Post Script

It's Easter Time!
With the approach of the Easter week end, visiting and get-togethers are on the agenda for many local families. Easter Sunday is the highlight of the year for churches.

Sunday morning at 7:00, the Ministerial Alliance will sponsor and conduct a Sunrise Service starting at 7:00 in the Methodist Church.

Area events include the Easter Eve pageant at Junction, and the Easter Eve bonfires at Fredericksburg.

The school holidays are abbreviated this year, with Monday as the only full holiday for students. That, coupled with the fact that gasoline has been scarce and higher priced means that many people may curtail their travel plans.

I have now been advised that my three apricot trees are not going to produce fruit this year.

They had all blossomed out prior to the sleet and ice storm of several weeks ago.

Too bad! I had hoped that the sleet and ice would have saved them for that one particular night, but apparently it didn't.

This is the second year in a row we are not getting any apricots.

Next to the apricots are two peach trees which seem to be in good condition and apparently were not damaged in the sleet and ice storm. Maybe I can look forward to a crop of ripe Elberta peaches.

Now farther back on my lot are two apple trees. It wasn't until after that ice storm that the apple trees came alive. This past week they are suddenly blossoming like mad, and now we can expect a good crop of apples from these two trees.

I am going to miss the apricots but I am thankful that I can look forward to some peaches and apples.

(Provided of course that there is no killing freeze by Easter, Sunday.) Some 15 years ago, I arranged for the planting of nine fruit trees: 3 apricot, 2 peach, 2 apple, 2 pear. All of these in one year or another have produced fruit.

Except pear. Out of all these years I have never had the pleasure of gathering one ripe pear from either of my pear trees. It's a good looking tree. It produces blossoms every season. Why doesn't it produce any pears? What is the matter with it?

"Rabies Is A Killer!" is theme of the Pet Vaccination Day set by the Lions Club. Vaccination Clinic for Pets will be held Thursday, April 11, from 1:30 to 6:00 p.m. on the east porch of the Memorial Building, at a nominal cost to the owner of each pet brought in.

The project is being held because rabid animals have been found in the area south of us, especially around Sonora.

Further details are in the ad on page 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sorrells are parents of a son born April 4th. He weighed 5 lbs. 1 1/2 oz., and has been named William Christopher.

T.C.U. Class Visits Here

The Texas Christian University Ranch Training Class visited the Moore's Ranch last Tuesday. There were 28 boys and two instructors.

Members of the class were from seven states and one foreign country. Mike and Henry Moore spent the day going over various phases of the ranch operation.

This was the 11th year the class has been to the Moore's Ranch.

Ministerial Alliance Sets Sunrise Service

The Community Sunrise Service will begin at 7:00 Easter Sunday morning at the First United Methodist Church, sponsored and conducted by the Ministerial Alliance.

Those participating will be: Rev. Fred Cox, Methodist; Rev. Gordon Garlington, Presbyterian; and Rev. Kenneth Vaughan, Baptist. Also Mrs. Bob McWhort r, music director; Mrs. James Page, organist; and Mr. Lynn Meador, pianist.

The program will be: Prelude, instruments. Welcome, Rev. Fred Cox. Call To Worship, Rev. Gordon Garlington.

Invocation, Rev. Fred Cox. Hymn, "Christ The Lord Is Risen Today," Congregation. Responsive Reading. "Christ Arose," Congregation. Offertory. Special Music, Community Choir. Message, Rev. Kenneth Vaughan. "He Lives," Congregation. Benediction.

Everyone present is urged to remain after the conclusion of this service and reassemble in the educational building for some early-morning refreshments and visitation.

Control Of Rabies A Major Problem

Effective community control of rabies can lead to complete eradication of the disease in Texas. The disease is fatal but by the following steps can be controlled:

1. Registration and licensing of all owned dogs.
 2. Immunization of all owned dogs and cats.
 3. Elimination of all stray dogs.
 4. Quarantine of rabies suspects.
- Through March of this year, 12 individuals have had to receive rabies vaccine (14 to 21 injections) and rabies serum. The injections carry some dangerous risks but are required when there has been definite human exposure to rabies. In 1973, fewer than eight people had to be immunized in our area.

