Absentee Voting To Start

Last week, the Success printed the ballots for the First Democratic Primary set for May 6th, and they were delivered this week to Dick Preston, County Democratic Chairman. He in turn issued some of them to the County Clerk's office for absentee voting.

County Clerk J. P. Enochs is mailing out some of the ballots to voters requesting them, and starting Monday, the 17th, voters may go in person to the Clerk's office and vote absentee.

Sample ballots printed on yellow paper are available at the County Clerk's office and at the Success office.

We urge voters to study the sample ballots carefully ahead of the time you vote, but you must remember that you CANNOT take a sample with you to consult when you go to the polls to vote. To do so would be a violation of the election code.

Interest is centered this year on the high-level governmental offices and a good voter turnout is foreseen, both locally and statewide.

On the local level, we have two active County Commissioner races as well as contest for County Attorney.

Attempts to increase rainfall here in semi-arid Southwest Texas have a long history going back many decades.

In the pioneer days, cannon were sometimes fired at promising looking rainclouds in attempts to bring rain.

More recently, aircraft have "seeded" clouds with dry ice pellets and on the ground iodide generators have been put into use.

Now, a California-based firm has announced plans to be in this area June through August and they have a legal notice about their plans on page 4.

Napoleon Bonaparte is remembered as the greatest military general in European history. He defeated a number of neighboring countries. At the end of his first victory he staged a victory celebration in Paris and in it bestowed great praise upon certain Colonels and lesser officers who had displayed themselves in battle and created them as Generals.

Other celebrations followed other victories and other Generals were created.

Later on as years passed some of the first Generals made it a point to be pointed out as "Generals of the First Creation."

Schleicher County Hospital District was approved by voters on Saturday, May 20, 1967. On Monday, May 22 Schleicher County Commissioners met and canvassed the vote and then created seven members as Hospital District Directors. These were:

Carroll Ratliff
Ronnie Mittel
Peyton Cain
Bill Watson
Ed Meador
Oran Enochs
Elton McGinnes.

That was nearly five years ago. Last week seven new Directors were sworn in and they are:

Ronnie Mittel
Edward Meador
Mrs. Edwin Jackson
Mrs. Morty Mertz
Guy Whitaker
Mike Moore
Raymon Mobley.

Ronnie Mittel and Edward Meador have the distinction of being among the "first creation."

Carroll Ratliff and Peyton Cain remained on the board until the recent election.

We thank all of them for their unselfish non-paying service.

Hospital Story

The newly elected Hospital District directors met in regular session Monday night, April 3, and elected Ed Meador as chairman and Guy Whitaker as secretary. It was announced that hereafter regular meetings will be held on the 3rd Monday of each month instead of the first Monday.

According to Secretary Whitaker a called meeting had been held in March, in which Dr. Brame appeared before the board and stated that he and Dr. Peterson preferred to practice medicine and be relieved of the business of operating the hospital.

Dr. Brame has operated the institution since it opened under a lease agreement under the name of Medica Diversified. The lease still has about three years to run.

At the March meeting Dr. Brame offered to voluntarily cancel remainder of the lease and turn operation over to the seven Hospital District directors, while the two doctors would continue to practice in the Clinic.

After lengthy discussion Directors voted unanimously to accept the proposed offer and legal details are now in the process of being worked out.

Lillian Kroeger, administrator of the hospital under Dr. Brame, has consented to remain as hospital administrator for the Board.

In spite of many contrary street rumors, Mr. Whitaker emphasized that all negotiations have been carried on in a congenial and friendly manner.

Whatever changes will be made in the new set-up they will be chiefly in bookkeeping. The average patient will never notice the difference—the busy clinic will still be operating with two doctors.

I wouldn't be surprised when it is all over that Zela and Leslie will take a week off and rest and celebrate.

I am glad I got mine off in January. But it seems I made a mistake somewhere, for last week I got a check from IRS for $95 as a refund.

