Rains Everywhere But Schleicher County Still Dry

Schleicher county was treated to all different kinds of weather last week except the kind it wanted—rain.

Ominous looking black clouds rolled and twisted, lightning flashed and thunder boomed, but the sprinkle it produced was not enough to settle the dust.

Two small tornadoes were reported to have touched down in the ranch country between Eldorado and Sonora on Saturday afternoon accompanied by a small amount of hail. Ranchers in the area who were praying for four inches of rain were disappointed when their gauges showed only four-tenths, which was more than the average around the county. Jess Koy reported only a sprinkle at his ranch 10 miles east of town, and about the kind of report came from Edgar Sauer in Reynolds community—only a sprinkle.

Henry Speck Jr. reported nine-tenths of an inch for last week for which they were grateful, but remarked that it was very local—none of their neighbors reported as much.

Rains were generous in counties to the north and San Angelo had a gully-washer. By Saturday a cold norther blew in and by Saturday night householders were turning off their air conditioners and lighting up their gas heating stoves. Sunday found filling station attendants wearing heavy jackets while servicing vehicles and roughnecks on the Case well were similarly bundled up while operating the completion unit there. "I've been cold all day," remarked one workman when the swab was coming out of the hole.

Apparently there was more rain in the far east end of the county and in the far northeast. Jimmy Martin was talking about it out at the drive-in theater Sunday night. He said that the Martin ranch (out in the Toe Nail Trail country) had four inches in one place and it and washed out a road. But that was just one area—the rest of the ranch had much less.

So there is the situation. It rained all around us last week but Schleicher county is still dry. One rancher summed it up when he was talking to his banker recently: "I don't know what to do—I can't afford to feed my livestock and I can't afford to sell 'em."

ALL SET FOR RUN-OFF VOTE HERE SATURDAY

Saturday's Democratic run-off primary will determine who will represent Precinct No. 1 as commissioner for the next four years.

Except for this contest there will be very little interest in Saturday's balloting.

Voters in Precincts 2, 3 and 4 will have only one contest to contend with: that of U. S. Congressman at Large where the choice is between Joe Pool and Robert W. Baker. Balloting for all three of these precincts will be carried on at the court house.

Voters in Precinct One will go to the Memorial Building to cast their ballots, which will carry the commissioner's race as well as Congressman-at-Large.

Election judges remind local Democrats that they should again bring their Poll Tax receipts when they come in to vote Saturday. Voting hours at both places will be from 8:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m.

After winning top spots in the first primary, Weatherly Kinser and Elmer Peters are squared away for the commissioner decision Saturday. Over 500 votes were cast in this race in May, as follows:

Peters	173
Kinser	135
Speck	103
Halbert	99

It will be noted that Speck and Halbert together received 202 votes. How these votes go Saturday will determine the winner. And will the voter turn-out Saturday be as large as it was in the first primary? That is another question that won't be revealed until Saturday night.

Republican

Ballots have also been printed for the second Republican primary in which there is but one race—that of George Bush and Jack Cox for nomination for U. S. Senator. Their balloting will again be carried out at the school house. They polled 35 votes in the first primary.

Pool Season Is On

With Fred Riley as manager, the county swimming pool opened for the summer season last week.

Mr. Riley reports good crowds using the pool, despite the unseasonably cool weather of recent days which has kept the water chilly.

The pool is open to the public 2:00 to 6:00 p.m. each day of the week except Monday.

Mr. Riley stated that if the demand is justified, he will open the pool Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. for grown people to use.

The admission is 40c and 25c, and the wading pool for the use of tiny tots is, as usual, free.

The swimming pool is also in use Tuesday and Thursday mornings by Mrs. Dixie Bell's summer recreation classes.

Attend Square Dancers' Federation In Dallas

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Blakeway and David were in Dallas last week end to attend a statewide Federation of Square Dancers in which some 1500 dancers participated. The dance was held at Memorial Auditorium and covered 2 floors.

While in Dallas they visited Mrs. Blakeway's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hamby and children.

Post Script

With passing of the deadline Tuesday for voting absentee in the run-off Democratic Primary, a total of 43 votes were cast in the County Clerk's office.

This Saturday, June 6th, we will be voting in the Democratic Primary run-off, but the date will also mark the 20th anniversary of D-Day—the 6th of June 1944 when the tide of World War II was turned with the Allies' invasion of Europe.

It's beginning to seem a long time, now, since the World War II period.

The battleship Texas was used for shore bombardment on D-Day. Now school children and other visitors walk its decks at its museum berth on our coast.

The editor of The American Legion Magazine states in the current issue: "We wonder how many American Legion posts will arrange some special event to mark the Sixth of June. Of all the anxious days of the Second World War, Invasion Day for Normandy seems to us the one day of our greatest anxiety, our most fervent hopes. It is worth remembering in every community in some tangible way. Will your Post do something this June 6 to commemorate the fateful day when we cast the dice of war so irretrievably?"

The local Bev McCormick Post of The American Legion is meeting tonight and no doubt the members will do a considerable amount of reminiscing about what they were doing that day 20 years ago, when General Eisenhower as supreme commander, directed that invasion.

Interest in irrigation in Schleicher county was kicked off about 8 years ago when Clyde Keeney brought in the first big water well that was estimated at 1,000 gallons per minute.

A score of other wells around the county followed—some as good as Keeney's and some near failures.

Now another irrigation well has been dug on the west side of the Keeney section by Mrs. Joe Garvin and she declares that it is a prolific producer and "just as good as Clyde's." The tract is being farmed by Homer Garvin who will plant grain for feed.

