Girls' Cage Team To Open Season Tonight

Tonight (Thursday) at 6:30 the 1964-65 basketball season will officially open against Brady. Eldorado has come within two points but has never been able to defeat Brady in four tries.

The "B" team will open the evening with the following girls meeting Brady: Forwards are Susan Mobley, Martha Sue Page, Nancy Jurecek, Stella Hubble and Laura Nixon. Guards are Jan Wagley, Joan Doyle, Jacque Davis, Sherry Yates, Shirley Hubble, Billie Gayl Blaylock and Maureen McCravey.

At about 8:00 the "A" team girls will take the court to seek their first victory of the season. Leading the offensive attack will be Christy Moore, Sr., Karen Griffin, Jr., and Marsha Mund, Jr. Other forwards will be Rita Rozean, Susan Hill and Libby Preston. Defensively there will be Frankie Blaylock, Sr. Jane Cain, Jr., Chris Edmiston Fr., Paula Mace Sr., Mickey Phelps Sr., and Beth McCalla, Jr.

Eldorado will return the game in Brady Friday, November 20th. Brady features two seniors 5'6" and 5'8" and a sophomore 5'3½" offensively. On defense the Puppets features a 6'0" guard along with a 5'5" and 5'3" junior. Mary Ziriak leads the Brady scorers averaging some 20 points per game last year. This will be Brady's first game of the season.

Christmas Drive For Clothing Set By H.D.

Home Demonstration clubs are sponsoring a drive to collect articles of new clothing, principally pajamas and robes and personal Christmas gifts for patients of the McKnight T. B. Hospital in Sanitorium, Texas.

Mrs. Roy Phelps has offered to use her office store room as a collection place. If anyone wants to take part in this most worthy cause please go by Creola's and check with her as to what is most needed.

The deadline for collections will be on Thursday, Nov. 19. This notice applies to club women and others as well.

Accident Rate Continues To Rise

Schleicher county's property damage accidents for the first 10 months of 1964 soared to $47,728 as compared with just $16,035 for the same period in 1963. The statistic was among those released this week by the San Angelo Sub-District Area of The Texas Department of Public Safety.

There has been one fatal accident compared with 2 in '63, and 9 personal injury accidents up from the 4 of a year ago, and 28 property damage accidents compared with 20 last year.

Two deaths were reported from both of the periods. The 7 injuries of last year nearly tripled to the 19 reported this year.

For the month of October, this county had one personal injury and 3 property damage accidents, for a total of 4; no deaths during the month, and $5,675 in property damage.

Alma Sauer of Tulsa, Oklahoma, is visiting here this week with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Sauer, and with other relatives and friends. She will visit in San Angelo this week end before returning to Tulsa Sunday.

Mrs. Edna Graham and son Eddy spent the week end in Oklahoma visiting relatives.

ALL — Cleans All

We trust that Mrs. Eldon Calk and Mrs. W. V. Lux have observed all the T-V commercials on various detergents and that they know exactly how to remove grease spots and such from the school clothes of a pair of active school pupils.

Their boy & girl fell in a 5-ft. deep grease trap which was temporarily uncovered on the school ground early this week.

Post Script

Well, us Republicrats have had a week to get over our bewilderment and we have decided not to demand a recount.

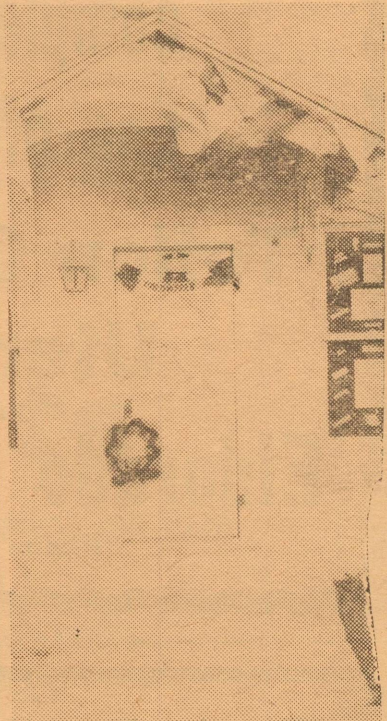

—ps—
Also the headquarters personnel want to thank their friends for the floral offerings and various expressions of sympathy—graciously received in the spirit given.

They have also helpfully suggested that if we can't scrape the Goldwater stickers from our bumpers we can buy new bumpers.

—ps—
The Conservatives' headquarters office went—like Lottie's eye—out of business Wednesday night, but not before some sentimental ones got a picture of it—to remember by.

Here it is:

Now in a more serious vein I'll say this: —Nobody, but nobody, could have beaten Lyndon Johnson at this period in our history. So, more power to him. (No pun intended.)

A writer in Harper's Magazine this week has this to say—"A Johnson administration will consolidate recent advances on a grand scale. Unless soiled by corruption, it gives promise of being one of the most active and effective regimes in American history."

—ps—
Okeh! Let's go—

—ps—
And now—if we could just get another rain . . .

—ps—
"They don't tell you nothing!"

That seems to be the answer we get from landowners where oil wells are being drilled in the county. Honestly, there are more operations going on and less news about it than we've seen in a long time. Seems like they are all tight holes.

—ps—
Two major building projects seem to be moving along more rapidly this week.

Interior work at the First National Bank seems to be about completed—maybe a few finishing touches left. You hardly recognize the place; it's changed so. Workmen are still doing around on the exterior. I was aiming to ask them if anyone had used the new drive-in window yet.

—ps—
El Dorado Woolens' new addition is coming along rapidly, too. It's still too early to get the over-all picture of it, but a quick walk through it shows it's going to be elaborate. Big rooms, small rooms, hallways and paved driveways. It, too, will be something Eldorado will be proud of.

Boy Scout Drive Closes With $783 Total

James Williams, chairman of the fund drive just closed for the Concho Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America, reports that the drive has been completed and enjoyed a generous response from the public.

Pledges to the Council fund totaled $262.50, while cash donations came to $521, making an overall total of $783.50.

Williams thanked his co-workers for the time they devoted to the drive and says "thank you" to the public for their liberal support.

New Laundry Coming

Walter (Pop) Taylor was at work early this week on his building on South Main Street getting it ready for Mr. and Mrs. M. E. McEwen to put in a coin-operated laundry.

The building has been vacant since early last spring when Marathon closed out their operations in this area, including the office that was housed in Mr. Taylor's building.

The McEwens and Mr. Taylor have been busy knocking out interior partitions, patching and painting the sheetrock, and getting ready to put in the necessary electrical and plumbing lines and connections for the laundry.

Plans call for putting in 14 new top-loading machines and three dryers. Mr. McEwen stated that the establishment should be ready to open for business in about two weeks, or about Thanksgiving time.

