Edmiston Seeks Re-Election As County Sheriff

ORVAL EDMISTON

Orval Edmiston this week authorized the Success to announce that he will be a candidate for re-election to the office of Sheriff and Tax Assessor and Collector.

In making his announcement, Mr. Edmiston had the following to say:

"I would like to take this means of officially announcing my candidacy for another term as Sheriff, Tax Assessor & Collector of Schleicher County.

"I have served the people of Schleicher County for many years and as I look back over the years I realize there has been a lot of satisfaction, as well as disappointment, in the work of the Sheriff's department. The changes in the law and Court rulings have made it difficult to carry on at times, but I take a solemn pledge that I will try my best to change with the times and laws and enforce the laws as they should be enforced. The changing laws are a challenge to me and I do not want to give up because there are obstacles in my way.

"An officer is no better than the people or community he serves and in this community I have had wonderful support from many, many people. The juries in our Courts have been very gratifying through the years and I am proud of the people who have served on them.

"If the people of Schleicher county see fit to elect me to another term as Sheriff, Tax Assessor & Collector, I will do the best I can to serve each and every one."

—Orval N. Edmiston

Ginning Season May Linger Along For Another Two Weeks

This was the opinion expressed by Karen Homer, bookkeeper at Mikeska Gin on Tuesday afternoon.

With summer weather again prevailing the gin was busy, and books revealed that a total of 478 bales had been processed for the season. There was still another trailer on the yard.

Several farmers had reported that they had considerable amount of stripping yet to do and if dry weather continues they expect to bring in every last pound.

Approximately 100 bales had been processed this past week.

Requests Already For Deer Hunting Leases

Billy Gene Edmiston, secretary-treasurer for the Schleicher County Chamber of Commerce, reports this week that he has already received some letters from hunters inquiring about deer hunting leases for the 1972 season.

Any ranchers who expect to have leases available next fall may get in touch with Mr. Edmiston and write to the hunters.

"We want to bring hunters and ranchmen together," Mr. Edmiston said.

Lions See Film Of Band At Contest

The Lions Club met at noon yesterday in the Memorial Building for their regular weekly luncheon meeting. Boss Lion Bill Gunstead presided.

Elton McGinnes, program chairman for January, introduced program for the day, which was the showing of the Eable Band film made at the recent UIL contest.

The same film was shown that night at the Band Hall.

Austin, Tex.—An interesting political poll was taken at the Gulf Coast Press Association's board of directors' meeting in Houston January 8. Fourteen newspaper publishers were asked: "Who do you think will win the 1972 Governor's race in Texas?"

Seven said Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, four named Dolph Briscoe and two listed Gov. Preston Smith.

The same editors were asked about their vote.

Eleven voted for Dolph Briscoe, two for Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and one for Governor Smith.

Senate Campaign

The 1972 political campaigns moved into full swing with announcement by former U. S. Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough that he would make a comeback try for a Senate seat.

Yarborough, 68, revealed his plans in a series of whirlwind news conferences at Austin, Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio. He seeks the Democratic nomination to oppose Republican Sen. John Tower.

Barefoot Sanders of Dallas, already running for the Senate as a Democrat, welcomed onetime political ally Yarborough to the race as "one of our fine senior citizens." He said both Yarborough and Tower "are out of touch with the majority of Texans."

Yarborough said he had never had so successful a campaign opening day. He stressed his nearly-14 years' experience as a progressive senator, and said in answer to questions about his age: "I'll be around campaigning as long hours as anybody else, if not longer."

The former senator's entry took some of the spotlight away from the warming governor's race where Gov. Preston Smith, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and Uvalde rancher Dolph Briscoe are starting to mix it up. Five Democratic candidates are moving around the state in the lieutenant governor's race.

Treasurer Jesse James, Comptroller of Public Accounts Robert S. Calvert and Commissioner of Agriculture John C. White during the last week announced for reelection. Calvert and James are expected to draw some opposition. State Rep. Frances Farenthold of Corpus Christi announced she is "taking a serious look" at prospects for a gubernatorial race, but has not ruled out challenging Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin.

School Decision Appealed

The State Board of Education voted unanimously to appeal the monumental federal court decision that the Texas property tax method of financing schools is unconstitutional.

Meanwhile, the Board assumed responsibility for drafting a new plan for supporting the school system and ordered a task force be formed to do the study job in the event an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court fails.

The state, according to Texas Research League, has several options. One is full state financing, which by 1974 would require an expenditure of a billion dollars a year just to maintain the status quo.

Another alternative is state-local financing that would provide approximately equal resources for each child. The League suggested redrawing district boundaries to redistribute property values or superimposing multi-district taxing regions over present operating districts to provide equalization by regions.