But Leslie didn't figure that one for me. I still don't know what sort of deduction I should have taken.

PAR-TEE

The Men's Club Championship tournament was played this past Saturday and Sunday at the local course. Paul Page emerged the Club Championship for the second consecutive year with a 45 hole total of 154. Runner-up in the Championship flight was Carol Ratliff with a 161 and coming in third place was H. G. (Buddy) White, with a 164.

First Flight results:
Bob Bland, winner with 175.
Robert Page, runner-up with 177.
Ralph Waldron, third with 180.

Second Flight results:
Ray Alexander, winner with 193.
Lum Burk, runner-up with 197.
Ben Hext, third with 198.

Par for the 45 hole play is 145 resulting in Paul being 9 over for the tournament (5 of those strokes coming in the last nine.) This is real fine golf and we offer our sincere congratulations to Paul along with the other winners.

We want to extend a special thank you to Delbert Taylor, Jack Hext and Ralph Waldron for conducting this fine tournament. We had 29 players to participate in the tournament. Only 9 winners. One foursome that threatened to take up croquet instead of playing golf. One caddy with sore feet (but a big "winner's" smile; a number of putts that were "in the leather" missed. Four players made 8 on no. 5 (par 4 hole) and three players each scored 8 on one of the Par 3 holes. Some were happy. Some sad. All 29 windblown, each with his special "tale of woe," but all having a "good time" in spite of "whatever."

We miss Mary Waldron and hope that she is soon completely recovered and back on the golf course.

Sonora Golf Club is hosting their annual spring men's partnership tournament this week end. We have several fellows that will participate in this tournament. We wish each and every one of them straight shots and one putts.

Ernestine Hext and Wanda Cahill will participate in the Pack-saddle women's partnership tournament in Kingsland this week end.

Next Saturday, April 22, Sonora will host their annual ladies partnership one day play. Several of our lady golfers are signed up to participate in this tournament.

Also on Saturday—April 22—Big Lake is hosting a Men's partnership tournament. We have some players entered in this tournament.

Until next week, we wish for you: blue skies and green lights.

Cancer Control Month Is Now On

The month of April has been designated nationally as "Cancer Control Month." Our local crusade is well under way as letters of appeal have been mailed to all rural families and their response has been very encouraging. Also these first two weeks of April, the local businesses are being contacted for their support.

The house to house crusade will begin Monday, April 17th, with numerous local volunteers attempting to reach each family in our community asking for their support in furthering the work of the American Cancer Society, and giving them educational material to spread the facts about cancer and its warning signals.

The Conquest of Cancer is now a national goal. Both Houses of Congress, both political parties and the President of the United States supported the legislation setting up an agency that will intensify efforts to find causes and cures of cancer. The pioneering work of the American Cancer Society in all its programs, including education and services as well as research must and will continue. It deserves our generous support more than ever in this year's Cancer Crusade.

If you wish, you may mail your check to Mrs. Ronnie Mittel, chairman of this year's drive.

Quack Medicine

Have a cold, the flu, indigestion, arthritis, or maybe you just don't have the pep and energy you used to have. If so, then you are probably familiar with the infinite number of home remedies which are available on the market today. You may also be aware of the fact that a great number of these cure-alls and pseudo-medicines do not work.

Billions of dollars are spent each year in the United States on quack medicines and secret potions by today's modern consumer.

The elderly are particularly victimized because with old age come many minor aches and pains and a few major ones. Many older folks hesitate to consult a competent physician and choose to prescribe for themselves, instead, through mail-order cures or door-to-door health consultants. The result is that they are bilked out of their money and disappointed when their problems are not solved by the "wonder" medicines they purchase.

Whether quackery is intended or not is beside the point—incorrect medical advice and cure-alls that don't cure are deceptive to the public and often dangerous as well.

Assuming that the cure or therapeutic device is harmless, it can still destroy one's faith in legitimate treatment by a doctor.