For three weeks we've been hearing them, since this mama dog had a batch of puppies under my house. Yesterday morning she allowed them to come out and there they were—all five, fat, frisky and hungry.

Two of them are black, and the other three are white with black spots. In another three weeks they'll be ready for new homes. First come, first served.

In the meantime I've taken on a new chore—cooking an oatmeal breakfast for 'em each morning.

With tornadoes skipping over our county last week end, we were reminded that several years ago the fire department set up a disaster warning signal for the town if Eldorado.

A long blast on the fire siren would be used to indicate that the town is in imminent danger of a tornado and for citizens to take cover. The long blast could also signify any other major disaster.

Constant readers of the Success and the "In Those Days" column, may wonder why this week we have news of 49 years ago instead of 35 years. Reason is that the current files for 35 years ago are missing for a month or so.

Before long, we will be back with the news of that period.

CoOp Granted Half-Million $ Loan For Continued Expansion

Eldorado Success
Eldorado, Texas

Am advised by Department of Agriculture of $555,000 REA loan to Southwest Texas Electric CoOperative, Inc., Eldorado, to finance construction 204 miles distribution lines to serve 362 new meters; 16 miles new tie-line, and 750 KVA substation at Ft. McKavett.

—Ralph W. Yarborough, U. S. Senate.

The above is a copy of a telegram received on Monday from Senator Yarborough regarding an REA loan granted to the Southwest Texas Electric CoOp here.

In an interview with Manager Don McCormick and Asst. Mgr. Elton McGinnis it was explained that the above loan is for continued expansion—that the Co-Op is expanding all the time with its own construction crew. The amount of expansion during the next two years was determined by making a survey of the past two and projecting it into the future. Application for the above loan was made in March 1964 and was granted in less than 60 days.

McCormick estimated that most of this loan would be used for expansion in Schleicher, Sutton and Crockett counties, but not necessarily limited to those areas. "We are able to extend our service anywhere in the system when and if needed," he added.

In Schleicher county additional motors for irrigation pumps are being added to the line constantly for row crops and domestic grasses which are proving to be a big assistance to grazing.

When asked when this construction project would begin we were told, "It is already going on."

Homemade 'Egg-Beater' Causes Big Stir Here

Week end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Williams included Alfred Fant of Killeen; Bill Fant of Salado; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Reed of Denton, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reed of Dallas.

Walter Reed brought his homemade gyrocopter (a modified-type helicopter). He made several exhibitions at Cecil's store in the Reynolds Community and attracted quite a bit of attention when he circled Eldorado and made a landing at the Eldorado airport.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gunstead and children spent the week end at Lake Buchanan and in Austin.

Oil News

Tucker Drilling Co., who has the rotary contract for two Gulf Oil Corp. wells, moved their rotary rig last week from Gulf's No. 1 Case to Gulf's No. 1 Edgar Sauer. During the week end they set surface casing and are now drilling ahead below 3500 feet.

A Pool completion rig took over operations on Gulf No. 1 Case, where 4½-inch casing had been set at 6,811 feet, on total depth of 7,180 feet.

Recovery was 270 feet of heavily gas-cut mud and 180 feet of gas-cut mud on a drillstem test between 6,595-6,642 feet. Flowing pressure was 256-273 pounds; one-hour initial shut-in pressure was 2,734 pounds and 90-minute final shut-in pressure, 2,601 pounds.

During the week end it had been acidized with 500 gallons and fractured with 2,000 gallons, then re-acidized with 30,000 gallons. At last report it was trying to flow through perforations between 6620 to 22 feet. The Pool completion rig was moved off Tuesday.

Orbon H. Tice and Sam H. Allen of Abilene will drill a 7,200-foot Strawn wildcat in Schleicher county, five miles southwest of Eldorado.

It is the No. 1 R. D. Johnson, 660 feet from the south and east lines of 104-A HE&WT.

Rev. Johnny Griffith, pastor of the Assembly of God church, is attending a district council meeting this week in Lufkin.

Transients Report Treatment While In Area As Inhospitable

Editor, Eldorado Success, Eldorado, Texas.

Dear Sir: We wish to inform you of an episode that occurred Tuesday night 26 May '64, at the roadside park located approximately 1½ miles from your town on U.S. Highway 277, going toward San Angelo. We were tourists in your area, coming from Big Bend Park and surrounding area and had stopped to eat and rest awhile at the park, about 8 p.m. When we drove into the park we evidently broke into a party that was in progress there as some cars were already present and others began arriving. We parked at an unoccupied table in one end of the park and ate our meal, and then entered our camper to rest awhile. From 8 p.m. until 2 a.m. we were the target of cars of young men and women who constantly harassed and molested us by breaking bottles, yelling and screaming out vile and profane language as they sped in and out of the park; sometimes stopping their cars and walking toward us making these remarks. Around 2 a.m. a group of cars began to gather and the atmosphere became worse, we, fearing an actual assault was about to begin, gathered our things and drove away from the area. However, during the melee we obtained the license numbers of three of the cars involved and this information we have sent to your sheriff, Mr. Orval Edmiston and to the Texas Highway Department, requesting their investigation of these outrageous activities carried on in this area.

This spot is obviously the rendezvous of this vicious group of hoodlums and vandals and we are requesting your newspaper publicize this incident and help preclude further attacks on tourists to your city and county; for the protection of law-abiding citizens who might inadvertently break into one of these orgies and be mobbed.

We had planned on spending some time in your area, but after such disgraceful treatment we decided to spend our vacation elsewhere.

