The first bale of cotton for Schleicher county arrived at the Mikeska Gin last Friday, Oct. 6th, according to Gin Manager Kenith Homer.

The bale was brought by Santos Pina from his place near the south edge of town. It weighed out at 1920 pounds of seed cotton and made a bale of 540 pounds.

With continued dry and warm weather, Manager Homer predicted that the gin would be running steadily by next week.

The unusually late first bale was a result of the late summer rains. A year ago at this time we had just one bale in.

The Success printing department, after first of October, and was pleased to find that charges for city and school were a fraction less than last year, while Orval Edmiston's tax bill for state, county and hospital came to a modest increase of eight dollars.

The school tax and the city tax were each one dollar less than 1971, due no doubt because my Rambler was a year older.

The three tax totals are:

	1971	1972
School Tax	$146.55	155.85
City Tax	111.20	110.08
State, Co., & Hosp.	62.60	70.86
Totals	$320.35	326.79

The increase in the county column came about as follows:

Hospital District Board of Directors voted last summer to increase the hospital tax rate from 45 cents to 55 cents on the $100 valuation.

About the same time County Commissioners voted to increase county taxable valuations by 10% across the board.

Mason Punchers Down Eagles 39 To 13

Mason pushed through Eldorado's defense for six touchdowns Friday to defeat the Eagles 39-13 in the first district game for both teams.

The scoring began in the first quarter when the Mason Puncher Ted Geisweidt threw a 47-yard pass to Tim Ziriak. The extra point after failed. Later, Geisweidt tossed again to Ray Leifeste for 67-yards. The extra two points was made by Leifeste on a three yard run.

Eldorado got on the scoreboard in the second quarter when Gene Nixon intercepted a Mason pass and set the stage for the Eagles first touchdown. Then Mike Manning made the touchdown by scampering one yard. Ken Peters kicked the extra point.

Mason came back, however, with their own version of the interception play when Carleton Eckert ran 22 yards for another Puncher score. The attempt for the extra point failed.

The Punchers continued their scoring when Geisweidt carried for 15 yards following an Eagle fumble. Once again, the extra point failed.

The Eagles came back and found the mark once more as Manning again carried from the one-yard line. The Eagles failed to get the two extra points. The first half ended with the Punchers leading 26-13.

In the second half, Mason used the Geisweidt-Ziriak combination for 35 yards and another score. The run for two points failed. Then Geisweidt kept the ball for a yard and another TD. The extra point failed once again. The final tally was Mason 39, Eldorado 13.

The Eagle Lineman of the Week is Len Mertz. Len was graded an 80% on offense and a 71% grade on defense. He had a great total of 16 tackles. The Back of the Week is Hunter Henderson. Hunter was given a grade of 72% on offense and a 73% on defense. This Eldorado Eagle did a very good job during the entire game.

If your six year old saw something like this, would he know how to phone for help?

It's too important a question to leave to chance. That's why we're running this ad. If there are any six- or seven-year-olds around your house, teach them how to report emergencies. Tell them to dial "O", give their name and tell our operator where they are and what's wrong. With older children, train them to dial emergency numbers direct, since that's the fastest way to call for help. But don't stop there. Copy down the emergency numbers listed on the inside front cover or first page of your telephone directory. Add your family doctor's number. And the number of the nearest hospital. Next, tack up the list near your phone. Then get your kids to memorize it, in case it gets lost. By the time they're through memorizing those numbers, they're going to have every grownup in the house knowing them, too. Which is also why we're running this ad.

General Telephone Asks Hunters' Co-operation

General Telephone Company reminds hunters, with the Fall hunting seasons under way, that shooting at birds on telephone poles or lines may disrupt telephone service and endanger many people who depend on their telephones during an emergency. Damaged communication lines often do more than disrupt week end plans, it was pointed out by General officials. In some instances, a heart attack victim could lose his life.

In addition to carrying emergency messages, telephone lines may be guiding planes, serving radar tracking stations, or connecting several missile sites. Each minute a telephone is out of order, the safety of many people may be threatened, which is reason enough not to shoot birds on telephone lines or cables.

