WHOOPEE, WHAT FUN!—Screams of excitement, laughs of glee and just plain throwing up your hands and letting go are all a part of the entertainment Six Flags Over Texas offers its guests as a place to "get away from it all." This year, more than 100 rides, shows and attractions await guests at the Arlington theme park, which began weekend operations for the Spring on March 20th.

Arlington, Texas.—Six Flags Over Texas skyline is dominated by a new feature this year—a 200-foot-tall parachute ride called the Texas Chute-Out.

The attraction, which is expected to open in mid-April, is one of the largest additions to the theme park in several years.

Riders taking a "jump" on the parachute drop will experience a sensation unlike any other attraction they have been on. Twelve parachutes carrying two to three riders each soar 175 feet up into the air and then drop at free-fall speed for 35 feet before the chute's billow opens and low down for a "soft" landing.

The parachute ride is another example of how the park has grown in size and attractions during 16 years of operation.

When the park opened in August, 1961, there were 45 attractions operated by 650 youthful hosts and hostesses. It was the nation's first historical theme park, encompassing more than 145 acres.

Today, there are more than 100 rides and attractions tended by 2,300 employees.

Almost 2.3 million persons, a record for a single season, visited Six Flags last year.

Since 1961, almost 26.8 million persons have passed through the turnstiles of the number one tourist attraction in Texas.

Taking a cue from Texas history, creators decided to divide the park into six sections and develop rides and attractions that tell the history of the state under different sovereign governments.

They planned for guests to get a glimpse of the past through sight, taste, touch and sound as they journeyed through the sections representing Mexico, France, Spain, the Republic of Texas, the Confederacy and the United States of America.

In the Republic of Texas section, for example, guests watch a gun battle between the sheriff and outlaws. Nearby is the Crazy Horse Saloon where one can relive bygone days watching lively song-and-dance routines by dancehall entertainers. LaSalle's River Ride in the French section takes guests on an exciting trip through bands of hostile Indians and wild animals along the river.

In the Spanish section, guests climb aboard hollowed-out logs in the Log Flumes and float down

Reynolds H. D. Club Holds Meeting March 16 met March 16th at the Country Store with three members and four guests present. Also the Extension agent, Mrs. Nancy Lester, was on hand. The demonstration was on the care of house plants.

AMERICA THE BEAUTIFUL

COMPUTERIZED FOUNTAIN IS CITY LANDMARK

People admiring the only fountain in the United States that serves as a city landmark are served by a computer to keep them from getting wet.

The spectacular $700,000 fountain, situated in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania's Point State Park, has water that ascends 200 feet into the air. The height varies according to wind currents, however. The automatic lowering of the fountain height, for the purpose of preventing passersby from getting wet in windy weather, is accomplished through a central computer, programmed to calculate wind direction and speed. The fountain is automatically programmed, but it can also be run manually by push button.

Built over a period of two years, the fountain marks the spot where two rivers join to form the wide Ohio River. Dedication of the fountain marked the completion of a 29-year project to convert an urban commercial slum to a 36-acre state park in the heart of the city.

Jay D. Aldridge, executive director of Penn's Southwest Association, a non-profit regional marketing organization, says, "The fountain serves as a marvelous focal point for the entire nine-county area now known as Penn's Southwest."

Location of the fountain is not only an impressive natural site but is of great U.S. historical importance. It was in 1753 that then-Major George Washington was dispatched to this region to explore and meet with the Indians. He was one of the first to recognize the potentials of this site, and some even gave him credit for founding Pittsburgh since a fort was later constructed in the area.

Thousands of tourists and residents can see 800,000 gallons of water pumped into the air at a rate of 1,000 gallons per minute: quite a spectacle to celebrate the Bicentennial!

See An Elephant Fly

The tiny country of Rwanda had to go to great heights to solve a big problem: elephants.
The 1975 issue of a LIFE Special Report—"The Year in Pictures," available at newsstands, depicts the way they handled this issue.

