ARCHITECT'S PERSPECTIVE OF PROPOSED SCHLEICHER COUNTY MEDICAL CENTER AND NURSING HOME

Howard Derrick And Other Promoters Take Trip East In Behalf of Mohair Sales

By Congressman O. C. Fisher
Mohair, now in a price slump due to lack of demand, may find some additional outlet in military blankets. Last year 4,500 blankets were made, containing 10% mohair content, on a sort of experimental basis. They turned out fairly good, and this has prompted procurement officials to permit a similar mohair mixture in the next order for more than a million blankets. In addition, there is to be an experiment with 15% mohair. The 10% use accounts for about one-half pound of mohair in each blanket.

While this outlet for the coarser grades of mohair is of limited quantity, it is about the only military use that we can find for this specialty fiber. But once established as acceptable for the troops, there is the chance that comparable civilian use in blankets may gain favor.

This summarizes the findings made by several of us who last week visited the Defense Supply Agency in Philadelphia and the U. S. Army Natick Laboratories in Natick, Mass. In making these trips I joined Congressman Graham Purcell, Dolph Briscoe, C. A. Dishman, Walter Pfluger, and Howard Derrick. We were determined to explore every possibility for additional use of mohair by the military.

At each of these key agencies we were briefed in detail concerning their missions and requirements. At the Supply Center in Philadelphia we met with Gen. John M. Kenderline, commander of the facility, and his staff. The General, an A&M graduate, is vitally interested in the promotion of mohair, and seems to be most sympathetic with our problem. At Natick we found General W. M. Mantz and his aides most cooperative. Dr. Kennedy, in charge of textile research, was formerly with Pacific Mills which in the past was a major outlet for Texas mohair. He is probably the best authority on mohair uses in this country today.

We learned that the reason, in brief, why mohair is not used in military uniforms, overcoats, etc., is that such blending calls for only the finer grades of mohair—kid and yearling hair. But our big problem is with the coarser grades—the grown mohair—and this fiber does not lend itself to military requirements except for the blankets.

Leslie Woullard expects his aunt, Miss Ada Woullard, to visit here in Eldorado this coming Saturday, all day. Miss Woullard has been in Memorials Hospital in San Angelo for some time and will welcome her friends to visit with her here on Saturday.

Luther Dunham was painfully burned late Tuesday as he was lighting a charcoal barbecue grill and a can of lighter fuel exploded. He was taken to Sonora where he received treatment, and was allowed to return home later that night.

The above architect's drawing of the proposed hospital was reproduced from a large colored picture which is now on display in the show window of Eldorado Drug.

This paper invited its readers to express themselves on the hospital proposition starting back in September—eight months ago. During that time we have received—and printed free—eight letters on the subject. Four were enthusiastically in favor of the hospital and four were against. Of the four who were opposed, none were residents of the city of Eldorado.

We believe that all pros and cons of this issue have now been explored and with this issue we close our offer for free letters concerning the hospital. Next week's edition, May 18, will be the final one before election day. Any statements in that final issue will be handled strictly as PAID ADVERTISING either for or against.

Much has been said in the Success in recent weeks and months about the proposed hospital and rest home. The issue comes up for a vote a week from Saturday and absentee voting deadline is Tuesday. The total absentee vote count indicates that considerable interest is being shown and a good turnout of voters is expected.

One thing we have not said much about is how the acquisition of a local hospital would affect the local business community.

Of course, the total business community is helped by having a hospital, but there are specific types of business that are more directly affected.

When Grandma or any other member of the family goes to the hospital or rest home, a number of out-of-town relatives are apt to drop in to visit. This means that service stations, cafes, florists, and motels will pick up at least some extra business and trade. So operators of such establishments should be especially concerned about putting over the upcoming vote for establishing the hospital district and putting through the $450,000 bond issue.

Rancher: "If this drought don't break pretty soon there is going to be an awful lot of sick ranchers in this county. Wonder if that hospital will be big enough!"

