Public Schools Week Set

There have been many developments in education since the Public Schools were established in Texas 118 years ago. The celebration of Texas Public Schools Week points this out. During this special week from March 6 through 10, the Public Schools of Texas hold open house for everyone. It gives those who are interested the opportunity of seeing how our schools are equipped, how they are staffed, and how the children are taught.

There will be many surprises for those who have not visited a public school in recent years. The Texas public schools have kept pace with the space age and are providing the type of instruction which you have a right to expect. The new scientific methods are combined with the three R's to give the children of today unparalleled opportunities to learn. The school administrators and teachers are eager to reveal new teaching techniques and to answer any questions about our public schools which you may have.

Next week's issue of The Success will be our annual booster edition for Girl Scout Week. We have taken photos of all local Girl Scout troops and for the first time in several years we will run them in this special issue.

Tuesday, February 29th, was Leap Year Day, which occurs only once each four years.

We asked the Medical Center about 5:00 p.m. if any babies had been born that day, and none had. So apparently, Mrs. Bassinger is still the only county resident who has a February 29th birthday.

I had the good fortune to be included in a group that attended the catfish buffet at El Dorado Restaurant Monday night. It is a regular weekly event and draws patrons from all around—and developed into a happy gathering, with people going from table to table to greet old-time friends they hadn't seen in some time.

The only trouble this time was that they ran out of catfish in the first hour. It seems that the "fish man" failed to make his regular delivery this week and the party lasted only from 6:00 to 7:00 p.m. It is usually advertised from 6:00 to 9:00 o'clock.

Restaurant Owner Jerroll Sanders is to be complimented on his enterprise for introducing this popular weekly event.

Easter Seal Appeal Letters Sent Out

Easter Seal Appeal letters were delivered last week in Schleicher County, according to Mr. Raymond Hall, the Easter Seal Representative of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas. As Representative, he serves as contact representative for disabled persons needing Easter Seal rehabilitation services and also serves as Treasurer of the Easter Seal Appeal in Schleicher county.

The Easter Seal Society offers physical and occupational therapy, speech and hearing programs, and special equipment loans to enable disabled persons to make the best use of their abilities to overcome handicaps. These services are financed by the annual Easter Seal Appeal.

The Society also provides for research into the causes and cures of crippling conditions, finances public education programs, and provides scholarships for training of professional personnel to staff rehabilitation centers.

Mr. Hall pointed out that all these programs are important if Texas is going to continue to provide the best in rehabilitation services for its own disabled citizens.

During 1971, the Texas Easter Seal Society provided treatment and services for over 22,000 children and adults who were in need of rehabilitation. These services are available to any disabled person who can benefit from help provided by the Easter Seal Society, he added.

The Easter Seal Campaign will run through Easter Sunday, Apr. 2.

Cotton Boll Weevil Control Meeting Set

Damages and loss due to the Cotton Boll Weevil in Schleicher County was extremely high. Producers had the moisture to harvest one of the highest yielding cotton crops in the county's history, but due to the cotton boll weevil the yield was very short.

The diapause boll weevil control program that has been successful in other areas of Texas may be considered a method of pest management.

Emory Boring, Area Entomologist, Extension Service, will be here to explain the diapause program for the producers of Schleicher county. For this program to be successful 100% participation is needed.

Everyone plan to attend this meeting in the Lions Club room of the Memorial Building Friday, March 3, at 7:30 p.m.

Prospector Flows Gas, Recovers Oil

Hanson Exploration, Inc., Midland, No. 1 Glass, in 59-M-GH&SA, 3/8 mile south of the depleted Strawn opener and 5/8 mile west and slightly north of the lone Harkney gas producer in the R. E. G. field of Schleicher county, 20 miles northeast of Eldorado, and 4 1/2 miles north of the one-well R. E. G., South (6,000 Strawn oil) field, has indicated production in the Strawn with the flowing of gas and recovery of oil on a drillstem test. Gas surfaced in three minutes, flowing at the rate of 1.2 million cubic feet daily, and oil in 18 minutes, making a heavy spray throughout, on a 3/4-inch choke on the one-hour test taken at 5,971-994 feet. Recovery was 750 feet of 43 gravity oil, no water. Flowing pressure was 891-997 pounds; 45-minute initial shut-in pressure was 2,246 pounds; and one-hour final shut-in pressure, 2,232 pounds. Recovery was 95 feet of mud, 115 feet of salt water and 540 feet of salt water with a slight trace of gas on a subsequent drillstem test at 5,997-6,014 feet.

Lawrence Cliton "Buzz" Cunningham, 49, of 3517 Judith Lane, San Angelo, was killed about 4:00 p.m. Sunday on the Henry Curtis ranch about 2 1/2 miles southeast of Water Valley, near Carlsbad, when he was apparently thrown from a horse.

The final season total, according to Mrs. Kenneth Homer, was 560 bales, which is about one-sixth of what a good normal year would yield.

The office crew still has a lot of bookkeeping to do to wind up the year's business and a skeleton crew will start cleaning up the mill and making necessary repairs in preparation for the next season.

Control Soil Insects In Home Gardens

With spring drawing near, many homeowners will be testing their "green thumbs" and putting in gardens. However, before taking that initial step, consider a control program for soil pests that may attack plants.

