Reynolds Area Included In Tuesday Rain

Eldorado residents were surprised to find a slow, steady rain falling when they awakened Tuesday morning, and more surprised to find water standing in many places when they left home.

Night hawks reported that the rain had started about 3:00 a.m., and had been falling steadily since that time. The showers slackened off during the morning.

The west part of the county this time received a generous portion of the rain; in many places an inch and a half, or better, while the City of Eldorado recorded about three-quarters of an inch.

Some of the totals gathered Tuesday were:

Clemens Sauer	1.50
Milton Faught	.50

Henry Speck, Jr.	1.40
Claude Doyle	.75
Forrest Runge Ranch	.50

A large crowd witnessed a good game last Friday night when the Cougars and Red Sox squared away for a hard-fought game.

Batting first, the Cougars took the lead with 4 runs, while the Reds got only one score in the first inning. They had two more runners on base, enough to tie it up again when the batter fanned for the third out. It was a fast game and ended at 9:15 with a score of 6 to 8 in favor of Red Sox.

By innings: 1 2 3 5 6—
Cougars 4 0 0 0 0 2—6
Red Sox 1 0 3 0 4 0—8

Monday, June 21
With several of their older boys absent, the White Sox were not playing up to their usual standard Monday night when they played the Cougars. Nevertheless they defeated the Christoval boys 9 to 5 in a game that featured a great deal of uncontrolled pitching on both sides and many bases on balls.

Wild pitching and bases on balls featured the game Tuesday night when the Red Sox played the Tigers. Batting in the bottom of the first inning the Tigers were given 11 bases on balls and ran in 10 scores—most of them walked in.

As the game moved slowly on the Red Sox had the same kind of luck and when the game ended it was 10 to 11 in favor of the Reds.

Post Script

Bob Keenan, a printer, who gave his home as Rochester, New York, was a visitor in our print shop Tuesday. He had worked in Texas (Marfa) years ago and said he would like to locate again in these parts. He had been to Odessa, Angelo and other West Texas cities and had been promised a job "the next time they had an opening."

Printing jobs apparently are not as easy to come by as they once were.

We asked him about working conditions in Rochester. He worked in a union shop and wages were $3.99 an hour for 37½ hours a week. The week's pay came to $149.50. Union dues were heavy. There are regular union dues together with special strike assessments that sometimes run as high as 10%. Since he was single his withholding would have been high, and in addition New York state had its own income tax. Taking all of the deductions he claimed his take-home was less than $100. Evidently rents and living costs were high as he declared "a man couldn't ever get anywhere that way."

The private dining room of the West Texas Cafe was being repainted early this week. Mrs. Hattie Martin leased the establishment last week from Mrs. Lester Henderson.

The new telephone dial equipment was removed Monday from storage in the old Humphrey building on South Main, and transferred to the newly completed building west of the Co-Op headquarters.

A crew from Automatic Electric are now at work installing the new equipment for General Telephone.

Building going on: Dennis Bolding of San Angelo is contractor for a new three-bedroom brick house being started in Sunset Acres for Judge and Mrs. W. R. Bearce. Location is just west of the Jo Ed Hill residence and work on the foundation started this week.

Workmen have completed casting foundation for the Bobby Sykes residence, also going up in Sunset Acres and facing the Merton highway. Templeton of San Angelo is contractor.

A new house is being built in the Finnigan Addition for Dan Griffin.

An addition is being built onto Coy Bishop's house.

Jack Halbert is adding to his residence in Glandale.

The new city water well will soon be ready for acidizing and testing. Casing was set and cemented during the past week end and Leonard Wilson was busy yesterday drilling out the cement plug which is a time consuming job. He estimated yesterday morning that he would have this part of the job completed sometime today (Thursday). "Then we'll be ready to put the acid to it, and by the end of this week we should be able to know what kind of well we've got."

This picture of Lon Hoover is from an engraving in the files that were here when we bought the Success nearly 20 years ago. It is probably closer to 25 years old. But we believe our readers will agree that it is still a fairly true likeness of Mr. Hoover as he appeared even a week ago. He was a man who "never grew old."

Alert, courteous, friendly—Lon was a gentleman of the old school. He had friends all over the county and they packed the large Baptist church Monday to pay their final respects.

News of the Sick

J. L. Ratliff was sick for several days at his home.

Mrs. Lynn Alexander has been ill at her home and expects to undergo surgery about the 10th of July. She spent three days in an Austin hospital recently.

