Several More Gas Wells Kick Off

Two more gas wells, within a mile of Eldorado, kicked off and were flaring by Monday morning. Delta-Pauley No. 2 Jackson, which should have been completed over a month ago, was flaring Sunday after a long, expensive repair job in defective casing. A work-over rig had been on that job for about five weeks.

In the meantime Delta had moved its rotary to their No. 2 West which was completed recently without incident. It was being swabbed on Sunday and kicked off Monday morning.

Delta's rotary was skidded over a week ago to their No. 3 West where drilling is now under way.

Steps are being taken to bring in a pipeline to provide an outlet for at least some of these gas wells. Brooks Pipeline Co., is securing easements for an extension of their line from the Lux well to the Eldorado field.

Geochemical No. 2 Speck, about 12 miles west of Eldorado, kicked off last Friday and has been flaring since that time. It was still unloading some water Monday evening, and was described at that time as a "pretty good small gasser."

Second 4,600-foot Canyon oil producer and a location north extension to that pay was assured in the Otto multipay oil and gas field of Schleicher county, with the recovery of 114 barrels of new oil at Tucker Drilling Co., Inc., San Angelo, No. 3-B M. Reynolds, in 41-I-GH&SA, prospective Harkey sand gas pay opener, 20 miles northeast of Eldorado.

Canyon sand production was extended 3/4 mile northwest on the south side of the Velrex multipay oil and gas field of Schleicher county with completion of Standard Oil Co. of Texas No. 3 R. L. Henderson, 20 miles northwest of Eldorado.

It was finalized for a calculated, absolute open flow of 735,000 cubic feet of gas per day, plus 15.3 barrels of 67.2 gravity condensate per million cubic feet of gas.

Production was through perforations between 6,441-60 feet, which had been acidized with 2,000 gallons and fractured with 15,000 pounds and 20,000 gallons.

Rescheduled as a 7,500-foot Strawn wildcat, it was drilled to 7,250 feet.

Location is 1,320 feet from the south and east lines of 59-TT-TCRR.

John Q. McCabe, No. 1 DeLong, Schleicher county Canyon sand discovery, 12 miles northwest of Eldorado and four miles southwest of the Velrex multipay oil and gas field, was continuing to flow to clean, making gas at the approximate rate of 1.5 million cubic feet.

A re-entry operation, it originally was drilled by Fryer & Hanson and abandoned March 31, 1953.

Tucker Drilling Co. No. 3-B M. Reynolds in 41-I-GH—SA, assured second 4,600-foot Canyon oil producer in the Otto multipay field 20 miles northeast of Eldorado, was flowing new oil at the hourly rate of 10 barrels. Flow was through an 18-64 inch choke and perforations between 4588-4592 feet with tubing pressure of 200 pounds.

Cities Service No. 1-BM University below 8,410 feet in dolomite and chert.

Tucker Drilling Co., has announced location for a 7,300-foot Strawn lime wildcat in Schleicher county, 14 miles northwest of Eldorado. It is the No. 1 R. I. Case.

Location, on a 1,280-acre lease, is 660 feet from the north and east lines of 23-TT-TCRR.

Methodists Approve Memorial Wing

At a called church conference Sunday night, the congregation of the First Methodist church approved future construction of a four-room memorial wing for the educational building.

Although the project has been approved, it may be some time before work gets under way. Estimated cost of the 28-by-60-foot extension was announced as $16,000, and an amendment was approved calling for half that amount or $8,000, to be on hand in the building fund before construction starts.

At present, there is a little over $1,300 in the building fund.

The plan calls for the wing to be built extending south of the kitchen of the present educational building which was built about 10 years ago. There will be a space between the present building and the new one, with the roofs connecting to form a covered walkway.

'The Robe' Is Now Being Shown

If you saw "The Robe" a dozen or more years ago and would like to see it again, now is your opportunity. A Western in color with Robert Taylor, and an off-beat adventure comedy with a setting in the South Seas, complete the coming week's offerings of movies at the Bronco Drive-In Theatre in Sonora.

"The Robe" which has Richard Burton heading its enormous cast, is being re-issued by 20th Century-Fox, and is being shown tonight and Friday night at the Bronco Drive-In.

It is one of the all-time masterpieces of the motion picture art and is based on the late Lloyd C. Douglas' novel of the same title which enjoyed a ten-year popularity on best-seller lists. "The Robe" has itself proved to be one of the greatest of cinematic hits, reproducing in beautiful De Luxe color all of the impressive scenes which made the book so successful. It is the story of what happened to the cloak Christ was wearing at the Crucifixion.

Nothing was spared in making the transition from the printed page. Thirty-one monumental sets, of which only 10 are interiors, had to be built, technically as faithful to the facts divulged by long research as accuracy could make them. Whole sections of Rome and the Holy Land were reproduced in color.

The story unfolds in the unforgettable and matchless settings of the Roman slave market where Marcellus first acquires Demetrius; the glittering palace of the Emperor at Rome and the cliffside villa at Capri; the hill of Calvary where the Crucifixion takes place; the Catacombs of Rome; the city of Jerusalem as it appeared that first Palm Sunday; and the Roman galley ship that symbolizes the movement of the story from Rome to the most far-flung and restless province of its empire.