Since we actually fear physical violence may result to our families we are withholding names of both families who have been thus treated.

Back From The Fair

Mrs. Lois Bagley has returned to her home in New Mexico after making a New York World's Fair tour with her sister, Mrs. Ed Hill. Others from Eldorado who were in the tour were Mrs. Ida Neill, Mrs. Mable Parker, and Mrs. V. G. Tisdale. They were gone 18 days and visited 14 states, Canada and the District of Columbia.

One of the members in the party made this characteristic remark, "It was a wonderful experience, but I'm glad to be back home and I wouldn't care to go again."

The Texas women were flabbergasted when they were charged 45c for a cup of coffee in New York restaurants, and a plain roast beef dinner without any frills came to four and five dollars. It sounds like Alaska, only worse.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wheeler recently was their daughter, Mrs. Kirk of Austin.

Loans Available To Farmers

William L. McWhorter, chairman of the Farmers Home Administration Area Committee, stated today that several types of loans are available to farmers and ranchers who meet eligibility requirements. He stated that applicants must be unable to obtain credit elsewhere at reasonable rates and terms.

Operating Loans

McWhorter cited the operating or adjustment as being most in demand by applicants. Funds may be advanced to pay for equipment, livestock, feed, seed, fertilizer, for other farm and home operating needs, to refinance chattel debts, and to develop income-producing recreation enterprises. Loans are scheduled for repayment in accordance with the borrower's ability to repay, over a period not exceeding 7 years; the interest rate is 5%. Loans may be made to operators of not larger than family farms and ranches.

Farm Ownership Loans

McWhorter stated that of 47 loans made through the San Angelo office to purchase land in the early 1940's, all have been paid in full years ahead of schedule. These loans are made to buy farms or land to enlarge farms; construct or repair buildings and facilities; improve land; develop water resources; refinance debts; and establish recreation enterprises to supplement farm income. Loans may be made only to eligible farmers who will operate not larger than family farms or ranches. The interest rate is 5 per cent with up to 40 years to repay. FHA lends 100% of the appraised normal value; the borrower's total principal indebtedness on the farm at the time the loan is made may not exceed $60,000 or the normal value, whichever is less.

Rural Housing Loans

These loans are made to eligible farm owners and owners of non-farm tracts in rural areas and small communities with populations under 2,500. Loans are for the construction, improvement, or relocation on the farm of dwellings and service buildings; to provide fallout shelters, sewage disposal systems, farmstead water supply and distribution systems, and landscaping. Loans may also be made to senior citizens in rural areas to finance the cost of a building site as well as the dwelling. Loans are scheduled for repayment up to 33 years at 4% interest. Loans up to $200,000 may be made to non-profit corporations and consumer cooperatives to provide rental housing in rural areas for the elderly with low to moderate incomes; interest is 3 5/8 %. Loans up to $100,000 may also be made to individuals, corporations, and partnerships to provide housing for the elderly; interest at 5 3/4 %.

Water Systems in Rural Areas

Loans may be made to groups of farmers or rural residents in towns of 2,500 population or less to install or improve water supply and distribution systems; to install, repair, or expand irrigation facilities, including water supply reservoirs, diversion dams, wells, and pumping plants; and for the development of recreational areas.

Individual Soil and Water Loans

McWhorter emphasized that loans are also made to eligible owners to develop, conserve, and make better use of their soil and water resources such as drilling irrigation wells, lining ditches, land leveling, and for sprinkler systems.

Watershed Loans

Watershed loans are made to local organizations to help finance projects and develop land and water resources in small watersheds.

McWhorter said that funds for the development of recreational areas may be included in most all types of loans made by FHA. Further information may be obtained from the Farmers Home Administration office located in the Cactus Hotel, San Angelo, or office day is held in the courthouse in Eldorado every first and third Wednesday of each month.

Sings With Choir At World's Fair

Waco.—Teresa Nell (Terry) Phelps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Phelps of Box 526 in Eldorado, sang Monday of last week with the Baylor University Freshman A Cappella Choir at the World's Fair in New York.

The 50-voice freshman choir under the direction of Dr. Euell Porter of the Baylor School of Music sang at the National Southern Baptist Convention in Atlantic City, N.J. on May 21 and 22.

Beryl Red made arrangements for the choir to sing at the World's Fair. Red, a 1957 Baylor graduate, is music consultant for the Walton Music Co. of New York and Hollywood, Calif. He is also minister of music at Manhattan Baptist Church.

The trip began May 18 in Waco and ended May 31 on the Baylor campus. Concerts were also slated at Baptist churches en route to New York and the return trip.

Some highlights in New York included a tour of Radio City, Rockefeller Center and the baseball game between the New York Yankees and the Los Angeles Angels.

Following the New York performance, the choir toured the capitol and the White House in Washington, D.C. as guests of W. R. Poage, Texas representative.

The Freshman A Cappella Choir was organized in 1960 by Porter. Tours of the group are financed by choir performances throughout the year and the individual choir members.

A Quick Internal Management Check

By Kenneth Wolf,

Economist-Agribusiness, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Dept. of Agricultural Economics and Sociology, Texas A&M University.

In working with small agribusinessmen across the state, I am constantly asked this question:

"How can a small business like ours find out how we can improve without employing professional consultant services, a service we don't feel we can afford right now?"

A good answer to this is along this line. If a business really wants to know in detail where its weaknesses are, it should be examined by a professional management consultant. There are, however, some very effective ways an owner can check himself. One of these self-appraisals can be made by the owner placing himself in the role of a customer who is observing activities of the business. If a customer sees these things, they are symptoms of a poor overall management.