While at work in a local garage Tuesday, Larry Rittenhouse was struck by the stiff leg of an A-frame on a truck. He was taken to Sonora for treatment and observation and kept in the hospital overnight. It was reported Wednesday morning that he had sustained a cracked rib.

Ronnie Sauer had surgery Tuesday morning in the Clinic-Hospital in San Angelo, and he is now in room 321. Ronnie works for the Co-Op, and his wife is the former Rozanna Sudduth. They have a baby daughter.

End Comes For Lon Hoover, Pioneer Eldorado Pharmacist

Funeral services were held at the First Baptist church here at 10:00 a.m. Monday for L. M. (Lon) Hoover, 87, pioneer pharmacist and Eldorado resident, whose death occurred at his home at 7:45 p.m., Saturday.

The Rev. Kenneth Vaughan, pastor, conducted the services and interment was made in Eldorado cemetery under direction of the Ratliff-Kerbow Funeral Home.

Lon Hoover, who observed his 87th birthday on June 1st, was usually described as a man who had never been sick except for a few spells of flu and minor ailments. Early last week, accompanied by his wife and daughter, and Miss John Alexander, he had visited an older brother, C. R. Hoover, in Mason county and returned home Friday. He had his usual meals on Saturday, including the evening meal, and observed only that he felt chilly. Shortly afterward death came quickly and quietly at 7:00 apparently from a heart attack.

Mr. Hoover was born June 1, 1878, in Burnet county and was reared there where he received his early education. His formal schooling at Centenary Methodist College at Lampasas came to an abrupt end when the old building burned completely down.

He lived for a short time in Pontotoc, then from there moved to Brady where he and another Brady merchant were partners in operation of a grocery store for three years. Remembering his early experiences as a clerk in his brother's drug store, he decided to become a pharmacist and entered a school of pharmacy in Galveston, graduating in 1909. After a few months' experience as a clerk and pharmacist in Houston, he decided to go into business for himself and chose Eldorado.

He chose this area because he heard that a railroad was about to be built through here. It was 20 years, though, before Santa Fe's line from San Angelo to Sonora was laid and put into service.

He arrived here on January 2, 1910, bought the drug store from B. E. Earle, and on January 10 assumed management of the business. When closing time came for that opening day, the anxious young proprietor rang up the total on his first day's business—and it was 50 cents. Thus Mr. Hoover got his start as proprietor of a drug store in a new West Texas county seat town.

The Hoover drug store in the early days was located in the building which still stands on South Main street. Albert Bailey's telephone exchange was upstairs, and other neighbors included McWhorter's, Bearce Hardware, and Rex McCormick's saddle and shoe shop. As a registered pharmacist, Mr. Hoover held Certificate 3,793 and he serviced 175,000 local prescriptions.

Mr. Hoover recalled that the drug business was simpler half a century ago, as he relied heavily on calomel, fluid extracts, liver powders, tinctures, quinine, and similar drugs in filling prescriptions, for which the doctors charged $1. Dr. Patton and Dr. Lewis both had offices at some time in the Hoover building, and the druggist was occasionally called on to accompany the doctor on an emergency call, thereby gaining valuable experience in first aid.

Once, in the earlier days, the store was robbed and the narcotics box and cash register were emptied, but for the most part the years jogged along uneventfully.

When the town of Eldorado was incorporated in the 1920's, Mr. Hoover was elected a councilman. Jim Hoover, Mr. Hoover's nephew, bought an interest in the store and assisted him for a number of years.

In 1938, the drug store was moved to a newly completed building at the corner of Gillis and South Main and Mr. Hoover operated it until selling out to Eldon Calk in 1951.

He was a member of the first draft board in Schleicher county and had been a Lions club member since shortly after it was organized here. He was an original member of the old Schleicher County Chamber of Commerce.

He was a Mason and long-time treasurer of the First Baptist church.

He was married to Essa Alexander in 1920, and they have one daughter, Miss Mary Hoover of Dallas, who is hostess supervisor for Braniff Airlines.

In addition to his wife and daughter, a brother, C. R. Hoover of Mason, survives him.

I hear it every day. Somebody is always relating the sad story about how they let somebody convince them that it really isn't necessary to dip vegetables in boiling water for 3 or 4 minutes before putting them in the freezer.

This process is called blanching. And why is blanching necessary? For just one reason: To kill the action of the enzymes present in all vegetables. I don't care how cold it gets, enzyme keeps right on working.