Frauds in the health field are almost too numerous to mention, but the Food and Drug Administration has compiled a list of items which should be noted. Fertile grounds for health hucksters include vitamins and pep pills, impotency cures, alcoholism treatments, air purifiers, mail-order eye glasses, hair restorers, and tired-blood tonics, to name only a few. Most of these items simply do not provide any relief or satisfaction to the hopeful individual seeking a cure.

The best advice to remember is that a physician should be consulted before being tempted to try any of these "sure-cure" remedies.

Three points which should prove helpful in recognizing health frauds and false cures are:

1. Does the medical profession disapprove them?
 2. Do they claim to have a secret remedy?
 3. Is a fast sure cure guaranteed where medical science fails.
- If the answer to these questions is "yes" then keep a firm grip on your pocketbook and walk away. Be an intelligent consumer, seek the advice of a licensed physician and buy drugs and medicines only from a reputable pharmacist.

Lawn Management Is Important

Lawn management chores such as fertilization, mowing and watering are again beginning to occupy considerable spare time of homeowners. With temperatures beginning to climb and a shortage of soil moisture, maintenance of the home lawn can be a perplexing job. However, by following certain basic maintenance practices, and doing them on time, an attractive lawn can be maintained with a minimum of problems.

First, adequate amounts of plant food are important to keep a lawn green and to maintain growth and health of the grass. Start by applying a complete fertilizer in the Spring as the grass begins to grow. Then follow with another application in the fall about a month before the first frost.

During the summer, application of nitrogen every 30 to 40 days will keep the lawn green and growing. Well-fertilized grass is able to withstand dry weather considerably better than grass that is hungry.

Nitrogen is a key fertilizer element in turf production. If deficient, plant growth will become stunted and a condition often called "firing" will develop. Lack of phosphorus will retard growth, and shortage of potassium will likewise inhibit plant growth and vigor. There must be a balance of these nutrients.

As rainfall becomes inadequate, waterings must be increased to supply needed moisture. Do not water the grass until it begins to show a need. Then soak the soil to a depth of eight or more inches to maintain a good turf root system. Frequent shallow waterings should be avoided.

In regard to mowing, possible scalping of the lawn if it is not mowed often. Removing a lot of growth at one time is detrimental to the grass. Close mowing is advisable if the homeowner can mow often. Close, frequent mowing will cause the grass to produce a lot of leaves very close to the ground. This produces an attractive and dense sod. Since most homeowners do not mow more often than once every week or 10 days, they should mow at some greater height to avoid scalping the grass too severely.

Check Animal Wounds For Worm Cases

Livestock and household pet owners are reminded that screwworms have returned to Texas with a vengeance. They should take all precautions to reduce case numbers.

An unusually mild winter in many portions of Mexico and in overwintering areas of South Texas has resulted in large fertile fly populations that are now triggering case outbreaks in many areas of Texas. Although all known cases are receiving hot-spotting treatments of sterile flies produced at the Mission Screwworm Eradication Center, nevertheless the cooperation of all producers is needed now. A screwworm epidemic is in prospect.

Screwworm cases in Mexico have mushroomed during the winter and early Spring, and Texas cases have spread from the Rio Grande Valley and South Texas through the Hill Country and into the Big Bend area. Hamilton County, in Central Texas, recorded its first case of the year this week, and 28 different counties have reported cases since the first of April.

Before the screwworm eradication program began in 1962, southwestern livestock owners suffered hundreds of millions of dollars in livestock losses annually. Since the program has been under way, losses have been kept to a minimum and ranch workers have concentrated on other activities besides checking for screwworm cases.

The time has come, however, when cooperation is again needed from all livestock owners and pet enthusiasts. Ideal weather conditions and migrating fertile flies are posing a threat to all counties of the state.

