Harding And Foy To Speak Here Oct. 26 At Democratic Rally

Monday, October 26th, is the date to circle on your calendar. Two well-known speakers and a host of guests from neighboring counties will be present at the Memorial Building when Schleicher County Democrats sponsor a district-wide Democratic Rally.

The Honorable Forrest Harding, State Representative, is most often associated with the passage of the bill making San Angelo College a four-year college. He represents the 92nd Legislative District in the Texas House of Representatives and has served on many important committees in the House.

Joe Foy, prominent San Angelo attorney, needs no introduction in Schleicher county, as he is a well-known and popular figure here.

The rally will start at 7:30 p.m. and will be followed by a reception so that everyone may have an opportunity to meet the speakers. Refreshments will be served, and all Democrats are urged to attend. Anyone interested in facts rather than rumors concerning the coming election is invited to be present, it was stated by local promoters.

Whitten Promoted

JACOB (Judge) WHITTEN

Portland, Ore.—Jacob A. Whitten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chandler M. Whitten of Eldorado, Tex., has been promoted to airman first class in the U. S. Air Force at Portland (Ore.) International Airport.

Airman Whitten is a photographic equipment repairman in a unit that supports the Air Defense Command mission of defending the continental U. S. against enemy air attack.

The airman, a graduate of Eldorado High School, entered the Air Force in 1962. He is married to the former Helen D. Hensley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Hensley of Sonora, Tex.

Mrs. Kreklow, County H. D. Agent, Will Receive Top Agent's Award

College Station.—Mrs. Vida M. Kreklow, Schleicher county home demonstration agent at Eldorado since 1955, today was among four Texans named to receive the Distinguished Service Award for 1964—top recognition given by the National Home Demonstration Agents Association.

Award winners also include Mrs. Dorothy Marsh, Beaumont, Jefferson county home agent; Loreta Allen, Abilene, Taylor county;

With less than three weeks remaining until the General Election on Nov. 3rd, the political situation here is becoming more active.

The "Conservatives For Goldwater" opened offices in the old Wiedenmann clinic building next door to Ed Meador's office Monday morning for distribution of campaign literature, buttons, bumper strips, etc. The office will be open from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. between now and the election day.

Democrats for Johnson have announced a rally to be held the evening of the 26th with Joe Foy and Forrest Harding as speakers. An office for Johnson, too, may be opened in the Eldorado business district.

Absentee voting started Wednesday morning in the office of County Clerk J. P. Enochs, and will continue through Friday, Oct. 30th.

Bumper strips on cars, posters in windows, and people wearing Johnson and Goldwater buttons on their shirt pockets, are all part of the current political campaign.

The local fund drive for the Concho Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America was kicked off with a breakfast last Saturday morning at the West Texas Cafe, and is being continued through this week.

A Cub Scout display has been placed in the show window of Eldorado Drug, while the show window at the West Texas Utilities office is carrying out the Boy Scout theme. Both windows display craft-work and posters and other items pertaining to Scouting.

It's tax-paying time again! Statements for City, School, and State-County taxes went into the mails recently and those agencies remind citizens that 3% discount is allowed if payment is made in October.

People moving: E. L. Tyler to Mrs. Gannaway's house; Norman Cash, to his new house in Sunset Acres.

County Judge W. R. Bearce this week received the following letter from W. R. Bauman of the Llano County Historical Society in regard to dedication of a historical marker:

"Dear Judge Bearce, Next Sunday at 3:00 p.m. October 18, 1964, about one mile south of Kingsland across the Colorado River and the turnout on RM 1431 we are dedicating the Fisher-Miller Historical Marker.

"This is marking the apex of the Fisher-Miller Land Grant of 1842. The original boundary begins at the confluence of the Colorado and Llano Rivers extending North and West for some 3,800,000 acres. This includes the land areas now embracing most of Concho,

The ladies in the Firemen's Auxiliary accompanied their men folks to Junction Saturday for the Hill Country Firemen's semi-annual convention and the Eldorado gals won first place in the ladies hose race. In the meantime the Eldorado men came in second in their race.

Ever since they came back, the ladies have all been correcting this editor for his statement last week that they "were nearly as good as the men." They now cockily maintain that they are BETTER than their trifling husbands.

Can anybody dispute it?

As of this time Sonora, Ozona and Big Lake are undefeated in District 8A football.

Our football reporter, Peyton Cain, says that when a team plays on its home ground it is considered as being good for 6 points.

I just happened to notice the Sonora Bronco schedule:

On October 2 Rankin played AT Sonora.
October 16, Eldorado plays AT Sonora.
October 30, Ozona AT Sonora.
Nov. 13, 13, Big Lake AT Sonora.

This writer saw the Rankin game at Sonora and felt that it pretty well proved Peyton's theory about the 6 points.

Sonora got the ball and barreled over for a touchdown in the first few minutes of play. Before the end of the first half they got two more TD's but Rankin also got one.