As of 1:30 p.m. Wednesday of this week, there had been 74 absentee votes cast in the Hospital Election.

JIM THORNTON

A 1953 grad of Eldorado High School who has been working at Wichita Falls for several years will be on the job here Monday as manager of the Eagle Chevrolet-Olds dealership, it was announced by Paul Page.

Jim Thornton, who has been Director of Planning and Industrial Relations for the City of Wichita Falls, Texas, is married to the former Martha Dell Williams. They have two children, Suzan Gayle, 10, in the fourth grade at Cunningham Elementary School in Wichita Falls, and Mark Justin, 8, in the second grade at Cunningham School.

Mrs. Thornton and family will join Mr. Thornton here after school is out and they will live for the present in the Ebba Finley house.

Following his graduation from the local high school in '53, Mr. Thornton went to Texas Tech at Lubbock where he received his Bachelor of Science degree in 1957 in Agriculture-Parks Management. He held positions as superintendent of parks, Harlingen, Texas; assistant director of Parks and Recreation, Odessa, Texas; retail nursery and landscape business, Odessa; and director of parks and recreation at Wichita Falls, previous to his present job. His wife, Martha Dell, is a stu-

Four construction firms were represented when members of the Housing Authority of Eldorado opened bids at 7:00 p.m., Tuesday evening at the Memorial Building for construction of 24 low-rent housing units.

Low bidder and winner of the contract was the Herman Bennett Co., of Brownwood, whose bid was $242,900.

Others were B-F-W Construction Co., of Temple, bidding $245,700; Cope-Brown Lumber Co., of Fort Stockton with a bid of $258,800;

And Frank Cannon of San Angelo with $266,380.

The award to Herman Bennett will not be official until it is approved and signed at Fort Worth, a legal technicality that may require three weeks.

Herman Bennett was represented at the meeting by his construction superintendent, Horace King, who stated that he expected to be turning dirt here by the first of June. 270 working days is the approximate time allowed for completion of the job.

The project calls for 24 housing units which will all be built at one time. Upon completion the units will be rented to low-income people.

Mr. King stated that he would use local labor insofar as possible.

Eden Bids
Low bidder Tuesday night at Eden was the BFW Construction Co., of Temple at a figure of $222,800. This bid was followed closely by Herman Bennett Co., with $224,890.

The Eden project calls for 22 units with 14 for elderly persons, and is similar to the one at Eldorado.

Austin Report

BY REP. HILARY DORAN, JR.

This past week the House considered and passed a number of bills. Some of the more important bills were Senate Bill 204 which establishes the Texas Water Quality Board; Senate Bill 292 relating to an optional retirement program for teachers; House Bill 301 requiring vehicles carrying certain dangerous substances to stop at railway crossings within towns; and House Bill 354 which relates to drivers licenses, the violation of traffic laws and other matters of highway safety.

Many of the above named bills now go to the Governor for his signature while a few still have to be considered by the Senate before they are eligible to be sent to the Governor. With only three weeks remaining in the regular session of the 60th Legislature, the pace is beginning to quicken, a majority of the committee hearings and meetings are nearing completion and the bulk of the work and action now moves to the floor of the House and Senate.

Last week I reported that the liquor by the drink bill was voted out of committee in a surprise move and was now eligible to be brought before the House for a vote. I also mentioned this bill had been amended from its original version and could not predict its chances at that time. Since then I, and the majority of the members, have had time to study this bill and it is the general or at least the majority feeling that this bill does not possess sufficient votes in order to pass in the House. Some of the amendments that have been placed on the bill have probably hurt its chances of passage more than they have helped. There is considerable behind the scenes activity concerning this bill and even though I do not think it could pass today, I cannot predict what will happen in the remaining three weeks of this session.

Due to the huge log jam of legislation still awaiting action in the Legislature, there are many rumors and theories being discussed on whether or not a special session will be needed in June. However, most of the members feel that a special session will not be needed due to the fact that the Governor has already announced that he will call a special session next year.

