Williamses Honored With Bridal Shower

Friends and neighbors have made their way across the Rio Grande and up into Texas and Schleicher county looking for work.

Their entrance into Texas is illegal and when caught by the Border Patrol they are taken back to Mexico.

Their journeys on foot through this county are familiar to local farmers and ranchers who often feed them and sometimes employ them for brief jobs. Some may have special skills and often find steady employment—until they are identified and picked up by the Border Patrol and returned to Mexico.

When that happens there has always been a sort of gentleman's agreement: no charge has been filed against the farmer or rancher who employed the illegal alien.

But now read this—A bulletin from the Texas Citrus and Vegetable Growers and Shippers—

LEGISLATION ON ILLEGAL ALIENS

The U. S. House of Representatives has passed by an overwhelming majority H. R. 982 and action is expected in the U. S. Senate in the very future. Under this legislation, which would amend Section 274 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, you could be sentenced to a fine of $2,000 and imprisoned for five years merely by employing the services of illegal aliens in your customary manner. You could be fined $500 for each illegal alien in your employment, and you could be fined $1,000 and sentenced to one year in prison for each illegal alien employed by you. This legislation would put new responsibility upon the employer and he would have to prove that he did not knowingly employ an illegal alien. This would require you to make bona fide inquiries on each employee and obtain written statements from all job applicants on forms approved by the Attorney General.

We urge that you immediately telephone or send a telegram to Senators Bentsen and Tower and urge their opposition to this very dangerous piece of legislation.

Other Schleicher county settlers we knew were: Will G. Smith, W. N. Ramsey, Tom Jones, Jack Hext, Mrs. L. Kent, Nettie Isaacs, Mrs. Will McCravy, Florence Womack, Mrs. Hubert Graves, Grat Edmiston, Jack Halbert, Sr., Leonard Henderson, Jack Griffin, Delbert Edmiston, Mrs. Jack Faught, Mrs. Jack Elder, Mrs. Pauline Kent Means. These were honored with a moment of silent prayer.

Nan Montgomery displayed a class pin for the year 1914 when she graduated from 10th grade. She had a class ring for 1915 as the 11th grade was added and she graduated again.

Baskets and vases of sunflowers were used in decoration as those are Mias Amigas colors, brown and gold. A daisy centerpiece was used on the tea table.

Appointed as a nominating committee were Marie Doty Perner, Ethel Enochs Etheredge, and Frankie Jones Williams.

'Free' Trips Usually Are Really Not

(by Attorney General John L. Hill)
 Austin, Tex.—Several complaints filed recently with the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division indicate that there are some unscrupulous schemes to capitalize on the average person's desire to travel in the summer time.

The mailed enticements we have heard about were "congratulatory" letters, informing the complainants that they had "won a trip" to a glamour vacation spot, and all they had to do to take advantage of this opportunity was to pay a $15 reservation fee to secure accommodations at the other end of the journey.

In the cases which have been checked out, there really wouldn't be anything to "win", unless the recipient just happened to be going to the resort mentioned, because transportation would not be furnished; gasoline would not be provided; meals would not be paid for along the way.

And once the person arrived at his destination, he could not even be sure of getting a "free" room, because if he read all the way down in the congratulatory letter, he would notice the warning that an additional charge would be assessed if it were "peak season."

A similar promotion was halted three years ago by a Federal Trade Commission cease-and-desist order. And the attorney general of Ohio very recently secured a court injunction against this deceptive practice, since the operator was incorporated in that state.

Investigators in our own Consumer Protection Division have been advised by U. S. Postal Service Investigator Allan Peffer that the Postal Service is attempting to recover money lost by consumers who sent in "reservation" fees only to discover they had no reservation.

And Better Business Bureaus are trying to warn consumers against potential disappointments of this type.

The amazing thing is that the travel business is extremely competitive, and hundreds of valid vacation bargains can be found through legitimate tour and travel services, including those operated by the transportation carriers, major oil companies and the established travel clubs.

If you are tempted by some vacation offer that sounds "too good to be true," it probably is.

If you're lured by a holiday excursion which would cost half as much as rates publicized elsewhere, find out why. Maybe it literally would be a one-way trip, and you'd be stuck with the additional cost of returning home.

