County Enjoys General Rains

After a moisture-starved eight months which brought barren ranges and forced sales of starved livestock at ruinous prices, this county along with its neighbors finally got what it was praying for—a good general rain.

It came early Monday morning from about 2:00 a.m. until daylight in a driving downpour that left water standing in ditches and cultivated furrows. It came in time to give a new lease on life to cotton farmers who have from now until June 15 to plant and expect a crop.

Unconfirmed reports of rains up to 5 and 6 inches were reported in areas between Eldorado and Mertzon. Whitten draw was up Monday morning preventing traffic for several hours.

Gauges in Eldorado showed from 1.75 to 2.50 inches. Other reports:

The 12-week summer course is being taught by Mrs. Beverly Tully and Mrs. Becky Moore. The classes meet from 8:00 to 12:00 each week day.

Mrs. Irene Teele and Mr. Leslie Woullard have retired from teaching. Mr. Woullard was in the hospital this week.

Post Script

Thursday, June 1st, 1967. The last two issues of this paper have been produced under unusual conditions.

Our paper last week had to carry the final reports of the Senior class graduation which occupied nearly six pages and had to carry results of the hospital bond election as well as appointment of seven directors who will be the governing body of the newly authorized hospital district.

Bill Gunstead took care of all the Senior reports and helped with election returns on Saturday night. By Monday morning, Commissioners convened, canvassed returns and then named the seven new hospital directors. We had all that information in type Monday afternoon. The pages were full; no room for any more news, and Bill decided there was no use to wait any longer—and we printed the Thursday paper late Monday afternoon and it went into the post office Tuesday morning. Some readers who turned in news items Tuesday and Wednesday morning were disappointed, but we hope they will accept the above explanation. We just didn't have room for any more news.

—ps— Saturday, election night, I invited a score of hospital supporters for a party at my house—and a good time was had by all. I received many compliments for the publicity support I gave to the hospital in the past eight months and have had many compliments since that time. Being human, I enjoyed and appreciated them.

Hospital Directors Enter Upon Their New Duties

The first meeting of the seven newly appointed hospital directors was held in the county judge's office Thursday night.

Present beside the new directors was Don McCormick, chairman of the hospital steering committee, who gave a report of the work done by the original committee which brought the hospital to a vote and approval by the voters of the county. McCormick presented several recommendations for consideration of the new official board.

Present also was E. C. Peters, president of the Chamber of Commerce, who last August initiated the Hospital District idea, and who at that early date had contacted a Pasadena doctor and interested him in Eldorado.

After these men had given their reports and recommendations, the seven directors went into executive session and elected one of their number as president and another as secretary.

Carroll Ratliff, Eldorado merchant, was elected as president. Ronnie Mittel, manager of the local ASCS office, was elected as secretary.

Board voted to hold two regular meetings each month and set the first and third Mondays for this purpose. Meeting place for the time being will be in the Commissioners Court room at the court house. The next meeting will be Monday, June 5th at 8:00 p. m.

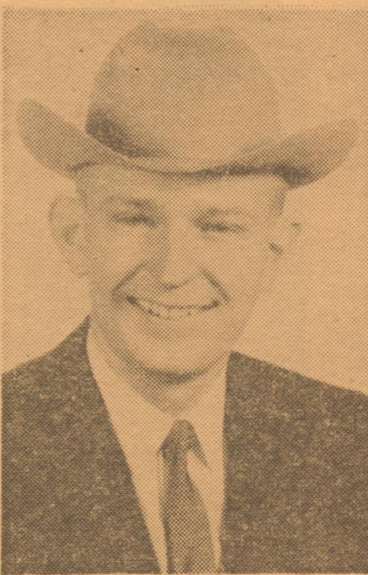

As the new board gets off the ground they find themselves without a "cryn' dime" for expenses until the hospital bonds have been approved and sold. Arrangements are being made for office supplies, stationery and postage as considerable correspondence is facing the board for the next few months.

Citizens who voted overwhelmingly for the hospital are cautioned to be patient as many weeks of legal work will be necessary before the board is even ready to advertise for contractors' bids. It was revealed that the new board has already been in contact with the Pasadena doctor.

Attend Convention At Fredericksburg

Asst. Fire Marshal and Mrs. Palmer West attended the 61st Semi-Annual Convention of the Central Texas Volunteer Firemen's Association on Sunday, May 21st, at Fredericksburg.

They were noon guests in the home of Fireman and Mrs. Richard Bruns.

The State Firemen and Fire Marshals' Association and Texas Firemen's Auxiliary were well represented at the meeting which was held in the beautiful Community Savings hall.

Registration was at the newly remodeled Fire Station.

During the Hose Races, the Fredericksburg Volunteer Firemen's Band played.

It had rained all the way and the Pedernales river was flooding at a low stage.

The Wests saw a truck loaded with dead turkeys, a result of the sudden rain storm.

New Pastor To Move Soon To Newly-Renovated Presbyterian Manse

Extensive renovations have been made on the Manse of the Presbyterian church in recent months, readying it for the Rev. and Mrs. Toney McMillan. The Rev. Mr. McMillan is expected to be on the job here early in this month of June, which is getting under way.

Rev. McMillan completed his work on his theological degree at Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary just this past month. He and his wife and their baby son, who was born in May, have moved a few of their things to the Manse already.

