Fund Drive On For Boy Scout Council

The annual fund drive for the Concho Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America was launched Tuesday with a kick-off breakfast in the Java Junction Cafe; 16 attended and the 5 captains and their workers were given pledge cards for local prospects.

The drive is now under way and local residents are being contacted to pledge a monthly amount as "sustaining" members, or to give a lump sum.

The money raised will be used by the local Boy Scout council to carry on the Scouting program in the 1969-70 year. Goal for the 23½ counties here in Southwest Texas is $129,000.

The money raised is used to pay the salaries of the 7 professional Scouters, maintain records on each boy in Scouting, badges and certificates, maintain the two camps, conduct training sessions, and maintain the Council headquarters office in the Findlater building in San Angelo and pay the clerical staff. Schleicher county is part of the Concho Valley Council which is third largest in land area in the nation and serves a population of 200,000.

J. B. Morris of the San Angelo office was on hand at the kick-off breakfast. The chairman of this year's drive is Pat Wester.

Bill Rountree won the door prize of a pocket knife. Prizes are also set for the first team to complete their canvass and the first team to turn in their complete collections.

This Friday morning at 10:00, the first report meeting of the workers will be held at the Java Junction. Other meetings will be held later.

The auditor for the drive this year will be Raymond Hall.

Plans Under Way For Turkey Shoot

The Junior Chamber of Commerce under direction of Rony Kerr, president, is in the process this week of planning a turkey shoot to be held sometime before opening of hunting season.

Further details should be available in next week's issue.

Clocks To Go Back One Hour On Sunday

This coming Sunday at 2:00 a.m. is time officially set for change-over from Daylight Saving Time to Standard Time. Clocks will go back an hour at that time.

The easiest way to take care of the time change is to set your clocks back an hour before going to bed Saturday night. If you turn in at 10:30 p.m., turn the clocks back to 9:30 at that time.

If you forget to make the change, you'll be an hour early for church services Sunday morning.

Standard Time will be in effect for the coming six months, from the last Sunday in October until the last Sunday in April.

And by sun time, we'll all have an extra hour of sleep Sunday morning.

Post Script

One short street in town which was in need of rebuilding, is being rebuilt and will be repaved.

It is the short block from Clovis Taylor's station on Main street to the Java Junction on Hwy. 277.

Java Junction has developed a big breakfast run and is always crowded. There is plenty of seating room inside the cafe, but parking space outside is limited. I've been pulling in there every morning and always have had a problem finding parking space—especially in wet weather.

Now I see that short block is being dug up deep and wide, in preparation for laying a deep caliche base which will be followed by paving. I want to say "thank you" for whoever is responsible for this improvement.

Just across the street from the cafe is the S&D used car business and repair garage. Operated recently by Sammy Dannheim it is now run by his brother, Lawrence Dannheim, who is a county commissioner, no less. Should I say "thank you" Lawrence?

If that's what it takes to get some needed improvements done, maybe we should encourage more commissioners to set themselves up in business in town.

The county's road crew is doing other work in the city. A deep layer of caliche is being spread on the Atlantic-Richfield district office lot which will eventually be enclosed with a chain link fence as a parking space for company vehicles.

Across the street Dan Griffin is having a big parking space caliche on the Archie Wright lot where he will park his U-Haul vehicles, etc.

We also understand the county's road crew still has more work to do on the hospital grounds—adding more black dirt and improving drainage problems. No doubt it will be done.

Under the one-man, one-vote law all four commissioner precincts now corner in town, and in future elections any candidate for commissioner will have a hustle for votes within the city limits. However, this should make no change as far as Eldorado is concerned. The commissioners and their road crews have always been more than cooperative on civic problems.

It was just two years ago this month that Schleicher county ended about six decades of being a "dry" county, and voted itself "wet". An election was held then and approved to allow the sale of alcoholic beverages by package stores, for off-premises consumption.

How have we made out with the new set-up in these two years of being wet?

Well . . . we failed to notice any drunks lying in local gutters either before or since the election.

We have two stores here selling liquor and a third one selling beer. We believe that these merchants have conducted themselves with decorum and have kept their sales within all laws pertaining to such sales. They could not remain in business if they did not.

