Mrs. Robledo Named As New Center Director

Graduation Issues: May 17 & 24

The coming two issues of The Eldorado Success will be our annual salute to the grads of EHS. For some years, we have put out these special issues honoring the Seniors and as usual we plan to publish photos and write-ups of all graduating Seniors and other news pertaining to them.

We have done quite a bit of the work on these special editions and we hope that they will be kept and treasured by the class members and their friends in years to come.

Our public-spirited local merchants will carry advertising space to greet the class members and wish them well as they come to this significant milestone in life.

A good crowd of about 160 people were on hand at the local West Texas Utilities office last Wednesday for the Open House and showing of appliances.

Manager Travis Williams, and John Pitts and Ola Mae McDonald were assisted by other WTU men from the San Angelo office in serving refreshments and demonstrating the appliances.

The door prizes were won by Mrs. Bill Rountree, Mrs. W. Ford, and Mrs. Paul Phillips.

The expected announcement came last week that Texas ex-Governor John Connally has turned Republican and the speculation is, "Will he run for President in 1976 on the Republican ticket?"

Some opinions voiced in Washington go something like this: "Spiro Agnew could win the nomination but would lose the election."

"John Connally could win the election if he could get the nomination."

Connally in past years visited here in Eldorado, ordering merchandise from the woolen mill.

Water faucets went dry before 5:00 in Eldorado Thursday afternoon while a crew were tying in a new line. Came back on at 7:00 p.m.

Luckily there were no fire alarms in the city during that period. The firemen made a run to a vacant house in the north part of town shortly after midnight Monday.

The ladies pumper team of the firemen's auxiliary staged their bean supper Monday night in the Memorial Building. They reported Tuesday that they made about $150 on it.

Delinquent Report From Directors of Schleicher County Medical Center

Elected recently to the Board of Directors of the Schleicher County Hospital District were Mrs. Bill McWhorter and John Edward Meador. Raymon Mobley submitted his resignation from the Board after being elected as Mayor. The Board appointed Jim Thornton to fill his unexpired term.

The Board has elected Ronnie Mittel and Guy Whitaker to serve as president and secretary respectively for the coming year.

The Hospital District has been operating both the Nursing Home and Hospital for approximately one year now. The Administrator is Miss Lillian Kroeger who is employed by the Board of Directors.

The Board of Directors has been concerned about the number of persons who have delinquent accounts at the Hospital. At a recent meeting, the Board decided to notify those people who had accounts that were past due in excess of 90 days and tell them that if they did not make some arrangements to pay their bills their names and amounts owing would be published in the paper. Now these persons have been notified twice and had ample time to make some arrangements to pay on their accounts. The following have not responded

Boy Scout Camping Sessions Scheduled

Gail Patton, Scoutmaster of Eldorado's Boy Scout Troop 18, is making arrangements for the local troop to spend a week this summer at Camp Fawcett near Barksdale. Further information is available from him, as well as the following news release from the San Angelo Boy Scout office:

Mr. Bill McManus, president of the Concho Valley Council of Boy Scouts of America, San Angelo, Texas and Mr. Philip Robbins, chairman of the Council Camping and Activities Committee, announced the Summer Camp program for 1973 this week.

Both Council camps, Camp Sol Mayer at Ft. McKavett and Camp Fawcett at Barksdale, will be under the direction of Lewis White. Mr. Ivan White of San Angelo will be the Program Director.

The 1973 Camp Program features aquatics, archery, rifle and shotgun shooting, crafts, Scout skills, conservation and environmental science projects, pioneering skills, nature and reptile study. Twenty-five different merit badge subjects will be offered at both camps. In addition, various Scout Skill Awards under the improved Scouting program will be offered.

The camp fee for 1973 is $25 per boy per week.