A decision, the League noted, must be made as to whether the goal is educational expenditures at the present level in rich districts or at a lower "average level." The latter would mean reducing the number of teachers and lowering salary supplements in some districts to create more positions and higher salaries in the poor districts.

Republicans Eager

Texas Republicans in a recent meeting here boasted of wide-open opportunities in 1972 presidential and U. S. Senate races, for doubled state legislative strength and possible election of a governor.

Scandals in state government and prospects of single-member House (legislative) districts offer the GOP its biggest chance to elect candidates and achieve reform through two-party government, the Republican State Executive Committee was told repeatedly.

The GOP issued verbal invitations to unhappy Democrats and Independents, regardless of political philosophies, to enlist in Republican ranks.

Attorney General's Opinions

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin declared the controversial new code of ethics for state and local officials unconstitutional, and was commended by Governor Smith and Secretary of State Bob Bullock.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded:

—A school of veterinary and zoological medicine at Texas Tech University can be approved by simple majority vote of the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System. New and separate institutions require a two-thirds vote of the Board.

—A witness in a criminal case under subpoena is entitled to mileage and witness fees.

—Jim Wells County commissioners redistricting of commissioners precincts August 11 is void due to failure to publish notice of changes.

—Fees dedicated to the Real Estate Research Center at Texas A&M University are not in the state trea-surey and do not need to be appropriated by the legislature.

Insurance Cuts Ordered

The State Insurance Board has directed lower collision insurance premiums for motorists whose cars are equipped with new damage resistant bumpers. No domestic manufacturers have yet certified cars that meet the standards, however.

Twenty per cent discounts were ordered for 1972 cars with bumpers that can stand a five-miles-per-hour collision, front or rear, without damage. Fifteen per cent cuts will be in force for new cars with bumpers which can stand a five-mph front end crash and a 2½-mph rear end bump. Ten per cent reductions apply for 1972 autos sustaining a five-mph front and 2½-mph rear collision without damage to lights, fuel, exhaust, cooling or latching systems or to the bumpers themselves.

Uranium Mining Eyed

Street-by-street tests with some sensitive scanning equipment to record possible abnormal radioactivity from uranium mining operations will be made in the South Texas area.

Air and ground surveys by the State Health Department have disclosed no evidence of public health hazards, and none is anticipated by S.H.D. However, health problems have been reported in Colorado where a gas released by radium remained in tailings or wastes after usable uranium is extracted. The wastes there were used for construction fill.

Towns to be covered in the searches include Floresville, Kennedy, Karnes City, Three Rivers, George West, Tilden, Pleasanton, Leming, Poth, Hobson, Falls City, Helena, Panna Maria, Coy City, Lenz, Caesar, Pawnee, Mineral, Oakville, Simmons, Caliham, Whitsett, Peggy, Campbellton, Christine, McCoy and Caughran. Uranium mills operate in Falls City and near Three Rivers.

Party Reform Rules Eyed

New state Democratic reform rules met generally-favorable reaction in a four-hour public hearing before a 23-member subcommittee here.

A final draft is due to be reviewed by the State Democratic Executive Committee rules sub-panel January 29 before it is passed along to the full SDEC in mid-February. SDEC Chairman Roy Orr of DeSoto predicted approval of the required guidelines in essentially the same form they were offered at the hearing.

The rules are designed to insure "open" conventions and encourage participation by minorities, youth, women and backers of rival presidential candidates. Party activities will be open to 18-year-olds. Gov. Smith predicted the rules proposed would give Texas a "challenge-proof" delegation to the Miami Beach Democratic national convention.

Appointments . . .

Governor Smith appointed Henry H. Cannady of Port Arthur to the Veterans Land Board.

Smith also named Tate McCain of Palestine 87th district judge; Jerry A. Sandel of Huntsville 12th district attorney; E. T. Summers Jr. of Cuero to Guadalupe-Blanco River Authority board of directors; (reappointed) William A. Clifford of Lubbock as Canadian River Compact Commissioner; Harry O. Rearick of El Paso and Edwin J. Terry of Beaumont to the Real Estate Commission; Charles W. Duke of San Antonio, Beeman Fisher of Fort Worth to Texas Turnpike Authority.

The governor selected Charles D. (Chick) Morris, formerly of Lubbock, as his assistant press secretary.

Short Snorts . . .

Governor Smith is considering a recommendation for a statewide food stamp program which would call for about $17 million in state aid to counties and would produce $286 million in federal assistance for the needy.

Industrial development of Texas last year may rank second only to record 1969, according to Texas Industrial Commission.