In the second half Rankin got another touchdown and held the Broncos scoreless! Apparently Rankin was getting stronger and more confident after they got over their early-game stage fright on a strange field.

Our unsolicited advice to the Eagles for tomorrow night: Get in some hard licks in the first two minutes of play!

Terry Phelps Elected To House Council at Baylor

Teresa (Terry) Phelps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Phelps and a Sophomore at Baylor University, has been elected to House Council at Allen Hall, the dormitory where she lives, to serve as program chairman. This office makes her a representative to the Woman's Student Government at Baylor U.

Underdog Eagles Leaving For District Game at Sonora Friday

Pickers Needed For Short Cotton Crop

Schleicher county's short cotton crop continues to move slowly to the gin here in Eldorado. The gin is still operating only during the afternoons and with a short crew. Clear weather during the past ten days has moved gin output up from 10 bales to about 20 bales a day. "Our best day so far was 28 bales," remarked George Mikeska on Tuesday.

While at the gin, a trailer load with three bales came in from the Ray Bruton farm. The driver said they had a dozen hands gathering irrigated cotton, but they needed many more. He said they expected to have 35 or 40 hands in the field there next week—if they could find them.

Mikeska also mentioned that a number of farmers are looking for pickers this week.

The Sonora Broncos whom the Eldorado Eagles meet tomorrow night in Sonora are literally running as District 8A "Darkhorses" and they stubbornly hold to their place in the current three-way tie for the top spot in turbulent district play. Holding the limelight is Big Lake, fourth ranked Class A team in Texas with Ozona ranked number 10.

The Eagles make the trip Friday to resume 8A relations with the Broncos after the Broncos dropped from a two-year stint in Class AA, Soonra's enrollment having decreased somewhat during the two-year period.

The Eagles will take the field tomorrow night in the role of "under birds" although Bronco Coaches would rather be snake bit than accept the designation. Their offensive posture is that of "winged T" behind a heavy and well balanced line, strongest to the left or weak side away from the wing back. Stellar back include Quarterback Bill Elliott, Eddie Howell, and 131-pound Jerry Shurley who delivered the touchdown that defeated the Sanderson Eagles last Friday night.

Their defensive posture possibly could be described as a 5-3-2-1, or as a 6-2-2-1 with Number 80, Roy Glasscock, as their roving defender, keyed to a best opposition ground gainer. This gives their defense an over-shifted appearance but it has proved potent to date.

Bronc starting lineup will probably be as follows:

No.	Name	Pos.	Wt.
83	Roy Glasscock	LE	150
70	Maxie Delrie	LT	185
63	Pat Brown	LG	150
50	Joe Moore	C	151
61	Brent Johnson	RG	162
71	Carl Teaff	RT	165
83	Mike St. Clair	RE	165
40	Eddie Howell	LHB	163
31	Ben Perez	RHB	141
30	David Fields	FB	165
10	Bill Elliott	QB	161

The Eagles, smarting from their 37-14 spanking by the Owls of Big Lake, although underdogs (birds), will be in a most competitive frame of mind. Their starting lineup will probably see Richard Jones and Captain Richard Preston at ends, Captain Mike McCravey and Joe Phillips at tackles, Steve Blaylock and Jim Belk at guards, Captain Bobby Halbert at center, Ronnie Griffin and Monte Montgomery at halfbacks, Sam Henderson at fullback, and Danny Halbert at Quarterback although Scott McGreaver who has been nursing a severe and persistent "charlie horse" may enter from time to time.

Something to watch will be how successful Sonora's gigantic Ortuero Sanchez who weighs 290 lbs. will be as he will play immediately in front of Eagle offensive center, Captain Bobby Halbert. It is not too far fetched to say that Captain will sorta have "heavy, heavy" hanging over his head.

It will be a good night for a thermos bottle of coffee or chocolate, something to blunt the sharp edge of the seats, and possibly an aspirin or so, as for excitement, nobody will need a shot of adrenaline.

Watson Back from Meeting In Dallas

At least half the beds in the children's hospitals of America are occupied by birth defect victims, Fred Watson reported recently. He made this statement upon returning from a meeting of volunteer leaders in Dallas to plan the 1965 March of Dimes against birth defects.

The Foundation leader pointed out that since the entrance of the March of Dimes organization into the largely neglected field of birth defects in 1958, significant forward strides have been taken in both research and treatment.

He cited the financing by the March of Dimes of 50 treatment centers where birth defect children can, in one medical institution, receive the attention of up to a dozen specialists, trained to detect and treat the multiple problems common to birth defects.

The March of Dimes drive will be held here and elsewhere, in January.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by Tiny Godwin

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

November 5th should be marked on the calendar by all sportsmen, businessmen and ranchers.

Bill Works, local game warden, is arranging a program for all, that will be interesting, entertaining and very informative.

