Adult Education Classes To Start Here

Adults who live in this area had opportunity to continue their education starting Tuesday. It did not cost any tuition fees.

San Angelo school officials announced Friday that the adult basic education program, which gets federal financial backing, was being extended to Eldorado. Registration started here at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at Eldorado High School. Classes are set for each Tuesday and Thursday from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Teachers for the Eldorado program will be from the local schools.

Only eligibility requirements are that participants be 18 or older and have no high school diploma. Teaching will be at all needed levels—from first grade to advanced high school work which will get students ready to take tests for high school diploma equivalents.

Eldorado puts an 18 game winning streak on the line as they seek their 24th victory in 31 attempts.

Game time is 6:30 with a men's commercial game scheduled immediately following.

Next Monday Thru Thursday Set For Public School Week Observance

The county-wide school system here in Schleicher county once again is joining others over the state of Texas in getting ready to observe Public School Week. While parents and other school patrons are welcome to visit the school at any time during the year, they are urged to make special effort to attend during Public School Week.

Supt. C. T. Humphries, the school trustees, and all others connected with the school invite everyone to study the attached visitation schedule.

A Science Fair is to be staged again this year in the room across the hall from the lunch-room. Robert Jay is in charge of arrangements. A number of science students are preparing exhibits, and all school visitors are invited and urged to attend. Judging will be by a team from out of town, probably from the science department of Angelo State College who are expected down Wednesday afternoon. The exhibits will be judged for awards; winners will be announced in the Success later.

During Public School Week the patrons have a special opportunity to become better acquainted with the work which the local school system is doing.

In order for the school to have enough extra chairs to accommodate the visitors, certain days have been scheduled for visitation (see schedule below.) If this schedule does not fit the visitor's convenience, the administrators urge that parents come at their convenience. Likewise, in order to have sufficient food on hand for lunches, the visitors should sign the form for the day they intend to have lunch at the school and send it back to the homeroom teacher. The form should be sent back no later than Thursday, Feb. 27th (today).

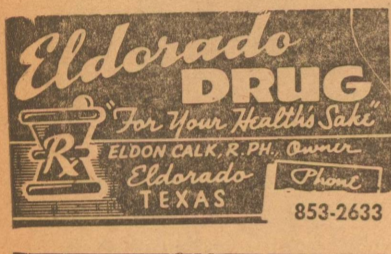

Parents will use students' cafeteria tickets. If you have more than one child in the school, visit all of them on the day you choose.

Austin, Tex. Gov. Preston Smith handed the 61st Legislature a $261.5 million new revenue program to balance his general revenue budget recommendations totaling more than $1.4 billion.

Reaction varied widely, though few expect the $148.8 million direct biennial tax bill submitted by the governor in his message to the joint session will pass as proposed.

Ninety per cent of $138 million in general fund spending which Smith recommended over the Legislative Budget Board's $1.1 billion appropriations bill would go to education. Teacher pay raises—$1,266 a year for B. A. teachers and $1,580 for M. A. holders—would take $220 million over the next two years.

Smith suggested ways in which the extra money could be raised, some of them already controversial.

One of those was the so-called "Cavness plan", advocated years ago by Former State Auditor C. H. Cavness and now sponsored by his son, Rep. Don Cavness of Austin.

It proposes to divert all but 27 1/2% of the revenues from the public school lands into day-by-day state aid to schools. This would pull an estimated $71.6 million in two years which otherwise would go into the permanent school fund.

Under present law, all the income from school oil and gas leases goes into the permanent fund and is invested. Income from the investments is distributed among schools on a per capita basis.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler and the School Land Board have come out against the proposal to spend 72 1/2% of the income.

Smith's other revenue proposals are these:

—An increase from 11 to 14 cents a package in taxes on cigarettes to raise $45 million in two years.

—An increase in the tax on other tobacco products, to raise $6 million.

—Extension of the sales tax to cover services such as laundry, dry cleaning, repairs, parking and cable TV, to raise $48.8 million.

—Extension of the sales tax to cover wine, beer and liquor, to raise $40 million.

—Extension of the sales tax to the purchase of cars and other equipment bought for rental purposes, to raise $9 million.

—Putting an additional state fine of $10 on all moving traffic law violation cases, to raise $38.5 million.

—Raise notary, corporation charter and uniform commercial code fees, to raise $2.6 million.

—Increase fees paid to the Secretary of State, to raise $2.6 million.

—Remainder of Smith's revenue would come from the $58.5 million surplus.

