Earl Parker Dies; Funeral Wednesday

Funeral services were set for Wednesday afternoon at 2:00 in the First Baptist Church for Earl Leonard Parker, 58, who was dead on arrival at Schleicher County Medical Center about noon Monday after a sudden illness.

Officiating at the service was the Rev. Harold Pitts of Dallas, assisted by Vern Cook of Dublin.

Interment was made in the Eldorado cemetery under direction of Ratliff-Kerbow Funeral Home.

Poll bearers were Demes Winfrey of Gouldbusk, Este Otte of San Angelo, Charles Kellogg of Rankin, and L. D. Mund, Jo Ed Hill and Dick Preston of Eldorado.

He was born Dec. 9, 1913 in Bluffdale. He was a veteran of World War II. He was engaged in the automobile business in Eldorado. He was married to Verda Taylor at Gouldbusk on May 27, 1933. They moved to Eldorado from London in 1935 and had lived here since.

He had been a member of the Congregational Methodist Church since 1934. In the 1930's he worked on the Ford Oglesby ranch for about two years and in 1937 bought the Gulf service station, and operated it until he went into service. He operated auto dealerships here since about 1945, and was Rambler dealer at the time of his death.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, Carl Parker of Brvan and James Parker of Mesquite, and a niece, Mrs. Joy Robinett of Houston.

Troop 18 To Observe 26th Anniversary

Eldorado's Troop 18 of Boy Scouts of America will observe their 26th Anniversary with a potluck supper at 7:00 p.m., Monday, March 20th. The event will also include a Court of Honor, according to David Lee, Scoutmaster.

The program will include lighting of the troop birthday cake, special flag ceremony, Tenderfoot investiture ceremony awarding of rank badges and merit badges.

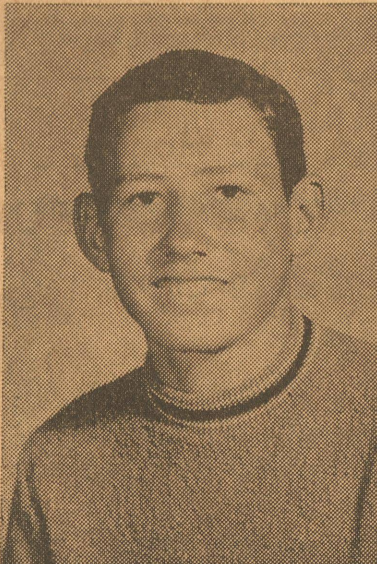

Summer camp promotion and Keep America Beautiful Day will also be a part of the program.

Although Troop 18 was organized here much longer ago than 26 years, there were some intermittent periods when the charter lapsed.

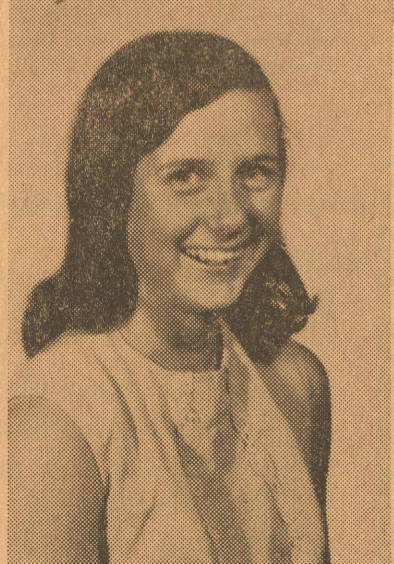

H. Leslie Jones, who recently moved back to his Ft. McKavett ranch, was a business visitor in town Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Long returned home about Tuesday noon after spending part of the winter in the Valley.

Benjie Jay and Keren Hight To Enter State Band Contests in Austin, June

BENJIE JAY

KAREN HIGHT

"Practice and more practice" would probably be the story of Benjie Jay as he prepares to enter the contest for solos and ensembles at Austin, June 3.

A trombone player in the Eagle Band, Benjie, with Keren Hight as his piano accompanist, entered as a soloist in the Solo and Ensemble Contest held in Brownwood February 26. He won a First, in First Division Music, which is a must in order to be a contestant in the state meet. Young Jay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jay, is a sophomore student. Earlier this year he placed in the Regional Band.