Mr. and Mrs. McEwen and their 16-year-old daughter, Jessie, have been living in San Angelo and they were making arrangements to move to Eldorado as soon as they can find a house.

Jessie will transfer from Central High in San Angelo to the Junior class in the local high school.

Democrats To Send Two Delegates To 1966

For some years, Schleicher Democrats have been allowed only one delegate to the state conventions, and sometimes our county has sent two delegates with half a vote each.

As result of the large voter turnout in the recent General Election, this county will be allowed two delegates in 1966.

As set up by the state Democratic committee, each county is allowed to send a delegate for each 300 votes or major fraction thereof, casting for Governor in the preceding General Election.

Since Governor Connally polled 639 votes earlier this month, this will entitle this county to the two delegates in '66.

The Republican challenger, Jack Crichton, received 254 votes which will presumably entitle local Republicans to a single delegate to their state convention next election year.

Paul Harmon has moved from a Riley house to a Webb house.

County Library To Be Moved To Larger Quarters

When the Memorial Building was completed back in 1948, the Public Library was assigned quarters in the southwest corner and the Bev McCormick Post of The American Legion was given a meeting room in the northeast corner of the newly-completed structure.

Now, the two groups are exchanging rooms, by mutual consent, and following approval by the County Commissioners to do the necessary remodeling of the building to provide suitable and enlarged quarters for the library.

Mrs. Walter Ramsay, chairman of the library board, and Miss Ruth Baker, librarian, met with the Legionnaires at their meeting last Thursday night to thank them for consenting to the exchange.

The library is acquiring the Legion room which has a door opening onto the east porch which faces the paved parking area. Library patrons will have a more convenient means of access to the library quarters after the move is completed.

In addition to the Legion room, the library is being given the north stage of the main room of the Memorial Building. It was believed that this area was no longer needed as a stage and workmen were at work last week walling off the area.

This week, C. L. Martin has been at work in the rooms painting the walls and new shelf units, and laying a new tile floor. The rooms will be ready for the library to start moving in a few days.

The room room on the south side of the building will be repainted and turned over to the Legion post to be their new meeting room as soon as the library vacates it. Legion meetings are held the first Thursday night of each month.

617 Bales

As of Wednesday morning that was the total number of bales processed at Mikeska gin here in Eldorado.

One year ago, according to the Success files, there was a total of 2283 at this time.

Farmers are still waiting for a killing freeze so that they can strip the remaining crop all at one time. Mikeska is of the opinion that only 400 bales remain to be gathered in the county.

WATCH RETURNED

Following the P-TA Halloween Carnival, Mrs. Gloria Caveness ran an ad in the Success that her daughter, Dean, had lost her watch at the event.

The watch was returned soon after the finder saw the ad in the paper.

So it was a happy ending for all concerned.

Eagle Season Closed With Sanderson Tilt

Although "Savage" District 8A play doesn't end until tomorrow night the Eldorado Eagles wound up their 1964 season by defeating Sanderson this past Friday night on Eagle Field by a decisive 38-6 margin which could have been more had Coaches Earl Barnett and Ronald Giles not given fans a bit of preview of next year's Eagles—and it wasn't an unpleasant prospect. But the Sanderson issue was never in doubt although had Sanderson QB Cates been able to participate, and had Scat Back Weigand and Halfback Gonzales been injury free, it might have been a nervous night for Eagle fans.

Sanderson coaches had thoroughly scouted Eldorado and had designed what could have been effective countermeasures; but they just didn't have the physical might to carry out their intentions although they did provide some puzzling behavior on the field.

Deer Season To Open Saturday

Deer season in Schleicher county opens on Saturday of this week—Nov. 14, and it is expected that the usual large number of hunters will be on hand for the opening day.

The local Chamber of Commerce has been re-activated with Dean Murr as secretary, and is operating as a clearing house between ranchers and hunters desiring leases. Mrs. Murr stated this week that she has more ranches on her list than she did at this time last year.

From the Sam Henderson ranch in the east part of the county comes word that the deer population is much less this year than last. The Howe Baker Engineers of Tyler, who leased the ranch the last two years, are not coming back this year, but we were informed that part of the ranch has been leased to others.

Phone number for the C of C secretary is 23391.

D.A.R. Good Citizen

PAULA MACE

Announced as this year's recipient of the D.A.R. Good Citizen Award in Eldorado High School was Miss Paula Mace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mace.

The award is given each year to an outstanding girl in the Senior class. The class members nominate three for the honor, and from that group a faculty committee makes the final selection.

Basis for selection is dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism.

The name of the local honoree is sent in to state, for selection of a state winner. A national honoree is then chosen from the 50 state finalists by the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

High School Principal Guy Whitaker stated that this contest is on the approved 1964-65 list of National Association of Secondary School Principals.

Miss Mace, this year's D.A.R. Good Citizen, has spent all of her school years in the local system, has been active in band and as a twirler, and this year is serving as drum major.

Lee and Pat Archer have taken over the former McDonald Drive-In in south Eldorado and are now operating it as Pat's Drive-In.

They managed to contain two Eagle scorers although penalties at inopportune moments hurt Eldorado backs. Fullback Sam Henderson, for instance, provided two fine runs totaling some 90 yards together, but they were all for nothing due to rules infractions back at the line of scrimmage.

Game statistics reflect Eldorado's superiority for 1964:

Eldorado	Sanderson
15	First downs 8
417	Yards rushing 174
78	Yards passing 45
495	Total yards 219
3of3	Passes completed 1of3
0	Passes intercepted 0
2	Fumbles lost 2
4for47	Pen. & yds. 6for70
3for35	Punts & averages 1for40

Story of the game is simply that Eldorado had too much speed and ability offensively and too much resistance defensively.

Monty Montgomery led the scoring with his "wraith-like" broken field sorties which netted four of Eldorado's six touchdowns. He scored on runs of six yards, 11 yards, four yards and 45 yards. Charley Nixon scored late in the game with a five-yard thrust to the right side of his line.

Field General Scott McGregor caught Sanderson defenders by surprise, scoring Eldorado's second touchdown by running 10 yards across the east goal on a keeper play. He also kept and ran over Eldorado's only successful attempt for points after the six touchdowns.

Two Eldorado defenders covered Sanderson fumbles, first being Steve Blaylock and the second being Phil Edmiston.

Eldorado fans were pleased when a pass interference penalty was called in favor of Captain Richard Preston. It was a genuine interference all right but Preston has suffered such rules infractions all year with little or no recognition from officials.

Sanderson scored in the fourth quarter on a pass from QB Harkins to one of their only two able-bodied carriers, 145-pound end, Gray. Their other able-bodied carrier was Number 88, an end converted to a back. The Harkins-Gray pass-run combination netted them 45 yards and the score but they could not add the point on their conversion try.