National Hospital Week Is Under Way

Citing National Hospital Week, May 7-13, as an opportunity to take note of the important services which our hospitals render to the community, Ted F. Moellering, social security district manager, said today, "This year we should also recognize the significant efforts and cooperation which hospitals have contributed to the success of medicare in its first year."

Nationally, about 3 million beneficiaries have received inpatient hospital services under medicare since the program of hospital insurance for the aged began. About 2000 residents of the San Angelo District have entered hospitals under medicare, Moellering said.

There are 13 hospitals in the San Angelo District among the 6,750 hospitals across the country now participating in medicare. "For 19 million people 65 and over, medicare has made sure that the door to expert and quality hospital care will not be closed for financial reasons," Moellering said. Since all patients 65 and over can now pay their way, hospitals no longer have to bear the financial losses for aged charity patients. Hospitals receive reimbursement of full reasonable costs for the services they render to medicare beneficiaries, Moellering said.

About 98% of the short term hospital beds in this country are in participating hospitals, Moellering said. Many hospitals and other facilities re-examined their standards and improved and upgraded their services to meet the requirements for participation in the program. "The benefits of these improvements in health care," he said, "go not just to the elderly but to the community as a whole."

Some hospitals are not only providing hospital care under medicare, but have set up or expanded their own extended care units to offer posthospital care to patients. Of the 250,000 extended care beds now certified to participate in medicare, 20,000 are parts of hospitals. Moellering noted that in line with the theme of this year's National Hospital Week, "City of Care," these hospitals are becoming cities of care in a true sense as they expand the types of medical care offered to the community. "The significant efforts of the hospital community have done much to make medicare a success in its first months," Moellering said.

Sauer Receives Award At Uvalde

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Sauer, along with Ben Hext, District Supervisor and Bill Rountree of the Soil Conservation Service, journeyed to Uvalde Tuesday night of this week to attend the Region II Fort Worth Press Save The Soil and Save Texas awards program.

The Sauers were recipients of the Outstanding District Farmer Award for the Eldorado-Divide Soil and Water Conservation District almost from its very beginning. Conservation plans were numbered in consecutive order and Sauer's was number 19. He was assisted by technicians of the Soil Conservation Service in preparing his plan. Within a few years he had applied and was maintaining all the needed conservation practices on his farm.

In 1957 Sauer drilled a well for irrigation and began irrigating part of his farm. With the assistance of technicians of the S.C.S., Victor revised his conservation plan to include the new conservation practices brought about in the change to irrigated land. In 1963 he entered into a contract under the Great Plains Conservation Program to speed up application of his plan. All the needed conservation work was completed when the Great Plains contract expired in 1966.

The importance of conservation awards programs, such as the one carried out by The Fort Worth Press can not be over emphasized.

The well being of each citizen of the State of Texas is dependent on the productivity of our agricultural land. Without the interest of those that are not directly engaged in agriculture, and the right treatment of the sand to maintain or improve its productivity by those who use it, the needs of the people can not be met.

Good Neighbor H. D.

The Good Neighbor Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday, April 25, in the home of Mrs. Bethel Jeffrey. Mrs. Charles Schrier served refreshments to eight members and one guest, Mrs. Vernal Sudduth.

The members thoroughly enjoyed the book review and wish to thank Mrs. Robinson for presenting it to them in such an interesting way.

Mrs. W. C. Parks, Jr., represented the club for the district meeting. Also, a new president was selected, as Mrs. Sherrill Dannheim resigned. Mrs. E. H. Dannheim will finish the rest of the year. —Mrs. Sherrill Dannheim.

Redistricting bills are ready for tests votes in the House.

A court reapportionment measure would add 16 courts, eliminate two and provide for district realignment, was reported favorably by the House Committee on Judicial Districts.