The Texas Supreme Court set a Wednesday (Jan. 19) review of a case in which State Rep. Jack Blanton of Carrollton seeks to force Dallas County Democratic Chairman Earl Luna to accept his state senate filing fee. Luna claimed Blanton hadn't lived in the district long enough.

Rural development may be the answer to pollution, urban crowding and rural poverty, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White contends.

The governor asked President Nixon to declare Bowie, Delta, Fannin, a disaster area due to recent flooding.

An advisory council for technical-vocational education has slated 29 conferences over the state.

The 1972 Miss Texas Universe beauty pageant will be held in San Antonio April 10-15.

Wool Inventories Now At Low Level

Inventories of wool and mohair in Texas warehouses are at the lowest level in several years, reports Ryeburn (Bull) Crawford of Mertzon, president of the Texas Wool and Mohair Warehouse Assn.

"The inventory reported by warehousemen as of January 1 puts the wool and mohair industries in a good position for 1972," Crawford said. "This is the first time in several years that we have not had a large stockpile of wool and mohair on hand. With the demand for wool and mohair showing an increase in recent weeks, we should see some price improvements during the new year," he commented.

Total mohair on hand as reported in a recent warehouse survey by the association amounted to 3,427,837 pounds of grower owned mohair. Not included in the report is the mohair in speculator hands, estimated at several million pounds. Total wool on hand was 755,344 pounds, Crawford said.

The mohair inventory showed the following amounts in stock: 1,483,192 pounds of fall adult, 152,633 pounds of fall kid, 173,400 pounds of fall yearling hair, 1,407,201 pounds of spring adult and 211,411 pounds of spring kid.

The amount of wool on hand included 109,445 pounds of fall wool, 21,000 pounds of 8-months, 249,882 pounds of lamb wool and 375,017 pounds of 12-months wool.

The inventory figures were compiled by the warehouse association from reports submitted by 52 warehouses located throughout the state, Crawford said.

HEALTH & SAFETY

Mainly for Mothers by Carol Hart

Winning the Winter Health Battle

Will your precautions be sufficient to assure the family's health and safety this winter?

Winter can do more than put a chill in the air. The Council on Family Health, sponsored as a public service by the manufacturers of medicines, advises that the cold weather brings with it greater risk of colds and increased danger of home accidents since children are indoors for longer periods of time.

One way to protect the family's health is to take advantage of immunizations available from your doctor. The Council suggest keeping up-to-date records to determine which member of the family may need a vaccination or booster shots and when.

Proper hygiene can keep the spread of germs to a minimum. Teach the children to wash their hands before eating or handling food. And each family member should use their own towels, toilet articles and cosmetics.

To reduce the threat of accidents, maintain regular meal-times. Little children get into accidents when they are hungry or insufficiently supervised, according to the Council.

Children under age five require the most attention since they are most often involved in poisoning accidents. To guard against poisonings, the Council says always keep all possibly toxic substances well out of the reach of toddlers.

Medicines should be used and stored with special care. When treating a child for a cold, the Council recommends reading the labels on medications three times: when you remove the medicine from the cabinet, just before administering, and immediately after administering. Always read labels in proper lighting and always return containers, securely capped, to the medicine chest promptly after use.

AROUND THE HOUSE
 HOME MAINTENANCE IDEAS
 A Solution For Easier Household Cleaning

With Spring Cleaning behind us, women across the country are looking for new and better ways to help make their work lighter. Store shelves are loaded with household cleaners which make the choice of a cleaning product more difficult than ever. But there is one product, probably already in the home, that has been used as a standard cleaning aid for over 50 years: versatile, economical liquid chlorine bleach.

Millions of women use a liquid bleach such as Clorox, and more and more women today are discovering the value of this laundry standby to help disinfect, deodorize, and clean household surfaces. Bleach does more than just remove tough stains from ceramic tile, porcelain, enamel or plastic. It actually kills more germs, and kills them faster, than any other type of household disinfectant. Not only is it one of the best disinfectants known to man, but it's a biodegradable product that is non-polluting, as well. In fact, liquid bleach is widely used in water purification.

So, there is a solution to help make your household cleaning and disinfecting easy and economical. It's a 3/4 cup solution of liquid chlorine bleach in one gallon of warm water, and it works wonders all around the house.

- Sinks, basins, bathtubs, shower-stalls, drainboards, and porcelain, enamel, plastic or glass surfaces — areas where germs and stains are particularly difficult to remove.

- Vinyl or ceramic tile floors — just use it with your regular cleaning product (but don't use with ammonia), then mop or scrub.

