'Land & The River' Set In San Angelo

For four week ends in June, visitors to San Angelo will have an opportunity to combine a history lesson with an evening of entertainment along the banks of the Concho River.

On June 9, 14-16, 21-23, and 28-30, the San Angelo Chamber of Commerce will present The Land And The River, based on the play, The Town They Left Behind Them by Dr. Raymond Carver, a member of the Angelo State University faculty.

A cast of 50 performers will dramatize the development of Fort Concho by the Department of the Army, the subsequent settlement of two communities—the respectable Ben Ficklin and the not-so-respectable Santa Angela, the 1882 flood which destroyed Ben Ficklin and finally the incorporation of the town of San Angelo.

The highlight of the play—to be performed on three stages along the banks of the Concho River in downtown San Angelo—will be the dramatization of the devastating flood. Sound effects, lighting, and a deluge of water and debris rushing down the river will create a memorable illusion for the audience seated along the river.

Additionally, certain characters and events of the era will be identified to contribute to the audience's entertainment and its understanding of how Fort Concho and the two communities prospered and grew.

Tickets are available through the San Angelo Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 712, San Angelo, Texas 76901. Admission prices are $3.50, $2.50 and $2.00.

Though The Land And The River can be seen for four weekends, visitors to San Angelo June 7-9 can both see the play and participate in a myriad of other activities slated for San Angelo's first annual "Fiesta del Concho."

Among events will be a river parade June 7 featuring professionally decorated floats followed by street dances along the river banks; two dances—one formal and one western—on June 8; a regatta and a golf tournament.

Additional activities will be held on the grounds of Fort Concho, which has been uniquely well preserved and restored.

Events scheduled there include an Old Fiddlers Contest, barbecue, presentation of blue grass music by two bands and fort tours.

Complete details about Fiesta del Concho and ticket information is available from the San Angelo Chamber of Commerce.

Steve and Pollyanna Stephens, co-chairmen of the Fiesta del Concho say, "San Angelo is having a party—ya'll come!"

Four Pages This Week

This issue of The Success was printed early with just four pages. This was in order for the crew to take a few days' vacation.

The news items and advertising that came in too late for this issue have been held and will be published in the June 7th edition.

—PS— Since the younger half of our crew took a few days off for vacation, the Success for this week was printed in an abbreviated edition a few days early.

Bill and Charlene Gunstead and family were scheduled to take off on a trip to Kansas to visit her relatives and to attend her high school class reunion.

In the meantime—after they are gone—the "senior member and old man" will keep the shop open making out monthly bills. Any printing jobs taken during this period will be accepted on the basis that they will be turned out upon return of our crew.

To 4-H Round-Up

SUZAN THORNTON

Suzan Thornton, Senior 4-H member, will be attending the State Food Show and Round-Up June 4, 5, and 6 in College Station. Suzan won the honor of competing in the State Food Show March 17 at the District 7 Food Show held in San Saba. Suzan entered a Christmas Fruit Salad in the Fruits and Vegetables Division and was high point scorer.

She received a ribbon and silver-plated Paul Revere bowl engraved with 1973 District 4-H Food Show. Con-Agra, Inc. The First National Bank of Eldorado paid for the engraving of Suzan's name on the bowl.

At the state contest Suzan will be judged during the preparation of her entry, and will take a Nutrition Know How Test. She must then answer judges' questions about nutrition and preparation techniques in an interview. Suzan will be competing for a $500 scholarship and a trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago.

The Eldorado Riding Club members report arrangements are complete for the Fourth Annual Junior Rodeo scheduled for Friday and Saturday nights, June 1 and 2. Promoters have been busy for many weeks selling program advertising, putting placards in neighboring towns, and taking care of all the other details involved.

A Street Parade Friday at 6:00 p.m. will feature the young cowboys and cowgirls, dressed in their Sunday-best rodeo attire and riding Texas' fanciest and most highly trained horses. They will parade down Main Street.

The Rodeo events get under way at 8:30 p.m. on each of the two nights. One Co-Round, Pay Four Places will feature nine events: Bull Riding, Boot Scramble, Calf Roping, Ribbon Roping, Barrel Racing, Flag Racing, Pole Bending, Steer Riding and Bare Back Riding.

Dances are set for both Friday and Saturday nights following the performances. In case of inclement weather the dances will be held in the Memorial Building.