Mr. Jack Thomas, research biologist of the Texas Wildlife Service, will have charge of the program. The program will bring well known facts, that exist and are practical in Schleicher county.

The Chamber of Commerce, the Natural Resource Committee, are being assisted by the Texas Wildlife Life Service and the Extension Service.

Remember the date, November 5th, 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the Memorial Building.

While others may side track your ambitions not a few times, remember that discouragement most frequently comes from within.

Those pressurized cans found lying around home and in the shop are potential bombs and the hazards involved should be recognized.

Heat is the greatest danger involved. Cans placed in an incinerator or a trash fire, though completely empty of the paint, hair spray or insecticides they once contained, will explode with great force and cause injury if a person is in range or the flying metal.

Keep all pressurized containers away from sunlight, stoves and other areas of high heat. Any heat over 100 degrees will create a hazard.

If no other safe method of disposal is available, the cans may be buried.

With cotton harvest well on the way, farmers should take measures to reduce or prevent winter carryover of pink bollworms and boll weevils. Stalk destruction should be done immediately after harvest. Stalk destruction is recommended in this county and the residue plowed under.

Walter Pope, former county commissioner, was elected as Soil Conservation District Supervisor at a special called election on Oct. 6th. Mr. Pope will finish the unexpired term of the late Mr. J. F. Runge of zone 5 which includes all landowners from the old Fort McKavett road east of Eldorado and the San Angelo highway to the county line.

B. J. Ragsdale, range conservationist of the Extension Service, gave the group a program on rotational deferred grazing. Statistics show that if a rancher can graze and follow such a practice that more beef, lamb, wool and mohair can be produced. By this method of operation stock are taken, say in a 4 pasture rotation, the stock placed in three pastures, the 4th resting 3 months. At the end of three months stock are rotated to other pastures and the deferred pasture is in use and deferment is started on another pasture.

The end result is that all pastures have received three months deferment during the year. At the end of four years all pastures have received one year's rest. All 12 months have been used, each pasture being deferred at a different 3 months of the year. Why this? Because this gives warm season winter season plants, or plants that grow in the winter, those that grow in the spring, those that grow in the summer and those that grow in the fall a chance to develop a root system and reseed.

To work deferred rotation the rancher should also remember these points: Balance the pasture with the kinds of livestock, sheep, goats, cattle, with the forage present on the pasture. By doing this the rancher is giving each plant, grass or foliage a chance to grow and reproduce under maximum conditions taking advantage of dry seasons as well as wet seasons for maximum production.

This research is being conducted within easy travel time of all ranchers in the county, at Barnhart and Sonora.

October 16, a field day, is being conducted at the Barnhart station under sponsorship of the Texas Range Society.

Two and 4 pasture rotation systems will be toured and compared to equal stocking rates under a 12 months grazing plan. Figures such as cost, calf crop, percentage lamb crop, and pounds of wool, mohair, beef and lamb produced.

A barbecue will be served by the Ozona National Bank. "Research to Practice" will be the theme of this year's field studies.

Please call Bill Rountree or the county agent's office should you desire to attend this tour.

This request is being made by the barbecue committee of the Ozona National Bank, who will serve lunch.

Do more than talk, say something.

Medicare and a few other welfare-state measures were blocked by the House last week in a last-minute show of independence before the 88th Congress came to a sputtering halt.

The Senate had okayed the socialized medicine scheme, but the House turned thumbs down on it. The Senate had put its blessing on a $1 billion welfare measure for Appalachia—a few states that were to be specially favored by federal handouts. But the House renegeed on that one: In fact, on that bill the House leadership, after counting noses, wouldn't risk a show-down vote on it. A third welfare bonanza, to extend so-called Area Redevelopment, was blocked in the House after passing the Senate.

But the House record is nothing to write home about. It approved the $1 billion so-called anti-poverty bill, the granddaddy of all welfare measures. It went along with a $400-million food stamp for the needy measure, and a few others. It also favored the massive Mass

Transportation bill for the benefit of the big cities, costing billions of dollars. And it went along with a mammoth Housing measure.

All in all, this has been essentially a Welfare State Congress. Certainly more so than any other in the past. And it has been a free spender. By voting to initiate a batch of new expensive welfare schemes this Congress upped the cost of government for years to come. Because every year these new programs get bigger and bigger.

It granted federal pay increases for the second year in a row. This session increased the public debt ceiling to $324 billion—the highest in history, and continued the annual habit of spending several billion dollars more than was taken in.

This Congress refused to trim foreign aid, approved a so-called civil rights bill and a couple of farm measures which left much to be desired, and okayed an expensive manpower retraining program.

A glaring failure of this session was the Senate's refusal to approve a House-passed measure to curtail the Supreme Court on re-appointment of state legislatures. Instead, the Senate in effect commended the Court for what it had done in forcing both branches of state legislatures to be appointed on a basis of population alone.