- To deodorize and disinfect garbage cans, swish the solution over the inside of can and let stand 5 minutes before rinsing.

- Refrigerators need to be more than clean — they should be sanitized and deodorized as well. After using the bleach solution, be sure to rinse and let dry, then air for about 30 minutes.

- Mortar between tiles and around bathtubs, showers, and sinks often gets dingy and gray. A bleach treatment will remove mold and make the tile sparkling clean and sanitary.

There's another solution for sanitizing toilet bowls. Just pour 1/2 cup of liquid bleach in the bowl, swish solution over inside surfaces and let stand for 10 minutes (do not use with ammonia or toilet bowl cleaners).

There are many more disinfecting and cleaning problems that the bleach solution can help solve. It's a reliable aid in nursery, sickroom, and pet area maintenance — or wherever there are problems with germs, odors, and stains. Be sure to check the usage instructions, which can be found on the label of most liquid bleaches, before using. Free information on other household, farm and dairy uses is available on request from:

Turkey Harvest Down From Last Year's Kill

San Angelo, Tex.—The turkey harvest in West Texas may be as much as 40% lower than last year, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists.

Although no official figures are in, both landowners and hunters have been reporting a scarcity of birds. Biologists blame this on a dry spring and summer and a resulting low hatch of poults.

During the time when summer poults are usually seen, only adult birds were noted except in isolated areas.

Biologists say the picture isn't completely bleak. Because of the good number of winter forbs, winter survival of the turkeys should be good. And if the weather cooperates, there is no reason why there should not be a good hatch of young birds this spring.

Home Demonstration Agent's Column
 By DIANE DURRETT

Creating space can provide very real problems in today's living.

Living space has become one of our most expensive commodities. That's one reason why many young married couples decide on apartment living. And in an apartment, space becomes a major factor. To see how to make it work for you, take a look at these guidelines:

- Use low, contemporary furniture with legs.

- Divide your space with furnishings that don't take much room—for example, plants, mobiles, bookcases.

- Use some "fool-the-eye" techniques such as mirrors or painting one wall a different color. A black wall seems to disappear and thus opens up a room.

- Keep your color scheme simple. Too many colors can make a small room appear cluttered.

- Save your favorite art objects and books for shelves where they will look more attractive and help divert the eye from the size of the room.

- Let your furnishings serve more than one purpose.

One secret of making a small space work for you is to think through and decide exactly what you need. Maybe your husband is a student and needs a quiet place to study. If so, you can build a room by setting up a divider such as a bookcase that extends to the ceiling.

In a kitchen-dining and living room combination, area rugs and plants or furniture may be used as dividers to separate different activities. These create mental walls as well as help organize space.

Registering Consumer Complaints

A key to promoting consumer power is learning how to register an effective complaint about an unsatisfactory purchase or service.

Instigating a complaint against a company is often so frustrating that the consumer abandons her right of retaliation altogether. But retreating only helps to prolong the poor service.

Most businessmen and manufacturers want to learn shoppers' complaints so they can identify and correct their mistakes.

Organizing an effective complaint means gathering all the facts.

The first step is to make sure a complaint is justified. Read the label or instructions for the manufacturer's directions for care and use. Check the guarantee or warranty. Know what is covered and what is not.

If the complaint is justified, plan your attack carefully, listing all reasons for dissatisfaction with the product or service. The list should also report information of where and when the product was purchased, its model number, brand name, price and a brief description of its faults.

The consumer is now ready to fire her complaint. Begin with the business or service organization with whom the original deal was made. If the complaints cannot be settled on the spot, ask to see someone in higher authority.

If you write to the store, address the complaint to the person most likely capable of helping you. In the letter present all the facts as you would verbally, and keep a carbon copy.

Shoppers who telephone their complaints should record the name of the person they speak to in case the situation is not cleared up.

If these efforts fail to produce results, it's time to contact the Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce.

Homemakers who have not expressed their desire to receive a newsletter by mail from the Home Demonstration Agent office should contact that office within the next few days. An up to date mailing list must be compiled of all interested. The newsletter will contain recipes, sewing tips, decorating ideas, fashion news, news on family health and safety and a variety of other information that may interest homemakers in this area. If you wish to receive this service please call the Home Demonstration office 853-2894 and leave your name and address for the January issue.

"Complete brake job for $15."
 "Four rooms of furniture for $199.95."

Do the above "eye catchers" sound familiar? Most consumers at one time or another have responded to such advertisements, often hurrying to get there so they can take advantage of the tremendous offer before the merchant's supply of the product is exhausted.

