ROCKSPRINGS DEFEATS ELDORADO THURSDAY.

The Eldorado ball boys went to Rocksprings Thursday of last week, taking two teams and playing two games, losing both games, the score of the first team being 9 16 in favor of the Rocksprings boys, our boys make more scores playing with Rocksprings than any team they play with, but always let them make more, other games they hold down to only a few runs and in some instances they play a shut out, but they seem to have an off day when they play Rocksprings.

ELDORADOANS SPEND WEEK AT CHRISTOVAL.

R. P. Hinyard and family returned Monday from Christoval where they spent the week end, they were accompanied by Miss Ruth DeLong and Miss Bachelor. Miss Bachelor returning to her home at Dallas after spending several weeks with her friend Miss Evelyn Hinyard.

The Editor and tribe packed the Cheverolet and slipped out of town Friday afternoon headed north and landed at Christoval where W. L. McWhorter, Bob Murray and Will Whitten are keeping a close watch on the swimming hole. We stayed in that vicinity until Sunday afternoon and enjoyed a good mess of fish on the river Saturday also a dip in the limpid waters in the afternoon. Enjoyed visiting the Methodist Sunday School Sunday morning, where we first attended Sunday School in our early childhood, also heard a splendid sermon on Christian Education, delivered by Rev. Clark.

BABY IS DROWNED

William Holmes Ogden, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ogden, who reside on the farm six and a half miles east of San Angelo on the Paint Rock road, was drowned at about 3:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon in a watering tank near which the baby with to other small children was playing.

Mr. Ogden said that he had noticed the baby on other occasions standing at the tank playing with his hands in the water and fearing that some accident might happen he drained the water from the tank and kept it at about fifteen or eighteen inches deep. Thursday, however, pipe that drains from the zinc tank into the dirt tank became clogged and the windmill continued to feed water increasing the depth to about two feet.—San Angelo Standard

Mr. Ogden and family are well known in Eldorado having lived here, at one time, and has several relatives her.

According to the testimony introduced at the trial Schrier and young Hickox were fighting, Hickox being the aggressor, while the scuffle was going on the father of young Hickox approached from the rear of young Schrier and shot him in the small of the back killing him almost instantly, being so close that the clothing of Schrier caught fire from the powder of the pistol.

Young Hickox was granted bail in the amount of $2,500.

Both the Hickox's were in the Tom Green County jail as there is no jail at Rankin.

We hated to miss the re-union at Brady this week, but it was impossible for us to attend, and another thing we didn't learn whether the neighbors had carried Albert anything to eat.

Someone has said that everyone can have a flying machine—faith for one wing, imagination for another, and courage for the propeller. A little imagination isn't a bad thing you know. It will help over a lot of the rough places. And faith work wonders. Faith in people is pretty nearly always rewarded by finding out that they have the right stuff in them. Lack of faith is pretty sure to mean lack of happiness, for if you go about without it you are going to find a lot of gloom.

GRADY PERRY TO EDIT

JUNCTION PAPER.

Austin, July 26.—Grady Perry member of the House from Erath County, will retire from politics at the end of the present extraordinary session and will remove from Erath County to Junction, where he will be the publisher and editor of the Junction Eagle. Junction is the county seat of Kimble County and is one of the most picturesque towns in Texas.

Representative Perry has acquired control of the Eagle Publishing Company.

During the war Perry was captain of a cavalry troop.

H. Grady Perry at one time taught in the Eldorado school and is well known here, he has always felt the calling into the newspaper field and we are glad to see him coming in, the water is fine and we know he will like it, it has the same fascination as politics, once in, its hard to get out.

NEW TARIFF LAW LIKELY TO INCREASE COST OF LIVING.

The New York Journal of Commerce in an editorial, charges that the new tariff, if put through in the form it passed the house, will have the effect of increasing the cost of living. It says that it enables American manufacturers to absolutely disbar any competing product. It says in part:

"The tendency of the tariff duties is always toward establishing and aggravating high prices, but this is a situation from which the country has long suffered and of which too much need not now be said. But the new tariff is essentially an effort to aggravate and perpetuate these high prices. In what is called the American valuation provision it is stated that duties are to be levied not on the cost of goods abroad but on the strength of the wholesale market for such goods in the United States. This means in practical effect that the domestic producer in the United may fix his own tariff from month to month to suit himself, provided he can control domestic prices.

Those who can fix this wholesale valuation, therefore, can fix their own tariff rates and can say whether competing goods shall be admitted to this country or not.

"Are there such price fixing organizations? It is generally admitted that since the war there has been a great growth of them. Some place the number now existing in this country in the hundreds. They affect almost all articles of common use in one way or another—some more powerfully than others, but all more or less. This is in part an outgrowth of the war conditions and a state of things that has been constantly denounced by officers of the Government, both under the Wilson and Harding administrations. The chief and most effective remedy against such organizations is foreign competition, but the new bill gives the associations power to end such competition as they please.