Thus far in 1972, 188 cases have been confirmed in a wide area of ed 6%. This holdback of heifers emphasizes that the expansion of beef herds is coming soon. In recent years, cattle numbers have increased primarily due to the increased demands for feeder cattle by feedlots. In 1955 only about 10 million head of cattle were fed in the 23 major feeding states compared with 25.3 million head last year.

Furthermore, cattle feeding should continue to grow. Consumers are now demanding grain finished cattle instead of those finished on grass. In other words, they are demanding a higher quality of beef. This can be illustrated by the fact that 59% of all the beef produced in the U. S. in 1970 graded USDA Choice while back in 1955 only about one-third was equivalent to that grade.

Lettuce Associated With Spring
Warm weather brings thoughts of cool, crisp, nutritious salads. A salad can introduce a meal, complement a meal, end a meal or even be the complete meal in itself.

Of all greens used for salad making, lettuce is by far the most popular. It has become an important item in today's meal patterns. Lettuce is the crop that can so easily be a boom or a bust, and this is interesting since lettuce is in demand by shoppers the year 'round. Weather can really play havoc with the best of man-made plans for producing lettuce for a pre-selected harvest date. Unusually high or low temperatures or amounts of moisture can easily result in the bunching or maturity of different production areas, and thus overload the market. Lettuce is a vegetable that can't be stored for long periods, neither frozen nor processed, for later marketing. It's time for turning leaves—fresh, crisp, tasty and nutritious lettuce leaves, that is. Selections are big, quality is excellent and cost is low now.

Iceberg lettuce commercially is the most important of salad greens. It keeps exceptionally well. Iceberg lettuce has a springy-firm head, is ideal to shred, slice or tear into bite size pieces and its outer leaves remove for sandwich use or as a background for other salad ingredients. If head lettuce becomes wilted or dried out, it can be refreshed by placing the head (after it has been cored) in cold water with some ice cubes for several minutes. Separate the leaves, drain, wrap and store it in a film bag in the hydrator of your refrigerator. Lettuce is a true friend of the weight watcher. A one-pound head of lettuce supplies a dainty 47 calories. Two large or four small leaves provide seven calories.

Children Learn What They Live
Parents sometimes forget that the way they treat their child determines the kind of person he will be.

Here is a list of qualities determined by parents' actions:
If a child lives with criticism, he learns to condemn.
If a child lives with hostility, he learns to fight.
If a child lives with ridicule, he learns to be shy.
If a child lives with shame, he learns to feel guilty.
If a child lives with tolerance, he learns to be patient.
If a child lives with encouragement, he learns confidence.
If a child lives with praise, he learns to appreciate.
If a child lives with fairness, he learns justice.
If a child lives with security, he learns to have faith.
If a child lives with approval, he learns to like himself.
If a child lives with acceptance and friendship, he learns to find love in the world.
If this shows you that you need to improve the way you treat your child, why not do something about it now?

'Age Of Aquarius' Banquet Theme
The theme of this year's Junior-Senior Banquet was Age of Aquarius, Saturday evening in the Memorial Building.
Served at the banquet were: roast beef, scalloped potatoes, green beans, hot bread, congealed salad, and the dessert was strawberry shortcake. Fruit cocktails were served beforehand.
The welcome was brought by John Rae Powell and the thank-you by Terry Clingan. Special gifts were presented to Mr. McDonald, Coach Quimby, and Mrs. Robert Joyce. After this, the Junior class prophecy and Senior will were read. Music was provided for by The Eagle.