1. A customer who has been waiting several minutes to get served.
2. An employee being wrung-out in the presence of others.
3. Manager placing blame for some mistake on a subordinate.
4. Several people waiting to see manager for decisions may be either employees or customers.
5. Untidy appearing place of business—messy desk.
6. Statement by next in charge that he doesn't know where to find manager.
7. Manager joining in with employees in criticizing Board policies.
8. Manager who looks harrassed and grumpy.
9. Manager who is so engrossed with the problems at hand, he fails to speak to customer.
10. "I don't know" answer from sales and service personnel.
11. A bottlenecked situation at some place—may be loading docks—cashier in-receiving point, etc.
12. Employees standing around in little huddles talking.
13. A customer waiting while a sales person has a long-winded telephone conversation.
14. Window displays which are seldom changed or rearranged.
15. Sales personnel who say "Do you want something?" This is an unacceptable opener. A better one is, "Are you being served?"
16. A customer poring over a catalog by himself; that is, with no help from sales clerk.

How many ways does exercise help your child?

We're all aware of the more obvious benefits of exercise—to develop strength, skill, agility. But exercise has other important benefits. For instance, it is good for the heart and blood vessels. Indeed, daily, vigorous activity may be the most important factor in preventing or delaying heart disease. Moreover, the better a youngster's physical condition, the more likely he is to do well in his studies. And the physically fit boy or girl certainly measures up to challenging or competitive situations with a sureness that the under-developed child often lacks. Don't you agree that your child should have both the immediate and the long-range benefits of exercise? Won't you see to it that his school has a daily program that can improve every child's fitness? Home Demonstration Agent's Column
By MRS. VIDA KREKLOW

If there is a more hopeful and encouraging sight in the world than a bunch of teen age boys and girls I want you to tell me about it.

I make this statement on the return from a three day 4-H camp at Camp Christian Retreat on the north shore of Lake Brownwood. There we had about 125 4-H club boys and girls for a camp session and never, anywhere, have I seen a better behaved, more responsible group in my life. Not that they didn't have fun—they had more fun than work by a long sight.

It just makes one feel good all over, to look into the faces of a bunch of boys and girls as they take part in a flag raising ceremony in the early morning and hear them repeat the pledge of allegiance in unison.

It does one good to hear boys and girls, too, just 14 years old, deliver the invocation before meals and to present their thanks to God in a way which would be a credit to a seasoned adult.

It does one good to see all the entertainment and the business sessions presided over by boys and girls. Not a leader nor an agent was called upon to take the lead or to take "charge" of any meeting or session; the boys and girls did it all, and they did a good job too.

Schleicher County representatives were: Mrs. W. F. Edmiston, leader; Sue Edmiston, Kathy Carlman and Patty Johnson, 4-H club girls. The trip was made financially possible by the Southwest Texas Electric Co-Operative, Inc., for these four and they feel indebted to this company which has seen fit to make an annual contribution of $25 to the county 4-H girls' club.

The following is Sue Edmiston's

Army units moved quickly after Alaska's Good Friday earthquake to help alleviate suffering, such as the 55 officers and men ordered to Valdez (see business district above) to work with the city's civil defense forces. Valdez Mayor Bruce Woodford praised the job done both by the Army and civil defense. Valdez evacuees inland also got Army help, including medical care at Glenallen (right) and a field kitchen set up at nearby Gulkana. (U.S. Army Photos) recounting of her trip and Kathy Carlman's version will follow Sue's. It may be next week before Patty Johnson will be able to get her story in but it will show up soon.

Last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Kathy Carlman, Patty Johnson and I, Sue Edmiston, went to 4-H club camp at Camp Christian Retreat at Lake Brownwood. We were accompanied by Mrs. Vida Kreklow, and adult leader, Mrs. W. F. Edmiston.

We had a visiting agricultural training agent from India named Mr. Singh who gave us a talk on his country. He also had some films to show us and one was of a tiger hunt. We also had with us an agent from the Philippines.

We had two very informative classes on wildlife and conservation. They were presented in a very interesting way by Mr. Wallace Klusmann and Mr. Bobby Joe Ragsdale of College Station.

Along with learning of India, conservation, and wildlife there came fun in recreation and just meeting new friends. —By Sue Edmiston.

Wednesday morning, May 27, Mrs. Kreklow, Mrs. W. F. Edmiston and Sue, Patty Johnson, and I left for Lake Brownwood to be present at a 4-H camp. It was raining when we got there but quit in a few minutes. After we unpacked, we were to go swimming and attend a Conservation Class and a class on Wildlife. Each morning we attended a Flag Raising Ceremony and each evening we lowered the flag. After supper, we had a recreation program for 2 1/2 hours. The first night we pretended to go to the World's Fair and represented each country by some particular game. We then learned a few folk dances. The second night we had a rodeo with a calf scramble, roping contest, etc., and later learned new folk dances. After this recreation, we had 15 minutes of a vesper service. At that time we were to go to our rooms and have lights out by 11:00. Thursday morning we listened to a talk by the delegates who represented the 4-H in Washington. Also that morning, Mr. Seigh from India showed films representing the Indian way of life. That afternoon we again attended classes. Friday morning everyone was to be present at the Council Meeting. This meeting was to discuss our future plans. Before lunch we cleaned the dorms and camping grounds. After lunch we adjourned to go home. We each enjoyed this encampment and want to thank the Southwest Texas Electric Co-Op for donating $25 each year for these camps and trips. —Kathy Carlman.