Presbyterian Notes

There will be Sunday School services Easter Sunday morning at the Presbyterian church, followed by the morning service at 11:00 and a direction of the pastor, the Rev. Gordon Garlington. The congregation will meet in the basement while the remodeling is being done upstairs.

The Presbyterians will have their traditional Easter Picnic again on Easter Sunday afternoon at 4:30 p.m. under the great oak on the Wilson Page Ranch. There will be an Easter Egg Hunt for the boys and girls. All friends of the church are cordially invited. A Vesper Service will conclude the picnic.

Methodists Burn Mortgage Note Sunday

The Palm Sunday morning service at the 1st United Methodist Church included burning of the mortgage note for the remodeling project on the church property which was approved and completed about six years ago. The sanctuary and basement were remodeled and air conditioned.

Other plans for Holy Week announced by the Rev. Fred Cox are: Friday evening, Holy Communion service will be held at 7:30.

Easter Sunday morning, the Community Sunrise Service will be held in the church starting at 7:00. Sunday School starts 9:45. At the 10:45 morning worship service, the Rev. Fred Cox will preach.

Lenten Self Denial folders are to be turned in Easter Sunday morning.

Jr.-Sr. Banquet Held

The Memorial Building was the setting of the 1974 Junior-Senior Banquet Saturday evening. The theme this year was "This Magic Moment." A buffet style dinner was served by the Junior mothers. A dance followed with music by the cow liers Miss Kathy Page and Robert Benjie Jay were crowned Prom King and Queen.

Nursing Home News

It's been a quiet week in the Nursing Home.

We had a lot of out of town visitors. Mrs. Graham's two daughters from Ozona visited. Mr. and Mrs. Claude Jeffrey and granddaughter from Brownwood visited with Mrs. Jeffrey. Sallie Christian came from San Angelo to see her mother, Mrs. McCalla.

Mrs. Lorena Heffernan returned from her trip and her mother Mrs. Hattie Blaylock sure was glad to see her.

Sam McGinnes had a good time Wednesday. Ben Hext, Fred Watson and Dick Bearce played dominoes. I never did hear the outcome of the game but I imagine Sam won as usual.

Everyone enjoyed the services that were presented by the Primitive Baptist Church.

That's all for this week. Come see us! —Rep.

PAR-TEE

The welcome mat is out for Leonard and Vivian Keys and Johnny and Julie Griffin. Our membership continues to grow each month and we are happy to see so many families interested in our golf course.

The work on the new automatic sprinkling system is in progress now. This will be a great improvement to our golf course. Also work has started on an addition to the cart sheds. At the time the original 10 stalls were built, we wondered if they would ever be filled, and now we are needing more.

Congratulations to Chuck and Lora Adams on their new grandson. There is no greater thrill than being grandparents.

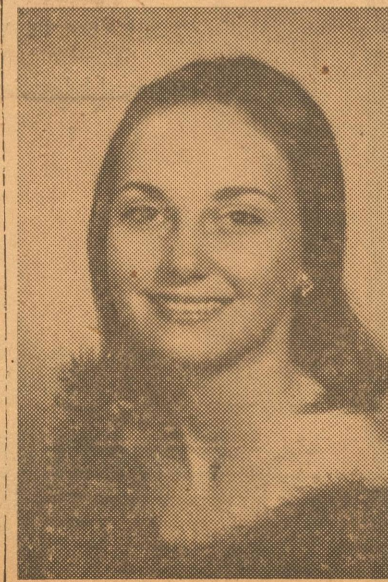

We miss Mary and Ralph Waldron while they are on vacation. Hope Ralph catches lots of fish.

Remember this Sunday, April 14, is Mix'd Foursome day. Please sign up to play by 12 noon on Sunday. A paper will be up on the bulletin board outside.

Even with the high wind Sunday afternoon, the course was full of golfers.

Happy Golfing. —Rep.