THE 1972 JUNIOR PROPHECY
We, the distinguished, magnificent, dynamic, invigorating, absolutely marvelous, humble, and honest Juniors of 1972 have taken our precious time to gaze into the future of our pathetic (that's the only nice word we could think of to describe them) Seniors.
In the year 1982 after many years of hard, dedicated work, we find that Marian Overstreet has finally been elected drum-major of Eldorado High School. This is only her hobby; she is now stationed at USMC bootcamp as a drill sergeant.
Archie Nixon, new quarterback of Sul Ross University, has been named "Father of the Year" . . . pause . . . His dog had pups!
In 1982, Thelma Bosmans, under the supervision of Mrs. Meador, former librarian of EHS, has become the head photographer of Playboy magazine.
Due to her present nuptial state, Betty Kay Lacy has resigned as president of the David Whitworth fan club.
Eva Stigler has opened her own cookie factory, supplying cookies to the gups overseas . . . Poor Bradley, maybe one of these days he'll get a steak for supper instead of cookies.
The MGM lion has just been replaced by Phyllis Motormouth Sauer . . . roar.
We see Rene Scott finally engaged in the year 1982. Which one is it this time? Steve Mot? Steve Annet? Steve Sykes? Randy?
Karen Hight is now the head pianist for Lawrence Welk. A 1, a 2, 3.
Mike Mikeska, in 1982, is still dating Sonora girls. Keep at it Mic, maybe one of these days you'll get the Eldorado girls to date you.

Wayne, Wayne, go away.
Jean wants you some other day.
Aggie boots have caught her eye
Now she'll take them for a ride.
In 1982 we find Mohammed Pena and Joel Frazier still fighting over Neria.
News Flash! Ginger Stark has just been awarded the Dance Marathon Award for her magnificent ability and experience at western dancing and bopping.
Sherry Martin has been arrested for the illegal changing of dates on the bottom of Copenhagen cans and filling them with coffee grounds.
Barry Williams has just been awarded the Nobel prize in literature for his book, "All You Ever Wanted to Know About Dates, But Were Afraid to Ask."
After a record breaking engagement of 20 years to Bob Whitten, Patty Page is married . . . to Stuart Spock.
In the year 1978, we saw Jenny Sue Trainer as the mother of 7 boys. In the year 2000, we still find her drowning baby girls.
Norris Sauer and his nigs have now taken over Manchuria, Russia, and the Bay of Pigs.
We find Wes Wade reading Barry's book.
Jeanne McCravey, the world renowned shot putter, has just thrown 40 feet. She learned the technique from Martha Keel—ugh!
Brian Holsey, who is now working for Kentucky Fried Chicken, has increased his shorthand ability to 5 words a minute.
For the tenth time in 10 years, Dobie Lively has come back to Judy Hanusch and she's glad he did!
Terry Clingan and Gary Danford, co-presidents of Anheuser Bush, are working on perfecting a new beer made from Moorman Feed which was acquired from Sam A's old business.
Due to his fantastic talent, Ringo Williams has just joined Three Dog Night as head . . . drumhead cleaner.
We now find Kenneth Hight in the arms of Darlene—oops, I mean Rae.
Gay Lynn Richardson is now head cheerleader and Football Sweetheart at Texas Tech University. Tough luck Patty. Maybe next time.

Manuel Martinez is now the only Latin Am. playing for Dallas Cowboys.
News Flash! We now find Billy Dock Hubble in the centerfold of Good Housekeeping.
Terry Clingan after graduating from Nebraska as a football hero and signing a contract with the Canadian football league was caught . . . sober.

Loretta Schooley is flunking out of Radcliffe while working on her Ph. D. She has discovered that tears don't always work.
Marian Overstreet is now president of the Barry Williams fan club.
After 10 years, we still find Terry Clingan competing with Sonora . . . or is it Mark Wilkinson?
Gary Danford's Club, "Girls Are Pigs" now has an astounding nationwide membership of 6.
Barry Williams, under the direction of Dr. Drake, has finally analyzed the formula he found on the blackboard at Angelo State. Go to it Barry!
Since Ricky Griffin spent so much time during the past Easter holidays at Sonora, he has decided to move there to save gasoline. By the way Manch, how was the Moon-ney?
Ten years from now we see the Seniors have written a book about the 1971 Junior Prophecy, but after censorship, all that was left was the title.

