we still miss them.

Since I am a notoriously poor letter writer I'll tell you some of Ethel's news and answer some of her questions which may be of interest to you too.

Ethel says that it has taken some effort but that they are getting "their bearings" in a new state, a bigger city and with new people. Before Christmas Roy was working on a big pipe line in Greensboro, N.C., which would finally run as far as Linden, New Jersey, from Houston.

Linda's senior class has 182 members and she is very happy in her new school.

Ethel was president of her Home Demonstration Club while here and wondered who is president for 1964. Gladys Mittel is doing a fine job of directing her club's activities. The enrollment has increased and the average attendance ranges from 14 to 18 at each meeting.

We will have a luncheon meeting with Mrs. Jimmy West on March 19 and everybody is looking forward to the day. The demonstration will be an extended form of the hat making workshop held in February. We intend to show methods of re-newing old hats, restyling and reviving them for another season's use.

The lunch should be fun. We will each take our favorite dish and its recipe and will let the direction drift into a kind of a "tasting tea"—lunch rather. Only we won't have to buy tickets of admittance.

Ethel said that she read the directions for making candles which Mrs. J. Tom Williams demonstrated and that she looked for the paraffin in Richmond but had no luck. We may just have to ship her some for next Christmas.

And I wonder about red beans? Have any trouble getting pintos up there? We will be delighted to send a few pounds up. When out of Texas I have had to go so far as to buy pintos from an exotic spice importing shop—a real fancy setting for a toe-sack of pintos.

We still miss Ethel at Council meetings and I know that she would be glad to know that Edith Hartgraves, Phyllis Wimer, Cecile Williams and Mildred Stanford had a fine trip to Bandera on March 4 to attend a district planning meeting. The district meeting will be in Kerrville on May 7 and Schleicher county will be expected to give a short program on safety. "Do you remember Ethel, when we borrowed the seat belts from Roy's pickup so that we could illustrate them at an Abilene meeting of this same type?"

The Boynton address is 1507 Sunbury Road, Richmond, Virginia. I have surprised Ethel with this answer—Why don't you do the same thing and fill her in on some community and church activities? I know she would be delighted. I would.

Sue Edmiston, Mike Sudduth and I attended a District meeting of the 4-H Council in Mason last Saturday and spent a most enjoyable day with other agents and boys and girls. Mike was made secretary of one of the main committees and did a fine job of editing and recording the comments of the group, and then reporting back to the larger group.

The main business of the day was the election of officers, planning the meeting of contests at San Angelo College in April, and working out detailed plans for a joint 3-day 4-H camp at Camp Christian Retreat at Lake Brownwood on the last days of May. The girls have been going there for two or three years, but this year it's going to be great. Boys will be there, too.

Pruning time—
 What time to prune?
 What time does it bloom?
 Summer & fall blooming shrubs prune early in spring.

Spring-blooming shrubs, such as lilacs, forsythia, are pruned AFTER they have flowered.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Humphreys Baylor, participated in the University Sing. Also there were Mr. and their daughter, Betty, a student at Mrs. T. P. Robinson Jr.

Among valuable historical items lost when fire destroyed Wilson Administration building and Alma Reeves Chapel at Mary Hardin-Baylor College early last month was a marble bust of General Robert E. Lee, given to the college in 1914 by the College Chapter and the Bell County Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

As of this writing only the head of the bust has been recovered from the ruins. This has been taken to the home of the college president where it will be kept until a later date.

One of the members of the Bell County Chapter of the UDC who was most interested in the bust following the fire was Mrs. J. W. Thomas, Sr., of Belton who told this writer that she recalled the ceremonies in which both the marble figure and the pedestal on which it sat were presented to Dr. J. C. Hardy, then president of the college.

"The two chapters paid $300 for the bust," Mrs. Thomas recalled, "and when the presentation was made, Mrs. Jennie Hardy, sister-in-law of Dr. Hardy, represented the College UDC and Mrs. Sam Walker, mother of General Walton H. Walker, represented the Bell County chapter."

The bust was for years displayed prominently in the chapel and sat beneath a huge Confederate flag, also a gift from the UDC in later years. The two chapters of the UDC were active ones for many years and in 1923, through their combined efforts, the statewide annual meeting of UDC was held on the campus. The Bell County Chapter is still active today, but the college chapter ceased to function years ago.