For Scouts 14 years of age or over and Explorer age members, a weekly float trip down the Llano River will be made beginning at the Junction Scout Grounds and Explorer Base and ending below London. This is a leisurely, fun-filled float trip with fishing, swimming and camping out as major activities. The float trip fee is the same and Scouts (14 or over) and Explorers may sign up for the trip by contacting the Concho Valley Council office in San Angelo and paying $10 of the $25 fee in advance. The float trip will be offered from Camp Sol Mayer and Camp Fawcett.

Camp dates for Camp Sol Mayer will be from June 10-16; June 17-23; and June 24-30. Dates for Camp Fawcett will be July 8-14; July 15-21; and July 22-28.

Both McManus and Robbins stated they believed this summer's program will be the best in years.

Sorority Events

A Spring rush party for new members was held April 9 in the club room. The five prospective members included Rita Lloyd, Peggy Williams, Glenda Harris, Nelva June Martin, and Stella Moody. Girls were asked to wear an unusual hat, and a great fashion show was held to show off the creations. Refreshments of cookies and cokes displayed in an Easter setting were served by the hostess, Flora Hubble.

Our annual Founder's Day Banquet was held Monday night, April 30, at the El Dorado Restaurant. It was a truly lovely ceremony, with the theme, "Lead a Queenly Quest" used as the decorating scene. Yellow roses were at each table and a beautiful candle dish was presented to each member by Beverly Davis, who served as hostess for the banquet.

New members welcomed into Xi Xi Chi were Peggy Williams, Glenda Harris, Nelva June Martin, and Linda Edmiston.

New officers for the coming year 1973-74 were installed. They include Flora Hubble, pres.; Dorothy Dacy, vice pres.; Jo Fatheree, extension officer; Maggie Davis, rec. sec.; Margaret Scott, cor. sec.; and Robbie Heald, treasurer.

Margaret Scott was awarded Girl of the Year. This award goes to the girl whom we feel has contributed the most to our sorority during the year.

Our secret sisters were revealed and there were a few surprises for everyone. —Rep., Dorothy Dacy.

Eaglette Relay Teams Are Now State Bound

All three relays of the Eaglette track team will be running in Austin's Memorial Stadium on Saturday, May 12. The Eldorado girls won the three relay events in Abilene at the regional meet to earn the right to run at the state meet. This will be the second year the girl's state track meet will be run in Memorial Stadium.

The 440 yard relay team ran a time of 49.5 in the prelims of the regional meet to break the old record of 50.5 set by Garden City in 1972. Garden City went on to win state in the 440 relay last year after setting the regional record. Hopefully the Eldorado girls can do the same thing. The sprint relay has lost only two races this year. The first loss came in the Robert Lee track meet when Santa Anna outran the local girls. The other loss came at the hands of Com-

The Consumer Alert
By Atty. Gen. John Hill

Bill Collecting Tactics

Austin, Tex.—The bill collection agent plays a necessary role in our society, since so much of our economy is based on credit transactions.

His purpose and the creditor's rights are well recognized in our laws and our courts.

But the laws also recognize the fact that an over-zealous bill collector should not infringe on the rights of the debtor, and the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's office works to enforce the prohibitions against harassment and false collection practices.

The average creditor and the average professional collection agent are interested only in getting debts settled. They work under the assumption that if a person gets behind in his payments, he has a good reason, and they try to find out the reason and work out a payment plan to suit the debtor's individual situation.

Some bona fide retail credit bureaus even offer debt counseling services, without charge, to help both the consumer and the merchants.

So, if an illness, job problem or some other personal crisis leads to a money problem and you have to delay bill payments, you should not hesitate to speak honestly about them to your creditors. You'll probably find them more than willing to help you work through that difficult time.

The prohibitions against deceptive debt collection practices are aimed at the unscrupulous few who would resort to misleading, and sometimes harmful, methods of collection. These are well defined in the Federal Trade Commission guidelines:

(1) A debt collector cannot threaten that he is turning an account over to an attorney unless he actually is doing so.

(2) He cannot pretend to represent an independent collection agency, if he actually works for the creditor firm or its subsidiary.

(3) He cannot state that the consumer's credit record will be adversely affected, or that his employer will be notified, unless those are true facts.