All in all, our being a wet town has not changed the face of the community in any obvious ways, and the liquor and beer sales must add at least some to the gross annual retail sales of this town.

People moving:

D. J. Ottaberry has checked out and moved to San Angelo.

More signs of change in the local business district:

Last week end, workmen boarded up the old Enco service station building across the street from the Eldo hotel.

Monday morning, Dan Griffin and his helper Slim removed the "John Stigler—Jewelers" sign from in front of the store building.

Thurssday Game

Because many local fans are interested in the outcome of the Mason-Sonora game at Sonora Friday night, the Eden game in Eldorado has been re-set for Thursday night at 8:00.

Eldorado plays host this week of the 8A schedule to Eden, a team composed of possibly 14 lads who have been battered from "here to there" all fall long and who have had the courage to come back for another licking Friday after Friday when these boys know that their chances of winning have been practically nil.

Last week in an engagement with Junction on their home field, they suffered a savage 76-0 beating. Anywhere these lads appear, they deserve a period of standing respect for just plain old "guts". When boys are within a few pounds of each other and ages are equal, the old favorite "It isn't the size of the dog in the fight; but the size of the fight in the dog that counts" is apropos. But if 20 pounds difference per man in a pro-football line makes a difference between a 260-pound and a 280-pound pair of giants, how greatly magnified is this difference between a lad of 140 pounds and one weighing 160 or 180 with a couple of years maturity thrown in for additional advantage. So the Eden Bulldogs are scheduled to appear on Eagle Field this week to take yet another beating and go home. It doesn't matter what offensive and defensive formations they employ. This year, they try anything and everything; they might fool somebody or surprise some overconfident opponent. Eden was winless in 1968; and the odds are good enough that they will be winless again this year.

This is a bleak and dismal future for any teenage boy to look into and the Eden Bulldogs deserve commendations for having the courage to do so.

But sadly enough, the Eldorado Eagles can't afford too much mercy in such a contest since 8A conference standings are at stake. But it is almost certain that Eagle coaches are keenly aware of the plight of the Bulldogs and will be as humane as possible without jeopardizing the Eagles' future hopes as one thing is fore sure: The contest in 8A is anything but over.

There is no telling what will happen in the waning weeks of this 1969 football season. Mason, Sonora, and Junction have yet to meet; and the Eldorado Eagles are hardly out of the running yet.

So it's "Be kind to the Puppies" week in Eldorado High School; but let's don't overdo it and let them "eat the children" either. Game time is 8:00 o'clock.

Next Year's Schedule

This past week saw the biennial realignment of Texas high school football teams under University Interscholastic League supervision. Eldorado was shifted to District 9A. Membership in 9A is based on the number of high school students in each district A school with the lower limit at 120 and the upper at 229. Junction moved into AA classification with 230 high school students this year.

9A District Schools are as follows:

- Mason
- Robert Lee
- Bangs
- Sonora
- Menard
- Eldorado

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by Tim Godwin

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

"We win half the battle when we make up our minds to take world as we find it, including the thorns." The world is made up of things which are not perfect and of people who are not motivated by the highest ideals. Only frustration haunts those who think there is some quick way to change all of this. To make material conditions better for all people is a long, hard struggle; and to make better people is an even longer one. When we recognize this and try to live constructive, purposeful lives ourselves, we are contributing our small share towards the improvement we all want.

Stocking rates are vitally important to the modern day rancher, and should be determined on the basis of forage available.

Moderate stocking rate means carrying only the number of livestock that can utilize about one-half the current season's forage production. The remaining half is used for maintenance of plant vigor, deep root system, cover to protect the soil from erosion, extreme temperatures, and influences deeper moisture penetration, and provides for efficient forage, livestock and wildlife production.

Keeping the livestock operation flexible is sound management. This means grazing only three-fourths as many animals as the range is expected to carry. This may also be termed as a low base herd. During the good years when there is excess forage, calves can be kept for a longer period before marketing or purchases of other livestock may be made to utilize the forage.

During dry years when forage is short, livestock should be culled and sold. When deer are grazing the area, the livestock rate must be adjusted in order to maintain forage required by the livestock and deer. Livestock and wildlife should not be in competition for the available forage.