Garden Check List For April

1. Check new tender growth for aphids. A few can be tolerated but large numbers should be controlled. Use malathion or diazinon. Use also control white fly.
2. Because of the warm dry weather in February and early March, spider mites are active early this year. If populations are not too large, they may be controlled with a high pressure water spray to wash them from the plant. Kelthane spray will bring them under control if they get out of hand.
3. Obtain materials and plants for hanging baskets to add color and interest to the landscape scene.
4. Select Caladium tubers while there are ample stocks available. Keep in a warm dry location until ready to plant. Be in no hurry to plant as soil temperatures should be at least 70 degrees for best growth.
5. Beware of the influx of door-to-door plant salesmen as well as the colorful Sunday newspaper ads promoting mail-order nursery stock. Both sources are aimed at the sucker instinct in each of us.
6. Control powdery mildew on landscape plants with Actidione PM or Karathane.
7. Use caution when applying the fertilizer-weed killer mixes to lawn areas. It is difficult to determine how far tree and shrub roots may extend into the lawn area and the weed killers are not particular about which broad-leaved plants they kill.
8. Still time to plant any needed trees and shrubs if container-grown or balled-and-burlapped plants are used. Make sure to obtain quality plants and provide adequate care the first summer.
9. Groom landscape plants when needed. As the spring flowering trees and shrubs finish blooming, any necessary pruning should be made at once. Thin and shape rather than hacking back all stems to the same length. It is better to remove about 1/3 of the oldest stems or canes at ground level each year.
10. Cut larkspur, sweet pea and calendula for indoor arrangements and remove all old flowers to encourage new growth and continued bloom.
11. Don't be concerned about the old leaves on Magnolia, Photinia, Gardenia, Cleyera and Abelia turning yellow and falling. This is a natural occurrence this time of the year as new growth and foliage develop.
12. Check for suckers or sprouts that arise at or below ground level of grafted or budded plants. These new shoots frequently occur on roses, fruit trees, crabapple, and dogwoods. They usually come from the more vigorous understock and will soon spoil the appearance and health of the more desirable top. Try to remove at the point of origin if at all possible.
13. Check landscape plants carefully for winter injury and cut out dead or dying branches. If severe injury occurred make certain the plant doesn't suffer from lack of moisture and provide adequate fertilizer.
14. Cut worms can be damaging to young tender plants. Control with Sevin dust applied at the base of the plants.
15. Fertilize Azaleas as they finish blooming. It is best to use one of the special blends of Azalea fertilizers and apply according to manufacturer's directions. Because of their shallow root system, it is best to make several light applications rather than all at one time. Be sure soil is moist before spraying fertilizer, and water thoroughly after it has been applied.
16. April is an excellent time to sow lawn grass seed and to sprig or plug St. Augustine grass.
17. Investigate the source of any topsoil purchased for raising flower beds, filling low spots in the lawn or for use in tubs and planter boxes. Wild garlic, nutgrass and other hard-to-kill weeds are frequently introduced this way.
18. Many flower or vegetable seeds left over after planting the garden can be saved for the next season by closing the packets with tape or paper clip and storing in a sealed glass jar in your refrigerator until needed.
19. Annuals may be planted in April.
20. Divide and transplant overcrowded Shasta Daisy, Daylily, Liriope, Verbena, Mum and Cannas.

21. Late April and May is the time to convert those seedling pecan trees to a good named variety by grafting.
22. As the new gardening season gets under way, don't forget to use grass clippings, vegetable tops, and any other organic matter available for the compost pile. This will provide excellent material later for potting, soil, flower beds and other garden needs.
23. With all the early dry, warm weather we have had over Texas, be on the lookout for early chinch bug activity in St. Augustine lawns. Granular formulations of Aspon, Trighion, Diazinon, or Ethion used according to recommended rates, applied with a cyclone-type spreader are still the recommended controls according to Dr. Philip Hamman, Extension Entomologist. Lawn should be watered thoroughly after applying insecticide.
24. Take a walk in the country and enjoy the spring wild flowers so abundant in Texas.

more than once every 8 to 10 days.

3. Mowing. The lawn should be mowed often enough so that no more than one-inch of the leaf tip is removed at any one clipping. Proper mowing requires a sharp, well-adjusted mower. Your mower should be sharp enough to cut the tips of the leaves without crushing or bruising them.