(4) He cannot use stationery, letterhead or envelope designed to imply an official governmental association. (Under Texas state law, it is a misdemeanor to simulate legal process. So a collection notice designed to look like a court order is illegal.)

(5) If he is trying to "skip trace" (locate a missing debtor), the creditor must clearly indicate in his correspondence that that is his purpose. Some collectors have used such wild tactics that the F. T. C. clearly forbids misrepresentations that a collector is "in the business of a casting service for the motion picture or television industry." And one famous court case involved a collector who had "skip trace" letters mailed from Ireland, claiming that the person sought had won the Irish Sweepstakes.

My Consumer Division has had occasion to take legal action for some of these abuses.

Under common law, an individual can bring suit through a private attorney for intentional infliction of emotional harm.

While the vast majority of consumers do not make credit obligations unless they intend to meet them, and most people do their utmost to pay their debts, we have to remember that there also are some who are financially irresponsible. If you ignore a routine request for payment of a past-due account, the collector might assume you are in the latter category.

So, make a determined effort to clear up money misunderstandings. If you attempt to correct a mistake, or make up for a payment, and still encounter the deceptive practices outlined, do not hesitate to contact the Attorney General or your local district or county attorney.

Cadettes Go To Celebration

Girl Scout Troop 150 Cadettes went to Del Rio last Friday to see the Cinco de Mayo Celebration. Cinco de Mayo was the date Mexico received her independence.

We stayed in the Del Rio Scout Hut Friday and Saturday nights. Saturday morning we went across the border to Acuna and heard speeches. (It sounded interesting whatever he said) and watched the parade. That afternoon we went shopping. After that we went back to the Hut and rested about five minutes, then we went across Amistad Dam and saw the Rain God (of course it was raining). Then we went to a resort and were entertained by a Mexican Band and singers. Then we were served a Mexican dinner. The view of the dam was beautiful.

Then back to the Plaza in Del Rio for more entertainment. About midnight sleep at last.

Sunday morning came early. A Catholic chaplain from the base came for our religious service at 8:00 a.m. After services we changed into our bathing suits and went to a local hotel to swim and have lunch. About 2:00 p.m. we loaded our gear and headed for home.

We arrived home tired, sore, broke and sunburned, but all things considered we had a wonderful time and learned a lot.

Those who went were Carolyn Bland, Judy Reynolds, Sandra Kreie, Mrs. B. J. Reynolds and Mrs. Frank Kreie, leader. —Reporter, Sandra Kreie.

Miss Scott Honored

Miss Rene Scott, bride-elect of Randy Collins, was honored with a rice bag and recipe party on Friday, May 4, 1973, in the home of Mrs. R. K. Bradley. Hostesses with Mr. Bradley were Mrs. Granvil Hext and Mrs. John Stigler.

The bride's chosen colors of spring pastels were used in the colored net and ribbons for the rice bags, which friends of the bride were invited to help make.

Each guest brought her favorite recipe, with a few ingredients for the recipe included. These were presented to the bride in a laundry basket given to her by the hostesses, along with a recipe file for her new recipes.

Cake squares and homemade ice cream were served from a refreshment table covered with pink linen with a center piece of kitchen gadgets made by Mrs. Granvil Hext. This was also given to the bride as a keepsake gift.

Guests attending were Misses Denise Admas, Kathy Page, Dale Davis, Priscilla Holsey, Lou Ann Nixon, Rosellen and Vonda Maness, Lynn Sanders, June Holley, Patti Olson, Debbie Page, Patsy Tampke and the bride's mother, Mrs. Don Scott. Also the bride's sister, Teresa Scott.

Screwworm Cases On Upswing

Screwworm cases in Texas are on the upswing, bearing out the fears of officials of the Screwworm Eradication Project that continued warm, wet weather would boost the activity of the flesh-eating livestock pest.

As of May 1, 89 cases have been confirmed in the state this year. Twenty-one cases popped up during the past two weeks as the screwworm flies began moving northward from overwintering areas in northern Mexico and southern Texas.