Many of the college faculty and administration, whose names run through the school history, were members of the College Chapter and the 1923 yearbook, published following the annual meeting on the Belton campus, listed Mrs. Lillie J. Meyer as president, Miss Emma C. King, first vice president; Mrs. C. C. Howard, treasurer; Miss Francenia McGarity, assistant treasurer; Miss Katherine Bowen, historian; Mrs. Jennie M. Hardy, registrar and custodian; Miss Helena Berryman, reporter; and Misses Lucille Townsend, Alta Rita Brewster, Alma Freeman, Charlotte Henderson, Zimma Hare, Mary Jordan, Birdie Lawrence, and Mrs. R. B. Sparks, other members.

The Bell County Chapter in 1923 reported 90 members with Mrs. Thomas Yarrell, president; Mrs. J. E. Elliott, first vice president; Mrs. T. L. Means, second vice president; Mrs. J. M. Jarrell, recording secretary; Mrs. R. C. Fisher, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Peter Hammersmith, treasurer; Mrs. S. S. Walker, historian; Mrs. W. H. Brown, registrar; Mrs. F. Y. Boyd, custodian.

The Chapter that year reported that their social activity was to give a combined picnic in the park for several Confederate veterans.

Recommended Reading for This Week: Clifton C. Edom, a teacher of photojournalism at the University of Missouri, has compiled what he calls "a collection of words and pictures of the Civil War" into his "Missouri Sketch Book" in such a way as to produce one of the finer privately-done things of the Centennial. Printed by Lucas Publishing Co. of Columbia, we have found the book most gratifying and worthwhile.

One of the finest biographies in a long while is Frances Leigh Williams' "Matthew Fontaine Maury, Scientist of the Sea," published by Rutgers University Press. Here is the gripping and sometimes sad story of a man who gave up much to serve with his native Virginia during the War and whose story has not been compassionately told until now.

The leveling of 13 acres of irrigated land was checked for completion on George Humphrey's place, two miles east of Eldorado, the first week of this month. The work was started in January and was delayed by rain and snow.

The purpose of the land leveling was to alter the topography of the land whereby efficient use of irrigation water can be achieved, to make efficient use of rainfall, prevent erosion, and facilitate proper soil and water management.

The land was leveled between borders spaced 47 feet from center to center of borders, which is known as bench leveling. The system was designed and constructed whereby there are no point borders in the system. Also, there are no curves or angles in the entire lengths of the borders. Fall from the upper side of each bench to the lower side is not more than 0.10 of a foot.

Land leveling eliminates the side movement of water whereby the water can be applied at an even depth across the entire width of each bench. The grade in direction of watering is zero to not more than 1/2 the gross application of water for each irrigation. With little or no grade in the benches, the water depth will be nearly the same throughout the entire length. Water can be stood to the same depth over all of each border that is completely level. A more efficient application of irrigation water can be obtained on leveled land.

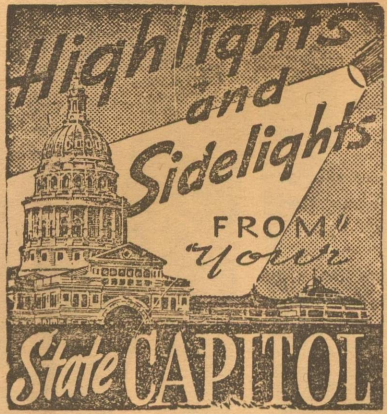

Also, any rainfall that is received is distributed evenly over the field.

Land leveling irrigated land that is flood irrigated, is as essential as contour farming and terraces on dry cropland. Level land holds water received from the irrigation water source and from rainfall. Like most all conservation measures that are beneficial, land leveling has one minor bad point. Borders on each side of the leveled area are in the way of farming operations. This can practically be eliminated by making each area leveled, as wide as possible. In this type of leveling, known as field leveling, the need for borders are eliminated when the field is being row cropped. When drilled or broadcast crops are planted, temporary borders can be constructed.

In designing, layout and checking the land leveling, Humphrey was assisted by Soil Conservation Service technicians. The land leveling is a part of Humphrey's Great Plains Conservation Plan and cost share assistance was received through the Great Plains Conservation Program.