Soil insects can give home gardeners a lot of trouble, points out the agent. Most common are wireworms, white grubs, rootworms, cutworms, mole crickets and stalk borers.

Applying an insecticide two or three weeks before planting your garden will eliminate most soil insect problems. Recommended insecticides include chlordane and diazinon. Chlordane should be applied at three to six pounds of actual material per acre while diazinon should be applied at 2½ pounds of actual material per acre (broadcast). Diazinon may also be banded at one pound per acre.

Both insecticides are available in either the spray or granular form and should be incorporated into the top three to five inches of soil.

Additional information on controlling insect pests in the home garden is available at the county Extension office.

Plan Landscaping With Trees

Nothing adds more to the landscape than well placed and well selected trees. Whether a tree will be an asset or a detriment to your landscape depends largely upon two things: proper placement and proper selection of suitable species.

Basic points of landscape design to keep in mind when planting trees are:

1. First of all, be aware of the scale and proportion of the tree species at maturity. Too often large growing trees are placed in areas where they must be removed later because they are too close to a house or other structure. Trees may become so massive as to visually overcome a small structure.

2. Limit the number of different tree species used in a landscape. Too much variety results in confusion and lack of unity.

3. In selecting and planting trees, consider your year-around interest in foliage, flowers, fruit and bark as well as proper shade and sun needs and a balance between evergreen and deciduous trees. Trees should be a part of an overall landscape plan. Regardless of who places the trees, plan the overall development first so as to avoid costly moving and other mistakes.

The agent reminds home owners that a tree is a living investment that increases in value continually if properly selected, placed and care for.

Spray Program for Peach Trees:
The simplified spray schedule below is for a homeowner with only a few peach trees. Apply Malathion and Wettable Sulfur.

1. Petal fall spray (when 75% of blossom petals have fallen).
 2. Shuck split (10 days after petal fall).
 3. First cover spray (10 to 14 day after shuck split).
 4. Second cover spray (14 to 21 days after first cover)
- Malathion, 3 tablespoons; sulfur, 9 tablespoons, to 3 gallons water.
Time of application is the key to a good spray program.

Garden Check List for March:

1. It is time to dig and divide those summer and fall flowering perennials. Unless they are frequently divided, chrysanthemum, gaillardia, shasta daisy and similar perennials become crowded and fail to perform satisfactorily.
2. This is the ideal time to purchase and plant new perennials. Selections that are now available at garden centers and nurseries include phlox, thrift, shasta daisy, hollyhock, platycodon, iris, and daylilies.
3. Fertilize azaleas and camelias as soon as blossoms begin to fade. Several light applications of an acid type fertilizer at 2 to 3 week intervals is better than one heavy application. Apply only on moist soil.
4. A general application of lawn fertilizer with an 8-8-8 or similar formulation should be applied to all areas where established plants and lawns are growing. Use 3 to 4 pounds per 100 square feet of area beneath the branch spread of trees and shrubs. Fertilize lawn areas at the rate of 15 to 20 pounds per 1000 square feet.
5. Insects and diseases to watch for include aphids, white fly, pillbugs, caterpillars, blackspot on roses, azalea petal blight, and scale insects.
6. Complete all pruning of summer flowering shrubs. Delay pruning spring flowering shrubs until after they flower.
7. Finish planting annual beds. Pinch back new shoots to encourage branching.
8. Gladiolus plantings should be completed this month.
9. Make sure any bare-root nursery stock purchased now is in good condition. Avoid plants with shriveled canes or excessive new growth. Buds should be soft and plump and roots moist and pliable.
10. Cut all established lawns as low as possible to remove dead material and to tear up any thatch that may have accumulated.
11. Before cutting any lawn, check the area for potentially dangerous objects hidden in the turf. Lost tools, toys and stray objects can become lethal weapons when hit by a rotary mower.
12. Renew mulches on existing shrubs and mulch new plantings. Pine bark, cotton burs, pine straw and similar materials make good mulches.
13. Are your ground cover beds overgrown? Pruning these back severely at this time will induce new, compact growth and keep them looking attractive throughout the summer.

Needed Conservation Practice
Reduced air pollution, better wildlife habitat are two environmental benefits of a new practice being used by Texas Conservation farmers.

The practice, called minimum tillage, also cuts farming costs by reducing tractor trips required to produce crops. With minimum tillage, farmers plant crops without prior land preparation.

Bill Rountree, district conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service at Eldorado, said, "Using a coultter and other special equipment, they plant directly into a mulch of residues left undisturbed from the previous crop. Herbicides are used to control weeds, so costly and time consuming cultural operations are reduced or eliminated."

Stalks, leaves and stems from the previous crop are left on the surface yearlong with minimum tillage. The protective cover is highly effective in preventing wind erosion and air pollution from blowing dust. The residues also keep the soil cooler in the summer and warmer in the winter. They reduce evaporation, saving valuable soil moisture. The residues protect young seedlings. The cover also produces better soil tilth and it increases insoak.

Bill said the cover is equally effective in preventing water erosion. "Scattered seed and cover left on the soil surface by minimum tillage is also extremely valuable to wildlife," he said. "Some wildlife in our area are almost entirely dependent on crop residues for survival during the winter months. Dove, quail, turkey, song-birds, deer, rabbits, and other wildlife also benefit from the food and cover."