Equally painstaking care governed the selection of players for "The Robe." The producer, Frank Ross, and the director, Henry Koster, made certain that their offering was peopled with the finest talent from both sides of the Atlantic. Playing Marcellus, tribune of the Emperor, is Richard Burton, the brilliant Britisher who has won such acclaim on the stage, the screen and television. Opposite him, as Diana, the Emperor's ward, is Jean Simmons, whose haunting beauty and skillful artistry is so well known.

Victor Mature, whose performance revealed new powers from this already highly regarded star, is seen as Demetrius, the Greek slave bonded to Marcellus and instrumental in the latter's conversion to the faith which is symbolized by the Robe of Christ. Michael Rennie appears as Simon of Galilee known as Peter.

Other important roles are filled by Jay Robinson, as the sadistic Caligula; and veteran prize-winning actor, Dean Jagger, cast as Justus, a disciple.

"Cattle King" stars Robert Taylor in a typically virile role. This movie will be shown Saturday night in Sonora; it is in color.

America's early history of the West, rife with episodes of strife and warfare between cattlemen of opposing interests, offers a dramatic backdrop for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's hard-hitting, hard-riding and hard-shooting picture.

The arresting photography of this outdoor drama matches the excitement and quick-triggered pace of Thomas Thompson's original screen play. It was filmed in color on the far-reaching ranges backgrounded by hills and mountains in the California region near Kernville and Lone Pine. And veteran director Tay Garnett has utilized the beautiful and picturesque setting to give full visual impact to his mass-movement scenes of riders cutting the fences of a recalcitrant landowner, tearing down the homestead of a "nester" and the final gunplay showdown between the followers of an unscrupulous cattle baron and the forces representing small ranchers and early-day homesteaders.

The period of "Cattle King" is that of the Wyoming Territory of 1883, when lobbyists tried to get passage of a National Trail bill to establish a cattle drive trail from Texas through Wyoming all the way to Canada, a free passage way to the seasonal grazing grounds of the north. The bill, which would have opened vast range lands to over-grazing by the rich and powerful ranching companies, set off the personal feuds, conflicts, killings, burnings and vengeance which furnish the vigorous action of "Cattle King."

Robert Taylor as Sam, a cattleman with fenced-in holdings, and Robert Middleton as his bitter enemy Clay Mathews, who stands to gain if the territory is opened to unlimited grazing, represent the leaders of the opposing factions.

Joan Caulfield returns to the screen as Sharleen Travers, Taylor's romantic interest, with other leading roles played by Robert Loggia as Johnny Quatro, one of Sam's ranchers as quick with his fists as with a gun; William Windom as Sharleen's weak-willed brother; Ray Teal, Virginia Christine, Bob Ivers, Maggie Pierce, Richard Devon, Malcolm Atterbury and Woodrow Parfrey.

An outstanding co-starring role is played by Larry Gates as President Chester A. Arthur. President Arthur made an inspection trip of the ranch country depicted in the film story on his way to Yellowstone Park in 1883, and writer Thompson has used him as a major character in "Cattle King."

"Father Goose" is not a nursery tale but a titular play on words. This motion picture, which depicts Cary Grant in an adventure comedy with a setting in the South Seas, comes to the Bronco screen Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday nights.

Grant, a university professor who has sought refuge from 20th century worries on a South Pacific island, is caught up in the throes of World War II by becoming a "spotter" for the Australians. His code name is "Mother Goose." When Leslie Caron and a bevy of shipwrecked schoolgirls invade Grant's haven, it is only natural that the "Mother" becomes "Father"—and there you have the title.

Like most fictional noncombatants, Grant can be spectacularly heroic. He navigates an 8-foot dinghy across 40 miles of open sea to rescue Leslie Caron and seven giggling female children.

Under Miss Caron's schoolmarmish direction, Grant is inspired to watch his drinks, to watch his language and mind at least Miss Caron's manners. Thus is "Father Goose" allied literally with such masterpieces as "African Queen" and The Pied Piper of Hamelin.

Between scowls and insults Grant does teach Miss Caron how to catch fish with her bare hands, to keep cool with banana-leaf fans and to help him at the microphone.

She softens on whiskey when she thinks she has a snake-bite. With her tongue unwontedly loosened, she confesses that certain feeling for Mr. Grant who can be a nice-looking fellow with a shave and haircut, never looking his age.

A chaplain performs a wedding ceremony by wireless under circumstances that a chaplain might construe as a war emergency.

Grant is a reasonable success in an unkempt role and Miss Caron, strictly an acquired taste, lives up to her past roles. The script is cunningly comedy and melodrama.

The scenery, which is in color, has the lure of the South Seas although actually filmed around Jamaica.

The U. S. Constitution, that much maligned document, came under fresh attack in Congress last week with the new Voter Right legislation that was sent to Capitol Hill from the White House.

Under our system, every QUALIFIED voter should have the right to vote, regardless of race, creed or color. The Constitution guarantees that.

But the Constitution says the states—not the federal government—has the right to determine the qualification of voters. The Supreme Court has so held—but that was in the past. On the subject of literacy tests the court has ruled "its establishment was but the exercise by the state of a lawful power vested in it not subject to our supervision, and indeed, its validity is admitted."

Yet, despite the clear constitutional guaranty, the President has called on Congress to pass a bill which would, in one fell swoop, strike down every "test or device" now contained in any state law with respect to the qualifications of a voter: and establish a system of "federal registrars" who would have power to register any voters the whim of a federal bureaucrat in charge might determine.

That federal control could apply even to the election of a local justice of the peace or the mayor of a town, if the federal establishment should decide to move in and exercise this new power.