Land leveling is one of several needed soil, water and plant conservation practices included in Humphrey's conservation plan. The basic objective of the plan being, to use each acre of agriculture land within its capabilities and to treat it according to its needs for protection and improvements.

Austin.—For the first time in history, Texas Republicans will have an opportunity to express their preferences for the GOP presidential nomination in a statewide straw vote.

Republican Executive Committee voted to hold the presidential referendum on the May 2 primary ballot. The opinion sampling has no binding effect. Principal purpose is to boost the stock of Barry Goldwater and to lure restless conservative Democrats into the GOP primary.

Democratic Executive Committee offered no special voter bonus to keep their own partisans in the fold.

Leaders of both parties, in simultaneous meetings in Austin, declined to submit requested referendums on sale of liquor by the drink and curtailment of Mexican nationals' commuting to jobs in Texas.

Names of Goldwater, Nelson Rockefeller, Margaret Chase Smith and Harold Stassen will appear on the GOP ballot. Originally the names of Richard Nixon, William Scranton, George Romney and Henry Cabot Lodge were included, but they asked to be omitted. Rockefeller wanted off. He was told he had to stay since he already had announced.

Democrats responded warmly to Gov. John Connally's call for all-out support of President Johnson in party conventions. But they squabbled at length before accepting Dallas as the site of their Sept. 15th state conventions. Dallas finally won, 33-18 over Corpus Christi.

Connally made clear in a ringing speech urging Johnson support that as governor he plans to keep control of the state party.

"It is important . . . to choose people (as convention delegates) who will be as strong for Connally in September as they are for Johnson in June," the Governor stated.

Without dissent the Democrats agreed on Houston as the site of their June 16 state convention to pick national presidential nominating convention delegates. The state party platforms will be written and a new SDEC selected at the September meeting.

Republicans will hold their June convention in Dallas and their September convention in Austin.

SDEC Chairman Eugene M. Locke of Dallas resigned at the Democratic meeting and was replaced by Frank Erwin Jr. of Austin. He had served as secretary.

Republicans adopted a resolution calling for a special legislative session on congressional redistricting, and decided to admit registered voters who did not pay their poll taxes (under new federal constitutional authority) to party conventions.

Both committees also got around to their required business: certifying statewide candidates for the primary ballot and selection of a place (Austin) for their May 12 meeting to canvass May 2 election returns.

Hospitals Losing Doctors

Texas salaries aren't good enough to keep top doctors on the job at state hospitals, Dr. James M. Schless, director of tuberculosis hospitals, told the hospital board at a recent meeting here.

He cited resignations of doctors at Harlingen State Hospital, East Texas Tuberculosis Hospital, and San Antonio State Hospital and possibility of the McKnight State Hospital clinical director's taking a job in another state.

Key medical jobs in the state institutions pay $14,000 to $15,000 a year, plus housing. Schless said the next Legislature will be asked to raise that to $19,500.

Executive Director Raymond W. Vowell offered the Board for Hospitals and Special Schols a more cheering note: with completion of new facilities for the mentally retarded (which now house 9,813), the present waiting list of 1,800 may be trimmed to 500 by fall.

Schless also had an encouraging report: average hospitalization period of tuberculosis patients is shorter, and fewer are leaving the hospitals against medical advice. New and improved drugs are offering better hope of quick cure.

Study Hearings Planned

The Governor's Committee on Education Beyond the High School will take its preliminary recommendations before college officials and state legislative groups during late May and June.

Chairman H. B. Zachry, still fighting a running battle with the capitol press over secret sessions of the 25-member committee announced the hearings. He said members will reach a tentative decision on recommendations at a meeting here April 17-18.

Committee has balked at telling reporters it has agreed on to date except a coordinating committee for all colleges and junior colleges.

A sub-committee on junior colleges reported a list of specific proposals, however, including a recommendation that no more junior colleges be elevated to four-year status. They also recommended that the state pay all instructional costs of the 33 existing and future publicly-supported junior colleges.

Zachry indicated the Committee will propose a "stair-step" or easy-stages approach to achieving a first class system of colleges and universities. He hinted the Committee will make specific recommendations for financing the proposed upgrading program.