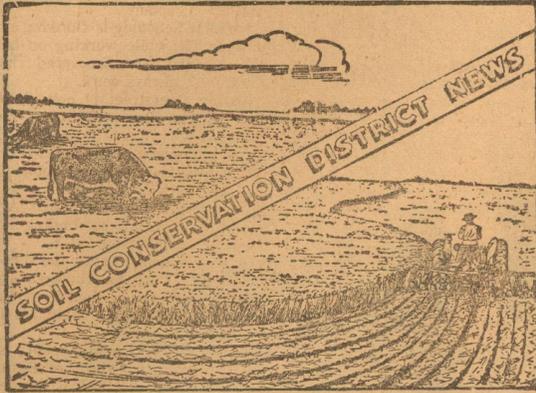

Young Men Must Still Register Draft Board
Austin, Tex.—Colonel Melvin N. Glantz, State Director of Selective Service for Texas, has reminded young men of their requirement under Federal Law to register with Selective Service.
Some young men believe that because future military manpower requirements may be met by volunteers that the requirement to register is past; however, the Law does require registration by all native born young men and all resident-alien within 30 days of their 18th birthday. Legal registration may be completed 30 days before, or 30 days after the young man reaches age 18.
If a young man fails to register with Selective Service, he is subject to a fine or imprisonment, or both, under provisions of the Military Selective Service Act.
In most Texas counties young men may register at the office of their local draft board, or with voluntary registrars located in convenient locations in their county. Mrs. Helen Carlman is the registrar representing Schleicher county.
If a young man has allowed more than 30 days to pass following his 18th birthday and has not yet registered, he should register immediately to avoid the penalty of the Law.
Complete registration information is available at each local draft board office.

Conservation Plan

Conservation Plan—A good tool to use in helping control pollution and beautify the country-side. The end product: more net profit.

If you are a rancher, you probably have land only suitable for range with some areas being adapted to grow cultivated crops safely. Perhaps you ranch differently from anyone else—because of the differences in your land and in your vegetation and because your ranching needs are different from those of other people.

There's one thing for sure: you are probably like all other ranchers—you are always making plans for your ranch. If you are planning your operations to make better use of the soil, water, and plants on your ranch, you are making a conservation ranch plan.

You need to know the facts about soil, water and plants on your ranch to make such a plan. Knowing these facts, you can decide how to manage these resources according to their need for protection and improvement. You are likely to have several range sites on your ranch, each one capable of producing different kinds or amounts of native forage. The forage production may vary from low to high.

Technical help is provided thru the Soil Conservation Service to assist farmers and ranchers in gathering these facts when developing Conservation Plans. This district, the Eldorado-Divide Soil and Water Conservation District, one of some 3,000 in the nation, was organized under the laws of Texas to help owners plan and apply conservation practices on their land.

Technical help from your district may be provided by making application for assistance, or see a member of your district governing body. After the application is approved, the district governing body will ask the Soil Conservation Service technician to assist you in developing your conservation plan.

He will have a map of your holdings which shows soil type, slope and erosion. It will show land suited for cultivation, boundaries of range sites and range condition class. Acres in each pasture or field will be shown along with the best use for the range, cropland, wildlife, or combination of these.

The producer may wish to change fence boundaries to make operation easier or you may want to plant a perennial grass on land you are now cultivating.

Your conservation plan, when completed, should give reasonable assurance that your soil and plant resources are being improved and maintained, that your crop and livestock production are sustained or increased, and that your operating unit will continue to be a stable provider.

When you have decided what all your land is to be used for, you and the technician then discuss the conservation practices needed for your range and cropland. Your stock will need adequate grazing each day of the year, hence you will want to determine how much range forage is available; evaluate feed produced from cropland; and determine the kind, class, and number of livestock you can graze and feed. With these facts at hand, you can better organize your grazing management plans for each season of the year and work out necessary livestock and breeding programs.