Since there wasn't enough room for both the elephants and the people, 26 young elephants were trucked and sky-lifted, before they even had time to pack their trunks, to a refuge in a national park where they will be shielded from the onslaught of civilization.

Mitzi Entertains At Home, Too

"I really do love to entertain," says entertainer Mitzi Gaynor. "Anyone who's on the road for half of the year looks forward to a chance to do some real home cooking and get together with friends."

According to Mitzi, many ethnic dishes make excellent fare for home entertainment, "especially for the casual-style gatherings that I really enjoy." When asked at a recent show rehearsal about her preference for the informal, Mitzi commented, "When you're in elaborate costumes as much as I am, you can't wait to get out of the feathers and glitter and relax for a while."
"Take this for example", she said, adjusting the fluffy feather boa which framed her face. "This is just one of 21 different 1920's costumes which I'll be wearing in my March 14 TV special. Each is a dream to wear, but certainly not the kind of thing you'd put on at home."
So when company comes to Mitzi's place, it's a "lean back, put your feet up" atmosphere with a tempting and easy-to-prepare menu to complement the mood. The following recipe for Pan De Elote (spicy cornbread) is part of a complete Mexican-style meal which Mitzi serves with a tossed green salad, broiled sirloin patties with salsa and chili rellenos, a large pitcher of Sangria and fresh fruit for dessert.
Pan De Elote
1 cup margarine 1/2 cup (2-ozs.) shredded sharp natural Cheddar cheese
3/4 cup sugar 4 eggs
4 eggs 1 4-oz. can green chiles, seeded, chopped
1 4-oz. can cream style corn 1 cup flour
1 17-oz. can cream style corn 1 cup cornmeal
1/2 cup (2-ozs.) shredded natural Monterey Jack cheese 4 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
Cream margarine and sugar; blend in eggs. Stir in chiles, corn and cheese. Combine remaining ingredients. Add to corn mixture, mixing until well blended. Pour into greased and floured 11 3/4 x 7 1/2-inch baking dish. Bake at 325 degrees, 50 to 55 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Serve warm.

East Coast Subsidy

WASHINGTON—The Federal Energy Administration (FEA) may force consumers in the South, Midwest and West to subsidize the gasoline and home heating oil costs of consumers in the East.
The FEA will choose soon between two proposed rule changes to rectify a scandal in the FEA's oil price control regulations.
One of the options would benefit importers of foreign oil and their customers along the East Coast at the expense of domestic refiners and their customers.
When the federal government placed price controls on some domestically produced crude oil, it gave a huge competitive advantage to those refiners who had access to the artificially cheap oil over those refiners who had to buy crude oil at world prices.
In order to equalize refinery costs, the FEA passed a rule which said that each refiner should be allocated the same percentage of price controlled oil as every other refiner.
Those refiners who had more cheap oil than the FEA authorized them to refine would have to buy "entitlements" from refiners who had less cheap oil than the FEA said they were entitled to.
The FEA ruling brought a huge windfall profit to one refiner, the Amerada Hess Corp., which has been able to more than double its share of the $6 billion a year heavy fuel oil market on the East Coast.
Virtually all the fuel oil used along the Atlantic Coast comes from foreign sources and is refined in the Caribbean.
Because its refinery is located on U.S. soil in the Virgin Islands, the Hess Corp. was qualified to sell entitlements on the oil it refined. Its competitors, whose refineries were not on U.S. territory, were not.
When the scandal came to light, the FEA drafted two proposals to remove the Hess price advantage. One would eliminate the entitlements advantage for all domestic refiners producing heavy fuel oil for the East Coast. The other would grant entitlements to importers of heavy oil, whether the oil was imported from U.S. territory or not.
FEA's Alternative Two would make a bad situation worse. It would increase fuel costs for most Americans, encourage dependence on foreign oil, discourage expansion of domestic refinery capacity, and unnecessarily increase bureaucratic red tape.
Fuel oil, home heating oil and gasoline costs to consumers in the West, Midwest and South would increase because refiners there would have to pay increased subsidies to East Coast importers.
The added cost of the subsidies would make it harder than ever for domestic refineries to compete with the importers for the East Coast market, thus exporting more jobs and increasing our dependence on foreign oil.
I have written to FEA Administrator Frank Zarb to urge rejection of Alternative Two, and I think we will sidetrack this unwise proposal.