Bill would provide two new courts each for Dallas, Harris, Bexar and Tarrant counties. Single courts would go to these districts: Hidalgo County, 200th District; Comal and Guadalupe Counties, 201st

District; Duval, Jim Hogg, Zapata and Starr Counties, 202nd District; Randall County, 203rd District; Collin County, 204th District; Gregg County, 205th District; Crockett, Schleicher, Menard, Sutton, Kimble, Edwards, Real, Kerr and Bandera Counties, 206th District; and Wharton, Fort Bend, Matagora and Brazoria Counties, 66th District.

It would combine district courts serving Hill and Freestone counties with other counties. It provides for abolishing the 88th District Court, effective January 1, 1970, and the 82nd District Court effective Jan.

1, 1971. Candidates for new judgeships would run for office next year, taking over on January 1, 1969.

A congressional redistricting bill required by an order of the federal court, is complete. But it has been held back due to controversies.

Congressional redistricting as drawn by the House Committee would require no incumbent congressman to run against another incumbent. Also the Committee Chairman Gus Mutscher of Brenham said the bill would carve 23 new districts which vary no more than five per cent in population.

Mutscher indicated that the redistricting measure for House seats is virtually complete and will follow congressional reapportionment by about 10 days.

Horses Gallop Again

In less time than it takes a fast stepping thoroughbred to romp a mile, the House Committee on Counties approved, on a local-option basis, a bill to legalize pari-mutuel horse race betting in Texas.

Horse sponsors said they are not sure when they will ask for a floor vote.

Here's what the House bill proposes: Racing would be permitted in counties where voters want it, with 85 per cent of the betting pools going to betters, two per cent to counties where tracks are operated and 13 per cent to be split between the state and the track operators. State would, in turn, divide half of its share (on a population basis) among the counties having no tracks. Bookmaking and off-track betting with bookies would be made a felony.

Senate bill has been out of the committee since February but, so far, the sponsors haven't brought it to a floor test.

Open Meetings

A bill to outlaw closed door meetings of government agencies passed the Senate unanimously.

However, an amendment would exempt departments, agencies and political sub divisions not supported by or spending tax funds.

Misdemeanor fines are provided for violations, and "any interested person" may launch court action for mandamus or injunction against closed meetings.

Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena handled the measure in the Senate. It now goes to the House where Rep. Bill Rapp of Raymondville is sponsor.

Revision Plans Advanced

The House overwhelmingly passed a resolution proposing a method of state constitutional revision. A 20-member commission assisted by a 20-member citizens advisory committee would report recommendations to the next Legislature for submission to voters. Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria is author of the House resolution.

Senate State Affairs Committee approved a bill to establish a 45-member constitutional revision commission. Under this bill, by Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston, the commission would be limited mainly to recommendations. It would offer suggestions to the Legislature for eliminating obsolete and repetitive sections.

Pollution Measures Cleared House passed the Senate bill to strengthen water pollution control and establish a new Texas Water Quality Board as a separate agency. Amendments will send the bill back to the Senate.

Meanwhile, the Senate approved a bill to provide the mechanism for enforcing air pollution control measures. An amendment would allow the Air Control Board to set different standards for agricultural processors (including cotton gins) than are set for industries.

Grant Approved

U. S. Public Health Service has approved a $315,659 grant to Texas for a statewide immunization program. Funds will be used for immunization campaigns in cooperation with local health agencies and medical societies against measles, polio, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough. Project will continue through April 30, 1968. An additional year has been tentatively provided for with a $325,000 grant. Supplemental budget of $35,775 for polio vaccine has been requested.

Occupational Safety

House and Senate both have passed the compromise occupational safety bill. It now awaits Gov. John Connally's signature.

As finally passed, the bill is a compromise among labor, management and the governor. It would create a Division of Occupational Safety as a part of the State Department of Health.

The Department would have the power to make and enforce rules and regulations on safety, plus authority to inspect places of employment. A qualified safety engineer would be hired to administer the program.