Once you know what you want to do, you can decide when and how to do it. Decide whether you need fencing, more water, a tank, and other conservation practices and plan on the best methods and time to build them. You will also decide which areas will benefit from extra water, fencing and brush control.

Texas has been blessed with an abundance of land and water resources. These have furnished us with lush grasses that feed our livestock; with fertile soils that grow our crops; with space for homesites; wildlife, recreation; and with water so vital to our livelihood.

In times past, we have fallen short in our care of these resources. We have eroded, polluted, overgrazed, burned, neglected. Sediment from erosion has muddied our water, clogged our streams, filled our lakes, and damaged our bays.

Our population grows at the rate of 2.6 million every year. So every day we have greater pressures on our land and water resources, creating new problems of erosion, flooding and pollution. Fortunately, however, each passing year has seen more and more people becoming conservation minded, people dedicated to the intelligent use of our resources to attain the highest quality of environment for mankind.

Employers Paying Less

Texas employers are paying less unemployment tax per worker than those of any other state, Texas Employment Commission reports.

The state average is $9.17 per worker covered by unemployment insurance, according to a 1970 TEC survey.

Comparatively, Alaska, at the top of the scale, pays out $276.18 per worker to support state benefits; California, $97.41 and Virginia (next lowest to Texas), $11.89.

W. S. Birdwell Jr., TEC employer representative, credited the low rate to unusual stability in employers and the work force, as well as a high degree of cooperation in the U. I. program.

TEC collects taxes from more than 162,000 Texas employers covered by the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act. Taxes are based on rate of worker turnover generally. The minimum tax is 0.1% and the maximum 4%.

Courts Speak

The State Supreme Court ordered a full trial of a Methodist Church dispute over $140,000 in trust funds.

In another case, the High Court reversed a trial court judgment and set aside a Railroad Commission order requiring owners of 26.6 acres of Wharton County mineral interests to pool their holdings with 15,342 acres in another oil producing unit.

Attorney General's Opinions

The Texas Department of Public Safety may administer certain tests to determine whether accident prone drivers can operate cars safely on completion of a rehabilitation program, and courts can require attendance at the latter, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded: —A new law prohibiting reproduction for sale of sound recordings without consent is constitutional.

—License fees imposed on nursing home administrators may not be paid by a state agency.

—Extension of four justice precincts by arm-like appurtenances cutting across election precincts in Smith county violates the election code.

Visitors Boom Economy

More than 22.6 million visitors came to Texas last year and spent an estimated $1.85 billion. The number was up 7% over 1970 and the dollar amount 25%.

Both figures were new records, according to Texas Tourist Development Agency and Texas Highway Department. Last year's visitors paid $166 million in direct state taxes. The Highway Department figured average spending per person per day among auto travelers was $14.92. Visitor spending has increased 170% since 1964.

GOD SPEAKS TO YOU NOW

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." John 3:16.

THIS IS MY BELOVED SON, IN WHOM I AM WELL PLEASED, HEAR YE HIM." Matthew 17:5.

Are you listening?

Jesus the Christ, the Son of God. Jesus the one promised to Eve, the one promised to Abraham, to his descendants, and to all the world. Jesus, the one who died for you, lives for you, and pleads your cause before the Throne of God. Jesus the one who is knocking at the door of your heart and pleading, "Let me come in."

He offers you liberty, light, and life, joy and peace. He invites you to come to him. He loves you so much that he is saying to you now, "COME UNTO ME, ALL YE THAT LABOR AND ARE HEAVY LADEN, AND I WILL GIVE YOU REST. TAKE MY YOKE UPON YOU, AND LEARN OF ME; FOR I AM MEEK AND LOWLY IN HEART: AND YE SHALL FIND REST UNTO YOUR SOULS. FOR MY YOKE IS EASY, AND MY BURDEN IS LIGHT." Matthew 11:28-30.

