In 1894 the C. C. West family were living in Edward county and owned a herd of sheep. Mr. West was hauling his wool to San Angelo and stopped at the headquarters of the Vermont Ranch Co., to spend the night. There he became acquainted with Tom Palmer. Soon a friendship was formed and Mr. West decided this was a good country to settle in. After his return to the ranch in Edwards, he began telling Mrs. West of all the beauty of Schleicher county. Low Rent Housing Reports No Vacancies; Waiting List

"I could have rented eleven more units during the past week if I had had them," so declares Mrs. John Gilmore, executive director of Eldorado's 25 low rent housing units here.

While some local people are among the applicants, Mrs. Gilmore points out that an increasing number of inquiries come from people living in other counties. Among them are retired people who are finding it difficult to live in a city on their social security income. Some are home owners who are having great difficulty paying high city taxes and still have enough left for modest living expenses.

The chief thing about Eldorado that makes it attractive to senior citizens is our new hospital and nursing home, providing prompt medical attention when needed. No retired person would choose to locate in a town without medical facilities.

Other things about Eldorado are that it is small enough to be neighborly; that it has churches where a new person would be a stranger but once. For the able bodied, the down town stores and bank are within easy walking distance. Other advantages which we take for granted are our high, dry climate and our abundant supply of good fresh water.

The City of Eldorado is the sponsoring body of the low rent housing, and two months ago made application for 78 additional units. A district official estimated that Eldorado would probably be approved for as many as fifty.

Since Eldorado has had no recent success promoting new industry, expansion of our low rent housing could be a partial answer to our problem of dwindling popu-

Trees And Shrubs Can Be Lost From Lack Of Water

College Station, Tex.—Signs of moisture stress on trees and shrubs are most evident in a wilted condition of the leaves, Everett E. Janne Texas A&M University Extension landscape horticulturist, has not-

"If a slight wilt on leaves du ing the afternoon recovers before sundown, the stress is not severe, Janne said. "However, should the leaves remain limp in the early evening, the tree should be given a deep soaking of water."

If the tree is planted in sandy soil, it should receive deep soakings every five to six days; however, if the tree base is in heavy, clay-like soil, waterings should be spaced to every 7 to 10 days, he said. Heavy soils will take water more slowly but hold it longer, whereas sandy soils soak up water rapidly but also lose it faster because they are more porous, he explained.

"The type of soil in which the tree or shrub is planted is a deciding factor in determining just how much water is adequate," Janne said.

A plant growing in sandy soil will also need a larger volume of water because much of it will be lost through evaporation, Janne said, adding that watering in the morning will accomplish two desirable effects.

"First, water is allowed time to soak into the ground before the midday sun evaporates much of it," Janne said. "Second, there will be less chance of mildew, fungi, and root rot.

"The plant will store up the water so you can water less frequently or decrease the soaking time a little and this will help to reduce the water bill."

A mulch of lawn clippings, manure or other organic materials will keep the soil moist longer, Janne said. A mulch of barnyard manure should be used only if the tree or shrub is not planted in the lawn, he added. In watering a tree, Janne advises that the watering area be larger than the circumference of the branches. Only then will the feeding roots of the tree be in moist soil, the horticulturist said. The fallacious notion that the main woody roots that sometimes protrude at the tree base are the organs through which water is absorbed, influences home gardeners to water just under the trunk of the tree," Janne explained. "It is the small feeder roots which spread about the same area as the aboveground portion of the tree that enable the plant to drink."

Any cause would have sufficed. The tough terrorists who stirred up the blood-letting frenzy on Kent's tingencies. However, the current otherwise peaceful campus weren't students there. They were "riot troops", imported for the sole purpose of stimulating the students into a mass violence. The SDS won! The stu-dents lost! So did the university, and universities all throughout the nation. But what can be done about it? How can we combat this highly organized rule of re-bellion that charismatically stimulates students into grand-scale lawlessness? How can the college authorities cope with it? They can hardly surrender to anarchy. These out-of-town revolutionaries care not one whit for the particular college they're aiming to destroy, except to gain their own left-wing objectives. What would you do—just give in—surrender? Anyone with an answer, a suggestion, a plan? How can you cope with COPE? Maybe you think you don't have to. COPE, in case you're unaware, is the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education. It packs a terrific political punch. Under the transparent guise of instructing the workers on current events, COPE serves as a brutally effective pressure device in swinging union members on important votes. How? It's simple. The union kingpins control all COPE activities, and "recommend" in their own gently persuasive fashion that workers show up for a prescribed number of meetings, and that they bring along their husbands, wives, families and friends to be "educated" to vote for the unions' favorite politicians during local, state and national elections. COPE master strategist, Al Barkin, has already covered thirty-four states in an all-out effort to influence people to vote for pro-labor politicians

gional lieutenants so expertly mobilized that you can count on the labor lords achieving the same marked degree of success in the 1970 elections that they did in 1968. Surprised? It's just one more instance of the unsuspected and uncontrolled power that the union leaders wield over the lives of individuals, and the destiny, perhaps, of our nation.