Bermuda lawns should be mowed at a height of from 1 to 1 1/2 inches, and St. Augustine grass about 2 inches. The fine-leaved, hybrid bermuda grasses prefer from 1/2 to 3/4 inch.

Remember to collect your clippings when you mow.

If you follow steps, Fertilizing, Watering and Mowing, your lawn can be a "beauty spot" of green.

Young Men May Now Register By Mail

Austin, Tex.—Colonel Melvin N. Glantz, the State Director of Selective Service for Texas, has announced the use of "registration by mail" in Texas.

Although inductions have ended, young men are still required by Federal Law to register with Selective Service at age 18. Failure to register makes the young man liable for an extreme penalty of five years in prison and $10,000 fine.

Recent reorganizations within the Selective Service System have left considerably fewer local board offices open in Texas. As a result, many registrants live a considerable distance from the nearest registration place. To make the requirement of registration more convenient for those men who are a great distance from a Selective Service Registrar, the forms for "registration by mail" will be used. "Registration by mail" is not intended to replace the established procedure of appearing in person before a duly appointed Selective Service Registrar. It is designed only as a supplemental measure to accommodate the young man who lives so far from a place of registration that going before the Registrar would be an inconvenience.

To accomplish registration by mail, the young man can simply write to his nearest Selective Service System Area Office requesting the new form for registration by mail. The form will be forwarded immediately, and when completed and returned to Selective Service, the young man will have complied with the requirement of Federal Law to register with Selective Service.

Glantz said: "Since inductions have ended, many people think it is no longer necessary for young men to register, but the law still requires each young man to register within 30 days before or after his 18th birthday."

Glantz urged young men to keep their records clean by timely registration with Selective Service, and added: "If a young man has reached age 18 and has not registered, he should do so as soon as possible."

To receive the new registration by mail form, young men should write to the nearest Selective Service System Area Office or to State Headquarters Selective Service System in Austin, Texas.

The nearest Selective Service System Area Office is located at Room 610, 7 W. Twohig Building, 7 W. Twohig St., in San Angelo, Texas.

BACKGROUND ON BUSINESS

THE SKY'S THE LIMIT IN RURAL AMERICA

With more and more people moving to cities for economic reasons, three out of every four Americans, in the 48 contiguous states, are crowded onto only 2 percent of the land! In fact, only 100 metropolitan areas hold more than half of all our citizens!

To offset this serious imbalance in the distribution of the nation's population, America's business leaders are pointing the way by creating more jobs in Rural America. And, now, business aircraft are making that more possible than ever before! Indeed, forward-looking communities outside the metropolitan complexes are attracting many new plants of alert companies whose executives keep in touch with far-flung enterprises through company-operated or chartered aircraft!

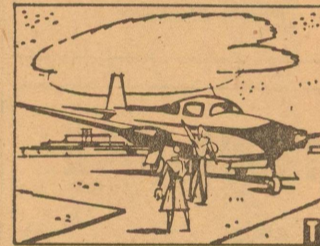

The airport is a community's front door today. Companies whose executives travel by company aircraft are highly successful, according to the National Business Aircraft Association. Of the nation's 1000 top industrial firms, 427 fly their own business aircraft, and these 427 firms: * Account for 76 percent of the top 1000 companies' total sales;

Hold 79 percent of all assets of the top 1000 industrials;

Have sales per employee of $38,442, compared with $34,132 for the remaining top industrials which don't have their own business aircraft;

Employ 76 percent of all people employed by the top 1000 firms. The types of aircraft used by these 427 companies are generally evenly divided. There were, by the beginning of 1973, 1,284 fixed-wing aircraft and 57 helicopters. And, now, with their ever-increasing use all over the nation, Rural America will once again fly high...with jobs, payrolls and taxes.

AMERICA ENTERS 200TH YEAR OF INDEPENDENCE

Although most people think of American independence as having been declared in 1776, since July 4th of that year is the date marked on our Declaration of Independence, the surprising facts are that:

1. The Revolutionary War broke out at Lexington and Concord on April 19, 1775.

2. Congress, on December 6, 1775, formally disavowed allegiance to Parliament, which in effect declared American independence.