Governor urged the following for education in addition to the teacher pay hike:

Vocational-technical education improvements totalling $25 million more than previously recommended; $12 million to hire more teacher aides; $16 million increase for special education of handicapped; $5 million to conduct a pilot eight-week optional summer school program; $3.3 million for teacher sick leave; $12 million more for junior colleges; $3 million to develop regional educational closed circuit television systems; $8.3 million each for new medical schools in Houston and Lubbock; $7.3 million for new dental school in San Antonio; $600,000 to expand Baylor dental and medical units and $500,000 for studies measuring results of public education.

Governor thinks $11.7 million more is needed for medical assistance programs; $6.5 million for a 3.4% state employee pay raise; $5 million more to pay employees group insurance premium; $2.2 million more for his own office; $1.8 million to implement water planning; $200,000 for the Water Rights Commission; $200,000 each for urban studies at Arlington and Houston; $300,000 for Parks and Wildlife Commission and $300,000 for centralized services. Department of Public Safety would get $8.5 million more from special funds to hire more personnel, build additional facilities and improve communications.

But on one of the big issues of the legislative session, increased appropriations for higher education, Smith stood pat with the Legislative Budget Board recommendations. This is $73 million less on the seven "formula" items. College presidents told the appropriations hearing that they simply cannot handle the flood of new student without the $73 million.

On the proposals of Gov. John Connally's Committee on Public School Education for consolidation and tax equalization, Gov. Smith drew a middle ground. He advocated a state stamp tax on real estate transactions as a way of studying the variation in assessment bases for local school tax purposes. He referred to the rural school consolidation proposals in Legislature any decision on the critical terms, but did not come out against it or suggest to the Legislature any decision on the recommendations for consolidation.

Legislation Moves On

Governor Smith has signed into law bills to raise state employee retirement benefits an average of 10% and to raise from 5 to 6 1/2% the maximum interest rate on state and local bonds.

Senate passed 30-0 and sent to the House a compromise workmen's compensation reform bill, raising top benefits from $35 to $49 a week for injured or ill workers. Senate also passed a proposed constitutional amendment to authorize appropriation of funds for governors-elect between general election day and inauguration, bills to create separate boards of regents for East Texas State and West Texas State universities, authority for county commissioners to furnish free office space and telephones to legislators in their home districts and tax exemption for 500 non-profit rural water cooperatives and nursing homes.

House lagged far behind the Senate but did not complete action on the bond interest bill, create a commission to operate the Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz Museum in Fredericksburg and pass a bill to permit local libraries to join in a statewide network for exchange of books and service.

Liquor-by-the-drink constitutional amendments landed on Senate and House calendars with favorable committee reports and predictions of support by two-thirds of lawmakers. Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes appeared to be taking a personal hand in steering the senate legislation.

Meanwhile, the Senate Constitutional Amendments Committee unceremoniously killed another familiar measure—San Antonio Sen. V. E. (Red) Berry's proposal to legalize horse race gambling in Bexar and Harris counties.

Constitutional amendment to remove welfare ceiling has cleared Senate Committee.

Bill is pending in Senate to rename Corpus Christi State School for the late Sen. Bruce Reagan who handled legislation creating it.

Allowable Boosted

Texas Railroad Commission fixed oil allowable for March at 45.6% of potential, compared with 42.8% for February.

At the same time, Commission notified oil and gas officials it plans strengthening rules over offshore drilling to head off an incident like the oil leak off the California coast and the resulting pollution.

Courts Speak

Texas Supreme Court has set a March 26 hearing on the suit challenging constitutionality of the state's Sunday closing law. Spartan's, Barker's, Shoppers World and Globe Stores won a verdict in San Antonio District court that the law is invalid.

High Court left in effect the decision of Amarillo Court of Civil Appeals that the "reasonable doubt" rule applying to adult criminal trials must be adhered to in juvenile delinquency cases.

Supreme Court held that a district court jury or judge should pass on whether an Amarillo television broadcast improperly termed a Borger man a supermarket bandit. Suspect was freed before the broadcast on his arrest.

Electric company is not liable for punitive damages in the accidental electrocution of a young woman who was boating on Lake Jacksonville, Supreme Court concluded.

A. G. Opinions

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin gave this advice to Governor Smith on when state appointments come due:

When board or commission has staggered terms, the legislature meant terms of members to begin on effective date of act. But when law set up a single position and did not specify date of terms, term begins on the date first appointee took office.

In other recent opinions, Martin held that:

—Regulations for ambient air quality could not be the same or as strict in metropolitan areas as in an area with no industry, but emission of polluted matter into the air should be more rigidly controlled in a metropolitan area of industrial production than in an area where little pollution exists from emissions into air.

—It is contrary to public policy for a member of board of trustees of a community center to be a stockholder of corporations contracting with the center, but there is no conflict of interest for mere employees of facilities in a contract between facilities and center.