The season's end saw Eldorado winning a respectable total of six games over all competitors and it saw them win five of eight in their quest for district honors. Final standings will come after the season's finale tomorrow night.

Meanwhile, Eldorado with an open date tomorrow night has opportunity to see Big Lake at Sonora, Menard at Iraan, Junction at Sanderson, or Ozona at Rankin.

Can The Broncos Beat The Owls?

Since the Eagles closed their season here last week, Schleicher county fans can drive to Sonora tomorrow and see if the Broncos will be able to redeem themselves against the Owls of Big Lake.

The Owls are undefeated and undisputed district champions. Sonora has lost to Eldorado and Ozona and it would be a feather in their cap if they could upset the Owls.

Everybody will be there. In other contests tomorrow Junction has to take that long, long drive to Sanderson. Ozona plays at Rankin and Menard goes to Iraan where they will probably take a beating from that surprisingly aggressive band of Indians.

But right here the interest will be in the Sonora game and fans are hoping the Broncos give them a run for their money.

School Adopts Budget

At their meeting Monday night the board of trustees of the Schleicher County Independent School District approved the $389,965 budget for the 1964-65 year.

The Budget was presented at a Board of Equalization meeting held last July and was itemized in the Success at that time.

Social Security Benefits At Death

San Angelo.—If someone in your family dies, it may be that he has provided more protection for his family than you think—more even than he knew about. We are speaking of the social security protection provided for the survivors of workers covered by social security. The monthly payments which are made to a widow and her minor children often mean the difference between scattered individuals and a family.

At least 9 out of every 10 mothers with children under 18 can expect to get social security benefits should their husbands die. At the end of June 1964, there were 4.5 million survivors getting monthly social security checks. Widowed mothers with two children were at that time receiving an average of $190 per month. Survivors represent about 25% of all the people getting old-age and survivors insurance benefits.

In addition to the widow with minor children, the widow who is 62 or older with or without children, may qualify for a monthly check. Your parent who is at least 62 and who has established that he was dependent upon you at the time of your death, may also qualify for monthly survivor benefits.

Social security pays a lump-sum death payment when an insured worker dies regardless of the monthly benefits that could be paid. If the deceased and his wife were living together in the same household at the time of his death, then the payment is made to her. If there is no qualified surviving spouse, then the lump-sum death payment is made to the person who pays the funeral bill. That person may request that this check be sent directly to the funeral home. This lump-sum payment varies from $120 to $255, depending upon the earnings the deceased had received.

Although a worker automatically builds up this social security protection for his family, the payments are not made automatically at the time of his death. The survivors must claim the benefits by getting in touch with a social security representative and filing an application. The social security district office in San Angelo is located at 3000 est Harris.

When Sarah Bernhardt Visited In Texas

Austin.—Sarah Bernhardt, "the greatest actress of her day," arrived in Texas 72 years ago in a brass-ornamented railroad coach, lion and tiger skins covering the floors and Venetian tapestries hung on the walls. In her entourage were four servants, a St. Bernard dog, a parrot, a cage of asps and 140 luggage trunks.

Texans who flocked to see her performance in Dallas discovered they couldn't understand a word. Commented the Dallas Morning News, it was a "French play, spoken in French, and by French men and women."

"The Divine Sarah's" Texas visits, one in 1892 and a "farewell tour" in 1906, are humorously recounted in the current issue of the Southwestern Historical Quarterly, published at The University of Texas by the Texas State Historical Association. The article, by Dr. C. Richard King, associate professor of journalism, relies mainly on newspaper sources.

For her Dallas performance of "La Dame aux Camélias" and "Fedora" in 1892, spectators flooded the city from small towns all over Texas. Her performances in Fort Worth were crowded with people who had traveled from as far as Gainesville.

Miss Bernhardt returned to Texas in 1906, performing in a circus-type tent, relates Dr. King. This innovation by the Shubert brothers was a rebellious act against the Theatrical Syndicate which controlled the booking in nearly all U.S. "opera houses."

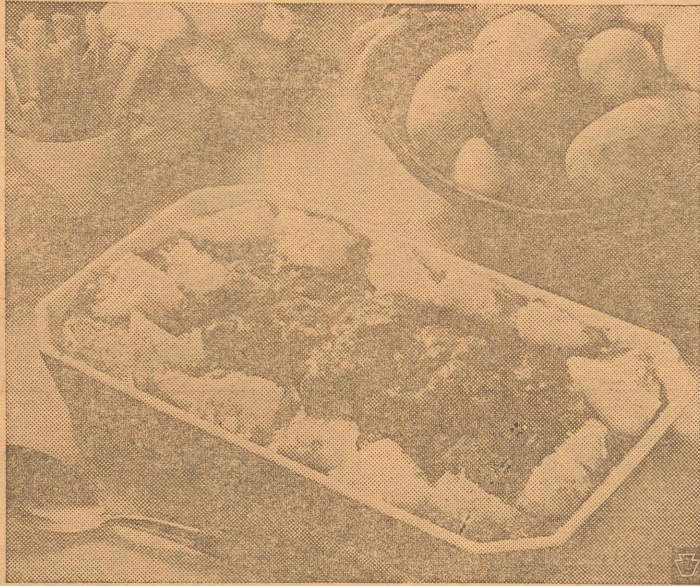

Sarah Bernhardt's surprising agreement to act under the "big-top" lent an eccentric atmosphere to her entire Texas tour. In Dallas, despite a temperamental curtain and insufficient lighting, her performance was crowded with 10,000 theatergoers.

In Austin, after three hours of steady rain had turned the tent site on the temporary capitol grounds into a quagmire, Miss Bernhardt's performance was shifted to the Hancock Opera House, despite the threatened foreclosure of the theater by syndicate officials.

Her subsequent San Antonio performance was a sell-out: prices ranging up to $10 were offered for seats during the first act as 2,000 to 3,000 persons jammed into Beethoven Hall. Apparently the diminutive actress had broken the theater syndicate monopoly in Texas.

Mrs. C. M. Reynolds who has been a patient in Shannon hospital, following serious injuries in a car wreck the latter part of September, returned home recently. She is in good spirits but still confined to a wheel chair.