3. This year, therefore, marks the beginning of our 200th year of independence.

It may also mark the very first year of worldwide freedom under the "Economic Declaration of Human Rights." That document, more formally known as the "Charter of Duties and Economic Rights of Nations," has been proposed by Mexico's President Luis Echeverria.

A committee of representatives from 40 nations is now preparing the final text of the charter. According to Kurt Waldheim, Secretary General of the United Nations, the document has a good chance of being approved by the General Assembly next autumn.

The Austrian diplomat visited President Echeverria to express his support for the Mexican initiative.

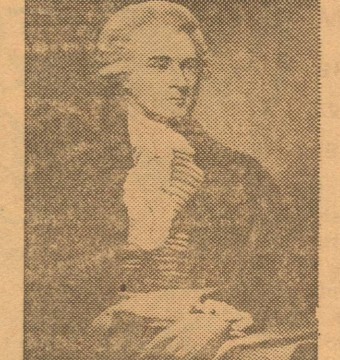

"It is very necessary that all countries—large and small, rich and poor—accept a series of rights and obligations in the economic field," Waldheim asserted.

Waldheim also presented President Echeverria the United Nations' Gold Medal of Peace, which is bestowed on heads of state and other world figures who make notable contributions to peace and the U.N. programs.

The diplomat said that adoption of the Economic Charter would represent one of the greatest steps which the United Nations could take in favor of world peace.

"It is very important because all the world is aware that there can be no political stability without economic stability and one of the best steps toward achieving economic stability is

Thomas Jefferson drafted the Declaration of Independence in 1776, but Congress formally disavowed allegiance to Parliament the year before.

U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim, right, spoke highly of an Economic Declaration of Human Rights proposed by Luis Echeverria, left, the President of Mexico. The Charter of Duties and Economic Rights of Nations," Waldheim said.

Interestingly, this year is also an important United Nations anniversary. On June 26, 1974, the United Nations will begin its 30th year of existence.

Krueger Cites Need Of Inflation Control

"Inflation has been robbing the mature of their savings, the young of their investment in the future, and all citizens of their confidence in the economic soundness of the country. It hurts every citizen. The working men and women of middle income, the mainstays of our economy, have been caught in the middle of a wage-price squeeze from which they see no escape.
"Prices have been rising at the fastest rate in 22 years, while wages and salaries stayed the same or rose more slowly. Most Americans were worse off in earnings in 1973 than in 1972—and 1974 seems likely to be still worse.
"As I traveled throughout the 32 counties in the 21st Congressional District, I learned first-hand how our national economic ills have affected residents," it was stated by Bob Krueger of New Braunfels who is seeking the 21st District Congressional seat.

Krueger listed four causes of our nation's current economic illness, and explained what must be done to remedy the situation.
1. By failing to hold down government spending at a time in which business was expanding its investment, the administration contributed to inflation.
The federal government must learn to operate like any good citizen—that is, not spend more than it takes in. Close scrutiny of our federal budget will allow reductions of at least 1 or 2%.

2. By allowing the total money supply to expand, the Federal Reserve System has permitted, if not caused, rapid inflation of prices.
We must keep a tighter control over the money presses, so that the Federal Reserve is not allowed to diminish the value of our currency in this way.

3. Mismanaged governmental reserves have contributed to our current shortages in many different areas and caused our over-dependence on imported petroleum.
We must build up reserves in the U. S. in critical areas like agricultural commodities and energy. This way, we can hold down wild price-fluctuation and sudden inflation brought about by shortages—as well as any energy blackmail.

4. Since the Phase I-Phase IV wage-price controls have proved totally ineffective, we must depend more on the natural laws of supply and demand to regulate our prices.

Market Report

College Station, Tex.—With larger beef supplies this week, consumers can expect "budget-saving values," Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt predicted.

The consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said "good values" are available on chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef, sirloin steak, rib steak and beef liver.

"Pork prices are a bit more moderate," she added.

"Generally, bacon is down in price some, as are canned hams. Boston butt roasts, end chops, 1/4 loins cut into chops, loin-end roasts, frankfurters and roll sausage also are being featured."

At product counters asparagus is more readily available, and cabbage, carrots, celery and head lettuce are wearing attractive price tags.