"What does the consumer of the ordinary necessities of life think of such a condition? How does it appeal to the women of the country who have the spending of the bulk of the national fund for current family use? What is their view of a scheme to put prices to something like the old levels? We all know how slowly and reluctantly organizations of dealers have yielded in their prices. Wholesale prices are still from 40 to 50 per cent above pre-war figures and retail prices a good deal above wholesale. The power to prevent price adjustments was never more conclusively demonstrated than during of the past year. None too great is the ability of the consumer to protect himself today. Yet the tariff bill proposes to take away from him this remnant of self-protection and by an unheard of scheme to strengthen the hands of interest which have for years past been mulching him through excessive price fixing.

"The tariff is not a purely 'business' matter. It is a question that affects every home in the land and will raise the cost of the average man's support by tremendous amounts should the bill go through as now planned. The housewives of the country ought to make it their business to investigate the working of the several schedules, and especially of the valuation proposal already described. To play into the hands of monopolist and unknown trade magnets whose power to fix prices is in many cases virtually unlimited as this bill proposes to do betrays a blind faith in ordinary human nature which is magnificent but dangerous. It will not appeal to the common sense of the rank and file of the people if they inform themselves of its probable results."

E. B. Willoughby shipped some calves to market which net him over $14 00 per head.

PROF. C. J. BUDLONG,
Manchester, N. H.

"I am in good health for the first time in thirty years and I give Tanlac the entire credit," said Professor C. J. Budlong, a well-known and highly respected citizen of Manchester, N. H., living at 42 School street.

"From the time I was a boy I couldn't sit down and eat a meal without being in misery afterwards from indigestion. During all of these years I was afflicted with rheumatism, too. It was all over my body but especially bad in feet and legs and at times I couldn't get from my bed to my chair without help. I was almost a nervous wreck from all these years of suffering and could not half do my work. I hoped for nothing more than temporary benefit from Tanlac, as I believed it impossible for any medicine to give me entire relief, but this is exactly what Tanlac has done.

"For the first time since I can remember I eat anything I want and digest it without any trouble. I haven't an ache or pain and have put on eighteen pounds in weight. I just feel good all over and enjoy life as I never did before. Having put Tanlac to the test I do not hesitate to say that it is the greatest medicine of the age for stomach trouble and rheumatism."

GOATMEN FIX SHEARING PRICES

Sanderson, Texas July 31.—

About twenty five of the more prominent goat raisers of Terrell County met here Friday and voted to pay the following prices for shearing of goats this season:

Four cents per head where the owner of the goats furnish the machinery and power, and 5 cents where the shearing gang furnishes everything. The meeting also voted to pay all goat herders $20 per month in the future. The goat raisers formed a permanent organization by electing Edward Downie, chairman, and Frank Harrell president.—Star-Telegram.

"Tales of ghosts and goblins are crooned to the child in the cradle. At six he fears imps and witches. At ten he fears policemen. At twenty he is a prey to morbidity. How silly is Fear. Parnell, the Irish leader, feared green. Marshall Saxe was afraid of cats. Fear is a sin—a disease. It turns body juices into rank poisons. It causes failures—mentally, physically, commercially. Right now business stagnation is heightened by fear. A bold stroke would end this talk of depression. Get to work upon your fears and run them out. Flood your whole mental region with Faith."

Forbes Magazine.

The spirit of "don't care" is too strong in the world today, especially in the eastern hemisphere. Independence is a fine thing, but selfish disregard for the right and feeling of something entirely different. We have too much of the feeling that as long as our own skin is safe, we need not worry about our brother. Most of us think that unpleasant things won't happen to us. That's probably the way Rome looked at matters before the visit of the vandals from the north. This spirit never yet fired a patriot or built a happy home.

THE SURPRISE PARTY

"OLD Singlefoot is going to celebrate his golden wedding tomorrow," said the assessor; "we are planning to give him a surprise party, and would like you to go along."

"You couldn't drag me there with a team of government mules," replied the village patriarch.

"About the meanest trick you can play a man is to spring a surprise party on him. Of course the majority of surprise parties are fakes. The victim has been informed in advance that he is going to be ambushed upon a certain date, and he makes his preparations accordingly. Then when the visitors arrive at his abode he pretends to be immensely astonished, and says he never dreamed of such a visitation; but the fact that he is wearing his Sunday shirt, and has his hair parted in the middle, gives the lie to all his protestations."

"There is no serious objection to a surprise party when the victim is warned in advance, although, as I have shown, it encourages skulduggery and hypocrisy, for no man can be thoroughly honest who pretends amazement over a visit he has been planning for."

"But the genuine surprise party is an outrage, and people who resort to it should be severely punished. There's nothing more humiliating to a self-respecting man than to have a whole neighborhood blow into his dwelling when he isn't looking for it."

"When I am at home I sacrifice everything to personal comfort. I take off my shoes and collar and necktie, and roll up my shirtsleeves and slip my suspenders down over my arms. I don't care how I look if I am feeling at ease. If I am expecting visitors, I go to my boudoir and fix myself up so I look like a bridegroom. My wife has theories, similar to mine, and doesn't believe in being arrayed in purple and fine linen all the time. But she wouldn't be seen looking slouchy for anything."