Our WASHINGTON Letter

By Congressman O. C. FISHER

The debt ceiling problem is haunting Congress again. It has come to be an annual thing. At the end of June the books will be marked up, and the deficit for the preceding 12 months determined. It will show a whopping deficit—this time of a little under $10 billion. That much more paid out than taken in.

The national debt at the moment is $308 billion. By law the limit is set at 315 billion. But that limit is "temporary" and reverts back to $309 billion after June 30 unless Congress again raises it.

The Treasury Department has already made it known that before June 30 it will ask Congress to hike the limit to $320 billion for the next year—the highest in our history.

The course of action is simple: either the Congress must reduce spending to conform with the ceiling it establishes—or it must raise that ceiling to accommodate the increased spending.

The way it looks now there is not much hope for reduced spending in the foreseeable future. The legislative calendar is bristling with new spending projects. The civil rights legislation, if enacted, will expand government spending throughout the future. A Mass Transportation bill, to subsidize the cost of modernizing roads and streets and other transportation media in the big metropolitan areas, is now before Congress. The first year it would cost a half billion, and no telling how much after that.

A half-billion dollar salary raise is in the works—and this will be an annual outlay.

A billion dollar anti-poverty welfare state program is pending, estimated to eventually cost $15 billion, if it goes through. And our commitment in Viet Nam and in Laos is sure to require a substantial increase in expenditures in that area. And there are many other new programs being pushed, all of which help play havoc with debt ceilings.

Indeed, there are those who are already talking in terms of what it will be like in America when we have a $400 billion public debt. Unless the brakes are applied that day may not be so very far away.

The Johnson Administration has made some welcome economy moves. But this can easily be wiped out with new programs, new projects, more new spending.

'Little Stroke' Is A Sign of Warning

An active housewife, several times a grandmother, was doing her ironing one evening. Suddenly the iron fell from her hand and her whole arm felt numb. She felt weak but did not faint or lose consciousness.

When her husband, startled by the clatter of the iron hitting the kitchen floor, rushed in to see what was the matter, his wife could not speak. He helped her to a chair and, although her symptoms disappeared in two or three minutes and she could voice her objections—he called the doctor who found she had had a "little stroke."

Basically, all strokes, big or little, occur when the blood supply to a part of the brain is cut off, depriving its nerve cells of oxygen and other nutrients.

While the big stroke, which is more dreaded, can paralyze an entire side of the body, the little stroke is by far the more frequent, according to the Southwest Texas Heart Association.

The symptoms of a little stroke are usually minor and may last only a few seconds or up to a few days. They vary widely and may include numbness or weakening of one side of the face or an arm or leg. Or there may be temporary loss or blurring of vision, difficulty or slurring of speech.

The brain, of course, is the control center for the whole body. Specific areas of the brain control body, arms, hands, legs, face, speech, reading and sight. The effects of a stroke depend on which control center is deprived of blood and for how long.

Because little strokes have comparatively minor symptoms which usually pass quickly, many people ignore them. It is a dangerous thing to do.

Symptoms of a little stroke should be reported to your physician immediately. More often than not, a little stroke is a warning which should be heeded. Prompt medical attention may forestall a more serious stroke.

The doctor may prescribe medication; he may suggest you modify your living habits regarding diet, rest, activity. Whatever his instructions, it's important that you follow them closely.

Sometimes little strokes go literally unnoticed by the person experiencing them. This is one of two good reasons for having a regular physical examination. Often the doctor's questioning may bring to light certain information that suggests a little stroke may have occurred.

The other good reason for having a physical examination regularly is to enable your doctor to discover and control any condition—whether it be high blood pressure or overweight—which may affect your health. Regular physical examinations can prevent some diseases. Maintaining good general health improves your fighting chances against any disease that might strike.

On The Screen . . .

Teen-Age Dessert In The Desert

Warner Brothers serves up a heaping portion of frothy teen-age dessert in the desert with "Palm Springs Weekend" which will be shown Sunday and Monday nights at the Eagle Drive-In Theatre.

It's a "Where the Boys Are" transplanted from the beaches of Florida to the Sands of California. It's about as good as Metro's earlier 1960 entry into the "kids invade resort" cinema annals.

The studio has taken most of its top TV players and put them into the movie. There are Troy Donahue, Connie Stevens, Robert Conrad and Ty Hardin . . . all figures in television offerings.

Of this group, Robert Conrad comes out most favorably. In his first movie role, he shows more depth and range than he ever evinced in ABC-TV's "Hawaiian Eye."

Director Norman Taurog takes this crew and etches a picture of American youth on an Easter week fling at one of the nation's swankiest playgrounds, Palm Springs, California.

A basketball team, captained by Donahue, invades the resort. The athletes check into a motel which happens to be Easter Week headquarters for some cute schoolgirls.

From that point, the plot takes off with kissing, dancing, singing and slugging. Donahue falls for the police chief's daughter, Stefanie Powers. Connie Stevens has eyes for the rich and confused Conrad, while movie stunt man Ty Hardin has eyes for Miss Stevens.

Basketball player Jerry Van Dyke is cornered by a plain Jane Zeme North. The situations range from detergent in a swimming pool to a bratty little kid.

Of the actors and actresses, Conrad, Carole Cook, and Jack Weston come out on top.

Conrad, particularly in the last 30 minutes of the movie, is convincing as the rich boy without parental help when he needs it most. His last telephone call home, ironic as it may sound, is reminiscent of Shirley Booth's pleading call to mother in "Come Back Little Sheba."

