Texas Traffic Accidents Cost Spiraling Upward

Austin, Tex.—Traffic accidents cost Texans nearly $23 million during April, according to the Texas Safety Association.

The total cost of traffic accidents during the first four months of the year was more than $185 million, when computed according to a National Safety Council formula. So far this year, the Texas Safety Association said that the most startling increase in traffic accidents and fatalities has occurred on the state's Farm to Market roads. Preliminary reports show a 51% increase in traffic fatalities on the rural road system over the same period last year.

Traffic collisions on Farm to Market roads so far in 1970 have cost Texans an estimated $23 million.

TSA reminds motorists who use the Farm to Market system that staying alert to such traffic hazards as slow moving vehicles and intersecting roadways can reduce traffic collisions and deaths.

The statewide safety group also emphasized the need for motorists to use seat belts and shoulder harnesses while driving on any roadway since a driver's chances of survival are five times as great if he is not thrown from the car.

Building Remodeled For Laundry Location

Phil Olson, who purchased and took over operation of the Hazelwood Laundry about a month ago, is having the Ruth McGinnes building north of the bank remodeled as new location for the business establishment.

Work being done includes installation of new plumbing lines, new wiring, and other remodeling. The last business to occupy the building was City Cleaners.

Olson is continuing to operate the laundry at the present location a few blocks east of the school until such time as the move is made. Once relocated, the laundry will be located in downtown Eldorado.

EXERCISE YOUR RIGHT TO VOTE

As we are nearing the final date to vote in the second primary, and elect a commissioner to represent precinct No. 2, I would like to take this opportunity to look over some of the things that are on record by the court as a whole. The county has made considerable progress.

When I took office, Jan. 1, 1963, the county had a bond indebtedness of $114,000.00 which included:

Angelo Highway -----70,000
Swimming Pool -----16,000
Machinery Warrants -----12,000
1952 Road Bond (Mertzson) 16,000

This has been paid in full. The tax rate was $1.39 on $100.00 valuation. In 1967 this was lowered to $1.25 on $100.00 valuation, which is the present rate.

We have co-operated with the state in building something over 20 miles of Farm to Market roads of which 11.6 miles are in precinct No. 2. At the same time all residents of the county have an all weather road. We have built some 3 miles of pavement in and adjoining the city of Eldorado.

We have taken advantage of federal and state funds to upgrade the airport to meet state specifications and one that we are proud of. The state part was $6,500.00.

Then we received approximately $14,000.00 to apply on the build-

'Seven Seas' Exhibit Set At State Fair

Big Tex and his great State Fair of Texas are off on another journey for the 1970 Fair, Oct. 10-25 in Dallas.

Last year Big Tex made it to the moon, but this year he will lead Fair visitors into the mysterious world of the ocean depths with the "Exposition of the Seven Seas."

Neptune, King of the Oceans, will assist in guiding Big Tex through a comprehensive theme exhibit that is presently being developed in conjunction with Texas A&M University to be presented in the New Dimensions Pavilion.

Neptune will also explain to Big Tex the enormous influence the oceans have on man's existence as well as the age old lore of the sea.

Joseph B. Rucker, Jr., Executive Vice-President and General Manager of the Fair said, "it was natural for us to turn to the scientific exploration of the other great space still virtually unexplored—the oceans of the earth."

The 85th annual exposition will emphasize future aspects of oceanology and ocean engineering while at the same time giving prominence to the historical and legendary romance of the sea.

Along with the many exhibits, the motif of the Seven Seas will be further enhanced by special events, nightly parades, park decorations and additional exhibits.

REV. BOBBY C. PALMOS

Re-appointed as pastor of the First United Methodist church here in Eldorado following close of conference sessions last week in San Antonio was Bobby Palmos. He is starting his second year with the Eldorado church.

San Antonio, Tex.—Appointments of pastors for the coming year were announced Friday by Bishop O. Eugene Slater of San Antonio at the close of a history-making annual conference of The United Methodist Church, which saw the old Southwest Conference, for many years all white, end itself and merge with the West Texas Conference, which was all black, to create a new Southwest Texas Conference, which never again will know racial or skin-color barriers.

The old Southwest Texas Conference, meeting in its 112th annual session, terminated itself Wednesday and its delegates met Thursday through Friday with the delegates from the West Texas Conference as the new Southwest Texas Conference.

Other appointments, of interest to Eldorado people, included the following:

Travis Park in San Antonio, Roy B. Shilling Sr., one of the three associate pastors.

Beeville, First, Doyle W. Morton.