Yes, conservation farmers in this area can be plowing less and enjoying it more, thanks to the minimum tillage practice. It has been called one of our state's most critically needed conservation measures.

Bill said the Soil Conservation Service has published a new booklet, "Minimum Tillage in Texas" which describes the new farming system in detail. To get a free copy, contact the SCS office at the court house, telephone no. 853-2720.

Enjoy Sweet Spanish Onions

Meaty pork chops are special indeed when they're simmered slowly with Sweet Spanish onions in herb-flavored consommé.

If you've never tried Sweet Spanish onions, you have a treat in store. These giant-sized onions have an exceptionally delicate flavor which sets them apart from the other members of the onion family. Grown in eastern Oregon and southwestern Idaho, you'll recognize Sweet Spanish onions by their round shape and crisp golden-bronzed skin which crackles to the touch.

Enjoy Sweet Spanish onions in numerous ways until their season ends in March. You'll especially delight in their mildness when used raw, as in salads, sandwiches and relishes.

Pork Chops With Onions

- 1 Idaho-Oregon Sweet Spanish onion ¼ teaspoon thyme
- 6 pork chops ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 1 (10½ oz.) can consommé 1 tablespoon flour
- 2 tablespoons water

Peel and slice onion. Trim fat from chops. Heat fat in skillet to measure about 1½ tablespoons. Add pork chops and slowly brown on both sides. Push chops to one side and saute onion. Arrange onion over pork chops. Add consommé, thyme and pepper. Cover and simmer slowly 1 hour. Remove chops and onions to warm platter. Combine flour and water and thicken pan juices. Serve over chops. Makes 6 servings.

MERRY MAKERS 42 PARTY

Mrs. Mildred Stanford was hostess last Thursday when she entertained the 42 club in her home. There were three tables of players.

Mable Griffin, Rose Brannan, Mary Joiner, Natalea Stockton; Opal Parks, Zelma Henderson, Viola Finnigan and the hostess.

1872-A VERY GOOD YEAR

The United States had 37 states in the union, with a population of 43,000,000. It was still a rural society—only one-fifth of all the people lived in places of 8,000 or more population.

The United States was deeply involved in Reconstruction, which began in 1865 and carried through to 1877. The Amnesty Act passed this year pardoned all but the most prominent of ex-Confederates. Federal troops were directed to stay out of Southern politics. Horace Greeley was the Democratic presidential nominee that autumn, and U.S. Grant was the GOP choice. Grant won by a 763,000-vote margin.

Flagrant discrimination by railroads on pricing led to the growth of the Granger movement in the 1870's. Out of the ashes of the Chicago fire in 1871, which burned him out, Aaron Montgomery Ward founded the world's first mail order business and became the official agent of the Grange in supplying merchandise to rural America.

A conspicuous feature of urban social life was the extravagance of the very rich. The wealthy took up fox hunting and polo, and ownership of a stable of thoroughbred horses was an effective way of publicizing one's place in society.

Poor immigrants poured in, chiefly from Germany and Scandinavia, to settle the Midwest. Steamships and railroads combined to encourage it, sometimes offering Atlantic passage for as low as $25 per person.

Guidelines To Being A Wise Sales Shopper

The three keys for making the most of sales and bargains are planning, comparing and judging. Authorities report that families can save between 15-25% on purchases during the year by taking wise advantage of sales prices.

Effective sales shopping begins with a purpose and plan in mind. Recognize the difference between the things you really need and those which simply attract your attention. Nothing is a bargain unless you need it.

Consider shopping at both the start and close of a big sale. The best selection is most likely available the first day, but you may find further price reductions the last day.

When shopping at sales, keep in mind costs other than the price of the sales item alone. Time, effort and money spent in getting to the store may offset some of the price reduction. Knowing the original prices of items helps in recognizing a reduced price. Be sure the sales price is an actual reduction. Watch for imperfect or damaged articles. Know store policies on sales—is sales merchandise returnable?

Certain standards have also been developed for businessmen in preparing their sales advertisements. Many reputable stores are using standardized terms in their ads to help customers know what sales prices mean. The consumer who understands these terms is better able to judge the value of a sale.

Words and phrases like "formerly," "usually," "reduced from," "marked down from" and "originally" mean that the same merchandise was recently priced higher in the store as a regular course of business.

Words and phrases like "value," "manufacturers suggested retail price," "nationally advertised at" and "list" signify a comparison with the price of the identical item being sold and the principal retail outlets in the town or area. These terms are not always a comparison with the store's own regular prices.

The phrases "comparable value," "compare at" and "similar to" refer to a comparison with a similar but not identical item of like quality and grade, which is being sold by principal retail outlets in the town or area.

Be careful of merchandise marked "as is" or "slightly damaged." Inspect the item carefully. These labels put full responsibility on consumers for determining the condition of an article.

Terms such as "imperfect," "irregular," and "manufacturer's seconds" means that the merchandise arrived from the factory faulty in some way. The terms include crooked seams and irregularities in color, weave, knit or size. The faults may or may not affect service, use or appearance of the item. Often defects aren't noticeable and don't alter a good buy. But inspect faulty items very carefully before buying.

Knowing one's rights under the law can also help the consumer be a more effective sales shopper. In Texas it is illegal for businesses to engage in any act or practice deceptive to the consumer, such as advertising goods and services without the intention of supplying a "reasonable expectable public demand." This type of advertisement is legal, however, if it specifies a limited quantity.