Serving as an accompanist for solos is not new to Keren, a senior student and a French horn player in the Eagle Band. She began in her Freshman year "backing the other musician" in contests, even to state. Keren is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Hight.

Post Script

While there is almost no competition coming up in our three local elections scheduled for Saturday, April 1st, there is apt to be a larger than ever number of absentee votes cast.

Reason . . . Saturday, April 1st, election day. Sunday, April 2, Easter Sunday.

By Friday, March 30th, many local people will already have started on their Easter vacation and will not be here by Saturday.

If your Easter holiday schedule is such that you will be absent on Saturday, April 1st, you should avail yourself of voting absentee in these three elections.

For the school trustee election you can vote anytime between March 15 and 30, with Mrs. Mayo at the High School office.

For the Hospital District Directors you can vote absentee at the County Clerk's office anytime between March 13 and 28.

For City Alderman you can vote absentee at the City Hall anytime between March 13 and 28.

This paper is dated Thursday, March 16th. From now until March 28, you can take time off and go vote in all three elections.

In all these local elections write-in votes are counted and recorded. They usually don't amount to anything unless there is an organized quiet effort, but it sometimes brings results. Four years ago our alderman was elected by the write-in route.

So if you can't expect to be at home on Saturday, April 1st, make your vote count by voting ABSENTEE!

In next week's Success issue, we will salute our Future Homemakers during their special week.

Handicapped Sought For Easter Seal Help

"Do you know a handicapped person who needs help and isn't letting it?" is the question being asked by Mr. Raymond Hall, who is Schleicher County's Easter Seal Representative, and the person to contact for services from the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas.

The Easter Seal Society offers rehabilitation services to help disabled persons and their families to find and make the most effective use of resources which will be helpful to them in developing their abilities and living more purposeful lives, he said.

This is accomplished through direct treatments, services, education, research, and cooperative efforts with all other health agencies, private, state and federal. The Easter Seal Society does not duplicate services, but strives to fill all unmet needs of the disabled, he added.

The Easter Seal Society is carrying out its 42nd annual Easter Seal Appeal from February 28 to April 2, to finance a program of rehabilitation services for crippled children and adults. The Texas Easter Seal Society helps support 19 treatment facilities where children and adults are treated regardless of ability to pay. Physical therapy and speech and hearing programs are offered to help the disabled make their lives fuller, despite their handicaps.

Mr. Hall urged persons in Schleicher county to increase their support of the Texas Easter Seal Society and its program of services to the crippled children and adults of Texas.

Credit Reporting Can Be Important

Do you pay your bills on time? Have you always paid your debts in full? How much do you owe right now and to whom?

You, of course, know the answers to these questions. But so do Consumer Reporting Agencies because they are in the business of collecting this type of information. Every time you apply for credit, employment or insurance, the potential creditor, employer, or insurer will probably purchase whatever information a Reporting Agency has on you.

Therefore, it is important that information these agencies circulate about individual consumers be as accurate and up-to-date as possible. Until recently, it may have been difficult for you as an individual to determine the accuracy as well as the nature of the information these Consumer Reporting Agencies were including in reports about you.

However, you now have legal protection to insure your basic rights in this area. This is because of the new Federal Fair Credit Reporting Act which is administered by the Federal Trade Commission. You, as a consumer, are entitled to protection against circulation of erroneous, incomplete or obsolete information on which an unsuspecting firm might rely in deciding whether or not to do business with you or to offer you employment.

Some of the most significant of your rights as a consumer are:

1. The right to know the nature and substance of all the information (except medical) in your file at the particular Consumer Reporting Agency.
2. The right to know the sources of information.
3. The right to know who has received a Consumer Report on you within the last six months (or within the preceding two years if the report was furnished for employment purposes).

If you have been denied credit, insurance, or employment because of information in a Consumer Report, you have the right to be told the name and address of the Consumer Reporting Agency that furnished the report. You then have the right to request and receive all the information mentioned above from the Consumer Reporting Agency free of charge. If there is incorrect or incomplete information in your particular file, you have the right to challenge it. The Reporting Agency must, in most instances, re-investigate the challenged information within a reasonable period of time. If the information is found to be inaccurate or cannot be verified, it must be removed from your file.