All hunters are urged to maintain and exercise caution.

Specially For Seniors

When the golden retirement age is reached it's just as important to eat nutritionally well balanced meals as ever. And though cooking for one or two is always a challenge, it becomes more so if retirement funds must be stretched and appetites sometimes decrease.

One problem is a shortage of recipes that cater to one or two. Today's recipes were specially developed for small families and those who eat alone: Triple Meat Loaf and Toasted Corn Bread Rounds.

The ground beef mixture for the loaves is mildly seasoned, and quick or old fashioned oats lock in natural juices, making the meat moist, flavorful and especially tender. The meat is shaped into 3 little loaves — one to cook now and two to freeze for later; each loaf makes two servings.

TRIPLE MEAT LOAF

Makes 3 small meat loaves

- 1 1/2 lb. ground beef
- 3/4 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
- 1 tablespoon instant minced onion
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon parsley flakes
- 1 egg, beaten
- One 4-oz. can mushroom stems and pieces, drained (optional)
- 1/2 cup tomato juice

Heat oven to moderate (350°F.). Combine all ingredients thoroughly. Divide the mixture into 3 equal parts. Shape each part to form a meat loaf about 1 1/2 inches high and about 6 inches long. Tightly wrap 2 loaves in freezer wrap and freeze for future use. Bake remaining loaf in preheated oven (350°F.) about 40 minutes. NOTE: Thaw frozen meat loaf before baking. Bake as directed above.

The corn bread is a small-sized recipe, baked in a greased empty can. The cooled bread is sliced, wrapped and frozen. Then you remove slices from freezer as needed and toast for hot, homemade-good corn bread on a moment's notice.

TOASTED CORN BREAD ROUNDS

Makes 8 slices

- 1 1/4 cups enriched yellow corn meal
- 3/4 cup sifted all-purpose flour
- 1/4 cup sugar (optional)
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 egg
- 1 cup milk
- 2 tablespoons shortening, soft

Heat oven to hot (400°F.). For corn bread, sift together dry ingredients into bowl. Add egg, milk and shortening.

Beat with rotary beater until smooth, about 1 minute. Do not overbeat. Bake in well greased empty 1 lb. 13-oz. round can in preheated oven (400°F.) 40 to 45 minutes. Remove from oven and let stand 2 to 3 minutes; loosen with spatula and remove from can. Cool thoroughly.

Cut into 8 slices. Wrap and freeze. Remove slices as needed and toast in toaster or broiler. Serve with butter or margarine.

School Administrators Meet in San Angelo

San Angelo, Tex.—C. T. Humphries, superintendent of the Schleicher County Independent School District, was among 65 other area school administrators and their wives who attended a program entitled, "Area School Administrators Evening" held on the Angelo State University campus Saturday.

The program was designed to acquaint the school officials with the various programs at the University and give them a first-hand look at the new physical education facilities.

The evening's program included a program at the Houston Harte University Center, a buffet dinner served pool-side in the new physical education building and the football game that pitted the Rams of ASU against the Bearcats of Sam Houston State University.

Weekly Market Report

College Station, Tex.—While other citrus supplies decrease, grapefruit is on the increase in produce sections of supermarkets.

About 3% of the year's crop came to market last month, and about 10% will appear during October, according to Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University.

Other fruit and vegetable items in good supply at the most economical prices include oranges, bananas, lemons, grapes and apples.

Also potatoes, celery, cabbage, carrots, hard shell squash, tomatoes, dry yellow onions, honeydew melons, cantaloupes, and sweet potatoes.

"Fryer chickens remain a no. 1 bargain in most meat departments," the specialist noted.

Egg prices increased a few cents a dozen last month, but grade A large-size eggs continue to be the best combination of quality and economy.

Turning to meat markets, the specialist advised looking for best beef values on round steaks and roasts, chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef, beef and calf liver.