Regulate Rainmakers

The Senate has passed and sent to the House a licensing bill to regulate weather modifiers — or would-be modifiers — under the Tex Water Development Board. Apparently the bill is aimed more at encouraging research and development in the field of legitimate weather modifying than at bogus rainmakers. The board would be given full control over the entire field of water modifying including annual licensing and permits.

Appointments

Governor Connally named Carlos Castillon of Laredo as 49th district attorney to replace Oscar M. Laurel who recently accepted a federal post in Washington.

Connally named to the Dallas - Tarrant board of park commissioners W. T. Overton, Jack Evans, David Bruton Jr., O. B. English, George A. Nicoud Jr., Vernon S. Smith and T. W. Norsworthy of Dallas. Also Ernest J. Wilemon of Arlington and Murray Kyger, David O. Belew Jr., John L. Lewis, James C. Fuller and Dick Lowe of Fort Worth.

Dr. Bevington A. Reed, formerly of Cisco and Alpine, now chancellor of the Board of Minnesota State College, was named assistant commissioner of Texas Higher Education for Senior Colleges and Universities.

Water Projects Asked

Texas Water Development Board has asked federal agencies for $40,500,000 for investigative facilities at the U. S. Corps of Engineers water projects and $2,800,000 for investigative studies of 16 projects suggested by President Johnson.

Letters From Readers

To the Editor, Eldorado Success

Dear Sir,

I know that your paper goes into practically every home in Eldorado. I owe most of these good people a debt that I shall never be able to repay. During the long illness and death of my sister, Mrs. W. J. Humphrey, I had several occasions to observe how faithful her friends and neighbors were. Each time I visited I filed away boxes and boxes of cards and letters. There were always fresh flowers in her room and gifts that were the tangible evidence of the love and esteem which her friends must have felt for her.

After her death there were so many callers who came to express their sympathy. Gifts of food were brought to the home and the ladies of the church served lunch to a very large crowd on the day of the funeral.

Many years have passed since I lived in West Texas, but I know that nowhere in the world are people so kind and considerate when one of their neighbors needs a friend.

I hope you will allow me to use a small part of your paper to tell these people that truly they are the "salt of the earth" and to say thank you to all of them from all of us who were the recipients of their wonderful kindness.

Sincerely yours, Mrs. Lester Edwards, 804 W. 28 1/2 St., Austin, Texas 78705.

Summer Program For Pre-Schoolers

School Supt. C. T. Humphries and the trustees have announced plans for a summer program for pupils who will enter the First Grade in the local school this coming fall.

A letter sent to parents this week stated:

Dear Parent: Schleicher County Independent School District's Pre-School Summer Program under Title I has been approved and will begin Monday, May 29, 1967. The Program will operate for 12 weeks and will close on August 18, 1967.

We plan to have the children from 8:00 in the morning until 12:00 noon, scheduling a mid-morning break for refreshments.

Every child who will be six years old on or before September 1, 1967, is eligible and is encouraged to attend.

Each child enrolled will be given a physical checkup by a physician and will be given all necessary immunizations for his protection that are required by the local School Board at no cost to you.

If it will not be possible for your child to attend all the time, please enroll him at the beginning and send him as many days as possible.

If you have any questions about the program, please contact me at school. —C. T. Humphries, Supt.

Mr. Humphries stated this week that the teachers for this Summer Program had not yet been definitely selected.

Eldorado Wins State In Debate, Poetry

The Eldorado Speech Club sent more people to the State Meet in Austin May 4-6 than any other year in the history of the school. A total of ten people went to the State Meet in four different events. Eldorado was represented in the One-Act Play, Debate, Poetry, and Typing. Although no point totals were kept for any school, Eldorado would have accumulated a total of 45 points, giving them a 20-point lead over their closest competition, Canadian. Trophies were given in district and regional, of which Eldorado won both, as they also would have done if the State Meet had given a school trophy.