If the Reporting Agency conducts a re-investigation concerning you and you do not agree with the results of this re-investigation, you have the right to file a statement setting out your version of what you consider to be the true facts. Thereafter, if the Consumer Reporting Agency makes a report containing the information in dispute, it must also report your version.

As an additional protection to the consumer, certain information cannot be reported after a specific period of time, i. e., bankruptcies after 14 years; judgments after 7 years, or after the Statute of Limitations has run; paid tax liens after 7 years; past due accounts after 7 years; arrests, indictments, or criminal convictions 7 years after disposition, release of parole; and any other adverse information after 7 years.

Changes Set For Traffic Control

Austin, Tex.—The Texas Highway Commission has approved sweeping new changes in traffic control devices—signs, signals and highway markings.

The changes are in the Manual on Uniform Traffic Control Devices approved by the Commission. The manual incorporates changes prepared by the Federal Highway Administration based on recommendations by a national committee of the American Association of State Highway Officials.

The new philosophy in signing recommended by the manual involves the changeover from words to symbols and pictures as part of an international move toward greater uniformity and clarity in road signs throughout the nation.

In Europe, the system of symbols and shapes has been used effectively for the past 20 years among multi-language countries where uniformity is necessary for efficient traffic control.

The new signs and other traffic control devices have been under study in this country since 1964. One of the primary reasons for the new system of symbols and shapes is that they will enable people of different national and cultural backgrounds to easily identify traffic signs while driving.

Panels explaining the new symbols will be placed under the signs so motorists won't be confused. Traffic engineers hope that the public will become familiar with the new symbols and shapes in about five years so the panels can be removed.

In Texas, the changeover will be gradual, with new signs going up on a replacement basis initially. The manual will become effective June 1, 1972.

Although there will be new symbols, shapes and colors, the majority of the existing signs will remain unchanged.

The new yield right-of-way sign will have a wide red border and white interior and will retain the word "YIELD" in red inside the border.

The new prohibitive signs will all have a red circle with a slash cutting diagonally through the center which will mean "DO NOT" or "NO." The symbol inside the circle will show what is prohibited. For example, a sign showing a left turn arrow which is surrounded by a red circle and a slash means "NO LEFT TURN."

The yellow diamond-shaped signs will still stand for a warning, but some of the symbols showing hazards ahead will be new. For example, the message, "MERGING TRAFFIC" on a yellow diamond-shaped sign will be replaced by a black arrow being joined by a smaller black line. It is hoped this will minimize confusion as to which stream carries the merging traffic.

There is a major change in the school advance sign and the school crossing sign. These signs will now be pentagon in shape, with the figures of two school children being shown in black on a yellow background.

Color will become more important in the new system.

Red will indicate stop or a prohibition, green will show movement permitted or give directional guidance, blue will signify motorist services, yellow will indicate a general warning, and black on white will be used for regulatory signs such as those for speed limits and for most guide and destination signs.

In addition, orange (a new color in the manual) will convey construction and maintenance warnings.

The new traffic control devices manual also indicates major adjustments in the use of color lines for pavement markings.

White broken lane lines will remain on divided, multiple-lane highways such as Interstate Highways. The white broken line will denote that there is more than one lane, but that traffic in all lanes travels in the same direction. Solid white lines will be used for edge lining on two-way roadways, crosswalks and road markings.

Yellow striping will be used a great deal more than in the past and will denote two-way traffic. The combination of broken and solid yellow stripes will indicate to the motorist what is permitted.

A yellow broken centerline will mark the division of the road where passing is permitted. A solid yellow line to the right of a broken yellow centerline will mean no passing is allowed for traffic in that lane. Double solid yellow lines will denote the center line of an undivided multilane highway where no passing is allowed by vehicles in either direction.

