Observance Of Public School Week Set For Monday Through Thursday

The annual Public School Week observance will be held in the local school system Monday through Thursday of the coming week. Although parents and other school patrons are welcome to visit the school at any time during the year, they are urged to put forth a special effort this coming special week.

During Public School Week, the patrons have a special opportunity to become acquainted with the work which the local school system is doing, it was pointed out by the school administrators, Supt. A. M. Whittis, and by Guy Whitaker, high school principal, and Curtis Humphries, elementary principal.

In order for the schools to have enough extra chairs to accommodate the visitors, certain days have been scheduled for visitation (see schedule below.) If this schedule does not fit the visitor's schedule, the administrators urge that parents come at their convenience. Likewise, in order to have sufficient food on hand for lunches, the visitors should sign the form for the days they intend to have lunch with the school and send it back to the homeroom teacher. The form should be sent back no later than this Friday, March 4th.

Parents will use students' cafeteria tickets. If you have more than one child in the school, visit all of them on the day you choose.

A Candidate For Trustee Speaks

I would like to express my appreciation to the Success for affording an opportunity to the candidates for school trustee to inform the voters of their qualifications, and their thoughts and hopes concerning our school system.

I am a graduate of Brenham High School, Brenham, Texas, and hold a Bachelor of Business Administration degree from Southern Methodist University, where I also earned a permanent teachers certificate. I was employed as secretary to the Dean of Women at SMU, did secretarial work for Union Carbide Corporation in Houston, and worked with the Farm Security Administration, a governmental agency during the years of World War II. In my association with the local school system, I have served as substitute teacher during the past 12 years. In 1962, I completed the Spring semester in the commercial department after that teacher resigned from the system. I have been active in our local PTA, having served as president and as District VI PTA secretary. Through the years, I have been active in both Cub Scouts and Girl Scouts.

I am very proud of the school system that we have in Schleicher county. Should I be elected to the school board, it will be my desire to contribute all that I can in helping our school move forward in every area of educational development at the rapid pace required by today's society. I realize that we must strive not only to enable our students who will continue their education in colleges and universities to meet the demands placed on them by those institutions, but also to adequately prepare those students who will complete their formal education upon graduation from high school to meet as well as possible the requirements of a specialized world.

In meeting those requirements, every elementary student must have the best possible instruction in order to build his knowledge. The greatest stress should be placed on a sound background in mathematics, English and science. Adequate interest must also be placed on our social sciences as well as our vocational program, and I am fully interested in the development of cultural and artistic training in our schools.

I believe in a comprehensive program for all students. I heartily support our competitive athletic programs, but I think there are many students who are left out of these programs who need the values to be gained from active athletic participation.

The citizens of this county have recently shown their interest and concern in our schools by their approval in the recent bond election of improvements to the system in the amount of $175,000. I feel it is the duty of every school trustee and the school board as a whole to see that these facilities are used to the maximum benefit for the welfare of each and every student. At the same time, I realize that fine buildings and excellent equipment will not in themselves produce well-educated students. Each trustee should actively insure that our schools will have the best instruction available. The influence of good teachers is the most valuable asset our schools have to offer.

I believe it to be a prime purpose of the school board to lead our community in providing more desirable housing and recreation facilities so that we can attract and keep excellent teachers. What we have to offer, even the whole community itself, must continually improve if we expect our schools to keep pace with the times.

I earnestly solicit your support in the coming election.

—Mrs. Ed Meador.

City Alderman Race Remains Unchanged

Following last week's announcement that Johnny Griffith would seek election as City Alderman, and that the three incumbent aldermen, Alvin Farris, Walter Roy Davidson, and Ralph Waldron, would seek re-election, there have been no further candidates for the jobs.

City alderman candidates must file with City Secretary Lum Burk no later than midnight this Friday, March 4th, in order to have a place on the ballot for the April 5th City Election.

The Success this week carries the announcement of Joe Christian as a candidate for Commissioner of Precinct 3.

Joe was appointed by Judge Bearce to serve until the General Election following Wagley's resignation. In order to serve out Wagley's entire term (66-67-68) it is necessary for Christian to run in the May primary.

Under a State election ruling filing date was extended to April 12 in this particular case.

A recent Supreme Court decision threw out the Poll Tax in Texas as a pre-requisite for voting. The State of Texas has now designated a special 15-day period, starting today, for persons who did not pay the Poll Tax recently to register in their respective county tax offices.

Sheriff Orval Edmiston invites local citizens to register. If you DID pay the Poll Tax, you are already registered for voting and no further action on your part is necessary in qualifying yourself to vote this current year.

The sheriff and his deputies report that sales of '66 vehicle license plates have lagged the past month, although the sales were beginning to pick up in recent days. License tags must be purchased and installed on vehicles no later than March 31st.

The Door Is Open Anytime
Friends don't always respond to an indefinite invitation such as "Come to see us sometime" or "Look us up in the phone book." Sometimes it takes a special invitation for a specific time to bring them out.