It is also against the law for a store to make false or misleading statements of fact concerning price reductions. Nor can a store legally advertise goods or services with the intention of not selling them as advertised. Falsely advertising a liquidation sale or a going-out-of-business sale is against the law, too.

Tree-Ripened Grapefruit

Try a vitamin C special. Eat a fresh Texas grapefruit. Large shipments of fresh grapefruit continue to roll out of the Rio Grande Valley of South Texas. As a result, you'll find grapefruit plentiful at most supermarkets in this region.

The fruit you select will be truly "tree-ripened," because the grapefruit won't ripen after harvest like pears or bananas. Therefore, growers leave the fruit on the tree until it reaches full maturity. By this season, the juice from Texas grapefruit is usually low enough in acid and high enough in sugars to have an eight to one ratio between fruit sugars and citric acid. Such fruit has reached the peak of tastiness.

When shopping select grapefruit which feels firm yet springy to your touch. If the fruit is heavy for its size, it will usually be thin-skinned and juicier than - coarse skinned fruit that is puffy and spongy.

Don't worry about skin blemishes, scars, scratches and minor discolorations. They affect only the fruit's appearance—not its eating quality. A half of a fresh grapefruit is a boon to the dieter, since it can be served as an appetizer, salad or dessert and contains only about 75 calories. Remember too, that grapefruit offers the most vitamin C when the pulp is eaten along with the juice.

If you must sweeten your grapefruit, try honey. Remove the center core of the fruit, fill with honey and let stand for several hours so the flavor will spread throughout the fruit. What a treat for mealtime or snacktime.

Remove Thatch For A Healthier Lawn

College Station, Tex.—Have you ever wondered why your lawn grass appears unhealthy even though it is deep and spongy? The spongy feel of your lawn may not be evidence of a strong, vigorous grass, says Al Novosad, Extension agronomist at Texas A&M University. This "luxurious" feel may be due to a buildup of mat and thatch.

Thatch and mat are a tightly intermingled layer of living and dead stems, leaves and roots of grasses which develops between the layer of green vegetation and the soil surface, Novosad explains. Too much thatch keeps water and fertilizer from properly penetrating the soil, makes some diseases worse, and apparently prevents grass from putting down a deep root system.

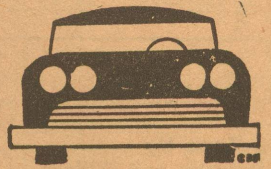

"The best time to remove thatch is in later winter or early spring after danger of a freeze is past," advises Novosad.

The proper use of a powered machine (rake, vertical mower) designed to remove thatch is probably the best way to alleviate this problem, says the agronomist. Scalping the lawn with a rotary mower set to mow as low as possible is also helpful. However, when scalping or dethatching St. Augustine grass, do not allow the machine to go lower than the lowest stolons (runners).

"Use a power rake or mower annually to prevent thatch buildup, suggests Novosad. But be sure the soil is moist when removing thatch so as to prevent mechanical injury to grass."

According to the agronomist, thatch buildup can be due to several things, including mowing too high (frequent shorter mowing is helpful) and returning clippings. Also, some lawn grasses naturally accumulate more thatch than others.

Landscaping Is A Major Investment

College Station, Tex.—Trees and shrubs adapted to an area and placed properly in the landscape can increase in value as much as five to six times in the first 10 years and will continue to increase in following years.
"To insure proper placing, develop a landscape plan before planting," advises Everett Janne, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "When building new homes, design the landscape before the home is constructed. Allocate a minimum of 10% of the cost of the house for a landscape budget.
After the house is several years old, the existing plan can still be renovated if the need arises. Consider the various use areas of the yard. Are these areas being used to their fullest potential?
"The approach or public area is usually considered first," points out Janne. "Don't hide a house by planting a forest in the front yard. Trees and shrubs must have room to develop to their fullest potential. Simplicity should keynote the design."
Emphasize the development of the outdoor living area, suggests the horticulturist. The homeowner should have time for relaxation and enjoyment with a minimum amount of time for upkeep. The living area in the back yard is usually screened with a fence, wall or shrub to provide privacy. For convenience and a feeling of unity, the outdoor living area should be readily accessible to the living room or family room.

Let's Fix Up the House

Let's assume that you have decided to fix up your home, and that you are planning on having repairs made or new additions. You should be particularly cautious about selecting the man for the job. Take some time in determining just who you want to do the work to avoid disappointment, and in some cases, actual deceptive practices which can be costly.
It would be well to contact reputable contractors in your area, getting estimates for the work you want done. Compare the prices. To help you arrive at your decision, ask the contractors or workmen to give you the names of homeowners for whom they have worked previously and call them to inquire about the quality of the work.
When pricing home improvements, do not be carried away by advertising which states a specific price for a specific job on your home, sight unseen, with a free television set thrown in as a bonus. It is always best to have someone actually come to your home to examine it in order to determine what the cost will be.
Once you have chosen the man for the job, he and you should have a written contract setting forth in detail the cost of the work to be performed and the work to be done. The total cost should include the price of materials and labor.
Unfortunately, the home improvement area is a fertile field for the unscrupulous fly-by-nighters. For that reason it is usually best to have established reputable local contractors, tree surgeons, exterminators, roof repairmen, etc., to do the work for you.
One of the most insidious and reprehensible deceptive practices in this area is the "free termite examination" which is used merely as a "toe-in-the-door" to get additional work.
This ploy has financially harmed many of our elderly citizens who live alone. Usually someone for the "X" company telephones the unsuspecting senior citizen telling him that the company's workmen and trucks are working in the neighborhood and offering a free termite inspection. Then a workman arrives on the scene, makes an "inspection" under the house, in some instances finding termites, in others, not; but ALWAYS finding the need or repairs to be done. The consumers are warned that the house is about to fall in, that the floors need leveling, that sills and blocks are needed, that the wiring is dangerous, and that additional repairs are essential. Of course, the workmen are available to do the job. Some of the individuals are frightened about the condition of their homes and accept the company's low estimate, allowing the workmen to proceed.