Harold Susen of Knight-Susen Lumber Co. was general contractor for the remodeling of the Manse. One phase of work done was the re-opening of the wood burning fireplace in the living room.

The Presbyterian church has been without a full-time pastor since Rev. Dan Sebesta moved to Big Spring late last year. Supply pastors have been serv-

Shown above are Armando Figueroa of San Angelo, who gave the address of the evening; Domingo Pina, the club's charter president; and Harvey Palmer of San Angelo, District 2A-1 governor. The club meets the 1st and 3rd Thursday nights of each month.

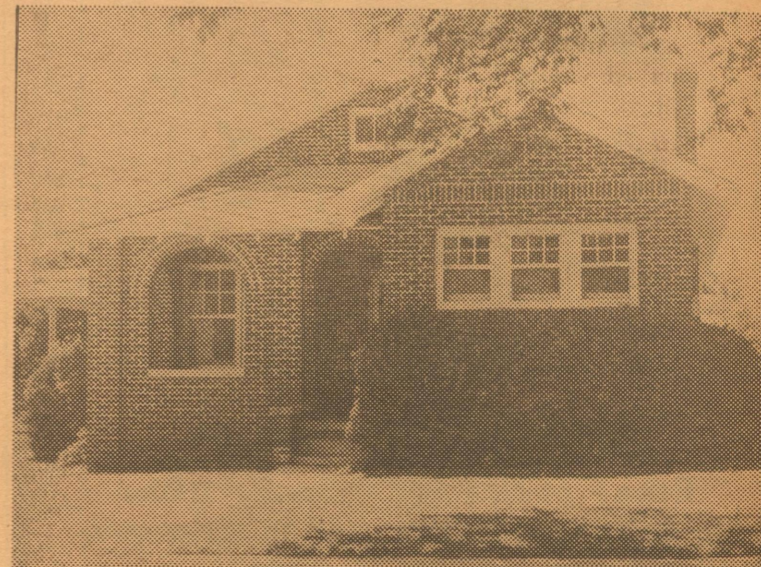

Jr. Summer Program

The summer recreation program will begin Monday, June 5. The group who will be 4th, 5th, and 6th graders in the fall, both boys and girls, will come to Eagle Gym from 8:30 to 10:00 Monday through Friday until July 14th.

This group of boys and girls are invited to participate in ping pong, croquet, basketball, horseshoes, and running events.

There is no charge and a boy or girl can come when he or she is in town. We realize that the summer is filled with vacation time, Bible schools, camps, and other things but we invite you to come when you can.

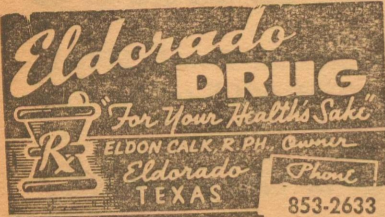

CARBON PAPER at the Success.

A $9,000 REMODELING and renovation project has been completed on the 37-year-old Manse of the First Presbyterian church. Year-around central air conditioning was installed, the kitchen and utility room were remodeled, and the structure was painted inside and out.

Oil News

Tucker Drilling Co., Inc., San Angelo, ran logs and was laying down pipe in No. 2 Williams, section 102, block TT, TC survey, a southeast offset to the firm's No. 1 Williams, discovery and lone producer in the West Velox Canyon sand pool 15 miles northwest of Eldorado.

A drillstem test in Canyon at 6,845 to 6,856, open 1 1/2 hours, had a good gas blow in 12 minutes and recovered 1,020 feet of 42 gravity oil and 30 feet of oil and gas-cut mud.

The 21st District sustained some terrific wallops at the hands of the Texas legislature last week. Six counties were yanked from the heart of our district. A medium-sized meat axe was used where an ordinary paring knife could have sufficed.

After severing Lampasas, San Saba, Llano, Mason, McCulloch and Menard, the legislative surgeon dipped into San Antonio and added 20,000 more to the 125,931 we already have in that county.

A Senate bill treated us even worse than the House version. The Senate took Gillespie and Crockett out, but when a massive protest arose in Fredericksburg, Gillespie was restored by the House. And so was Crockett.

But despite the surgery, we still have a good district. Graphically strings all the way from Odessa down to the shadow of the Alamo. There is in fact a strong community of interest and a common philosophy which pervades the entire area.

It is real tough, however, to have Lampasas, San Saba, Llano, Mason, McCulloch, and Menard taken away. They are so much a part of the 21st. Losing them is, in a manner of speaking, a lot like losing members of one's family. You can look the world over and you will not find better people than those who live right there in the heart of Texas. Many of my best friends make their homes there—always patient, loyal and understanding.

The 21st will now have 410,754, as of 1960. But since then there has been a very substantial growth particularly in North San Antonio. The total will now exceed 450,000.

In any event, it is all a part of the operation of the legislative process in a democracy. To say the least, the legislature was faced with a very difficult problem in trying to comply with an ill-advised one-man, one-vote mandate from the U. S. Supreme Court.

Leslie Lynn Eubank spent a week here recently with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer West. She returned to Victoria with her parents, the Gene Eubanks and brother Scott, who had attended a GMC Company picnic at Bandera, Texas. She visited other relatives in San Angelo, Christoval, Sonora, and Roosevelt.