That's what the schools are doing during the week of March 7-10. Those are the dates for Texas Public Schools Week, and all are welcome to visit the schools in our community. The usual welcome flag is flown a little higher at this time.

Those who haven't been there lately will find things changed considerably at school... if they haven't found out at the home-work table already. But while school—and our world—is changing, some things remain the same.

This unique American system of education is the envy of the entire world, our homegrown critics to the contrary notwithstanding. And the school is ours. We pay for it. We attended it. It is the most typically American thing we have.

School! It's wonderful! Not perfect, just wonderful. A dream come true for millions of bright-eyed American youngsters. The door is open any time, but especially March 7 through 10. —Texas Outlook

Work Continues For Public Housing Units

Members of the local Public Housing Authority, of which John Hodges is chairman, met Tuesday night and are continuing to make arrangements for the 24 dwellings proposed for erection here.

A state inspector was expected to inspect the two sites which the Authority members have selected.

One of these is the half block just north of the First Christian church where it is proposed to erect five duplexes.

The second is a large triangular area just north of the Boy Scout hall in northeastern Eldorado where it is planned to erect seven duplexes. The land here is owned by Townsite Co., and part of it would be used for a new street to be opened, while one or two existing streets would be closed.

Meeting To Discuss Details For Proposed Chartered Bus Trip

Deputy Sheriff Jack Jones and his co-workers Bob Bradley and Jerrol Sanders are still working on their proposed chartered bus trip to Houston for the big league ball game between Detroit Tigers and Houston Astros in April, and they will soon be ready to sign up fans and take their money for the trip.

Readers have already been informed about the cost of the bus trip—$13.85 for each passenger. Other expenses which each must pay will be meals, motel rooms and tickets for the game.

County Treasurer A. G. McCormack was asked to look into the cost and availability of motel facilities in Houston and he wrote to "The Continental Houston," a garden type motor hotel located at Main and Franklin streets in the heart of Houston.

McCormack last week received a reply from the director of the institution which gives rates as far as housing is concerned:

"Mr. A. G. McCormack
Eldorado, Texas
Dear Mr. McCormack:

"Thank you for your letter of February 18th inquiring as to our rates and accommodations for your scheduled bus tour to Houston April 8th and 9th, 1966.

"The rates I am quoting you are special rates for your group, which would be $12.00 for Doubles (or $6.00 per person, two per room), and $14.00 for Twins (or $7.00 per person, two per room.)

"You will also be interested to know that the Detroit Tigers will be staying in our hotel during this period, and that your group will have a chance to see your home town, Norman Cash, in person.

"Mr. McCormack, I will need a definite commitment from you regarding your request no later than two weeks prior to your scheduled trip. You will find several of our color brochures enclosed with this letter, which may be passed along to your friends.

"If we can be of further assistance, please do not hesitate to contact us.

"Very sincerely, Wallace J. Oberlander,"

Home Demonstration Agent's Column
By MRS. VIDA KREKLOW

The mother of a friend of mine is a sprightly little old lady of 80 who has recently flown over from New Zealand to San Antonio where she lives with a daughter and her family.

Australians and New Zealanders have English accents as thick as London fog and one is doing well to catch every word in direct conversation. I just love to hear an English accent and delight in the musical cadence they give to their lilting words. This is of course, pure imagination, but I have a feeling that statements made by some one with an English accent have more logic to them, and somehow seem to make a little more sense than our flatly stated sentences.

But back to the little old lady. Not long ago she wanted to mail a letter to Canada. She felt that such a move should be made properly and that she had better know exactly how much postage the letter would take. She got the telephone directory out and looked up and down the pages for Post. No luck so she looked all through the O's for office. Still no number for the Post Office.

She finally called the operator who give her information, who told her to look under United States Government. In San Antonio that is quite a job, but she did it.

By the time all this had taken place she wasn't remembering numbers too well and mis-dialed. A recording answered and said in a voice that only a telephone company recording would have, "the number which you have dialed is not a working number"—and so on.

The little lady listened politely through the recording—twice. Finally she could be polite no longer and said—

"I heard you quite well the first time and the second time. I have a few things I want to say to you. Now will you please be quiet and listen?"

Later on telling her daughter what had happened she said that by the time she had finished making her statement into the telephone she realized what she had done.

"You know," she said. "Even though no one heard me at all, I was embarrassed just the same."

Betty said that her mother loves the United States; another daughter lives in Idaho and she has been there and that she is beginning to feel at home enough to pull little cute tricks on the people in stores and markets. Her favorite thing is to accept change at a cash register, open her hand wide and say to the cashier, "Now what do I have here?"

"A dime, a quarter and a half dollar" could be the answer. "Oh I know that," she answers, "but how much is it in money?"