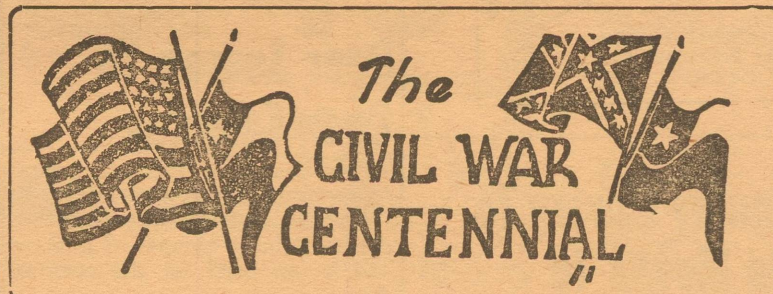

Herb-Flavored Beef Stew Crowned With Russet Potatoes Is Family Favorite

This hearty, fragrant beef stew can be a gourmet's delight, both to serve to guests or treat the family. It is full-flavored, nourishing and satisfying, according to the Washington State Potato Commission's menu-planning department. You can cook it on top of the stove or in the oven and, if desired, it can be prepared a day ahead, stored in the refrigerator, then merely reheated for serving. When the stew is done, crown the spicy meat chunks with tender Russet potatoes lightly sprinkled with cheese and dill. When you're shopping, look for the superior Russet potatoes from Washington State, because this all-purpose variety holds its fine-grained texture and full flavor under cooking processes. Washington State's new crop is in now so you can enjoy these Russet Potatoes in all your favorite potato dishes.

- HERBED BEEF STEW WITH RUSSET POTATOES

| 1/3 cup flour | 1 4-oz. can green chiles, minced |
| 1 tsp. paprika | 1/4 tsp. marjoram |
| 1 tsp. salt | 3/4 tsp. dill weed |
| 1/4 tsp. pepper | 6 Washington State Russet potatoes |
| 4 tbsps. shortening | Grated Parmesan cheese |
| 2 cups thinly sliced onions | |
| 1 clove minced garlic | |

Blend flour, paprika, salt and pepper and roll cubes of beef in seasoned mixture. Heat shortening in Dutch oven or iron skillet. Brown meat. Add onions, garlic, consomme, chiles, marjoram and 1/4 tsp. dill. Cover and simmer in moderately slow oven (300 degrees F.) about 2 hours or until meat is tender. About 30 mins. before meat is done, boil potatoes in jackets. Remove skins, cut into quarters. When meat is placed in serving dish, arrange potato quarters around edge of dish, over meat. Sprinkle potatoes with Parmesan cheese and remaining dill. Makes 6 servings.

By Dayton Kelley
Mary Hardin-Baylor College
Belton, Texas

It is doubtful that any other town or county in Texas furnished more famous soldiers for Confederate service than did Fairfield, Freestone county.

Among those who called Fairfield home were the men of Captain L. D. Bradley who saved the day at Vicksburg by recapturing a position in the line that had fallen to the Federals, those of the famous Val Verde Battery who fought at Mansfield, Col. W. L. Moody, whose son later founded the famous Moody Enterprises at Galveston, and Gen. John Gregg who was killed while leading his brigade along the New Market Road on Oct. 7, 1864—just 100 years ago.

This department has contained references from time to time about all these with the exception of Colonel Gregg, whose name is perpetuated in a Texas county named for him and a small town called Greggton near Longview, the county seat.

A recent letter from Miss Dolly Northcutt of Longview told this department of the presentation during the summer of a portrait of General Gregg to the local historical and genealogical society by the Gregg family, offering also the information that four of the general's descendants were to be on hand for the occasion.

General Gregg, a native of Alabama who came to Texas in 1852, is probably best known as the commander for a time of the famous Hood's Texas Brigade which he led "with conspicuous bravery" at the Wilderness and through most of 1864. He was also a member of the secession convention of 1861 and was elected to the Provisional Confederate Congress.

Following the Battle of First Manassas, General Gregg resigned his seat in Congress and came back to Texas to organize a regiment for Confederate service. His regiment became known as the 7th Texas Infantry and Gregg was elected colonel. Both he and his regiment were present when Fort Donelson fell in 1862 and after his exchange later that year, Gregg was promoted to the rank of brigadier general.

He participated in the Battle of Chickamauga where he was severely wounded and later was assigned to the Texas Brigade.

Both General Gregg and his wife are buried at Abardeen, Miss.

A number of the governors of Texas were soldiers in the Confederate Army and perhaps one of the most notable of them was Joseph D. Sayers who served as chief executive from 1899 to 1903.

A marker was erected recently at Bastrop, Sayers' home town, commemorating his service to both the state and the Confederacy and enumerating his wartime exploits, some of which earned him citations for gallantry in action.

Sayers, a Mississippian, came to Texas when a boy of 10 with his father, Dr. David Sayers. The family settled at Bastrop in 1841, the year they arrived, and Joseph attended Bastrop Academy which was established in 1850.

The school became Bastrop Military Institute in 1857 and was directed by Colonel R. P. T. Allen, former superintendent of the Military Institute in Kentucky which he founded.

In 1860, at graduating ceremonies, Joseph D. Sayers was handed his diploma by Governor Sam Houston.

When Texas seceded in 1861, Sayers enlisted in the Fifth Texas Mounted Volunteers commanded by Col. Thomas Green and participated in the Battle of Val Verde in New Mexico as a part of General H. H. Sibley's Brigade.

It was during this battle that the future governor of Texas, then a lieutenant, distinguished himself by capturing a battery of light artillery. Charging across a plain, he engaged in hand-to-hand combat with Union commanders and for his gallantry was promoted to captain and placed in charge of the captured artillery battery.

This was the beginning of the famous "Val Verde Battery" of later Confederate fame whose story has been told in this space and often mentioned in other stories here.

Sayers brought the battery back to Texas following Sibley's retreat from New Mexico and served for a time as its commander. He participated in the Battle of Galveston and was severely wounded at the battle of Bayou Teche in Louisiana. He was promoted to major in 1864 and made adjutant general of a Louisiana command.

He was again severely wounded in the battle of Mansfield where he also served with distinction.

Sayers was a member of the state Senate, a United States Congressman, and during his four years as governor became known as "Honest Joe" Sayers. He also served as a member of the board of regents of the University of Texas.

He died in 1929 and is buried in Fairview Cemetery in Bastrop, his old home town.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Don Johnson and Jerry Edmiston, all of Sul Ross college, spent the week end here with home folks, the Delbert Edmiston and Lloyd Johnson families.

Guests last week end in the home of Mrs. J. B. Montgomery were Mr. and Mrs. Billie Edmiston and boys from Midland; Mrs. Bennie Wiley and three children, Mrs. Joe B. Montgomery and daughter, all of Boerne, Texas.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by Tiny Godwin

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

The spot was marked on the C. L. Atkins ranch for sterile fly release Thursday of last week. This is the second screwworm case reported in the county within three weeks.

The total screwworm cases for the year stands at 150 in the state. Schleicher county has had 4 of these cases or 2.6% of all cases reported in 1964.