CHICAGO FIRE KINDLED NATIONAL FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

In 1911, 40 years after the terrible fire that burned most of Chicago to the ground, the Fire Marshal Association of North America asked that people remember what such a holocaust can do.

It took 11 more years, but in 1922, the President of the United States decreed that the week of October 9 would be called Fire Prevention Week.

Since then, fire departments all over the country have observed Fire Prevention Week in special ways. According to a spokesman for The Hartford Insurance Group's Junior Fire Marshal program, it is a special time for Junior Fire Marshals, as well, for that's when they check their homes for anything which could start a fire.

Do You Know The Unit Price?

From the Office of Crawford C. Martin, Attorney General of Tex.) Nearly everyone has at sometime pondered the value difference between the three pound economy size of "what's-it" for $1.98 and the 33 1/2-ounce Jumbo size of the same product that sells for 61c. To add to the confusion even more you may find a 20 ounce regular size box available for 43c. Most people can figure out the size that offers the best cost per ounce value, but it takes time.

The unit pricing system aids in solving this type of problem for consumers. Unit pricing is a subject which has been written and talked about a lot. Several state legislatures have introduced unit pricing laws. New York City supermarkets are now required to comply with unit pricing regulations. Some Texas stores have adopted unit pricing systems. But many consumers still ask "what is it?"

Unit pricing is simply a plan in which the price of the merchandise is shown on the package in two ways. The total price of the item is shown, but in addition there is a price unit shown. For example: If a one pound package of shelled pecans sells for $1.60, this price would be shown on the package. Additionally the unit price of 10c per ounce would be shown on the package. If a 10-ounce package of pecans sold for $1.10 the package would show the total price of $1.10 and it would disclose also the unit price of 11c an ounce. You could see at a glance that the pecans in the one pound package cost one cent less per ounce than the pecans in the 10 ounce package. The unit pricing information gives shoppers a chance to quickly and easily compare the relative unit cost of different size packages.

Of course the price per unit does not take quantity needs into account. If you need only 10 ounces of pecans and the other six ounces would spoil before you could use them, the smaller size would be the proper one for you to purchase even though it costs more per ounce. Neither does unit pricing consider brand or quality differences. Assume that a box of Brand X contains 12 ounces of a product at a unit price of 3.5c per ounce and a box of Brand B contains 14 ounces of a like product at a unit price of 3.8c per ounce. If your family likes the taste of Brand B better you might still prefer to buy that product in spite of its higher unit price.

But if you simply want to get the most economical price, unit pricing makes your task much easier. You aren't faced with a series of mathematical problems every time you enter the supermarket.

Over the years, the public has generally come to accept the fact that the larger size packages are more economical. This is usually true but not always. Often the smaller or medium size container is actually the cheapest buy per unit volume.

The informed consumer will compare prices before buying, even if the store she is shopping does not unit price its goods.

Fire Prevention Week Participation Urged

A barking pooch arouses you from slumber. Acrid smoke hangs heavy in the air and a freight train like roar surrounds you. A shrieking siren and the crying of a terrified child penetrates deep into your sleep fogged mind, triggering the dry, copper taste of fear in your mouth as you suddenly realize that your house is on fire!

This was the case, or one chillingly similar, last year when fire killed 12,200 Americans—332 of them in Texas—and destroyed property across the nation valued in excess of $2.24 billion according to Tom B. Lee, Austin, manager of the Texas Insurance Advisory Association.

Speaking in conjunction with the beginning of Fire Prevention Week Oct. 8 through 14, Mr. Lee pointed out that every day nearly 7,000 fires occur in the United States. Every 46 seconds, on the average, fire breaks out in a home and every 43 minutes it claims a life.

Because most fires start between midnight and 6:00 a.m., Mr. Lee encourages all families to draw up a plan setting the following nighttime escape procedures:

- Sound the alarm. Decide on a warning the whole family can sound. It may be shouting, pounding on walls, striking pans, etc.
- Test doors before opening. Halls and stairways might fill with lung scorching, poisonous fumes. If a door is not, do not open it.
- Find alternate escape routes. Figure out two ways to escape each room, especially bedrooms.
- Exit quickly. Speed is vital in case of fire.
- Assign help for infants, the elderly and invalids.
- Gather at an outside meeting spot. Check to see if everyone is safe. Notify the fire department.