County Extension News

Last year Americans ate an average of 103.3 pounds of beef per person, an all time high. They also ate 58 pounds of pork, 4 pounds of lamb, and 4 1/2 pounds of veal, according to the National Livestock and Meat Board.

In contrast to earlier years and other countries, Americans obtain 2/3 of their protein intake from high quality, complete animal protein and only 1/3 from plant food such as cereals. While eating more meat than ever, Americans now eat less than half the amount of cereals and potatoes they consumed 50 years ago.

The United States, with roughly 6% of the world's land area and 6% of the world's population, is producing and consuming from 25 to 30% of the world's supply of beef, pork, lamb, and veal. This represents three times as much beef and veal and nearly twice as much pork as is produced in Russia where consumption averages 68 pounds of meat per person, according to the National Livestock and Meat Board.

Even though we're eating much better than ever before, statistics indicate we have our "cake" and are eating it, too—that is, we eat well and still have ample money for other expenditures.

Between 1958 and 1966, sales in retail food stores have increased 45%. Of course, part of this can be attributed to an increase in non-food items sold in retail stores. While we're eating "higher on the hog" so to speak, there is a limit to how much we can eat.

Americans spent 58% of their earnings on food in the 1870's. Now they spend just 18.2% of disposable income on food, the lowest percentage in history.

In less than 37 hours, the smallest number of hours in history, today's American factory worker earns the cost of his monthly grocery basket.

While meat prices have increased only 15% since 1947-1949, wages at the same time have increased some 100%.

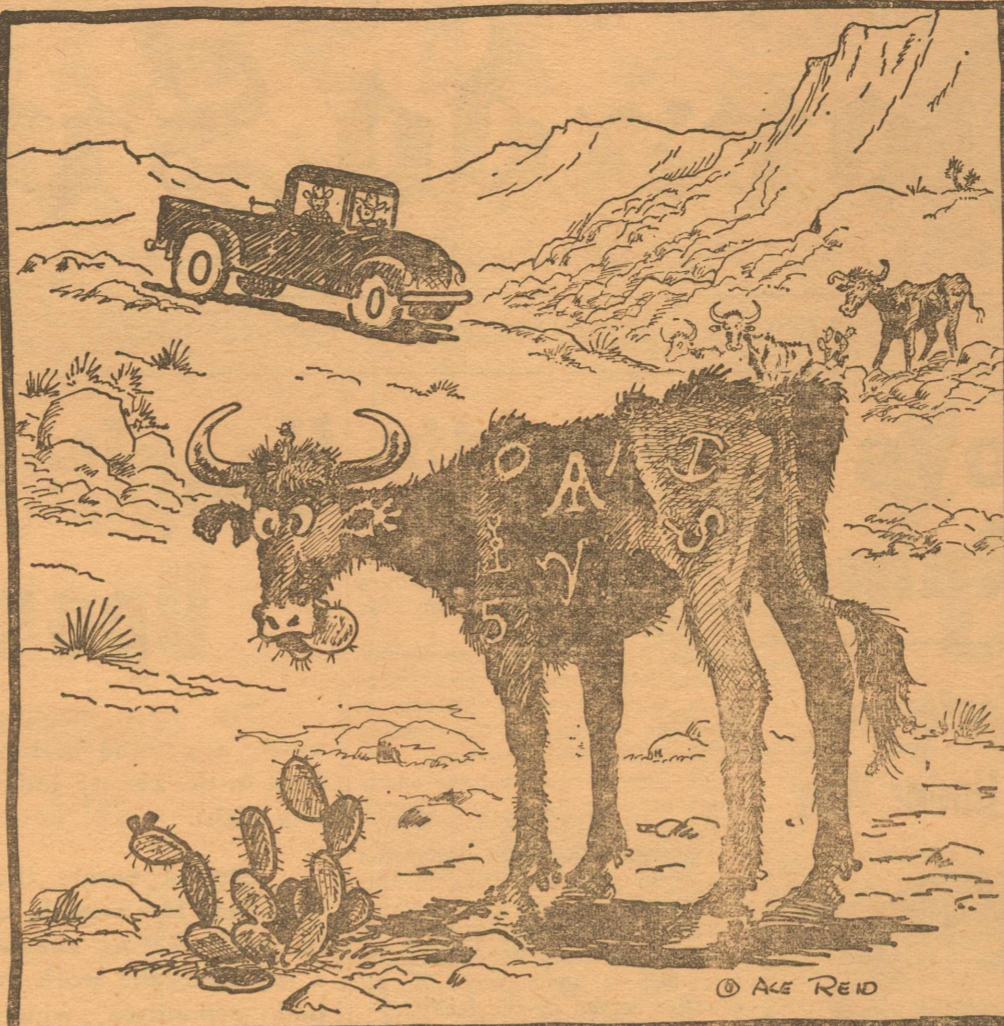

Some of us don't know what we want, but feel sure we don't have it.

Ants are becoming a nuisance in homes and lawns in many sections of the county. These pests can be effectively controlled through the use of recommended insecticides.

Chlordane and dieldrin are among the most effective insecticides for ant control. They may be applied along window and door sills, foundation cracks, baseboards and other possible runways for ants.