All producers are asked to practice vigilance until the first killing frost.

Vials for sending cases of screwworms for positive identification, to Mission, Texas, may be secured at the county agent's office.

Mr. Jene Moore will serve as crew chief for Schleicher, Sutton, Kimble and Menard counties for taking the 1964 agricultural census.

Census enumerators for each county will be selected by competitive exams.

Watch the Eldorado Success for the place and time for the competitive test to be held this week in the county.

Schleicher county will need two enumerators to get the ball rolling.

Legally, the husband is head of the household and the pedestrian has the right of way. Both are safe as long as they don't try to exercise their rights.

Unless a few simple regulations are observed, this year's deer season may spell disaster for a number of Texas hunters. It's the "over-anxious" hunter who endangers the lives of fellow hunters and causes needless damage to wildlife.

Two-thirds of all hunting accidents are caused by humans in the line of fire, hunters mistaken for animals and hunters not using the safety catch on their guns.

Among other good sportsmanship points are:

1. Use the right caliber of gun, hunt in season and bag the limit.
 2. Be careful with fire — cigarettes and campfires.
 3. Treat all property as though it belongs to YOU.
 4. Handle every gun as though it were loaded. Never point a gun at anything you don't intend to shoot.
 5. Don't drink one for the road or the woods, either.
- Follow safety rules and enjoy the hunting season to the fullest. Have a "bag full" of fun.

September red meat production is up 30% over last year. Commercial slaughter plants in Texas produced 145.6 million pounds of meat in September, up 30% over the same month a year ago. For the first nine months of 1964, production was 13% above the same period of 1963.

Lice are busy with their annual invasion of livestock and will take a sizeable chunk of producers' profit again this year unless controlled.

These pests appear in fall and winter months and losses can be materially reduced if controlled now.

Animals infested with the parasites usually are restless, eat less, do not have a good feed conversion and have a rough, coarse appearance.

Sprays recommended for lice on beef cattle: corral, korlan, malathion, lindane, ronnel, and toxaphene.

Lice on sheep and goats are controlled with the same pesticides.

MP-691, Texas Guide for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry is available at the county agent's office.

Watch for prussic acid after frost. Frost can be expected soon in the county. The average frost date for the county is November 10th. Frost could mean trouble, especially where johnsongrass or sorghum stubble is being grazed. These plants can develop a high prussic acid content after a killing frost and if grazed by livestock can cause animal losses.

Seventy-seven landowners, businessmen and sportsmen attended the wildlife meeting, sponsored by the Parks and Wildlife Service, the local Chamber of Commerce and the county planning board.

Many compliments have been received of the program as presented by biologist Jack Thomas and the efficiency in which shooting preserve licenses and doe permits were issued by Bill Works, local game warden.

"Expansion through management"—the putting together the resource offered (game) and human resources to their highest valued use.

Mrs. Murr, Chamber of Commerce secretary, can help you with your hunting problems.

Give every man thy ear, but few thy voice.

Mr. and Mrs. Dee Shipman made a trip over the week end to Rocksprings where they sold a house and lot which they owned there. The buyer was F. J. Weldon of Rocksprings.

Clovis and Ada Belle Taylor

Austin.—Gov. John Connally remains the dominant figure on the statehouse scene. He received over 1,800,000 votes in the general election, to lead the Democrat ticket.

An overwhelming majority of Texas voters liked the Demo ticket headed by native son Pres. Lyndon Johnson.

Republicans were left with little to be encouraged about. However, GOP leaders insisted their party has "the zeal and spirit to make a fast comeback" and will begin the 1966 campaign immediately.

Statisticians for the two political parties have gone to work to explain the tremendous Democratic sweep of Texas. One logical explanation of Johnson's landslide simply was that 400,000 more Texans than ever before appeared at the polls. And apparently they were about all Democrats. Turnout was some 88% of the qualified voters, also a new record in this century in Texas.

President Johnson received 64% of the 2.7 million Texas votes cast (to 36% for Sen. Barry Goldwater). This represented the largest total in a presidential race since the late Franklin D. Roosevelt's 71% margin for a fourth term in 1944.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough defeated GOP candidate George Bush by carrying nearly 56% of the total. But Bush got more votes than any previous Texas Republican candidate for senator. The Houston oilman was the first GOP senate candidate to rack up more than a million votes.

Republicans, although better organized and financed than ever, lost every statewide and congressional race and all legislative races except one. GOP Frank Cahoon of Midland won. In the scramble the Republicans lost two congressmen, Bruce Alger of Dallas and Ed Foreman of Odessa, and nine members of the Texas Legislature.

Makeup of the Legislature in general remains conservative-moderate. Leadership will continue in the hands of Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and House Speaker Byron Tunnell. The latter is assured another term as speaker on strength of member pledges.

Texas voters also approved all three state constitutional amendments on the ballot.

In so doing they knocked out legislative authority to transfer 1% of the permanent school fund to the available school fund; authorized the Legislature to enact a program of medical aid to the aged not on welfare rolls but having difficulty paying their doctor bills; and required bills creating or substantially altering conservation and reclamation districts to be published in newspapers and cleared by Texas Water Commission.

LBJ At Home

President Johnson closed out his campaign and celebrated his landslide victory in the Central Texas congressional district where he got his political start.

Final speech of his nationwide vote hunt was made to 100,000 at an Austin rally in front of the State Capitol.

He voted at his old precinct in Johnson City on election day.

Johnson returned to Austin to make his first statement to the nation after the election—a call for American unity and a pledge to work for a government offering equal opportunities to all.

Changes

Some Texans learned to their dismay that, if they had moved from one county to another within the last six months, they lost their right to vote.

Others found that if they had moved from one precinct to another in the same county, but had failed to transfer their poll taxes by the Thursday before election, they had lost the right to vote.

These situations naturally led to talk of making changes in the law or of lawsuits to set aside the laws which cut off rights to vote on technicalities.

Salt Water

District Judge Herman Jones heard three days of evidence as to whether the Texas Railroad Commission or the Texas Water Pollution Control Board should regulate the disposal of the salt water which comes to the surface in oil and gas wells.

Oilmen contend it should be wholly under the Railroad Commission. Users of surface and ground water contend that the new Pollution Control Board has the authority, and should exercise it, to prevent pollution.

After filing on briefs and oral arguments, Jones will reach a decision about November 20.

Courts Speak

National chain loan companies got the word they wanted from the Texas Supreme Court.

It upheld lower court decisions that an effort by the Legislature to restrict non-Texas companies from opening new loan offices in Texas clearly was unconstitutional.

Small Texas firms had convinced the Legislature that loan licenses should be issued only to companies owned at least 51% by Texans. But the court said that is not valid, under both state and federal constitutions.

