derrick juts high into the Texas sky. From every side come sounds of laughter and excitement.

It's all part of the "fun" atmosphere of Texas' most popular tourist attraction, Six Flags Over Texas. Since 1961, more than 20-million persons from throughout the world have passed through the big park's beautifully landscaped entrance and into a world of history, fantasy and fun.

Located in Arlington, midway between Dallas and Fort Worth, the sprawling theme park features more than 95 rides, shows and attractions, including an entirely new, five acre section—Good Time Square—which was added for the 1973 season. All told, the Park covers some 145 acres.

Six Flags Over Texas draws its name from the six flags which have flown over the Lone Star state during its long and exciting history.

The immaculately clean grounds are divided into six sections, with the atmosphere constantly changing to reflect the state's past and present under the rule of Spain, Mexico, France, the Republic of Texas, the Confederacy and the United States of America.

One of the things that sets Six Flags apart from other entertainment centers is its young staff. Some 1,500 hosts and hostesses, primarily high school and college students, give the park a fresh, wholesome personality.

Even the performers in Six Flags many live shows are students, chosen from among the thousands who audition each year on college campuses throughout the country.

The largest of the show productions is the Park's 1973 musical, "The Passing Parade," which is presented several times daily in the Southern Palace Music Hall. It features cast of 16, with a 14-piece orchestra.

The show lineup alone is enough to keep visitors happily occupied for hours. Sid and Marty Krofft, producers of such network television shows for children as "H. R. Pufnstuf" and "Lidsville," present a unique production in their Puppet Theater.

There is song and dance in the Crazy Horse Saloon; aquatic antics at the Dolphin Show; gunfire and excitement at the Old West shootout; the ring of pirates' swords on Skull Island; the blare of a brass band marching through the streets and much more.

Rides at Six Flags Over Texas come in every size and sensation, from the charm and color of the animated Fiesta Train in the Mexican section to the breathtaking speed of The Big Bend, racing along a half mile of track in the U.S.A. section at a 50 mile an hour clip.

Then there are the Park's two Log Flumes, the mysterious Spelunkers' Cave, the Runaway Mine Train, Caddo Indian War Canoes, modern and antique miniature cars, a narrow gauge railroad with two, authentic steam engines.

One of the largest slides in the world sends fun-seekers swooping to the ground from a five-storey height. From observation platforms at the 300 foot level of Six Flags' landmark Oil Derrick you can see the skylines of Dallas and Fort Worth, each 16 miles away.

In the new Good Times Square section two major rides have been added. The Infernal Electrical Bumping Machines bring a new dimension to the old American standby, "bumper cars." The elaborate layout is equipped with 50 cars.

Doc Snooker's Magnificent Main Street Midway features 16 intriguing games of the type which have been the most popular attractions at major fairs for years. It is an old idea "dusted off" and recreated in the wholesome style which has become a Six Flags trademark.

On the edge of the Square is Six Flags' unique "Tribute to Will Rogers." The wit and philosophy of the late comedian are brought to new generations through the computer age exhibit which features a life-like animated figure of Mr. Rogers. In addition, visitors can trace Will Rogers' life and career through a display of photographs supplied by the Will Rogers Memorial at Claremore, Oklahoma. Restaurants are scattered throughout the Park with menus running the gamut from Mexican dishes to seafood, fried chicken, pizza, barbecue and, of course, hamburgers and hot dogs.

One of the most popular aspects of a visit to Six Flags Over Texas is the ticket policy. Adult tickets are priced at $5.95. Children 3 thru 11 pay $4.95, and children under the age of three are admitted free. Once inside the Park everything is free with the exception of food, souvenirs and arcades.

A visitor can take in all the rides, shows and other attractions as many times as he likes in a single day without extra charge.

There's even a free picnic area for those who prefer to bring their own food.

For the average family, Six Flags

Over Texas is an all-day affair. Many persons prefer to set a slower pace and spend two days.

The Park takes on a special atmosphere at night when thousands of lights cast an enchanting glow over the winding streets.

By night or day the lavishly landscaped grounds are a source of wonderment. A staff of 50 gardeners is required to keep the Park in "manicured" condition. During the course of a season more than a quarter of a million flowering plants accent the acres of greenery. Hundreds of hanging baskets lend a touch of nature to other areas.

Adding to the pleasure of a summer visit are the tons of air conditioning. Even the open-air queue lines are air conditioned.