Best Food Buys

College Station, Tex.—To save on the weekly food bill, make a shopping list, plan meals and buy food "specials." Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist, has this advice on what to expect in food stores.

Fresh fruit and vegetable items in best supply at the most economical prices include oranges, apples, bananas, strawberries, pineapples, cantaloupes, sweet corn, carrots and head lettuce. Other vegetables available at economical prices include cabbage, potatoes, dry onions, radishes and green onions. New crop southern peas are also showing up on produce counters with blackeye and purple hull varieties in greatest supply.

"Look for best beef values on round steaks and roasts, chuck steaks and roasts, ground beef and liver," Mrs. Clyatt advises. "Some markets may feature weiners and bacon."

Grade no. 2 bacon boasts the same fine flavor as grade no. 1, but the ratio of fat-to-lean is greater and the lean is apt to be less tender.

Some leg and shoulder roasts of lamb are also being featured in the market.

"Fryer prices are attractive; select the whole bird, cut-up or favorite pieces," Mrs. Clyatt says. "Economical buys may still be found on turkeys, and Grade A large and medium sizes of eggs are about equal in value at present prices so take your choice."

Welfare Cost Soaring

Predictions about cost to Texas taxpayers of new federal welfare legislation gets steadily more alarming.

Senate welfare reform committee was told by its staff chief, Dr. June Hyer, that bills before Congress would increase state spending for medical care of needy by $252 million to $293 million during the next 2½ years.

Welfare Commissioner Burton Hackney said assistance programs can be maintained at present levels until July 1, 1971, only if the Legislature boosts welfare appropriations to a ceiling of $80 million in January. Hackney also saw a chance of getting $8 million in emergency funds through rejiggering procedures for purchasing medicines.

Coastal Industrial Water Authority Board, Buster Eugene French of Dayton (re-appointment) and James D. Dannenbaum of Houston.

Insurance Hearing Slated

State Board of Insurance announced investment income of insurance companies writing auto coverage in Texas and its effect on rates will be the major subject of a special hearing on July 14-15.

Main hearing on statewide automobile rates is tentatively set for August 17. Board promised study and review of entire rating formula.

Attorney General Rules

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin slammed down Texas Water Development Board's plan to commit itself to the purchase of political subdivision bonds in the future, subject to availability of the funds at marketable interest rates.

At the same time, Martin held constitutional a 1969 statute aimed at authorizing political subdivisions to purchase water development bonds and sell them at a discount. Opinion put the Board out of water project aid business for the time being.

Martin also upheld the constitutionality of the new destination franchise tax on out-of-state firms selling products in Texas, but said it can't be collected on strictly-mail order businesses.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

—County judge cannot grant misdemeanor probation to anyone who has received probationary sentence during the preceding five-year period.

—Cottonseed in physical possession of Valley Co-Op Mill in Cameron County on January 1 is exempt from property taxes.

—In a county having only a single jail facility, it must be at the county seat.

—County commissioners, by unanimous consent, may allow temporary flooding of a county road if a suitable alternate route is provided.

—State Board of Health may not by rules expand the amount of equipment to be carried by ambulance, but may define minimum contents of first-aid kits.

—Purchases under $2,000 may be subsequently ratified at the county commissioners meeting.

—Board of Examiners in Fitting and Dispensing of Hearing Aids can require recording of aid serial numbers on the bill of sale. Any person who can pass the exam or qualifies under the "grandfather clause" or reciprocity provisions is entitled to a license to fit and dispense hearing aids.

—Lump sum payment in addition to monthly pension can be paid to a retired fireman or survivor if additional payment was adopted at the time he was an active fulltime fireman or prior to that time.

—State Board of Landscape Architects must issue a license without examination to applicants who have been representing themselves as landscape architects for at least three years, if they have defined requirements.

—Trailer type carriers carrying implements of husbandry may be moved up to 50 miles without special overweight permit.

—When conviction or indictment is set aside, accused regains his civil rights (to vote and serve on juries) but may not truthfully state in job application he has never been "convicted" of felony.

David and Pat Childers were here last week end visiting Mrs. Thelma Childers.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM YOUR State CAPITOL

Austin, Tex.—Search for treasure off Padre Island will continue in a big way this summer.

Texas Antiquities Committee granted a reconnaissance permit to the Institute for Underwater Research Inc. to pinpoint locations of additional 16th century Spanish galleons believed to have sunk in Padre area waters.

A giant survey, using geophysical detection devices and scuba divers, may serve as the basis for a state master plan for protection, study and possible future excavation of submerged historic sites.