If you're offered a "free" vacation near some popular recreational site, find out exactly how near. It could be as much as 300 miles away.

If a land development promotion invites you to enjoy accommodations without cost while inspecting the place advertised, check on the quality and reputation of the place you'd be staying.

If you do run into a vacation fraud which was advertised by mail, contact the U. S. Postal Service's Special Investigative Division in Washington, D. C.

Or, get in touch with the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division office in Austin, Dallas, Houston, San Antonio, Lubbock, or El Paso.

Texas 4-H Congress

The first Texas 4-H Congress, July 10-12 at Houston's Shamrock Hilton Hotel will attract two 4-H'ers from Schleicher County. Suzan Thornton and Britt Bumgardner will be among some 500 4-H'ers registering for Congress.

Delegates were selected and asked to attend because of their involvement in county, district and state events. Diane Lube and John Menzies will be agent advisors for the District 7 delegation.

"Values in Transition" will be the theme of the Texas 4-H Congress. Delegates will register from 1:30 to 4:00 p.m. July 10. They will focus attention on current social concerns and how these concerns can be a part of the on-going 4-H program.

Sponsors for the Schleicher County 4-H members include businessmen of the community who were generous enough to donate to the 4-H Fund. Our thanks go to those supporters who have helped make this opportunity possible.

Limit Campaign Contributions

By U. S. Senator Lloyd Bentsen

I have asked the Senate Rules Committee, which is considering proposals for electoral reform, to recommend a limit on political contributions as well as on total campaign expenditures.

How can you justify a $1 million or $200,000 contribution from one man to a presidential candidate?

I strongly support legislation already proposed that would set a ceiling on spending in campaigns for Federal elective office. But this is not enough. We must also address ourselves to the problem of political contributions.

Let me emphasize that I am not making a categorical condemnation of those who make campaign contributions. In the vast majority of cases, persons who make financial contributions to a candidate do so because they agree with the stands the candidate has taken on key issues or because they have a strong sense of public responsibility.

This is not a partisan issue. No political party or political candidate has a monopoly on morality or virtue. The issue, rather, is the confidence of the American people in our political system.

Enforce Existing Laws

We must insist on rigid, unflinching enforcement of laws already on the books and we must also provide additional legislation to tighten present limits on both campaign spending and financing.

Everyone is familiar with the continuing, astronomical increases in the cost of political campaigns. Spending in the late 60's was double that of the mid-1950's and the costs will continue to skyrocket if we do not do something about it.

A proposed law that is now before the Senate would place limits on total expenditures in all campaigns for Federal elective office and this is a significant step toward holding down escalating campaign costs.

But if we are concerned with the eroding confidence of the people in their institutions of government, we must also address ourselves to the problem of campaign contributions.

When 90% of the political contributions come from 1% of the population, a potentially dangerous situation exists. Politics in the United States should be less a game of big contributions and more an art of talent, ideas and dedication.

The people of this country should not be forced to choose among competing financial interests, but should be permitted to have a free choice of men, ideologies and ideas.

I have recommended an absolute contribution limitation of $3,000 to any candidate for Federal office from any individual.

In addition, I am asking for a law requiring that any contribution of $100 or more be in the form of a written instrument—such as a check—so that its source can be traced.

There is no reason why suitcases full of $100 bills have to be part and parcel of a political campaign and a limitation on the amount of cash contributions would minimize this problem.

Restore Public Confidence

Recent public opinion polls have pointed out the all-too-obvious disenchantment with our political process. And this disenchantment has grown stronger with recent revelations of flagrant abuses of campaign financing.

The American people are quite legitimately concerned about the influence that money can wield on candidates for political office.

It has been said too often that our political system is the best that money can buy and I don't think money should be a requirement for public office.

Wealth must not be permitted to become the yardstick for political

Words With Meaning Evaluate Skills For Accident-Free Trip

There are loyal hearts, there are spirits brave
There are souls that are pure and true; Then give to the world the best that you have
And the best will come back to you.
Give Love and love to your life will flow—A strength in your utmost need.
Have Faith, and a score of hearts will show their faith in your word and deed.
Give Truth, and the gift will be paid in kind, And Honor will honor meet. And the smile that is sweet will always find The smile that is just as sweet.
For Life is the mirror of King or slave. 'Tis just what we are and do; Then give to the world the best you have And the best will come back to you.