This new federal power would invalidate every literacy test, which applies to both blacks and whites alike, in any state.

But, regardless of the Constitution, in an atmosphere of emotional hysteria, all signs point to a railroading job in Congress. The Negro bloc vote is at the bottom of this grab for power. Of that there is no doubt.

And all signs indicate that a subservient Supreme Court will approve anything that is enacted. As the President spoke to a joint session of the Congress last week, Chief Justice Warren and other members of the Court, were seen to cheer the President as he repeated Martin Luther King's demonstration battle cry: "We will not be moved!"

Another indicator of the Court's pre-judgment of the legislation occurred the morning following the President's address, when Nicolas Katzenbach, the Attorney General, conferred with some Senate leaders. When asked about the constitutionality of the voter bill he was discussing, the Attorney General was reported as replying that he had shown the draft to the Chief Justice and four other members of the Court, and said "they enthusiastically approved it."

It appears that opponents of this brazen extension of federal power are playing with a stacked deck!

Home Demonstration Agent's Column
By MRS. VIDA KREKLOW

The Menard Home Demonstration clubs were hostesses to 16 adjoining counties recently and the Schleicher county guests had a most enjoyable day.

Judge John Winslow of Menard welcomed the visitors and in his talk he recalled the early days of Home Demonstration Club work in Menard county and as a part of the reminiscences he told this story:

Back in the depression 'thirties, there was not many means of recreation which the people were able to enjoy but one thing they did do was to bring their suppers or dinners, spread them and eat together and then to play games or visit until time to go home.

It seems that one night after such a supper a couple went out, got in their well worn Model A, and started home. It wasn't long, so the story went, before the head of the family realized that the atmosphere inside the car was a lot chillier than it was outside, despite the fact that a board had been nailed over the door with the broken glass.

The poor man was absolutely mystified as to what had brought on the big change and begged his wife to just tell him what he had done wrong and upon his word promised he would never to do it again. He got no answer; just a twist of the head with the face turned toward the boarded up window.

Luckily, it wasn't far to the ranch, Judge Winslow said, and they were home in a few minutes. When the car stopped the husband finally said, "O. K., you know that your door won't open from the inside and I'm not going to let you out until you tell me what's the matter."

She turned to face him and with a voice full of furiously hurt pride said, "You and Mrs. Smith's pie. What wonderful pie, Mrs. Smith, I don't see how you made it so good. I declare Mrs. Smith I think I'll have another piece of that good pie of yours. That's what's wrong," she said.

"Oh, honey, for goodness sake," was the relieved answer. "Mrs. Smith's pie NEEDED bragging on."

I submit a recipe for a quick supper or luncheon dish which I can promise will not need any bragging on. It's a favorite of Mrs. Delbert Taylor's and she says I may pass it along to you.

Ham and Rice Medley

1 can cream of chicken soup
3/4 to 1 cup chopped, cooked ham

1 teaspoon chopped onion
1 cup milk
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup uncooked rice.

Mix in order given; place all in greased casserole and bake until rice is tender, about 45 minutes. Remove from oven and add 2 or 3 chopped pimientos; stir in, top with grated cheese, return to oven and heat until cheese melts.

I've always wondered at what time of day I wind my watch. I never remember winding it, yet it never runs down, I've found out.

I broke the band the other day and while our most efficient Junior Jeweler was fixing it after school I was without the nagging thief of time overnight. The next morning as I joined the main road from our drive way, leaving the house for work, I found myself winding the watch that I didn't have on. Now I know when I wind my watch.

I love watches and yet I'm a little sorry that they got cheap enough for everybody to own one. The time was when only the head of the house owned a watch and it was his high privilege to announce the time of day at his pleasure. Some men made a ritual of moving their fingers across the watch chain, slowly lifting the watch from the vest pocket, pressing the catch that snapped the cover open and then deliberately announcing that it was 10:18 1/2.

I like to watch watch watches. Some people look at their watches as if they were time bombs with short fuses and take a look on their face which says they and they alone know the hour at which the earth will blow up with a bang.

The most powerful look at a watch occurs when a man is ready to go home from a meeting or a party, and he knows that his wife is not. He catches his wife's eye with one eye and swings a powerful look at his watch with the other. More effective than a hundred words.

The slyest glance at anybody's watch is the nonchalant one taken just about 10 minutes before the sermon is over. But I don't know how I would ever know anything about those glances; they are taken so deftly that not even the person next to you knows whether you were looking at your watch or dusting a tiny piece of lint from a coat sleeve.

Ask the average person what picture comes to mind when the word "time" is mentioned and very likely he will say that he sees the face of a watch.

Do they still make Mickey Mouse watches? I haven't seen one for a long. Do you suppose that someone decided that Mr. Mouse was a character much too frivolous to entrust such a solemn and important thing, as time, to? And do you suppose that someone figured that our children should be given a sterner concept of time than a cute little fellow in big shoes could ever convey? I just wish it didn't make any difference what time it is.

Presents Slide Program

Mrs. Edwin T. Johnson of Indonesia and Midland, now on sabbatical leave and visiting her mother-in-law, Mrs. T. W. Johnson, in Eldorado, presented a program of slides and open discussion at the First Baptist church Monday afternoon. She entitled her program, "People and the way they live as I see them." She began the program with views of the Pacific Ocean at Hawaii, then presented pictures taken in Hong-Kong, Singapore, Bali, the Philippines, Thailand, Java, Bangkok, and many other places, but mostly in Indonesia where she has lived on the island of Sumatra at Dumai since 1958.