But it could have been worse. The House did succeed in blocking new programs which would have cost several billion more. If the Congress had adjourned last July, as it should have, this country would be several billion dollars better off.

Argument over poverty goes on and on. Indeed there has been a war against poverty ever since the Republic was established.

Only recently has the poverty label been applied to all family men who make less than $3,000 a year, and the Government has taken over the chief role of ending poverty.

In the past Government has played a secondary part in this war. Heretofore the chief weapons against poverty have been a free and unregulated society, featuring our competitive, free enterprise system, as a means of uplifting people in their efforts to help themselves in the quest for the better life.

That is to say, Government traditionally has been most effective in this war by encouraging incentives, thereby helping to create more jobs, within the framework of free enterprise.

Here's an example of how Government can stifle business, interfere with incentives, and promote failure and reduced income of those who strive to get ahead, create new jobs, and make ends meet.

A Ballinger small businessman, by working hard and making use of family labor and ingenuity, managed to get ahead, pay taxes, create a few new jobs for people, and enjoy a small net profit.

Then, recently, a Labor Department Wage and Hour inspector came to town. He bluntly told the businessman he was violating the Federal law in many respects. A 14-year-old boy, a part-time employee, was being paid $4 a day to sweep out, clean up and do odd jobs. This kindled the boy's ambition, gave him a little spending money, taught him how to use his talents, and it kept him off the streets while his parents were working. This, ruled the G-man, was "hazardous", and the boy had to be fired.

The owner's son, 25, married and with two children, helped run the business, received a weekly wage. But the G-man ruled that was illegal—that he had to be paid on an hourly rate, with overtime.

The businessman's father-in-law, a disabled social security annuitant, had been in the habit of drop-

Home Demonstration
Agent's Column
By MRS. VIDA KREKLOW

I wish you would do something for me: please. Will you think up a fast name for this fast dessert recipe which Mildred Stanford brought back from Houston last week. The only faster dish which I can think of would be to open a can of peaches with an electric can opener and serve them plain.

—Dessert—

Four one number 3 can of pineapple into a greased baking pan.

Shake a box of yellow cake mix on top of pineapple.

Dribble one stick of oleo (melted) over cake mix.

Bake for 45 minutes in a 350 F. oven.

Sounds good and it is good.

The average family buys a new washing machine once in every 12 to 14 years. If it will soon be your year to buy you should first or second consider these facts which are of tremendous importance when

Shopping For a Washing Machine

Your special circumstances and family needs may decide whether you buy an automatic or a non-automatic machine. Whichever type you choose, check these points, say household equipment specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Water Needed— This can be important, especially if your water supply (hot or cold) is expensive or limited.

Capacity— Manufacturers describe washers as having a certain capacity in pounds of dry clothes. Most wash better with 3 or so pounds less than capacity. And remember that bulk counts as much as weight; some materials weigh less than others but take up as much space.

General Workmanship— Washer should be sturdy, the parts that come in contact with clothes should be rustproof, and tub and motor should be mounted on rubber or springs to lessen vibration and noise.

Tub Materials— Porcelain enameled steel is most common and quite satisfactory. Aluminum, stainless steel, and nickel-copper are more expensive.

Outside Finishes— Most are synthetic enamel on sheet metal. Porcelain enameled steel is more durable but more expensive.

Motors— These should be shielded from water, grounded, insulated from metal parts, and have a sealed-in lubricant that provides permanent oiling.

Responsibility of the manufacturer— Read the warranty carefully so that you will know what responsibility the manufacturer takes for repairs and replacements. Buy the product of a manufacturer represented by a reliable service organization convenient for your use.

Underwriters' approval seal— It means that the washer has fulfilled Underwriters' Laboratories specifications for electrical safety, materials, and workmanship.

Disposal System— If you have a home disposal system (in contrast to a city sewer connection), be certain that it will accommodate the quantity of water from the type washer you plan to buy, as you intend to use it.

If you need closet space to store summer clothes that you simply can't have why not consider this plan. Wash and don't iron clothes which can be treated this way. Put them in a metal garbage can with a tight fitting lid. Nothing can harm the clothes — and who can buy a closet for around $3.98?

So now we have—

Instant strawberries. Yes, actually still in the experimental stage but we have raspberry, blackberry, and boysenberry powders on the way. They puree the berry, whip the puree into a foam, dry the foam with warm air and crumble it into a flaky powder between warm rollers.

And—Brown sugar that pours and doesn't stick together in a block.

And—Chocolate syrup in an aerosol can and now you can have your own private soda fountain.

And a way to restore dented ping-pong balls. Dip them quickly into boiling water. The balls will return to their original shape and may be used again.

Young Homemakers Held Meeting Recently

The Young Homemakers Home Demonstration Club met Oct. 8th in the home of Mrs. Jerry Jones. Mrs. Jimmy Doyle presided over a short business meeting. Mrs. Doyle also gave a very interesting report of the recent state meeting, to which she was a delegate.