—Abandoned county road right-of-way property should be offered at private sale to adjoining or abutting property owners. If they don't want it, property can be sold at public auction after advertisement.

Eaglettes Win No. 23

Eldorado traveled to Barksdale Monday night for a non-district game with Nueces Canyon and the green won 48-37. Nueces Canyon fielded a tall, well-balanced team but good defense and a good second half offense proved to be the way to victory.

The Panthers were ahead 14-16 at the end of the first quarter but then Eldorado took a four point lead only to see six straight bad passes defensively hand the lead back to the blue. At the same time the forwards were hitting only 26% and missing some vital free shots; as a result Nueces held a 21-26 halftime advantage.

During second half action things began to run more smoothly and both offensive and defensive efforts picked up and Eldorado put in 14 and 13 points while Canyon was getting only 6 points each in the final quarters. Kathleen O'Harrow, Dale Montgomery, and Linda Derrick put the pressure on and after leading 32-31 they were never behind. Donna Davis and Claudia Meador led in the rebound department with 11 each and Donna did an outstanding job on the 6' forward holding her to only 4 baskets, well below her season average. Lisa Whitten, Lisa McAngus, Mary Lynn McCalla, and Sheri Roberts collected 7, 4, 2, and 3 rebounds respectively.

The forwards hit 14 of 20 attempts at the free throw line for 70% and they connected on 36% of their floor shots. This is the 18th consecutive win for the Eaglettes.

Scoring By Quarters—
Eldorado — 14 7 14 13—48
Canyon — 16 10 5 6—37
Kathleen O'Harrow 25, Dale Montgomery 13, Linda Derrick 8, and Peggy Hill 2 was the individual scoring.

To launch the program, Schleicherites were introduced to the TAP symbol in November and December of 1968, by way of roadside billboards, radio and television announcements, and newspaper articles. The TAP insignia show a stylized outline of Texas in which the letters T-A-P are boldly placed. Around the center, a rectangular border fits to complete the design that reminds the viewer of the face of a ranch-type branding iron.

kick-off for the program, individual commodities will be featured thru all communications media on a schedule which generally follows their seasonally oriented activity. These mobile units will tour all communities and towns in Texas. Fruits and nuts will be featured in January and February this year; red meats in March and April; May and June will feature poultry and dairy products; July and August cereal grains; and natural fibers, cotton, wool and mohair will be spotlighted in September and October.

Hilary Doran's Austin Report

This past Thursday Governor Smith fulfilled the responsibility placed upon him by the Constitution of the State of Texas. The Governor presented and recommended necessary measures for our State and the necessary taxes it would take to implement these measures.

In plain English, it means that for the next two years, an additional 259 million dollars will have to be raised by taxes. If the Cavness bill is adopted, it will mean a reduction in taxes of approximately 72 million dollars leaving a net balance of 187 million dollars that will have to be raised by new or increased taxes.

The bulk of the new spending is in the area of education, particularly in salary raises for teachers. The Governor is also placing special emphasis on technical-vocational training. All in all, education will be the recipient of almost 90% of the recommended additional expenditures by the state.

In order to finance these new measures, the Governor has recommended the following new taxes or tax increases:

- (1) Cigarettes, an increase of 3c per package; (2) Equipment that is leased or rented to be taxed at 3% on each individual lease or rental; (3) Placing a $10 penalty on each conviction of a moving traffic violation which would go to the state; (4) Placing all alcoholic beverages under the general sales tax; (5) Including personal services such as laundry, dry cleaning, dyeing plants, repairs, parking and cable television services under the general sales tax.

This basically was the Governor's recommendation and space does not permit a detailed explanation concerning each one, but the next few months should prove interesting and in my opinion several of the taxes the Governor has recommended will not be enacted into law and on the other hand, several new taxes the Governor did not recommend will be enacted into law.

I guess there is no way to make a news letter concerning the subject of more spending and new or increased taxation very interesting, but I and many other members of the Legislature, will strive to see what new or increased taxes that are enacted will be equitable and hopefully not punitive or unfair to the taxpayers concerned.

Bill Aimed to Abolish County Auditor Office

When he was here last Saturday, Rep. Hilary Doran left a copy of a bill which he will introduce in the Texas Legislature in the near future. The bill is aimed specifically at Schleicher county and is being introduced at the request of the Schleicher County Commissioners Court.

A BILL TO BE ENTITLED AN ACT relating to abolition of the office of county auditor in certain counties; and declaring an emergency. BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. In counties having a population of less than 2,792 but more than 2,782 inhabitants according to the last preceding federal census, the office of county auditor is abolished at the end of the auditor's present term. After the office is abolished, the duties of the county auditor shall be performed by other officers of the county as provided in the general law.