Of special interest to the members of the Woman's Missionary Union of the church were the scenes of the temples, pagodas and Buddhas; of the different religions in the Far East.

The social committee of the W.M.U. were hostesses and served white cake squares and green punch from a table covered with a white linen cloth, centered with an arrangement of white stock and peonies in a milk glass epergne.

Mrs. Richard Cheatham served at the punch bowl. Mrs. Gus Love contributed the centerpiece. Some 35 persons were present.

Club Holds Tasting Tea

Members of the Eldorado Woman's Club were hostesses for the first Tasting Tea ever held in Eldorado, last Thursday from 2:30 to 4:30. The tea was held at the home of Mrs. Ed Meador on Dixie Drive in Glendale.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Meador, Mrs. Arch Mittel, president of the club, and Mrs. Edwin Jackson, club secretary. The guests were served immediately on arrival from the dining room table which was laden with miniature servings of exotic foods prepared by club members, taking a "taste" of each. Mrs. L. L. Watson served the coffee and Mrs. Jess Blaylock poured the tea. Serving at the table were Mrs. C. N. Clark, Mrs. Bascomb Hartgraves, Mrs. R. D. Johnson, and Mrs. T. R. Spence.

Mrs. Keno Ogden was in charge of the recipes which were sold individually.

The guests were conducted on tours of the lovely, newly remodeled and re-decorated home, with Mrs. P. S. Dudley, Mrs. L. D. Ochsenr and Mrs. W. A. Van Dusen in charge of the tours.

The rooms were decorated with arrangements of spring flowers. Guests attended from Ozona, Sonora, and Eldorado.

"walks" right over bumps and trouble

Independent front suspension takes the "truck" out of truck ride. It smooths rough roads, protects truck, driver and cargo from excessive jolting. And on Chevrolet pickups it's a proved system with millions of miles of user experience behind it. Try it out on one of Chevrolet's great Fleetside or Stepside pickups. It's one of the big reasons that Chevrolet is first choice with pickup users from coast to coast.

By Dayton Kelley
Mary Hardin-Baylor College

Brigadier General Lawrence Sullivan Ross was one of the youngest and most distinguished Texas general officers of the Civil War. He was only 27 years old when the War ended but had participated in 135 battles and skirmishes, had had five horses shot from under him, and had been commended by such notable as Joseph E. Johnston, Earl Van Dorn, William J. Hardee, Nathan B. Forrest, Stephen D. Lee and William H. Jackson.

Prior to the outbreak of the war, he had gained distinction as a Texas Indian fighter, had 'rescued' Cynthia Ann Parker from the Comanches and killed the noted chief Peta Nocona. As captain of a company of Texas Rangers under appointment from Sam Houston, Ross served on the frontier of Texas, resigning in February of 1861.

He entered the Confederate service as a private, but promotions came rapidly and soon he was elected to command what was to become known as Ross' Cavalry Brigade, a unit he was to lead until the spring of 1865.

During the 15 months Ross commanded the brigade, the unit was in almost continual action in Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee.

Ross, who was born in Iowa in 1838, came to Texas with his parents when he was an infant. The family lived for a time in Milam County, later moving to Austin and finally to Waco in 1849 where the father was U. S. Indian agent at the Brazos Indian Reservation.

Young Ross attended Baylor University at Independence in 1856 and was graduated in 1859 from Wesleyan University at Florence, Alabama. Returning home from his college days for a summer vacation, Ross was severely wounded in a brush with Indians. His life was saved by some of his faithful friends from his father's reservation whom the young fighter was leading in support of Major Earl Van Dorn against the Comanches.

At War's end, Ross came back to his home at Waco where he took up farming. He was elected sheriff of McLennan County and thus entered upon a career of public service as distinguished as his military career.

He was a member of the Constitutional Convention of 1875 and was elected to the Senate in 1880. In 1887, Ross was elected governor and was the first governor to occupy the new capitol building at Austin. His administration was marked by many improvements in educational and eleemosynary circles, a fact which made his popularity known from one border of Texas to the other as "Sul Ross."

When he retired as governor in 1891, Ross was elected president of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas where he served with distinction during an era when the college was growing and expanding in both enrollments and in buildings.

Ross died in 1898 after becoming ill on a hunting trip. He is buried in Waco. An imposing statue of the prominent Texas Confederate hero stands on the campus at Texas A&M University and the state college at Alpine is named "Sul Ross" in his honor.

Recommended reading this week: At least two excellent accounts of some of the deeds of Ross' Cavalry Brigade are available in reprint editions of narratives by participants. One of these is "The Lone Star Defenders" by S. B. Barron of the Third Texas Cavalry, Ross' Brigade. The book has been reprinted by W. M. Morrison of Waco. The other is "Ross' Texas Brigade" by Victor M. Rose which has been reprinted by Continental Book Company of Kennesaw, Ga.

The latter is just one of many excellent volumes of Civil War memoirs and narratives available from one of America's finest reprint houses. In addition there are several other volumes of varying types which have been published by Continental. Among these are "The Comanches" by Frank M. Myers, an account of the war service of the 35th Battalion, Virginia Infantry; "Sketch of Cobb Legion Cavalry" by Wiley C. Howard; "The Burning of Columbia, S. C." by D. H. Trezevant; "Sam Davis" by H. M. Hamil; and "Three Hundred Days in a Yankee Prison" by John H. King.