Will this action cause the vegetable to spoil? Not every time. But it will spoil the flavor and that will be every time. Sometimes there isn't much change in looks or the texture of the vegetable, but sometimes there is a drastic change. Okra occasionally turns to an almost liquid state.

I agree with the motive which keeps everybody from going to more trouble than necessary to do any job. But I also disagree with the judgment which allows someone to pay good money for a freezer, food and electricity and then will let one little lazy streak keep them from enjoying the best tasting food possible.

Come on—do that one extra thing and dip those vegetables in boiling water for four minutes—then in cold water. You know very well that it doesn't cost much more to go first class, or so they say.

I honestly believe they are going to decolorize the peanut. We have had old jokes for years about "Oh, help yourself to the fudge, it has had all the calories cooked out"—but this is solid fact about the peanuts.

The U.S. Dept. of Agriculture has announced that the Southern Utilization Research Laboratory of New Orleans has been able to remove 80% of the oil and three fourths of the calories but has left the peanut's original good flavor and high protein content. And—I read recently that the

When The Baptist Church Honored Mr. Hoover

On Sunday, April 14, 1957, the First Baptist Church held "Lon M. Hoover Day" in recognition and appreciation of his 45 years of service as treasurer of the church. Above photo, from the files of the Success, shows Mr. Hoover receiving a certificate from the Rev. J. C. Hancock, who was the church pastor at that time.

Mr. Hoover was converted during the summer of 1905 at Brady, and became a member of the First Baptist church there. When he moved to Eldorado in 1910, he joined the First Baptist church and had been a member ever since. He was ordained as a deacon in April, 1924, and served as secretary of that body for many years.

The church was having services only twice or three times each month during the earlier years.

As Mr. Hoover was honored on his special day that Spring of 1957, it was recalled that he had seen many people come and go during the 47 years he had been a member of the Baptist church. As church treasurer, he had received and disbursed more than $400,000 during 45 years, and had rendered service that in the commercial world would have paid him more than $50,000.

Lon M. Hoover Day was highlighted by a speech of appreciation by the pastor, the Rev. J. C. Hancock, in which he expressed the gratitude of the congregation. Mr. Hancock preached here just one more month, and then left to serve a suburban Baptist church in Houston; he is now pastor in Sanderson.

On display in the Baptist church on Hoover Day were the treasurer's reports for the years of 1912 and 1913, and the year, 1956.

Several years before his death, Mr. Hoover was succeeded as church treasurer by Raymond Hall, who still has that position.

same researchers are working on removing half the calories from sugar. Think of it—low calorie peanut brittle!

The same process promises to work equally as well on pecans, walnuts, almonds, Brazil nuts, chestnuts, cashews and other nut meats.

Well, it's something that has needed to be done for a long time.

While we are waiting for all these low calorie foods let me give you a recipe that really is low in calories. It takes the place of whipped cream, maybe not as good as the real thing, but occasionally we can't have everything real.

Whipped Non-Fat Dry Milk Topping

Unflavored gelatin (Knox-type), 1/2 teaspoon (soften in) cold water, 1 tablespoon; Hot water, 2 tablespoons; Instant non-fat dry milk, 1/2 cup; Ice water, 1/3 cup. Soften gelatin in cold water. Dissolve in hot water. Add dry milk and ice water. Beat until very stiff. Use as a topping or in the place of whipped cream. Calories per serving: hardly enough to mention.

If you have red clay flower pots which have turned white, throw them away; Or if you have a plant in such a pot, repot it.

U. S. Department of Agriculture horticulturists say that the whiteness is unused fertilizer and there is no way to get rid of it. Putting a new plant into a white clay pot is like putting the plant into salty water. When planting, always use fresh clay pots.

Here it is June and I've not even nodded to the fact that everybody, everywhere knows that June is Dairy Month. Dairy foods are good to eat and good for you.

I am still thinking about the low calorie foods and offer this use of non-fat milk in a mix which will come in handy all summer.

A Basic Pudding Mix that can be transformed quickly into dessert puddings in a variety of flavors—vanilla, chocolate, caramel or other.

Ingredients for Pudding Mix that will make 24 servings: 2 1/2 cups nonfat dry milk, 1 1/2 cups white sugar, 1 1/4 cups flour, and 1 teaspoon salt.