Many times these consumers are met with a constant belittling of the advertised product and are purposely switched to another more costly product by a smooth talking salesman.

Other times they are told the item is sold out even though the ad says the sale is good for three days and the store has only been open for ten minutes on the first day. They just happen to have a similar item, however, at a higher price. What a disappointing experience for the consumers who alertly see through the sales gimmick, and how tragic for those consumers who do not!

"Bait and Switch" advertising is prohibited by both Federal and State law. "Bait and Switch" is a practice whereby an offer is made not in order to sell the advertised product at the advertised price, but rather to draw consumers to the store to sell them another similar product which is more profitable to the advertiser. The merchant is even unwilling at times to sell his "bait" item to the customer. It is not unusual for a merchant who engages in such tactics to actually fine his salesman if the advertised merchandise is sold.

Remember that merchants are operating their businesses to make a profit, and they cannot afford to give away their merchandise. Certainly not all merchants engage in the "Bait and Switch" form of advertising. There are numerous specials and other sales run each day that are bona fide, and they do not fall within the "Bait and Switch" practice. However, when an ad is just too eye catching to be true you should carefully analyze it and then scrutinize the salesman's presentation. Don't be victimized by the "Bait and Switch" salesman; be an Informed Consumer!

Whenever you discover a business which engages in "Bait and Switch" advertising, be sure to notify Attorney General Crawford C. Martin, Attorney General of Texas, P.O. Box 12548, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711. By doing so you will help protect others who are unaware of this advertising gimmick.

Cold Weather Fishing Not Without Problems

San Angelo, Texas.—Boating in wet, wintry weather presents problems, but most of them can be anticipated and solved, says the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Launching a boat in icy weather puts the sportsman in a frame of mind to step on the boat trailer and push, but boat trailers are often icy. Be sure you are wearing non-slip shoes, and be sure the line on your trailer winch is heavy nylon and not metal. If a metal cable breaks it can inflict a nasty wound. If you back into sand and the car sinks down, try pouring a bucket of water around each rear wheel. The sand will pack and the car may come right out.

If you need hot water quickly on a lake, use a shallow pan under the water discharge spout of your engine. It's quick and just as hot as you could heat over an open fire.

Matches will stay dry if you put them in a plastic shotgun shell then use another empty shell of a larger gauge for a lid. For starting fires nothing beats a short candle. Light it and you can build a fire with damp wood.

A tiny leak in a fishing boat is uncomfortable on the feet in winter. Use a piece of chewing gum, forcing the material into the leak or hole with the flat edge of a knife blade.

And always keep a change of dry clothes handy. Change into them when you get off the lake for a more comfortable ride home. And transport your fish in a sack between the grille and radiator of your car. The winter wind will prevent them spoiling until you reach home.

Proclamation
"3.76 In '76 Week"
WHEREAS, the Texas agricultural industry, in all of its phases, continues to be our most important industry, and
WHEREAS, agriculture continues to have great growth potential in our county with the rewards from such growth accruing to the benefit of all citizens, and WHEREAS, there is an urgent need for an active crusade to increase the public's knowledge, acceptance, and appreciation for the highly significant contribution that agriculture makes to the economy of our county and to the level of living enjoyed by its citizens, and WHEREAS, it is recognized that all citizens of this county have a vital stake and a legitimate self-interest in the general well-being of the farmers and ranchers who provide the great abundance and variety of food and fiber of highest quality which we all enjoy, and WHEREAS, "3.76 in '76" is a well-conceived program designed by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, with the endorsement and active support of agricultural agencies, organizations, and individual leaders, to help the agricultural industry achieve its full potential through an intensification of efforts by producers, agribusinesses, and professional agriculturists to bring about an increase in income to Texas farmers and ranchers of $1 billion by the end of crop year 1976, and WHEREAS, $610 million of the $1 billion goal has been achieved through the 1971 agricultural season, and
WHEREAS, the achievement of an increase of $5,286,900 in agricultural income by the end of crop year 1972 will improve the net profit and competitive position of Schleicher County farmers and ranchers and make highly significant contributions to the future
economy of the county,
NOW THEREFORE, I, Robert L.
McWhorter, County Judge of Schleicher County, Texas do proclaim the week of January 17-23, 1972 as
"3.76 in '76 Week" in Schleicher County and call upon all citizens to join in this observance and to dedicate their efforts to the achievement of its stated objectives.
Dated this 17 day of January A.
D. 1972.
Signed, Robert L. McWhorter
County Judge,
Schleicher County