Appointments Made

Governor Connally announced appointments of O. E. Bevers of Lakeview and C. C. Broughton and Russell Jones, both of Childress, to the board of directors of the Upper Red River Flood Control and Irrigation District (Hall, Briscoe and Childress counties). Bevers and Broughton are reappointments.

Jones succeeds the late Dr. Roy H. Barr.

Connally appointed Ben F. Shipley of Beaumont and Neal D. Rader of Port Arthur to the Pilot Commission for the Sabine Bar, Pass and Tributaries. He also named to the commission Lee Wheat of Beaumont, Bill Sexton of Orange and W. F. Fredeman of Port Arthur.

Committees Meet

The new steering committee of the governor's Committee on Aging, headed by Sen. Walter Richter of Gonzales, held its initial meeting, as did the governor's 14-member committee studying electronic data processing equipment in use by the state.

Tourist Program In High Gear

The Texas Tourist Development Agency reports that national advertising is scheduled for summer issues of the New York Times and Chicago Tribune travel sections and for issues of Sunset, Redbook and Reader's Digest magazines.

Some 36 travel writers from other states and Canada are due to take a week-long tour of the state in April to gather material for their columns.

Courts Speak

State Supreme Court has agreed with lower courts that a state tax on gas pipelines is unconstitutional. Decision upheld earlier opinions that the dedicated reserve tax cannot be applied to pipelines holding long-term contracts to take Texas gas to out-of-state consumers. About $9 million has been paid to the treasurer under the levy, $8.5 of it under protest.

High court permitted filing of three mandamus petitions involving election controversies.

It also heard arguments on former Fort Worth Councilman Doyle Willis' suit to get on the May 2 Democratic primary ballot as a senate candidate.

In addition, it scheduled hearings on a suit to keep former Bexar County Commissioner Sam Jorrie off the ballot as a House candidate. Both are challenged under a ruling that holders of paid office are ineligible to run for the Legislature during the term to which they were elected or appointed. Both Willis and Jorrie now are out of their old offices.

Another argument was set on a suit to prevent Robert F. Bartlett of Van Zandt County from running for county and district attorney. J. Alton Mills, another candidate for the Van Zandt post, claims Bartlett has not met residence requirements.

For the second time, the Court of Criminal Appeals affirmed the swindling conviction and 8-year prison sentence of Billie Sol Estes.

Backtagging

The "backtagging" of culls and dry cows may be used to solve the growing problem of certifying all Texas counties for brucellosis eradication. Dr. R. G. Garrett, executive director of the Texas Animal Health Commission, and Dr. John Wilbur, veterinarian in charge of the U. S. animal disease eradication division in Texas, say the backtagging market testing program is in force in several northwestern states.

Under this program, culls and dry cows headed through concentration points on their way to slaughter are marked so that the state, county and herd from which the cow came can be identified.

When the cow goes to slaughter, a blood sample is taken and the results of a brucellosis test is recorded.

As Dr. Wilbur says, "Brucellosis being what it is, if older female animals are free of the disease, it is pretty certain the herd is free. In this way, about 97 to 98% of the testing could be eliminated."

Dr. Garrett says backtagging could eliminate "down-the-road" testing by between 90 and 97% in a given county.

The animal health officials announced that Texas has entered its third month without a reported case of screwworms.

Dr. Jim Dan Hill Takes Position With State Of Wisconsin

Dr. Jim Dan Hill, a former resident of Santa Anna and Eldorado, recently resigned as president of Superior State College, Superior, Wisconsin, to accept a position as co-director of the Joint Staff, Coordinating Committee for Higher Education for the State of Wisconsin.

Dr. Hill attended Santa Anna schools and a number of the old timers there remember him well. He has been a weekly columnist for many newspapers throughout the United States for a good many years. His column appears in the Brownwod Bulletin and the San Angelo Standard-Times. Many times he has told of his childhood activities in Santa Anna.

Dr. Hill became president of the Superior State College in 1931 and has served in that position since, except for his wartime service during World War II. He has published three books since the war, his latest being "The Minute Man in Peace and War." His other two books are, "The Texas Navy" and "Sea Dogs of the Sixties."

Dr. Hill is a brother of Ernest C. Hill, and Misses Miltia and Katherine Hill, of Eldorado.

Mrs. C. V. Gannaway was in Eldorado one day last week to visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Topliffe, and other relatives and friends.