THE CRUCIFIXION by Richard Hook from Taylor's Bible Story Book

THE CRUCIFIXION

As the crowd led Jesus away to his death, Simon of Cyrene, who was just coming into Jerusalem from the country, was forced to follow, carrying Jesus' cross. Great crowds trailed along behind, and many grief-stricken women. Two others, criminals, were led out to be executed with him at a place called "The Skull." There all three were crucified... Jesus on the center cross, and the two criminals on either side. "Father, forgive these people," Jesus said, "for they don't know what they are doing." And the soldiers gambled for his clothing, throwing dice for each piece. The crowd watched. And they laughed and scoffed. "He was so good at helping others," they said, "let's see him save himself if he is really God's Chosen One, the Messiah." The soldiers mocked him, too, by offering him a drink... of sour wine. And they called to him, "If you are the King of the Jews, save yourself!" A signboard was nailed to the cross above him with these words: "This is the King of the Jews." One of the criminals hanging beside him scoffed, "So you're the Messiah, are you? Prove it by saving yourself... and us, too, while you're at it!" But the other criminal protested, "Don't you even fear God when you are dying? We deserve to die for our evil deeds, but this man hasn't done one thing wrong." Then he said, "Jesus, remember me when you come into your Kingdom." And Jesus replied, "Today you will be with me in Paradise. This is a solemn promise." By now it was noon, and darkness fell across the whole land for three hours, until three o'clock. The light from the sun was gone... and suddenly the thick veil hanging in the Temple split apart. Then Jesus shouted, "Father, I commit my spirit to you," and with those words he died. When the captain of the Roman military unit handling the executions saw what had happened, he was stricken with awe before God and said, "Surely this man was innocent."

Since 1901

Austin, Tex.—Gov. Preston Smith left timing of a special legislative session up in the air after the Texas Supreme Court, in effect, said there has to be one.

The High Court, not unexpectedly, concluded that Secretary of State Bob Bullock could not order public financing of primary elections without prior legislative authority.

Smith conceded that apparently left him no alternative but to summon lawmakers back to work in advance of the May 6 primaries. He said he wanted to postpone the unhappy deed as long as possible and was not prepared to say when he would have to act.

Meanwhile, to help Smith with his decision, Bullock's staff compiled data on estimated costs of the May 6 and June 3 elections and when the bills would fall due.

Most legislators faced with election campaigns hoped the session would be limited to the primary finance issue alone—or perhaps that and highway billboard controls. The latter legislation is needed soon to avoid a threatened $24 million cut in federal road building funds allotted Texas.

Another special session will be needed later (unless Smith decides to lump all business into a single pre-election call) to approve a '73 state appropriations act replacing the budget items vetoed last year by the governor.

Bitterness is expected to flare in the House of Representatives on opening day of the session—when over it is. An effort is almost certain to be made to oust Speaker Gus Mutscher who is being tried in Abilene on charges of conspiring to accept a bribe in the form of 1969 bank loans and pre-arranged insurance stock profits.

A coalition, in an effort to avert the House clash, is pushing Rep. L. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi as interim speaker. The leading speakership candidate, Rep. Rayford Price of Palestine, wants a show-down vote on electing a new speaker immediately.

Crimes Increase

More major crimes were committed in Texas in 1971 than in 1970, but the increase actually was the smallest since 1963, the Department of Public Safety reports.

Cities over 100,000 population reported fewer major crimes—a total of 298,033 as compared with 307,149 in 1970. The overall crime rate for the big cities was up three-tenths of 1%.

The DPS Crime Report based on information submitted by Texas sheriffs and chiefs of police shows 482,386 major criminal offenses during 1971, an increase of 13,324 over 1970. All categories except theft (which declined 11.7%) increased. There were 1,687 murders, 3,075 rapes, 14,285 robberies, 137,140 burglaries, 34,472 aggravated assaults, 48,323 auto thefts and 243,344 thefts.

Storm Insurance Cut

A 26% reduction in windstorm insurance rates for non-beach property in 14 coastal counties was ordered last week.

The cut, directed by the State Board of Insurance, takes effect before the hurricane season for those structures at least 2,500 feet from shore, 20 feet above mean sea level or protected by a seawall.

Property owners have been paying 150% above normal rates through the Texas Catastrophe Property Insurance Pool. Beachfront property will continue at three times standard rates.

The Insurance Board also raised the maximum amount of insurance available through the pool from $100,000 to $200,000 on dwellings and from $500,000 to $1 million on commercial properties including schools and public buildings.