The accumulation of points started on Friday afternoon when Rusty Meador received first place in Boy's Poetry for reading a selection by Carl Sandburg. This would have given Eldorado 10 points. For receiving first, Rusty received a first place medal and the school received a plaque. Three hours later the One-Act Play went into competition with Susan Hill, Steve Whitten, Susan Mobley, Mickey Pennington, Kay Sanders, and Rusty Meador putting on the best performance that they had ever done with The Bald Soprano. Rusty Meador was given an honorable mention and placed on the All Star Cast for his portrayal of the Fire chief. The play tied for third, but would have received no points.

The criticism of the professional judge was that he did not like the adaptation that the cast did of the play. His criticism was his own personal one, and not a professional criticism as was to be expected. Ten minutes after the play was over Mickey Pennington had to race across the University campus to prepare for his first round of debate in the State Finals. Martha Sue Page, Mickey's partner, was waiting anxiously. After the hour of debating, Mickey and Martha Sue were rewarded with a 3-0 decision putting them in the finals of Class A Debate. This was scheduled for Saturday morning. The next morning Mickey and Martha Sue met two debaters from Groveton in Deep East Texas and debated them for the championship. After this hour of debating Mickey and Martha Sue were again awarded the decision by a 3-0 decision. This made them state champs and again they received two first place medals and the school again received a plaque. While the debate team has been involved in 22 decisions since entering the district competition, they have compiled a fantastic record of 20 wins and two losses. While all this was going on, Kathy Robinson was competing in typing. Kathy came in second and would have credited Eldorado with ten more points for the school trophy. Kathy missed winning state by 0.19 of a point. This was the limit of Eldorado's point production, but as has been said, Eldorado beat its closest competition by 20 points.

This is the end of the Speech year for Eldorado, but work has already begun on next year's debate topic, finding One-Act Plays to present, searching for appropriate material to use in individual events, and planning on going to summer speech workshops.

Marvelous Muffins

by Betty Crocker

The name muffin means "little muffs." And that's the way to serve them — warm as muffs, fresh and fragrant from the oven. Bake them different sizes, too, to suit your menu. For ladies' lunch, select small muffin cups for dainty, teacake muffins... and sprinkle with cinnamon-sugar before baking. For hearty breakfast muffins, bake them big in large muffin cups... with 1/2 teaspoon of jelly hidden in the middle. For more ample dinners and brunch, use medium muffin cups... and dot the batter with fruit or cheese garnish or bacon, as described below. Match each meal-time mood with a pretty napkin in the muffin basket. And, pass the butter.

BASIC RECIPE FOR MUFFINS

- 2 cups Bisquick
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 3/4 cup milk
- 1 egg

Heat oven to 400°. Lightly grease 12 medium muffin cups (or use paper baking cups set in muffin cups). Mix ingredients. Beat vigorously with spoon 1/2 minute. Fill prepared muffin cups 2/3 full. Bake 15 minutes. Makes 12 muffins.

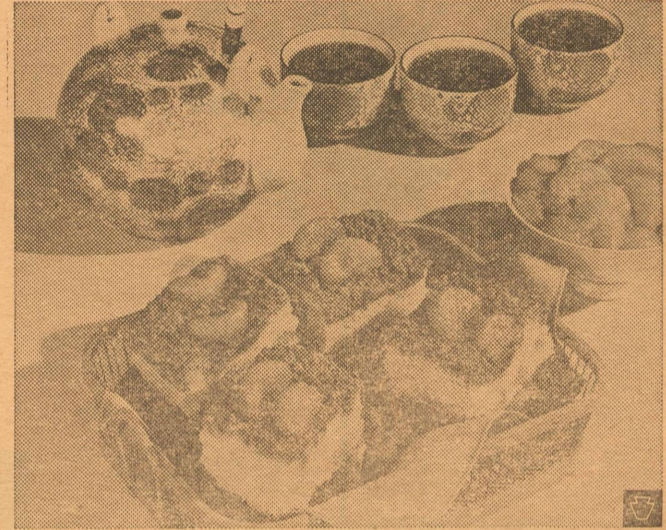

Like Richer Muffins? Follow basic recipe above except — add 2 tablespoons more sugar and 2 tablespoons shortening.