Those scheduled to serve as officials at the two performances include: Announcer, Charlie Long of San Angelo; Judges, Charlie Preston of Sonora and Billy McCravey of Eldorado; Producer, Royce Rodgers, Kerrville.

Also: Clown, Monty Smith of Iraan; Arena Director, Horace Linthicum, Eldorado; Timekeepers, O. B. Singleton and Curtis Short; and Bookkeepers, Susie Rosford, Sonora, and C. F. Dacy and Judy Meador, Eldorado.

Trophy will be given to All-Round Boy and Girl. The books close May 31st at 6:00 p.m.

Red Cross Seeks Funds For Victims

Sixty thousand persons, many of them homeless, have been affected and suffered loss in the record flooding of the Mississippi River and its tributaries in Illinois and Missouri, and American Red Cross disaster workers are preparing to assist additional thousands of victims as the muddy crest moves toward the already flooded lower sections of the river, states Mr. Elmo Curry, Concho Valley Red Cross Chapter Chairman, San Angelo, Texas.

The American Red Cross disaster relief funds are totally depleted and with a record flood crest now moving down the Mississippi River, and the Spring disaster season at its peak, the situation is precarious and will continue so for several weeks.

Since March 17, an unprecedented series of 81 floods, tornadoes, explosions and other disasters have affected hundreds of thousands of persons in 22 states. The Red Cross has provided shelter for over 10,000 persons, fed 32,000 victims and emergency workers, and is continuing to assist families in the affected communities.

May 6th, new flooding caused by torrential rains drove thousands of persons from their homes in the Denver area. The Red Cross Rocky Mountain Division gave emergency aid to 1,000 victims in 10 shelters. Other disaster workers prepared to meet possible new flood threats today along the South Platte River in Colorado and Nebraska, and in parts of Texas, Arkansas and Illinois, while also checking the need for Red Cross help in sections of Arlington, Texas, hit by a tornado May 6.

Disaster expenditures and commitments during the past six weeks exceed $2 million, bringing Red Cross relief costs in the current fiscal year to almost $28 million.

San Angelo's adn surrounding area fair share is $2,172. This is based on 10% of the 1972-73 National Quota of $21,820. Disaster contributions should be mailed to American Red Cross, 401 Trust Building, San Angelo, Texas 76901.

4-H Camp Will Be Held June 1, 2, & 3

This will be the first year for Schleicher County 4-H Club to have a 4-H County Camp. The camp will be held June 1, 2, 3 at the Texas Tech Center near Junction. An exciting program has been planned for our 4-H members. Friday will include a presentation by Mr. Tate Pittman, Regional Officer with Texas Parks and Wildlife, who will give a program on Wildlife.

Friday afternoon will be filled with activities of games and swimming. Later that evening Mr. Tom Kirehoff from the Department of Public Safety will present a program on Gun Safety. Friday night recreation will be planned by senior 4-H members. Saturday is bursting with exciting activities. West Texas Utilities is providing isometric and swimming supervision under the direction of Mr. Curly Hays. All campers will be participating in some type of craft activity and Miss Iris Kalich, District 7 4-H Specialist from San Angelo will be there to give 4-H Training Programs to 4-H members.

Saturday night will be a big Square Dance with Joel Wilson of West Texas Utilities from Abilene as caller.

Sunday morning there will be time for a devotional service, camp clean-up and then the trip back home. The cost of camp is $8.00 per 4-H member. This will include meals, lodging, and T-shirts. Each member will receive a 4-H T-shirt printed with Schleicher County 4-H Club. Meals will be prepared by adult leaders. We are anticipating great success with our first 4-H Camp. It is with the financial support and encouragement of local businessmen and citizens that we are able to have such a fine 4-H organization in the county for our youth. It is their support that is helping to make this camp possible and helping 4-H members "To Make the Best Better."

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Joyce and Robby moved their household good to Montana this past week. Robby will spend the summer there working.

Swimming Safety Emphasized
The advent of warm weather means that families will once again be heading for lakes and rivers to engage in water sports. These can be fun times, yet they can quickly turn into a tragedy.

Water sports provide excellent recreation, but safety must be foremost in the minds of everyone engaged in such activities.

Accidental drowning claims thousands of lives over the United States each year. Last year 601 Texans lost their lives in water-related accidents, most of the deaths occurring during the spring and summer months.