3.76 In '76 Week
A statewide program to increase Texas agricultural income by more than a billion dollars by 1976 was announced by Dr. John E. Hutchison, director, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, in January 1970.
This goal calls for $3.76 billion in total cash receipts by the end of the 1976 crop year, not including government payments. It was determined from projections by Extension specialists and individuals in the agricultural industry. A committee of agricultural economists with the Extension Service studied past production records and made projections for 1976 based on current trends and expected improvements in technology and marketing.
Projections on an individual county basis were made by Program Building Committees, composed of businessmen and producers. The expectations were then organized along county, Extension district and economic area lines to give the state's producers specific projection goals. Annual goals also were determined for the various agricultural commodity groups to allow a yearly measure of the program's success.
Texas presently accounts for about 5% of the total national agricultural cash receipts. To achieve the goal of "3.76 in '76", the state must claim almost 10% of the projected national increase in the coming years. Extension specialists and county agricultural agents are conducting meetings with Texas producers to help them with new advancements in technology and marketing in their respective areas.
The current state-wide program to increase agricultural income in Texas to $3.76 billion in 1976 is geared to help the agriculture industry—but what does it mean to the consumer?
"Consumers are concerned with an assurance of adequate food supply, and 3.76 in '76 is a program of growth," says Dr. W. E. Black, Extension economist-management
at Texas A&M University. He adds that the program is important because the increasing population must be fed on a decreasing amount of land used for agricultural production.
"Guidelines in the program are meant to increase production and improve quality," Dr. Black says of the project which seeks to increase cash receipts to agriculture
by one billion dollars at the end of the 1976 crop year.
The increase in production and cash receipts will benefit the consumer as well as the producer.

BUILDING A BETTER WORLD
THE QUALITY OF LIFE

Until quite recently, the civil engineer's role was viewed as a purely scientific one. He furnished the know-how to construct buildings, water supply systems, airports, highway and rail systems, designed harbors and dams and all the other great facilities upon which the modern world depends — and that was that. Somebody else decided what was needed in the first place.
During the past decade or so, this simple and traditional view of the civil engineer's job has broadened enormously. Today's civil engineer is likely to find himself involved in regional "ground floor" planning and in formulating new environmental legislation. He has come to realize that his expert point of view must be brought into the solution of environmental problems as early as possible to avoid ecologically costly errors.
This new point of view has just been recognized formally by the American Society of Civil Engineers. The fourth article of a new policy statement reads:
"In his role as citizen, the civil engineer must recognize the urgent need for adequate legislation and enforcement to protect the environment. He must, therefore, take the lead in modifying or supporting governmental programs to insure adequate environmental protection."
About ecology in general,
the policy statement has this to say: "The civil engineer must recognize the effect his efforts will have on environment. He is, therefore, obligated to increase his knowledge and competence in incorporating ecological considerations into the design."
About his dealings with clients, the statement spells out an even greater loyalty than the traditional engineer/client relationship — a duty to protect the land:
"The civil engineer must inform the client of the environmental consequences of the services requested and the design selected, recommending only responsible courses of action. He must be prepared to relinquish his services in the event the client insists on a course of action which can be demonstrated to have undesirable consequences to the environment outweighing the benefits. The civil engineer must also seriously weigh the consequences of social and national considerations and alternatives when appropriate,
in addition to the apparent lowest-cost and technical aspects of the project."
Through this official statement, ASCE recognizes civil engineering's new direction, and its own determination to lead the march.

Back From South Texas

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wimer returned home Sunday from Harlingen where they attended a Retirees Rally. Others from Eldorado and staying on for a longer period of time were Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Dudley and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Watson. A total of 559 recreational vehicles were parked near the Harlingen city auditorium, comprising the largest recreational vehicle rally ever held in Texas. All are members of the retiree chapters of the National Campers and Hikers Association, the largest family camping organization in the United States with more than 66,500 families.

During their stay in Harlingen, NCHA members took bus tours to Padre Island and Matamoros, enjoyed an old fashioned ice cream social, ate catfish and hushpuppies, attended a South Texas barbecue, danced to a Dixie Land Band, ate a boiled shrimp dinner while listening to Marichi music, and participated in other events.

Mr. and Mrs. Wimer returned from Harlingen on Sunday.

In The Market For A Used Car!

College Station, Tex.—Better keep your wits about you, said Bonnie Fowler, Extension specialist in home management at Texas A&M University.

"Use these guidelines when choosing a used car," she said. "Begin by carefully inspecting both the inside and outside of the car. Look for signs of wear and age in repainted areas along body sides, rust spots around body edges and inside the trunk and torn or worn seats, upholstery and floor mats. Dampness or rust under floor mats and broken windows or ill-fitting doors may also be signs of wear."