Very little work, if any, is actually performed around and under the house, but the homeowner gets a bill or the authorized work plus the unauthorized work. It is not unusual for the bill to be three times more than the estimate. It amounts to an exorbitant price for shoddy work. The presentation of the bill is in person, and the workmen prefer being paid on the spot by check. In some instances where the workmen allegedly find termites, the consumer is charged for a spraying job with a solution that is ineffective to rid the house of the pests.
Don't pay for work in advance. Often the homeowner is requested to pay one-half of the agreed price so the contractor can "purchase the necessary materials." After the money is paid, the repairman never shows up. Never pay in advance for home repairs unless you know the person with whom you are dealing.
When you decide to improve your home, make sure you know something about the background of the company. Do not allow yourself to be pressured or frightened into having work done by an outfit that contacts you. If you are told your house is hazardous to live in, have another repairman look at it before authorizing work to be done. Be sure that the repairs are needed.
If you have been a victim of a scheme such as described above, notify Attorney General Crawford C. Martin, P. O. Box 12548, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711.

Sealed Bids will be received in the office of C. T. Humphries, Superintendent of Schleicher County Independent School District until 4:00 p.m. on March 14, 1972, for one three bedroom house located at 206 North Divide Street, across the street from the elementary school. This house is no longer essential in obtaining the services of qualified personnel for Schleicher County Independent School.
The School Board reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids. (Feb 24—Mar 2-9)

Austin, Tex.—State operation and funding of a food stamp program in all 254 Texas counties was proposed this week by Gov. Preston Smith.

Cost to the state is estimated at $17 million to $20 million, but Smith says the expenditure would generate over $285 million of economic activity in Texas cities and counties and offer low income citizens opportunity for better nourishment than is provided by commodity programs in some counties.

Among problems with the proposal is lack of money available at the moment to the U. S. Department of Agriculture which funds a large portion of the food stamp program. USDA says it would have to ask for additional congressional appropriations to fund the governor's proposed state-wide program.

Smith says he believes the state's share of the cost would be money well spent and it would relieve counties of the financial burden of administering the program and issuing stamps—requirements under new federal guidelines.

Texas Welfare Commissioner Raymond Vowell said he doubts the statewide program could be initiated by the Sept. 1, 1972, start of the state's new fiscal year, as proposed by the governor, but he will talk to the governor about it.

Smith still says he wants to wait as long as possible before calling a special session of the Legislature this year to write an appropriations bill for fiscal 1972 and handle whatever other matters the governor chooses to submit—including the food stamp proposal. He estimates cost of a special session at $800,000 to $1 million. Others claim his cost figure is far too high.

Editors' Poll Moves West

Newspaper editors and publishers were polled on state political races last week at the meeting of the West Texas Press Association in Sweetwater. Question one asked the editors was who they thought would carry their counties.

These were the results: Governor: Smith, 15; Barnes, 11; Briscoe, 9; U. S. Senate: Tower, 11; Yarborough, 10; Sanders, 7. Lt. Gov.: Connally, 10; Hobby, 5; Hall, 1 and Jones, 1.

Asked whom they would vote for, the editors said: Governor: Briscoe, 15; Barnes, 8; Smith, 6; Farenthold, 4. U. S. Senate: Tower, 20; Sanders, 5; Yarborough, 5. Lt. Gov.: Connally, 11; Hobby, 7 and Christie, 3.

Election Financing

Still up in the air is the question of how state primary elections this year are to be financed.

Secretary of State Bob Bullock, the state's chief election officer, says the federal courts have clearly stated he has authority to use state funds for operation of the elections, just as state funds are used to conduct general elections. Other state officials say a special legislative session would be needed to provide the money.

Timber Recovery Sought

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has filed suit to recover from the federal government $732,000 for lands ceded to national forests of Texas. Texas seeks money for stumpage sales on 658,513 acres in four national forests. The forests are Angelina (Angelina, Jasper, Nacogdoches and San Augustine counties); Davy Crockett (Houston and Trinity counties); Sabine (Jasper, Sabine, San Augustine and Shelby counties) and Sam Houston (Montgomery, San Jacinto and Walker counties).

Under a 1911 act of congress, 25% of money received from each national forest was to be paid by the U. S. to the state in which the forest was located. Martin alleges that while there have been $2.9 million in Texas forest stumpage sales over the last six years, the federal government has withheld from the state the 25% share due it.

Hog Quarantine Lifted

Texas Animal Health Commission removed 28 counties from the hog cholera quarantine list last week and placed them under restricted movement.