The agent lists some safety tips on swimming to make those outdoor outings to your favorite lake both fulfilled and safe:

1. First of all, all non-swimmers should enroll in a swimming course.
 2. Never swim alone and know the area in which you are swimming. Even a strong swimmer can be undone by strange currents, tides or sudden dropoffs.
 3. Supervise small children constantly.
 4. Don't swim if chilled, overheated or overtired, or if a thunderstorm threatens.
 5. If a person near you is in danger of drowning, don't jump in after him unless you are trained in lifesaving. Instead, extend a pole, life buoy or anything that will float.
- Surveys have shown that almost half the drowning victims in the United States last year were reluctant swimmers. That fact in itself should serve to make people more cautious around water.

Horn Fly Control

Horn fly populations are now on the rise in the Hill country and Edwards Plateau areas. This pest closely resembles the common house fly and is almost half as big. The horn fly is one of our most persistent and annoying external parasites of cattle. High populations of horn flies cause considerable irritation and cost cattlemen dollars due to wasted energy normally utilized for beef and milk production. Blood loss due to horn fly feeding also contributes to a general decline in animal "condition."

Horn fly control may be achieved by several methods. Self-treatment devices are gaining in popularity and include fabric dust bags and cable-type back rubbers. These devices usually give good control of horn flies for about 20 to 60 cents per head per month depending on the insecticide used and other related factors.

The herdsman should install self-treatment devices in areas frequently visited by cattle, such as water, feed, or mineral sources. There may also be a short period of adjustment by the animals before they begin to fully utilize automatic or animal self-treatment equipment.

Spray and dust application of several insecticides are also effective in controlling horn flies.

Always follow explicitly all label directions to avoid unwanted residues and possible injury to cattle and applicators.

Check For Mosquito Breeding Sites

With recent rains, water may be standing in some locations on your premises. Such standing water makes an excellent place for raising mosquitoes.

Mosquitoes lay eggs wherever water will collect and stand for a week or longer. Young mosquitoes develop only in water and prefer polluted water for breeding.

If standing water on your premises cannot be eliminated, check it weekly for mosquito larvae. If any are found, apply an insecticide spray. A spray containing 0.5% lindane or 0.2% malathion may be used as well as kerosene or fuel oil.

To prepare your own spray, mix 3½ teaspoons of a 50 to 57% malathion emulsifiable concentrate to enough water, kerosene or fuel oil to make one pint of spray. Or mix 2¼ teaspoons of 20% lindane emulsifiable concentrate to make one pint of spray.

Spray one ounce (2 tablespoons) of one of these mixtures to each 100 square feet of water surface.

For kerosene or fuel oil at full strength, use two to four ounces to each 100 square feet of surface. Do not use kerosene or fuel oil on water containing emergent vegetation.

To keep annoyances from mosquitoes at a minimum this spring and summer, take measures now to destroy breeding places.

The service this Sunday afternoon, June 3rd, at the Nursing Home, will be under direction of the Primitive Baptist Church.

Are you renting land... when you should be renting money?

There are many good reasons why it takes some land of your own to be sure of a future in agriculture. You're always welcome to drop by our office and talk over the advantages of taking out a long-term mortgage on farm or ranch property. Right now could be the best time for you to start using borrowed money to buy land... Instead of using your own money to rent or lease.

