Bi-Centennial Kick-Off Planned

The Schleicher County Historical Commission met with interested citizens on Sunday, May 18th, and began plans for the Bi-Centennial Celebration in Eldorado.

Pat Ragsdale, Chairman of Festival U.S.A. committee, reported that plans are being finalized for a "kick-off" celebration to be held on July 4th, 5th and 6th, 1975. This day's activities will be climaxed by an old-fashioned "Box Supper" and a square dance. "Kids-Day" with games during the morning and a 40's and 50's typical Saturday afternoon at the "picture show" with a double feature movie, nickel popcorn, etc. will highlight Saturday's activities. Sunday, July 6th, will emphasize our Religious Heritage with special services to be held in our local churches.

MIDNIGHT SNACKS FOR A SLUMBER PARTY

There's one teenage pastime that never seems to go out of style...and that's a slumber party. This is the time when young girls get together to try new hairstyles, listen to records, learn the latest dances and talk until the wee hours of the morning.

All that talking and dancing is enough to make anybody hungry—especially a teenager! Around midnight they probably will migrate toward the kitchen for a little snack. They will need something sweet and nutritious to restore the energy they have used up.

Although a slumber party is more a matter of mood than food, the appropriate foods and the backgrounds for serving them contribute to the gaiety of the occasion. Wise mothers will provide nutritious party foods for their young guests. Peanuts are popular with kids of all ages and they are a must for any slumber party menu. Peanuts are one of the most nutritious foods known. Even snack quantities supply significant amounts of protein, niacin, magnesium and other important food elements.

Peanuts are delicious as they are, or when used as a recipe ingredient. Frosted Sandwich Cake and Butterscotch Chews with Peanuts are nourishing, quick-energy foods that are sure to satisfy any teenager's sweet tooth.

"Blue Monday" possibly originated in sailing ship days when Monday was flogging day and errant sailors were flogged until they were black and blue.

Some say that the belief that lighting three cigarettes on the same match is bad luck was started by Ivar Kreugar, the match manufacturer.

Some people believe that they can summon up the Devil by going around a church three times and whistling through the keyhole.

Home Cooking, French Provincial Style

There are two main cooking styles in France—haute cuisine and provincial or bourgeois. The first is the classic French cookery of international fame for which every dish is prepared with skill and artistry by cooks who have trained for years to learn the secret of making magnificent sauces and elegant desserts. Provincial or bourgeois cookery is the everyday home cooking of France.

French provincial cookery may not be as grand as haute cuisine but it has a charm and appeal unequalled by other national cuisines. Provincial cookery has sprung from the regional areas of provinces throughout France and varies accordingly.

The province of Burgundy or Burgundy has produced two of the dishes we find on many French restaurant menus in the United States today—Coq au Vin (chicken with wine) and Boeuf Bourguignon (beef burgundy). This region is known throughout the world for its wines...especially red burgundy which is a key ingredient in Boeuf Bourguignon.

Boeuf bourguignon is made with Planters Peanut Oil, the lightest of the polyunsaturated cooking oils. Peanut oil is favored for both haute cuisine and provincial cookery.

BOEUF BOURGUIGNON

- 1/4 cup unsifted flour
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1-1/2 pounds lean beef, cut in 1-1/2-inch cubes
- 1/4 cup Planters Peanut Oil
- 1 cup chopped onion

- 1 large clove garlic, crushed
- 1 can (8-ounce) stewed tomatoes
- 1 cup dry red wine
- 1/2 cup water
- 2 tablespoons brandy
- 1 beef bouillon cube
- 1 bay leaf
- 2 jars (2-1/2-ounces each) whole mushrooms, undrained
- 12 small white onions, peeled

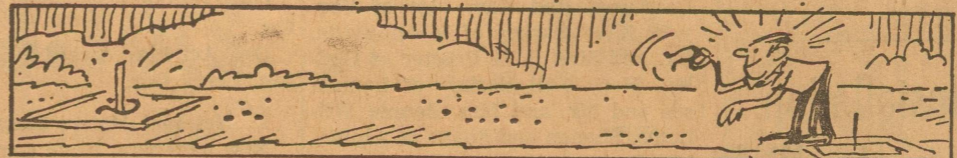

Combine flour, salt and pepper. Lightly dust beef with flour mixture, reserving remainder. Heat Planters Peanut Oil in Dutch oven. Add beef, onion and garlic. Cook over medium-high heat until meat is brown and onions are tender, stirring frequently, about 8 minutes. Remove from heat. Add tomatoes, wine, water, brandy, bouillon cube and bay leaf. Return to heat and bring to a boil. Reduce heat to low. Cover and cook about 1 hour. Add mushrooms and onions. Cover and cook over low heat about 1 hour longer, or until meat and vegetables are tender.