Maybe there is nothing new under the sun but some new things are being done to old things. Such as what is happening with these new foods—

Apple Flakes. They're applesauce, squeezed between rollers, heated, dried, dehumidified and crushed—another new product of U.S.D.A. research. And what do you do with the flakes? Make applesauce, of course. Or, they can be used in cake mixes and confections, or mixed with cold dry cereals. Their uses are many; their convenience obvious. The flakes have good apple flavor, ship light and easy, and take up little space on the cupboard shelf. Although not yet on the market, you probably will be seeing them soon. Watch for them. Our Eldorado grocers start carrying new products as soon as we ask for them.

Instant Grapefruit Juice. You get double convenience in grapefruit crystals, the latest product to come out of the U.S.D.A.'s research labs. The crystals are easy to use and easy to store. And they are now ready for commercial production. One of a long line of foam-mat dried foods, grapefruit concentrate. Shoppers will buy them in handy plastic pouches that take up little space and require no refrigeration—a quick and easy source of vitamin C.

This last story has to do with water. We in dry West Texas have never, never taken water for granted. We know we are here simply because we can drill a well and find water. We have no such things as unimportant rains. Some water wells are bigger than others but we have no little water wells.

Read on to see what the nutritionists have to say about water in our diets — as we all agree, we can't get along without water.

Water: An Important Element in Your Diet

Talking about water in relation to nutrition may seem a bit odd—yet water is an extremely important part of the diet.

Louise Mason, Texas A&M University Extension foods and nutrition specialist, emphasizes that water aids digestion, regulates body temperatures, and acts as a tissue building material.

Many of the chemical reactions between substances of the body cannot take place unless these substances are in solution. Water helps to keep them in solution. It also stimulates the flow of digestive juices, and, as part of the blood, helps to carry soluble nutrients to the tissues.

Water, as a body regulator, transports heat from one part of the body to another, thus equalizing temperature. The body rids itself of excess heat as water is evaporated from the lungs and skin.

Necessary for the growth and repair of tissue, water is an essential part of every body tissue, even hard tissue such as bone.

There's a continuous loss of water from the body which amounts to about 2 to 2½ quarts daily. This amount needs to be replaced if normal water balance is to be maintained.

The body needs about 5 to 6 glasses of fluids each day. These may be taken in the form of water, soup, or other beverages.

Guests Honored Here With Reception Friday

A reception was held at the Ed Meador home Friday evening from 7:30 until 9:00 p.m. honoring Mr. and Mrs. Dale Lipsett. Mrs. Lipsett is the former Sara Kate Meador, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Meador of Schleicher county. Mr. Lipsett, a native Pennsylvanian, is stationed at Goodfellow field at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Lipsett were married in San Angelo January 15. They are living in San Angelo while Mr. Lipsett is stationed there.

Thirty guests called during the evening.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM YOUR STATE CAPITOL OIL

Austin, Tex.—Texans who failed to pay their poll tax have another chance to register for a vote in the 1966 elections. This time it's "for free!"

Registration period extends from March 3 through March 17. Any citizen eligible to vote can sign up with his county tax assessor-collector and his name will be placed on the poll list at no charge.

So reads the "emergency" provision in the new voter registration act just passed by the Legislature and signed into law by Gov. John Connally.

Hereafter, free registration will take place from October through January each year.

There is one possible hitch: Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr fears that names of those who sign up during March won't be available for local elections already slated on bond issues, local option liquor questions, etc. He asked the three federal judges who banned the poll tax to put off their order until March 26.

Estimates of the number of Texans who will take advantage of the free right to vote vary widely—from 50,000 to 1,000,000. Any figure approaching the latter could make a substantial difference in the outcome of many local and some statewide elections. Indications are that the number of new voters will be nowhere near that high, however.

All who paid poll taxes by January 31 will be entitled to vote a usual, without re-registering.

Pecos Sulphur Boom
Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler

compares reaction to the recent Pecos County sulphur discovery with California's Gold Rush days of 1849.

He said "operators are moving in both day and night attempting to locate and file claims on state-owned land . . . to mine sulphur."

Sadler declined to accept 50 cents an acre per year for sulphur leases when, he stated, leading sulphur operators paid up to $2,000 an acre bonus for five-year leases in a recent federal sale off the coast of Texas.

State School Land Board rejected a rash of filings under an 1895 claim law. Board set a sulphur lease sale, along with oil and gas bidding, for May 3.

Appointments Announced

Governor Connally appointed Hill County Attorney Steve Latham of Hillsboro to succeed Sam Johnson, resigned, as judge of the 66th District Court of Hill County. Latham formerly practiced law in Wichita Falls.

Governor chose former District Attorney Dan Walton of Houston as judge of Harris County's Criminal District Court No. 4, succeeding the late Judge A. H. Krichamoor.