Counties are Aransas, Bandera, Bastrop, Brooks, Caldwell, Calhoun, Colorado, Comal, Dimmit, Fayette, Frio, Guadalupe, Jim Hogg, Zapata, Jim Wells, Kendall, Kenedy, Kleberg, La Salle, Lavaca, Live Oak, McMullen, Matagorda, Medina, Nueces, Refugio, San Patricio and Wharton.

Courts Speak

A $50 monthly expense allowance as mayor of Rusk does not bar Emmett Whitehead from running for the legislature, the Texas Supreme Court has ruled.

A federal district judge granted a government motion to dismiss an indictment of a San Antonio bank for making a loan to a gubernatorial campaign in 1970.

A Galveston district judge held the board of the rich Moody Foundation should be increased from three to seven members.

Appointments

Governor Smith named six persons to the Texas Board of Private Detectives, Private Investigators and Private Security Agencies, effective immediately. George W. Bichsel, Assistant City Manager of San Antonio, and Capt. Robert A. Crowder, director of a Dallas private investigation firm, will serve two-year terms. Robert C. Taylor of Houston, regional manager of a detective agency, and Morris A. Ruebright, former Houston Crime Commission member, will serve four-year terms. Serving six-year terms will be J. Mason Lankford Jr., security administrator for a Fort Worth firm and J. W. Golden Richardson police chief.

Bob Alcock, special assistant for Congressional Relations on the National Governors' Conference Staff, has been appointed Associate Director of the Office of State-Federal Relations, to take office March 1. He replaces former State Rep. Randy Pendleton of Andrews who resigned his position to run for the Democratic nomination for Texas Comptroller of Public Accounts.

Reps. Jon Newton of Beeville and Richard Slack of Pecos have been appointed to an interim legislative committee to study the state's land vacancy statutes and recommend revisions to the laws.

Governor Smith reappointed Mrs. Jimmy (Annie Laura) Day of Brookshire and Dan R. Eddy Jr. of Dallas to the Good Neighbor Commission of Texas.

Crime Tax

Houston and Harris county led the state during the first four months' collection of the new "crime tax", a court cost levied for use by the Texas Criminal Justice Council to upgrade local law enforcement planning.

The Legislature enacted the tax in 1971 to provide money for CJC. Under the tax, additional court costs of $2.50 are levied for misdemeanor convictions in city, county and justice of the peace courts, $5 for conviction on a misdemeanor in district courts and $10 for felony convictions.

Houston collected $210,387 during the period, said State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert. Totals for other major cities included Dallas, $117,266; San Antonio, $83,479; Fort Worth, $57,014; El Paso, $29,935; Austin, $34,093; Corpus Christi, $24,429; Amarillo, $18,453; Lubbock, $31,608; Beaumont, $23,811; Wichita Falls, $9,049; Irving, $13,582; Waco, $15,756; Arlington, $12,492; and Abilene, $12,639.

County collections reported by Calvert included: Harris, $42,629; Dallas, $21,076; Bexar, $6,267; Tarrant, $7,311; El Paso, $9,168; Travis, $4,873; Jefferson, $6,553; Hidalgo, $7,184; Nueces, $5,116; Lubbock, $6,458; Galveston, $7,049; McLennan, $4,768; Cameron, $4,717; Wichita, $2,957; and Brazoria, $6,565.

Short Snerts . . .

The Governor's Criminal Justice Council has received notice it will be funded $58,640 to provide four-year courses of study in criminal justice at four Texas colleges. The grant, from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, U. S. Department of Justice, will be subgranted by CJC to the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education. Participation colleges are University of Houston; Wayland Baptist College, Plainview; Christian College of the Southwest, Mesquite and University of Texas at El Paso.

Twelve additional Texas counties have been approved for participation in the food stamp program of providing low cost stamps to low income persons for use in buying groceries. New counties with U. S. Department of Agriculture and State Welfare Department approval are Bowie, Cameron, Castro, Crosby, Dallas, Floyd, Hale, Hidalgo, Jefferson, Jim Wells, Swisher and Wilbacy.

University of Texas President Stephen H. Spurr was named to a new National Board on Graduate Education, a body which will investigate such things as oversupply of Ph. d.'s in certain fields and increasing costs of higher education.

Governor Smith has proclaimed March, April and May official Bluebonnet months.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes drew crowds totaling 17,000 on a three-day train campaign trip from Amarillo to Houston. He called for cabinet level officers to administer welfare and urban affairs.

A new Council of State Governments study shows 12 states undertook major reordering of departments 1965-71.

Tech Scholarships Aim Of Organization

Lubbock, Tex.—The Texas Tech University Dads Association has launched a drive to raise more than a quarter of a million dollars in an endowment fund for student scholarships.

Unanimous approval of a resolution endorsing the $253,000 endowment project was a highlight of the Association's mid-winter business meeting at which the Tech Dads designated the fund as their contribution to the university's 50th anniversary celebration in 1975.

Interest accruing from the endowment fund is to be used for Dads Association scholarships, said Dads Pres. Mart G. Pederson of El Paso.

"The Dads Association," Pederson noted, "has long been distinguished for its leadership in the area of scholarships for deserving students. A program such as this will enable us to be much more effective in the future."