On request of Upshur Rural Electric Cooperative and Southwestern Electric Power Company of Shreveport, Supreme Court dismissed appeals in a dispute involving construction of a $9 million rural power generating plant near Ore City in East Texas. Southwestern claimed the Upshur Co-op, serving 10 Northeast Texas counties, had no authority to discontinue buying power and to start generating its own. All matters in dispute reportedly were settled.

In Austin district court refused the Houston House of Tobacco's request for a temporary restraining order to retain its distributor's permit. But it set a November 12 hearing on an injunction to keep the State Comptroller from revoking the permit. Firm's operator was charged with participating in cigarette tax stamp fraud scheme said to run into millions of dollars.

El Paso Electric Company is challenging constitutionality of state gross receipts tax on its energy sales in El Paso, Van Horn and Anthony. It seeks a $300,000 refund in appeal to Third Court of Civil Appeals here.

College Growth

The 32 junior colleges which are supported in part by state money gained 16.7% in enrollments this fall.

Growth of community colleges was even greater than state colleges and universities, which checked in 144,309 students, a gain of 9.4% over last year.

New emphasis on the need for higher education, plus the simple fact that the bumper "war baby crop" is reaching college age, accounts for growth.

Community colleges, to give vocational and technical courses, are a major part of the recommendations of the Governor's Committee on Education Beyond the High School. Need for at least a dozen new community colleges is indicated.

AG Opinions

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr said a section of the state driver responsibility law requiring "immediate" surrender of driver licenses when accident liability requirements are not met is unconstitutional. Department of Public Safety said it still is unlawful for anyone to refuse to surrender a suspended or revoked license.

In other opinions, Carr held that:

El Paso Commissioners have no authority to lease the county coliseum to individuals for a furniture sale; construction of a highway bridge with fender system which may interfere with a landowner's access to a navigable stream is not unconstitutional seizure of property; State Board of Plumbing Examiners has authority to set minimum apprenticeship period for license applicants and to adopt necessary rules.

Water

A committee of legislators and citizens headed by Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake is considering a recommendation to the Legislature in the field of soil and water conservation.

A daylong hearing revealed that oil and water regulatory bodies don't mix. Spokesmen for oil companies want the law clarified so their salt water disposals are regulated only by the Railroad Commission. Bill Abington, counsel for the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, outlined that view.

But J. W. Buchanan of Dumas, pollution control chairman for the Texas Water Conservation Association, felt differently. He thought the Texas Water Commission should be given the power to veto applications for salt water disposal into the ground, as a means of making sure that underground water supplies are not polluted.

Committee will meet again to reach decisions on this and other proposals before it.

Short Snorts . . .

State Board of Insurance has delayed to January 1 a requirement that mutual aid and burial associations raise their rates high enough to build reserves to meet expected demands on their policies, since the November 1 date did not give the associations time to calculate necessary statistics . . .

Thirty travel writers from many states and four foreign countries were four guests of the Texas Tourist Agency and visited Dallas, Fort Worth, Amarillo, Palo Duro Canyon, Odessa, El Paso, Ciudad Juarez (Mexico), Guadalupe Peak, Fort Davis, Big Bend National Park, Fort Clark and Floresville Ranch of Governor Connally . . .

State Board of Education heard revived protest against adoption of five biology books allegedly promoting atheism and three government tests . . . Workmen's compensation insurance rates go up 1.4% on December 1 as losses pushed up premium rates in most lines of business . . . The University of Texas and Texas A&M University have undertaken studies which will make up a part of the Texas Water Commission's master plan for Texas—UT will determine water needs of each area of Texas to the year 2020; A&M will forecast agricultural water needs to the same date.

Equal Payment Plan

Budget minded? Aren't we all? Now you can know every month just what your electric service bill will be. West Texas Utilities Co. has a new plan for residential customers... a new Equal Payment Plan. They will estimate the amount of electric service you will use in the next year and divide it into 12 equal even-dollar payments. This estimate is based on your past electric service usage, or in the case of a new customer, on similar accounts.

To keep the payments balanced, your account is reviewed monthly and yearly. If your actual metered electric usage differs materially from the estimate... due to a new major appliance or unusual conditions... you are notified that a change, up or down, in your monthly payments is needed. You may join at any time. The Equal Payment Plan Year ends with your 12th monthly payment. If at the end of the EPP year you have used more, or less, than the estimated amount, your 12th monthly payment will be increased or decreased to balance the account. Call or visit your WTU office... ask for complete details of the Equal Payment Plan now.

Eagle Cage Team Starts Workouts

The defending 8-A champions are hard at work on the 1964-65 basketball season. The new season also brings some other new features such as a new coach, a practically new team and a new district organization.

Jack Bell will take over the reigns from Guy Whitaker, new principal. Coach Bell has had charge of the girls' team for the last five years with 86 wins and 46 losses and three district championships. Last year he took over the junior high boys team and brought them to an undefeated 16-0 season.

Then there is the practically new team. There are only three boys returning from the team that went to Regional last year. Richard Preston, Mike McCravey and Scott McGregor will be the nucleus of this year's team with help from last year's "B" team and junior high.

The last new feature is the new district organization for basketball. In this zone are Eldorado, Sonora, Menard, and Junction. The west zone includes Ozona, Big Lake, Rankin, Iraan, and Sanderson. The winner of each zone will meet in a one game play-off.

With all these new factors the Eagle cage season should prove interesting.

School News

An area Future Farmers of America contest was held at the High School yesterday afternoon. Details of the contest will be published next week.

Girls' basketball season starts tonight with the first game being played in the local gymnasium against Brady. The B game will be played at 6:30 and the A game follows immediately.

Next week the second six-weeks tests will be held with all English, speech and geography tests in high school on Monday; History, typing and Spanish tests on Tuesday; Science, agriculture and home economics on Wednesday, and Math and bookkeeping on Thursday.

The Junior high tests begin Tuesday with the seventh grade having English and science and the Eighth grade history and math. Wednesday the 7th grade has math while the 8th has geography and English. Thursday the 7th grade takes geography and history tests and the 8th grade science.

Report cards will be handed out on Tuesday, Nov. 24th.

Miss Nelson Marries

Miss Lena Nelson, speech and social studies teacher in the Eldorado High school since September, became the bride of James Dooley of Abilene last Saturday night in the First Baptist church here in Eldorado.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Nelson of Dexter, New Mexico. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Harwood Dooley of Abilene.

Miss Joyce Woodward was maid of honor. Mr. Dooley served his son as best man. Roy Phelps gave the bride in marriage.