Stocking rates should be based on the amount of forage available and not on the amount of rainfall that is expected for growing grass. A range inventory to determine stocking should be made during August or September and again at the beginning of the growing season. Livestock numbers should be adjusted at the time of the survey in order to maintain forage production. The main thing is to adjust livestock numbers before the grass supply is used.

The first of the month bills fall like due drops.

High school agriculturists often ponder the question of what occupation they should prepare for in college. The answer isn't easy but I would like to remind them of a field known as agricultural communications or agricultural journalism.

This is a field which is facing a shortage of qualified men and women. Their job is to communicate with the increasingly sophisticated farm community.

This shortage of personnel has left excellent opportunities open in such fields as farm magazines, radio and television, advertising, and machinery, fertilizer, seed, feed & petroleum sales and promotion. Also work with farm management agencies and with livestock and other agricultural associations and organizations.

The colleges and universities offering degrees in agricultural communications have programs offering courses which give the student fundamental studies in the liberal arts and adequate background in general journalistic work with specific training in agricultural writing.

For information on the colleges and universities offering degrees and the opportunities in this field, students should consult with their high school counselor, vocational agriculture instructor or the college or university of their choice.

Heavy populations of fall armyworms are causing extensive damage to wheat and oats as well as to recently planted small grains in the county.

Where infestations persist, stand reduction or loss is not uncommon. After a field is cleaned out fall armyworms invade adjoining fields.

The larval stage lasts about 20 days during which time the fall armyworm reaches a length of 1 1/2 inches. The full grown larvae vary in color from tan or green to nearly black. The most prominent character for identifying the fall armyworm is the inverted Y on the front of the head. The life cycle from egg to adult requires 28 to 52 days depending on weather conditions.

Most effective control is obtained when fall armyworms are small. Carbaryl (Sevin) parathion or methyl parathion might be used on small grain that will be grazed. Cattle should be held off fields treated with methyl parathion for 15 days following application. There is no time limitation on grazing of small grains treated with carbaryl. For additional information on insects attacking small grains, contact your county Extension agent.

Some people jump at conclusions. But others dig for facts.

Junior High Holds Eden Scoreless

For the second week the Junior High football team has held their opponents scoreless. In fact the score of the last two ball games has been the same. Eldorado 32—Robert Lee and Eden 0.

Quarterback Benjie Jay started the action for Eldorado when he intercepted an Eden pass on Eden's 48 yard line. Gene Nixon, however, was the ball carrier for the final 6 yards on a dive play. The point after attempt failed and the score was 6-0 and remained so at the end of the first quarter.

In the second quarter, Tim Edmiston came from the noseguard position to block an Eden punt and fall on it at the Eden 5 yard line. Again it was Gene Nixon who went the final yardage to pay dirt. The extra point failed this time also. Later in the same period the ball went from quarterback Benjie Jay to fullback Ken Peters and then to Gene Nixon on a reverse. On this effort Gene went sixty yards to score just seconds before the half. Halftime score was 18-0.

The third quarter was fruitless as far as the offense was concerned, but the defense showed what they were made of as the stopped Eden just short of scoring on several occasions.

In the fourth quarter converted linebacker Roy Lloyd intercepted a pass and ran to the Eden 7 yard line before he was brought down. Seconds later Nixon added the six points with Timmy Farris tacking on the two extra ones. After a fake punt in the final minute of play, Nixon scored again making the score 32-0. Ken Peters faked a punt after the second unit had failed to make a first down and made a fine run to the Eden 8-yard line.

The entire defense should be congratulated for the fine performance it put out even though several members were playing in unfamiliar positions. It was a fine coordinated team effort. Even part of the credit of the offense should be to the defense because several touchdowns came about after blocked punts or intercepted passes. Roy Lloyd and Mort Mertz led the defensive charges while Nixon, Peters and Farris showed some fine runs.

The Junior High will be trying to make it 6 in a row as they face Robert Lee here this Thursday at 6:00 p.m.

Disengagement Set On Gradual Basis

Reflecting growing public concern regarding the course of the war in Vietnam and the tempo of plans to end it, a large number of Americans picked October 15 as a day to exercise their right of dissent.