Gifts to be made for the McKnight Hospital were discussed and all club members were urged to make something to be sent. Plans for a Christmas party to be held in December were discussed.

County Home Demonstration agent Vida Kreklow gave the program on things to make for the home, and showed how to treat a picture so as to give it a very old effect. Several visitors were present, along with a big representation of the club members. The thought for the month is "Three things to practice, cheerfulness, good will, and kindness." —Rep.

Local Woman's Father Buried At Christoval

Charles Hannum, 75, retired stockfarmer, and father of Mrs. Curtis Short of Eldorado, died Friday morning in a Brady nursing home after a long illness.

Born in San Angelo, February 2, 1889, he was a lifelong resident of Tom Green county.

Funeral services were held at 3:00 p.m., Saturday in the First Methodist church in Christoval with burial in Christoval cemetery directed by a Brady funeral home.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Curtis Short of Eldorado and Mrs. Rollie Parker of Brady; two sons, Jake Hannum of Jasper, Ark. and David Hannum of Grants, N. M.; six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Longer Window Hours Set At P.O. Christmas

Longer post office window hours, expanded delivery services and large-scale extension of the ZIP-coded parcel post speedup are planned for Christmas, Postmaster General John A. Gronouski has advised the local Postmaster, Mr. B. E. Carr.

Mr. Gronouski outlined to the Eldorado postal head, three major new steps he has taken "for the best Christmas mail service the Postal Service has ever had."

1. Expanded post office window hours December 5th to 26th as deemed necessary by the local postmaster.

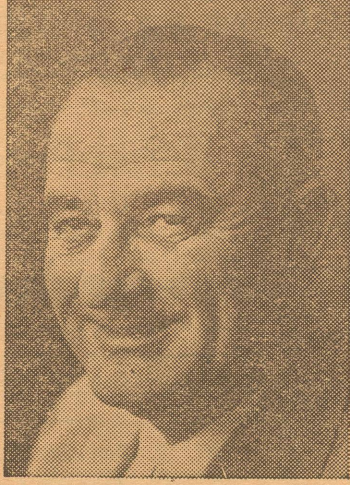

2. A six-day week from December 7 through 31st for parcel post deliveries, in cities that have city delivery, instead of a five-day week.

3. Completion by November 1 of Phase III of ZIP Code parcel handling at about 130 more "sectional center" post offices (strategically located mail massing points), providing faster ZIP Code sorting and dispatch by September 1. The 130 in Phase III includes offices with receipts of $1 to $5 million.

In addition, many other sectional center offices with smaller receipts will have the program in operation by early December, in time to help speed delivery of Christmas gifts mailed with the ZIP Code.

San Angelo is a sectional center-office and its functions are in full swing. Since Eldorado is a satellite office of San Angelo, this means your ZIP Coded mail is operating under the ZIP Code system. This eliminates extra handling, giving faster service of your mail.

Please remember to ALWAYS use your own ZIP Code number in your return address and the ZIP Code number of the person to whom you are sending mail. Christmas is drawing near and we will not have time to help you with your ZIP Code then; mail that is

Eagles Defeated By Big Lake Owls, 37-14

"Back in the old days" The Old Professor of Football would have finished his Monday morning session with the various coaches over the country; and when he reached "savage" District 8A, he would have paused and pushed his glasses, usually perched near the end of his nose, up over his eyes and said something like this:

"Coach George, you proved that you are an apt pupil with your tactics and strategy in defeating the Eldorado Eagles last Friday night. First, you had the forethought to secure a weight and age advantage and then you took your big fullback and soon had the Eagles hypnotized in their efforts to stop him. All you had to do then was have your quarter back use his 'belly series' and your entire offense clicked."

"However, you should do something about your boys and their confidence which was badly shaken when Coach Earl Barnett's boys just up and scored on you twice in spite of all you could do to stop those diminutive Eagle backs. In a game where you meet somebody more nearly your equal, such a period of confusion can lead to your ruin. And, one other thing, Coach George, I wouldn't depend always on getting three such 'breaks' as you got Friday night. Otherwise, you and your boys get an A-minus for the game. Class dismissed."

That is really about the way it went. Game statistics show that Big Lake enjoyed a marked advantage only in first downs, due of course, to Big Don Childs.

Eldorado	Big Lake
8 First downs	20
198 Yards rushing	285
125 Yards passing	75
323 Total yards	360
2of2 Passes att. & compl.	8of17
0 Passes intercepted	0
0 Fumbles lost	0
3for15 Pen. & yds.	1for5
4for40 Punts & av.	2for25

Final score: Big Lake 37, to the Eagles 14.