Six Flags Over Texas is open Saturdays and Sundays only in the spring and fall seasons. The Park is in daily operation during the summer months. It is closed during the winter for a total refurbishing and the addition of new attractions.

There is something new at Six Flags every year, making it a dazzling adventure for the first-time visitor and an ever changing source of fun and entertainment for those who come again and again.

Six Flags Over Texas To Open March 17th

Arlington, Texas.—Six Flags Over Texas will launch its 1973 season March 17.

The St. Patrick's Day opening is the earliest in the 12-year history of the theme park.

Attendance figures—2,062,000 in 1972—rank the multi-million dollar entertainment center as Texas' top tourist attraction.

The Park, located in Arlington, midway between Dallas and Fort Worth, has played host to more than 20,000,000 visitors since 1961.

A new, 5-acre section is being added for the 1973 season. Called "Good Time Square," the addition includes a games area, two major rides, a miniature circus, and other attractions.

Among other new features this year are a new fleet of miniature sports cars on the Happy Motoring Freeway, a strolling brass band, and entirely new shows in all the Park's theaters.

SIX FLAGS will be open Saturdays and Sundays only until May 26 when daily operation begins the summer season. Spring and summer hours are 10 a.m. until 10 p.m.

On Tech Honor List

Lubbock, Tex.—A total of 896 students in the College of Business Administration qualified for the dean's honor list for the 1972 fall semester, according to Dean Jack D. Steele.

To qualify for the honor list, a student must be enrolled in 12 hours of courses, excluding pass-fail courses, and have at least a 3.0 grade point average. Texas Tech uses a 4.0 grading system.

The College of Business Administration is one of six colleges and two schools at Texas Tech University, which will be observing its Fiftieth Anniversary 1973-75. The fall enrollment was more than 21,490.

Back From Lubbock

Mr. and Mrs. Granvil Hext and Mrs. Evelyn Stigler visited in Lubbock over the week end with their family members there. Evelyn visited with the Jerry Stiglers while the Hexts visited the Herman C. Walker family. They were met there on Sunday by the M. D. (Butch) Hext family of Amarillo. Friday night they attended the Lawrence Welk show. They really enjoyed the show and the Hexts had a friend on the show that they enjoy each week, the little dancer "Cissy King" of Albuquerque.

Cissy and her mother invited the Hexts and Deanne to the reception honoring the Lawrence Welk Band at the Red Raider Inn. Then Cissy and her mother visited in the Walker home. The Stiglers and Hexts say there is still a decent show on.

Eldorado-Divide District News

Good Moisture Conditions Prevail

The good moisture condition throughout the Eldorado-Divide Soil and Water Conservation District will probably eliminate the need for the pre-planting irrigation usually applied. The pre-planting irrigation is considered to be one of most important irrigations applied by farmers that practice good irrigation water management. When soil moisture is near full field capacity when crops are planted good crops are nearly always produced.

Good moisture at planting time is no guarantee that crops will not need water from the irrigation supply before next rain is received. With this in mind, plans should be made and carried out to meet the water needs of the crop by applying irrigation water.

The proper design and installation of the irrigation system is as important in achieving proper irrigation water management, as any part of irrigating. From the time the water leaves the well or other water source, diligent care should be taken to assure the most efficient and profitable use of all the water. Getting the water to the field to be irrigated without loss of water and without causing erosion could be considered the first step toward good irrigation water management. Most irrigation farmers have found portable pipe or permanent underground pipe to be the best for delivery of irrigation water and these are being used exclusively in Schleicher county.

Fields being irrigated can help make the use of all irrigation water and rainfall efficient and profitable or wasteful and un-profitable. Fields with too much grade in direction of irrigation can waste a big percent of irrigation water and in most instances a higher percent of the rainfall received. Excess grade and side fall or a reverse grade always adds to the inefficiency of irrigation. Selecting fields that are best suited for irrigation and installing a system whereby the best management of irrigation water is attained is another step in profitable irrigation.

The application of too much irrigation water is a waste the same as water that runs off the field. Too much water is a waste in that the excess water could be used to irrigate more acres and in addition the crop that is over-watered is damaged.

Water in the right amount, at the right time properly distributed over the fields has always been the most conducive to efficient and profitable yields. Farmers with irrigation water have the tool to achieve this goal if good irrigation water management is practiced.

Assistance in planning and installing irrigation systems is available from the Soil Conservation Service. Cost share in applying enduring type conservation practices is available through the Great Plains Conservation Program administered by the S.C.S.