Connally's appointees to the new Texas Air Control Board are Clinton Howard of Irving, Henry J. LeBlanc Sr. of Port Arthur, Herbert Whitney of Corpus Christi and Dr. Wendell Hamrick, John Files and Dr. Herbert McKee, all of Houston.

Bob Cheatham of Texarkana and Clifford Hensley of El Campo were named by the Governor to the Texas Real Estate Commission.

Water Debate Re-Heard

Supreme Court of Texas has taken under advisement a long-standing dispute between city of San Antonio and cities in the Guadalupe River basin.

San Antonio is appealing a 1957 Texas Water Commission decision. Ruling denied the Alamo City's application for 100,000-acre feet of water a year from Canyon Dam near New Braunfels and awarded 50,000-acre feet from the reservoir to Guadalupe-Blanco River authority for municipal use downstream.

Attorneys for San Antonio claimed the city must import 138,000-acre feet for its needs by 1980. Meanwhile, Guadalupe basin will have a surplus over necessities of 180,000-acre feet.

GBRA attorney denied any surplus is in sight. He said some cities, including Seguin and Port Lavaca, already have suffered from serious shortages.

Major legal point involved is whether the Commission can delegate to GBRA rights to release water to unspecified municipal users, while denying San Antonio's application to pipeline water from another basin for high priority city and domestic needs.

Attorney General Rules

Attorney General has ruled that Texas Highway Department may grant the owner and operator of overweight mobile equipment, which transports frac oil in oil well servicing, a permit for the movement of the equipment.

In other actions he ruled that:—A county attorney isn't authorized to bring ouster proceedings against a city attorney of a city incorporated under the general laws of Texas.

—A chain referral selling plan to promote sales, containing a prize awarded under the element of chance, is a lottery in Texas.

—A County Clerk may use one or more volumes, properly labeled and indexed, to constitute "a well-bound book" to meet the requirements of recording deeds, leases and declarations.

—Vehicles owned by an individual must be registered by law in the county where he lives.

—Fraternal or Veterans Clubs may legally sell alcoholic beverages to members on the premises without a special license.

—New act calling for deposit of justice of peace court fines and fees in officers' salary funds of counties is constitutional.

—Funds appropriated to National Guard Armory Board can be legally spent for addition to the building at Camp Mabry in Austin subject to necessary agency approval.

—Harrison County juvenile board or commissioners court has no authority to hire a secretary for the county juvenile officer, but can hire a child service worker with added duty of secretary.

—State Board of Control still has supervision of the Battleship Texas Commission.

Visitors Increase

Attendance at 22 Texas vacation-land attractions increased 13% last year, with total admissions of 30,403,000.

Six Flags over Texas rated as top tourist stop with 1,713,000 visitors, out-drawing by 446,000 San Antonio's Alamo, according to Tourist Development Agency. Biggest percentage gain was marked by Bishop's Palace on Galveston Island. Big Bend National Park reported another big increase, as did the Aquarena at San Marcos, Old Stone Fort of Nacogdoches, Fort Davis National Historic Site and Padre Island.

Building Sales Drop

Texas building and retail sales dropped during January. However, both December and January still were above the first month of 1965.

UT's Bureau of Business Research reported total retail sales in January off 28% from a record December—due largely to the "greater-than-seasonal rise" during the Christmas month. Nevertheless, retail stores generally posted gains of 2% over January a year ago.

Building permits for the first month of 1966 dropped a whopping 22% below December and 4% below the 1965 average. But the $133,200,000 total was 16% over January, 1965.

Disabled Should Apply For S.S. Benefits

Some 3000 Texans who may be eligible for disability benefits under the new Social Security provisions have not yet applied for them, according to Floyd B. Ellington, district manager of the San Angelo Social Security Office.

Under recent liberalizations of the law, persons with nonpermanent disability may not qualify for benefits. Ellington said that under the previous law a person was eligible only if he had a severe disability that was expected to last a long and indefinite time. Now benefits can be paid if the severe disability has lasted or is expected by his doctors to last as long as 12 months. There are also more liberal requirements for certain persons who are blind.

These liberalizations make necessary a revised State-Federal agreement under which the Texas Education Agency will continue to make disability determinations for all Texas residents who apply for benefits under the Social Security Disability Program.

Girl Scout Troop 153 Gives Activity Report

Dear Success Readers: We, of Girl Scout Troop 153, would like to tell you what great fun Scouting is. We have nine girls in our troop and have done a wide variety of things to earn our badges to be given at the Court of Awards in April.

During the year, we have made field trips to tour the El Dorado Woolen mill and the cotton gin. Both of these trips were quite educational and entertaining.

At Christmas, rather than making gifts for our mothers, we chose to journey to Christoval to visit and entertain the lonely people at the Golden Years Nursing Home. Each girl participated individually as well as in a group. Everything was done: poetry reading, singing, square dancing, piano playing, and, of course, the traditional Christmas caroling. From this trip we received a true glowing pride in Scouting.