The Owls don't have as good a fullback in Don Childs as they had in the 1962 model, Franklin; but Childs is possibly as good as Luxton was in 1963. Childs made the Owl offense go as he ground out four, five, and six yards inexorably and repeatedly until the battered Eagles couldn't get their minds off him; and then the Owl Quarterback had things as he wanted them. He could smash Childs up the middle, slash him off the Eagle tackles, and then fake him in these motions and run himself or call on Tommy Love for good gains to either side of the Eagles and their "Childs-centered" defense. Even then, Childs broke loose only once for a long gain through the Eagle line, this late in the fourth quarter.

Compliments are really in order for the Eagles who though out-manned scored twice on the Owls and held the score as low as they did. Quarterback Danny Halbert demonstrated Owl vulnerability with his passing and 140-pound Monte Montgomery showed he could catch for a touchdown or ram over some six or eight yards if necessary.

Eagle defenders traded bruises for low yardage but the "heavy, heavy" hanging over their heads was too much.

Always any set of hometown fans grumble about the unsavory ancestry of game officials, their myopic vision, their obviously low IQ's, and their questionable motives. Friday night was no exception as officials' decisions cost the Eagles dearly. For example:

Early in the first quarter, Eagle Richard Preston was about to catch a Danny Halbert missile on/about Big Lake's 10-yard line. Preston was knocked or blocked down by one or two defenders in what some people thought was a bad case of pass interference. It was not called and Eldorado lost the ball on downs. Had the penalty been called, the Eagles almost certainly would have scored first in the game. Peculiar fact is that the Owls did not touch Preston again in their defensive efforts. But the omission almost certainly cost the Eagles.

Less than two minutes later, an Eagle defender in a desperate effort to prevent a long Owl pass completion was penalized for interference. And this was on the Eagle three yard line from where Childs scored easily for Big Lake's first touchdown. The Eagle defender was possibly but not obviously guilty of pass interference. But it cost the Eagles a touchdown.

Then with Big Lake again on the Eagle three-yard line, and with several downs against them, an Owl lineman raised up and began his charge to block before an Owl back moved a muscle. A thousand eyes expected an offside penalty but it never came. Childs scored. Five yards back and he might not have.

Conclusions are that these breaks cost the Eagles possibly three touchdowns. Conclusions also are that the Eagles were out-manned and that as distasteful as the "bitter cup of defeat" is, Eagle spirit and never flagging resistance should sweeten this defeat in the eyes of their fans.

They face a rough contest this Friday night against a clever and heavier foe.

General Telephone To Erect Building

(Special To The Success)

Eldorado will have a new central office building and new central office equipment which will replace the present building and facilities in service since 1948, according to R. R. McCullough, the district manager for General Telephone Company of the Southwest.

Construction of the new building is scheduled to begin late this year, while installation of the new central office equipment is scheduled during the last half of 1965. The new building will be adjacent to the present building which will eventually be removed.

The new building, designed for expected future needs, will be 37 x 37 feet and will be of masonry construction. It will be heated and air conditioned to eliminate as much dust as possible from the air and protect the intricate equipment, McCullough stated.

The new equipment will be the most modern available and will eventually permit cutting Eldorado into the Direct Distance Dialing network which makes it possible for customers to dial their own long distance calls.

When the new equipment is cut into service all telephone numbers in Eldorado will become seven-digit numbers to conform with the nationwide seven-digit numbering plan.

The normal life of central office equipment is 20 or more years, McCullough pointed out, but Eldorado facilities are being changed out in advance of the usual time in order to make Direct Distance Dialing available at an earlier date than would be possible otherwise.

More details about the construction program will be issued as progress is made on Eldorado's construction and expansion program designed to improve telephone service, McCullough stated.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Meador were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Benton in Van Horn.

The Kimble-Menard County singing convention will meet Sunday, Oct. 18, at the Junction Pentecostal church at 2:00 p.m., according to recent announcement from Mrs. Allen Davis, secretary.

Letters to the Paper

I have been a Cattleman

for many years but during all these years of producing cattle, I have never been so alarmed about the Texas cattle raisers as I am at the present time; we have the most serious situation that has ever faced the American cattle man.

The cattle industry is the second largest industry in Texas. Higher costs of production, higher land prices, higher labor costs and overproduction plague the industry. At the same time, however, beef imports from Australia and New Zealand have been increasing and creating a surplus on the domestic market that continues to depress cattle prices. It looks as if cattlemen must go out of business or go bankrupt.

Texas cannot afford a sick cattle industry!

Last year foreign beef imports reached about 2 billion pounds. That is over 50 pounds of Australian and New Zealand beef for a family of five in 1964.

Here in Texas we tolerate these drastically low cattle prices so Australian cattlemen half way around the world won't be "embarrassed". The present administration has turned its back on American cattlemen in favor of foreign cattlemen.

Again, I emphasize "Beef Imports are Destroying the Texas Cattle Industry."