For Vanilla Pudding, combine the sugar, dry milk, flour and salt until well mixed. For Chocolate Pudding, add 3/4 cup cocoa. For Caramel Pudding, substitute 1 1/2 cups brown sugar for the white sugar.

To make 6 servings of the pudding, you'll need 1 1/4 cups pudding mix, 2 1/2 cups warm water, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 beaten egg and 3/4 teaspoon vanilla.

Combine the mix and water in the top of a double boiler. Cook over boiling water until thickened, stirring constantly. Cover and cook 10 minutes longer. Add butter. Remove from heat. Beat half of the hot mixture into the egg, then blend egg mixture slowly into the remaining hot mixture. Cook over hot water 1 minute more. Remove from heat and stir in vanilla. Pour into serving dishes and cool.

I remember with pleasure the piquant flavor of the sandwich or salad dressing which I had at the tasting tea at Martha Lee Meador's some time ago.

Mrs. W. N. Ramsay had made the mixture and it was delicious. I think that Mrs. Ramsay would like to share her recipe with you and have you enjoy it all summer like I'm going to do.

Ramsay Spread

1/2 cup tomato juice
1/2 cup wesson oil
1/2 cup catsup
1/2 cup miracle whip salad dressing
1 medium onion, grated
1 tsp. black pepper
1 tsp. prepared mustard.
Mix all ingredients plus 2 tablespoons hot water. This dressing will keep one month in refrigerator. Keep covered. Try this on avocado and grape fruit sections.
For Sandwiches: 1 boiled egg chopped fine; 1 tablespoon chopped chives; crisp bacon, broken up. Mix with dressing.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Moore Take Trip To New Orleans Following Wedding Here

MRS. MICHAEL HENRY MOORE
the former Miss Rebecca Mund

The L. W. Steen residence here in Eldorado was setting for the wedding Friday evening of Miss Rebecca Eileen Mund and Michael Henry Moore. The Rev. Kenneth Vaughan, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Ervin Winfred Mund and the late Mr. Mund and Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Moore.

The bride wore a two-piece street-length dress of white silk. Mrs. Jack Browning of Van Horn and David E. Steen were honor attendants. The reception was in the Steen home. After a trip to New Orleans the couple will live on a ranch near Eldorado.

Mrs. Moore is a graduate of Baylor University and teaches in the Eldorado public schools. Her husband, a ranchman, is a Texas Christian University graduate.

Twenty guests attended the rehearsal dinner Thursday night in San Angelo at the Riverside Club. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moore, parents of the bridegroom.

plant stunting on young cotton but it seems to recover and make a normal yield. Both the disodium and the monosodium forms have been cleared for use on cotton, and both materials are cleared for two applications.

The first application should be made after the plants measure three inches in height.

The last application should be made before the first blooms drop. These materials work better during high temperatures, above 85 F., and dry weather.

After cotton reaches six inches in height and if soils are moist and grass is in an active stage of growth, Karmex and surfactant give good control. Another, Caparol and surfactant can be applied as a post emergence treatment when cotton is at least six inches high.

Experience is what makes you wonder how it got a reputation for being the best teacher.

Honor Granddaughter With Birthday Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Clark honored their granddaughter, Regina Haines of Odessa, on her 7th birthday last Sunday night with a dinner at their home.

Regina visited her grandparents while her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haines and brother, Frank vacationed in Lebanon, Mo. The Haines returned last Thursday and visited the Clarks until after the dinner Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark have their son, Kenneth, Clark and family also from Odessa, from Wednesday until Friday of this week.

Visit In Arizona

Mrs. O. L. Woodward, a son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Pat McAlpine of San Angelo and another daughter, Mrs. Ruth Taylor of Sonora made a trip to Arizona recently. They visited their son and brother, Burl Woodward at Wilcox, Arizona.

The group accompanied by the Burl Woodwards made a trip to the Riggs lake in the Graham mountains, only 33 miles away but a two-hour drive, to fish. This lake's elevation is 10,720 feet above sea level. The fishing plans were abandoned as it was simply too cold to fish; the temperature was about the freezing point. Mrs. Woodward reported that it is very beautiful up there with the wild flowers, dogwood, etc., blooming. Then they went to the Coolidge dam near Globe, Arizona, where they did fish and enjoyed a nice fish fry.

On their way home, they visited another son of Mrs. Woodward, Mr. and Mrs. James Woodward and children at Carlsbad, N.M.