Sec. 2. The importance of this legislation and the crowded condition of the calendars in both houses create an emergency and an imperative public necessity that the Constitutional Rule requiring bills to be read on three several days in each house be suspended, and this Rule is hereby suspended.

Old Southern Belle Gets New Face

La Porte, Tex.—The old Varner-Hogg plantation house at Varner Hogg State Park near West Columbia has had her face made up for the first time since 1920, when the old mansion was succeeded by the Hogg family who owned it at that time.

"The new face was necessary," reports Park Superintendent, Joe Cariker. "The walls of the old home were constructed in 1835 by slave labor. The bricks used consist of a mixture of oyster shell and mud, and, while sturdy, the seepage of moisture through the walls was threatening some of the irreplaceable relics of old plantation days with which the home is furnished."

"Miss Ima Hogg, who presented the 'Varner' to the State of Texas as a Historical Park in 1958, has spent much money and effort in furnishing the old mansion with artifacts of the 1835 to 1850 period," said Cariker.

Cariker said that the new water-proofing and stucco, which was applied with special equipment, is tinted as near to the original gray color as possible.

Miss Rogers Bride Of M. W. Edwards

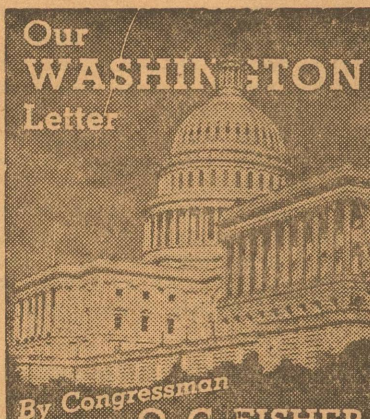

Miss Patricia Ruth Rogers and Michael Wayne Edwards were married Saturday evening in the First Baptist church here by the Rev. D. C. DuBose of Muleshoe, assisted by the Rev. Shelby Jones of Seagraves.

Parents are Mr. and Mrs. Vernon B. Rogers of Eldorado and Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Edwards of Lindale, Ga.

Miss Micki Straight of Ft. Worth and Donald Rogers of Eldorado were honor attendants.

Bridesmaids wear Misses Diane Newell of Fort Worth and Joan Doyle of Eldorado. Ushers were Johnny Hyatt and Jack Planary of Fort Worth, Raymon Mobley of Eldorado, Ricky Hargrove and Micky Hargrove, of Dora, N.M.

After a trip to Georgia, the couple will live in Charleston, S. C. The bride is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University and has taught in the Fort Worth schools.

The defleecing of sheep by the use of a chemical drug called cytozan may soon be a reality. The idea of using this drug developed from work by the National Cancer Institute where it was used in an experiment to stop the growth of cancer cells.

The Agricultural Research Service at Beltsville, Md., picked it up and has undertaken extensive tests by using the drug on sheep, under direction of Clair E. Terrill, Chief, Sheep and Animal Research Branch at Beltsville—one of the best of its kind in the world.

First results were encouraging, after which the scientist observed: "Nothing looks as naked as a chemically defleeced sheep."

The chemicals being tested interrupt cell growth in the bulb of each wool fiber, causing a ring-like constriction. The constriction moves up from the bulb of each fiber as it grows and in 6 to 7 days, reaches a position just below the skin surface, it was reported.

At that point, the fiber breaks easily and the whole fleece can be separated at the skinline, leaving the sheep completely bare. An operator grabbing a handful of wool and rolling his wrist along the skin can defleece a sheep quickly.

The most recent test showed that defleecing can be delayed beyond the 6 or 7 days after chemical treatment, allowing for a short growth of new wool below the constriction point, which would give the sheep some protection against bad weather. The drug would work equally well on mohair.

But despite preliminary successes, more research and testing is necessary before the process can be used in shearing pens.

Mr. Terrill has informed me that additional testing is needed for possible harmful side effects not previously detected. This phase of the research is being done by Dr. J. M. Shelton of the Livestock and Forage Research Center at McGregor, Texas.

"We are hopeful," Mr. Terrill recently wrote me, "that chemical shearing can be developed for practical use in a relatively short time. It offers hope of reducing the cost and difficulty of an essential job of sheep production. Our research is aimed at this objective for all phases of sheep production and this progress is certainly encouraging."

Post Script

& The Governor's Committee on Public School Education has made reports and recommendations to be considered by the current session of the Texas Legislature.

Already much controversy is centered on a key proposal: to set up school districts over the state with a minimum of 2600 students in each one. The Governor's Committee itself has allowed some exceptions to this rule, and Schleicher county is one of them.