"Next, operate all switches and controls," the specialist advised. "Try door handles, window cranks, vents and seat adjustments. Start the engine with the hood up; listen for unusual grinding, hissing or grating noises."

Mrs. Fowler also suggested checking the car's mileage. "Low mileage on an older car should be questioned," she said. "A good mechanic can tell if the mileage reading has been changed."

"Take the car for a road test and listen for squeaks, rattles, knocks and other unusual noises. Look for such things as a smooth start, tight and even steering, quick engine pick-up, and a radiator that doesn't overheat."

Ask about a guarantee of the car. A common type of used car guarantee is one that lasts 30 days, with cost of repairs split 50-50 between the buyer and the seller. "Verbal promises should be put in writing," she pointed out.

"Take the car to a competent, reputable mechanic for a thorough check-up. Ask the mechanic to test drive the car. Money spent for a check-up before buying may save many dollars later on. Question the dealer who refuses to let you get a car check-up from an impartial source."

The specialist suggested visiting more than one used car dealer. "Be suspicious of the dealer who has a car lot that's surrounded by signs like 'fantastic discounts!' and 'we undersell everybody.' Also be wary of the salesman who tries to pressure you into a quick sale."

"Keep in mind that the dealer who has shop facilities and mechanics has the resources at hand to put a used car in shape and to stand behind his warranty. Before buying a particular model of used car, you may want to look up old issues of impartial consumer buying guides to see what was reported about the car when it first hit the market."

Mrs. Fowler said that used cars don't go just to people who can't afford the price of a new car. "Some money managers decide to avoid the cost of depreciation on the first year or two of a car's life. Other families look to the used car market for a second or third family car."

"Whatever your reasons for buying a used car, be sure to take your time in making a decision on a car. And happy driving!"

Spice Cake With Homemade Applesauce

A Foley food mill is indispensable for making the homemade applesauce used in this Spice Cake.

Take advantage of the bountiful apple crop by making your own homemade applesauce. Serve it as is but don't overlook the good things you can cook with applesauce. This Applesauce Spice Cake is just one example.

HOMEMADE APPLESAUCE

4 pounds apples 1 cup sugar 1/2 cup water
Wash apples. Without peeling or coring, cut them into quarters. Place them in a large saucepan. Add water, cover and cook over medium low heat 20 minutes or until apples are soft, stirring occasionally. Strain apples through Foley food mill. Add sugar; stir to dissolve. If applesauce is extra juicy, return it to the food mill to let excess juice drain off. Makes about 6 cups.

APPLESAUCE SPICE CAKE

4 1/2 cups sifted flour 1/4 teaspoon cloves
2 cups sugar 1 ounce unsweetened chocolate, grated
2 teaspoons baking soda 3 cups homemade applesauce
1/2 teaspoon salt 1 cup corn oil
1 teaspoon cinnamon 2 cups chopped pecans
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg 2 cups raisins
1/2 teaspoon allspice

Sift together flour, sugar, soda, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg, allspice, and cloves. Stir in chocolate. Mix in applesauce and corn oil. Stir in nuts and raisins. Pour into greased and floured 13 X 9 X 3 1/4 inch pan (or 13 X 9 X 2 inch pan). Bake in 350 degree (moderate) oven 1 hour and 10 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan on rack.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By The Ministerial Alliance of Eldorado

A Prophetic Name

When Jesus met Simon along the banks of the Jordan river, he gave to him a new name. He gave to him a name prophetic of the changes that would take place in his Simon's life and character. "So you are Simon the son of John? You shall be called Cephas" (which means Peter). The new name was emblematic of the change that would follow. "Cephas" and "Peter" are from the Aramaic and Greek words for "rock". Jesus was saying that Simon was to be turned from clay to rock. He bound Simon to himself and promised that the irresolute, impulsive man was to become the firm steadfast leader of the company of the apostles.

The names of other men and women in the Bible were changed. Abram became Abraham (father of a multitude). Sarai became Sarah. Jacob at Peniel had his name changed to Israel (He who strives with God). In the New Testament Joseph was surnamed by the apostles Barnabas (Son of encouragement). Saul the persecutor of the Church became Paul the great missionary apostle who did so much to establish the Church in the world of his day.

The fact is that names meant more to the people of the Bible than to us. Names were not merely to identify people but they were to be descriptive of the person and his work. This is true of God also. God's name is His revelation of Himself to men. "As thy name, O God, so thy praise reaches to the ends of the earth." Ps. 48:10.

God said to Moses, "I know you by name." He had known Moses and had called him and prepared him to be the redeemer of His people from the bondage of Egypt. God said to Cyrus, "I call you by your name." Isa. 45:4. God called and prepared Cyrus to be His instrument for the deliverance of the Hebrews in Babylonia and for their return to Palestine.