For light, tender muffins with gently rounded tops, stir batter just enough to moisten ingredients. Overmixing causes peaks on top, tunnels inside. To put a little fun in the muffin pan, try these variations. Follow basic recipe except — Chive Muffins: Fold 1/4 cup chopped chives into batter. If desired, brush tops of muffins with milk and sprinkle with chopped chives immediately after baking. Great with meats or fish. Orange Muffins: Substitute 1/2 cup orange juice for 1/2 cup of the milk. Sprinkle top of batter in each muffin cup with sugar before baking. Nice for coffee time. Cheese Muffins: Add 1/2 to 1 cup shredded sharp cheese to the Bisquick. Perfect for spring's fruit plate. Bacon Muffins: Fold 1/4 cup crisply fried diced bacon into batter. Good company for breakfast eggs.

What to do with leftovers? Split, butter and toast muffins under the broiler. Serve with jam or jelly. You'll still say "marvelous."

Coffee Cake Has Oriental Charm

Next time the garden club meets at your house work with the program chairman to set the theme for the day. When the program features Oriental gardens or Japanese flower arranging, serve this delicious Mandarin Coffee Cake.

You'll be delighted with the ease of preparation provided by a package of easy coffee cake mix. Mix the few ingredients right in the mixing bag that comes in the package, adding colorful mandarin orange segments. Reserve a few orange segments to garnish the top of the coffee cake. Tea, hot or iced as the day demands, is the perfect accompaniment for this flavorful, light coffee cake.

MANDARIN COFFEE CAKE

Makes 8 servings

- One 11-oz. can mandarin orange segments
- One 10 1/2-oz. pkg. easy coffee cake mix
- 1 egg

Heat oven to moderate (375° F.). Drain oranges, reserving juice. Add enough milk to juice to make 1/2 cup liquid.

Put egg, the 1/2 cup liquid and 1/2 cup of the mandarin orange segments into large bag of mix. Squeeze upper part of bag to force air out. Close top of bag by holding tightly between thumb and index finger. With bag resting on table, mix by working bag vigorously with fingers. Mix about 40 seconds or until egg is completely blended.

Squeeze bag to empty batter into special aluminum foil pan contained in package. (Do not grease pan.) Sprinkle topping contained in smaller bag evenly over batter. Bake in preheated oven (375° F.) about 20 minutes. Decorate top with remaining orange segments. Continue baking about 5 additional minutes. Open corner folds of pan for easy cutting and serving. Serve warm.

Economic Fine-Tuning

The "new economics" is face-to-face with a "classical test case" of its validity. The issue, seems to me to be: Can the "new economics" support the claim that we may be able to avoid periods of deep economic recession.

The current trend of leading indicators is disappointing: For example, the slump in the building industry, new car sales, industrial production, new orders for durable goods, and a significant trimming of planned capital spending programs. Washington is worried. There is no question of that.

This is why I believe the President acted so quickly in requesting restoration of the 7% investment tax credit, and this reinstatement of the tax credit may be only the first step in what could become a series of attempts to rescue a faltering economy. The Federal Reserve Board is now believed to be considering a cut in the discount rate, currently at 4.5%.

The President's request for a 6% surcharge on income taxes is "dead" unless the economy responds to other stimuli with a degree of bounce which at present, appears to me unlikely.

In the past five years economists have scored some major achievements in learning to manipulate the national economy to diminish the extremes in the business cycle. During this period, Keynesian economic theory has been taken out of the classroom and given an opportunity to be judged on the basis of practical application.

While the evidence indicates that we may have learned to avoid the really wide fluctuations in the economy, I question whether we have developed our knowledge of both proportion and timing to the extent which will permit the literal "fine-tuning" of a complex $800 billion economy.