Pointers For A Trim Garden

To get the spring garden off to a good start, these pointers listed are to be considered:

Soil Preparation—Garden soil needs to be loose and friable to prevent crusting during dry spells. Dig up the soil and work in plenty of sphagnum peat moss, compost or pine bark. Apply a layer three to four inches deep over the entire bed and work in to a depth of six to eight inches. This will improve both heavy clay soils and light sandy soils.

Fertilizer—When preparing flower beds, mix two to three pounds of complete fertilizer per 100 sq. feet of area. Use a fertilizer with an analysis of 8-8-8 or similar type. Light monthly applications of fertilizer throughout the summer will insure large plants with ample flowers. Water thoroughly after each application of fertilizer.

Water—Water in young plants thoroughly at time of transplanting. Water plants regularly except during rainy periods. A thorough soaking once every five to seven days as needed is better than a light application every day.

Use Good Plants—Newer and better varieties are being developed each year. Many of the new hybrids will provide more flowers and brighter colors throughout the season. They require no more work and care than the older varieties. Don't attempt to save seed from the new hybrid lines. The results will usually be disappointing since the seed seldom comes true to type.

VEE Vaccination Recommended

It's just good "horse sense" to vaccinate all horses, mules, donkeys and other equine animals against Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis (VEE) as soon as possible. Mosquitoes which carry this deadly horse sleeping sickness will soon be emerging as spring weather arrives. Although no cases of VEE were confirmed in Texas or other states during 1972, the potential danger of the disease still threatens all horses and other equine because VEE did strike in northern Mexico during the past year.

Although most horses were vaccinated for the disease in 1971 when it first hit the United States, few animals have been vaccinated since that time. It is extremely important, therefore, to vaccinate these animals again as immunity from the previous vaccination has diminished.

We especially recommend vaccination for horses that will be subjected to interstate travel to shows, races and similar events. Foals that were vaccinated before six months of age should be revaccinated to assure a longer immunity.

Pregnant mares may also be vaccinated. Experience to date has indicated no hazards following the vaccination of such animals.

One only needs to look back to 1971 to see how fast this deadly disease can strike. A horse owner just can't afford to play a guessing game with VEE—hoping that 1973 will be the same as last year. It's just too great a risk when you consider that a vaccine is available to protect your animals.

So contact your local veterinarian today and give your horses the protection they need against VEE.

Planting Gladiolus

More from Ted Fisher. Spring means planting time, and if you haven't already gotten started, you better get a move on it. Spring has now officially arrived by the calendar and we need to be busy in our gardens.

One of summer's favorite flowers is the gladiolus. If you haven't grown gladiolus you are missing a real treat. Gladiolus are especially impressive combined with summer annuals and perennials in the garden, or when cut, they make a

Unlike other kinds of flowers, gladiolus require very little space in your garden. You can plant a dozen or several dozen bulbs in a row, or group them in clusters for a massed effect. And this small area devoted to gladiolus can produce a bounty of beautiful blooms.

Now is the time to plant glads, and your local nursery or garden center is featuring a good supply of bulbs. Choose the varieties that are in the colors you want. Most all of the standard varieties are offered, in addition to many beautiful hybrid varieties which have been introduced in recent years.

Nearly any color you fancy can be seen in gladiolus—from pure shades of white, cream, and pink to a bizarre combination of tan, and brown. Or how about green or blue? You can grow gladiolus that color, too.

While the tall-growing flowering gladiolus are extremely popular, the relatively new Tiny Tot (or miniature) glads are creating excitement in the garden world.

No matter which gladiolus you prefer, choose quality bulbs — you'll be happier in the long run for doing so and when they bloom, you'll agree you got your money's worth.

"Time Out" For Special Things
Take time to do something special each day, and life can become more meaningful.

Individuals and families spend too little time and energy on activities enjoyable or important to them.

Time spent on really important things will show up in the following test for a day or so.

First, keep track of the way time is spent. How much goes for unimportant things—and how much for special things?

Chances are, unimportant things take more time. If so, some changes may be in order.

For example, instead of concentrating on house cleaning, some homemakers spend more time doing things with and for their families.

One explained it this way: "I want my children to remember me as a mother who had time to read stories and bake cookies—not one who kept the house clean no matter what."

To other individuals, quiet reading is important. They set aside some time each day for that.

If necessary, dropping out of a club or organization no longer enjoyable might add "new" time to the day.

Also, take time for special things today—there may be less time tomorrow.