Prize Your Blessings

Have you ever stopped to think how rich you are in blessings? And what a spendthrift you are with them. The best minds the world has ever known have set down their thoughts for us to share; the great masters of art and music have bequeathed us a priceless legacy; the wisest of the spiritual leaders and philosophers have distilled their wisdom and have offered it to us for our guidance. Yet, how little of our time do we devote to the enjoyment and understanding of such things, and how much time we squander on the tawdry and unimportant!

How seldom do we pause to consider the use we make of the natural blessings we have been given! To a person like Helen Keller, who as an infant became permanently blind and deaf and who lived to graduate from college with high honors, master seven languages, and lecture to thousands in scores of countries, it was inconceivable that people like us, who have the gifts of sight and hearing, should value them as cheaply as so many of us do. "Use your eyes as if tomorrow you would be stricken blind," she warned us. "Hear the music of voices, the song of a bird, the strains of an orchestra as if you would be stricken deaf tomorrow." —The Little Gazette, contributed by Fred Cox.

It's vacation time, the time of the year when Americans take to the highways.
It's the time of the year when people spend a lot of their time in automobiles. As a result, traffic accidents are more frequent.
On an annual average, someone dies in a traffic accident every 10 minutes—150 every day—and thousands more are injured.
Many of these accidents are avoidable, say traffic officials at the Texas State Department of Health, and many serious accidents could be reduced to minor collisions if drivers learned and practiced "defensive driving." Here are a few tips taken from the National Safety Council's Defensive Driving Course.

In order to improve your driving ability you must first evaluate your driving skills, using "perfect" driving as a standard.
Perfect driving simply means that you complete every trip without accidents, without traffic violations, without vehicle abuse, and without discourtesy.
Perfect driving means always avoiding "preventable" accidents. Most accidents are preventable by one or both of the drivers involved, even though this sometimes involves letting the driver in the wrong have the right-of-way. To do this you must learn to give a little, to drive defensively and not as if you were on the offense. You must tailor your driving behavior to the unexpected actions of others and to other unpredictable factors such as light, weather and road conditions.

To do this, you'll need to know and apply the standard accident prevention formula, which involves three interrelated steps:
(1) See the Hazard: Think about what is going to happen as far ahead of encountering the situation as possible. Never assume everything will be "all right."
(2) Understand the Defense! Try to learn the appropriate defensive reaction so you can apply it when the need arises.
(3) Act in time: Never take a "wait and see" attitude. Included in these steps are other ways of preventing an accident:

Stay Alert: Watch for signs from other drivers as to what they intend to do. Is his turn signal on? Are his brake lights lit? Has he been gradually drifting to the right or the left as if to prepare for a turn?
Stay ahead of the situation: Look beyond the driver ahead to see situations that may force him to act quickly and thereby become a threat to you.
Stay back: Allow one car length for every ten miles of speed—even more in adverse road conditions. Apply the "two-second rule" to insure a safe distance. As the car ahead of you passes a highway sign or some other marker, count off two full seconds before your car passes the same marker. This applies for in-town driving also.
Start stopping sooner: Apply your brakes the instant you see a hazard developing, but apply them gradually so you don't throw your car in a spin or come to a stop so quickly that you risk a rear-end collision with the car following you.
Do not drive with the attitude that any driver who hits you from the rear is in the wrong. That attitude can literally break your neck.
Keep clear of "tailgaters." Slow down. This will encourage the "tail-gater" to pass you. It also increases the distance between you and the car ahead so you won't have to brake suddenly. Forcing the tailgater to slow down also makes it easier for him to stop safely, when you stop.
Of course, always drive with your seat belts and shoulder harness fastened, even for in-town driving. Insist that all passengers do the same, particularly small children.
These are only a few of the safe driving tips you can implement. State health officials hope these will make you aware that you can prevent accidents.
Defensive Driving Courses are offered in most areas of the state at a very low cost. Successful completion of a defensive driving course not only can save you money on your car insurance premium, it may give you a "safe driving awareness" that could save your life.

fest, Marie Doty Perner leading and Mrs. Bob McWhorter at the piano. Singing old favorites such as School Days, Smile, Smile, The Eyes of Texas and closing with Mias Amigas song we whiled away the minutes until time for us to go to the luncheon at El Dorado Restaurant. Sixty-two were present for the luncheon, a delicious meal. Several present were in attendance for the first time. The Kent family was recognized as having the most present, 3 girls and 3 boys.