The answer, I think, should be forthcoming in the not too distant future. We have before us right now a classical "test case." The majority of indicators are trending downward. But two-total employment and personal income—appear almost obstinate in their refusal to join the trend. Both of these indicators, somewhat paradoxically, continue in an uptrend.

Historically, this nation has never gone into a recessionary phase while these two indicators were still trending upward. Obviously, either one—or both—can change. And quickly. Nevertheless, the persistent increase in both areas is confusing to those economists who have insisted that we are headed into a recession.

DST is not a far out thing, it is not a new chemical, is not something one can take a "trip" on even though a "trip" may be taken during DST, but it is something. To people in other parts of the country, it's old hat but to some of us not so accustomed, Daylight Saving Time is new and, from what I hear, a little difficult to adjust to. All kinds of situations have arisen on the advent of Daylight Saving Time.

One young husband ran the

"Yep, he turned quick . . . MEAN, that is!"

clocks of the household forward as he was instructed to do. As he did it he remarked to his wife that they would be getting up one hour earlier on Monday morning so the children would be able to meet the school bus on time. Sure enough she set the alarm an hour earlier than usual, and they ended up being two hours earlier than usual.

In the grocery store on Monday afternoon I heard a young working woman explain why she had been late to work on the first morning of DST. "Well, it was this way," she said. "It wasn't the change in time that did it, I was just so slow from getting up early that I couldn't find anything to wear!"

Another couple got their signals crossed or shall I say gave no signals at all and each one ran the clock forward an hour on Saturday night. They got up so confused the whole family missed Sunday School.

I just never thought that air line schedules and other forms of commercial timing would affect my personal life. (I think they created the need to change.)

Never thought that on a wonderful Spring morning I would be groping for the light switch so as to see how much water to put in the coffee pot. I never thought that I could ever be hurrying to keep from being late before sunup on just an ordinary day. I still remember the excitement of getting up and scurrying around before daylight in the summer time but that was for a reason. We were going on a trip. That was reason enough to get up and hurry in the dark.

On other Spring mornings I've had time to walk around in the yard, watch the sun come up and enjoy watching a day begin. Now you don't fool around and watch anything in the mornings. But I'll tell you something I do watch. When it's still too hot to be in the yard and I'm too weary to start a big project in the house, I watch the clock and watch the sun and wonder and ask, "Will it ever get dark so we can eat supper?" We eat when it's dark.

It may be daylight saving for some but it's day light waiting for me. Maybe I'd better get on a sheep shearing crew. Those boys refuse to touch their watches. I know of one man who sent his watch to the jeweler and told him to keep it until things straightened out again. He says he now looks at his empty wrist and says, "Whew, I've got to go, it's later than I thought it was," and that everybody else agrees and with that they all leave in a body.

It could be worse. In Kentucky half the state is on Eastern Standard time and the other half on Central Standard time. Each half has chosen to select or reject DST and now Kentucky has four time zones, all different. Kentucky is just not that big.

If you are still a little confused (and by now you certainly are not) about how it goes, remember this little saying—Spring forward, fall backward—spring forward, fall backward, and next fall we'll get that hour back; whole and unused. By then we probably won't even care.

Chevrolet's room, ride and price. When Automotive News made its annual roominess study, Chevrolet got the most points. It's roomier inside, they reported, than any other American car. The ride is Full Coil suspension smooth. And Chevrolet hardtops and convertibles are still the lowest priced full-size cars of this kind you can buy. Chevelle's quick size. It's quick to climb, quick to turn. Other mid-size cars might be like Chevelle, true. But they're not as low priced. And they're not made by Chevrolet with Body by Fisher, GM-developed energy-absorbing steering column, inner fenders and Full Coil suspension. Camaro's road-hugging stance. At its price, Camaro is the only sportster to give you wide-stance design. It rides steadier, clings to curves better, hugs the road closer. It's the roomiest car you can buy. Plus, you get a bigger standard engine.