State agencies, including the Land Office and major universities, will cooperate. Antiquities Committee granted $3,000 to assist Underwater Research, a non-profit corporation financed with private foundation funds.

"It sounds good to me," commented Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler, storm center of the controversy over disposition of treasure recovered from an ancient Spanish galleon off Padre in 1967.

Antiquities Committee Chairman Dr. Fred Wendorf said there is good historical evidence that a fleet of Spanish ships was wrecked along the Texas coast in 1553.

Committee, Dr. Wendorf emphasized, wants to prevent future looting by profit seekers and to preserve remaining ships so that historic data and artifacts may be retained by the state.

Committee also put up $6,000 to hire graduate students to compile inventory of major archeological land sites in Texas. Inventory would enable sites to be nominated to National Register of Historic Places and gain some protection from future destruction.

Wendorf, meanwhile, issued a new statement telling amateur treasure hunters, collectors and beachcombers not to think the Committee is spoiling their fun.

Committee permits are required to dig on state or public land. But activities on private lands are covered only where property is declared a State archeological landmark, and so far none has been so identified.

Schools Troubled

Spokesmen for large, small and medium-sized school districts told a special study committee they face dire financial problems.

Big city districts urged a more-equitable formula for dispensing state aid.

"Small districts have twice as much taxable wealth per student and receive 13% more state aid per student," said Dr. Marvin H. Berkeley, Dallas Independent Sch. District President.

Eighteen-member committee headed by veteran Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris was authorized by the last legislature to study the financial relationship between state and local districts and examine structure of current economic index for Comment from the Capital -

START OF THE SOARING SEVENTIES

by Vant Neff

Diplomacy has turned into a dangerous game. Witness the brazen kidnapping of the U. S. Ambassador to Brazil in the streets of Rio, in broad daylight. The abduction of our Ambassador Nathaniel Davis in Guatemala. The abrupt seizing of the U. S. Air Attaché by leftist guerrillas in the Dominican Republic. This roughhouse treatment hasn't been reserved only for Americans. How about the kidnapping and murder of the West German diplomat in Guatemala, which triggered Bonn's severance of all diplomatic relations with that country? There has been open harassment of representatives of many lands, especially in countries where the left-wing is attempting to dominate the government. Notice the difference in the way the United States deals with diplomats. They are treated like visiting royalty. Haven't we been too good-natured and too gullible far too long? There's only one way to fight fire!

I long for the dedicated public servant who will honestly admit his confusion, acknowledge the difficulty of his task, and promise to pull his oar to the best of his ability and lend his voice and vote to the best interests of all people regardless of party affiliation.

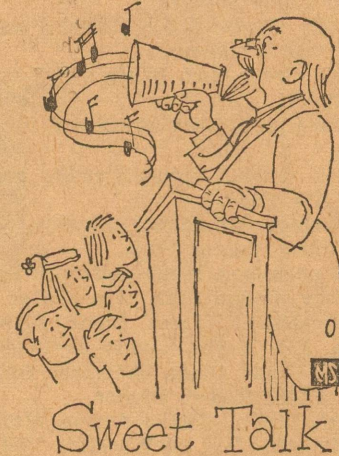

Yes, Virginia, there is another way to create a national crisis of major proportions. It is a "sick call". It is deadly, disruptive, and potentially far more destructive than a legitimate strike, because it is so indefinite. Federal air traffic controllers proved this when their "sick call" caused chaos at the country's busiest airports right at the height of the travel season. These "air sick" men, by the way, hold the key to human safety at the airport in the palm of their hands—they direct all planes in landing and on take-off. Though they maintain that they are poorly paid, it staged by Baby Jane. First, the vociferous anti-Vietnam activities. Then, the much-publicized attempt to take over a United States Army camp to "give it back to the Indians"! And her reported "turning on" by smoking pot during an interview with a noted newsmen. Theatrics like this may be acceptable in front of the cameras. In real life, they rate no kudos from this reporter, only a verbal spanking for acting like a spoiled brat. If you agree with her, that's your business. But if you want to help put a stop to some of these self-centered publicity-seeking tricks, why not stay away from her films and TV shows?

Modern version of a "Man Without a Country": a draft dodger who fled across the border and renounced his American citizenship returned home recently. Much to his chagrin, he was declared an alien and handed deportation orders. Now where does he go? What does he do? True, he escaped serving in Viet Nam. But how do people feel about him now? What do his neighbors have to say? And how can he ever hold up his head again?

News note with a tinge of irony: the Soviets, who say they despise the capitalist system, are now setting up their own giant private corporations, to boost their lagging economy. Actions, it seems, speak louder and more profitably than words.