Reverend Kenneth Vaughan officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The altar decorations of glads, carnations and candles were arranged by Mrs. Gus Love. The bride is a graduate of Howard Payne College, Brownwood, and attended Ouachita Baptist College in Arkadelphia, Arkansas. The groom attended McMurry College in Abilene and is employed by West Texas Wholesale Supply at Abilene.

A small reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Phelps. The bridegroom's parents were included in the house party.

Visits Old Home Place

Mrs. O. L. Woodward took her mother, Mrs. Terry McMullen, who is 88 years old and makes her home with her, on a trip recently to Rushville, Indiana, to visit relatives. En route they visited their old home place at Knoxville, Mo., where Mrs. Woodward was born and reared.

They were accompanied by Mrs. Woodward's brother, Hubert McMullen of Lubbock and a brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Boyd of Brownwood.

They visited other relatives at St. Louis, Mo., and Texarkana, Ark. Mrs. Woodward reports that the scenery through the Ozarks was most beautiful with the tall trees and underbrush, a riot of Fall colors.

She also reported that her mother stood the trip fine and was so excited she was still talking about it and didn't seem the least bit tired.

The party made the 3,000 mile trip in Mrs. Woodward's station wagon.

Mrs. Irene Rutland is reported as being very ill at the Shannon hospital in San Angelo. Her children are at her bedside and she is in a coma most of the time.

Mr. and Mrs. Elton McGinnes and Mr. and Mrs. Sam McGinnes have gone to Laredo in South Texas seeking a better climate for Mrs. Elton McGinnes, who has been recently hospitalized in San Angelo and suffering from asthma. Mr. and Mrs. Sam McGinnes will stay with her when her husband returns home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Van Dusen went to Andrews and Odessa last Thursday to visit their sons, Billy Van Dusen and David Lawrence and family. Little Brenda Kay Lawrence of Odessa came home with her grandparents and visited until Sunday when her father came after her.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Wilson and family of San Angelo spent the night with their grandmother, Mrs. L. T. Wilson last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer West are expecting their daughter, Mrs. Gene Eubank and children, Scott and Leslie Lynn, of San Marcos for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Burton, of the U.S. Navy and stationed in Virginia, visited his parents, Mr and Mrs. Bruce Burton, this week and took their children who have been with the grandparents for some time with them to visit the other grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dossett in Arkansas.

Mrs. Nolan McDonald of Granite Shoals is spending this week with relatives and friends in Eldorado and expects to return home to Morrow.

FELIX SUMMERS

The crows are happy for they eat insects — but what about the scrub cow and one blade of grass? Regardless of the cause — drought, destructive farming practices, wind or water erosion — a great improvement can be made by the adoption of proper land use practices. Your local soil conservation district is organized under state law to assist you — see them now!

First Christian C W F

The C. W. F. met in the fellowship hall of the church. Meeting opened with prayer by Ruth Baker. Minutes were read and the treasurer's report was given.

Our lesson was on Sapphira. We are still learning about the women of our Bible. We are also learning that sin confronted the people in that day as well as at our present time.

Mrs. Cogswell read the scriptures and Ruth Baker gave the lesson. We will have Mrs. George Grupe of San Angelo for our Woman's Day speaker on December 6th. A dinner is being planned for that day. Our meetings in December will be on the 7th and 14th due to Christmas holidays. The December 14th meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Cogswell. A special program is being planned. Our gifts will be a special donation that day and will be sent to the Juliette Fowler Home in Dallas. Anyone having clothing to donate bring to the church to Mrs. Young. We are making up a box to send to the home January 1st.

Meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Cogswell. Refreshments of cherry cake and tea were served. Our next meeting will be Nov. 23 when Mrs. Raymond Schrank will be hostess.—Reporter.

Movie Line-Up At Sonora Drive-In

William Holden's manliness is tested in the Malayan jungle, young Robert Walker stars in a Navy picture, and an assortment of jailbirds is given the task of winning World War II, in the three motion pictures coming up at the Bronco Drive-In Theatre in Sonora.

"The 7th Dawn" is being shown tonight and Saturday night at the drive-in. The U.S.'s baffling Far Eastern policy may be illuminated by this movie in which that most American actor, William Holden, goes back to the jungle. He is a prospering left-over from World War II, a rubber-planter. It is a three-way squeeze. The "colonels" are represented by rigid tea-drinking British. Most of resentful population is simmering native. Inspired by a more ardent feeling are Red-inspired terrorists.

The longish show-down involves much jungle-creeping, in routine color, some dynamiting and tedious registration of fear in pace-slackening closeups.

Holden is sufficiently brave to face the native adversaries but not to face up to a wife, which is the futile idea of two women.

One is the actress Capucine, who labors through a Eurasian role, with considerably more appeal than other reviewers have reported. The other girl is the British Governor's daughter blonde Susannah York.

"Ensign Pulver" which will be shown Sunday and Monday nights stars Robert Walker, Burl Ives, Walter Matthau and Tommy Sands in this motion picture in color which has a setting in the Navy.

The current picture centering around Pulver offers Robert Walker in the title role. He is the not ungifted offspring of the late Robert Walker Sr., then married to the actress Jennifer Jones.

Young Walker gives a performance that is film-mugging and high spirited.

The rest of the cast are no credit to the Navy. Burl Ives, without beard, is the terror of a skipper, later set adrift by a mutinous crew. Walker is chief rescuer.

"The Secret Invasion" is set in World War II, is in color, has the Nazis as sadistics as ever and the "enemy" is of course the German war machine riding high in Yugoslavia. It will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Our side is ignobly noble and valiant in the spirit of the freedom loving Allies with a genius at improvisation and a talent for recruiting bizarre fighters.

Maj. Stewart Granger, looking every inch like a Gilbert and Sullivan major general, assembles a task force in Cairo of "desperate contemptibles." Raf Vallone is a master mind of crime under long prison sentence in El Raamle, Lebanon. Mickey Rooney is a gibbering Irish dynamiter with a background in the Irish Republican army and plain, productive safe-cracking. He is an inmate of England's Borstel Prison.

Edd Byrnes has a gift for forgery, being expatriated at the USA's Leavenworth. Henry Silva's halls of ivy are Alcatraz where he is under death sentence for cold murder. William Campbell is French, a specialist in romantic impersonations, presently in residence at the Republic's tropical hell, Devil's Island.

You can see that "Secret Invasion" on arrival on the Sonora screen, is peopled more intensely than the regulation movie commandos who just brawl in the barracks. Managers Hillman and Muriel Brown describe the picture as a "sleeper."

Major Granger's "contemptibles" have everything to win including the war as they invade wartime Yugoslavia. They have nothing to lose except a date with the electric chair or 25 years behind bars.