We already have a county-wide school system, and have had such a set-up for over two decades. Although our 500 or so enrollment falls far below the 2600 recommended, ours was one of the counties in which the Governor's committee recommended no change. Factors of population density and travel distance were considered.

The committee studied the public schools in each of the 254 counties in Texas and concluded that the present 1,218 school districts should be consolidated to 353.

This would have most affect in the heavily populated counties of the state.

Presumably, with 2600 students in a district, there would be a wider selection of courses for all, more special teachers would be available, and over-all efficiency would be promoted.

As set forth elsewhere in this Success issue, there is the "Little Red School House Committee" set up to fight proposed forced consolidation, and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes has also predicted defeat.

All in all, it looks like this is going to cause the biggest "hassle" in public school education in recent years.

Back around 1940, Texas passed the measure to replace our 11-grade school system (7 years of "grammar" school and 4 of high school) with the 12-grade set-up which was already in effect in most of the rest of the nation. But it was about a dozen years after that before we had a full 12 years of schooling over the state.

In 1949, the Legislature passed the Gilmer-Aikin bill which standardized school teachers' salaries in all schools, and set up minimums.

And with the rest of the nation, Texas schools were caught up by the 1954 Supreme Court decision which outlawed segregated schools. By now, desegregation has been largely accomplished except for "gerry-mandered" school districts some places.

Now, it is "forced consolidation" which promises to be the big issue. The rural legislators can be expected to oppose the proposal, but here as elsewhere their collective voice is becoming weaker because legislative bodies have been restricted on basis of population.

Eaglettes Topple Talpa Here Thursday

Last Thursday night, the girls basketball team took Talpa by a slim 38-35 margin in a game scheduled as a warm-up for Bi-District competition.

It was a fast moving and exciting contest from the opening whistle when Talpa took a 15-8 lead on long outside shots off a controlled roll offense. However during the second period Dale Montgomery hit four baskets and Kathleen added a free throw while the Eaglette guards of Lisa McAngus, Claudia Meador, and Lisa Witten allowed Talpa only 1 point to give the Eaglettes a 17-16 halftime advantage which they never gave up. In the third quarter the home team put in 12 and added 9 in the last.

The guards of Donna Davis, Mary Lynn McCailla and the above mentioned all did a good job in keeping Talpa below 40 points in the scoring department.

The Eldorado offense had a little difficulty in adjusting to a good switching defense plus the ball control tactics. Eldorado took only 35 shots at the basket whereas they usually get 55-60 per contest, this cut down on the total point production from the floor. Added to this was one of Eldorado's poorest nights at the free throw line hitting only 51%.

Dale Montgomery hit 27 points, Kathleen O'Harrow 9, and Linda Derrick 2. It was excellent experience for the girls and was a fine warm-up for the important Bi-District game.

Snelson Introduces Crime Prevention Bill

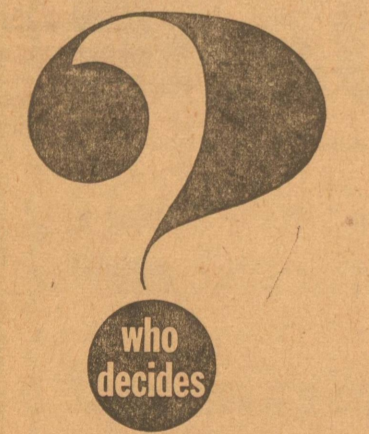

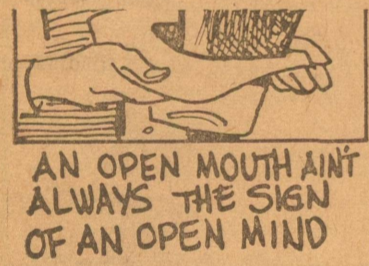

Austin, Tex.—Legislation designed to strengthen the investigation and prevention of crime was introduced today in the Texas Legislature by Senator W. E. (Pete) Snelson of Midland.

Senate Bill No. 250 provides for the issuance of search warrants allowing the seizure of items of evidentiary value.

"Our present law does not provide specific authority for the issuance of a search warrant to seize an item such as a weapon alleged to have been used, as in a murder, so that the proper scientific tests can be conducted," according to Senator Snelson.

"There is no logical reason why a weapon alleged to have been used to kill a person should be any more immune from seizure under a search warrant than, for instance, for stolen property," Snelson continued, "and I believe that this law will be quite valuable in combatting our rising crime rate."

The bill has been referred to the Senate Jurisprudence Committee and it will be set for a public hearing in the near future.

