Fall Garden Extends Vegetable Season

College Station, Tx.—The skillful home gardener, with some help from increased rainfall and the lower temperatures of the coming fall months, can plant a fall garden that will be producing nutritious vegetables throughout the winter in most parts of Texas.

There is still time for producing some of the tender warm season vegetables such as summer squash, cucumbers, and green beans in fall gardens, says Dr. John Larsen, Extension horticulturist.

Other crops such as lettuce, turnips, beets, collards, mustard, cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower, and radishes can also make successful fall crops since they require cool weather for best quality.

In areas such as the high plains, transplants can be obtained to start crops whose ideal planting time might have already passed.

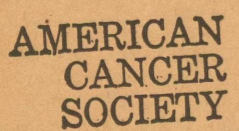

Two crops that can actually give higher quality yields in the fall are green beans and fall sweet corn. In most areas of the state when the beans mature with day temperatures lower than 80 degrees, they have a low fiber content and have the best quality for canning and freezing.

Probably one of the biggest problems in fall gardening is getting a good emergence of vegetables when seeding is done during hot dry weather. The first step in a method that is usually successful is opening a furrow and irrigating it after bedding the soil.

Pecans

Fall Webworm: Infesting pecans throughout the South and South Central Texas. Heavy infestations on pecan trees in yards have been observed in the area. Check trees for Fall Webworm.

Control: Light infestations on a few trees can be eliminated by pruning off affected branches and burning them. If this control method is not practical, spray trees with Sevn.

1972 Wheat Program

Major provisions of the 1972 Wheat Program were recently announced by Secretary of Agriculture, Clifford M. Hardin. Basic ingredients of the program follow:

Set-aside acreage requirement equal to 83% of the farm domestic allotment. (This compares with 75% set-aside rate in 1971 program.)

Growers may substitute feed grains for wheat; soybeans is a substitute crop; barley will be included in the 1972 feed grains program.

Loan rate of $1.25 per bushel established for national average.

Under the substitution provision, acreage devoted to feed grains or soybeans will be considered planted to wheat to prevent loss of allotment.

Acres devoted to wheat or soybeans will be considered planted to feed grain to prevent loss of the feed grain base. Producers may plant all or any combination of his acreage to wheat, feed grain or soybeans without loss of planting history or program benefits.

Producers are not required to plant wheat to obtain certificates. However, failure to plant, or be considered to have planted, at least 90% of 1972 domestic farm allotment of either wheat, corn, grain sorghum, barley or soybeans can result in a 1973 allotment reduction by as much as 20%.

Wheat producers in 1972 will receive 100% parity on the production of their full domestic allotment. Face value of the certificates will be the difference between 100% parity on July 1, 1972 and the national average wheat price received by growers from July thru November, 1972.

Producers may graze set-aside acres EXCEPT during the five principal months of the normal growing season. This acreage must be protected against erosion, insect damage, weeds and rodents.

Farm-stored and warehouse-stored loans and purchases are available to producers who participate in the program.

Processors of wheat for domestic food use will pay 75 cents per bushel toward domestic certificate value. No export marketing certificates will be issued.

Producers who wish to qualify for program benefits need to sign up to participate between February 28 and April 7, 1972 at county ASCS office.

County ASCS offices will notify growers of their domestic wheat allotments and applicable set-aside for their farms.

Cotton

Supply and demand for cotton—at the end of July, five successive cotton seasons have been completed in which more cotton was sold than was produced.

Recent rains have set wonderful conditions for stomach worm problems in sheep and cattle. A good practice that not only helps control stomach worm but also improves the reproductive efficiency of your ewes is to drench about 2 weeks before turning the rams in.

Improved nutrition immediately following breeding may be more important than flushing. Nutrition is the key to high lamb crop percentage. This is the time to consider nutrition—before, during and after breeding.

Garden Check List For August 1. Don't slack up on your Rose Disease Control Program if you want attractive roses this fall.

Spray every 7 to 10 days with Phaitan or Maneb.

2. Make your last pinch on chrysanthemums and stake the taller mum plants to prevent wind damage.

3. Make your fall planting of Bermuda grass in August. Use "hulled" seed only. Be sure to roll the seed bed after planting and keep moist until it germinates.

4. Place your order for spring folwering bulbs now for best quality.

5. Plant pansy and calendula seed for fall and winter color.

6. If you expect colorful fruit this fall and winter on holly, pyracantha, cotoneaster and others don't forget to water this month.

7. If you forgot to apply the chinch bug control in July, better get it done at once as they like hot dry weather in which to operate.

8. Put out your fall vegetable garden in August. Prepare the beds at once.

9. Make cuttings of your favorite geraniums now for indoor flowers this fall and winter.

10. Spray Crapemyrtle for mildew control using Karathane or Parnon or you can dust with sulfur.

11. Water the compost pile to prevent drying and also step up decomposition.

12. Start a new compost pile and be ready to collect the leaves as they drop this fall.

13. Start thinning your Camellia flower beds now for larger flowers.

14. Don't let spider mite get the upper hand. Spray with a good miticide such as Diazinon, Kelthane, Cygon, or Malathion. Follow directions on the container and don't use the same material each time.

15. Make arrangements with a reliable neighbor or yard man to look after your yard while you are on vacation. At least have him take care of the watering while you are gone.

16. Now is the time to begin collecting interesting plant materials for winter bouquets.

17. Prepare beds for September plantings of winter annuals, day-lilies and bearded iris.

Multiple Use Of Right-Of-Way OK'd

Austin, Tex.—The Texas Highway Commission has approved an expanded program for multiple use of highway right of way.

The policy provides for the construction of parking areas, recreational areas and public parks beneath overhead structures or certain other areas of right of way.

Recreational facilities may include hike and bike trails, nature trails, bridge paths; basketball, handball or tennis courts, children's playgrounds or mini-parks and boat launching facilities.

Generally, the Highway Department will be responsible for construction of the site, but local governmental units will provide playground equipment or other recreational facilities.

Cooperative agreements will be concluded with city, county, state and federal authorities on request.

State and federal agencies will participate in use of right of way for purposes relating to law enforcement, vehicular weights and measures control, safety inspection of trucks, immigration control, special gas tax inspection and other official functions.

The policy is subject to the condition that should the Department conclude that the facility has become a hazard to traffic safety or to be not in the public interest, the cooperative agreement may be modified or terminated.

Three Cooking R's

College Station, Texas.—Practice the three R's of cooking, and you'll save nutrients in vegetables, reminds Frances Reasonover, Extension foods and nutrition specialist.

Miss Reasonover says the three R's are to reduce the amount of water used, reduce the cooking time, and reduce the amount of surface area exposed.

To decide how much water to use, consider the color and flavor of the vegetables, she explains. The size and shape of the pan, the length of cooking time, and the use of a pan cover are also important.

Quick cooking vegetables need only a small amount of water, she adds. Starch vegetables need longer cooking and require more water. It is better to add water during cooking than have more than needed when vegetables are done.

Vegetables should be cooked in the shortest possible time, Miss Reasonover continues. Bring the water to a boil, add the vegetables, and again bring the water quickly to a boil. Cook only until tender.

The specialist advises cooking vegetables in their skins whenever you can. Slicing and dicing will increase the loss of nutrients, especially if the cooking water is discarded and the vegetables are overcooked.