Effective control, in most instances, depends upon locating and destroying nests and thoroughly treating the area. Nests may be found behind walls, in closets, in furniture and other dark undisturbed places.

Inside the home, ants can be controlled by applying 2-3 % chlordane or 0.5% dieldrin household sprays. These materials may also be applied with a brush. Repeat the application as needed for control.

Outside the home, apply a band of insecticide dust or spray around the foundation wall and treat all nests in the yard. For outside control, 10% chlordane, 2% dieldrin or 5% heptachlor dusts are effective. Granular formulations and sprays of these materials are also available and are convenient to use.

Be sure to follow the directions given on the label of the insecticide container because pets and humans can be affected. Detailed information on controlling household insects is available for the asking from my office.

It seems that the best time to buy anything is a year ago.

Most producers of beef cattle can make a greater profit by increasing production rather than by reducing annual cost.

The real problem that limits profit usually can be identified in calf crop percentage, weaning weight, selling price or production of ranges and pastures.

Calf crop percentage that is average or below for the area may be caused by one or more of the following:

1. Cows may be physically unable to conceive because of poor feed conditions.

2. The cows may have some genetic weakness that affects regular reproduction.

3. The bulls may be too few in number.

4. The nutritional level of the bulls may be too low for them to settle cows.

5. A large percentage of the bulls may be sterile or have low fertility.

6. Particular nutrients, such as protein, minerals, or vitamins, may not be available in sufficient amounts.

7. External and internal parasites may be the cause.

8. Diseases that affect reproduction may exist in the herd.

Calf crop percentage is based on number of calves born alive. If the death loss before weaning is more than 1 or 2% a study should be made to determine the cause of these deaths.

Some folks never exaggerate; they just remember big.

On The Screen . . . 'Gambit' Runs Gamut Of Gimmicks

Gambit runs the gamut of gimmicks at the Eagle Drive-In. It is being shown in color Wednesday and Thursday nights of this week.

The new Shirley MacLaine and Michael Caine suspenser adds a delightful twist to what is rapidly becoming a weary plot idea—How to Steal a Million, like Raffi, and Topkapi.

The suspense surrounding the duo's attempts to lift Herbert Lom's priceless art treasure out of its electric eye enclosure (yes, yes, we know; you've seen that!) takes a back seat to a clever plotting device that finds the same crime being run twice for the viewer.

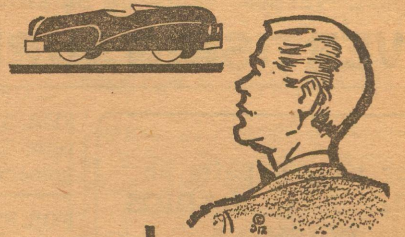

First, is the suave, flawless, perfected to the minute caper as visualized by con-man Caine. Second comes the actual execution, where we learn how Born Losers get their titles.

There is even a trick ending or two, which is all the more reason to get in at the opening "gambit."

It's a slick, well-paced production with Caine once again showing why he's an in-demand actor, and Miss MacLaine proving again that she's an in-actress, whether acting suave or chewing gum as she lurches through an electric eye.

The chess term "gambit" used for the title of the picture has little meaning to the viewer. Webster defines "gambit" as "one of various openings in chess in which a pawn or piece is risked to obtain an attack." It takes a little doing to relate this definition to the plot of the film.

However, no title could take away the strong plus factors of the picture, the first-rate suspense comedy, the clever scriptings, the sumptuous mounting of the action, the able direction, and the fine performances.

In particular, director Ronald Neame has obtained superior characterizations from all hands in his cast. Miss MacLaine, portraying a Eurasian and garbed in some of Jean Louis' most eye-catching attire, is properly enigmatic in her 27-minute silent bit, but thereafter lets go with the deft comedy that has made so many of her pictures such joys to see. Caine, too, after a rather tight-lipped opening portrayal, gradually melts into a warm, more human quality, frustrated when his plots get off the track, and decidedly romantic in the finale.

Little helps that might amount to something big:

—Write the date on the labels of nonprescription drugs. Old drugs may lose their strength. If some of the liquid evaporated the medicine can become dangerously strong.

—Spark up the flavor of macaroni and cheese dishes with a dash of dry mustard or Worcestershire sauce in the cheese sauce.

—FHA (Federal Housing Authority) will now recognize carpeting as the finish floor of a house over wood or slab underlayments. Builders and home owners with existing FHA commitments will be allowed to take advantage of the new ruling. In other words, carpets will be counted as building costs instead of furnishing costs.

—When using instant flour take two level tablespoons out of each cup called for by the recipe. Instant flour weighs more per cup and takes up liquid at a faster rate than regular flour and as a result a dough or batter is sometimes too heavy.

—When you wash quilts and mattress pads by hand or machine, use more soap or detergent than for other articles; these items are especially absorbent.

Sometimes a family simply can't afford steak every day. And sometimes a family gets a little tired or hamburger too—so what is a good homemaker to do? This new idea of a meat loaf may be the answer.

And just because summer is with us and will be more so when school is out, why don't you do the doubling up trick, make 2 freeze one, and eat one immediately.

Thirty-Minute Meat Loaf

1 pkg. Onion Soup Mix
1 cup sour cream
2 eggs, slightly beaten
2 pounds ground beef
1 cup bread crumbs.