Of special notice is a case confirmed in San Saba county on April 27. This case, plus a previous San Saba case and one in adjacent Llano county—all in central Texas—could be a sign of things to come. They are the northernmost cases to be confirmed this year.

The weather is going to be a key factor this year in determining the screwworm situation. With all the moisture over much of the state at the present time, the situation could change rapidly.

The agent urges all livestock producers in the county to keep a close check on their herds and to inspect closely any cuts or wounds on animals. A sample of any worms found should be sent to the Screwworm Lab at Box 969, Mission, TX 78572, for identification. If the worm is identified as a screwworm, sterile flies will be dropped over the area where the case originated.

Prompt reporting by producers is critical to the effectiveness of the eradication program. It's the key ingredient for avoiding screwworm epidemic such as the one which swept the state last year.

Producers submitted a record 508 non-screwworm samples to the Mission Lab in April. These samples, plus 34 which proved to be screwworm cases, make April an excellent reporting month. It is urged that producers continue the good job of reporting. The U. S. case total now stands at 97, with Arizona recording seven and New Mexico, one.

Grass Crops For Profit And Soil Improvement

I wonder if Grass Crops are Getting the attention they deserve in our farming and ranching operations? So says Bill Rountree, district conservationist, assisting the Eldorado-Divide Soil and Water Conservation District. It seems that more grass crops could be used in our operations. By a grass crop we mean any grass or mixture of grasses whether seeded or growing naturally for forage, erosion control, or soil improvement. Most of the grass crops are soil builders. This is especially true of the perennials that are allowed to grow for several years, Rountree said. He pointed out that a good crop of perennial grasses on a piece of land will protect the soil against erosion and improve its fertility and structure.

Rountree said that a good grass crop protects and improves the soil in the following ways: (1) prevents soil erosion, (2) improves soil structure, (3) increases soil productivity, and (4) improves the biological life of the soil. Both the roots and tops of the grass plants help to do these things.

Proper grazing or mowing is essential if producers are to get the highest yields from the grass crop. Each pasture should be grazed or mowed so that enough leaf growth is left to manufacture the food necessary for rapid growth of the leaves and the root system. According to research studies and experiment station data, Bill said, if too much of the grass top is removed by grazing or mowing, root growth stops until the tops recover. A single clipping of 90% of the foliage causes root growth to stop for about 18 days. Where 70% of the foliage was removed and then clipped back to the same level every 2 or 3 days, root growth will stop, but by clipping approximately half of the foliage it does not stop the root growth. From these studies one can easily see that by grazing or mowing the top growth too short, it not only lowers production but also weakens the plant. Highest yields can be obtained and healthier plants where grazing or mowing is moderate.

According to Rountree a pasture and hayland program should fit into a producer's program whether he is irrigating or operating on a dryland basis. There are adapted grasses for this area that would be suitable to either type of operation. Some of the grasses that could be planted on dryland include K. R. bluestem, green sprangletop, kleingrass and sideoats grama. While such grasses or bermudagrass, blue panicum, sideoats grama and kleingrass are some of the grasses suitable to this area under irrigation.

Naturally one would expect higher production under irrigation than dryland, but proper management practices are important for both operations.

County Extension Agent's Column

By DIANE LUBE

H D AGENT COL -- Rhr?co3e ET Cutting Meat Costs

Meat prices test homemakers' skills as planners, shoppers and cooks. Get the most from meat purchases by "stretching" them. Although Americans generally consume more, a person needs two three-ounce servings of meat daily. There are several methods and "extenders" for providing this amount while satisfying family tastes. Although a family member might complain about a three-ounce serving of steak, that same amount of meat in a stew, soup, casserole or salad goes much further. Cookbooks and other literature furnish numerous recipes for such meat dishes to help consumers stretch purchases.