Actually, the protesters can hardly expect our government to follow their demands—that of immediate unconditional withdrawal of all American troops from South Vietnam. To follow such a course would be foolhardy, regardless of what one may think of our involvement there.

President Nixon, who by the Constitution is our Commander-in-Chief, has announced a plan of gradual disengagement, as replacements of South Vietnamese are trained and equipped to take over the burden of the war. That being our nation's policy, it should in my judgment have the full support of all Americans.

There is a right way and a wrong way to express legitimate dissent. But, as I see it, in time of war when our troops are being killed and our flag attacked, no American has a moral right to voice dissent in a manner calculated to give aid and comfort to the enemy.

Progress is being made in pursuance of the President's plans. Already more than 97% of South Vietnamese troops have been equipped with our superior M-16 rifles. More than half of the Mekong Delta area is now under military control of the South, and their air force is taking over much of the air support, and will do more as pilots are trained.

Indeed, there are very knowledgeable military people who believe we are, in a sense, winning the war against Communist aggressors.

Their losses have been astronomical. During the war more than 550,000 Communists have been killed—by actual head count. And there must have been many more. Despite these heavy losses the enemy, apparently inspired greatly by the anti-war clamor in this country, keep pouring more troops into the fray.

Now, of all times, we need to close ranks and give full support to the American withdrawal-replacement plan.

The Mason Cow Punchers finally wore the Eldorado Eagles down and overpowered them 28-7 last Friday night in Mason. The game was the 8A conference opener for both teams and saw other 8A members Sonora overwhelm Menard and Junction ruthlessly trample hapless Eden the same night.

The game could have gone the other way as the Punchers were badly shaken and jittery during most of the first half. The Eagles led 7-0 until the closing minute of the first half. Mason emulated the Sunday afternoon behavior of pro-teams and used its timeouts to save seconds and score seconds only before the half ended. They failed to make their extra point and the half ended 7-6, Eldorado.

But the Mason score had given them the gasp of air they needed to live. Eldorado nearly scored on two more occasions in the first half. Had the Eagles done so and they certainly might have, it is doubtful that the Cow Punchers would have pulled themselves together. An ominous fact concerning the future hopes of this year's Punter team is that when they collide with an equally big and powerful set of boys and a break or so goes against them, there is good chance that they may panic and not come back as they did against Eldorado.

Neither side could score in the first quarter. This is not hard to understand as the Eagles were fresh this far in the game. But in the second quarter, Wayne HV Doyle captured a sort of desperation Mason pass near the Eldorado 40-yard line. When the frantic Punchers finally cornered Doyle, he was on their four-yard line. Eagle QB Archie Nixon kept the ball and ran over for the four yards. Then Bob Page held and Nixon kicked the extra point and the score stood 7-0, Eldorado. Turning point of the game came late in the second quarter when Eldorado began a drive toward Mason's vital territory. The Eagles were about to rack up their third consecutive first down. Nixon hit Keith Williams with a pass and Williams converted it to a first down; but a clipping penalty was assessed the Eagles which broke the drive and Nixon was forced to punt.

Mason took the ball and a play or so later, another obviously desperation pass clicked. W. HV Doyle outran Mason's Dow Nobles to the 10-yard line but the Cow Punchers rallied and ran it over the shaken Eagles. They failed to kick the extra point and the half ended 7-6, Eldorado.

In the second half the Eagles began to tire after facing a rested offense and a rested defense each time the ball changed hands and the Punchers were able to score two more touchdowns in the 3rd quarter and one more in the 4th and with assorted variations of extra points; so the game ended with Mason out front 28-7.

Bob Page carried the ball six times for Eldorado for 20 yards. James Larry Davis, two times for eight yards; Keith Williams, seven times for 23 yards; Wayne Doyle, four times for 27 yards; and Paul Page, one time for six yards on an end around play.

Bob Sykes led the way defensively with 19 tackles while Roy Jones came second with 16 and Bob Page third with 14. James Larry Davis posted 12 tackles; Keith Williams, 10; Bob Whitten and Wayne Doyle each posted seven; Charles Adams, 6; and Billy Doc Hubble, Dobs Lively, Walter Speck, and Sam Oglesby, each nailed five enemy ball carriers.