Home Demonstration Agent's Column

By MRS. VIDA KREKLOW

When I was a kid I liked to read stories of people who left notes and things like that around to be read after the writer was off to some kind of exciting venture. I can now use the words myself and say—

"When you read this I will be in the air, taking my first jet plane ride and off to Washington, D. C." Years ago I worked in Washington and had an office in the Department of Agriculture building. Until the Pentagon was built this was the biggest office building in the world. I hate to admit it but I never got over the feeling that one day I was going to get lost going to the cafeteria on our wing, not just on our floor. I never did get lost but it was always a possibility.

All of this took place before World War II and my section was a small group of people, 14 to be exact, who had been gathered in from all parts of the country to report on and to find out what people thought of the New Deal agricultural program. How innocent and naive we were! What simple pioneers and I might just say how simple, we were.

This story illustrates my statement. In those days real, live Communists were swarming in Washington. As World War II neared they were told to get lost, preferably in some respectable, unsuspected department. They all made a dash for the Department of Agriculture—for who would look for them in a farm centered organization?

As I mentioned, my section was so small we all knew each other quite well; went home with each other for dinner, rode horses on Sunday afternoons and did all the friendly things which were fun for me because I had never lived out of Texas before, much less in a city. Three people in this group were, however, of an absolutely new breed to me. I had never run into their counterpart before. A young man and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bela Gold and Herman Zapp, their friend, just never would check out for me. They were all friendly enough but I remember thinking at the time that they seemed overly anxious to argue about things—just anything—and that they didn't seem to know anything about real farms and farmers. These were the days of pre-Taft-Hartley law and they were deeply involved in their thinking concerning the laboring man and his problems.

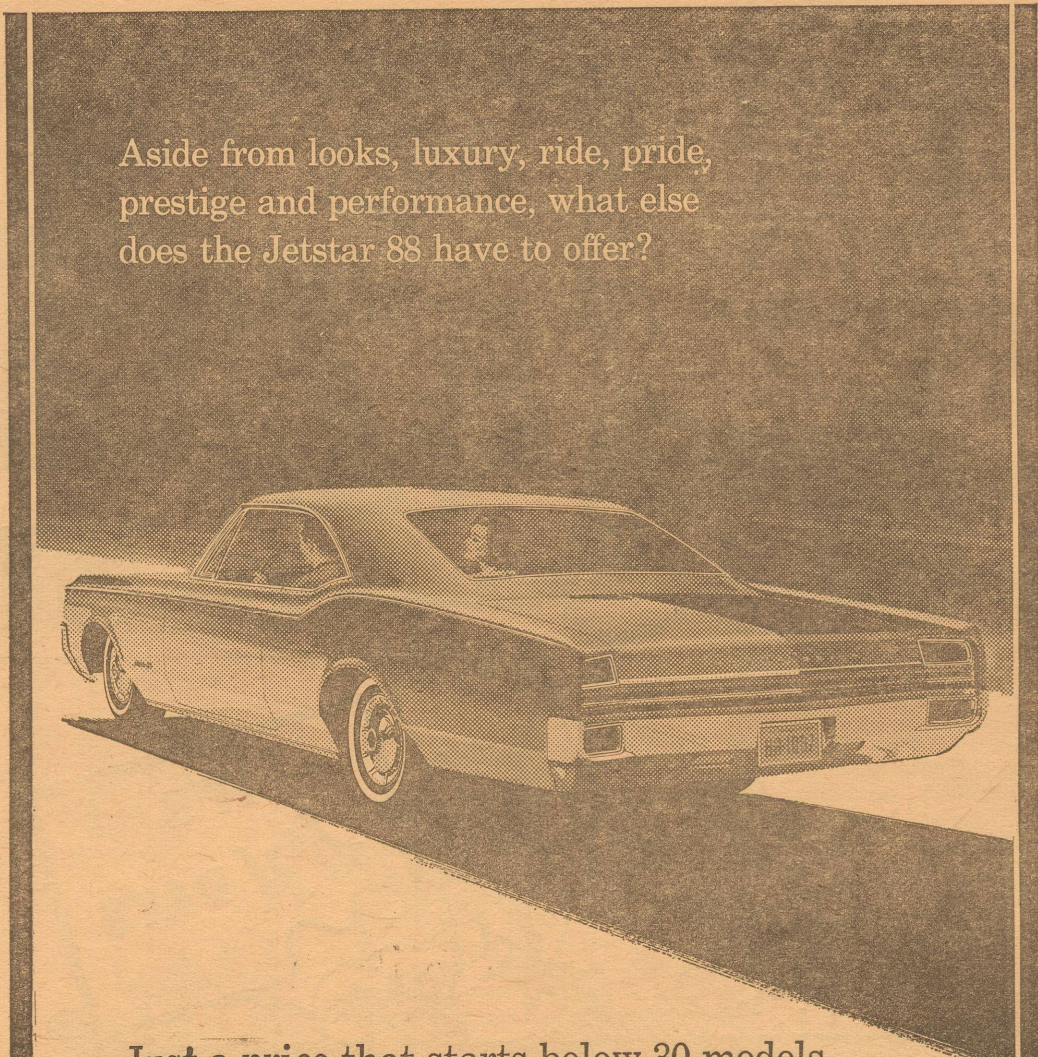

At the close of the year with this division, Joe and I were married, the "office" sent us a silver vegetable dish for a wedding present and gradually the "analysts" were replaced by other people in my life and I more or less forgot them.

Then one night in the late '40's here on the farm, I picked up a new Reader's Digest and turned to an article called "Ten of the Most Wanted Communists." You guessed right—Bela Gold and Herman Zapp were two of them. No wonder they listened to what I said; they were not interested in me, they wanted to know about Texas. I'll admit it shook me a little. Real Communists and I didn't even know it. I read the article to Joe and said, "If I ever find out that that nice man named Rensis Lickert, our department head, was a Red, I don't think I will get over it."

I didn't have long to wait to find out. In a month or two the good Reader's Digest brought my answer. It was good news. Rensis Lickert never was Red and is now the head of the research department of the University of Michigan, in Ann Arbor, and under his direction the pace is set for all the gathering and processing of data concerning every facet of our lives today is carried on. I just knew that Rensis Lickert was one of the "good guys"—or did I?

Somewhere in the beginning of this tale I seem to have left my subject. I'm going to Washington to attend a meeting of the National Home Demonstration Agents Association. It's been a long time since I was in Washington and I'll be glad to see once again all the deeply moving sights which mean "America" to me. The Lincoln Memorial, the exciting needle piercing the sky called the Washington Monument, the nation's capitol, the White House, are not tourist attractions to me—they are feelings and words of greatness made manifest in stone.

The theme of our convention covers just about everything—"Four Dimensions of Citizenship: Home, Community, Nation, and