We must believe that God knows us by our name and that he calls us by name. We are of significance to Him. He has a purpose for us. He knows who we are and what we are and what we can become. Jesus Christ calls individuals to a deeper relationship with Him, to a stronger character, and to a more meaningful life and service. May you respond to His call today.

"Eleven, twelve and one more for a baker's dozen," said my grandma, counting out eggs for a customer. "It'll be 'found gold' for her!" And she smiled as she bustled about the shop.

Even then, as a child, I knew that Grandma was the "found gold" for all who knew her — always giving more than was expected, cheerfully looking for ways to gladden those whose lives touched hers.

Today I know that Grandma's strength was of the spirit. The teachings of her church gave purpose to her life. She lived her creed joyously, demonstrating vividly for all around her the vitality and richness of the Christian life.

Today, in a world that sometimes seems dark with selfishness and greed, each of us needs to realize and utilize the spiritual resources of his church as a necessity of life.

Healthier Texas Goal

A healthier Texas is the aim of the Texas Department of Health, and to carry out that goal Texas health authorities have moved to carry site health programs closer to Texas residents by instituting a regional concept of public health. The first of the proposed 10 public health regions opened in 1970 in Tyler in East Texas. Two more State Health Department regions became operational on January 1, 1972. Region 3 has headquarters in El Paso and covers six counties in Far West Texas. Region 10 covers 20 counties in South Texas from headquarters in Harlingen. "The Texas State Department of Health has made available better health services to over 2 1/4 million Texas residents with creation of the two new regions," said Dr. James E. Peavy, Texas Commissioner of Health. "And the goal is to eventually provide these services to all Texans, particularly those not now reached by state health services."

Eventually, the State will have 10 public health regions providing services to the State's entire population. All regional offices will have staff representing the major public health disciplines.

"The regional health system will allow state health programs to be brought closer to the people who need them, and will provide better administration of health services," said Dr. Peavy. "It will also provide more efficient use of the limited public health resources, and at the same time provide public health services to all residents throughout the region."

The huge West Texas region covers 21,778 square miles, with a population in excess of 379,000. Dr. John Bradley, former regional director of the State Health Department's TB control program, is now Regional Director of Public Health Region 3.

Region 10 covers a wide area of South Texas in which more than 870,000 persons reside. Regional director of Public Health Region 10 is Dr. Victor Zalma, a former Epidemic Intelligence Officer who served the TSDH Communicable Disease Services Section on assignment from the National Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta.

Officials said the West Texas and South Texas regions were selected for activation at this time because of their needs for public health services.

Litter In Woods Is Both Unsightly, Dangerous

Austin, Tex.—Litter is not only unsightly, but some of it is also a threat to wildlife, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials.

For example, fishermen with backlashes in their monofilament may think that because the line is practically invisible, it is all right to discard it along the shore.

But to ducks, monofilament looks tasty, and when they eat it, the line gets stuck in their throat. This leads to starvation for he unfortunate duck.

Equally bad is the surplus paper from the quick-developing cameras. The chemical on the paper is toxic and has been fatal to many species of wildlife.

Cans and food containers are dangerous to wildlife. Small animals after left-over bits of food sometimes get their heads stuck and then starve to death. Broken glass is a hazard to both humans and animals.

Dr. Claude M. Eberhart On Blood Donation

Associate Medical Director,
Metropolitan Life

Q. How much blood is required to treat the sick and injured in this country?

A. It is estimated that the potential requirement for blood is over 6 million units a year—over 10 units a minute. Hundreds of thousands of patients each year need blood or one of its components to replace that lost in surgery or childbirth or to treat illnesses caused by the lack of some elements found only in human blood. Since blood is perishable, this means a continuing supply of donors are required to keep the nation's blood banks fully stocked to meet all needs at all times.

Q. How is blood used to aid accident or injury victims?

A. The blood is used to replace that lost by hemorrhage. In those cases that have traumatic shock without hemorrhage, salt solutions, albumin, and plasma expanders add the necessary fluid to the circulatory volume and thus raise blood pressure. The usefulness of blood in accident or injury is greatly enhanced by having it immediately available. Thus, in communities that have a blood program, blood is on hand in the hospital refrigerator, and much time and many lives can be saved by providing transfusions immediately.

Q. How does one become a blood donor?

A. A person in good health between the ages of 18 and 66 should contact his Red Cross chapter or local hospital. There, the prospective donor will be advised where and when the next blood drawing will be in his community.