Coch Sherwood Barker said this past Monday that the Eagles had played a fine ball game but that Mason just wore Eldorado down with their greater depth in manpower.

As a sort of post game editorial, when an Eagle or so is singled out for commendation, this does not mean that the rest of the team is "Dammed" by faint praise. The Eagle line, outweighed, usually facing a fresh man, rested every four or so downs, demonstrated a lot of courage and competitive spirit. They met the Punchers down front where only the length of a football separated the Eagles from opponents, usually 10-30 pounds heavier and usually rested. Down front is where the bruises grow and Eagle linemen displayed fine courage and tenacity in this hard fought contest.

But two Eagles could be singled out for sparkling courage. Keith Williams, 141 pounds soaking wet, completed a Nixon pass and less than a second later, a Mason defender, many pounds heavier and moving with greater speed, gave Williams really a violent buffet to stop the play. Williams, although stunned, held on to the ball; and within seconds, he was back at his defensive position as a halfback. Let's say it was this way: "Many a lad would not have left the safety of the bench to re-enter a game as rough as this one."

Then Archie Nixon, 150-pound sophomore, was savagely rushed all game long by boys many pounds heavier, and two years older. Nixon passed, kicked, and ran, obviously without fear or qualms. Time after time, he stepped up and called for the pass which was Eldorado's only hope when he knew very well that four or five strong, mature, rested, and determined opponents would batter his weary linemen aside, and that he would not get the 3.5 seconds a pro-quarterback must have to be successful; but instead Nixon knew he would be lucky not to be downed for a loss. He did not flinch the whole game through.

Football in high school really is only a game but this is one of the things that a lad is lucky to learn and display before his community.

Home Demonstration Agent's Column

I've always known that the ice cream cone was the most perfect package for food likely known to man. What other container is eaten along with the food it holds? whenever does the box become the last bite?

Now it looks as if the ice cream cone has some competition for the sole honors. Manufacturers are soon going to be able to offer a choice of flavored boxes, wrappers and bottles to complement or spice up meats.

The containers are dissolvable proteins that become sauce or gravy when heated to cooking temperatures.

But nothing will ever be able to take the place of that first edible package—the good ice cream cone.

It's a fact—rice is as good when reheated as when it was first prepared. Rice can be refrigerated about a week or frozen up to 8 months either separately or with any other food that freezes well.

When storing cooked rice, cover the container so that the grains will not dry out or absorb the flavors of other foods.

To reheat, add rice to enough hot liquid in pan to prevent scorching. Cover pan tightly, reduce heat to simmer and steam about 5 minutes.

The recipe which follows is my favorite way of using cooked rice, either fresh or left over. It is quick and simple to make and tastes good. I use left over fried chicken usually. Since the meat is chopped the wings and back work out well.

Fried Rice and Meat

2 tablespoons fat or oil
1 cup (about) cut up cooked ham, pork, chicken, turkey or canned luncheon meat.

1/2 small onion, chopped
4 cups cooked rice
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1 egg.

Measure fat or oil. Place in a large frying pan and put over medium heat. Add chopped meat and onion. Cook until onion is tender. Add cooked rice, reduce heat and cook 10 minutes. Break egg into small bowl. Beat well. Add to rice mixture. Cook and stir 5 minutes. The egg coats the other ingredients and is not visible when cooked. Add soy sauce and mix well. Makes 6 servings about 3/4 cup each.

Teamed with a green salad and fruit for dessert this dish offers a well balanced meal from a nutritional standpoint and is as inexpensive as good food comes today.

New Federal Regulations

After October 23, the hot dogs and other federally-inspected cooked sausage products you buy can contain no more than 30% of fat.

This decision was made in an amendment to Federal Meat Inspection Regulations.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture gave public notice on May 16 that it was considering a limit on the fat content of cooked sausage products. Public hearings were held on the proposal June 18-20, and written comments were accepted through July 13.