During the year, we dramatized "The Wizard of Oz" with costumes and all the action of the story.

Handwork has been a major part of our activities. We made beautiful candles and place cards that were used to decorate the table for our Father-Daughter banquet. The Valentine theme was used and each girl covered a box for her escort and herself. Such originality you would have to see to believe.

Among other things, we have sold Girl Scout Calendars and Girl Scout Cookies. These gave each girl an opportunity to meet the public and learn a little about business.

We wish to thank each of our mothers for the marvelous refreshments they have furnished us through the year.

In the future we plan to take a bicycle trip and go on a cook-out.

We feel our year so far has been and will be completed with great success with the capable guidance of our leader, Mrs. Wilson Page.

Sincerely,

- Denise Adams
- Eva Jo Blaylock
- Sue Collins
- Beverly Hartgraves
- Lucretia Henderson
- Vonda Maness
- Velda McQuarry
- Debbie Page
- Kathy Page.

Troop 45

Girl Scout Troop 45 is composed of sixth grade girls, most of whom have been together in Scouting since the second grade.

- The members are:
- Marian Bland
 - Betty Kay Bradley
 - Sherry Davis
 - Margie Green
 - Judy Hanusch
 - June Holley
 - Jenny Sue Martin
 - Leslie Martin
 - Jeannie McCravery
 - Patty Page
 - Jean Rountree
 - Loretta Schooley
 - Eva Stigler.

This year the girls are completing the sign of the arrow and the sign of the star, the two main steps in Junior Girl Scouting.

These steps are made up of many badges, which the girls work on at meetings and at home. As a troop we have sold 242 boxes of cookies this year, and would like to take this opportunity to thank all of our friends for being such good customers. We have also sold calendars, helped with the city clean-up campaign and made curtains for the girl scout room at the Memorial Building. Several of our group have attended established camp for many years and part of our cookie money goes to our cookie fund. Most of the girls have attended day camp locally and the annual district camporee.

Each year we honor our fathers at the father-daughter Valentine banquet and our year ends with the court of awards, at which time we receive our badges and a report of our activities for the year is given.

The leaders of this troop are Mrs. Paul Page and Mrs. Clifford Schooley. —Rep.

Board of Supervisors of the Eldorado-Divide S.C.D.

The prospects of 1966 being a good crop year is uncertain at this time, in the Eldorado-Divide S.C.D. The lack of good rain last fall and this winter has left moisture condition below normal on dry cropland. Some district cooperators started applying their pre-planting irrigation over a month ago. Farmers that have irrigated land will be able to apply enough water to their land to bring it to full field capacity.

Good moisture conditions from the time crops are planted until after the crop is made, is essential in good crop production. The need of ample moisture for maximum yields, for any period of time cannot be over-emphasized. In other words it might be said, "The most important irrigation given a crop is the one that is currently needed." However, if any one irrigation can be considered of more importance, it is the irrigation before crops are planted. This irrigation puts water in the soil that is available for plant use through the entire crop year. This is why it is important that irrigation water be applied to bring the soil moisture to full field capacity. This is the water that helps prevent the crop from going in stress during the hot summer months when the plants reach their peak moisture use period.

How much water is needed each irrigation is as important for the farmer to know as to know when to plant or how much seed to plant. The amount of water that can be stored by each foot of depth, differs by soil types. Therefore, it is very important that the water holding capacity of the soil be known. Also, the amount of water in the soil before irrigation begins must be determined if the right amount of water is to be applied to bring soil to full field capacity. The only means farmers have to determine the amount of water in the soil is by digging a hole and estimating the water present. By estimating the moisture present in the soil the amount needed can be determined. Also, when to irrigate can be determined by this method.

When to irrigate, how much water to apply and how to apply the water without causing erosion or wasting water, are some of the things that must be done to attain irrigation water management. To accomplish these objectives, the quantity of water used to reach irrigation is determined by the holding capacity of the soil and the need of the crop. Also, the water is applied at a rate and in such a manner that will allow it to go into the soil and not cause erosion.

Two of the most common waste and inefficient use of irrigation water can occur without the knowledge of the farmer. Since the evidence of this inefficiency is not visible at the time of irrigation, the farmer must know what is taking place when the irrigation is being done. For example a row width of 40 inches and 900 feet long is being irrigated with 25 gallons per minute. Water is left running for a ten hour period to get the water to the end opposite the delivery system. From usual observation it could appear that a good job is being done. However, two major things have occurred to cause inefficient use of water. Where the water was being put in the row 10 hours, opportune time was allowed before water reached the other end. Opportunity time is the time water is available, at any location along the row, for water to go into the soil. The most serious waste is the waste of water, which in turn increases the cost of irrigation. For the ten-hour period 8.10 inches of water will have been applied. This may not sound like too much water if the amount needed for irrigation is not known. To know how much water is needed we must first know how much water the soil will hold through the root zone depth. Then the amount remaining in the soil at the time of irrigation, subtracted from the total holding capacity, will give what needs to be applied. The total holding capacity of the most common soil in this area for three feet of depth is approximately 7.1 inches. If the soil had 50% field capacity remaining when irrigation started about 4.3 gross application would be needed to reach field capacity. In this case almost 50% of the water being applied is wasted.