Derrick Heads Group Promoting Tower

Barefoot Sanders' gutter-type tactics in attacking U. S. Senator John Tower will backfire on November 7, Howard C. Derrick, Tower's Schleicher County campaign committee, predicted today.

"The voters are getting sick of Sanders' whimpering, whining distortions of Senator Tower's record," said Derrick. "He has now resorted to outright lies, apparently in an attempt to cover up his own lack of qualifications and his close association with the McGovern-Ramsey Clark crowd."

"He finally had to admit that Ramsey Clark contributed $2,000 to his campaign, not long before Clark went to Hanoi and told the world how bad he thinks the United States is," said Derrick. "But then Sanders tried to divert attention from that, partly by claiming that in 11 years in the Senate, John Tower has done absolutely nothing for environmental protection."

"The truth is that Senator Tower has sponsored or cosponsored 78 bills and 46 amendments dealing with conservation and ecology," said Derrick. "Nineteen of those bills have been passed into law and five more have been passed by the Senate."

"A few of the environmental measures he has helped pass have provided an incentive tax credit for the cost of installing water or air pollution control facilities; increased federal assistance for state agencies which tighten water quality standards and enforcement processes; helped control generation of noise detrimental to people; reserve land for a national wild river system; and established an Environmental Financing Authority to assist in the financing of water treatment facilities."

"This is just another example of the desperate, deliberate distortions Sanders is using in an attempt to cover up the fact that he has no qualifications at all to be a U. S. Senator," said Derrick.

Mary McGuffin, Ida Brunsmann, and Nan McTear, all from LeMesa, California, visited with Mrs. Sadie Davidson for several days last week.

Austin, Tex.—Ten members of a 12-member jury can decide civil cases under new rules of civil litigation procedure adopted last week by the State Supreme Court.

Unanimous verdicts are now required of juries, and the change is regarded as one of the most far-reaching in many years.

An effort in the last Legislature to authorize 10-2 jury verdicts fell under weight of defense attorney opposition.

Retiring Supreme Court Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert called the revised rules "the greatest reform measure during my term (22 years) on the court."

Rules deal with appeal motions, depositions, evidence discovery motions, and other matters. Calvert said changes would do away with some elements of the adversary system and open up evidence. Rules will take effect Feb. 1, 1973.

Unanimous verdicts still will be required in criminal cases, but in civil litigation 10 or more jurors can decide a case. Five-to-one verdicts will be permitted in municipal, justice of the peace and county courts at law where six-man juries now decide cases.

Some attorneys said the key rules change would eliminate hung juries in civil cases, speed up trials and ease the backlog of civil cases jamming metropolitan courts. Others said the changes in discovery of evidence will reduce the number of actual trials. The latter change will allow all parties to a case to see what both sides have as evidence.

Another change would allow the State Supreme Court to reverse or modify a lower court finding or enter a new decision without awaiting formal arguments of contesting parties.

Agenda Grows and Grows

Gov. Preston Smith continued to open the special session call to new subject matter before any final action was taken on competitive insurance rates or gubernatorial fiscal powers.

Last Tuesday he dropped 16 more bill proposals on lawmakers for attention in a series in a session due to wind up October 17. Among them were the following:

An $8 million appropriation for a Fort Worth school for the mentally retarded, changing hunting and fishing license fees, allowing bond financing of voting machines in counties over one million population, allowing subdivisions to issue bonds for air control facilities and lease the facilities to private interests, amending retirement statutes to allow credit for certain military, state employment and judicial services, allowing the State Board of Control to make purchases for political subdivisions and defining "child" under juvenile court procedures as one over 10 and under 17 years of age.

Key legislators began to question whether the variety of subjects permitted the focus of legislative and public attention on insurance reform which Smith claimed he wanted.