More than 600 persons responded to USDA's invitation to participate in the decision-making. Comments were received from consumers, the livestock and meat packing industries, universities, government nutritionists and medical authorities. Comments were strongly in favor of setting a limit on the amount of fat. The need for "watching my family's diet" was a reason often given. Others wanted a limit set to help them in making value comparisons when food shopping. Some of the comments asked for a lower level of fat than is now customary, while others asked that a higher level be set.

Because cooked sausage products are such a popular and widely used food, careful consideration was given to the relationship of these products to the country's total meat diet.

Federal inspection of cooked sausages and other meat and poultry products is handled through the Consumer Protection Program of USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service.

Short thoughts on long subjects. Pampered pets. Pet food companies report a trend toward "humanization" and convenience in their food products.

A Look In Time: Before you restore that old furniture, look it over. Many old pieces need only to be cleaned.

Ladder to Creativity: Measuring steps toward a child's creative ability are originality, motivation, curiosity and environment.

Avoid troubles: Always close zippers before washing garments or sending them to the dry cleaners.

Save time: Dry beans will cook more quickly if you add baking soda to the water before soaking, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. If tap water is of medium hardness, adding 1/8 teaspoon soda to the water for each cup of dry beans reduces cooking time about one-fourth.

chaplain, Mrs. Walter Ramsay, who, after reading selections from the Scripture, gave the invocation. She led in singing the National Anthem and the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

Mrs. Luke Thompson, secretary, read the minutes, which were approved as read.

The Budget for 1969-70 was given by the treasurer, Mrs. J. E. Montgomery. The chapter voted approval.

Highlights of President General's Message was presented by the regent.

Report of the Defense Chairman,

Miss Baker, was most impressive. Mrs. Montgomery, program leader of the day, appropriately introduced Mrs. Ernest C. Hill who told the story of William McGuffey and His Readers. Mrs. Hill brought her McGuffey Readers to the meeting, letting the members enjoy the perusal of them and their author.

The social hour was all the more enjoyable because of the beautiful flower arrangements from Miss Baker's lovely flower garden.

A delicious refreshment plate was served to the members and the guest Mrs. L. Hedlund, Mrs. Montgomery's sister.

EHS Grad Of '53 Now Lives In Australia

To The Success, Eldorado, Tex.
Dear Sir:
We are now residents in Queensland, Australia. Having been here almost a year now we find that many of our friends and acquaintances at home are interested in "how are things in Australia?" With this in mind, I am writing to ask if you think the readers of the Success might be interested in some articles written from Australia. It would be a joy to attempt to describe some of the scenes about us.
To give you idea of what we see very close at hand let me tell you about a few of the birds. (Though of course I wouldn't want to limit the articles to nature-study; there are too many other interesting things to discuss.)
We are exposed to every type of serenade from sunrise to sunset and even others at night. The "bushman's alarm clock" better known as the kookaburra, bursts into such infectious laughter in the early morning that we often find ourselves laughing with him. Sometimes you can't help wondering if it's something YOU'RE doing that he finds so amusing. Like the morning I was out for a ride on a bicycle for exercise; I could almost see his point in thinking that a bit humorous. The wild parrots are beautiful in their cloaks of many colors. It's not unusual to see one with red, yellow, green, black, and blue. The sounds they make are so near human at times you don't wonder that they can be trained to talk. The black crow, the not unusual to look at, always seems to have a "sore throat", but it's really just his natural voice. He just seems a bit hoarse when compared to his American kin. Wild parakeets zip through the air at surprising speed. They have a shrill song all their own and it's really worth the effort to run outside to catch a glimpse as they swoop from tree top to tree top. They are most often a bright green in color and like to travel in groups, it seems, since you hardly ever see less than a dozen. The black cockatoo is most common near our home, usually sporting a beautiful red or rose colored breast. We have seen some of the large white cockatoos with their golden crest. He is a royal looking bird and acts as though he is well aware of the fact. The pheasant is one of our near neighbors too, half-running half-flying across the road into the bush. His song is a bit weird, bringing to mind the new sirens often used at home now; a note rising and falling over and over on the air. There are others, of course, but these are some of our most frequent visitors.
As you do doubt can tell, I'm not a professional writer by any means.
Some of the people there may remember me. You see, I grew up in Eldorado, graduating from EHS in 1953. The only real writing experience I've had was on the Eagle Scratches, my Senior year being privileged to be editor.
In case you wonder why we are in Australia, we came as missionaries.
I would appreciate an answer at your earliest convenience.
Sincerely,
Mrs. Harold Pryor

Undesirable brush, on rangeland, continues to be one of the major problems confronting ranchers in the Eldorado-Divide Soil and Water Conservation District. In 1960 it was estimated that 25% of the district's rangeland was infested with mesquite. The more productive land, with deep soils, were the first invaded by the undesirable mesquite trees.