Food Product Standards

Food products' names and labels must be approved and meet specific U. S. Department of Agriculture requirements.

These standards are required by law to protect consumers.

Labels inform buyers how much meat is in the product, as compared to other foods added.

Some examples follows: Breaded steaks, chops, etc. —breeding cannot exceed 30% of the finished product's weight.

Chili con carne—must contain at least 40% meat.

Chili con carne with beans—must have at least 25% meat.

Deviled ham—can have no more than 35% fat.

Frankfurters, bologna and other cooked sausage products—can contain no more than 30% fat, 10% added water, 2% corn syrup, 15% poultry and 3.5% cereal and non-fat dry milk. In addition, the product name and label must indicate these products are added.

"All meat" products—can utilize only muscle tissue with natural amounts of fat.

"All beef" products—must contain only meat of beef animals.

Eldorado, Texas

(tfc)

Austin, Texas.— Top legislators have settled down to the budget-writing job which will decide whether lawmakers—and the taxpayers—will be confronted with a tax bill this year.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe said new taxation must be avoided—for the second legislative session in 20 years—and offered a budget which would require no new revenue.

Further, the Briscoe budget would leave $300 million in unobligated funds on the table to meet unforeseen court developments in the public school finance case and uncertainties of welfare spending requirements.

Briscoe's no-new-tax proposals met generally favorable reaction from legislative leaders and rank-and-file legislators, although some differed with him on specifics.

The governor delivered to a joint session of the House and Senate a $9.6 billion biennial appropriation recommendation—$391.6 million above the present level of general revenue outlays and federal revenue-sharing income.

Even with the addition and the holding back of $300 million, Gov. Briscoe was $173.1 million under former Gov. Preston Smith's last budget draft for 1974-75, and $91.6 million below the Legislature's Budget Board recommendations.

He recommended $240.3 million more for education, an $111.3 million increase for the state departments and agencies; $29 million more for public health, hospitals, mental retardation and youth institutions and $11 million more for the courts and legislature.

While governors' budget recommendations are generally ignored, Briscoe's were promised careful review, although House and Senate appropriations bill drafters had already concluded their hearings when he offered his set of figures.

Editors Here For Interviews

Texas newspaper editors will converge on Austin Monday, March 19, to seek "editorial" and "column" material. Legislative Day for editors will feature meetings with Governor Briscoe, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Speaker Price Daniel Jr., Sec. of State Mark White and Atty. Gen. John Hill—and hometown legislators.

Current issues of interest to Texas editors and publisher include revision of the Constitution, judicial reform, penal code reform, drug laws, election laws and "reform legislative package" by Speaker Daniel. It includes revisions of the Open Meetings Law, Free Flow of Information Bill—newsman's privilege measure—and Open Records Bill.

Information Bills To Advance

Lieutenant Governor Hobby said he is optimistic that a strong press "shield" law and a tougher open meetings bill will clear the senate soon.

The lieutenant governor said the shield law will not only protect newsmen from having to divulge sources of confidential information but also will grant privilege to all information they obtain in the course of their official duties.

HB 10—the House-passed shield bill—got a rough reception in the Senate Jurisprudence Committee last week, but Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena said that doesn't mean it is logjammed there.

"The hearing just provided an opportunity for some members of the Senate to vent their hostility against the press," said Brooks.

Sen. A. M. Aikin of Paris is the sponsor of the broader shield bill which provides that no newsman can be forced to disclose any information received or any source of information obtained in the course of news-related activities. The privilege would be no protection in actions for libel, slander or invasion of privacy.

Ethics Conference Set

Former State Sen. Jack Strong of Longview was designated by Hobby as chairman of a March 20-21 Citizens Conference on Ethics in Government here.

About 150 citizens have been invited to attend the Austin session and provide a "grass-roots" input into the legislative process."

"To be meaningful," said Strong of the conference, "it must explore not only the ethics of legislators, but the ethics of the citizens as well, since the legislature is merely a reflection of the mores of our society."

Courts Speak

The Supreme Court declined to overturn San Patricio County land claims involving thousands of acres and millions of dollars in spite of an attorney general's contention that the case may deprive the permanent school fund of all unsurveyed public school land.

In other rulings, the Court held: —The Fort Worth Court of Civil Appeals was right in ordering uninsured motorist benefits paid to a man injured when his brother's car, on which he was working, was struck by an uninsured driver. —Lower courts should be reversed in holding that a Corsicana district judge is qualified to hold his office although he has not practiced law or been a judge for four years before election. The High Court itself refused to decide.