Mustard, collards and turnip greens are other good choices, the specialist said.

"Enjoy grapefruit while they last," she advised, adding that oranges will continue "plentiful with very good quality."

At poultry counters, egg prices are slightly less, with grade A, large-size eggs offering the best combination of quality and economy.

In addition to eggs, Mrs. Clyatt also cited cottage cheese, Cheddar cheese, dry beans and peas, peanut butter and fish as nutritious and economical choices for traditional "meatless" meals prior to Easter.

Consumer Watchwords: "Steak eaters, this is your week to buy."

If you want to eat steak but cannot afford the finest cuts, buy arm or blade steak, chuck steak, round steak or flank steak. Sprinkle the surface with tenderizer or marinade. Let the meat stand half an hour for each one-half inch thickness of meat before cooking.

Nelson Wolff Urges Absentee Voting

Senator Nelson Wolff today reminded the Texas-Oklahoma District of Key Club International of the importance of absentee voting in the Democratic Primary which will be held May 4. Wolff is a candidate for U. S. Congressman, District 21.

"If there is any chance you will be unable to personally attend the polls to exercise the privilege of casting a vote for your favorite candidate on election day, you should cast an absentee vote at the earliest possible date," the Senator said.

Absentee balloting will be held April 15-30 and every qualified voter may vote by personal appearance at the County Courthouse any week day during working hours.

Absentee voting, the Senator reminded the group, is the same right as voting at the polls on election day. However, it gives citizens an opportunity to be away from their place of residence or assist in furthering the democratic process by working for their favorite candidates or working at the polls themselves, Wolff stated.

Girls Track Eldorado Style

After much thought and consideration, I am convinced that the success of our girls' track program at Eldorado should be attributed more to "what we have" and how we do things than to what we do as far as workouts are concerned.

"What we have" would include first of all a winning tradition in track which began when Texas girls track first started and hit its peak with the state championship in 1973. The challenge now is to attempt to stay on top. We also have a group of dedicated track girls with better than average speed who enjoy winning and do not mind working hard to come in first.

However, we also do things a little differently than some schools. We begin our season with a very slow, low-keyed pace and then gradually increase the workout and tempo until we hopefully peak out at the right time. I think this is very important because we have found girls' leg muscles can be easily abused at the point of hurrying their performance and desire. Therefore, we start slowly and increase gradually to avoid sore muscles as much as possible. The girls enjoy track more this way and I believe, perform better at the close of the season. With the state meet coming in the middle of May, care should be taken not to peak too soon.

We start our track workouts by striding 220's about half speed and everyone has the same workout. As we near the first meet, we schedule different workouts for different girls depending on the events to be entered. Times are taken at this point and relay teams formed. Workout schedules change little from this point on as far as distances are concerned, but a faster pace is stressed as the season progresses. Most of our workouts are completed in less than one hour with additional time being used two times a week for handoff purposes. Field events are not worked on in practice once the proper form is achieved. More emphasis is placed on running to be in shape for the field event than actual practice for the particular event.

Put together good attitude, winning tradition, above average speed, and tremendous desire to win and excel—that's track Eldorado Style.

Lions Met Yesterday

Curly Hayes of Abilene was speaker at the meeting yesterday of the Eldorado Lions Club, at which Pat Ragsdale presided. Hays was introduced by Travis Williams, chairman of the club Safety committee who is in charge of the programs for this month of April.
Hays also spoke here at the All-Sports Banquet held last winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Blaylock and sons of Midland spent the week end visiting the Billy Frank Blaylocks and the James Pages. They also visited other relatives.

Grass Contest Held Saturday

Eldorado boys win Second and Fourth Places in the Eldorado-Divide Soil & Water Conservation District Grass Contest.

In spite of windy weather the 8th Annual District Plant Identification and Range Judging Contest was held as scheduled on Saturday, April 6th.

The contest was held on the Walter Pope Ranch eight miles southwest of Fort McKavett on FM Road 364.

Teams entering the contest included 4-H and FFA. The contest was scheduled early this year in order to give the boys and girls some good training and a work-out prior to other contests which are scheduled to be held later in the year.