Good irrigation water management can only be achieved by knowing what needs to be done, when it needs to be done, and by doing it. Also, an adopted conservation irrigation system must be established on the land to be irrigated.

Assistance in planning and applying all the needed practices on irrigated land is available from the Soil Conservation Service technicians assisting the District. Cost share assistance is available in applying enduring type conservation practices, through the Great Plains Conservation Program, (administered by the Soil Conservation Service) and the Schleicher County A.S.C. office.

On Honor Roll At Angelo State College San Angelo.—Two Eldorado students have been named to the honor roll at Angelo State College on the basis of outstanding academic work during the 1965 fall semester. They are Ray Lewis Ballew and Bedford Cain. Ballew, a junior, is the son of Lyonelle and Elizabeth Ballew of Eldorado. Cain, a freshman, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peyton Cain of Eldorado.

Cadette Troop The Cadette Troop of our Girl Scout organization in Eldorado is Troop number 114. This group includes girls from the seventh thru the ninth grades. At present, however, we have five seventh grade girls. Two of our members moved away at mid-term. The girls participating at the present time are: Peggy Hanusch, Peggy Hill, Mary Lynn McCalla, Claudia Meador, and Genie Newport. The leader of Troop 114 is Mrs. Ed Meador. When the girls reach this part of the Scout program they begin work on four basic challenges: Social dependability, active citizenship, emergency preparedness, and the challenge of the Girl Scout promise. Troop 114 is working at present on badges which pertain to the challenge of social dependability. Most of the badge work done by the girls is individual work at home and our meetings, which are held twice a month, consist of programs pertaining to the various badges being completed such as the "Hostess Badge," the "Family Living BBadge" or the "Good Grooming Badge." Many of our girls in this troop are avid campers. They have participated in Scout established camps at Camp Wood Lake near Brownwood, Texas, and at Jo Jan Van near Barksdale, Texas. Also they have participated in the camporees of this council, and the day camps here in Schleicher county. All of the girls in the Cadette troop have been active in Scouting for six years. They have gained much from their participation and hope to contribute much to their community as a result.

Editorial The School Trustee

(Editor's Note: The following article should be of interest to voters and patrons of Schleicher County Independent School District. The article is a list of qualifications for school board members or candidates. The author, Loyd L. Turner, is president of the Ft. Worth Independent School District Board of Education.)

A good school board member has a strong belief in public education . . . its importance to the individual and its importance to the nation.

He should be sincerely interested in children, never forgetting that's the reason we keep school.

He should understand the difference between policy and administration . . . should confine himself to policy matters . . . and should keep his cotton-picking hands out of the superintendent's business.

He should never forget that the public schools belong to the public . . . not to the school board and not to the superintendent.

He and his fellow board members should be a cross-section of the community.

He should represent all the people of a community—not a geographical area or some vested interest.

He should be knowledgeable about and interested in the curriculum.

He should have an open mind and should suspend judgement until all the facts are in.

He should be able to recognize school problems before they get out of hand.

He should be willing to work with fellow board members in spite of personal differences, and he should support board decisions once they are made.

He should have some firm convictions and should be able to weather criticism.

He should be able to think independently, objectively and soundly.

He should be willing to give the necessary time to this important function of board membership.

He should be adaptable and forward looking, heeding Pope's admonition: "Be not the first by whom the new is tried, Nor yet; the last to lay the old aside."

He should have integrity; he should be moral; he should have initiative; he should have courage; he should have a cast iron stomach.

He should have an understanding wife (or she should have an understanding husband.)

He should be willing to do his job as a board member without recognition.

GIRL SCOUT WEEK

to pitch in on restoring a landmark or building a library or rescuing from neglect a park or wildlife area . . . a capacity for hard work with broom and paint brush to clean up neglected areas in the community or to collect and repair toys to make sure Santa Claus comes for everyone . . .

Most important of all, the Girl Scout's Promise of Service reflects a philosophy many an adult might well emulate—the acceptance of responsibility, of seeing a need and meeting it—what the late John F. Kennedy called, “knowing that here on earth God's work must truly be our own.”

Girl Scout Promise

SUPPORT YOUR GIRL SCOUTS

All across the United States this week, important promises are being made by a group of young ladies who take promises very seriously—the more than three million Brownie, Junior, Cadette & Senior members of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. The promises they are making in their own communities form a nation-wide Promise of Service—their way of celebrating Girl Scout Week and the 54th anniversary of Girl Scouting.