Appointments . . .

Governor Briscoe named Frank G. Evans III of Houston associate justice of the First Court of Civil Appeals, to succeed Tom F. Coleman who resigned. The Senate promptly confirmed Evans, who was a Briscoe campaign aide.

Briscoe reappointed Brig. Gen. Willie L. Scott of Austin and Col. Belisario D. J. Flores of San Antonio as assistant adjutants general for the Army and Air National Guard, respectively.

Lease Sale Nets $7.4 Million

An oil and gas lease sale on state-owned lands—largest since 1966—brought the state $7,451,278 in bonus payments for the permanent school fund.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong said renewed interest in oil and gas production on state lands is due largely to increased demands for energy fuels.

A total of 113,737 acres were leased at an average per acre price of $65.51.

For the first time in recent years, the highest bid was over one million dollars. Houston Oil and Minerals Corporation bid $1.5 million for 394 acres in a Galveston County submerged tract.

Constitutional Revision Begins

The 37-member State Constitutional Revision Commission held its first meeting Saturday after legislators failed to register enough protests to block appointments.

The Commission was bombarded with criticism because its ranks did not include more women, Mexican Americans, blacks, and youth. Several areas of the state also felt they were insufficiently represented on the blue ribbon body.

First task of the Commission will be selection of a staff, choosing quarters and dividing into subcommittees to split up work which must be completed by November. The Legislature will convene as a Constitutional Convention next January, and a 10-member legislative committee has been authorized to plan that historic session.

Pollution Hearings Set

Hearings are scheduled in Houston, Dallas and San Antonio April 4 to consider state controls on autos and trucks in the drive against air pollution.

Texas Air Control Board will conduct the hearings and weigh advisability of transportation controls to meet national ambient air standards. Further hearings may be held.

Short Snorts . . .

Too few poor are receiving any benefits from millions of dollars spent on welfare, a House interim committee reported.

Texas Water Rights Commission reaffirmed its position that the plan for navigation of the Trinity River is feasible.

Justices of the peace and constables served notice they plan to "zap" a proposed constitutional amendment to overhaul the court system, and abolish their jobs.

Hunting and fishing license license fees would be increased under a bill given House committee approval.

Governor Briscoe will present awards to five outstanding Texas manufacturers at the fourth annual Governor's Industrial Expansion Awards Conference here May 10.

New state banks are being sought at Sierra Blanca and Irving. Revenue from cigarettes decreased from $17.1 million in 1972 to $16.8 million last month.

SIX FLAGS ON THE GROW — Six Flags Over Texas will feature Good Time Square, an all-new section for 1973. Shown in the artist's rendering above, the five acres include two major rides, a miniature circus, a games area and new restaurant facilities. Built at a cost of some one and one-half million dollars, it is Six Flags' largest expansion program in several years. Good Time Square reflects the architecture of a Texas town at the turn of the century.

SEASON BEGINS MARCH 17

EXCITING NEW ATTRACTIONS ADDED TO SIX FLAGS LINEUP

Arlington, Texas — SIX FLAGS Over Texas' biggest expansion program in several years has added a completely new entertainment area and two major rides to the theme park's growing list of attractions.

The new section—Good Time Square—covers nearly five acres adjacent to the Park's Boomtown area.

Largest of the new rides is The Infernal Electrical Bumping Machines, a "giant size" version of the traditionally popular "bumper cars." The SIX FLAGS installation boasts fifty cars, which is approximately double the number usually found on such rides.

Another new ride, Crazy Legs, has seats which spin on the tips of long, arching arms that rise and fall as the entire ride turns in a huge circle.

Across the Square is Doc Snooker's Magnificent Main Street Exposition, featuring sixteen games of the type which have been the most popular attraction at major fairs through the years.

General Manager Robert W. Freeman said,

"We spent several years working on the concept and design for the games area. The whole project reflects the wholesome style of entertainment which has become a SIX FLAGS trademark."