Gardening Check List For Month Of May

1. It is Pecan Nut Casebearer Time again. Check your newspaper for correct time to spray for this pest. Your county Extension agent will provide correct spraying dates for your area.
2. Watch for aphids on new foliage. Malathion or Diazinon will do an effective job on controlling if population becomes great. Frequently natural predators will take care of small populations without the use of chemicals.
3. May is elm leaf beetle time in many areas of Texas. Sevin does an effective job of controlling this pest. You may want to consider replacing some of the elm trees with other kinds of trees. By replacing one tree per year you will eventually eliminate the elm leaf beetle problem.
4. Time for powdery mildew to start appearing on crepe myrtle, zinnia, and euonymus. Control with Karathane or Acti-Dione PM sprays or use dusting sulfur during cool weather.
5. Still time to do any necessary pruning on the spring flowering shrubs. It is too late to prune anything that blooms on new wood. Included in this category of summer flowering shrubs are, crepe myrtle, abelia, and althea.
6. With all the spring rain we have had, an application of nitrogen containing fertilizer will make the lawn grass look better. Use either 5 pounds of ammonium sulfate or 3 pounds of ammonium nitrate per 1000 square feet. Heavier applications can cause burning and also rapid growth and frequent mowing. Always water thoroughly after applying fertilizer.
7. If annual plants are becoming tall and leggy, pinch back the terminals to encourage branching.
8. Unmulched planting areas should be cultivated to rework compacted soil around plants to provide aeration and better drainage. It will also aid in eradicating weed and grass. Consider using a good mulch to prevent further compaction. Don't mulch poorly drained beds or they will stay too wet.
9. Make cuttings of your favorite chrysanthemums and root them in sand and peat moss for use in other beds.
10. Complete pruning of climbing roses to insure good supply of new wood for next year's flowers.
11. Don't fail to continue to apply blackspot controls to roses.
12. Apply fertilizer to rose beds following each flush of bloom to encourage new growth and more flower buds.
13. Dahlias require ample amounts of fertilizer for best growth. Apply fertilizer every 4 to 6 weeks to obtain good foliage and plenty of flowers.
14. May is the month to set out summer flowering plants produced from bulbs and bulb-like structures. Those that should be planted this month include, dahlia tubers, canna roots, caladium tubers, tuberous spider lilies, crinum, gloriosas, and liriopsis.
15. Having trouble growing good grass beneath your shade trees? Consider replacing the grass with a shade tolerant ground cover as English ivy or big leaf periwinkle.

Schleicher Included In Oil Production

Dallas, Tex.—In the face of unprecedented demand, Texas oil fields last year produced almost 1.3-billion barrels of crude oil, an all-time record for the state. This figure was tops among the nation's oil-producing states and represented some 38% of total U. S. production, according to statistics compiled by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

These figures show an increase of more than 67.8-million barrels over production in 1971. They reflect that during the last nine months of the year, the Texas Railroad Commission maintained a maximum efficient production for Texas fields. This marked the first time Texas wells had produced all-out since 1948.

Last year's crude oil production, recorded in 203 of the state's 254 counties, was valued at some $4.5 billion.

In 83 years of recorded production, Texas has produced nearly 37-billion barrels of oil, about 36% of total U. S. production.

Schleicher county, which has recorded production since 1937, last year produced 1,604,271 barrels of oil at the rate of 4,383 barrels a day. Production in 1972 boosted Schleicher's production total thru the end of the year to 58,942,691.

Protect Home From Vacation Burglary

Protect your home against burglary while away on vacation. Any burglary means a severe budget upset—especially if insurance coverage isn't adequate.

But even with excellent coverage, many items have sentimental as well as financial value—and simply can't be replaced.

Therefore it's crucial to lessen the possibility of burglary by eliminating everything that suggests the house is vacant. A family can do several things before leaving to achieve this.

For one, cancel all daily deliveries and discontinue any newspapers. A yard full of yellowing newspapers is an open invitation to thieves.

Also, connect at least one lamp to an automatic timer so it turns on at dusk and off at bedtime—creating a lived in appearance. Thieves watch for lights left on too long as well as darkened houses.

Leave shades or blinds in a normal position—not completely closed. Close and lock all windows and door—including those in the garage and outdoor storeroom.

Use pin-tumbler cylinder locks on all outside doors. These locks require a key to both lock and unlock them.

Arrange to have the lawn cut, plants watered and other yard work done.

Make an arrangement with the post office or a neighbor to either hold or forward all mail.

Notify local police and a neighbor as to date of departure and return.

Leave a house key with a neighbor or friend, informing him of your itinerary and destination.

Store valuables in a safety deposit box.

Make a current household inventory. In case of burglary, an accurate inventory helps determine what items are missing—simplifying insurance collection.

Spring Cleaning—Hazardous To Children

Household cleaning products—helpful to homemakers—are potentially harmful in the hands of children.

With spring cleaning in full swing, these products present even greater danger.

Products within sight and reach of children tempt investigation—and poisoning often results. According to national surveys, three-fourths of all poisonings result from drugs or household chemicals that children can see and reach.

Adding to the problem is the desire to "help mother clean up." If a child is allowed to help, watch him closely. Through carelessness or curiosity, he may spray something in his eyes—instead of the desired target.

When cleaning around the home, don't leave any household cleaner unattended. If distracted or interrupted by the doorbell or telephone, take the cleaner along—or move it to a place out of the child's reach.

Keeping products in a box or basket simplifies such actions.