Some people believe that if your eyebrows grow together you will be very rich!

Easter Seal Chairman Reports On '76 Appeal

Schleicher county's Easter Seal Representative reported today that the 1976 Easter Seal Appeal of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults is going well but urged all citizens who have not responded to the Appeal to do so. Raymond D. Hall of Eldorado serves as Easter Seal Appeal Treasurer for the county.

The 1976 Easter Seal Appeal will finance the Easter Seal Society's rehabilitation program for crippled children and adults in Texas. Last year the Society helped 10,768 persons through its program of assistance in finding and making effective use of services for the disabled and their families.

The Easter Seal Society helps support 11 treatment facilities in Texas where children and adults not eligible for other assistance are treated. These centers offer physical therapy, medical diagnosis, hearing and speech programs and related services to help the disabled build happier and more useful lives.

The Easter Seal Representative is the person to contact for services from the Easter Seal Society and for the request form to be sent to the Texas Easter Seal Society to determine the needs of the disabled person. The Society will provide the services or will direct the handicapped person to the best resources available to help him.

Contributions to the Easter Seal Appeal should be sent as soon as possible. The Annual Spring Appeal continues through Easter Sunday, April 18.

Preserve Winter Clothes By Careful Storage

College Station.—Careful storage of winter clothing ensures wearable garments next season—and eliminates the cost of replacing the wardrobe, Marlene Odle, a clothing specialist, points out.

"Repair all torn or ripped clothing before cleaning and storing. Agitation in the washer and hanging in the closet can make tears and holes larger and impossible to repair when they are noticed next season," she noted.

Miss Odle is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Never put away clothing that is soiled. Leaving stains in the clothing will draw moth larvae which can make quick work of ruining a wardrobe.

"Time may also set stains that would be easily removed if they were treated properly," she said.

This specialist recommended a cool, dry area for storage to prevent mold and mildew.

Store similar colors together to prevent crocking or bleeding. Use moth balls in storage to prevent unwanted holes on those cherished woolen items. Cedar chests and closets repel some insects, but moth proofing is necessary also.

"Remove clothes from wire hangers before storing. Place clothes on wooden or plastic hangers to give them longer life," she said.

Consumer Food News

College Station.—"Prudent shopping" will characterize wise consumerism at grocery markets this week, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt says.

"Few changes are apparent at the beef counter during the past week, but good values can be found on chuck cuts, ground beef, sirloin, round and rib steaks and liver.

"Pork prices remain high, although specials may be found on Boston butt roasts, quarter-loin sliced into chops, smoked picnics, some brands of bacon and liver. But ham prices may increase even more as Easter nears," she said.

Mrs. Clyatt is a consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

She noted that egg prices are moderate, and she reminded consumers that protein-wise, two eggs equal two to three ounces of cooked meat, which is one serving.

"In the dairy department, special prices appear on a number of cheeses, so popular during Lent.

"Fryer chickens, both whole bird and pieces, are featured in some stores, and turkeys are receiving the same special price advantages."

Many grocery stores are offering features on tuna fish, peanut butter, canned tomato products and cling peaches, she added.

"At vegetable counters, consumers most interested in economizing will select carrots and cabbage. Also dry onion prices are a bit lower now, and mustard, collards, turnip greens, rutabagas, acorn and banana squash are other good vegetable choices pricewise.

"Good buys in citrus fruit are grapefruit and oranges sold in bags from 5 to 18 pounds. Prices on both apples and pears remain about the same this week as the past few weeks. Strawberries are in moderate supply, with prices coming down.

"Large storage supplies of Red Emperor grapes indicate consumers will find plenty of good quality grapes available at pleasant prices," the specialist said.

CONSUMER WATCHWORDS:

Lent brings a heavy demand for fish, and frozen fish are the equal of fresh fish in appearance, flavor and food value.