Preheat oven to 400 F. Combine onion soup mix, sour cream and eggs in mixing bowl. Let stand while the ground meat is browning in a skillet. (Don't brown meat too much, take it easy here); add meat to onion soup mixture. Sprinkle in bread crumbs; mix well.

Bake in greased loaf pan for 15 minutes at 400 F., and then put under broiler for five minutes to make a crisp crust.

Did you wonder about the salt and other seasonings? It's all in the onion soup mix. Another nice thing about this is that you don't have to peel onion soup.

Makes in 30 minutes and serves 6 to 8.

Cup cakes seem to be everybody's favorite and these made by the recipe listed below will be no exception.

Peanut Butter Surprise Cup Cakes

2 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ cup smooth or crunchy peanut butter

¼ cup shortening
1 cup light brown sugar, packed
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup milk
12 individual chocolate peanut butter cups.

Sift flour, salt and baking powder together. Mix peanut butter, shortening, and brown sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs and vanilla.

Add dry ingredients alternately with milk. Spoon into 24 paper lined 2-inch muffin tins. Cut peanut butter cups in half and press one-half into the center of each unbaked muffin. Bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) 25 minutes.

Makes 2 dozen.
Better still, double the recipe and freeze a couple of dozen of these goodies.

Try Detergent Test On Lawns

Use Sudsy Solution to Draw Out Pests. Household detergents are being used as detectives to discover a variety of lawn pests before they have a chance to do serious damage. W. C. Morgan, noted turfgrass advisor at the University of California Agricultural Extension Service, describes the detergent test.

Mix one-fourth cup of packaged detergent per gallon of water, and apply the solution with a sprinkling can to one square yard of lawn surface. Within five minutes, active larvae of such pests as sod webworms and cutworms will surface. The solution will also show the presence of earwigs, leaf bugs, and some beetles. The test should be used in several different areas to determine if the infestation exists throughout the lawn.

Examine the test sites carefully and identify each type of insect or mite, because no single insecticide is usually effective against all lawn pests. If more than a few of each type appear, treatment is in order.

If you have some dead looking spots in the yard this might be the simplest way in the world to find out what is causing the trouble.

On The Screen . . .

Hitchcock Old Self In Carving 50th

For Alfred Hitchcock, who was putting Joel McCrea into a trench coat against the Germans even before Pearl Harbor, it was only logical that he'd get around to following those other spy movie producers through the hole Hollywood has torn in the Iron Curtain.

Hitchcock has even titled his new entry "Torn Curtain" and it comes in color to the Eagle Drive-In Theatre screen on Sunday and Monday nights.

And just as he always knew when to cast Ingrid Bergman and Cary Grant, he has come up with the near-irresistible marquee pairing of Paul Newman and Julie Andrews.

Laudably there is more of the "old" Hitchcock in this, his 50th film, than there has been in some of its recent predecessors.

We've had his chase-in-a-crowded-theater previously in Saboteur and The Man Who Knew Too Much. This time, he cries "fire" in a crowded theater.

There is the Hitchcock "gimmick," the counterpart of that cigarette stubbed out in an egg yolk in To Catch A Thief. This time, it's a "trademark" lighter that continually fails to light until, ironically, its owner lies brutally murdered.

Never one to mince around with murder, Hitchcock devotes a long, palm-wetting, near-silent segment of stabbing, choking, shin-splitting and finally head-stuffing in a gas-filled oven all to dispose of one won't-die victim.

Of course, there is Hitchcock himself, in his brief, trademark appearance, dandling a child on his knee in a hotel lobby while watching a TV set that blares back the theme of his own TV show.

Torn Curtain has all the ingredients, and uses them well, as it tells the story of nuclear scientist Newman, who supposedly defects to East Berlin to give away missile secrets. Fiance Julie Andrews ducks into the same airplane, so now the problem is to get both of them back safely—since every person in the audience already realizes Newman is really playing double-agent, out to get missile secrets FOR the Americans.

The scene in which he cons top secret Russian blackboard formulas out of an egotistic East Berlin physicist is a delight in the best Hitchcock tradition. Lila Kedrova, virtually unemployed since her Oscar win in Zorba, is thrown in for an unnecessary vignette as a pitiful refugee losing her last chance of escape by aiding Newman and Miss Andrews in their flight.

Texas Raises Drivers License Age To 16

Austin, Tex.—The Texas Legislature has given Lone Star motorists a set of traffic laws designed to help check the state's escalating traffic accident rate. Strengthened driver license provisions, more complete vehicle inspection requirements plus statewide expansion of driver education program and study of the medical aspects of traffic safety are all a part of the newly enacted legislation.

The new drivers license law provides for the issuance of licenses at age 16 to teenagers who have completed approved driver education courses, or who present a certificate from their superintendent of schools showing that driver education is not taught in their school.

The minimum age for teens without driver education will be 18; however operators of motorscooters or motorcycles with 5 horse-power or less may be licensed at age 15. The minimum age for chauffeur and commercial licenses will be 17.

Texas in the past issued licenses at age 14.

James Williams and son, Keith, spent part of last week fishing on Upper Lake.

Report From Austin

By Rep Hilary Doran, Jr.