Labor problems are our nation's prize headache. Isn't this a clue that our labor laws need a complete re-thinking—fast? And isn't Secretary of Labor George Shultz just the man to start the ball rolling? Look at the tally over the past few months. Strikes, or threats of strikes, cropping up all over, among hospital workers, garbage collectors, telephone answering people, truckers, teachers. The railmen and the mailmen. Newspaper unions, and more. You name it! The reason I feel that Mr. Shultz is the one to do something is that he's fair, unbiased and dedicated. His kind of decisive action is just what the National Labor Relations Board needs, since its rulings are still so notoriously one-sided—in favor of the union wheeler-dealers. As we are drastically in need of an immediate re-evaluation of our labor legalities, doesn't Mr. Shultz owe it to the country to look into the matter?

Sweet Talk

Isn't unusual for a senior man to earn as much as $25,000. While this strike masquerades as wholesale airsickness, its effect on the poor public is nauseating. I wonder whether some day soon, in defense, the public won't form an equally strong society and dish out a dose of their own medicine—inconvenience, frustration, and financial loss.

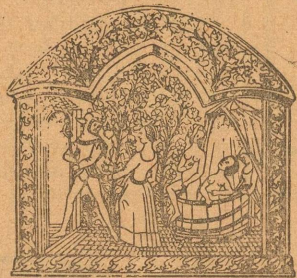

Congratulations to Columbia University, Union Theological Seminary and others. "No bail to the Panthers", they said, in spite of threats, pressures and demands from militant, left-wing radicals. Why should they! The Black Panthers are admittedly dedicated to the overthrow and destruction of whatever and whomever stands in their way. Universities and other "establishment" targets, watch out!

Fond of the Fondas? Note the latest limelight-grabbing antics

BATHTUBS ARE IMMERSED IN HISTORY

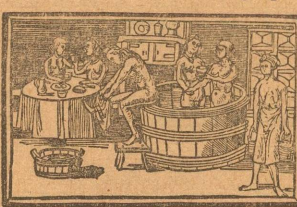

Early bathtubs didn't exactly make a splash. In the 15th century, for example, Queen Isabella of Spain declared that she only had two baths in her life—including one when she was married. At that time, according to scribes who kept track of scrubs, many boasted that they never took a bath at all!

Bathtubs have been running hot and cold through history. Queen Elizabeth I of England was far from washed up when she revealed to a confidant that she bathed herself once a month whether she required it or not.

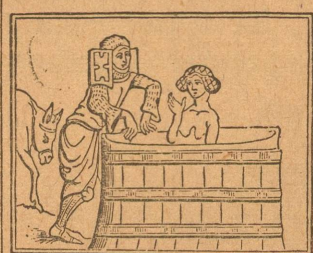

The art of keeping one's self clean, however, goes back to the Bronze Age thousands of years ago when denizens of a palace on what is now the island of Crete literally put their foot in it. Portable foot baths of clay, and basins, were on tap for those making foot journeys of any distance.

The Greeks and Romans, long before the introduction of soap, came clean by scraping away grime with iron or silver gadgets that looked like modern shoe horns. But the same people didn't let soap go down the drain. They used it as medicine to cleanse wounds, and the Gauls were known to develop a shampoo from fats and ashes.

The Romans originated the bathing house and mass public bathing, which got them in hot water with the church. It was suggested by clergymen that bathing be for cleansing purposes only and that social and other activities be confined to more suitable surroundings. Many mixed bathing places were then closed and others operated at different hours for members of each sex.

From the 14th through the 17th century, the Romans, Greeks, Mohammedans and Russians outdid one another in building architectural monuments to the bath. Giant murals and sculptures were featured, and the introduction of steam rooms and perfumed and oil baths to soak the rich became the rage.

In the Far East, notably Japan, bathing has always been an art. Most Japanese houses even today have the old-fashioned circular tub. In some of that nation's biggest hotels, despite modern conveniences, the bathtub is long and narrow. Family baths, in which all participate in large circular tubs of steaming hot water, are still taken in many gardens.

The first public baths were introduced in the United States in Boston in 1766. And Benjamin Franklin is credited with this innovation. At the time some members of the medical community denounced the public bath as "wicked, narcissistic vanity."

Bathing now holds water as a joy rather than a ritual. Experts at the Shulton Company note there is a marked preference, particularly among ladies, for exotic soaps, and bath oils. Many of the new concepts of today's luxury bath—such as Vive Le Bain, a collection of perfumes and other liquid assets—serve a double purpose. They add fragrance to the bath and tone to the skin.