Predicts Defeat Of Forced Consolidation

BEN BARNES

Austin, Tex.—Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes predicted defeat of the proposed compulsory consolidation of school districts in Texas.

"The Governor's Committee on Public School Education has made many constructive recommendations. I feel that the Texas Senate will pass many of them," Barnes said in a statement released recently.

"However, I feel that the Texas Senate will not pass compulsory consolidation," the new lieutenant governor said.

Barnes added that the recommendation to consolidate school districts with less than 2,600 students will probably fall on deaf ears.

"The Texas Senate and this Legislature will probably write an attractive financial incentive program to encourage voluntary consolidation but will not adopt laws making consolidation compulsory in Texas this year," Barnes said.

Compulsory consolidation and other recommendations of the Governor's Committee on Public School Education are included in Senate Bill No. 2 which was introduced by Senator A. R. Schwartz of Galveston and Senator Oscar Mauzy of Dallas. The bill was referred to the Senate Education Committee.

On 'Little Red School-House Committee'

HOWARD DERRICK

Austin, Tex.—A statewide committee to represent rural landowners and those who enjoy living in the country during the expected struggle over school district consolidation in the current session of the Texas Legislature, has been announced.

The group, known as "The Little Red School House Committee," is composed of a cross-section of farmers, ranchers and rural landowners from throughout the state. Charles Schreiner III, a prominent rancher from Mountain Home, is chairman of the committee.

"We believe the forced consolidation of small school districts, as proposed in the report of the Governor's Committee on Public School Education, will go a long way toward destroyed rural life as it is now enjoyed in Texas," Schreiner declared in a news conference.

Schreiner pointed out that the Governor's Committee recommends the forced consolidation of Texas' 1,218 school districts into a total of 353.

"This would virtually wipe out 865 community centers, since most rural schools are the primary symbols of community identification," Schreiner said.

He refuted the claim that bigger school districts would automatically provide better education for students. "Mere bigness is not an absolute guarantee of excellence," he said.

"The Little Red School House Committee has been formed to awaken rural landowners and residents of small communities to the unseen dangers of forced consolidation and to acquaint legislators in Austin with the feelings of the rural people of Texas," Schreiner said.

In addition to the erosion of rural communities following the closing of their schools, Schreiner said that other adverse effects would include the bussing of students often many miles away; elimination or serious curtailment of many outstanding programs designed primarily for rural schools, such as vocational agriculture and vocational homemaking programs; the elimination of athletic teams from Class AA and below, with the resultant loss of identity for those communities and a decrease or entire elimination of a voice for the rural residents on school boards which will be centered in urban areas.

"The Little Red School House Committee and all its members certainly want to provide the best education possible for the young people of our state," Schreiner said. "But we don't believe that this proposed forced consolidation program, requiring the elimination of nearly 900 school districts in Texas, is the answer."

Members of the Little Red School House Steering Committee include J. M. Auld of Mountain Home, E. W. Brown, Jr., of Orange, Howard Derrick of Eldorado, Jack Frost of San Antonio, J. B. Love of Llano, Kerry McCan of Victoria, M. G. Michaelis III of Kyle.

Also John A. Matthews of Abilene, W. L. Moody III of San Antonio, Michaux Nash Jr. of Dallas, W. H. Rivers III of Elgin, Lance Sears of Sweetwater and E. M. Stevens of San Antonio.

Letters From The People . . . Glenn Biggs Praises The New Hospital

To The Success:
This past Saturday I was privileged to have the opportunity to visit the newly built hospital in Eldorado. I would like to congratulate your community for showing such foresight and courage to create such a fine and well needed facility. It is my opinion there is no other hospital in the State of Texas regardless of size that is more functional than the one you have. It is a beautiful and wonderful addition to the community and it certainly reflects good judgment on the part of the citizens of Schleicher county.

You may recall I was with Ben Barnes, Speaker of the House, at the time Representative Hilary Doran introduced a bill asking for the creation of a hospital district. Needless to say I had no idea that the completed structure would be such a magnificent edifice.

With personal good wishes. Sincerely, Glenn Biggs, pres., National Western Life Insurance Co., Austin, Texas.

COLLEGE BOUND

by Patricia Pirolli

Patricia Pirolli, graduate of Monmouth College, Monmouth, Illinois, and now an admissions counselor for the college, answers some typical questions by high school students about college.

Q. When is the best time to begin looking for a college?

A. The best time is during your junior year in high school. This way, you and your parents can look at many schools before narrowing the decision down to three or four. Concentrate on these schools during your remaining year in high school, and then make your final decision.

Q. Who should make the decision of what college I am to attend?

A. Ultimately, the student should. After talking it over with your parents, your high school counselor, and a representative of the college, and carefully considering all other factors, you make the decision.