The Promise of Service to which Girl Scouts are pledging themselves requires all sorts of talents, abilities and attitudes . . . a willingness to develop special skills to enable them to work with handicapped children, at day nurseries, hospitals, and homes for the aged; to aid the blind; to teach English to foreign-born adults; to give lessons on hygiene; to teach crafts and conduct games and parties for the less advantaged children . . . an abundance of sheer enthusiasm

We dream of castles in the sky; we build castles in the sand. We dream—but what do we do in reality?

At some crucial point in life we must translate dreams into action or lose our hold upon the covenants, resolutions, pacts and promises of a lifetime.

In cities and towns throughout this country, more than three million young girls are dreaming—and acting. Their dream is expressed in the Girl Scout Promise:

“On my honor, I will try: to do my duty to God and my country, to help other people at all times, to obey the Girl Scout Laws.”

The important thing about this promise is that it results in action—action that enriches the community and the nation as well as the individual girl. Just one example of that action is the nationwide Promise of Service that Girl Scouts in every part of the country are making this week in honor of Girl Scout Week and the 54th anniversary of the organization.

Girl Scout Week is a time to acknowledge the organization whose members share an exemplary sense of commitment and to point out that their Promise is the promise—and the hope—of tomorrow.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by Tiny Godwin

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

Fertilize Coastal Bermudagrass early in the spring to make the most of favorable moisture conditions. Fertilizer plays a twofold role in Coastal Bermuda. First, it increases yield, and second, it increases protein content of the forage or hay.

This means with adequate fertilization, you get more of a higher quality product.

General fertilizer recommendations for Coastal are:

Coastal responds well to nitrogen, interplanted winter legumes or a combination of the two. Split nitrogen applications to improve efficiency. Production peaks can be shifted to some extent, according to the time of nitrogen application.

Phosphorus is nearly as important to Coastal as nitrogen. Phosphorus applications may be made in the fall if the area contains a winter legume, or delayed until early spring if no legumes are present. Do not split phosphorus applications.

Potassium levels in the soil greatly influence forage production when high rates of nitrogen are used. Soil tests show that little if any potassium is needed in the county.

Growing a legume like Crimson Clover with Coastal Bermuda lowers nitrogen requirements by about 60 pounds per acre, but increases need for phosphorus, potassium and calcium.

The most important point to remember: use a soil test and apply a balanced fertilizer.

One thing about the speed of light, it gets here too early in the morning.

Nitrogen is the basic building block of all living matter, both plant and animal.

Plants need plentiful supplies of nitrogen to insure respiration, growth and reproduction. Nitrogen generally is concentrated in the rapidly growing areas of plants such as tips of shoots, buds and newly opened leaves.

Plants tend to use a high proportion of their nitrogen during the early growth stages. Young plants take up large quantities of nitrogen and hold it for later use. As much as two-thirds of the total uptake of nitrogen may occur during the first 60 days of the life cycle of crops such as cotton, corn and grain sorghum.

However, this supply taken up in early stages does not last indefinitely. A continuous nitrogen supply must be available throughout the season. In the case of forage crops that are grazed or cut for hay or silage, split applications of nitrogen are necessary so that an adequate amount can be available for each successive cutting or grazing period.

Several factors should be considered when deciding upon the amounts needed for the next crop. These conditions include: last year's crop, tonnage and stage of decomposition of residue, previous fertilizer applications, crop to be grown and anticipated yield, the amount of organic matter present in the soil and previous response to fertilizer.

Have your soil tested by a reliable soil testing laboratory for an evaluation of the nitrogen status and the rate to use for maximum efficiency.

Here are things to look for when selecting goats for the breeding herd:

1. Complete covering is most important. Check the neck and belly covering. The amount of mohair produced in these areas is small. You don't have good covering elsewhere when you have no hair on the neck and belly.

2. Open faces. A blind goat does not do well in finding browse and he must be able to see to do well. 3. Moderate amount of oil. Some oil is necessary; however, heavy oil content is associated with small goats. A fleece that yields 75-80% hair is most desirable.

4. Size and conformation. Since meat is not a prime factor, conformation doesn't make as much difference as with other animal species. But you want a sound animal. A goat has to be able to move; good feet and legs are essential. Size of doe affects kids raised. Does are usually mature at 65 pounds a yearlings and 85 pounds for mature does.

5. Mohair quality. A good goat to strive for is one inch hair growth per month. However, does with kids seldom are able to produce this much hair.

No lock is superior to the other whether it be lock or web lock and most producers are striving for the intermediate lock.

Get rid of any goat with straight hair or a "sheepy" fleece. "Sheepy hair" is short, coarse and weighs very little.

All kempy haired goats should be culled.

Do a good job on goat selection and they will pay as well per dollar invested as any dollar in agriculture today.

A budget is something that allows you to live within your means and without almost everything else.

Texas Schools In Transition

Public Schools Week in Texas will be observed March 7-11 (March 7-10 locally) and parents and citizens should visit their community schools to see what is going on in education.