"Some months ago my wife casually remarked to a neighbor that my birthday would occur on the following Wednesday, and that neighbor, being a confirmed busybody, got busy and organized a surprise party. I never received the faintest hint of the scheduled catastrophe, and on the evening of my birthday I was lying on the floor of the sitting room, with about a hundred newspapers around me. My wife was wearing an old wrapper, and was popping corn on the kitchen stove. There was nobody else in the house, and we had no idea visitors would come, for it was a bag night."

"About eight o'clock, just when I was thinking of going to bed, there was a knock at the front door. My wife thought it was some boy on an errand so she went to the door with a stovehook in one hand, and the corn popper in the other, and she gave a shriek of anguish when she saw the mass meeting on the front porch. The minute the door was open all those delegates pushed themselves in, smiling and giggling as though they were doing something mighty funny."

"Our house hadn't been in such disorder in twenty years. It looked as though a couple of amateur teams had been playing basketball in it. My wife and I began apologizing and explaining, as people will do under such conditions, although they know the nobody will believe what they say. The guests assured us that it was all right, but I could see them squinting around and making mental notes for future reference, and inside of a week the story was all over town that our house was a fright, and no respectable cow could live in it."

"That was the most miserable evening I ever spent, my friends, and I have never forgiven the people who took part in that uprising. And you may be sure I'll never treat another man as I was treated."

Lost Note Redeemed.

A soldier presented himself at the commonwealth treasury in Melbourne, Australia, and said, "I am a 20-pound note and want to be cashed." He stated that he had swallowed the note at Fleurbaix when he expected to be captured. He remembered the number, and the note in question turned out to be the only one missing from a particular issue which had been recalled.

Young people probably grow tired of hearing so much talk about taking advantage of their opportunities. Still, the world is full of them. Did you ever stop to think that Caesar might had had an automobile and whizzed about the streets of Rome? But someone neglected the opportunity to make one. The principles upon which an automobile is built, have always existed. In the years to come many things will be today if someone would seize the opportunity.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE
XXXVII.—NEBRASKA

THE Indian name for the Platte river was Nebraska, meaning "shallow water," and from this came the name of the state. A nickname for the state is the Blackwater State.

Of the early Spanish explorations little is known, except that Coronado probably reached the great plain of this region in 1541. More than one hundred and twenty-five years later Father Marquette noted the Platte river on his trip up the Missouri. In the beginning of the Nineteenth century the Lewis and Clark expedition skirted the boundaries of the present state and in 1805, Manuel Lisa established the first known settlement which was a fur trading post at Bellevue. This was just after the Louisiana Purchase had brought Nebraska into United States territory.

Omaha was established as a post of the American Fur company in 1825 and Nebraska City the following year.

With the California gold rush in 1849 many pioneers passed through Nebraska and some stopped and settled there although there was a law forbidding settlements among the Indians. The real colonization boom, however, started with the passing of the Kansas-Nebraska act in 1854, which arranged that these two sections should become free or slave states at the dictate of their inhabitants. The Nebraska territory was then organized and reached from the fortieth to the forty-ninth parallel. In 1861, the region north of 43 was made into Dakota territory. The Idaho Territory was also created, which reduced Nebraska to its present size of 77,520 square miles, except for a slight addition in the Northwest which was made in 1882.

In 1867 Nebraska was admitted as the 37th state over the president's veto. It has eight presidential electors.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE
XXVI.—MICHIGAN

THE French missionaries and fur traders were the first whites to penetrate into Michigan. Their first visits to this region date back to 1610. It was not until 1668 however, that the first actual settlement was made. This was the mission at Sault Sainte Marie, founded by Father Marquette. Mackinac was established a few years later, and Detroit's growth was slow. After the French and Indian wars the English took over this territory, and in 1774 it was formally declared a part of Canada. Detroit rapidly grew in importance and during the Revolution was the base of operations for many raids by the British and Indians against the Americans. By the terms of the treaty of Paris in 1783 this region became a part of the United States. What is now Michigan, Wisconsin, a part of Minnesota, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio was known as the Northwest territory. After Ohio was set off as a separate state the Lower Peninsula of Michigan was joined to Indiana territory. In 1805 Michigan became a separate territory with about its present boundaries. There was, however, a great dispute over a small strip of land in the extreme southern portion which was claimed by Ohio. This almost led to bloodshed, but was finally settled by Michigan releasing her claim to the disputed area and receiving as compensation an addition to the Upper Peninsula. On this basis Michigan was admitted to the Union in 1837 and became the twenty-sixth state. Michigan has a unique situation, as it is bounded by the three largest of the Great Lakes, and divided into two peninsulas. This gives it a coast line larger in proportion to its area than any of the other states. It is named after Lake Michigan, which is the Algonquin word, "Michi-gan," meaning "great sea." It is entitled to 15 votes in the electoral college. (© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)