—Jess Koy

Every parent knows

that bribery is not a sound policy to use with children—but it works—for awhile. Junior will eat his spinach twice as fast with the promise of a piece of candy, and the voters will rush to the polls to affirm the candidate who promises the most hand-outs.

Bribery makes brats out of children and weaklings out of nations. Too weak to resist "something for nothing," at the expense of a multi-billion dollar national debt that our children will have to pay. Too weak to go ahead and win the Cold War in which the price of American boys' lives is too expensive to account. Too weak to keep from using bribery ourselves on foreign countries whose friendship we attempt to buy, but whose loyalty is withheld in the fashion of the brat who holds out for even more candy.

Barry Goldwater will not bribe the American people at the ultimate cost of federal bankruptcy and "nothing for anyone." He has said, "We seek a strong America because only a strong nation can keep the peace." He will demand loyalty in exchange for the help we advance other countries.

For the sake of our sons and daughters, our country, and our freedom, vote for Barry Goldwater November 3.

—Mrs. Duncan Wilson

Readers of this column are familiar with the fact that 1964 marks the first time that a Texan has been nominated by a major political party for the office of President of the United States. Not so familiar, perhaps, is the story of how another Texan might very easily have been elected to that office had he chosen to become a candidate, and, if his supporters were correct, might have prevented the Civil War. That Texan was Sam Houston.

It is a matter of historical record that the hero of San Jacinto's name was mentioned quite prominently as a presidential candidate during the preliminaries leading up to the election of 1860. Here's how it all came about:

The name of Houston, who was governor of Texas at the time, was first mentioned as a possible candidate on April 21, 1860, the 24th anniversary of the Battle of San Jacinto, when a group of supporters met at San Jacinto battlefield and called for the nomination of the Texas hero.

They declared that Houston was "the only man who had the ability and courage . . . to calm the troubled waters and arrest the fell spirits of disunion and fanaticism that now threaten the destruction of the government."

Taking their cue from the San Jacinto meeting, the Texas delegates attending the convention of the Constitutional Unionist party in Baltimore submitted the name of Sam Houston as a candidate, but the nomination went to John Bell of Tennessee on the second ballot. Dissatisfaction with the choice was voiced aloud and many of the delegates bolted that meeting.

Abraham Lincoln had been chosen as the Republican party candidate and the Democratic convention, meeting in Charleston, S.C., had elected to support the pro-northern wing's candidate, Stephen A. Douglas as the Democratic candidate. The Texas delegates to that convention, along with pro-southern delegates, refused to support Douglas and bolted that convention.

A few weeks later, the bolters from both the Democratic and Constitutional Union conventions held their own convention and nominated the then vice president of the United States, John C. Breckenridge of Kentucky, as their candidate for President.

It was hoped that demonstrations such as one held early in May, 1860, prior to the convention of the two party bolters, would induce the fourth party to nominate Houston for President. The demonstration was held in New York and between two and three thousand persons gathered at the Washington statue in Union square and called upon supporters of Houston to respond to the San Jacinto nomination "without distinction as to party" and to "demonstrate the great national popularity of General Sam Houston."

However, Houston refused to allow his name to be placed in nomination before the convention of delegates who had bolted the two parties and the nomination went to Breckenridge.

Other efforts were made by supporters in both North and South to get the hero of San Jacinto to announce as a candidate of the people, but in late August, 1860 Houston addressed a letter to newspapers asking that he not be considered a candidate.

Governor Houston was popular in both North and South because he did not declare that the election of a Republican president would be grounds for the South to leave the Union and he did not take a militant pro-slavery stand.

He declared that the North was determined to preserve the Union, that secession was not the answer, and that if a Republican President "administers the government as a Constitutionalist, the rights of the South will be safeguarded; if he does not, the Constitution itself provides a remedy."

His was a voice crying in the wilderness, for Texans went to the polls in November of 1860 and cast their votes for John C. Breckenridge in the vain hope that he would win and that he would preserve the Union.

When the votes were counted, the victory of Lincoln was more than Texas and the South could take, and the birth of the Confederate States of America was imminent.

Had Houston been elected to the Presidency, he doubtless would have died in office, for the old warrior didn't live to see the end of the Civil War. He died in 1863, probably from a broken heart. His sons were in the Confederate Army and his beloved Texas was on its way to defeat.

Had he been elected, could he have preserved the Union as his supporters declared he could? And would the Civil War have been prevented?

We'd like to have been on hand in Hillsboro recently when the Confederate Research Center was dedicated at Hill Junior College. The Center is the brainchild of our friend Col. H. B. Simpson, a retired Air Force colonel who is in our estimate the world's foremost living authority on Hood's Texas Brigade.

The colonel sent us an invitation but we were unable to attend and sent our regrets. Back came a letter telling us about the Center, its purposes, and content; information we think worth passing on to our readers.