In the contest the contestants were asked to identify 30 mounted plants; 25 live plants; give reasons and descriptions on a "Big Grass Plot"; and make placings on four grass plots according to range condition, composition, treatment needs, and forage production.

Out of a possible 750 points the five top scorers were as follows: First place, Paula Friess, with 550 points; second place, Britt Bumgardner with 516 points; third place, Mark Van Hoozer, with 492 points; fourth place, Matt Bumgardner, with 445 points; and 5th place, Cades Pope, with 434 points.

Outside of 4-H and FFA boys and girls those in attendance and who assisted in holding the contest and enjoyed the fine barbecue dinner were: District Directors Clay Atkins, Otis Deal, J. C. Bumgardner, and Walter Pope; Mrs. Walter Pope; Mrs. J. C. Bumgardner; District Conservationists of the Soil Conservation Service Dalton Merd of Sonora, and Bill Rountree; Extension Agent Clint Langford, Sonora; Vocational Agriculture teacher Bobby Bone; teachers Walter Wallis and Allen Kuykendall of Eldorado; and Janet and Cora Pope.

FUNNY BUNNY SAYS "EARS TO YOU"

If finding new and amusing table decorations for Easter meals keeps you hopping, here's a suggestion you might cotton to.

Luckily, you can make an entrancing Easter rabbit out of a table napkin! Put one at each place, or let it serve as a centerpiece, surrounded by Easter baskets.

To make it, spray a dinner size napkin with Niagara spray starch and press it crisp and perfectly square. Then tie up the bunny. Fold the square across to form a triangle. Draw the two folding corners up to form ears. Hold the ears with one hand about four inches from the top and draw up the pointed end. Fold it downward to form a face. Tie a ribbon bow around bunny's neck and place a tiny Easter surprise on the back. Gather up the back, gift and all, and fasten it with a safety pin.

Quick as a bunny, this right-on rabbit can keep your Easter entertaining from becoming too "hare-y" a job!

An Extraordinary Death: Disciples' Acts Authenticated Resurrection

On a spring morning, about 1,947 years ago, a detachment of Roman soldiers escorted a young Jew to hill outside Jerusalem and nailed him hand and foot to a T-shaped wooden cross.

He died in agony three hours later. His followers, who had expected him to establish a kingdom, fled into hiding.

Had the matter rested there, the world never would have heard of Jesus of Nazareth.

The fact that it has heard of him—that he has become the best-known and most widely-revered figure in history—suggests that something very extraordinary must have happened.

After so many years, it is impossible to reconstruct, by methods of objective historical inquiry, an indisputable picture of what took place. But we can conclude, on solid historical grounds, that the event had enough impact to transform demoralized, terror-stricken fugitives into fearless men and women who gladly risked death to proclaim a new religion that swept like wildfire through the Roman Empire.

One explanation, favored by those who do not believe in miracles, is that Jesus' disciples underwent a subjective, inner experience which convinced them Jesus was still with them in spirit. This gave them renewed faith and courage to go forth and tell the world the good news Jesus had taught them: the news that God loves all of us, even when we are most undeserving of it, and seeks not to punish but to be reconciled with us.

The difficulty with this explanation is that it conflicts with the story the disciples themselves told.

The disciples—who were eyewitnesses of the event—say that what happened on the First Easter was that Jesus rose from the dead.

If you start with the a priori assumption that such a thing cannot possibly happen, you can explain the disciples' story in any one of three ways.

First, you may say, they must have been speaking figuratively.

But the written records they left behind, which we now call the Gospels, leave no room for doubt that the disciples were speaking literally about an actual, physical event that took them totally by surprise, and that they found almost impossible to believe until they saw and heard the risen Jesus.

A second hypothesis is that the disciples were victims of mass hallucination, or some kind of group self-hypnosis. But psychologists who have studied the records do not attach to this idea. The disciples were not high-strung, imaginative intellectuals who might be susceptible to visions. They were simple, earthy farmers and fishermen, so lacking in imagination that Jesus even had to spell out in painfully literal details the points of his picture-story parables. And the earliest accounts of the resurrection contain no trace of hysteria or hallucination. On the contrary, the dominant note is skepticism with which the disciples greeted the first report that "He is risen!"