All are worthy of a place on a Civil War buff's shelves.

CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank those, who extended words of comfort to me, and also for the cards received since the death of my dear brother.

Local FHA Members Attend Area Meeting

Eldorado FHA Chapter was represented at the Area II Meeting in Odessa's Permian High School Saturday. The theme "Home Life—Our Concern" was topic of Mrs. L. C. McDonald of Sterling City. One project of the national organization "Stay in School" was discussed by girls from El Paso who were representatives to the Attorney General's Youth Conference, 1964.

Greetings were brought by Dr. D. L. Kirk, superintendent, Ector County Schools, from Jane Cave, First Vice President of the Texas Association of Roby, and from Mrs. Sunny Gray, Area 11 President of State Association of Young Homemakers of Pecos, Texas.

The Area's business was conducted during noon at the House of Delegates; Luella Geldard represented the local group.

A very impressive devotional, "Man's Search for Eternal Happiness" was presented by the Tahoka Chapter and written by Area Secretary, Marla Bray. Mrs. Marge Caldwell, a Midland model agency director, charmed the group with her discussion "Make the Most of Your Talents and Charm."

To set the stage for the following style show, as the Roll Call of Chapters was given, each girl walked across the stage and presented a flower which was placed in an umbrella; others were hung from the ceiling.

The final part of the wonderful day's program was the installation of the new slate of officers for 1965-66.

Those attending from Eldorado were: Luella Geldard, June Deaton, Maggie Stockton, Enequina Garza, Carol Casbeer and sponsor, Miss Dana Owens.

Music Competition Meet Held in Abilene

Regional II Music Competition Festival was held in Abilene March the 18th and 19th in Abilene High School.

The choirs, directed by Mrs. Irene Teele, made the following ratings:

High School mixed concert III, good;
Sight reading, II, excellent;
Girls' choir, concert II, excellent; sight reading, III, good.
Jr. High choir, concert III, good. Sight reading, IV, fair.

Other towns competing were San Angelo, Abilene, Brownwood, Snyder, and Sweetwater.

Chairman for the contest was Jack Gover of Cooper High school.—Rep.

Training Session Here Tonight

A community-wide workshop to train leaders, will be held at the Memorial Building tonight (Thursday) from 7:30 to 9:30.

O. B. Clifton and Miss Bonnie Cox, organizational specialists from Texas A&M, will conduct the session.

Topics to be discussed will include: how to preside over a meeting; correct parliamentary procedure; how to be a good president, and committee duties.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

LIONS VOTE $25 FOR LIBRARY ROOM DRAPERIES

At their meeting yesterday, the Lions club voted to give $25 for new draperies being installed in the library which was recently moved to larger quarters in the Memorial Building.

Fred Watson presided. Charles Wimer introduced Paula Mace as club nominee in the queen's contest to be held at the district convention in Sweetwater.

For the program, Roy Phelps introduced bandmaster Eddie Pace who had several of his high school students give instrumental selections.

Atomic Symposium Set April 1 In San Angelo

Outstanding high school students from the San Angelo area will attend a symposium on atomic energy featuring some of the nation's leading scientists to be held April 1 on the campus of San Angelo College.

The all day conference will be sponsored by West Texas Utilities Company and SAC.

It is the hope of WTU that this program will not only prove to be extremely informative to the high school students but will also be an inspiration to those students who may be considering science as a career.

The program has been arranged by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation of which WTU is a member.

About 600 students will attend the symposium representing high schools in cities from a wide area of West Texas served by WTU. Many will be accompanied by science teachers.

The sessions will be held in the SAC auditorium. WTU will be host to the students and teachers at a luncheon on the day of the symposium.

Reynolds Community Gathers For 42 Games

About 30 friends and neighbors of the Reynolds community gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Reynolds Saturday evening to play 42 and see pictures that Robert (Bobby) Williams took while on tour of duty in Korea.

We enjoyed playing 42 and visiting until about 9:00 o'clock, then cake and coffee were served. Then we watched pictures for about 1½ hours, which were about a third of Bobby's pictures.

Many expressed surprise that all farm work was done by oxen, or by hand. The crops are planted by hand, cut with hand sickles and thrashed by hand.

The women carry their babies on their backs while carrying large loads on their heads.

The men carry large loads in A-frames on their backs. There are a few ox drawn carts, bicycles are a common way of carrying their products such as bags of rice, chickens or hogs, and fire wood.

We want to thank Fay and Bob for such an enjoyable evening.—Rep.

Mrs. Harkey To Head Cancer Drive

Mrs. Mary Nell Harkey has been announced as Schleicher county chairman of this year's Cancer fund drive to be held during the month of April.

Mrs. Harkey is lining up her committees and other helpers to conduct a county-wide drive. Plans are under way for the drive to be put on by direct mail, personal solicitation, and other means and a house to house canvass to be made on a designated day.

Further plans and details will be announced later.

Fishing License Is Required Ages 17-65

Austin, March 25.—The idea of catching fish without getting caught—without a license—is a favorite selling point nowadays by J. B. Phillips, coordinator of law enforcement of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The fishing license, for residents and non-residents alike, costs only $2.15. If caught without one, a fisherman can expect to pay fines ten times or more the cost of the license.

A fishing license is required of everyone who fishes in Texas with only three exceptions: persons less than 17 or over 65 years of age; persons fishing on property on which they reside or own; and persons fishing in the county of their residence and not using a reel or other winding device.