Austin, Texas, May 25, 1967.—As the regular session of the 60th Legislature nears its close, I am pleased to report the following: In the congressional redistricting plan that was passed by both houses this past week, eight out of the nine counties that I represent retain their same Congressman; the one exception being Menard county which was represented by Congressman O. C. Fisher now will be represented by Congressman Omar Burleson. A bill has been introduced by Representative James Nugent of Kerrville which will allow the congressional districts to remain the same if the National Congress passes a bill that will allow tolerance factors to be left until the 1970 census when we will have to redistrict again.

I would like to comment that I believe the Supreme Court is carrying the theme of "one man-one vote" a little too far and in fact has done the people of Texas an injustice by causing redistricting to take place again when we definitely will have to redistrict after the 1970 census.

It is a certainty now that we will only have a one-year appropriation bill and I intend to concur with the conference committee report because I do think the bill is good, but I only wish we had enacted it for the full two-year period as we have done for the past 91 years.

Next week will mark my last weekly report for this session and I am already looking forward to returning to my home district.

Historical Group Held Meeting Recently

The Schleicher County Historical Meeting was held last Friday night in the Memorial Building. The storm cloud looked bad and one crack of lightning threatened to break up the meeting, but we forged ahead. Plans were discussed for making money to put up a marker honoring Mr. C. C. Doty, the first permanent white settler in Schleicher County. It was decided that our meetings would continue thru the summer months, and that they be at eight o'clock.

For the program, Miss Ruth Baker read a documented paper on the Kaffir school. Most interesting. Mr. Jess Koy talked about ranch life in the early days and this was recorded. Refreshments of hot punch and sandwiches were served. Mrs. Elizabeth Ballew will be hostess next time. Our June meeting will be on the 16th of June at the Memorial Building. Any Schleicher county citizen is eligible for membership. Those present at this meeting were Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. Elizabeth Ballew, Ruth Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Koy, Katherine and Mil-tia Hill, Don McCormick, Dan Boyer and Dick Bearce.—Rep.

Eagle Band Selected Honor Band, Reg. VII

Word was received Wednesday by Eagle Bandmaster Wayne McDonald that the judges have selected the Eldorado High School Band as the Class A honor band of Region VII.

Every two years the best band in Class A is selected first by region then on the state level.

The Eldorado Band will now send their contest tape to the state committee for judging. The committee selects the top 5 bands. The number one band plays a concert in February, for the state convention of the Texas Music Educators Association.

This is a distinct honor for the local band to be the top band in the region. The last honor band to represent the region was the Cross Plains Band when Mr. McDonald was the director at that school.

Old Building To Make Way For New Enco Station

RAYMON MOBLEY, local Enco consignee, has announced plans to erect a new service station this summer at the intersection of the Menard and Sonora highways. The old Eldorado Motor Co. building shown above is to be razed soon. Work on the new, modern station will be under way by early summer.

Strawberry Season

by Betty Crocker

Here they are again — springtime's strawberries. Ravishingly beautiful and plentiful, too. And, they're so easy to enjoy. For finger food fruit — wash and chill, with the green caps left on, for dipping into confectioners' sugar. Or, here's a colorful surprise for fruit cocktails: whole berries frozen into ice cubes, then served in tall glasses of fruit beverages. Also very elegant, whole strawberries dropped into the punch bowl. And for a continental touch to strawberry shortcakes, top with dairy sour cream and sprinkle with brown sugar. Here's the shortcake recipe, plus a few more unusual ways with the season's most delectable dessert.

STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE

.2 cups Bisquick 3/4 cup light cream OR 1/2 cup milk plus 1/4 cup butter, melted 2 tablespoons sugar Butter 1 quart washed, hulled and sweetened strawberries Whipped cream

Heat oven to 450°. Mix Bisquick, 3/4 cup cream and the sugar with fork to a soft dough. Beat vigorously 20 strokes. Knead 8 to 10 times on lightly floured cloth-covered board. Pat half of dough in ungreased layer pan, 8x1 1/2 inches. Dot with butter. With lightly floured rolling pin, roll out remaining dough into 8-inch circle; place on top of butter. Bake 15 to 20 minutes or until nicely browned. Remove from pan; while warm, split short-cake to make 2 layers. Spoon strawberries between layers and over top. Serve with whipped cream. 6 to 8 servings.

Or, something pretty for the girls when it's your turn for bridge — Strawberry Parfaits: Follow shortcake recipe above except — pat dough into 9x6-inch oblong on ungreased baking sheet. Bake 10 minutes. Cut into small squares. Alternate layers of shortcake, strawberries and whipped cream or ice cream in parfait glasses. Serve immediately. 6 to 8 servings.

For quick additions to the shortcake recipe, stir one of the following into the dough: grated peel of 1 orange or 1 lemon, 1/2 teaspoon cardamom, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg or 1/4 cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese.

Happy strawberry season, everybody!

Maximum potential yields can only be attained from soils with good fertility and good physical condition. These conditions are usually present in soils when they are first put in cropland from grassland in good condition. This good condition can not be maintained without the use of crops used for cover and green manure crops. Soil condition and fertility become better or poorer depending on the treatment it is given.

Are the soils of cropland in the Eldorado-Divide Soil & Water Conservation District as fertile and in good condition as when first put in cultivation? It is doubtful that any cropland is as good from a fertility and physical condition standpoint as when first put in cultivation. However, it is possible that the first field that was put in cultivation in Schleicher county could be just as good as when first used for cropland. This could have been accomplished by applying and maintaining all the needed soil, water, and plant conservation practices continuously from the time the land was first put in cultivation.