Our WASHINGTON Letter
By Congressman O. C. FISHER

Regardless of what one may think of what is happening in Viet Nam, the average American must recoil against the intemperate display of resistance to our mission there on the part of certain pinkish professors, beatniks, and other nondescripts.

To see some of these people in action can only turn the stomach of the average American. They have demonstrated in Washington on occasions. Parading as "students," the vast majority in one recent mass protest has never seen the inside of a college, and most of those who had didn't look it. Bearded beatniks who appear to be unacquainted with the use of a bath were much in evidence.

Those are the "sit-ins," the "peace-ins," and are a part of or "join-in" Communist-type demonstrations. To look at them you would think they were protesting the House UnAmerican Activities Committee where Communist activities are being exposed. There are, of course, in this country patriotic anti-Communist people who have reservations about our policy in Viet Nam. They doubt that a war can be won there, and feel we are spinning our wheels in a hopeless and expensive war. Few, if any, of these people take part in the type of protest which have pro-Communist overtones.

The facts are that the war in Viet Nam is Peking-inspired and directed, and is going on because that country stands in the way of Communist plans for taking over all of Southeast Asia. It is the advance guard of the resurgent Chinese Empire which is brutal and atrocious in its determination to dominate the Pacific and all of Southeast Asia. If the U.S. pulls out, all of those relatively weak countries will be gobbled up, one by one. Added together they account for a billion people.

We are now firmly committed to help Vietnamese to maintain their independence. To pull out, as some suggest, would mean that America would only have to make another stand later against an even stronger avalanche of Chinese Communism, and in much less tenable locations.

To bring the Peking and Hanoi conquest to a halt, the Communists must become convinced that a southward course of aggression is to expensive and dangerous. That seems to be our policy and our mission in being there, to help the Vietnamese resist this wholly unwarranted aggression from the North.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Morris and children, Lisa and Lori of Spokane, Washington, came in Sunday to visit Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Van Dusen and Johnny and Mr. Morris's family, the Jack Weeks at Brady, for a few weeks.

Mrs. W. C. Green of San Angelo was a guest of her sister, Mrs. Ruth Williams, over the week end.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by Tiny Godwin

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

For the week ending June 19th county-wide cotton survey showed the average of the following cotton insects.

The cotton fleahopper, 5-6%.
Bollworms, 1%.
Bollweevils, 1% or less. This would mean reduced to simple arithmetic 25-50 boll weevils per acre of cotton.

For those producers finding boll weevils, apply control measures just before first squares are one-third grown to prevent egg-laying. If emergence of more weevils from hibernation sites occur, additional treatment may be necessary.

Where cotton was late planted check fields for thrip damage. Thrip damage is characterized by wilted, deformed, and blackened leaves. Thrip control measures should begin when damage is apparent to save stunting of cotton plants, which delays harvest two or three weeks.

For percent of infestations on cotton insects and the kind and amount of insecticide to use consult L-218 Cotton Insects.

Photosensitization—it's a big word and trouble when livestock producers are plagued with this non-contagious disease. It occurs frequently here in the county, especially to sheep when weeds are abundant. This disease results from a chemical reaction of light colored skin to sunlight after a photodynamic agent has been absorbed in the animal's system.

The toxic substance phylloerythrin is carried in the blood stream to the capillaries of the skin, where dilation of the capillaries produces a redding of the skin in the presence of sunlight.

The first noticeable signs of the disease are kicking, scratching, licking and biting of the affected parts. The animals may become lame and the ears thicken and ooze a yellowish fluid.

Treatment: Get the animal to shade and feed dry hay.

Just think, if it hadn't been for Thomas Edison, you'd have to watch TV by candlelight.

If you see a triangle of fluorescent orange and reflective red ahead of you on the highway, chances are it's a Slow Moving Vehicle emblem. It means slow down and drive carefully.

You'll be seeing more of these emblems on farm, highway maintenance, and construction equipment in the months to come.

The emblem was developed by agricultural engineers to warn drivers when they're approaching a slow-moving vehicle and should slow down. You can see and recognize it at least 500 feet away at any time of day and under almost all driving conditions.

Many accidents are caused simply because the motorist often does not realize that the object ahead is moving as slowly as it is until it is too late to avoid hitting it. This emblem could save lives and cut down on injuries.

The center of the SMV emblem is fluorescent yellow-orange, the most visible color in daylight, and the outside border is reflective red to show up at night. Intended only for vehicles designed to travel 25 mph or less, the new triangular emblem can be easily mounted on most farm equipment.