Stir 1/2 cup liquid from beef mixture into 2 tablespoons reserved flour mixture. Add to beef mixture. Cook over medium-high heat, stirring constantly until mixture thickens, about 5 minutes. If desired, garnish with chopped parsley. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Some say that sleeping with salt, bread, and a knife, all of which have been left inadvertently on the table after cleaning up, under one's pillow brings a vision of one's wife-to-be.

Many people believe that horseshoes bring good luck, based on an old idea that iron routed demons.

Krueger Supports Federal Estate Tax Reform

(from office of Bob Krueger)
Washington, D. C.—21st District Congressman Bob Krueger announced today, he is co-sponsoring with Representative Omar Burleson (D-Tex), legislation designed to reform federal estate taxes.

H.R. 1793, strongly supported by the Texas Farm Bureau, provides three basic changes in the present Federal Estate Tax structure which will benefit all taxpayers. The bill raises the present $60,000 tax exemption, adopted in 1942, to $200,000, applicable to all estates. The bill also raises the marital deduction from 50% of the adjusted gross estate to $100,000, plus 50% of the total value of the adjusted gross estate.

The legislation further establishes a procedure by which farm and ranch estates could elect to be assessed at their value for agricultural purposes, rather than values for higher uses, provided these estates have been devoted to farming or ranching for at least five years.

"I am pleased," Krueger said, "to co-sponsor the Federal Estate Tax Reform Bill with my colleague, Omar Burleson."

by Lyndell Williams, Texas Press Association

Austin, Tex.—The 64th Legislature is deep into its last final week of activity, with all of its remaining Big 3 assignments still incomplete.

Conference committees have drawn the jobs of adjusting differences between House and Senate versions of these measures:

—The $12 billion all-time record appropriations bill for 1976-77. There is really little controversy, and the budget will be ready for final approval by adjournment deadline Tuesday.

—Public school finance reform. There is plenty of controversy here, with the outcome likely to remain in doubt until near the final gavel. Gov. Dolph Briscoe shows every sign of being determined to veto any measure which overspends revenue in sight.

—Utility regulation through a state commission. Again, there are strong differences between the House and the Senate majority. House leaders insist they have compromised enough in getting their bill passed and want nothing weaker. They are backed by a well-organized citizens group which has served notice it will have the House bill or nothing.

Conference reports can be passed by a bare majority, and they are subject to no amendments.

Oil Increasing
For the 39th straight month, the Railroad Commission has set a wide-open 100% statewide oil production allowable.

Commission Chairman Ben Ramsey said indications are Texas production is "beginning to stabilize and possibly show a slight increase."

The big East Texas field, a deviation from the all-out production pattern, will be held to 86%.

Industries Slow
Only 15 new industries located in Texas during April, compared with a 25-per-month average in 1974.

Jim Harwell, executive director of Texas Industrial Commission, said the 15 will have an annual impact of $137 million on the Texas economy and create nearly 4,000 new jobs.

Short Snorts . . .
A new form of health and accident protection will be available December 1 through Health Maintenance Organizations. Governor Briscoe signed the bill into law.

Comptroller Bob Bullock issued checks totaling $19.9 million in Texas cities in the second round of monthly city sales tax payments. Payments were up from $16.1 million in April.

The Senate refused to lower the misdemeanor penalty for possession of small amounts of marijuana.

The House voted to raise the state inheritance tax exemption from $25,000 to $60,000, for a revenue loss of $57.5 million if the Senate goes along.

Beta Sigma Phi Closes Year For Summer

Twelve members met on May 12 in the club room with Linda Ingle presiding. Committees for next year were signed for. The state convention to be held in San Antonio on June 13, 14, 15 was discussed and members were urged to attend. The state project for 1975 was announced and is the Texas Center of Behavioral Studies for Autistic Children in Denton. A cultural weekend trip to El Paso later in the summer was discussed and several members are planning to go. A program on "How to Make Friends" was given by Tooter Dunham and another "Friendship in Beta Sigma Phi" was presented by Flora Hubble and Linda Ingle. Refreshments were served by hostesses Stephanie Eichenberg and Betty Hanusch.

Our final meeting was held on May 19 beginning with a salad supper in the club room.

The Bicentennial was discussed and the members were told that we would be in charge of the Box Supper and Square Dance for this July 4th's celebration.