Strikes are the ugliest of all weapons. They are cruel, hardhitting bludgeons. All strikes are directed against you, the public. While it is the strikers who close down a shop or vital service, it is intended so that you, the public, will be so inconvenienced that you will plead for a settleployee's pay is taxed each pay day by the union is so that the union will have funds for all condodge in some states is for strikers to stay out long enough to collect unemployment insurance. You pay unemployment insurance. Therefore, you pay the strikers to strike against you, while you suffer all the physical and financial discomforts that strikes bring in their wake. It's all well and good to consider the strikers' rights. But what about our rights? In too many cases, haven't we, the paying public, the "silent majority", been astonishingly naive in allowing our lives and welfare to be ruled and ruined by the belligerent strikers?

News item: The Danes report that the Danes are fed up with pornography. It is less than sexcessful. It's flopped so badly they are shipping it to other countries.

Think of the stupefaction of a Philadelphia man, when he learned that the National Labor Relations Board could actually prohibit him from moving his plant to South Carolina, unless he offered to take along all his employees, lock, stock and barrel, whether he wanted to move them or not. Additionally, he would have to pay all their moving expenses. Freedom? Not in Philadelphia, U.S.A.!

Isn't it more than mere coincidence that one after another foreign diplomats are being brutalized, kidnapped and even murdered right in the heart of Castro's Caribbean? Castro is dedicated to spreadi tion all throughout Latin America. Run down the list of Spanish-accented countries with Communist terrorists seething in their midst, making one attempt after another to dominate the government — then ask yourself how much longer you think we ought to wait before we lend a hand to clamping down on Castroville-in-the-Caribbean.

Watch out for the union fat cats who hold out such beautiful but unbelievable promises — higher, higher, higher wages, a shorter and shorter working week, and long, long vacations. Eventually, the promise exceeds the product. It's too good to be true: there isn't any Santa Claus. Who would possibly fulfill all those grandiose expectations? It's just out of keeping with reality. The next thing you know, people will demand triple pay for almost no working hours at all. (The tugboat workers got a 53% increase; the grave diggers asked for a 100% wage hike; the garment workers, only 25%!) It is human nature to want to do well, and I am all in favor of it. But if people are paid more wages without producing more, prices just have to go up, and that's inflation. Something for nothing just isn't in the cards. and we're only deceiving our-selves if we believe anyone union leader or not - who says

The man is a teacher at the University of Rochester. He looks like a typical hippie-yippie, long hair to his shoulders, urgently in need of tidying. He is unmarried, but the woman with whom he lives has borne him two children. He has labelled all marriages as decadent and bourgeois; he advocates "no moral restrictions whatsoever". I make no comment on his views nor his morals, but I do protest the infliction of those standards on malleable youths. You will have to form your own opinion as to whether the university should permit such leniency or whether restrictions would cause more martyrdom than he's worth. He certainly does nothing to enhance the university's image as a moulder of future leaders!

SHRIMP SALAD THE HOT-COLD WAY

Have you ever wished for a little more shape and firmness in shrimp salad? There is a way to make it "shape up" and still leave the shrimp whole or in sizeable pieces the way most people prefer them in salad. Simply put everything together 'chaud-fraud" or, literally, the hot-cold way by mixing dissolved gelatin with the mayonnaise! It works. Result: wellbehaved salad which will stay together even though the greenery underneath travels on skis. Use any shape mold you wish but use canned shrimp if you would do it all the easy way. Shrimp salad is a popular one and you will be wise to keep a can or two chilling in the refrigerator all summer long.