Q. Before I make up my mind, should I visit the campus?

A. Definitely. Every campus has a different atmosphere, and you may not like it. The time to find out is before you arrive on campus to begin studies. At Monmouth, we encourage prospective students to come to the campus for a day or so during the week so they can sit in on classes, visit the students on campus, and see the dormitories and general life of the school. We set up appointments to talk to professors and students during your visit. In this way, you are exposed to all factors of student life. I would encourage you to do this with any college you are seriously considering.

Q. My family's income is average. Will this keep me from attending my first choice college which is expensive?

A. No. Many families cannot afford to pay college costs from savings or income. Therefore, most colleges have excellent financial aid programs offering scholarships, grants, loans and jobs. Today, the amount of financial aid awarded by a college is closely related to a student's need to attend that college. Contact the financial aid officer at the college of your choice for complete information.

Q. If I have a very detailed question about a college, who should I see?

A. Your high school counselor will be able to help. Or you can ask your high school counselor how to contact the college's counselor. If you have a question about Monmouth College, I would be glad to help. Talk to your high school counselor and he will tell you how to reach me.

A Champion Cherry Pie

YOU, TOO, CAN MAKE a blue ribbon cherry pie—one that will score all winning points with the family judges. Develop a light hand with the rolling pin and use a recipe that has the right balance of fruit and sugar to thickening, in this case Minute Tapioca, which gives clear and shiny juice. You'll also like a spicy variation—just omit the almond extract and add ¼ teaspoon cinnamon or ½ teaspoon nutmeg.

CHAMPION CHERRY PIE

- | | |
|--|---------------------------|
| 2 cans (16 oz. each) water-pack red sour pitted cherries | ¼ teaspoon salt |
| 2½ tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca | 6 drops red food coloring |
| 1 cup sugar | ¼ teaspoon almond extract |
| | Pastry for 2-crust pie |
| | 1 tablespoon butter |

Drain cherries, reserving ½ cup of the liquid. Combine tapioca, sugar, salt, cherries, measured liquid, food coloring and almond extract. Mix thoroughly and let stand 15 minutes. Roll out half of pastry very thin. Line a 9-inch pie pan. Trim pastry at edge. Roll remaining pastry very thin. Cut several 2-inch slits or a design near center. Fill bottom crust with cherry mixture. Dot with butter.

Moisten edge of bottom crust. Place top crust over filling. Open slits to permit escape of steam. Trim top crust, letting it extend ½ inch over rim. To seal, press top and bottom crusts together on rim; then fold edge of top crust under bottom crust and flute. Bake at 425° for about 50 minutes, or until syrup boils with heavy bubbles.

THANKS TO OUR FIRE DEPARTMENT

Even though the damage was very slight, the promptness and efficiency of our Fire Department was excellent.

The transformer inside of a desk lamp burned causing much smoke. The smoke was carried into several rooms by a heating duct above the lamp resulting in the belief that a fire was in the attic.

The fire could have been very serious and the efficiency of our Fire Department was apparent.

Thanks again

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

Education is still a paying proposition. Latest Census Bureau figures confirm that it pays to get an education.

While income of all segments of the population has grown in recent years, the biggest increases have occurred at the higher educational levels.

For example, between 1961 and 1966 the annual income of an average elementary school graduate 25 years old or older rose from about $4,200 to $4,900; that of a high-school graduate from $5,900 to $7,500; and that of a college graduate from $9,300 to $11,100.

Estimating the lifetime income of men by years of schooling completed, the Census Bureau experts came up with these figures:

Eight years of elementary school, $24,000. This amounts to about $6,175 a year.

Four years of high school, $341,000 for the total lifetime income, or about $8,525 a year.

Four years of college, $508,000 or an annual salary of about $12,200.

Five or more years of college, $5,000 or about $14,675 a year. An average college graduate can look forward to half again as much income as a high-school graduate who fails to enter college. A person who has done post graduate work in college can anticipate three times the income of an elementary school dropout.

However, educational attainment does not guarantee the financial success of everyone. Many intelligent people get ahead without a great deal of formal education.

New figures from the Census Bureau indicate that the number of years spent in school does have a significant effect on future earning power.

If you want people to notice your faults, start giving advice.

It costs money to feed cattle lice. These parasites are among the most damaging to beef cattle.

Cattle infested with lice spend a lot of time rubbing against fences, posts or other objects due to the annoyance caused by the insects. Cattle on feed do not gain as they should and require more feed.

Infested cows lose weight and their calves become prime targets for the pests. Reduced weaning weights of calves is another spot that hits the pocketbook.