A proposed coke party and get-together was planned for later in June for all the new ladies in Eldorado, especially the Western and Clyde Construction Co. wives.

Becky Isenberg from Sonora was awarded Program of the Year by her sorority sisters. A program on "Learning Friendships and the Good Life" was given by Peggy Williams.

Hostesses for the evening were Rose Berry and Jo Fatheree. — Reporter, Dorothy Dacy.

IT'S THE MOST!
It was a lot of money then, but a Paris art dealer who recognized quality when he saw it paid $80 for a painting by an unknown artist. One hundred years later in 1968, the painting by Renoir brought the highest price ever paid for a modern work—$1,550,000.

Every year good sales letters help bring in billions of dollars of business. Letters written on cotton fiber (rag) paper—with its crispness, fine finish and distinctive watermark—create an image of quality that makes a good idea even more persuasive.

When an expert on high-quality gems wants to feast his eyes on the most rare and expensive stone of all, he won't marvel at a diamond. He knows that the most uncommon and valuable of gems is the ruby!

Effective Business Letters

Good typing and fine cotton fiber paper may be prerequisites for an effective business letter. But here are some tips aimed at making your letters better "sales reps" for your company.

1. Make your letters simple. Discuss your subject naturally—as you might in conversation—but with a tone of confidence. Nothing is quite so effective as a tone that cries out assurance.
2. Make your letters short and to the point. Avoid needless words and information, as this will bog a reader down and cut down on the urgency of your message.

3. Choose your stationery carefully. A crisp paper with a well-designed letterhead makes a positive statement about your company. And cotton fiber (rag) paper handsomely reveals the detail of a good letterhead, contributing greatly to a quality image.

An executive who stops to consider that a letter reflects his company's image on a variety of levels will gain a new self-awareness. And he'll learn the art of subtle persuasiveness.

LITTLE KNOWN STORIES OF SUCCESS

OIL WELL DRILLERS USING RUBBER TOOLS

Rubber tools with muscle-and-grit names like "rampacker" are helping make sure your car has a full tank of gasoline next year. They're key items in the hazardous business of drilling new oil wells.

The worldwide boom in oil exploration, triggered by shortages and huge price hikes, has brought oil drilling rigs to frozen seas and searing desert sands.

Oilmen now drill four miles beneath the earth's crust in their search for new sources of crude. Drilling costs may run as high as $65,000 a day.

"You could almost say Americans invented oil, and they've certainly developed the ways to find it and get it out of the ground," says Robert Crowley, a Texan who should know. Crowley is president of a firm which makes amazing, custom-molded rubber parts for oil drilling, the Murray Rubber division of Mead Corporation.

To a surprising extent, specially designed rubber parts play a key role in the safety and success of drilling new wells. They're engineered to withstand pressures of up to 20,000 lbs. per square inch and temperatures ranging from 70° below zero to 450° above.

Names of rubber parts like "rampacker," "down-hole packer" and "telescoping joint" convey the rugged toughness demanded in drilling operations. Take a rampacker, for example. In case of a "blow" — mud, water, gas, etc. shooting up under huge pressures — the rampacker has to hold tight to prevent what would amount to a serious explosion.

Down at the ocean floor, hundreds of feet below an offshore drilling platform, there are additional problems. Tides, waves and currents put additional stresses and strains on the joints between lengths of drill pipe. To accommodate the up-and-down motion of the sea, special telescopic joints have been developed, using special metal, teflon and rubber parts.

Reliability of parts like these has to be absolute. Murray Rubber makes 90% of the rampackers used throughout the world and a large portion of other rubber items for oil well drilling — telescoping joints, down-hole packers, and 10,000 more. This is no mass production business. The emphasis is on custom design and rigid specifications.

"Many times we'll be asked to design a part to solve a problem right now," Crowley says. "The time pressures may be immense, and the part has to work perfectly the very first time. It's difficult, but it's exciting too. We get to share some of the adventure that's part of drilling for a big strike."

The style of an author should be the image of his mind, but the choice and command of language is the fruit of exercise.

YOUR GARDEN

BEAUTIFUL FLOWERS

Just how well (how healthily and artfully) your flower garden grows depends on how you treat it. So here are some hints for home gardeners on how to grow fine-looking flowers.

Flowers, grow best if they're not overcrowded. Find out how tall and wide a particular flower grows and take this into consideration when you're seeding. Also, don't be afraid to thin flowers later on if necessary. Mass colors instead of mixing them.

To show off all your flowers, plant the taller ones behind the shorter ones.