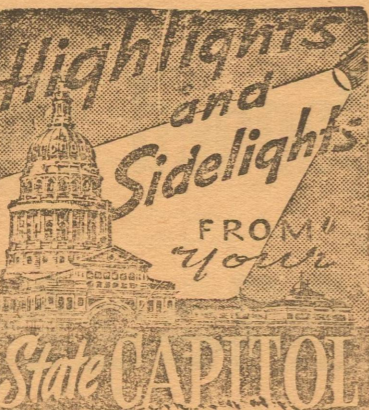

Water, one of the most important elements needed for crop production, is not always received in the amount needed or when needed in this area. The use of crops for cover and green manure can help assure the maximum benefit from the rainfall received. Cover crops help hold the water where it falls so it can infiltrate into the soil for use by plants. By holding the rainfall where it falls, soil erosion is prevented. Soils kept in good physical, chemical, and biological condition by use of cover and green manure crops, can make the maximum use of water available for crop use.

Cover crops and soil improving crops should be included in the conservation cropping system as needed by the land, to meet the minimum needs of the land. To accomplish this, crops that serve as cover crops and soil improving crops, should be on the land one year out of three. For soil improving on dry cropland 2,000 pounds of air dry residues or green weight equivalents are needed. On irrigated lands a minimum of 3,000 lbs. of high residue carbonaceous air dry residues or green weight equivalents per acre is needed. The 2,000 pounds on dry cropland and the 3,000 pounds on irrigated cropland is usually on the land following a good maize crop where stubble is not grazed. The minimum application of soil improving crops on most all cropland is once each three years. However, on land that has deteriorated because of past mis-use, the use of soil improving crops more frequently would be desirable.

Cropland that is in the diverted acreage program affords farmers an opportunity to catch up or get ahead with the application of the needed soil improving crops. Acreage in these programs can be planted in a crop that will provide good cover for summer and winter months as well as producing the needed amount of good residue for soil improvement. Cropland in the converted acreage program land can furnish cover that would help protect it from erosion and improve soil condition and fertility. These acres could be more productive when they are again used for the production of cash crops.

Water that is kept where it falls for crop use is all that counts. Soils in good condition make more from the same amount of water than soils in poor condition. The amount of rainfall held on the land can be controlled by applying and maintaining all the needed soil, water and plant conservation practices. Also, the soil is kept in the best condition to make the maximum use of moisture available for crop production.

Austin, Texas.—State Legislators wound up their 60th session here on schedule, despite a hectic flurry of last-minute assignments, and left behind a far-reaching record of achievement in many areas.

No one can deny that there were some notable failures. But the accomplishments were impressive.

Here is a random look at some of the session's highlights:

—Budget. Lawmakers agreed on $2.4 billion in spending ($446.8 million from general revenue) for 1968, without passing a tax bill. They will come back next year to budget for 1969. Funds provide for substantial increases in all areas of state government, including education, health, general administration and welfare.

—School Teachers. After requesting a $68 million salary increase program and being offered $35.5 million by the Senate, teachers finally got $51 million.

—State Employees. These workers came up with their most substantial salary benefits in history. Raises averaged about 14% and ranged up to 30% and more in some salaries.

—Medicaid. Title 19 hospitalization and medical aid to the needy—most dramatic step in public welfare since launching of social security—was implemented for Texas by passage of a special act and appropriation of nearly $25 million.

—Education. Money was made available for 2,300,000 public school pupils and a 26% increase in higher education spending. Junior college appropriations were increased from $13.6 million to $24.4 million.

—City Sales Tax. Cities got the authority they sought to supplement their property tax income by levying 1% sales taxes on vote of their citizens after next August.

—Labor. Although defeated on minimum wage legislation and workmen's compensation law revision, labor came to terms with management on a compromise industrial safety act and an increase in unemployment compensation benefits from a maximum of $37 to $45 a week.

—Consumer Credit. State's first consumer credit code regulates lending at all levels. Rates of up to 240% on very small loans stirred controversy, but the bill passed by big margins.

—Traffic Safety. Major part of Gov. John Connally's recommended highway safety program was approved. It included a new drivers' license act, an auto inspection bill and establishment of a traffic program to be administered by the Governor.

—Open Meetings. Another Texas legislative first, an act to require open meetings of governmental agencies at all levels was signed into law by the Governor who termed it "a great step forward to provide a means whereby the public can be more informed on governmental and public affairs."

—Reapportionment. Legislators agreed on both congressional and state House of Representatives redistricting. However, they could not get together on judicial reapportionment.

—Water. Texas Water Development Board received $1.2 million more for its operations and completion of a statewide master plan. Texas Water Rights Commission got a boost of $484,422 to aid in administering the new water rights adjudication act which also is a product of the 60th session.

—Pollution. Strengthened Water Pollution Control Board got $13.1 million for its 1968 operations. An air pollution control measure also became law.

—Sunday Closing. Lawmakers tightened Sunday closing laws by repealing the "emergency purchase" provisions of the old law.