Cattle lice are common over the entire state and include both the biting and sucking types. Their populations build up rapidly during cool weather and when cattle are kept in close quarters.

Sucking lice, short and long nosed, pierce the animal's skin and feed by sucking blood. They are usually found on the sides of the animal's neck, on the brisket, back, inner surface of the thighs, tail and around the nose, eyes and ears. Chewing lice are smaller and are usually found on top of the shoulders and around the root of the tail but may also infest other parts of the animal's body.

Many chemicals are available for controlling lice as well as other external parasites of farm livestock. Because of restrictions and safety suggestions which apply to the use of chemicals, stockmen are invited to come by my office and pick up a copy of MP-691, "Texas Guide for Controlling External Parasites of Livestock and Poultry."

I'm still waiting for some college to come up with a march protesting student ignorance.

Research at various experiment stations in Texas indicate that livestock production per acre and per animal is increased through combination grazing use.

Combination grazing use refers to grazing more than one kind of animal such as cattle, sheep, goats and deer or combinations of all on the same ranch or pasture at the same time. Of course, the feasibility of combination grazing use is restricted to areas with mixed forage composition where the various kinds of animals are climatically adapted, and where there is adequate predator control.

At the Texas Range Station, near Barnhart, total production was increased 20% by grazing cattle and sheep in combination, as compared to grazing sheep only.

Institute To Re-Open On March 2nd

San Antonio, Tx.—The Institute of Texan Cultures will re-open here to the public on March 2, Texas Independence Day, marking the beginning of the permanent operation for which the facility was created.

The Institute's initial presentation was the official Texas Exhibit in HemisFair '68. Its unique concept of presenting history by telling the story of individual Texans was seen by more than two million visitors during the 1968 Worlds Fair.

According to Institute Director, R. Henderson Shuffler, the idea behind the institution is to "humanize history and tell it in terms of individual people." The story of these people who came to Texas in pioneer days and of modern day immigrants reveals the rich heritage of Texans and their lasting ties with other cultures.

The Institute, a unique state project created for Texans, anticipates that 75,000 students from across Texas will visit the research and educational center between March 2 and May 31. During the summer, the Institute is expected to be one of San Antonio's major tourist attractions.

Twenty-six major ethnic, national or cultural groups and their contributions to Texas form the heart of the show. These representative groups include Yugoslav, Polish, French, Lebanese, Greek, Italian, Jewish, German, Wendish, Mexican, Spanish, English, Scottish, Anglo-American, Danish, Japanese, Irish, Belgian, Dutch, Norwegian, Czech, Swedish, Negro, Indian, Swiss and Chinese.

Since closing October 6, the Institute has revised 25% of the exhibit using new artifacts and exhibit devices. As in the initial exhibit for the world's fair, all of the artifacts displayed are on loan from individuals and museums. Unlike a museum, the Institute is a communications device that arranges the loan of items to be included in a coherent display.

As the exhibit is changed, the items are returned to their owners. A data card with photographs is kept to aid other museums in locating the various items displayed.

For the first time, visitors can actually walk on a representational 16th century English ship's deck. The section of deck represents Captain John Hawkins' ship on which David Ingram and the crew made a voyage to the New World in 1568. After being set ashore in Tampico, Mexico, Ingram and two other hardy adventurers walked across Texas to Nacogdoches.

Another unusual, new experience will be the opportunity to walk into a typically furnished Kiowa Indian teepee.

More Spanish colonial household furnishings and religious relics, such as the first bell of Mission Concepcion in San Antonio, have been added to the 16th century armor and weapons of the conquistadors in the Spanish area.

Other new additions include the rifle used at the 1836 Battle of San Jacinto by Robert Justus Kleberg whose descendants operate the famous King Ranch, a 19th century German piano made in Dresden, a Confederate cannon from Joe Johnson's camp, a sludge bucket used on hand dug wells and other early oil items, Jewish religious relics and personal effects of the three Texans of Mexican descent who were signers of the Texas Declaration of Independence.

Among some of the popular items from the original exhibit that will be retained are the authentic German bandstand, a vintage velvet barber chair in a miniature barbershop, a log skidder used to remove logs from the forest and wooden and iron scrollwork from German buildings in Texas.

Visitors will once again be able to see Texas history brought to life through the use of tapes, slide shows, color transparencies and short movies.

In the huge central dome, on 36 screens which surround the viewer, the entire theme of the exhibit will again be summarized in a 13-minute color production showing the people, the land and ceremonies preserved in Modern Texas by various ethnic groups.

The Institute of Texan Cultures will be open six days a week, with guided tours available to student groups. From March through May, the Institute will be open from 1:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. on Saturday and from 1:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. on Sunday. The exhibit will be closed on Mondays.