Also, consider neighbors when engaged in outdoor activities. Never leave cleaners or poisons on the ground—even if you'll be gone only a minute.

Credit Cards Call For Careful Owner Use

Austin, Texas.—You've probably heard the complaint from a friend: "It wasn't the money that worried me when I lost my wallet. It was the fact that I had my credit cards in it!"

The average Texan has at least one credit card, and some carry several—issued by oil companies, retail merchants, charge services, or banks.

The credit card is a great convenience for the consumer—a handy way to buy at a bargain and pay later; the means to take a trip and pay for it over an extended period of time, and its use provides a methodical system for keeping business and tax records.

A person who is issued a credit card usually contracts to pay the issuing firm for the goods and services received upon billing. In some cases, the credit card usage enables the consumer to spread out the payments over a specified time (such as six, 12, or 18 months for an airline ticket), or—as in the case of many retail or bank services—put the payments on a "revolving credit" basis.

In the latter event, federal law requires the card issuer to make full disclosure to the customer of the payments required. Under Texas law, the merchant can charge an interest or "service" rate of up to 1½% per month of the unpaid monthly balance.

One of the procedures for safe and sane credit card usage urged by the businesses which issue them is to keep a careful record of the cards you hold, together with the number of each, in case of loss or theft.

To be doubly sure, make duplicate copies and put one in your strong box, and one in an easily accessible place. If the card issuer has notified you of a number to call in case of loss, write that down, too.

The U. S. Congress and the Texas Legislature have attempted to protect the credit card holder from some of the problems he could encounter if he lost his card.

The Truth-in-Lending law limits the liability of the holder to $50 if his card is lost or stolen and someone else makes charges on the account. Under that law, the company issuing you the card must notify you of that liability limitation, and furnish you with a means of identifying proof of ownership. That is the reason most companies now provide a space for your own signature on the credit card.

Under Texas law, it is a felony—punishable by a penalty of up to $1,000 and/or two years in the penitentiary to steal, counterfeit or forge a credit card, or to buy or knowingly use a lost or stolen or expired credit card.

Texas statistics on credit card "black marketing" are not available at the present time, but law enforcement officials are aware of the problem. In Illinois, a recent legislative investigation revealed that illegal practices cost companies issuing credit cards in that state more than $20 million in a three-year period.

In one Texas city not long ago, police seized several hundred credit cards which had been stolen through an organized crime operation. And while bank card officials say far more credit cards are lost than stolen, they also say there is an illicit market for fraudulent use of the lost "plastic."

So, play it safe. Watch your credit card as closely as you guard

Youth Employment Programs Announced

Youth in the Concho Valley region interested in participating in the 1973 Summer Youth Employment Program should contact the designated program coordinator for their community or county to complete both application forms and the initial screening procedures, according to recent word from the Concho Valley Council of Governments offices in San Angelo.

Coordinator for Eldorado and Schleicher county is Guy Whitaker, high school principal.

Public and private, non-profit agencies in the various communities and counties also should contact the coordinator to indicate interest in hiring youth through the program.

Youth to receive first priority in hiring will be disadvantaged youth who are not less than 14 years of age nor more than 22 years of age. Second priority goes to Vietnam and disabled veterans who are not more than 29 years of age and third to students on vacation from school who are not disadvantaged.

Financed with excess funds from the Emergency Employment Act, the program will begin approximately June 1. Its purpose is to provide summer employment for youth in the three priority categories who plan to return to school in the fall.

Safety Awards Given

The Texas Highway Department recently awarded certificates and pins to accident free drivers of trucks, pickups and station wagons in this area.

Receiving certificates were Eldorado employees Manuel V. Martinez, who has 7 years' service, and Domingo L. Pina, who has 10 years' service with the Highway Dept.

THE LONER

You wonder how it got there . . . a sapling far from the forest. And grew . . . alone, untended, little-noticed. And flourished to stand like a sentinel against the horizon.

Maybe a tree understands, as sometimes man does not, the secret of God. We are never alone!

What we need He has provided. What we are to become He has designed. The beauty and majesty and grace that can emanate from one object, one creature, He has envisioned and made real . . . for all to share.

There is no loner.

But when we feel alone, then, more than ever, we are drawn to God and His Church. In faith, in friendship with others who believe, in service to those who need our affection and care—we discover how deeply and satisfyingly we belong.