Another "extension" method involves combining protein-rich dry beans, lentils or dry peas with less meat. For example, bean soup with ham, lentils and bacon or hot dogs are hearty, economical and nutritious. In addition, less expensive types of meat are budget stretchers. Ground meat, for instance, combines well with many different foods. Hamburger patties easily furnish the three-ounce meat serving. For families preferring large meat patties, combine one of the following with ground meat before making patties—oatmeal, crushed cereal, breadcrumbs, cracker crumbs or even rice. Add a beaten egg to hold mixture together, and form patties. Cook as desired for tasty, nutritious patties.

Fusible Webs Aid Homesewers

Fusible webs and films simplify home sewing by eliminating several time consuming tasks. These new products utilize heat, steam and pressure to bond two fabrics together—that is, any fabric that can be steam pressed. Although they're not suitable for seams, fusibles simplify addition of trims and appliques—and eliminate basting, hemming and some hand sewing. In addition, they aid in matching designs and prevent raveling. Also, fabric and belting material are joined invisibly through use of a web or film. Several factors contribute to the product's popularity: they make invisible bonds yet don't alter fabric flexibility. At the same time, they reduce bulk. Fusibles are sold by the yard, in precut sheets or as tapes of various widths—and come in several weights. For best results, test product effectiveness on a fabric scrap—before using it in the garment. Webs work better on some fabrics than others. Although bonds usually are permanent, sometimes they loosen. When this happens, simply re-press the item—resealing the fabrics. To remove, steam the area heavily and pull fabrics apart. Don't allow hot iron and webbing to come in contact—they'll stick together. Should some webbing stick, use a mild abrasive or commercial iron cleaner to remove it. Then restore sole plate smoothness by gliding the hot iron over wax paper.

Due to the coming Couples Tournament May 19 & 20, several couples are practicing, also some out of towners.

We are missing our members who are on vacations. Happy fishing and golfing!

Our congratulations to Charlie Hahn and Delbert Taylor who each had a hole in one recently. Seems like they've both had them before. Isn't fair boys!

Remember, the object of exercise is to have fun.

Don't forget! Mix foursome play this Sunday afternoon at 1:30 p.m.

No Need For Advertising?

—Preachers don't preach just once a year even though people are against sin.

—Teachers review lessons. They know that children do forget and often have to be told more than once.

—Highway patrolmen drive up and down the highways, and caution drivers although motorists know the law and should obey.

—Mail order firms continue to send out catalogues.

—Not all of us know what is sold in stores in the home town, and we need to be invited continually to trade in your place of business.

—The Notre Dame cathedral has stood for centuries, but still they ring the bell every day.

Lions Clubs Achieve One Million Members

OAK BROOK, ILLINOIS—Bernard A. "Barney" Gill (left), of Virginia Beach, Va., has been recognized as the one millionth member of the International Association of Lions Clubs, according to Lions President George Friedrichs, Anney, France. Lions International is the world's largest service organization with more than 26,000 clubs in 148 countries and geographical territories around the world. It is the first service association to reach one million members. In special ceremonies conducted at the Association's Oak Brook, Ill., headquarters, Gill received a special plaque from Phil W. Sterker, of Basalt, Colo., Chairman of the Membership Club Service Committee of the International Board of Directors.