Appointments . . .

Governor Smith named Moises V. Vela of Harlingen and reappointed Mrs. Marialice S. (Allan) Shivers of Austin to the board of regents of Pan American College, Edinburg. Smith also appointed Luther May Jr. of Olney to the Midwestern University (Wichita Falls) board of regents; Mrs. Jackie Blackstock of Austin to the Teachers' Professional Practices Commission and Robert H. Cutler of El Paso, Joe P. Cain of Houston and Albert W. Rollins of Arlington to Texas Mass Transportation Committee.

Veterans Land Bonds Sold

Forty million dollars worth of Texas veterans land bonds were sold last week at the lowest rate—4.03658%—paid by the program since 1961.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong said the sale assures continued financing of the program until early 1974. Constitutional insurance rate ceiling for the bonds is 4.5%.

The Veterans Land Board is constitutionally authorized to sell another $30.7 million in bonds to finance the program which has enabled almost 46,000 Texas veterans to buy land.

Labor Recommends Candidates

The Texas AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education recommended support by labor union members of five statewide candidates but didn't agree on a candidate for governor.

Delegates recommended former U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough for senator; State Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso for lieutenant governor, Houston lawyer John Hill for attorney general; John White for reelection as commissioner of agriculture and Bob Armstrong for reelection as land commissioner. They also strongly recommended State Rep. Price Daniel Jr. of Liberty for speaker of the Texas House of Representatives.

Although the necessary two-thirds of COPE delegates did not rally behind any candidate for gubernatorial nomination, State Rep. Frances Farenthold of Corpus Christi did get a commendation for her legislative reform efforts that she is carrying into the governor's race.

AFL-CIO President Roy Evans said COPE will try to raise $500,000 for primary campaign efforts.

Attorney General's Opinions

Texas is entitled to its proportionate share of the federal credit for state death taxes even though the decedent was a non-resident and specific property is exempt, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has held.

In other recent opinions Martin concluded:

—Deputies of county officials are "employees" as defined in a new law creating a county civil service system for counties of 300,000 or more.

—The Navarro County criminal district attorney paid entirely from state funds is entitled to participate in the Employees Retirement System of Texas, but not the County and District Retirement System.

Signs Changing

Watch for changes in traffic control devices, signs, signals and markings along Texas highways.

Texas Highway Commission approved them in the manual on uniform traffic control devices, based on recommendations of the American Association of State Highway Officials and Federal Highway Administration.

Changeover will be from words to symbols and pictures as part of an international move toward greater uniformity and clarity in road signs. Panels explaining the new symbols will be placed under the signs at first, then removed in about five years.

Short Snorts . . .

Texas Court of Criminal Appeals held extending rights of voting to 18-year-olds did not give them the right to serve on juries in this state.

New regulations allowing insurance companies to cancel auto policies only for failure of the insured to pay premiums or for license suspension or revocation have been adopted by the State Board of Insurance.

Internal Revenue Service said a spot check of 4,579 retail stores showed 95% are complying with base price posting regulations.

Cigarette smokers paid $7.5 million more in state taxes last month than in February 1971, State Treasurer Jesse James reported.

A University of Texas study group believes debris washed away from coral reefs in some coastal waters to deeper oceans could provide the key to finding future fuel and energy resources.

UT Bureau of Business Research says the Texas economy is off to a slow beginning this year but is "dawdling along in the right direction."

Edmiston Honored Range Management

At the annual meeting of the Texas Section of Range Management in San Antonio, the Section presented the Junior and Senior student awards at a noon luncheon recently. The awards are based on academic performance and extra-curricular participation and achievement.

From Texas A&M, William Edmiston was among the recipients. William is a Junior at A&M and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Edmiston of Eldorado.