Cooking fish isn't a tenderizing process, as it is with other foods, but a flavor developer and coagulant. The most important thing to remember in cooking fish is not to overcook.

Cook fish just enough so that the flesh flakes easily and has an opaque appearance; this leaves the fish moist, tender and brings out its delicate flavor.

Consider Worth Of Bicentennial Products Before Buying

College Station, Tex.—This year's bicentennial could be called a "buy-centennial," and will be a happy experience or a financial disaster, depending on how well consumers consider any bicentennial products they purchase, Mrs. Patricia Seaman, housing and home furnishings specialist, warns.

"In most shops, consumers are bombarded with sights and sounds of the last two centuries. Everything from special commemorative canning jars to revolutionary drum-shaped picnic coolers to pewterware, to an Uncle Samwich, are available.

"And everywhere there is red, white and blue—on commemorative plates, fabrics with revolutionary graphics and lawn chairs," she said.

Mrs. Seaman is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

To prevent financial disaster, the specialist suggested consumers ask themselves these questions before buying bicentennial-related products:

—Is the item an official bicentennial item?

—Can the cost be justified by long-term enjoyment and use?

—Do you really need or want the product, or is it just the excitement of the time that makes it appealing?

—Is the item well designed and constructed?

—If chosen as an investment, will its value increase? How many were made?

"Even though this deluge of bicentennial products has been encouraged partly by official commissions, including the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration, consumers should consider purchases carefully," she said.

BIBLE QUESTIONS

QUESTION: I hear a lot of talk about 'CHRISTIAN LOVE', please explain.

ANSWER: First, notice the term 'Christian'. This means 'Christ-like'. Of course, this is found only in scripture by example and teaching, not in that exact phrase. The point to be made is that only in the fabric of scripture can one find the qualities and characteristics of this type, for where also can one learn of Christ?

These qualities that were from the human life of Christ are inherent in this type of love. It would be more accurate if we were to use the term 'Christian' alone, for within it is that affection of which we speak. The word 'love' has acquired a vagueness due to the stresses placed on it by a sin-filled world, trying to retain some of its benefits while enjoying the 'pleasures' of sin.

This affection has its origin in God and its point of focus is mankind. This affection is not frivolous as the world has tried to make it. It also goes beyond sexuality and the physical areas. It is THE characteristic word of Christianity—for the word used of this affection, AGAPE, is used to express concepts and ideas previously unknown until the New Testament.

W. E. Vine, in his 'Dictionary of New Testament Words' says, "Love can be known only from the action it prompts. God's love is seen in the gift of His Son, 1 John 4:9, 10. But obviously this is not the love of placency, or affection; that is, it was not drawn out by any excellency on its objects, Romans 5:8. It was an exercise of the Divine will in deliberate choice, made without assignable cause save that which lies in the Nature of God Himself, cf. Deut. 7:7, 8.

"Love had its perfect expression among men in the Lord Jesus Christ, 2 Corinthians 5:14; Ephesians 2:4; 3:19; 5:2."

This love, whether toward believers or men in general, does not originate from the natural feelings or desires, nor does it focus itself upon only these toward whom there is some point of common ground. More often, scripture shows this love directed toward those who are unlovable, unloving and completely unworthy of it. Such is the whole of the matter in pitiful expressions of definition. Notice the whole 13th chapter of 1 Corinthians. —Bible Questions, Box 91, Eldorado, Texas 76936.

FOOTSTEPS

Dad was a railroader, a dedicated one. The rails were as much a part of his life as his home. To him the "Twentieth Century" wasn't a span of history—it was "his train" roaring through the night.

Dad often took me to the train yards. He taught me that a railroader never steps on the rails. A "trackwalker" always walks the ties! This was no superstition—just respect for the "road."

There are other lessons to be learned... that involve reverence, respect and the footsteps of life... lessons that help us express in our simplest actions the things we believe in.

Learning those vital lessons every Sunday at church is even more fruitful than a trip to the train yards with Dad.