To clarify the age limits, if you have reached your 17th birthday but not your 65th birthday, you are in the age bracket in which the license is required. Licenses are available at many fishing tackle and bait dealers, filling stations, grocery stores and at Texas Parks and Wildlife Department offices.

Among the public spirited outdoor editors counseling the folks to have their licenses, is Dan Klepper, San Antonio Express-News. Klepper touched on one angle in a recent column: "You do not need a license if you take your kids fishing and do not fishing yourself. But if you take the rod and reel in your hands and a game warden sees you with the fishing outfit in your possession, what is the warden to think?"

Dan added: "It also is advisable to pick up a copy of the fishing laws before you fish in an unfamiliar area. Size and bag limits often vary from county to county and from lake to lake. A copy of the laws is available, free, from most stores which sell licenses."

Texas Traffic Fatalities Exceeded 3,000 In 1964

Austin.—Traffic fatalities in Texas exceeded the 3,000 mark for the first time in history during the 1964 calendar year.

Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety reported that the traffic death book for 1964 was closed at noon Monday, March 15, with a total of 3,006 fatalities on the streets and highways of Texas.

"The total for last year represents a 10% increase over the 2,729 lives lost in 1963," Garrison said. "Coupled with this tragic loss of life is the staggering economic loss of almost $487 million."

Garrison reported that the DPS Statistical Services estimated that traffic accidents increased from 399,917 in 1963, to 454,762 during 1964. The number of miles driven in the state increased from 52.3 billion in 1963 to slightly over 55.6 billion last year.

The death rate (the number of fatalities for each 100 million miles of travel) was 5.4 during 1964, compared to 5.2 during 1963. The 1964 figure was the highest death rate since 1957, when it reached 6.0.

"Each month throughout the year," Garrison stated, "more than 200 fatalities were reported to the DPS. For six of the months, the total exceeded 250 deaths per month."

"We are well into the 1965 driving year, and statistics indicate that fatalities are far ahead of last year's tragic record. Unless each driver accepts the responsibility of operating a motor vehicle properly, we can look forward to an even greater total of death and suffering for the present year."

Garrison said that acceptance of responsibility and the resolution on the part of each driver to follow the rules of safety could aid materially in reducing tragedy during 1965 and the years to come.

The ELDORADO SUCCESS

A WINNER FOR THE FIFTH TIME

For the fifth consecutive year West Texas Utilities Company has been awarded first place in the Bureau of Safety Motor Vehicle Accident Prevention Contest. The 1964 award was presented to WTU President S. B. Phillips (right), by Ray Gillan of the Bureau of Safety at the annual management conference in Abilene.

WTU's frequency accident rate for the past 5 years is three accidents for every million miles driven. The national average for electric utility companies is twelve accidents for every million miles, or four times that of WTU.

In 1964 WTU vehicles were driven a total of 5,397,374 miles with only 25 chargeable accidents.

Screw Worm Fund Drive Under Way

The Schleicher County Screw-worm Eradication Committee is laying plans for this county's participation in a concentrated drive to raise $300,000 from the Texas Livestock industry for the Screw-worm Eradication Program.

"The goal for our county is $8,280," according to Gerald Hartgraves, who is chairman of the local committee. He pointed out this goal can be attained if every farmer and rancher will contribute on the basis of 10 cents per animal unit. An animal unit consists of one dairy or beef animal, or one horse, or five sheep, goats, or hogs.

The fund drive will begin Monday, March 29, and will be concluded Monday, April 12. A meeting of all Texas county committee chairmen in Austin, Friday, March 26, will officially kick off the drive.

Livestock producers can leave their contributions at The First National Bank, Eldorado. Donations can also be made to members of the screwworm eradication committee, who include: Gerald Hartgraves, John Powell, Carrol White, L. Steen, Bob Sykes, Howard Derrick, Jo Ed Hill and Leslie Baker, treasurer of the committee.

Necessity for additional producer funds was announced earlier this month by the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation which, along with the State of Texas and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is conducting the eradication program.

The program needs approximately $1.1 million dollars to operate through April, May, and June, Hartgraves explained. The Texas Legislature has already voted $250,000 and Congress is expected to appropriate $550,000 for the 3-month period. These government funds cannot be spent, however, unless producer money is also made available, the county chairman stressed.

The screwworm fly has been eradicated from the Southwest, but a barrier of live, sterile flies must be maintained along the U. S. and Mexico border to prevent fertile flies from Mexico reinfesting the U. S. Approximately 100 million sterile flies will be needed each week during April, May and June. If funds are not made available, the Southwest stands to lose the gains that have already been made.

W. G. Godwin, county agricultural agent, said in the three years the program has been in existence, savings of more than $168 million have been realized by producers. He said two screwworm infestations were detected in this county last year.

Congress is considering a USDA request for $5 million which would make the program financed entirely by the Federal government beginning July 1.

THE HIGH ROAD

L. W. PRENTISS, Executive Vice President AMERICAN ROAD BUILDERS' ASSOCIATION

Safe Scenery

You see some strange sights along the highways.

Not long ago, motorists in Illinois were startled to find a work crew anchoring used Christmas trees in an expressway median. The explanation was reasonable. The trees, donated by department stores, were being set up to simulate evergreen plantings as part of a research project in highway safety.

In this case, the specific problem was that motorists were running off the edge of the pavement onto the median strip. Engineers demonstrated that this was happening because the highway was not adequately defined. The expressway was practically level and the absence of markers, natural or artificial, created a problem in perspective for motorists.