The tea at 3:00 o'clock was a time of visiting and enjoyment. The picnic supper was served on the courthouse lawn at 7:30. After enjoying the good eats we adjourned to the auditorium for the evening program. Mrs. R. D. Johnson brought a playlet on Early Days in Schleicher County in Land Rush Times. This was quite interesting. T. J. Bailey introduced Dr. Jim Dan Hill who gave us Random Remarks, Now and Then. This was truly a picture of people of Eldorado of yesteryears. The entire program was well received and thoroughly enjoyed by the audience.

Saturday, June 30th, we again gathered at the Memorial auditorium for the Morning Coffee and final business session. The class of 1924 will celebrate their 50th anniversary in 1974 and they were given the task of planning the program for next year.

Local members will be mailed invitations next year. All members who can attend are to send money for luncheon reservations upon receipt of their invitations. One person from each class will be responsible for contacting their class members.

Several present took a pioneer card for families who had been in Schleicher County 50 years or longer. These to be filled in and returned to Ruth Baker. They will be placed in Historical Files. Graduating classes will now be eligible for membership in Mias Amigas 20 years after graduation.

Horse Vaccinations Urged

With summer weather and rains, mosquitoes are becoming more plentiful. And, since they transmit sleeping sickness to horses, steps should be taken now to protect these animals. All horses, mules, asses and ponies should be vaccinated for the three types of equine encephalomyelitis (horse sleeping sickness)—Eastern and Western equine encephalomyelitis and Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE). VEE caused many horse deaths when it ravaged Mexico and southern Texas in 1971.

The three diseases are caused by different viruses carried by mosquitoes, and therefore separate vaccinations are required. Vaccine for the Eastern and Western strains of the disease is in a combined form and annual booster shots should be given to horses after the initial vaccination. The VEE vaccine provides ample protection for 18 months. The agent urges that horses not vaccinated since the 1971 emergency be re-vaccinated as soon as possible. Also, colts vaccinated while under six months of age should be re-vaccinated.

The Texas Animal Health Commission requires that all horses moving to shows be vaccinated for VEE. Death often results after animals contract encephalomyelitis. Outward signs of the three diseases include depression, lack of appetite and drowsiness. Animals may frequently grind their teeth and stagger when moving. Veterinarians can provide information on vaccination procedures.

Cattle Cycles Still Exist

The old familiar cattle cycle has become less evident in recent years but it still is with us. A count of the total number of cattle on farms as of the first of each year continues to show distinct "buildup" years followed by some "liquidation" years. Herds expand during the buildup years and are reduced during liquidation periods. During the buildup years, since more calves are being produced, more are being fed and consequently more cattle are slaughtered. Prices during such periods, in general, move lower. As the liquidation years occur, less calves are born, feeding decreases and slaughter becomes smaller, allowing prices to strengthen.

Does the numbers cycle cause the price cycle or vice-versa? For the most part, they are opposite to each other and act as a cause as well as an effect. For example, the reason for increasing and decreasing herd size is a reaction of producers to the profitability of the cattle business.

The last buildup peaked in 1965, eight years after it began. Two years of liquidation followed, but the reduction was small.

The present buildup cycle began in 1967. This buildup is expected to peak by 1975 and will probably be followed by a slight liquidation for about two years. Prices, in general, should be moving to slightly lower levels as the peak year approaches.

District Horse Show To Attract 4-H Competitors

The 8th annual District 4-H Horse Show, July 7 at Sonora, will test the skills of the following Schleicher County riders: LeAnne Thornton, Dan Ray, David Ray and Cawley, John Ben Cawley, Mark Janet Oglesby, all members of Schleicher County 4-H Club.

Competition at Sonora will be those 4-H horsemen from the other 19 counties in District 7 of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. The show begins at 9:00 a.m. and is free to the public.