Nowadays, few Americans put a damper on bathing, and the bath is both a means of cleanliness and relaxation. It's a welcome activity and provides a clean victory for those who'd rather not throw in the towel.

Aquarena Springs Re-Opens After Flood

Aquarena Springs, the picturesque San Marcos tourist attraction is again in full operation just ten days after a 17-inch cloudburst flooded the popular site and caused an estimated $350,000 to $500,000 damage.

In announcing the re-opening of the waterland attraction Don Russell, president of Aquarena Springs declared: "All of our activities including the submarine theater, glass-bottom boats, Texanna Village, sky rides, restaurant, gift shop and Aquarena Springs Inn are now open."

Before the six foot flood waters had subsided on May 15, offers of assistance came from every section of the Country.

Members of Discover Texas Association, who operate most of the top tourist attractions of the state, wired or care in person to offer trucks, personnel, animals and merchandise to get Aquarena Springs operational.

Surrounding communities offered the use of graders, bulldozers, scrapers, and other heavy equipment for the clean-up.

From Ocala, Florida, Tom Allen, 28 year old son of world famous hunter and animal expert Ross Allen, flew to San Marcos with specialized gear to search down-river and recapture alligators that escaped during the flood.

Russell was high in his praise of the young volunteers who helped: "Too often we only hear the story of violence and unrest among our youth but the re-opening of Aquarena Springs is a tribute to the unselfish and untiring efforts of the young people of San Marcos and surrounding areas; I'm really proud of them and grateful for their assistance."

Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Barker and children were in Brackettville and Del Rio for the Memorial Day week end. In and near Brackettville they visited Old Fort Clark and "Happy" Shahan's Alamo village. While in Del Rio they drove across Amistad Dam into Mexico for dinner and shopping and returned home Sunday afternoon.

Aphids, commonly known as plant lice, not only cause damage to many important crops but they find roses and many other ornamental plants to their liking. When large numbers feed on such a plant they can mar its beauty, prevent growth and cause its death.

Aphids are soft-bodied, ear-shaped insects and are usually 1/25 to 1/8-inch long. They vary in color from light yellow to green or black.

They do their damage by sucking plant juices through their short, stout beak. The loss of the plant juice devitalizes the plants, and the leaves on which they are feeding become curled, cupped or otherwise distorted. When flower buds or roses fail to develop properly, aphids are feeding on the growing tips and flower buds of the plants.

Many species excrete a colorless, sticky honeydew which attracts ants. This honeydew may also become the medium for the growth of black fungus or sooty mold which may cause further damage to the plant.

Aphids can be controlled by treating the infested plants with sevin, diazinon, cygon, lindane, malathion, nicotine sulfate or a new granular systemic disulfoton. Disulfoton is marketed under various trade names.

Regardless of the insecticide used, directions on the container label should be read and carefully followed. Other information on controlling ornamental insect pests is available from the county Extension office.

More twins are being born these days. Maybe kids lack the courage to come into the world alone.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN
by Tiny Godwin
Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

Be wary of stinging insects. Persons who are allergic to insect stings should be doubly careful.

Records show that more people die each year from insect stings than poisonous snakes with honey bees, bumblebees, and yellow jackets and wasps as the main culprits.

Most people after being stung feel a sharp pain for a short time with the area swelling a bit. But those allergic to a sting may suffer severe reactions or even death and they may not realize it until it's too late.

These suggestions are offered for your protection. Use an approved insect repellent or wear protective clothing when working near stinging insects. Don't use hair-dressing or perfumes that have floral scents. Wear light-colored clothing and move slowly if you are near a stinging insect's nest. Bees and wasps usually sting only if they are touched or their nests are threatened. Quick motions and air movements, however, will excite them.

Nests can be destroyed by the use of pesticides but be careful when doing the job.

It's a good idea to check with your doctor on whether or not you have the special allergy. Your doctor can advise on what to do in case you are stung.

Husband, struggling with budget to wife: "We should have saved during the depression so that we could live through this prosperity."

Troubled with ants in the home, garden or lawn? If they are a problem, first try to find their nests and then apply a recommended insecticide.

By watching the movement of the ants, the nests can often be located and it may be inside the house or just outside close to an opening that permits entry to inside. The different species of ants have different nesting habits. Sometimes ants in the home must be controlled without finding their nest.

Chlordane is an effective insecticide. It will quickly kill ants in current infestations and will prevent reinfestations for weeks or months.

It may be used as a spray, dust or granules. A spray is usually preferable in the home. It is easy to apply and is safe to use when label instructions are followed.

To prevent ants from entering the house, apply a 2% chlordane