Canned Corn
So you've never cared for corny stories? Well, just listen to this. Canned corn is so easily kept and quickly prepared, that now while it's in heavy supply, you'll want to keep plenty on hand.
Appetizing and nutritious, canned corn supplies a large amount of Vitamin B. Golden corn provides noticeable amounts of Vitamin A. The demand for golden corn far exceeds the white. Of all corn packaged, the whole kernel style makes up more than half. The less popular cream style corn provides the rest of the supply.
The cream style corn is prepared by cutting the kernels so the sweet, starchy milk of the corn flows out into the can. Whole kernel style corn retains the milk within the kernel. Because the cream style is a more solid pack, you find less water in the can than you find with the whole kernel style.
A 303 can (16 or 17 ounce) of cream style corn yields four servings of one-half cup each. The same size can of whole kernel corn gives only three half-cup servings.
The 12-ounce vacuum pack is popular for whole kernel corn, and it also makes three servings of a half cup each. In comparing costs of different style packs or different brands, keep in mind the number of servings to expect.
Conveniently canned and ready for immediate use, corn can be made into a variety of dishes. It's a food you can use for breakfast, luncheon, and dinner, in pancakes and other quick breads, chowders, rarebits, main dishes, relishes and even desserts.
Corn is delicious alone, buttered or sauced or combined with other vegetables and in all sorts of casseroles and similar dishes.

Choosing A Margarine
When buying margarine, don't just close your eyes and grab one. Today's homemaker can choose regular, whipped, soft or diet margarine. How do these types of margarines differ? Which is the best buy?
The answer to these questions depends on your family budget and how you plan to use the margarine. The law requires that all margarine must contain 80% fat unless the product is intended as a diet substitute. And a diet substitute must be labeled "imitation" or "diet." Package labels must also state the type of fat or fats used to make the margarine.
Soft, whipped and diet margarine all cost more than regular margarine. You pay additional money for the whipping, extra ingredients and any other additional processes needed to make the margarine ready-to-spread, fluffy, or low-calorie.
Another difference between the whipped and regular types of margarine is the volume per weight. For example, one pound of regular margarine contains two cups of margarine. A pound of whipped margarine contains three cups because milk and air have been added.
This difference poses a problem when baking since the cook can't substitute one-half cup of whipped margarine for one-half cup of regular margarine or butter. If the substitution was made, the baked product would not contain enough fat and would contain too much liquid.
Whipped margarine, although it is more costly, is convenient whenever you desire a soft, fluffy spread. However, choose the regular type of margarine if you want a better buy for your money or if you want to use margarine for baking.

BARD'S TARTS MADE WITH SWEET YEAST DOUGH

According to "Alice in Wonderland," the poor Knave of Hearts had to stand trial for stealing the Queen's tarts. But can you blame him for stealing tidbits as tempting as strawberry tarts?
A break with tradition, these Queen of Hearts Tarts are fashioned from sweet yeast dough cut into circles which are topped with doughnut-shaped rounds of dough. The hole in the doughnut-shaped layer makes a neat little nest which is filled with strawberries. After baking, the tarts are sprinkled with confectioners' sugar.
Sweet yeast dough for Queen of Hearts Tarts is prepared the no-dissolve Rapid-mix way. Instead of dissolving the yeast in warm water, Rapidmix lets you add it undissolved to the dry ingredients. Not only saves a step, but makes yeast breads that are better than ever.

"The Queen of Hearts, she made some tarts,
All on a summer day;
The Knave of Hearts, he stole those tarts,
And took them quite away!"
Lewis Carroll

Queen of Hearts Tarts
3 1/2 to 4 cups unsifted flour
1/3 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 package Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
1 cup milk
1/4 cup water
1 cup (2 sticks) Fleischmann's Margarine
2 eggs (at room temperature)
Confectioners' sugar

mann's Active Dry Yeast.
Combine milk, water and Fleischmann's Margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquids are warm. (Margarine does not need to melt.) Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add eggs and 1 cup flour, or enough flour to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a stiff moist batter. Cover bowl tightly with aluminum foil. Refrigerate batter for 2 hours.
Turn batter out onto well-floured board. Roll to a 1/4-inch thickness. With a 3-inch cookie cutter, cut about 18 circles and place on ungreased baking sheets. From remaining dough, using a 3-inch doughnut cutter cut same number of circles and place on top of rounds. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, for 15 minutes. (Dough will not be doubled in bulk.)