Judges Sparks Rust of Del Rio and John May of Midland will evaluate the youths in 10 halter classes, showmanship, western pleasure and reining. Two other classes are timed events: barrel racing and pole bending.

Big goal of the Schleicher County riders will be a place on the 20-man team to represent District 7 at the State 4-H Club Horse Show, Aug. 1-4 in Odessa.

The local riders will be accompanied by adult leaders Jim Cawley, Bill Rev. Jim Thornton and County Extension Agent Jerry Swift.

No Poultry Shortage In Immediate Future

College Station, Tex.—There is no immediate shortage in poultry supplies, although many people in the poultry industry are concerned about the increasing cost of feed weighed against the price freeze, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt said this week.

The consumer marketing information specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, added that at present "eggs are on the good-value list and make excellent protein dishes."

"Fryer chickens are featured in a good many markets, and they'll continue as a popular item through the Fourth of July when menus feature fried chicken and deviled eggs—both selling at relatively low prices, presently."

Beef prices are about the same as for the past month, the specialist noted.

"Since this is 'broiling-steak season,' the better beef values appear on chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef, short ribs, round steaks and roasts."

Pork prices generally are the same as for the past few weeks, with best values on hams, picnics, shoulder roasts and steaks, and cut loin roasts and chops, Mrs. Clyatt added.

Fresh fruit and vegetable items in good supply at the most economical prices include Valencia oranges, cantaloupes, watermelons, Santa Rosa plums, Bing cherries and pineapples.

Also corn, carrots, squash, yellow onions, celery, cabbage, potatoes, cucumbers, radishes and green onions.

The specialist also named pasta products as economical "menu-changers."

"Macaroni, noodles, and spaghetti make up a trio of familiar names referring to more than 170 different shapes and sizes of pasta products—short, long, narrow, wide, thin, thick, shells, bows, ribbons, rods and circles to name a few.

"Each pasta product provides a chance for menu variety whether served as it, or mixed and matched with sauces, seasonings, vegetables and meats," she concluded.

Decorator Pillows

Decorator pillows may or may not be just to look at.

Information on the attached label indicates a pillow's care and uses.

"Dry clean only" indicates the pillow is mainly for decoration, but those with washable covers withstand gentle use.

For rugged, all-around use, get one with a washable cover and pillow. It can take almost anything—from pillow fights to simply serving as a back prop for studying or watching television.

A pillow's stuffing material determines cleaning method. Most foam pillows can be washed but those filled with batting material usually can't. Check the label for stuffing content.

Also check construction details. In addition, the cover texture influences how often it must be washed.

Smooth textures—such as satin—are easy to clean but show smudges or stains very quickly and require frequent cleaning.

On the other hand, corduroy, fake fur and other rough-textured materials may be harder to clean, but the pile hides small spots and stains—resulting in fewer necessary washings.

Communicating With Children

Poor communication is the cause of many misunderstandings between adults and children.

Just because a child doesn't respond immediately to something you've said, don't accuse him of ignoring orders. Often he or she hasn't heard—or comprehended—the directive.

Many youth develop an ability to shut out conflicting or undesirable noises. For example, they can get their lessons done despite a loud radio or record player.

Therefore, parents and teachers should determine whether they've also been "tuned out."

Adults wishing to improve a child's listening ability may utilize the following suggestions.

Minimize misunderstandings—make sure conditions favor good communication.

—Touch the child with a friendly hand on the shoulder or arm.

—Gain his attention by speaking his name clearly and distinctly. Wait for the child to respond before continuing the conversation.

—Look him "in the eye" when speaking. If he's small, get on his eye level.

—Speak in a quiet voice. Children are a product of their experiences. If adults yell to gain attention, youngsters learn to do the same.

—Discuss mutual interests.

—Pay attention when the child talks.

—Follow up family trips, outings and activities with "give-and-take" conversations.

Children respond favorably when parents and other adults care enough to listen to them. This fosters self-respect, as well as respect for other.

Sharing an experience together is the surest way to strengthen a relationship. Later, there will be "good old times" and fond memories to talk about.

Knife Uses and Misuses

Kitchen knives often perform deeds they weren't designed to do.