Voter Registration High

Voter registration for the November 7 general election ended at midnight Saturday, with indications the total number of Texans eligible may reach a record 4.8 million.

At that, however, the total percentage of eligible voting age Texans may be less than 1968 and 1970.

There are now about 7.5 million Texans of voting age. The expected 4.5 million to 4.8 million sign-up would represent a 60% showing. A 4 million registration in 1968 and a 4.1 million figure in 1970 amounted to about 64% of the eligible population.

An estimated 660,000 voters have been added to rolls since the voting age was lowered. There are an estimated 1.5 million now eligible to vote who were not eligible in the 1968 presidential election.

Short Snorts . . .

School Land Board accepted bonuses of $2,694,939 in high bids from oil and gas leases at its fall lease sale, bringing the permanent school fund to an all-time high of $944,246,467.

Texas Water Development Board sold a $25 million bond issue for local water supply project aid.

Seguin Independent School District board of education was cited as the "outstanding school board of Texas" for 1971-72.

Securities registered for public sale in Texas during the fiscal year which ended August 31 soared beyond $1.5 billion.

Construction is under way on Terrell State Hospital recreation and training building and a Big Spring State Hospital maintenance building.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By The Ministerial Alliance of Eldorado

"A Lay-Woman Speaks"

I would like to quote you a letter in part. This letter could be your letter or mine. It could be added to the parables of Jesus. It could be from one who heard Jesus teach by the Sea or near the Temple. This letter reads:

Dear Pastor:

This morning as I start my day, there is a heavy fog, and the world seems small and closed in around me. The birds break the silence with their song. I feel the urge to count my blessings. Where to begin: husband, sons, home, family, friends, health, church? Church. We (you and I) were discussing the church just yesterday, and you always start the wheels in my mind turning. I think I was about 10 when I started Sunday School in our church. I progressed through the youth groups, was married, had two sons baptized, lost my father and sister, taught Sunday School worked in the Woman's society and served on church committees. All along I paid in on the budget, pledged for the new church and for the new addition.

As I told you yesterday, I honestly try to do my share. This is my little world, and I'm satisfied with it. However, suddenly the sun is coming out, and the world is becoming vast again. I'm beginning to see that two and two isn't four. There is something amiss with my balance sheet. My account with my church suddenly seems overdrawn. Let's see . . .

I deposited myself; I withdrew a way of life. I deposited my wedding vows; I withdrew a wonderful and satisfying marriage. I deposited sons for baptism; I withdrew all the joys and blessings of motherhood. I deposited grief; and I withdrew comfort. I deposited time; I withdrew the friendship of young and old. I deposited money. Now that seems to be the touchy subject. What do I get for my money?

A beautiful building, yes, but more than that, and investment in the children and young adults of our church, a place to worship, a place to meet friends, old and new.

A Mrs. G., who is always cheerful and on the job keeping the church clean and beautiful.

A Mr. So, who is pleasant and always ready to do an extra bit to keep the office running smoothly.

A Miss S., whose talents and concerns for our young people are paying great dividends.

A Rev. Mr. D., well, who can measure in dollars and cents the value of the person who baptizes our children, marries our young, visits our sick and comforts our bereaved, in addition to the other formal duties of the church? It seems I am getting a good return on my money also.

You did try to explain to me that church expenses had gone up, but that giving hadn't. I tried desperately to make you understand that income hadn't gone up in proportion to all our expenses. You do realize that if I don't put more in the bank than I take out, I'm in trouble. That if I don't pay the amount I'm billed for lights, telephone, gas, etc., they'll discontinue the services I need. Why didn't you tell me that if I don't pay more than my share that the church won't be there to meet my needs? That all the services I take for granted will cease, that you didn't expect me to pay my debt in full, but just a low rate of interest on the principal?

I know of no other organization where I am free to decide how little I want to deposit and still feel free to withdraw as much as I need. Signed: Mrs. M.

Think about it, it could make a difference. —Rev. Fred Cox

It's Pumpkin Time Again . . .