It's inexpensive, durable, and movable and doesn't interfere with the machine or its operator.

Accidents between slow-moving vehicles and motorists could be reduced greatly if the SMV emblem were used on all slow-moving vehicles and recognized nationwide.

If you want to know how long it will take you to get to the top in your career, consult a calendar; if you want to know how long it takes to fall to the bottom, try a stopwatch.

The recent rise in feeder cattle prices can be attributed to the increase in fed cattle prices, a strong demand and a smaller seasonal supply. Good grazing conditions are permitting orderly marketing.

Some confusion still exists on the use of DSMA and surfactants as a post-emergence spray for grass control in cotton. There are two forms of the arsenicals. One is disodium methanearsonate and the other is monosodium methanearsonate.

The disodium is a wettable powder and the monosodium is a liquid. Most of the research done with DSMA has been with the disodium form and is fully recommended for use on cotton after it has reached a height of three inches or more. The monosodium is more toxic than the disodium. It is probably a little more effective on weed control but a little "hotter" on cotton. Monosodium has caused some leaf burning and Regarding Optimism . . .

Optimism is wonderful when you are confronted with an optimistic situation. But he who can be optimistic in the face of dire circumstances either knows something nobody else knows, is gifted with extra-ordinary faith, or just plain doesn't understand the situation.

One may, for example, find cause for optimism in the figures released last week by the University of Texas Population Research Center.

If these figures are accurate—and there's always room for doubt—Menard County had a population increase of three during the five-year period, 1960-6. Certainly it's not hard to find some counties which did not fare nearly as well. But on the other hand, some fared a lot better.

On the face of it, it may seem Menard has done a good job of maintaining the status quo. But if the last 15-year period is considered instead of just the last five, the picture takes on a different shape.

From 1950 to 1960 Menard county lost 1,211 residents. And five years later, if the statistics are correct, it has gained but three of these people back.

If the rate of gain of these last five years continues indefinitely, the county eventually will regain the people it lost during the previous decade. But "eventually" can mean a long time.

To regain the 1,211 persons lost from 1950 to 1960, at the rate of three each five years, would require two milleniums; i.e., 2,020 years.

Even so, some people will be inclined to shrug off the implications, saying, "Well, Menard is stabilized. We may not grow, but we'll stay about as we are now."

Possible. But barely so. For until Menard county's economy becomes more diversified—until it has something more than the livestock industry to provide its basic livelihood—it runs the risk of having the next drought do to it just what the last one did: reduce its population by a third.

And obviously we can't keep losing a third of our population to droughts every few years, or even every so many decades, and continue to maintain the kind of community we have now.

What is the answer? New industry? Tourism? Perhaps. But wherever the answer may be found, it is time for community leaders to sit down together and ponder the situation.

It is time for the various agencies to start planning and pulling together. —Bob Weddle in The Menard News.

Bureaucracy and Braceros
The United States Department of Labor has closed out the bracero program, under which Mexican field laborers were allowed to come into the United States to fill the need for such workers during crop harvest seasons.

Reason given for this action, taken under pressure from US labor unions, was that foreign workers should not be given employment while US workers were unemployed.

This justification does not hold water for several reasons. In the first place, US workers, generally speaking, will not do this type of labor at the salaries paid. And it is highly illogical to refuse a Mexican farm laborer permission to work in the fields of California because mechanization has put a coal miner out of work in West Virginia. The West Virginia coal miner is not going to move to California to pick strawberries any more than the Mexican farm laborer is going to imperil the chances of the coal miner to find work in West Virginia.

There are several instances in which attempts have been made to hire US workers to fill the places left by the ending of the bracero contract. To date, these attempts have been uniformly unsuccessful.

We send millions of dollars to Latin American nations in the form of foreign aid, much of which never sifts down to the level of the common people. The bracero program allowed farm workers from Mexico to come to this country, work during the harvest at wages far beyond anything they could hope to earn in Mexico even if they could find the work, and return with these funds, funds they used to raise their standard of living. Many Mexican families, in poor circumstances in their native land, lived for the entire year on what could be brought home from the American harvest fields. Now this source of financial betterment has been cut off. This is creating not only financial want among these peoples, but also some very real anti-US feeling.

A logical solution to the problem has been suggested, and that is to take the bracero program from under the Department of Labor and place it under the Department of Agriculture. This is the Department that is logically set up to decide what farm labor needs can be filled with domestic workers, and how many foreign workers will be needed to keep crops from rotting on the ground for lack of harvest hands, as is now the case in several areas of the West.