For example, sometimes they remove staples, open cans or pry up lids. Such misuses frequently result in injuries.

Likewise, using the wrong knife for a task can lead to injuries.

Each piece of kitchen cutlery was designed for some specific job, and should be used only for that task.

Utilize paring knives for peeling, scraping and various small tasks.

When slicing, dicing and coring vegetables—or trimming and scoring some meats—use a utility or trimmer knife.

A hefty butcher knife should be capable of dealing with stubborn joints or other hard-to-cut objects.

Carving knives are ideal for cutting hot meats and poultry.

Many common knife injuries stem from slips. Avoid slips by gripping the handle firmly and cut away from your hand or thumb. Above all, concentrate—inattention invites trouble.

Since sharp knives are less likely to slip, keep all cutlery sharp. A dull knife requires extra pressure—and when force overcomes resistance, the blade moves suddenly and unexpectedly.

As another precaution, stand or sit in one location when using a knife—don't move around the kitchen with knife in hand.

Common sense in using these kitchen utensils is another important defense against accidents.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gunstead and family were in San Antonio last Thursday.

JULY

show, pet parade and beauty contest (12); water activities and square dance (13); "Over 50" golf tourney (13-14); parade, antique car show, hay-loft party and dance (14); and all-day singing with dinner on the grounds (15)

July 14-15, 21-22, 28-29. Horse Races, La Bahia Downs, Goliad. Ten or more races each day starting at 8 p.m. on Saturdays and 1 p.m. on Sundays.

Ten-horse gate running 220-660 yard distances. Covered grandstand seats 3,000. On the 14th, a special event will be the Miss La Bahia Downs Beauty contest, a highly regarded preliminary for the Miss World contest. In the last two years, winners of this competition have gone on to win two Miss Texas and one Miss USA title. Admission, $2, reserved $2.50, Box $3.

July 20-22 Lunar Landing Festival, Houston. Commemorating July 20, 1969, when man first stepped on the moon, this event, in its second year, promises to be a major Houston event. A beauty contest to select "Miss Moon Maiden", and dancing to the music of various ethnic bands are a part of the full schedule. For complete information write Greater Houston Convention & Visitors Council, 1006 Main Street, Houston 77002.

July 28-29 Texas Water Ski Championships, Austin. Two-day, all-day competition in slalom, tricks and jumps. Approximately 120 will compete in this event at Festival Beach on Town Lake. Admission is an Aqua Festival "Skipper pin" or $1.

The following events, selected by the Texas Tourist Development Agency, are but a few of the many excellent recreational opportunities offered by communities across the state. A more complete listing of Texas events may be obtained free of charge by writing TDDA, Box 12008, Austin 78711.

July 2, 3, 4 Texas Cowboy Reunion, Stamford. Billed as the world's largest amateur rodeo, this event, in its 43rd year, was founded on the principle that the working cowboy should have a rodeo all his own. There are no rodeo professionals—just 200-300 cowboys trying to win a new saddle or a pair of spurs. In addition to the rodeo, there is square dancing nightly, the American Quarter Horse Show and chuck wagon meals. Rodeo tickets are $2.50-$3 for adults and $1.25 for children.

July 2-4 Ragtime Festival Kerrville. Ragtime pianists will compete for the Texas championship and $100 prize money. Two of the judges, ragtime pianist Knocky Parker and stride piano star Dick Wellstood, will also play at each concert. Kerrville Auditorium, 8 p.m. Admission $3.50

July 12-15 Spring Ho Festival & Centennial, Lampasas. Schedule includes arts and crafts show and historical tours (12-15); open horse

BOY---then
MAN

That's my son, Jerry, literally two feet off the ground last Saturday in the top half of the ninth. His team was ahead by one run and the bases loaded when he caught the fly that ended the game.

Whatever else good happens to Jerry, I know he'll never forget that sweet thrill of victory.

Years from now, when faced with a tough situation, that memory could be the inspiration for another triumph. The things that happen to a boy do shape the man.

That's why I've always taken Jerry to our church. I want the smell of candles on the altar, the blend of voice and heart in hymn and litany, to be a part of his life. I want for him the joy that comes from understanding God.

My father did the same for me.
How about you?