With those familiar golden-orange spheres appearing on the scene. With Halloween just around the corner, they have come to market in full force.

Pumpkins are famous through fact and fiction—from Thanksgiving's pies and Halloween's jack-o-lanterns to Cinderella's coach and Peter Pumpkin Eater's famous place.

When purchasing a pumpkin, the consumer should choose one that is blemish-free and has a hard rind. Look for one that's heavy for its size. Extra large pumpkins may have stringy, coarse flesh with less flavor than that of small to medium ones.

Handle pumpkins with care and store in a moderately cool, dry, well ventilated place at about 50 to 60 degrees F. Stored this way, they will keep from two to six months. For long periods of storage, select pumpkins that are not bruised or otherwise injured.

Even left-over Halloween pumpkins don't have to be wasted. If used within two or three days after cutting, jack-o-lantern pumpkins can be cooked, cooled and frozen into quantities suitable for one meal. One pound of pumpkin will yield one cup when cooked. One pint of cooked pumpkin usually makes three to four servings, while 1½ to 2 cups of it will make a nine-inch pie.

Store cooked pumpkin in the refrigerator in a covered container. For best flavor, plan to use it within two or three days. To cook this "fun squash," first wash and peel it, then cut it into pieces. Boil in a small amount of water in a covered container until tender. Either mash the cooked pumpkin or put it through a sieve or blender, and season, if desired. Baking is another way of preparing pumpkin. First cut the pumpkin in half or into quarters and remove the seeds. Place the desired section, cut side down, in a shallow pan and bake at 350 degrees F. until tender. A second method of baking involves sealing the pumpkin in foil and baking it in a 350 degree oven.

Once done, scoop the flesh from the shell, mash or put through a sieve or blender. At this point, the cooked pumpkin is ready for use in a favorite recipe. Steaming is still another way of preparing this versatile product. To steam, place the pumpkin on a wire rack over boiling water in a covered container. Steam until it's tender.

For use as a vegetable, cook and mash the pumpkin, then season with butter, salt and pepper. On the other hand, pumpkin can be used as a dessert when mashed and used in pies, tarts, cakes, cookies or breads. In addition, the seeds—when roasted or toasted and salted—are an excellent crunchy snack food. An often overlooked bonus is pumpkin's supply of vitamin A—a serving of one-half cup will furnish the vitamin A requirement for one day. It also provides small amounts of other vitamins and some minerals.

County Ag. Agent's Column

By Jerry Swift

November Is Food and Fiber Abundance Month

The entire month of November will be observed as "Texas Food and Fiber Abundance Month."

Consumers can be assured of highest quality and large quantities of Texas food and fiber products at reasonable prices, officials emphasize. The month-long observance is being promoted by agricultural groups of the state to inform and reassure consumers of the quality and abundance of food and fiber materials. Never before have consumers had such a wide array of food and fiber products at such a reasonable cost from which to choose, program officials emphasize.

It is most appropriate that Texas Food and Fiber Abundance Month be observed in November and that Texas consumers and others join in placing emphasis on the blessing and abundance of food and natural fibers that come from farms and ranches around the state, said Jack Barton of Houston, president of the Food and Fiber Abundance Month observance.

The salute to agriculture—and the general emphasis on quality food and fiber products—will be implemented in virtually every county of the state in November, traditionally a time to show appreciation and give thanks for the abundance, value and wide choices of excellent products.

The Food and Fiber Abundance message is being directed toward the urban dweller, with special emphasis on reaching homemakers who do most of the buying.

Calling attention to Food and Fiber Abundance month will be a wide variety of educational programs, including displays and exhibits at shopping malls and other strategic locations such as grocery stores and banks; school observances talks before civic clubs or on radio and television; youth activities, and articles in daily and weekly newspapers and magazines.

Electrical Call For Help

Lights that dim when large appliances and machines go on, fuses blowing frequently, electrical tools that act balky . . . Electricity acting this way is trying to tell its users something.