This would be the logical move. Of course, logic and government don't always go hand in hand, so we may see more of the reasoning that allows crops to rot and deprives indigent Mexican citizens of desperately needed income because taxi drivers in New York City are out of work. —Santa Anna News.

Why Is The Printed Word So Important In Advertising?

It's CLEAR — It's PERMANENT ——— It's BELIEVABLE

The newspaper is the GREATEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM for many reasons. One of them is that it carries the power of the printed word. People believe in a message that is permanent — one that is written. They understand it better. Also, the newspaper, because of its permanence, lets the reader choose his own time for absorbing the message. And once put down it can always be picked up again. The message that lives is the one that is printed in the newspaper.

In Regard To Safety In The Home . . .

Are you safe at home? Hardly.

You're safer at a nuclear reactor site than you are in your own home, according to statistics. The nuclear industry has one of the best safety records on the books, less than ten deaths in 20 years.

Accidents in the home and on the way there are, on the other hand, among the leading killers of people. Motor vehicle accidents, falls, fires and similar accidents account for nearly 6,000 deaths yearly in Texas, and over 90,000 deaths in the nation.

An industrial hygienist commented recently that a worker's chances of accidental injury increased when he left his place of work. One study found seven off-the-job accidents causing absenteeism for very one happening on the job.

Every four minutes someone is permanently disabled, and every 16 minutes someone is killed by an accident in the home.

Falls account for most fatal home accidents. Next in order of frequency are burns, scalds, explosions, mechanical suffocation, poisonings, gas and firearms.

The only way to avoid accidents is to prevent them with forethought, planning ahead—simply using your head.

No one is immune to falls, burns, cuts or other similar injuries. If you step on a chair to get dishes out of a top cabinet or change a light bulb, your chances for a fall are considerably higher than had you used a sturdy step-ladder.

Taking a chance on throwing gas on a smoldering fire, using a faulty appliance just one more time, or attempting to adjust power equipment while the motor is running aren't even "calculated risks." They are just chances unnecessarily taken.

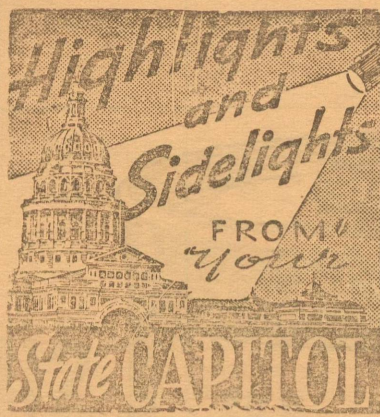

And, among children and youth, accidents are the leading killer. As adults, it is our responsibility to protect a baby completely thru about 14 months of age, and then begin to train a child—slowly but surely—to avoid accidents and to protect himself.

Give a little time and thought to making you and your family safe at home. (A feature from the Division of Public Health Education, Texas State Department of Health.)

Austin.—A total of 33 interim study committees were created during the recent legislative session.

Meetings of these committees will bring most of the legislators back to Austin during the next 18 months.

Studies will cover a wide area, ranging from state and local tax policy to such subjects as livestock auctions and restorations of Santa Anna's battle flag.

All but three of the legislators who are appointed to the interim panels will be eligible to draw travel expenses to and from meetings. In addition, some study panels are furnished staff funds.

Some committees will delve into: election laws, juvenile crime, rights of news media in reporting on persons charged with crime, liquor laws, the nursing profession, problems of farmers and ranchers, feasibility of a Pleasure Island State Park, public education, facilities for the criminally insane, and need for modernizing state fair facilities.

Governor Vetoes Spending

Gov. John Connally red penciled $2,600,000 of what he termed non-essential items in the $3,600,000 state budget for 1966-67.

Connally said he felt the Legislature in general appropriated wisely, but he line-item vetoed:

- $1,100,000 for one of three new buildings at Angelo State College, San Angelo;
- $300,000 from a total of $800,000 for a museum at Washington State Park;
- $200,000 for state aid to airport construction;
- $200,000 for further improvements at Dam B State Park near Jasper;
- $275,000 for boll weevil eradication;
- $126,000 for salaries in the new Department of Mental Health and Retardation;
- $138,000 for water system improvements at Rusk State Hospital;
- $12,000 a year for a new special services director in the Parks and Wildlife Department;
- $5,000 for stream flow measurement in Upper Red River Flood Control and Irrigation District;
- $30,000 for John E. Connor Museum at Texas College of Arts and Industries, Kingsville;
- $39,200 for doctoral-level instruction at East Texas State University, Commerce; and
- $110,000 for forestry research at

Stephen F. Austin State College, Nacogdoches.