Man never heard a sweeter invitation.

Are you listening?

I would like to know just how I can come to Jesus and learn of him. DO YOU KNOW? —J. Loyd Rice

Whoever he is, wherever he is — I respect this man.
Naturally I respect anyone whose presence can bring calmness and peace where there could have been confusion and turmoil.
As for me, I'm just a writer. With others I've been writing on behalf of the Church — with conviction and enthusiasm—for many a year. Rarely until now have I written in the first person.
But this picture challenges one to identify himself. On this rocky hill-side teeming with restless life only one is master, guide, guardian of all.
I share with you the common realization: I am not that one. We share too the simple faith that knows: The Lord is my Shepherd.

Predator Referendum Falls Short Of Majority

Austin, Tex.—A proposed predator control program in a 73-county sheep and goat-raising area of West Texas failed to get the two-thirds majority necessary for approval in recent mail balloting, Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced.

A total of 1,240, or 54.3%, approved the proposal and 1,040 voted against it in the balloting that ended March 28. The Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association held the referendum under authority granted by Commissioner White under provisions of the Texas Commodity Referendum Law.

The proposal included a deduction of 20 cents a head for sheep and 10 cents a head for goats to be used in a predator control program.

Is now the time to buy land?

Acquiring that farm might seem more practical with financing through the Federal Land Bank. Land is easier to pay off when costs are amortized over extra years with a long-term Land Bank Loan. Your total cost of borrowing, too, can be less. Ask us for help: We know land values; we will inspect the property. We will then try to make a loan that meets your exact needs.

Briscoe Campaign Gaining Momentum

Dolph Briscoe, candidate for governor, took the old saying to heart and finished March like a lion. The growing momentum in the Briscoe campaign is evidenced by the large and friendly receptions the Uvalde civic worker met during the last week of March as he campaigned about the state. He opened the first week of April with a three-day bus tour through Central and East Texas.

In Big Spring, Texas, Briscoe strongly condemned the leadership of state government for failing to pass an ethics law "with teeth in it."

"The fact that we don't have a strong ethics bill is a disgrace," Briscoe said.

Briscoe also stated in Big Spring that he is opposed to an increase in the state gasoline tax.

In Lubbock, Briscoe reiterated his stand favoring the selection of students to serve one-year terms on the board of regents of state supported schools. Commenting on the need for more physicians, especially in rural areas, Briscoe said, "I strongly support and will work for an expansion of the medical schools in Texas, especially at Texas Tech."

From Lubbock, Briscoe traveled to El Paso where he made a walking tour of that city and campaigned largely in Spanish, a language Briscoe learned as a child in South Texas.

Briscoe blasted the governor and the lieutenant governor for the necessity of having a special session to pass a highway beautification act and a primary financing law.

"If they had taken care of this business when they should have, back during the regular session," Briscoe said, "this special session would not have been necessary."

From El Paso, Briscoe headed to Fort Worth, where he again campaigned vigorously for a meaningful ethics law for Texas. Briscoe said the kind of ethics law he wanted would "prohibit officials from accepting any gift, favor or anything of value that would reasonably tend to influence them in the discharge of their duties." He added emphatically: "This would include bank loans to buy stock."

Briscoe also restated his position favoring the limitation of the speaker of the house to a single two-year term. "That office, as well as the lieutenant governor's," he said, "have built up power bases which make them empires. We need to take those offices out of the hands of the power hungry and give them back to the people."

Next, the Briscoe campaign swung south, deep into the Rio Grande Valley country, where Briscoe addressed a crowd of agricultural workers in Mercedes. "We must have equal opportunities in education, in jobs, in housing, and in all facets of life," he stated.

Campaigning again in Spanish and in English, Briscoe spoke in a number of Valley towns on the value of the tourist industry to that area.

Briscoe repeatedly stated that he thought that he was now leading the Democratic party race for governor. Several polls taken during the week bear out his claim.