It's a call for help, and Fire Prevention Week, October 8-14, is an ideal time to answer electricity's "S.O.S." distress signal on your farm and in your home.

Dimming lights and blowing fuses mean overloaded and possibly faulty circuits. The help needed in this situation, is to use fewer appliances and tools—not bigger fuses—and to have wiring and everything powered by electricity checked by an expert. If recommended, modernize service facilities on your property to meet present day National Electrical Code standards.

Balky tools and appliances may be acute fire and shock hazards. Take them out of service immediately, and repair or replace them. Watch for—and replace—the most common of hazards: frayed cords and broken plugs.

Be alert to danger signals, and keep your farm and home out of the annual statistics of electrical fires.

Screwworm Cases Expected To Reach Peak In October

Mission, Texas.—"If reporting of screwworm cases is anywhere near normal, we believe that the second and third week of October will be the heaviest infestation period of the 1972 screwworm outbreak."

This word comes from Dr. M. E. Meadows, Jr., who is in charge of the Screwworm Eradication Center at Mission.

"In five of the past 10 years, more cases were confirmed in October than in any other month of the year. With the exception of 1962—the initial year of the eradication program—in every year when more than 400 cases were confirmed, October has been the worst month," Meadows said.

A gradual reduction in case numbers should begin after the third week of October, he predicted.

"Based on the history of the eradication program, we had anticipated that September and October would be the heaviest months of screwworm infestation. However, it appears that September will show less confirmed cases than August, based of course on fewer overall samples received," the Eradication Program director said.

This situation, however, is believed to reflect the generally poor reporting of cases by the livestock industry, rather than representing a reduction in actual cases, he added.

Onset of cold weather north of the drop area could result in rapid case reductions during mid-November and thereafter.

DON'T TAKE RURAL TEXANS FOR A RIDE...

...AND DON'T TAKE US FOR GRANTED.

HERE'S WHAT NIXON IS DOING TO RURAL AMERICA

WHEAT SCANDAL - Giant wheat exporters made huge profits at the expense of individual wheat farmers, many in Texas, on Soviet trade.

TAXES - Wall Street Journal says federal laws favor the corporation or investor who farms on the side for a tax write-off.

FARM ISSUES - Under Nixon, parity dropped the lowest since 1933. Nixon held up payments of nearly $400 million for feed grains in 1970, forcing farmers to borrow at highest interest rates in history.

CONGLOMERATE SCANDALS - Big Business first, the public second - that's the Republican philosophy. Anti-trust suit against ITT dropped at the same time ITT pledged $400,000 to finance Republican Convention.

Harry S. Truman said, 'The Republicans admire our government so much they want to buy it.'

Let's face it. The Republicans just haven't changed much since the days of our grandfathers. They still favor Big Business over the average working man and woman. And while they're taking us for a ride, they keep telling us what a 'dangerous radical' Senator McGovern is.

That's what they said about Harry S. Truman.

HERE'S WHAT McGOVERN IS DOING FOR RURAL AMERICA

HIS STANDING - George McGovern has been elected time and again as a Democrat from a Republican farm state . . . because they know where he stands.

TAXES - His tax proposal would end the loopholes for tax-loss farming by giant corporations and the wealthy individuals who compete unfairly with family farmers. McGovern's proposal calls for the same tax on capital gains as on earnings.

FARM ISSUES - He sponsored and co-sponsored: Meat Import Limitation Law; Dairy Import Act; Wheat, Feed Grain, and Soybean Emergency Reserve Bill; Rural Development, Rural Job Development, and Rural Telephone Acts; Farm Credit Act; and other pieces of important legislation.

HIS BELIEFS - George McGovern knows that the answers to many of our most pressing problems in America today can be found by developing genuine opportunities for everyone in our small towns and rural areas throughout the country.

Let's not be taken for granted by the Nixon Republicans. Rural America has always fared best under a Democratic administration. If you want to stand up and do something good for rural America, the answer is to help put a Democrat in the White House. We need George McGovern . . . and George McGovern needs us.

RURAL TEXANS NEED A DEMOCRAT.