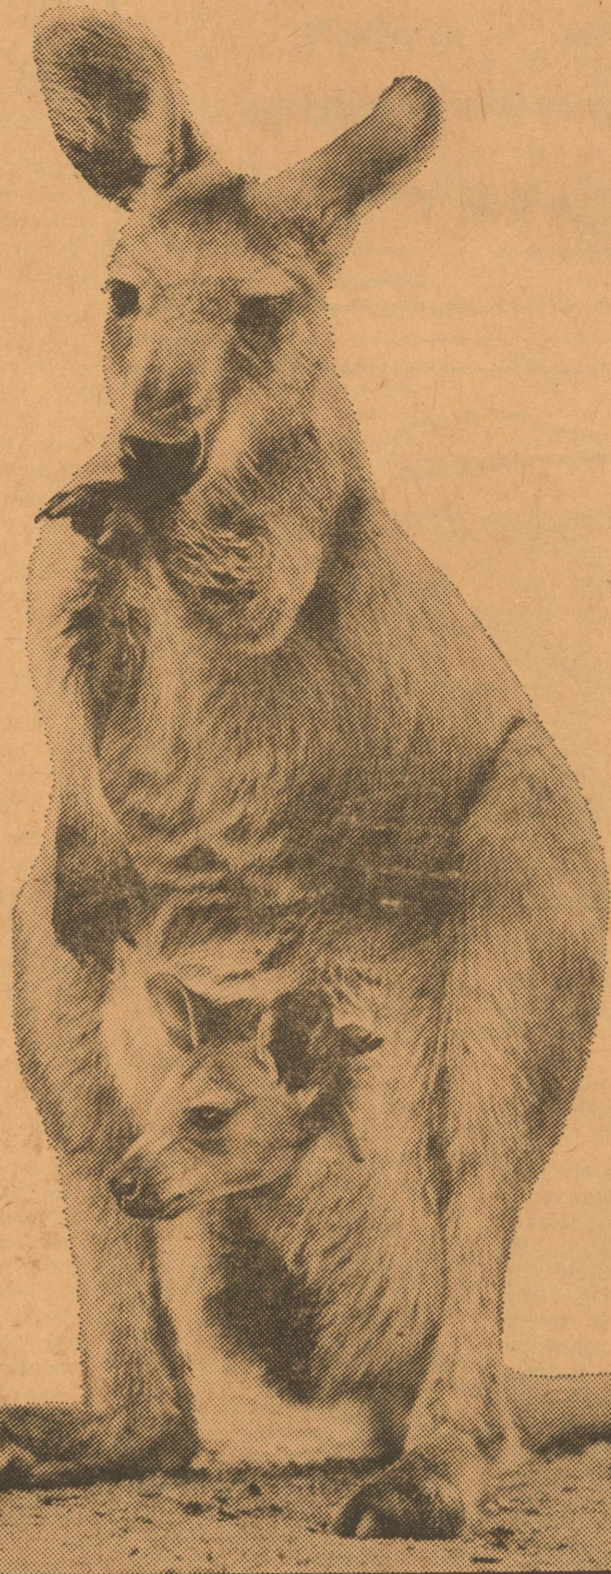

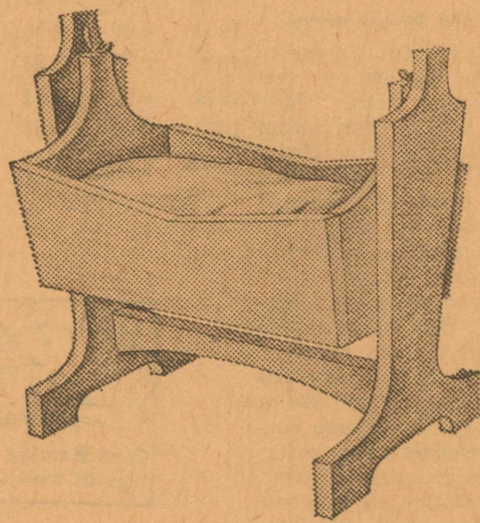

Gill, 45, a retired Army Lieutenant Colonel and Viet Nam veteran, is Executive Director of the United Drug Abuse Council, Inc., a planning and coordinating agency for all drug related problems in the Tidewater region of Virginia. He resides in Virginia Beach with his wife, Nancy, and their five children, and is a member of the Virginia Beach Oceana Lions Club.

AT HOME

Kangaroo mamas have one advantage over "human" mamas—their crib is "built-in." There's no need for them to dash around the house to give Junior tender loving care. He is always nearby, located quite conveniently for mother's attention.

Any mother's attention is crucial in providing a child with the religious foundations needed to produce a responsible adult. Enough freedom so that he can be independent — enough discipline to provide structure for his life. And moral precepts instilled by the Church and parental example.

One day Junior will outgrow mama's pouch or crib. Then, and only then, can parents know if they have been successful.