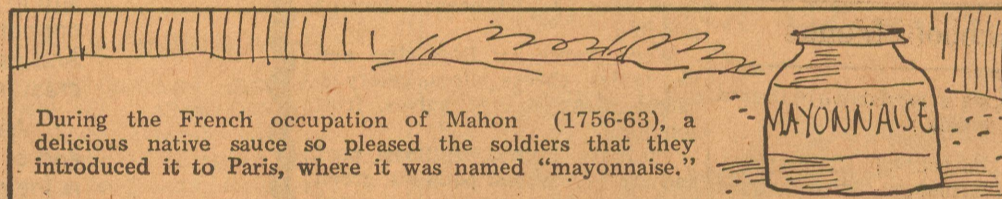

Another highlight of the new section is the Dragon Bros. Circus, a fascinating miniature circus representing more than 10,000 hours of meticulous work by the late P. K. Schmitter of Irving, Texas.

Mr. Schmitter, a technical illustrator who passed away in July, 1972, built the elaborate model as a hobby. The project occupied his spare time for more than eleven years.

The circus, with more than 4,000 tiny performers and spectators and nearly 2,000 miniature animals, fills a large building.

Still another entertainment feature is Doc Snooker's Medicine Show, a re-enactment of the humorous, razzle-dazzle sales pitch of the old time patent medicine peddler.

The entire section is designed to reflect the architecture and charm of a Texas town at the turn of the century.

During the French occupation of Mahon (1756-63), a delicious native sauce so pleased the soldiers that they introduced it to Paris, where it was named "mayonnaise."

Weekly Market Report From A&M

College Station, Tex.—Meat prices continue upward, making selection and utilization all-important.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, advised using cooking methods suited to the meats for best utilization.

"Despite higher beef prices, some popular steak cuts for broiling will be featured. Look for additional values on chuck roasts and steaks, round steaks, stew meat, ground beef and beef liver.

"Pork choices include Boston butt roasts, shoulder steaks, end cut roasts and chops, pork liver, smoked picnics, hams and ham portions.

"Although their prices have increased considerably, fryer chickens remain an excellent meat choice. However, only a few features will be found on whole birds and fryer parts.

"Turkeys remain about the same, with special prices on turkey parts," Mrs. Clyatt added.

"Eggs are plentiful and prices attractive," she added. "Large-size eggs furnish the best value by weight."

The specialist listed best produce buys as green cabbage, potatoes, turnips, carrots, dry yellow onions and rutabagas.

"Grapefruit and oranges by the bag, bananas, pineapples, apples and avocados are in good supply at reasonable prices," she concluded.

March 4-April 14 Holiday Trails, Mineola. Not an event, but a time of year when this scenic area bursts forth with blossoms of the dogwood, the redbud, crimson clover, blue-bonnets and Indian paintbrushes. Trails wind through verdant walls of hardwood and evergreen trees interspersed with pastures and gently flowing streams. For a folder on the trails, write Mineola Chamber of Commerce, P. O. Box 68, Mineola, Tex. 75773.

March 16-17 St. Patrick's Celebration, Shamrock. It's here, on the eastern edge of the Texas panhandle that thousands go to kiss a slab of the world-famous Blarney Stone imported from Cork County, Ireland. A kick-off banquet the evening of the 16th and a full day of activities the 17th mark the event. On the schedule are an all-day carnival, colleens vying for the title of "Miss Irish Rose," parade, old fiddlers contest, stage show, and two dances.

March 24-25 Texas Rattlesnake Sacking Championship, Brownwood. This event, which started as a joking statement in 1968, has drawn national attention. Held in the Brownwood Coliseum, the contest is to catch ten rattlesnakes in a pitted area and place them in a burlap bag. One person catches and the other holds the bag. There are novice and professional divisions and entries are coming from as far away as Pennsylvania. Also in progress at this time is a wildcat show of antique, coin and gun dealers.

March 24-25 First Gulf Coast International Folk Festival, Galveston. Dedicated to bringing together the many cultures which have contributed to the development of the Gulf Coast area, this event will feature ethnic foods, arts, songs, dances and costumes. Located in Moody Civic Center, the festival will feature continuous stage entertainment. Admission $1.

TIME and TIDE

Curious, isn't it, how people look at life so differently? To some there is an irresistible desire to cope with the tides of life by escaping from dullness to new lands and faces. To others the answer seems to lie in the foaming breakers, with the sinister desire to end existence completely. And yet to others the waves of life speak of plan and order and a sureness and perfection in creation.

And so it is with time! One person begrudges every second as a relentless march toward the end of life. Another sees the sands of time as a slow and painful journey. And to still another, it is the golden passing of each day ordered and well-planned.

What shapes these different viewpoints? The Christian sees, in the certainty of seconds and the regularity of tides, a revelation of the order and beauty that God perfects in His works.

Every man needs God and His Church to give his life its noblest point of view.