Bake in a hot oven (400°F) for 10 minutes. Spoon cooled Strawberry Filling (below) into center of tarts. Return to oven; bake an additional 7 minutes, or until done. Remove from baking sheets and cool on wire racks. Before serving sprinkle generously with confectioners' sugar. Makes about 1 1/2 dozens tarts.
Strawberry Filling: In a saucepan thoroughly combine 1 package (10-ounce) frozen strawberries, thawed, and 1 tablespoon cornstarch. Heat over medium heat, stirring, until mixture clears and comes to a boil. Cool to room temperature.

Diapause Boll Weevil Control

Increased damage caused by the boll weevil in several Rolling Plains counties has generated interest in diapause boll weevil control. Diapause boll weevil control is primarily aimed at those weevils which will leave the field in the fall, go into ground trash and pass the winter. By limiting the number of these weevils that are able to build up large enough fat reserves to pass the winter, the damage caused by the boll weevil the following season can be decreased greatly.

Another advantage of controlling weevils using the diapause boll weevil control method is that the insecticides applied for control will be applied during September and October. At this time destruction of beneficial populations are not likely to lead to a major bollworm outbreak.

If properly planned and carried out, diapause boll weevil control offers the following advantages as compared to conventional in-season weevil control:

a. The cost of the insecticide and application can be reduced.
 b. Other pest problems, particularly tobacco budworms and bollworms, are commonly reduced and may be eliminated due to the establishment and development of parasites and predators populations in the absence of previously required in-season boll weevil control applications.

c. Adverse weather conditions does not commonly influence the effectiveness of diapause weevil applications as markedly as does late season weevil control applications. This is due to a more flexible length in time between applications in a diapause boll weevil control program.

In a diapause boll weevil control program all cotton fields in a given area must be treated to reduce the potential overwintering weevil populations. An effective spray schedule of 10 to 14 days must be followed to prevent diapausing boll weevils in the field from being able to build up sufficient fat reserves to allow them to pass the winter.

To be effective, there has to be a near 100% participation in a diapause boll weevil control program within a given area. This is so the entire overwintering boll weevil population will be out and individual fields will not be producing weevils capable of passing the winter and infesting neighboring fields will not be producing weevils capable of passing the winter and infesting neighboring fields the following spring. One field left out of the diapause boll weevil control program can reduce the effectiveness of the program immeasurably.

Overwintering boll weevils are known to fly a number of miles from hibernation sites. The required isolation distance has not been specifically determined. It has been established that the greater distances a field or diapause area is from untreated fields, the greater the reduction in migrating overwintering weevils the following spring. In selected diapause boll weevil control program sites, natural barriers should be sought that offer as much isolation from other untreated cotton producing areas as possible. As the isolation distance is decreased the number of migrating overwintering weevils will likely increase.

The fields on the margins of the diapause boll weevil control area would be expected to support the overwintering boll weevil populations the following spring. Limited early season applications for overwintering boll weevil control may be required in these fields.

In diapause boll weevil control program designed for the Rolling Plains area, three or four applications at 10-14 day intervals would probably be required. Ten to 14 days after the last application is made, a desiccant or defoliant combined with methyl parathion or guthion would be required to stop the growth of cotton and to kill diapausing boll weevils that may be in the field at that time. Harvest should be completed as soon as possible and stalks should be destroyed and plowed under to prevent the re-growth of cotton. Methyl parathion or guthion will combine well with phosphate-type defoliants and arsenic acid. However, these materials should not be mixed with sodium chlorate type defoliants because these combinations pose an extreme fire hazard.

The cost of a diapause boll weevil control program might be as follows. The cost per acre for the three applications of ultra low volume malathion at $1.50 or application would be $4.50. This would represent about 20 pounds of cotton lint at 22c per pound. One-fourth pound of guthion (one pint of the 2 lb. gallon formulation to be applied with a defoliant or desiccant would cost 98c. This represents about 5 pounds of cotton lint at 22c lb. The total cost would be $5.46.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clark of Illinois visited here this week with Mr. and Mrs. Andy Nixon and other friends. He was formerly superintendent of the Sinclair plant north of town.

Records Essential For Tax Time

Now that it's income tax reporting time, the need for better records becomes apparent. So start the new year off right by keeping well-organized records for the 1972 return.