The Christmas trees not only helped motorists stay on the road but also reduced the headlight glare from oncoming vehicles.

Of course, many people would favor evergreen plantings in highway medians simply because of their attractive appearance. Highway engineers are interested in highway beautification not only for aesthetic reasons but, also, because some beautification measures contribute to the safety of the highway. Trees have been found to be valuable as a buffer against undesirable traffic noises, objected to by residents in areas transversed by expressways.

Driver tension and fatigue are the hidden causes of many automobile accidents. Driving on a highway with no conspicuous landmarks or reference points can give the driver the sensation that he is not making any progress. Boredom encourages inattention and fatigue.

With this knowledge in hand, modern highways are being designed to take advantage of natural terrain and to emphasize natural scenic charm. Such a road is not necessarily more expensive to build than one that is constructed in long, straight slashes, and engineers know that it is likely to pay dividends in safety because it is less tiresome to drive on.

The administration is emphasizing the desirability of considering "beauty" in highway location, design and construction, and one can expect a concentrated effort by highway departments to improve their highways in the interest of conserving and developing beauty.

Therefore, highway beautification measures are studied carefully in advance. As knowledge increases, we can look forward to more and more roads that combine good looks with good service.

A NEWSPAPER DEPENDS ON ADVERTISING . . . . . A TOWN DEPENDS ON TRADE . . . . .

A newspaper can no more survive by simply selling papers than a restaurant can make money by serving only free ice water.

It is through advertising that a newspaper is able to make its way.

Many Eldorado firms advertise regularly in The Eldorado Success. Study their advertisements each week . . . you can trade at home and save at home.

Our merchants who advertise are serving a two-fold purpose. They are helping to support the community's newspaper, which the community needs, and serving the public by listing goods and services at competitive prices.

We cannot survive without our advertisers. They cannot survive without you.

Read your hometown newspaper and support the hometown merchants who use its advertising columns.

Misses Wool, Mohair, To Be In Sonora April 1st

The appearance of Miss Wool and Miss Mohair of Texas will highlight a style show and luncheon sponsored by the Sonora Woman's Club in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church on Thursday, April 1, at 12:30 p.m. The show will be directed by Mrs. Vestal Askef of Sonora.

Lynda Rhea Allen of Sterling City, Miss Wool of Texas, and Becky Crouch of Fredericksburg, Miss Mohair, will model wool and mohair fashions at the style show. Mrs. W. L. Whitehead of Sonora will be commentator for the show.

A lamb luncheon will be served before the show by the hostesses Mmes. Norman Rousselot, Ben Cusenbary, Robert Kelley Jr., Louie Trainer, and Albert Ward.

Miss Mohair, Becky Crouch, 19, is a sophomore art major at the University of Texas and has recently been awarded two scholarships in art. As a freshman she was listed Cum Laude Ampla et Summa on the fine arts honor roll.

After being named Miss Mohair in April, 1964, Becky went to New York, where she modeled in the fall clothing markets for two weeks. Her official wardrobe includes her coronation gown and eight other ensembles.

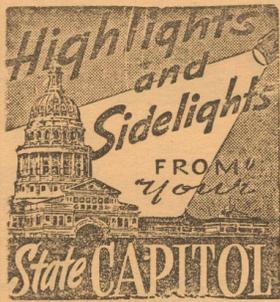

Miss Wool of Texas, 22 year old Lynda Rhea Allen of Sterling City, has made the largest tour ever made by a Miss Wool of Texas, including visits to 32 major cities in Texas. The title of Miss Wool not only gained her an official car, a scholarship, and a trophy, but also a 50-piece wardrobe.

Miss Wool is a graduate of Stephens College in Columbia, Missouri. She graduated with an associate degree in retailing and fashion and was a member of the Stephens College modeling team.

Tickets to the Sonora Woman's Club style show and luncheon may be purchased for $3 a ticket at the Devil's River News in Sonora or by writing or phoning Mrs. Clayton Hamilton, 101 Manor Ave., Sonora 2-7281.

Mrs. Marvin McDonald visited in Lufkin recently with her sister Mrs. W. A. Schuller. Mrs. Schuller accompanied her to Eldorado last week and visited here several days before returning to Lufkin.

Austin.—Gov. John Connally's push for four-year terms for governor and other statewide officials who now are limited to two years between elections is being bottled up in a balky House committee.

While the Senate Constitutional Amendments Committee advanced the proposal with minimum dissent, its House counterpart has postponed action until March 30. Rep. John Allen of Longview is chairman of this House Committee.

Opponents, led by Rep. Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline, made no secret of the fact they hope to block it indefinitely.

The resolution has tremendous political impact, agrees House sponsor Rep. Gene Hendryx of Alpine.

If Connally runs for re-election as many feel he will, a four-year term would place him only at the mid-point of his third term when the national elections roll around in 1968. He thus would be free to concentrate his efforts on helping old friend President Lyndon B. Johnson in his expected bid for another four years in the White House.

Opponents offer a variety of reasons for their stand. Some say they don't want the governor in a position to take a hand in legislative races during his "off" year. Others claim they have no objection to the governor's having a four-year term, but don't want to extend the benefit to other statewide officials now limited to two years. Still others believe officials should be answerable to the voters often.