In a second resolution, the Dads Association also expressed its "appreciation and commendation of the student body of Texas Tech University and approval of its department as one which is re-dedicated to the good name of the institution and to their own credit as an agency which has made possible educational results of that high quality which comes only without distraction or interruption."

The parents organization further resolved that "the Texas Tech Dads Association expresses its confidence in the student body on the basis of its past performance and appreciation of it as a mature and responsible agency contributing significantly to the growth and development of Texas Tech University."

More than 100 trustees of the association, along with officers and committee chairmen, participated in the annual orientation and planning session.

Trustees representing the Dads Association in Dist. 65 are Howard C. Derrick and Paul Page, both of Eldorado; Armond B. Hoover, Ozona, and James E. Wittenburg, of Rocksprings.

Older Workers Still Need Protection

By LLOYD BENTSEN
United States Senator

This nation during the last ten years has gone a long way toward eliminating unfair discrimination practices. The laws we have passed have done a great deal to protect the rights of individuals and groups who have often been the victims of various kinds of discrimination. From time to time, however, we learn of areas where protection is inadequate—where we need to take action aimed at heading off certain discriminatory practices that still exist.

Employees Pressured To Retire

It has become apparent that, in many instances, government employees are being pressured into early retirement. Whether it's done subtly or blatantly, this pressure is a form of discrimination against a worker simply because of his age. It should not be permitted.

During the recent White House Conference on Aging, a statement was overwhelmingly adopted which called for a climate of free choice between continuing to work for as long as one would like, or retiring on adequate income, while still having a chance to be meaningfully active. No one who is doing his job properly should be forced into retiring before he reaches the specified age, if he or she does not wish to.

Harassment Of Workers

There are a number of ways to push a qualified worker toward retirement. Sometimes, his or her position will be abolished. Although Civil Service laws call for assignment to another position, this can often be an inferior job in a field about which the worker knows nothing. Another method is to transfer a worker frequently, or to send him out-of-town and then bring him back to a job that has been filled or eliminated. Unfavorable work reports can also be filed against the older workers. In some agencies, memos are labeled "for aging employees." Orders to cut the number of Federal employees in many bureaus have caused some officials to look toward older employees as a target for reductions in force.

Unfair Age Regulations

News articles and letters from government employees in Texas have shown me that too many hard-working individuals are being pressured to retire against their will. Some jurisdictions actually have laws and regulations prohibiting the hiring of any person over a certain age, such as 45. My bill will provide recourse against these practices and halt the kind of unfair age discrimination that I have described. As the nation's largest employer, the government should also be a model employer.

It is both foolish and unfair to waste valuable, experienced manpower by arbitrarily discriminating against older employees. Their knowledge and expertise must not be sacrificed just because someone has decided that the work force must be reduced, or that only younger workers are useful. That is why I seek legislative protection against this type of discrimination. It should be remembered that often the victims of these practices have neither the means financially nor the help legally to defend themselves. My bill will give them that defense.

Helping Older Americans

Legislation for older Americans has wide support. I have been active in this field on behalf of both working and retired people because I think their particular needs have been ignored for too long. There is much that we can and should do for the elderly and I am one who will continue to be active in this field.

Look For Specials At The Grocery Store

College Station, Tex.—"Look for 'specials' on canned sweet corn this week at the grocery store where you shop," advised Gwendolynne Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Estimated to be the largest crop on record, supplies of canned corn remain available from the 1971 supply. And generally, an abundance of a food drops prices drastically. Canned corn is so easily kept and quickly prepared, you'll want to keep a good supply on hand."

Mrs. Clyatt said that the wise homemaker will include potatoes, dry yellow onions, hard shell squash, green cabbage, cooking greens, carrots and rutabagas on this week's shopping list. Prices also remain moderate on broccoli, zucchini squash, eggplant, celery and cauliflower.

Canned peaches, fruit cocktail dominate fruit counters while supplies remain large. Excellent quality can be found in sweet juicy grapefruit and oranges, so enjoy them during this season of plentiful supply. Tangelos, lemons, bananas, apples, pineapples and pears are also good choices price-wise. Delicious fresh strawberries make their way into the market, mostly from Mexico.

"A heavy demand continues for beef," the specialist said. "This demand and limited supplies keep beef prices up. Choose chuck roast and steaks, round steaks, ground beef and beef liver for your best meat buys."

Many markets feature ham or ham portions, Boston butt roasts, shoulder steaks, quarter loin and sliced end rib chops.

"Special promotions exist on turkeys at some markets. Attractive prices can be found on drumsticks, hindquarters and front quarters. Fryers and eggs remain an excellent value," Mrs. Clyatt noted.

LORE AND ORDER

Catalog house employees of the 1920s learned to expect the unexpected. It was incidents like the one involving R.D. Argerbright of Great Falls, Montana, that made it so.

One morning at 8:30 a resident of St. Paul, Minnesota, telephoned Montgomery Ward's mail order house in that city and said he had received a wireless message from Argerbright. The message asked anyone in St. Paul who heard him to contact Wards and have some merchandise shipped to him in Montana.

The message contained complete details regarding catalog numbers, sizes and prices. Before 9:30 a.m., the order was on its way to Argerbright.

Golden Sesame Buns

Hot, home made yeast breads always have a special something, and Golden Sesame Buns are no exception.