SHRIMP SALAD, CHAUD-FROID

- 2 cans (41/2 ounces each) shrimp, chilled 1 cup sliced celery 1 cup diced cucumber 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
- 1/3 cup drained capers 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped fine 1 envelope unflavored gelatin 1/4 cup water

1 cup mayonnaise 1/4 teaspoon hot pepper sauce 3/4 cup broken cashew nuts

Rinse shrimp in cool water; blot dry. Combine shrimp, vegetables, capers, and eggs. Soften gelatin in water; dissolve over hot water; stir into mayonnaise, a little at a time. Add hot pepper sauce and combine with shrimp salad mixture. Mix thoroughly. Add the cashews. (Be sure the nuts are very dry and crisp.) Press into individual molds or one 5-cup mold. Chill until set. Makes 6 servings.

Former President To Attend Park Dedication

Stonewall, Texas.—Former President Lyndon B. Johnson is expected to take part in dedication ceremonies Aug. 29 at the new State park near Stonewall which bears his name.

The appearance of President Johnson and his wife Lady Bird will highlight the all-day celebration in this scenic Hill Country area where Mr. Johnson spent much of his youth.

The formal dedication ceremony will be held at 2:00 p.m. in a special area set up for the occasion. Arrangements for the day's festivities have been made by civic clubs in Fredericksburg, Stonewall, Johnson City and Blanco, in cooperation with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Park Ser-

The Lyndon B. Johnson State Historical Park reflects the various cultures which have had influence in the Hill Country area, and it also features a display of wildlife native to the area.

Co-chairmen of the event are Dr. Herbert Merz of Stonewall and Harold Stehling of Fredericksburg.

Soup of the Season

Soup...beautiful soup! Poets have sung its praises; its aromas are the making of many a childhood memory; it's the first course that's first in the affections of great cooks.

Right for any season, soup is particularly right, right now, when light eating is the order of the day. Some of the tastiest seasonal soups start with canned ingredients—easy cooking that gets the chef out of the kitchen quickly. Newest are the tempters with a foreign flavor—tomato-based without being overly familiar.

Two European favorites, adapted for American tastes by the Italian cooks at Progresso, are Cold Crystal Cooler and Chilled Cream of Tomato, Both are much more interesting than ordinary.

Cream of Tomato. Both are much more interesting than ordinary canned soups—and they boast that all-important homemade touch! Just prepare in advance, chill and serve. Add a platter of sandwich fixings-do-it-yourself style-and a heaping bowl of salad, and you've got a perfect warm weather supper. For a festive touch, set the service container in an ice-filled punch bowl; it's a good way to get double duty out of rarely-used party equipment. Best of all, nobody will ever know how easy it was for you to say, soup's on!

COLD CRYSTAL COOLER Minestra di Pomidoro (Pictured)

2 101/2 oz. cans beef consomme 2 cups water 4 Tsps. Progresso Italian tomato paste 2 medium cloves garlic crushed Lime slices

1 cleaned carrot sliced 4 slices onion 1/2 cup celery chopped Salt to taste

Combine all ingredients in a saucepan. Cover and simmer fifteen minutes. Salt to taste. Cool and refrigerate until very cold. Strain and serve in chilled bowls with lime slices. Flavor improves if made several hours before serving. Makes about eight cups.

CHILLED CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP Zuppa Creme di Pomidoro Freddo

1 151/2 oz. can Progresso

Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly. Chill, covered, in refrigerator for several hours. Just before serving, sprinkle with chives. Makes five cups.

New Summer Dessert With Nectarines

Fresh nectarines have an affinity for cheese. For an appetize or dessert, slices of this succulent fruit and cheese make a bright beginning or climax to the menu.

Another way you'll enjoy smooth-skinned fresh nectarines and cheese is in "Creamy Nectarine Cheese Cake." This is a luscious dessert.

> CREAMY NECTARINE CHEESE CAKE 11/2 cups homogenized

11/3 cups graham cracker crumbs

11/4 cups sugar 1/4 cup melted butter or margarine 2 or 3 fresh nectarines

11/2 tablespoons cornstarch

(whipped) 3 eggs 1/4 teaspoon salt 1 teaspoon vanilla

creamed cottage cheese

1 cup dairy sour cream

Combine crumbs and 1/4 cup sugar in 9-inch spring-form pan or 9-inch round layer cake pan snugly lined with foil. Mix in butter until crumbs are well moistened; press against bottom and 11/2 inches up side of pan. Dice 1 or 2 nectarines to yield 1 cup; toss with cornstarch and sprinkle over crust. Beat cheese with remaining 1 cup sugar, eggs, salt and vanilla; turn into pan. Bake on low shelf at 350 degrees for 1 hour. Cool, then chill. Spread top with sour cream. Slice 1 nectarine and arrange in design over sour cream. Remove from pan and place