Brush control by rootplowing has also been used in the district. Most of the brush control by root plowing has been done on heavy brush infested areas with little of the better grasses on the area. Most all rangeland that has been rootplowed has been seeded with a mixture of the better grasses. The best stands of grass has been obtained where the seedbed was prepared with a rolling chopper or root rake following root plowing.

The success of brush control is dependent on several factors: Regardless of the method used a thorough job in killing most all the brush must be done. Where range seeding is done the right seedbed preparation and seeding operation must be used.

All rangeland should be deferred during the growing season, following brush control. Deferral should be for a minimum of 90 days where brush control is by aerial spray or basal spray. When brush control is by dozing or root plowing followed by range seeding, the treated area should be deferred from the beginning of the spring growing season until frost, for two successive years.

The removal of all undesirable brush from several thousand acres in the Eldorado-Divide S & WCD, has made more water available for grass production. The application and maintenance of all needed conservation practices on all agricultural land will help assure maximum production.

Assistance is available from the Soil Conservation Service Technicians, assisting the district in planning and applying conservation practices on all agricultural land. Cost share assistance is available from the Great Plains Conservation Program, administered

COURT OF HONOR HELD

Boy Scout Troop 18 held a Court of Honor this past Tuesday night at the Memorial Building with Scoutmaster Jim Holley in general charge of arrangements. Highlight of the evening was presentation of the Eagle Scout badge to Steve Sykes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Sykes.

Austin, Texas.—More than 100 "fraternal organizations" are being requested by Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. to swear that they are in fact fraternal organizations and not just "private clubs."

He says applications are coming in from "fraternities" that evidently are "private clubs" and if they are approved it will make a mockery of the 5% tax per drink requirement set by the Legislature on private clubs.

Texas law provides that fraternal organizations are exempt from franchise taxes.

Among the "fraternal organizations" presently being asked to confirm their status are the Benevolent Order of the Impala of Texas, Club L'Amour Fraternal Association, Inc., the Fraternal Order of Moon Maidens, The Fraternal Order of Dart Players and the Fraternal Order for the Preservation and Resurrection of Burlesque.

If an organization refuses to answer the questionnaire within 30 days, it faces dissolution. Answering the question falsely means possible perjury charges.

Welfare Benefits

According to Welfare Commissioner Burton Hackney, 509 Texas families may be affected by a San Antonio Federal Court ruling requiring the State Department of Public Welfare to pay retroactive benefits not paid since March under the now defunct one-year residency requirement.

Hackney said that if the department had to pay off all the back benefits, it would average about $75 a recipient per month for that six month period. And, if all applicants on the list were qualified, this would exceed $250,000. However, he stressed that some of the applicants would be disqualified for other reasons. He said no appeal of the decision was being planned. Also, Hackney has asked the Texas Medical Association to help his department settle questions of "misuse" or "over-utilization" of Medicaid services and benefits.

Breakfast In School

Texas Education Agency says school breakfast programs in Texas public schools are expected to pass the 350 mark in 1969-70, doubling the 172 total set during the last academic year.

TEA also announced that the State Board of Education has allocated $10,400,000 in vocational-technical funds to Texas' public junior colleges for the present school year. Funds were provided by the Legislature.

Republicans Active

Promising themselves at least 35 more state representatives, four more state senators, three more congressmen and a second United States Senator, Texas Republicans are setting their election targets on areas where the minorities comprise a large portion of the population. They outlined plans to start now, reaching for the Negro & Mexican-American voters, instead of waiting until election time 1970.

Republicans aim specifically at the 15 state senators who made the majority when the food tax bill was passed by the Senate. Republican District Committeeman Winston Wrinkle of Big Spring, who heads the party's Legislative Committee, says they plan to use the recent "184-day Donneybrook" (the three legislative sessions) and the tax increases, as additional ammunition.