The third explanation for skeptics is that the disciples made up the story out of whole cloth. It was fiction... a deliberate lie. The Apostle Paul, one of the greatest and bravest preachers of the good news, acknowledged in a letter to friends at Corinth that he and his fellow Christians could be "lying witnesses."

"But," he asked, "if our story is false, why do we face these dangers, hour by hour?"

It is still a good question. Men may lie when it suits their convenience, but will they cheerfully sacrifice their lives—as countless early Christians did—in order to perpetrate what they know to be a hoax? Would you?

How ver incredible it may seem in terms of what we know—or think we know—about the finality of human death, the story of the resurrection is powerfully authenticated by the willingness of its witnesses to die rather than repudiate the truth of their testimony.

CREATIVE EASTER FUN

This Easter season as you sit home to save gas, how are you going to avoid a crisis of too much energy generated by the youngsters in the family?

One thing you can do is to let them work off steam creatively—dyeing eggs, making party favors, fashioning Easter baskets.

Their handiwork may not end up looking like Faberge's fabulous jeweled Easter eggs created for the Russian royal court, but they won't cost much either. All you need is dye, paint, ribbon, a bit of glue, a few pipe cleaners, and, most important of all, egg cartons.

Be sure when you pick up your eggs at the grocers that their cartons are made from molded paper instead of plastic. According to the Diamond International Paper Company, a leading manufacturer of molded paper egg cartons, they're much easier to cut, color, glue and mend.

The first use for these triple threat boxes comes into play when dyeing eggs. Set out the cartons to catch the dye drip, then to hold the eggs after they're colored. The absorbent molded paper will keep the surplus dye under control.

Then let the youngster's artistic imagination take over. Do they want to make a centerpiece and individual favor cups for an Easter party? Candleholders for a late supper? Easter baskets to fill for friends? Egg cartons can be the answer. Molded paper has a unique ability to accept any kind of paint for coloring or any kind of glue for joining pieces together. Because of its high absorbency it takes color evenly.

To make a centerpiece, cut out the individual egg cups from the carton's base and color them. Cut a tiny hole in the bottom of each and attach them to pipe cleaner stems. Glue on green paper leaves and you have a terrific tulip to preside over a refreshment table.

Pretty party favor baskets can be made from individual egg cups. Color a cut out cup, punch a small hole on opposite sides, push through a pipe cleaner to make a handle, folding back the ends. Fill each with green paper grass and you have a nifty nest for jelly beans or a dyed egg.

Candleholders can also be made from the egg cups. But turn your youngsters loose on the problem. Chances are, they'll come up with some little beauties that will surprise you. Even if they don't they will have had a good time and used up some of their overcharged energy. And what will it have cost? Some dye, some paint, a bit of glue, molded paper egg cartons...

Rumors that Billy the Kid was still alive persisted as late as 1926, when he'd have to be known as Billy the Senior Citizen!

Pliny's Natural History was nuts enough to state that eating five almonds permits one to drink without experiencing intoxication.

EASTER — THE RESURRECTION
 Luke 23:50, 55-56 & Luke 24:1-9

From The Living Bible

Then a man named Joseph, a member of the Jewish Supreme Court, from the city of Arimathea in Judea, went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. As the body was taken away, the women from Galilee followed and saw it carried into the tomb. Then they went home and prepared spices and ointments to embalm him; but by the time they were finished it was the Sabbath, so they rested all that day as required by the Jewish law. But very early on Sunday morning they took the ointments to the tomb — and found that the huge stone covering the entrance had been rolled aside. So they went in — but the Lord Jesus' body was gone. They stood there puzzled, trying to think what could have happened to it. Suddenly two men appeared before them, clothed in shining robes so bright their eyes were dazzled. The women were terrified and bowed low before them. Then the men asked, "Why are you looking in a tomb for someone who is alive? He is here! He has come back to life again! Don't you remember what he told you back in Galilee — that the Messiah must be betrayed by the power of evil men and be crucified, but that he would rise again the third day?" Then they remembered, and rushed back to Jerusalem to tell his eleven disciples — and everyone else — what had happened.