Proponents argue just as convincingly that most states already allow four-year terms to their chief executives, and that longer terms would give officials more time to concentrate on their duties without pressure of frequent political campaigns. Odds are that the governor eventually will find a way to get a floor vote on the proposed amendment to the constitution before session's end. Then, assuming the necessary two-thirds of lawmakers approve, it will be up to the voters to judge the issues raised.

Water Bill

Most important piece of water legislation to come before the current session was introduced in the deadline rush.

Bill by Rep. Raleigh Brown of Abilene lays out a way for Texas to find out how much water it has in its streams and who can use it. Water belongs to the state, of course, and can be used only by those to whom the state permits its use. Establishing the right to water, however, can be a long and complicated procedure.

Procedure could tie into other bills which would give the present Texas Water Commission the authority to adjudicate water rights. It would not disturb present rights and would permit cancellation of the many permits which have been issued by the Commission, but never have been used. Provision is made for appealing Commission decisions to courts.

Bigger Senate?

Many state senators, looking for a painless way out of legislative redistricting, may have found it in the proposed constitutional amendment to increase their membership.

Senate Constitutional Amendments Committee unanimously approved a resolution to add eight new senatorial districts to the present 31. It also calls for six-year terms for senators, who now serve four-year terms.

Some senators think an early statewide election should be called on the measure and a 39-district reapportionment bill passed in advance to meet the August deadline for redrawing lines on an equal-population basis.

Ranking House members have indicated they have no objection. Big-city legislators point out that the bigger senate would insure metropolitan areas with multiple representation in the upper chamber. It also would give incumbent senators from sparsely-populated districts a fighting chance to hold on to their seats.

Budget Conferees Named

Joint Conference Committee which will write the final version of the 1966-67 state spending bill already is at work.

Senate conferees are Sens. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo, A. M. Aikin of Paris, Bill Moore of Bryan, Martin Dies Jr. of Lufkin and J. P. Word of Meridan.

House conferees are Reps. W. S. Healy of Paducah, Maurice Pipkin of Brownsville, Gus Mutscher of Brenham, Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth and Richard Slack of Pecos.

Farmer Self-Appraisal

A bill by Rep. Felix McDonald of Edinburg to authorize agricultural producers to assess themselves up to one per cent the value of their produce for advertising, research and marketing funds was assigned to study by a subcommittee of the House Constitutional Amendments Committee.

Bill provides that if voters authorize the amendment in 1966, farmers within specified areas still would have to vote the assessment on themselves by at least a 2-to-1 vote. Amendment could be canceled by a simple majority vote later.

Proponents say the assessments would be much less than authorized and that any farmer who requested refund of his assessment would get it back.

Opponents believe the assessment would be a tax authorized by the Legislature, but imposed by a non-governmental body and that the money, as the bill is written, could be used to the detriment of farmers who contributed it.

Liquor Bill Killed

Senate Jurisprudence Committee unceremoniously killed the bill to permit restaurant sale of liquor in small bottles with meals.

Unexpectedly-firm action of the committee assured no liquor-by-the-drink or open-saloons bill will be passed this session.

Sen. Jim Bates of Edinburg sponsored the unsuccessful small-bottles bill which met opposition from liquor stores as well as dries. Bill was backed by the Texas Restaurant Association.

Rep. Jake Johnson of San Antonio says he will continue to push for hearing of his open saloons bill but admits it has little chance.

"Open Meetings" Chances Dim

Legislation to restrict secret sessions of government agencies again is in trouble.

Bill received a familiar cold reception in the Senate State Affairs Committee. Sen. George Parkhouse of Dallas suggested it should be killed on the spot. Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells offered an amendment to force newsmen to disclose their sources of information when questioned in court.

House State Affairs committee offered a more sympathetic ear.

Bill was sent to sub-committees in both panels. House may pass it, but chances in the Senate appear dim indeed.

Women Win, Lose

Texas ladies have won a round and lost one in legislative skirmishes.

Senate tentatively approved the controversial "equal legal rights for women" constitutional amendment, then sent it back to committee in hope of "purging" it of an amendment sponsors consider crippling.

Senate Military Affairs Committee approved a bill to strictly limit admission of women students to once all-male Texas A&M University.

Sen. Bill Moore threatened to quit as chairman of the upper house Education Committee because the bill was yanked from his panel and re-referred to the more sympathetic committee.

Moore also is sponsor of the equal rights proposal.

No City Sales Tax

There will be no permissive city sales tax approved this session.

House killed the proposition 56-84. Bill was sponsored by Rep. John Traeger of Seguin.

Governor Connally made defeated city officials feel somewhat better by agreeing to ask for a Texas Research League study of metropolitan county and state responsibilities, looking toward a new definition of duties.

Short Snorts . . .

Bill to create a new State Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation to take over the job of the present Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools cleared both Houses after hard work by its authors, Sen. Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi and Rep. Wallace Miller of Houston.

Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells, president pro tempore of the Senate, will become "governor for a day" on April 20. Tuberculosis eradication bill has been passed and sent to the governor. House passed the bill to auth-

Bill to require farm land on fringes of cities be assessed for taxation only at its agricultural value has been heard in House Revenue and Tax Committee and referred to sub-committee. American Angora Goat Breeders Association of Rocksprings staged a mohair products style show for wives of top state officials in the governor's office and presented Mrs. John Connally, Mrs. Preston Smith and Mrs. Ben Barnes with hand-knitted mohair sweaters. Texas Railroad Commission ordered a slight decrease in oil production during April—28.5% of potential for 2,919,535-barrel daily allowable.