Texas Federation of Republican Women announced that Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew will be in Austin on October 31 to present the second annual Tops "N" Texas awards for community service by women.

Brucellosis

Texas Animal Health Commission says only eight Texas counties have not begun brucellosis-eradication programs, and all but 66 have been classified as modified-certified areas.

Federal regulations went into effect on August 1 restricting the interstate movement of most cattle from areas not modified-certified.

Attorney General's Opinions

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin spelled out the duties of county commissioners, county election boards and sheriffs to determine the number of voting machines needed, provision and delivery of them to the polls for each election held at county expense.

In other new opinions, Martin held that: —Small claims court jurors must be paid the same ($3-$6 a day) as those serving in justice courts, with payment out of county jury fund. —Alligators now are under the control of the state as protected wildlife species.

—Legislative act providing for the method of school board elections in counties of 8,605 to 8,615 population is unconstitutional since the population base is unreasonable. —A former legislator with eight or more years service who now is a state employee can become a member of the "elective class" under the employees retirement system without working five consecutive years at an appointive job. —Grand and petit jurors selected for Jim Hogg county by the 49th judicial district court and for Duval and Starr counties by the 79th district court are legally-selected jurors for the new 229th judicial district court from September 1 to commencement of the new term.

Courts Speak

Supreme Court set hearing for November 26 on the appeal of Air Southwest Company for commuter air routes between Dallas-F. Worth, Houston and San Antonio.

High court scheduled oral agreements for Dec. 3 in the case against the Dallas transit system brought by the widow, mother and daughter of a bus passenger who was killed Dec. 18, 1965, by a drunk who boarded the bus. At issue is whether the driver was negligent in allowing the drunk to board the bus.

Tyler Court of Civil Appeals order dismissing the sanity case of Dr. Harold Eidinoff of El Paso, who was freed from Rusk State Hospital earlier this year, was affirmed by the State Supreme Court.

Court of Criminal Appeals heard arguments on Houston black militant Lee Otis Johnson's appeal from a 30-year sentence for giving a marijuana cigarette to a police undercover man.

State filed suit to enjoin Air East Air Lines Inc. and Central Texas Airlines Inc. from conducting air carrier operations without certificates.

Drinking Hours Extended

A dozen counties and 19 cities have adopted the new 2:00 a.m. drinking curfew approved by the last Legislature on a local option basis.

Included are Harris, Dallas, Bexar, Tarrant, El Paso, Potter, Bandera, Bell, Aransas, Wilson, Galveston and Fort Bend counties; Corpus Christi, Aransas Pass, Rosenberg, Temple, Texas City, Denison, Peth, Borne, Komah, Pharr, Galveston, Rockport, Bandera, Port Aransas, Port Neches, Laredo (private clubs only), Victoria and Herker Heights near Fort Hood.

Liquor Control Board is studying the proposal of a Dallas restaurant for authorization of Texas travelers to join a single giant private club with guest privileges in any participating club.

LCB authorized two airlines to sell mixed drinks during flights — American Airlines and Braniff.

Texas International and Delta also have applied for licenses.

Short Snorts . . .

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes appointed the Senate General Investigating Committee to be composed of Sens. J. P. Word of Meridian, chairman; Jim Bates of Edinburg, Ralph Hall of Rockwall, Grady Hazlewood of Canyon and Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells.

Community action grant of $112,904 for Community Council of Uvalde, Kinney and Real Counties Inc., Uvalde, has received governor's approval.

Railroad Commission cut November's statewide oil production by 1% to 52.7% of potential.

Customers in Mexico and Central America are buying more Texas livestock than ever before. State Agriculture Commissioner John C. White reports, but he also issued a warning that Mexico has increased its health requirements for Texas cattle.

Grain sorghum growers approved a five-cent-a-ton commodity check-off system in the 29 High Plains and Panhandle Counties with a 74.1% majority.

Carl Booth, investigator for the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearm section of the Internal Revenue Service, says 27 indictments have been returned in Texas cases of violations of the Federal Gun Control Act of 1968.