Carole Cook, with the few biting lines she has been given, shows a vitality.

Taurog's direction and the fine cinematography by Harold Lipstein make the picture even more palatable.

The cast: Jim Munroe.....Troy Donahue Gail Lewis.....Connie Stevens Eric Dean.....Robert Conrad Stretch Fortune.....Ty Hardin Bunny Dixon.....Stefanie Powers Mrs. Yates.....Carole Cook Coach Campbell.....Jack Weston Chief Dixon.....Andrew Duggan Biff Roberts.....Jerry Van Dyke

The four-and-a-half year long commemoration of the Civil War seems to go endlessly on, but in reality is rapidly drawing to a close. In less than a year, the last battle of the war will be commemorated at Palmito Hill near Brownsville, a Grand Review and Heroes Day will be held in Washington, D. C., and thus will come to a close one of the longest centennial commemorations in history.

In the meantime, however, there are still dozens of events scheduled throughout both North and South calling attention to the various aspects of the war.

For example, several observances during the remaining portion of 1964 will be held in Georgia including the Battle of Atlanta, the seventh National Assembly of Civil War Centennial Commissions, the sixth National Assembly of Civil War Round Tables, and the Battle of Kennesaw Mountain.

All of these are due to take place during the summer months and will doubtless bring more Yankees to Georgia than anything since Sherman marched through the area on his way to the sea in 1864.

The national assembly of both the Civil War Centennial Commissions and the Round Tables is scheduled during the week or June 10-14 and a distinguished array of scholars and statesmen have been lined up for the five day program.

Featured speakers will be Sen. Ralph Yarborough of Texas, Governor Carl Sanders of Georgia, Mayor Ivan Allen, Jr., of Atlanta, and Chairman Allan Nevins of the National Civil War Centennial Commission.

Five panel discussions will feature such well known Civil War scholars and historians as Beverly M. Dubose, Jr., Allen P. Julian, Rembert W. Patrick, Spencer B. King, Jr., David C. Means, A. B. Moore, Norman Fitzgerald, Jr., Elaine V. Johnson, Ralph G. Newman, and others.

The annual conclave of Civil War Round Tables will join the National Assembly of Centennial Commissions for the third day's activities which will include a panel discussion revolving around the theme, "After the Centennial—What?" Participants will deal with such subjects as scholarly works remaining to be done, what the layman still wishes to read, contributions of a lasting nature that state commissions can make, and comments on how valuable the Centennial has been to the study of the Civil War.

A bus tour of Atlanta historical spots and a climatic banquet atop Stone Mountain, will be a fitting climax to the gathering.

Later this month, June 22-28, the Battle of Kennesaw Mountain will be commemorated with a parade and re-enactment and in September, the Battle of Atlanta will be the center of attention.

The Sons of Confederate Veterans will hold their annual National convention in Atlanta August 13-16.

With all the scheduled activity within the next few months Atlantans may once again feel as did their fathers and grandfathers when Union troops approached a hundred years ago.

Several Texans will be on hand for some of the gatherings, including our friend George W. Hill, executive director of the Texas Civil War Centennial Commission. George is president of the Southern States Civil War Centennial Conference and is just back from a meeting of that group in Miami, Florida. Others in attendance will include representatives of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and other groups from Texas.

The UDC will hold their annual national convention in Gulfport, Mississippi, and even the Sons of Union Veterans will come South for their annual convention. They will meet in Richmond, Va., and this will be the first time they have ever met anywhere outside the states of the North.

Recommended reading this week—The March of General William T. Sherman through Georgia and the Carolinas in late 1864 has been the subject of a number of studies since that time. The better of these are B. M. Liddel-Hart's "Sherman, Soldier, Realist, American," published by Frederick A. Praeger, and "Sherman's March Through the Carolinas" by John G. Barrett, published by the University of N. Carolina Press.

Each of these authors is a distinguished scholar and researcher and their work in these volumes is outstandingly good.

Two other "authors" who tell a good story are Corydon Edward Foote and Olive Dean Normel whose "story" is told in "With Sherman to the Sea," published by the John Day Company. The former was a drummer boy during the war and the latter is the writer who wrote down his reminiscences long after he had died.

Another recent publication of similar nature is the Naylor Company's "Father Wore Gray," a collection of accounts of the Civil War as told to the daughters of the men who fought for the Confederacy. The stories are unique in that they were all written by "real daughters" of the Confederacy Club of San Antonio. There are many references to Texans and Texas units to be found in this interesting collection.

And on the lighter side, we recommend Sylvia G. L. Dannett's "A Treasury of Civil War Humor," published by Thomas Yoseloff Co. This one is good for hours of entertaining reading and "looking" at the dozens of illustrations.

GRIFFINS VISIT

"Skip" Griffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Griffin of Boerne, was here last week to attend the graduation exercises. Misses Joan and Karen Griffin went home with him to visit.

Last Sunday, Johnny Griffin went to North Texas University to enroll in summer school.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Griffin went to Boerne where they met their son, Dan Griffin and family of Houston. Karen went to Houston with them. Joan stayed in Boerne, so Mr. and Mrs. Griffin are now all alone.

Sunday Night G. A. Coronation Held

"The Call of the Cross" was the theme of the Girls Auxiliary coronation at the First Baptist church last Sunday night.

The ceremony was very impressive with each of the girls taking the Forward Steps dressed in white against a green square background depicting the Cross and the G. A. monograms and theme above it. A table decorated with a large gold candle with seven smaller candles around it were lighted and one presented to each girl, was the center of attraction. Decorations were greenery with two golden mum arrangements.