Crisp and crunchy on the outside, light and airy on the inside, Golden Sesame Buns may tempt your dinner guests and family away from the main dish — they're that good! These chewy, crusty rolls — generously sprinkled with sweet, nutty, sesame seeds — taste best when served warm from the oven. Add lots of melting butter, jam, honey or peanut butter. But the rolls may also be baked in advance, frozen and reheated just before serving.

Be sure to use enriched flour for all your baking. Enrichment guarantees nutrients essential for good health: the B-vitamins, niacin, thiamine and riboflavin, plus the mineral, iron.

24 rolls

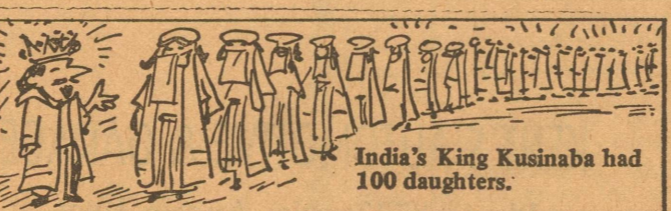

- 6 1/2 to 7 1/2 cups enriched flour
- 1 package dry yeast
- 2 cups water
- 1/2 cup oil
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 2 eggs
- Sesame seeds

Stir together 3 cups flour and yeast. Heat water, oil, sugar and salt over low heat until warm, stirring to blend. Add liquid ingredients to flour-yeast mixture, and beat until smooth, about 2 minutes on medium speed of electric mixer or 300 strokes by hand. Blend in 1 egg. Add 1 cup flour and beat on medium speed 1 minute or 150 strokes by hand. Stir in more flour to make a moderately stiff dough. Turn onto lightly floured surface and knead until smooth and satiny, about 8 to 10 minutes. Shape into ball and place in lightly greased bowl, turning to grease all sides. Cover and let rise in warm place (80 to 85°) until doubled, about 1 1/2 hours. Punch down. Divide dough into 24 equal pieces; shape each into smooth ball. Place on greased baking sheets. Let stand uncovered at room temperature until doubled, about 2 hours. Beat remaining egg and brush over buns. Sprinkle generously with sesame seeds. Bake in preheated 400° oven 20 to 30 minutes, or until done.

*Spoon flour into dry measuring cup; level. Do not scoop.
NOTE: If self-rising flour is used, omit salt.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By The Ministerial Alliance of Eldorado

A Look At The Law

Today there is much discussion over laws. These laws have been passed by man for man's benefit. They have been passed as a guideline whereby mankind may protect itself from those who have no regard for life, property, personal liberty or the pursuit of happiness.

Laws are not a new notion. Man has in all ages sought out those individuals whose wisdom and foresight could help solve his problems. Man, in his imperfect nature, needs a set of rules to live by which he may govern himself. The earliest of all laws regarded man's relationship to a just God who commanded that he not eat of forbidden fruit. As has been the case in most instances man chose to ignore the law and "do his own thing." Mankind has ever suffered the consequences of this early disobedience. From that early day "natural man" has chosen to be self-willed and disregard the law as established.

The early nation of Israel was given a set of laws by Moses at God's command whereby they could settle differences between themselves and establish the right relationship to God. These laws governed their personal life and habits. Many of these laws governed the preparation of foods and general sanitation. Modern health officials marvel at the wisdom in these laws.

The Israelites found their laws somewhat of a burden and chose to ignore them. Their rebellion ended in suffering for Israel as a nation. This is historically evidenced in the Old Testament.

In Jesus' day there were sects which took pride in their absolute adherence to these ancient laws. Jesus taught these men that the law for imperfect, that if a man were guilty at one point of the law, he was guilty of gross disobedience in God's sight. Sin is sin to God and his holy nature cannot tolerate sin regardless of how minute it may seem in man's eyes. Since God is aware that mankind cannot be perfect he has provided a way for man to be made right in his holy eyes. God's law requires that for remission of sin there must be blood shed. Something has to die in order for God's wrath to be appeased. Early man offered animals as a sacrifice to God. Each day a new sacrifice must be offered for the sins committed during that day.

God in his divine wisdom knew that man could never gain God's blessing on his own behalf, so God, in the greatest display of love ever offered, gave his only son as the sacrifice for man's sin. Jesus Christ, God's only son, came to earth, lived a perfect life and was killed by rebellious man but, overcame death and arose from the grave. It is through this death and resurrection of Jesus that it is now possible for mankind to become acquitted of his crimes. How is this possible? Believe that Jesus is God's son, pray and ask God to forgive your sins, trust in God's supreme sacrifice, Jesus Christ, for salvation. Law in its own right has failed to change mankind but, through trust in Christ obedience to law becomes a natural quality, no longer a burden. The true Christian obeys the law because he wants to, not because he has to!

Connie, The Conformist

The last thing Connie intended to be was a conformist. So one day Connie resolved in dead earnest to be a nonconformist. She joined the group. She learned their views, their values, their life-style. Soon the cycle was complete—Connie had embraced the way of the nonconformist... had conformed to it.

The adventure of Connie is a reminder that conformity is part of human nature. We all conform to something. And the seemingly sharp differences apparent between certain life-styles merely reflect the contrasts and contradictions between the things to which men conform.

The role of the Church in our society is to provide spiritual and moral values that enrich life. In a world in which all men conform to something, the Church's aim with youth and adults is to give them SOMETHING WORTH CONFORMING TO.