An orderly record system makes filling out a tax return a matter of coordinating the information that you have kept during the year. There are many different and suitable record systems available from machinery, chemical and other agricultural supply dealers, printers and office supply firms, and government agency offices, including the county Extension office. Regardless of the system you choose it should have sections or columns that correspond to the income tax forms.

Business records are required for tax reports, social security or self-employment tax records, and occasionally for verification of farm program requirements or special reports. Such records are also needed for employee information if your employees are covered by the minimum wage law.

A business record usually includes at least two parts—one for ordinary operating expenses and income and one for capital sales and depreciation of capital assets.

Personal records of family expenses are needed if you itemize deductions. These are also valuable for budgeting family living expenses.

A series of file folders for receipts, invoices, deposits, bank statements and other materials can be placed in a box or filing cabinet for convenience and for future reference. Remember that it's easier to work and keep records if they are easily accessible. Many of us tend to put off things if they aren't convenient.

A filing system doesn't have to be complicated to be efficient. Keep it simple and it will be easier to use when tax time comes around next year. However, be sure that your records are specific enough to meet your needs.

Ornamentals Need Pruning And Training

Ornamental plants in your home should be pruned annually and trained to insure a more beautiful plant.

The type and amount of pruning and training will vary greatly. It's important for ornamental plant growers to know how to prune each plant on their property. His first suggestion is to study the growth habits and flowering characteristics of the plant. Practice removing stems and branches. Then observe the effect of your pruning on the shape, vigor and flowering of the plant. Proper pruning makes for a young and beautiful plant for many years.

Think of your plants in groups rather than as individuals. Group plants according to similar flowering habits, growing conditions or those which have similar uses. Each group requires a special type of pruning. It's easier for the grower to remember special pruning methods for particular groups of plants than for each individual group.

All plants can be classified as evergreen or deciduous. Evergreens retain their leaves or needles all through the year while the deciduous plants drop their leaves in the fall and replace them in the spring.

Evergreens are divided into narrow-leaf and broad-leaf plants. Deciduous plants are divided into groups which produce flowers in early spring on stems grown in the past year, and those which bloom later on new wood.

He suggests light pruning of broad-leaved evergreens anytime during the year; however, severe pruning should be done during winter. Narrow-leaved evergreens such as pines and junipers should be pruned during the late spring following the first flush of growth.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By The Ministerial Alliance of Eldorado

Little Things

God uses little things to teach us great spiritual lessons. Proverbs 30:24 tells about four things upon the earth which are little, but wise.

The ant is an insect that is active. Doers, not dreamers, accomplish a task. Ants carry objects larger than themselves. A true Christian may do exploits by drawing upon divine help. Ants cross large streams by holding to each other, making a chain. They are cooperative by instinct. Should we not be the same as "laborers with God"? (1 Corinthians 3:9)

The coney, a rodent the size of a small rabbit, is described in the Old Testament as ceremonially unclean. In realizing his weakness and frailty, the coney seeks the shelter of the rocks. From him we see the importance of taking refuge in the rock of our refuge, who is God. (Psalm 94:22.)

The locust, a member of the grasshopper family, by himself may be tossed about in the wind. By banding together, locusts may devour a large crop. The locusts teach us a lesson in being united in action for Christ.

The spider's web is very frail by human standard, yet it carries a spider through space and catches his food. The spider spins his web before the fly comes along. To be ready when opportunity comes one must prepare ahead of time. The spider is little, but he makes his way into kings' palaces. By being faithful in little things we may obtain greater responsibilities.

These four little things teach us to be diligent, trusting, industrious, and constant for our Lord. Each is different, proving that every Christian has a place to serve in promoting the kingdom of God.

What's it to you... THIS CHURCH GOING?

Why, you say, do ministers and other Christians so constantly urge you to go to church?

It's probably because you're human. They know that there lies within you an urgent lack of confidence in yourself, a feeling of dependence on a Supreme Being. When you lift your heart in prayer or raise your voice in hymns of praise, your spiritual energy is renewed.

They know, too, there is something in the human heart that makes men brothers — more fully satisfied to SHARE in worship.

Going to church is all that . . . and much more!