Mrs. Kenneth Vaughan gave the charge to the girls, and Mrs. Jerrill Sanders asked the questions. Girls going forward as maidens were Janet Davis, Gay Lynn Richardson, Kathy Rutledge and Lynn Sanders.

Ladies in waiting were Janne Rountree, Sue Ann Morris and Eva Stigler.

Queen Regent Jacqueline Davis wearing a white formal with a complete GA monogram and her brown, and carrying a scepter, followed Marcella Vaughan who bore the Cape on a pillow. Intermediate Counselor Lois Wilson draped the beautiful green, satin cape, lined with white satin with a gold tassel at the neckline on the Queen's shoulders to complete her attire.

This is the highest award a GA girl has ever received in this church.

Special music was presented by a trio of three girls: Carolyn Wilson, Jan Wagley and Judy Davidson. Creola Phelps was organist and Judy Salee was trumpeter.

Christ Edmiston served as usher and James Larry Davis was candle lighter and announcer. Mrs. John Stigler and Mrs. Fred Watson were in charge of decorations.

Some 100 persons attended the service. Refreshments of lemonade and cookies were served in the recreation room after the service by the WMU social committee with Katherine Hill in charge.

Boy Scouts To Leave Sunday For Camp

Perry Don Free, assistant Scoutmaster, reports arrangements complete for about 14 local Boy Scouts to spend the coming week at Camp Fawcett, located below Rocksprings on the Nueces river near Barksdale.

The group of campers will go to Sonora Friday for their physical examinations.

They will meet Sunday morning at 8:30 north of the school to load their gear for the trip to camp. Following an interdenominational service conducted by the Ministerial Alliance of Eldorado, the troop will pull out and reach Camp Fawcett shortly before noon.

The campers will take sack lunches to serve as the noon meal, and following that they will spend the remainder of the day setting up their camp.

Ed Ball, district executive for the Winter Garden district, is camp director.

A week from tonight, on Thursday the 11th, parents' visiting night will be held. Parents, committeemen, and other local friends may arrive at Camp Fawcett any time after 4:00 p.m., and a barbecue supper will be served at 6:00.

Mr. Free reported this week that the following local Scouts were lined up to attend Camp Fawcett:

- Ronnie Free
David Nixon
Buddy Calk
Denny Phelps

RADIO COMMUNICATIONS proved vital in the hours immediately after the Alaska earthquake of March 27 because of the need to call for outside help despite the destruction of land lines and power systems. Ernie Hewett (left), Alaska state officer for the Radio Amateur Civil Emergency Service (RACES), used a civil defense radio in his car to help fill in the gap. He also directed other radio "hams" at the State Civil Defense command post in Anchorage (right) in setting up the first emergency communications net tying in military, civil defense and commercial radio facilities to get help where and when needed in a land of vast distances.

Austin.—Texas Restaurant Association, headquartered in Austin, is backing a proposal to legalize the sale of mixed drinks in Texas. Executive Vice President W. Price Jr., of the 2600-member organization, reports that a six-member committee of his group has drawn a bill for presentation. TRA's bill would authorize local option elections on the sale, by food establishments, of distilled spirits in sealed containers of two ounces or less. Also it would extend the liquor curfew until 2 a.m. Price said he has sounded out a number of legislators and found them enthusiastic. One of the most prominent members of the House of Representatives is expected to introduce the measure. Price, however, declined to name the sponsor. Repeated efforts to legalize over-the-bar sales of mixed drinks in Texas have collapsed in recent sessions of the Legislature under the combined weight of opposition by united dry forces and church groups. "This is not a wet-dry issue," said non-drinking ex-restauranteur Price. "Texans can buy anything they want to drink right now. All we are trying to do is make it convenient for a man who wants to have a drink served in a dignified manner at a nice restaurant to be able to get one."

Price, who also is secretary of the Texas Tourist Council, said he believes sale of mixed drinks "will definitely stimulate the tourist program in our state."

Furthermore, he estimated, the TRA bill would produce nearly $3 million a year in new tax revenue.

'Sky's The Limit'

Legislative Budget Board members heard a warning from their executive director, Vernon McGee, that "the sky seems to be the limit" on state agency spending requests for 1965-67.

As an example, McGee cited budget proposals of the state hospital system and institutions of higher education.

He also noted the legislative committee of the State Bar of Texas judicial section has proposed big pay boosts—of $12,000 a year—for judges. Under the Bar Committee's plan, base salaries of district judges would be doubled—from $12,000 to $24,000 a year. Court of Civil Appeals judges would be raised from $16,000 to $28,000, and the Supreme Court and Court of Criminal Appeals from $20,000 to $32,000.

Some civil appeals judges had requested no raises at all until the committee report came out, McGee said. But amended budget requests now are being received and the $12,000 raises supported in budget hearings now under way.

Rump Delegation Threatened

Threat of a rump liberal delegation to the national democratic convention was posed by State AFL-CIO President H. S. (Hank) Brown.

Brown said a sure way to prevent that is for all legally-elected delegates to be seated at the state democratic convention at Houston on June 16 and for the convention to embrace the national party platform and all party nominees.

Gov. Connally said moderate-conservative delegates will comprise two-thirds of the duly elected representatives at the June meeting, and he does not want resolutions endorsing all planks of the national platform.