Key recommendations by Governor Connally which failed to clear the Legislature were proposals for sweeping revision of the state constitution by a 450-member convention and legalized sale of liquor by the drink.

Bill to legalize parimutuel wagering on horse races never came to a showdown vote, but a referendum on the issue was approved for inclusion on next May's Democratic and Republican primary election ballots.

Connally Vetoes

Most of the bills passed by the Legislature are signed into law. But once in awhile the governor vetoes a measure. One he vetoed would have allowed cigarette distributors to make payment for cigarette stamps purchased from the state within 15 days after the purchase rather than when the purchase is made.

Connally said he vetoed the bill because, although it would have required the distributors buying on credit to put up a bond, "this surety bond does not change the constitutionality of pledging the state's credit."

In addition, the Governor said the state comptroller has informed him that "the general revenue fund in the treasury would lose approximately $5.5 million during this current fiscal year because of the delay in payments for cigarette stamps."

Legislators' Pay

Both Houses approved—and the people will get a chance to vote on—the proposed constitutional amendment which would raise the salaries of legislators from the current $4,800 to a maximum of $8,400.

Measure, authored by Rep. Alonzo Jamison of Denton, will be placed on the ballot in the next general election to let the voters decide whether they want to raise the salaries of their representatives and senators.

Education Funds Distributed

Governor Connally has approved an expenditure of more than $1,080,000 requested by the Texas Education Agency under Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act for educational planning in a variety of fields.

Some $67,590 will go to schools in Edinburg, Corpus Christi, Victoria, Orange, Kilgore, Mount Pleasant, Wichita Falls, Dallas, Waco, Abilene, San Angelo, Lubbock, Midland, El Paso, and San Antonio. Bryan and A&M school districts each will receive $22,508.

Money can go for salaries, consultant fees and travel. Grants soon will be transferred to the board of directors for the Education Service Center in each geographic region of the state.

Courts Speak

Supreme Court will hear arguments on the rights of cities to tax buses used in interstate traffic. Case arose from Fort Worth's taxing 277 Greyhound buses.

Third Court of Civil Appeals refused to subscribe to "doctrine of recent origin" which would increase by $100,000 damages awarded the heirs of four men killed in a Colorado plane crash. Heirs had sued Mustang Aviation, Inc. of Dallas.

Attorney General Rules

Galveston County Memorial Hospital employees and other public workers have the right to be represented by a labor union if the union does not claim the right to strike or bargain collectively. Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has held.

In other opinions, Martin concluded that: —Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners may use the test pool examination of the National League for Nursing as its licensure examination as long as it proves adequate to meet state statutory requirements.

—Water control and improvement districts and fresh water supply districts do not have the authority to acquire and maintain firefighting facilities and equipment.

Short Snorts . . .

Mrs. Hilda Weinert of Seguin, for 16 years national Democratic committeewoman from Texas and also former vice chairman of the State Democratic Committee, was honored in ceremonies during the closing week of the legislative session and her portrait was placed in the state senate reception room.

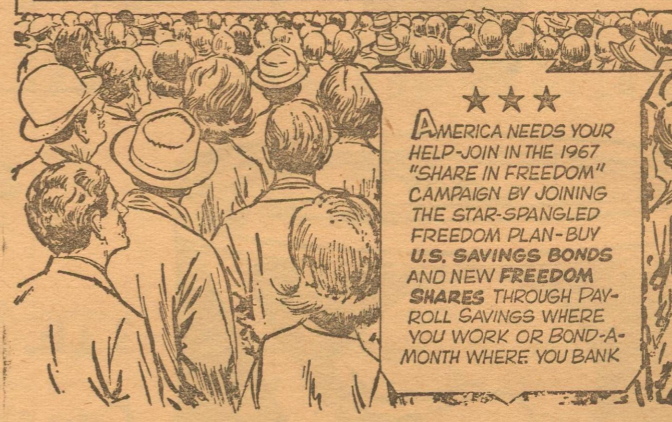

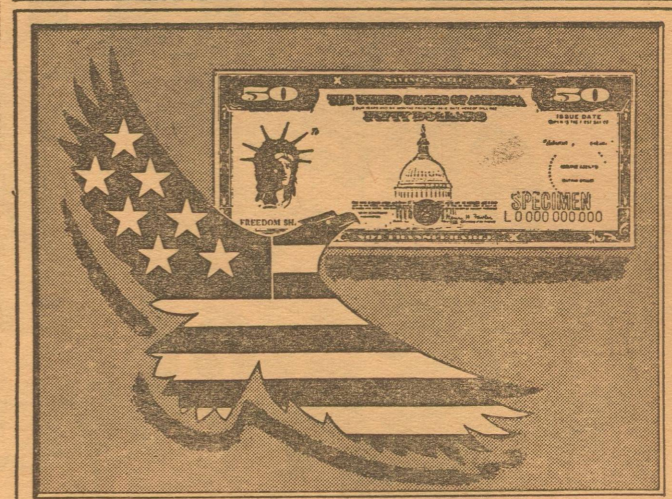

House of Representatives recessed Friday to attend funeral services for Rep. Ira Kohler of Houston.

Texas retail sales dropped 8% in April, according to UT's Bureau of Business Research.

In its hurry to adjourn before the Legislature's 140 days were up, the Senate passed 209 bills in a single day—most of them local and uncontested.