Colonel Simpson, now an instructor of history at Hill Junior College, is the author of a book entitled "From Gaines Mill to Appomattox," and subtitled "Waco and McLennan County in Hood's Texas Brigade." He told us in his letter that the Confederate Research Center would "have the Hood's Texas Brigade Collection, the finest collection of photo graphs, books, research material and letters on Hood's Texas Brigade in the country."

He has donated all of his own materials, collected over the past 10 years, to the collection, has received several other donations from other sources, and says that the college has purchased a great amount of material.

Among other interesting information the colonel sent is the notation that there are three children of members of Hood's Texas Brigade still living and two of these were to be at the dedication of the Research Center. These are Mrs. C. E. Saxon of Waco, daughter of Sgt. T. M. Mullens, Co. "E", 4th Texas; and Mr. William H. Martin of Hillsboro, son of Major William H. Martin of Co. "K", 4th Texas. Both are nearly 90 years old.

The third child of a soldier in Hood's Texas Brigade is Mrs. Irene Traylor of Houston, daughter of Frank B. Chilton, Co. "H", 4th Texas. She was unable to attend the ceremonies.

STUDENT COUNCIL TREASURER

David Meador of Eldorado was elected recently as treasurer of the Student Council at San Angelo College, where he is a Freshman. David is the son of Johnny Meador of this place, and he graduated from Eldorado High School with the Class of '63.

DID YOU KNOW that every day our Government is spending $1-200,000 per hour? (Pd. Adv.)

Austin.—Gov. John Connally has given new emphasis to the long drive to abolish the state property tax and leave the revenue source to local governments.

In two speeches during the past week—to county judges and commissioners and to the Texas Municipal League—the governor called for a "phasing out" of the ad valorem levy by the state. That will require a constitutional amendment and, what Connally termed, a "period of readjustment."

Although the tax provides only 2.7% of the state's revenue, the Legislature, usually hard pressed to balance the budget, has been slow to act on abolishing the $40 million a year revenue source.

"There will never be a convenient time," acknowledged Connally. "All we need is the extra courage to do what should be done."

This step, he said, "is the most tangible way I know to put meaning in our plea for more local self-government."

Connally also told municipal officials that city problems should be solved at the local level. He warned against continued search for solutions at the state capitol level.

The Municipal League, as expected, recommended still another source of revenue for local government.

City officials told their TML board of directors that legislation authorizing cities to levy a municipal sales tax, subject to local voter approval, should be considered.

Directors in a mid-December meeting here will consider this proposal and almost certainly adopt it as one of the League's top legislative projects for 1965.

President's Austin Offices Eyed
Offices being readied for the President in the new federal building at Austin became a campaign issue last week.

F. Clifton White, national director of Citizens for Goldwater-Miller, charged that the ninth floor layout added $2.5 million to cost of the building.

General Services Administration reported original contract price was $7.3 million and cost has risen to "just under $8 million" due to "change orders" and a labor strike. GS, however, refused to permit reporters to inspect the premises to check White's story of a Taj Mahal-type luxury, a 10-foot fireplace and teak panels. Some newsmen managed to get by guards and inspect the place anyway. One found it nice but not particularly lavish. Under his tape measure, the fireplace shrank from 10 feet to 52 inches.

Johnson's staff frequently works at a hotel in Austin while he is visiting at his LBJ ranch nearby. The government provides office space for former Presidents Eisenhower, Truman and Hoover.

Carr Reports On Assassination

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr's report on the assassination of President Kennedy criticized overzealous news coverage of subsequent events in Dallas and concluded that law enforcement agencies should improve their methods of exchanging information.

Governor Connally, who received the report last week, concurs in Carr's recommendations, which include the following:
—That lawyers and news media get together with officials and agree on working relationships designed to prevent "future disorder and confusion in pretrial activities, deficiencies in security for prisoners (and to) improve judicial ethics in criminal trials."

—That federal, state and local law enforcement agencies study how to keep each other better informed and recommend tighter security measures for high officials and distinguished guests in the state.

Carr's 5,000-word summary report, supported by 17 volumes of data, appeared particularly critical of the FBI's failure to inform local police that Lee Harvey Oswald was in Dallas.

Attorney General said he believed his decision to shelve plans for a Texas court of inquiry into the November 22 assassination and the wounding of Connally was wise, in view of the thorough job done by the Warren Commission. However,

Hard-Drinking Youths

Texas Liquor Control Board reports that the increase of reports on consumption of alcoholic beverages by minors is "startling."

In 1959, spokesman said, only 1,314 criminal cases were filed against boys and girls under age

21 for buying, consuming or possessing alcoholic beverages in a public place. In 1963, the TLCB filed 4,848 such cases.

Liquor Administrator Coke Stevenson Jr. said, "We've been concerned about the increase in juvenile drinking at public places, such as beaches and dances, and we are constantly reminding our agents to be on the lookout for such violations."