The visitor to a school today may not see it at first glance but the public schools in Texas are in a period of critical transition.

The visitor will see bright new equipment in the science labs. But he should keep in mind that new achievements in science and space research are outdistancing the textbook writers and the schools must race to keep up.

The mathematics classroom the visitor sees may contain new and ingenious teaching aids. But the visitor should realize that educational research is moving so fast that the schools must continually re-evaluate their curriculums lest they fall behind current developments.

The school principal can point with pride to the expensive new language laboratories. But the visitor should remember that more and more expensive equipment will have to be purchased and from somewhere, somehow the money to buy it will have to be found.

A teacher may tell a parent about a summer program being planned for disadvantaged pre-schoolers. This should be hint enough that the American school system is rapidly becoming a major vehicle for social action among poverty groups. Poverty areas overlap other areas and all, the rich and the poor, will be affected.

Another teacher may talk about good attendance at his school. But every school is troubled by the dropout problem. The factors that cause a child to drop out of school before graduation are primarily rooted in the home but the schools are being expected to solve the dropout dilemma.

The visitor to a school may be attending an open house in a brand new school building. But the population growth in Texas is so great that many more schools are needed than can be built. This is a problem the local community must solve strictly at the local level, from a severely strained, inadequate local tax base.

The teacher a visitor encounters during Public Schools Week is the best qualified teacher in the state's history. But each year Texas needs from between 9,000-9,500 new teachers. About one-third of this number is needed to take care of increasing enrollment. The remainder is needed to replace teachers who are retiring or who are seeking employment in non-teaching jobs. At this time there is inadequate financial promise offered to new teachers in order for Texas to continue attracting well qualified young people into the teaching profession. And there is inadequate financial promise to hold them there to become career teachers.

The visitor to a Texas public school can take pride in his state's educational progress. But he should take note that a society which is demanding more and more from the schools must in return furnish increased financial support and increased moral support for the professionals in charge of the schools.

"Girl Scouting—A Promise In Action" is the theme of Girl Scout Week, celebrated this week by almost three and three-quarter million members of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. Since the first meeting of the first Girl Scout troop, organized by Juliette Gordon Low in Savannah, Georgia, on March 12, 1912, more than 20 million girls and adults have promised to do their duty to God and country, to help other people and to obey the Girl Scout Laws of loyalty, honesty, courtesy, friendship, cheerfulness, kindness and thrift.

"Yes, dear, of course you may have a mascot."

It's a Fact . . .

EVERY YEAR ABOUT 1,000 TEEN-AGE GIRLS JOIN THE WING SCOUTS TO LEARN TO FLY

HUNDREDS OF GIRL SCOUTS TRAVEL EVERY SUMMER TO SIGHT-SEE AND VISIT GIRL GUIDE FRIENDS IN OTHER COUNTRIES. ONE TROOP IN PENNSYLVANIA GATHERED AND SOLD PRAYING MANTIS EGGS FOR 4 YEARS TO EARN MONEY FOR THEIR TRIP TO EUROPE

CHILDREN WITH HANDICAPS CAN BE GIRL SCOUTS. TODAY THERE ARE 3,544 HANDICAPPED CHILDREN IN GIRL SCOUT TROOPS

ABOUT 30,000 MEN BELONG TO THE GIRL SCOUTS. THEY SERVE AS VOLUNTEERS ON FINANCE COMMITTEES, HELP SET UP SUMMER CAMPS, OR TEACH GIRLS PHOTOGRAPHY, ROCK COLLECTING, CARPENTRY OR OTHER SPECIAL SKILLS AND HOBBIES

"REMEMBER THE ALAMO"

-- the cry that fanned Texas' defeat to victory!

On March 1, 1836, thirty men from Gonzales broke through the lines of Mexican Army Commander Santa Anna to increase the Alamo's defenses to 187. This little band of heroes held the Alamo against overwhelming odds for five more days in one of the most heroic struggles to be found in the annals of man.

On March 6 Santa Anna with over 4,000 troops stormed the Alamo, and the last of the heroic band of Texans died fighting. Names like William Barret Travis, James Bowie, Davy Crockett and James B. Bonham became immortal.

The massacre at the Alamo inspired General Sam Houston's men at the battle of San Jacinto. Crying "Remember the Alamo!", the Texans sprang upon Santa Anna's soldiers and in a swift bloody fight won Texas its freedom.

SPEAK OUT FOR FREEDOM

... with U. S. Savings Bonds!

Through the years that have followed, other "Alamos" and "San Jacintos" have inspired Americans to lead and win the fight for Freedom — Pork Chop Hill, Iwo Jima, the Meuse-Argonne Forest.

Today, by purchasing a United States Savings Bond, you can also speak out for Freedom as clearly as the battle cries of old. Every Savings Bond you buy is an investment in Freedom. Buy Bonds at your bank or on the payroll savings plan where you work.