Connally also vetoed a bill which would have made the lieutenant governor a member of the powerful State Building Commission in place of the State Board of Control chairman.

Courts Speak

Third Court of Civil Appeals now has ruled that the Guadalupe-Blanco River Authority is entitled to 50,000 acre feet of water a year from Canyon Dam Reservoir near New Braunfels.

In a new opinion, court remained convinced that the City of San Antonio should get no water from the reservoir. Decision upheld '57 order of Texas Water Commission and 1964 ruling of 98th district court. Principal change in Third Courts finding was that G-BRA has authority to distribute water for use for cities downstream.

Court of Criminal Appeals, overruling a Kleberg County district court, held Paul Eric Krueger, 17-year-old Californian, is entitled to 15,000 bail on each of three charges of triple slayings.

Redistricting Urged

Governor Connally has reluctantly signed new district court bills for Lubbock, Dallas, El Paso, Harris and Tarrant counties. He said the next Legislature should address itself to the matter of judicial redistricting.

"While there is merit for new courts in these specific counties," Connally concluded, "when the state is taken as a whole, there are sufficient judges to carry the existing workload."

Retardation Study Set

Task forces soon will begin evaluations of recommendations by 55 mayors' recommendations on the new Texas Plan to Combat Mental Retardation.

Groups will study education, finances, legislation, health services, manpower, organization, coordination, public awareness and action, research and training, residential day care, vocational rehabilitation and employment, and welfare services.

Nucleus of task forces will come from members of the Governor's Advisory Committee, according to District Judge Herman Jones of Austin, committee chairman.

Integration Quickens

School systems are integrating faster under threat of lost federal aid, Texas Education Agency reports.

To be eligible for shares of $80 million in federal aid under the 1965 civil rights act, districts must give assurances of having plans for integration. Total integration isn't required until September of 1967.

A TEA official says 1,150 districts have signed promises to comply with civil rights act, and 125 more have filed plans for future racial desegregation.

Summer Programs Approved

Governor Connally announced approval of seven more Neighborhood Youth Corps projects for summer employment at $1 per hour.

Projects will employ 1,866 youngsters in schools, parks, offices, and hospitals in El Paso Independent School District, Rio Grande City Independent School District, City of Childress, Comanche County Board of Education, Taylor County Schools, Stonewall County and San Patricio County.

Connally also approved five additional Project Head Start grants from Office of Economic Opportunity for summer programs for underprivileged pre-school children. Authorized grants now total 159.

Latest projects approved are in Amarillo, Hale Center, Paint Rock, Pleasanton and Van Alstyne, Panhandle and South Plains Venture for Aiding Needy Children's Education, Inc., is in charge of Amarillo programs. Schools will operate the other four.

Seismograph Crisis

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler has cancelled all outstanding seismograph permits in coastal waters and called in oil and seismograph representatives to review the rules.

He also issued further revisions of the rules, knocking out the delay to June 21 for all explosives to be permanently marked, and announced that new permits would be issued only to companies which are marking their explosives.

Sadler's action came after another rash of seismograph explosives washed in on Gulf beaches, mainly in the Sabine Pass area. Earlier washing-ashore had been in the Corpus Christi region, where about 50 were found along beaches.

Lions and Cattle

A possible outbreak of Q fever has been averted by an alert Dallas veterinarian, U. S. Department of Agriculture animal diseases eradication officials say. A Nubian lion imported to the Dallas zoo was found by Dr. Jack M. Brundrett to be carrying a Heamaphysalis leachi leachi tick which carries the dread disease, as well as typhus fever.

Dr. S. K. Harris, acting veterinarian in charge of the Animal Inspection and Quarantine Division, also reports real progress being made in the back-tagging program for locating cattle with brucellosis.

During May, back tags were applied to 86,294 animals, providing information by which brucellosis can be traced back to the farm where the cattle originated.

Testing at auction markets reached 25,217 head of cattle of which 688 were reactors. Slaughter establishments found 730 reactors among 24,080 back-tagged animals which reached the federal, municipal and state inspected establishments.