State Democratic Executive Committee Chairman Frank C. Erwin Jr. has named Austin attorney Will D. Davis as head of a SDEC panel to hear delegation contests from Bexar, Dallas, Harris, Hutchinson, Edwards, Randall and Sherman counties. SDEC will make the final decision as to which delegations to seat. The eight contests involve 819 of the Houston convention's 2,834 votes.

The Houston convention will name delegates to the democratic national presidential nominating convention and select Texas national committee representatives. Texas Democrats are united in support of President Johnson this year. Key issue is whether the convention will support the national platform and agree to support all party nominees.

President Honored

President Lyndon B. Johnson returned to Austin and Johnson City to address commencement ceremonies, talk politics and visit with friends.

In his fourth trip to his home state since becoming president, Johnson addressed graduates of Johnson High School in Johnson City, where he graduated 40 years earlier, and the University of Texas. Both the President and Mrs. Johnson received an honorary degree from UT.

The biggest gathering of state officials and lawmakers in the capital city since the last legislative session turned out to hear the President's university speech and visit him at a reception afterward.

Courts Speak

Sunday closing laws specifically authorize emergency purchases, Supreme Court held in a Nueces County case. Case involved weekend sales by Shoppers World on emergency certificates.

Decision did not pass on constitutionality of the 1961 closing statute, although one judge said in a concurring opinion the whole act should be declared invalid.

The high court also concluded oil and gas production formulas adopted by the Texas Railroad Commission are subject only to timely attacks in court. Its opinion apparently continues some 2,000 allocated formulas placed in doubt by its 1961 "Normanna" decision. The court overturned lower court rulings invalidating Calhoun County gas field allocation. Aluminum Company of America claimed small track operators were permitted to drain away $9 million worth of gas from an Alcoa lease.

Texas Water Commission findings authorizing the City of Wichita Falls to build $12.5 million "Halsell Dam" on Little Wichita River were upheld by the Third Court of Civil Appeals. Commission affirmed a Travis County District court ruling of last June. Suit was brought by landowners in the proposed reservoir area, who claimed the dam should be constructed 27.7 miles from Wichita Falls instead of 11 miles from the city as planned.

Supreme Court agreed to review cases where courts of civil appeals ruled paying traffic fines in corporation court does not constitute a conviction which can be counted toward drivers license suspension.

Oil Imports Changes Urged

Gov. John Connally and state railroad commissioners have called on U. S. Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall to revise the oil imports program before the next quota period starting July 1.

The particularly recommended oil from the Texas region of surplus be moved to the West Coast where foreign oil continues to fill almost total market growth. Connally said deterioration in Texas crude prices and production drop-off "threaten to erase the slight progress of 1963 and assure a third consecutive year of decline in the state's reserves and productive capacity." The domestic producing industry, he said, must continue to grow in proportion to total imports under a stabilized price structure.

Cotton Export Pushed

On request of West Texas growers, the governor called on President Johnson to encourage favorable consideration of an export sales program for extra long staple cotton. The plan now is under consideration by the Department of Agriculture.

Growers are faced with a surplus threatening price and acreage reductions. Supima Association advised Governor Connally there is a world demand for extra long staple cotton and this is an opportunity to dispose of stocks owned by Commodity Credit Corporation.

'Backtagging' Picks Up

The system of certifying for brucellosis eradication by vaccinating cows and culls as they go through livestock markets, called "backtagging," is catching on fast, according to Federal and State animal health authorities.

U. S. Department of Agriculture says that reports on 2,104 head of backtagged cattle were received from more than 20 slaughter houses in April.

Follow-ups on the backtagged cattle, in addition to samples taken from 2,905 other cattle slaughtered last month, produced 205 reactors.

Drop-Outs and Stay-Ins

Top brass of the Texas Education Agency heard the initial report on progress in the agency's "Stay in School Project," aimed at reversing the rising tide of public school drop-outs.

Agency consultants reported on what they have accomplished since March when the SIS pilot project started. Commissioner of Education J. W. Edgar termed it an impressive start.

The study, and local efforts to implement it and deal with the drop-out problem, will continue and ultimately will become a statewide effort.

DECORATE FUDGE to make "flags" in celebration of the Glorious Fourth. Make chocolate crinkle cups by melting 6 squares semi-sweet chocolate with 2 tablespoons butter; stir. Using a teaspoon, swirl the chocolate all around the inside of 10 large paper baking cups. Place in muffin pans. Chill. To make the decorations melt 1-1/2 squares semi-sweet chocolate; stir and cool to about 83°, then dip small end of 10 pineapple wedges into chocolate. Let stand on wax paper until firm. Insert wooden pick through candied cherry and into plain end of pineapple. Ten minutes before serving, fill cups with scoops of ice cream. Place in freezer ten minutes. Peel off paper. Top ice cream with fruit-picks.

CHOCOLATE CRÈME FUDGE

- 8 squares (1 package) Baker's Semi-Sweet Chocolate
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 2/3 cup chopped walnuts
- 1-1/2 cups sugar
- 1/4 cup marshmallow cream
- 1/2 cup evaporated milk

Break the chocolate squares in half. Place in a bowl with nuts, marshmallow cream, butter, and vanilla.

Combine sugar and evaporated milk in saucepan. Bring to a boil over low heat, stirring occasionally. Continue boiling, without stirring, until a small amount of mixture will form a very soft ball in cold water (or to a temperature of 232°). Immediately pour over ingredients in bowl. Stir until chocolate is melted and all ingredients are evenly mixed. Pour into buttered 8-inch square pan. Cool until set; then cut into pieces or rectangles. Makes about 1-3/4 pounds.

Note: Fudge should be stored in the refrigerator.