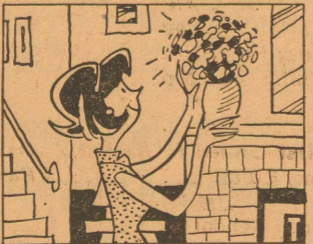

Plant the seeds at the proper depth beneath the soil. If you plant too deep, this can slow germination. In most instances, seeds should be covered, but not deeply buried.

Use a fertilizer that is high in phosphates, as most experts agree this is best for flowers.

A good bet is flowering annuals. Not only do annuals supply a beautiful spectrum of colors, but they grow in many different forms, heights, and foliage textures. Nearly all provide garden color from spring or early summer to late fall.

And they are as much at home in formal settings as in informal ones, as effective in mass plantings as in small, intimate beds.

It's a must to protect your plants from pests. More than 120 kinds of insects can be controlled by spraying with Ciba-Geigy's all-purpose, nonpersistent pesticide, Spectracide,® lawn and garden insect control, which comes in easy-to-use forms including a garden insect spray and garden insect dust to protect your favorite flowers.

When you're picking your flowers for indoor use, don't wait until they're in full bloom. Cut them when they're just about to flower—and they will flower in the vase.

Anyone's thumb can be a green one—if he understands how his garden grows!

The Consumer Alert...

Students Beware Of Misleading Ads

(by John L. Hill, Attorney General)

Austin, Texas.—As summer approaches, so does the traditional job-hunting time for many thousand of high school and college students.

With so many other students on the job-hunting trail, the competition has always been stiff. This year, though, it may be even more difficult, since students may be competing with older, more skilled unemployed workers.

Our Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division lawyers caution students who need to work but cannot find jobs to be wary of possible deceptive trade practices in the employment industry. In their anxiousness to find a job, students could be easy prey for unscrupulous businessmen.

Some classified newspaper advertisements aim at such students with offers such as this: "Students! Want to make more money than you thought possible? Call us for a fantastic summer job—but hurry! Only six positions left!"

If a student answers the ad, he or she may find out that the "fantastic" job opportunity consists of a chance to buy a supply of a product and sell it door to door. The student's salary is to be whatever amount is taken in from daily sales—often nothing at all.

Or the job may be to sell an item by telephone, with the salary to be a commission on whatever orders are placed.

So be wary if you are a job-hunting student. Our Consumer Protection attorneys say that you may be your own best salesman if you analyze your capabilities and assess the job market carefully. If you haven't worked before, some of your hobbies could serve as experience. If you like sports or animals, can repair your own bicycle or car, or enjoy being with younger children, you might turn these into jobs. You could work in a recreational center, for a veterinarian or pet store, help out in a repair shop, or look for a position in a day care center or nursery.

The U. S. Department of Labor suggests that students use the free assistance that is available for job-hunters. Talk with a teacher or counselor or your parents about jobs you might be good at. Check with the local office of the Texas Employment Commission. Some part time jobs are listed there, and you won't be charged a placement fee.

Talk to merchants you and your family trade with—people who run the neighborhood drycleaners, service station, drugstore, or supermarket. They may have summer openings. Also take advantage of bulletin boards in laundromats, or perhaps at your church. Many people post job openings there, and you could put up a notice of your availability too.

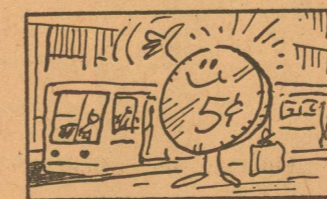

In the local newspaper, for a small charge, you can advertise your skills and tell people where you can be reached.

Good summer job opportunities can be found at camps, parks, playgrounds, swimming pools, or resorts. Nurseries and yard care firms also hire summer workers. And try stores who will have vacationing employees. Their jobs might need to be filled on a temporary basis. Approach hotels, motels, hospitals, nursing homes, and other businesses with this idea.

But remember. If you're looking for a job, don't fall for a sales pitch that leaves you paying instead of earning. If you have a consumer complaint about possible deceptive trade practices, consult the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division, your county or district attorney, or your local Better Business Bureau.

HELPFUL TIPS FROM EXPERT DECORATORS

How To Care For Today's Dining Sets

The look of easy elegance can be achieved with smartly styled dining set of comfortable, contemporary vinyl and chrome or bronze based chairs and handsome tables that table the problem of stains and burns. They come in a wide range of styles that help a room look turned out in style.

By Carol Carman
 Home Furnishings Consultant

Remember when the dining room table was a dinette in the kitchen? It was probably made from chrome and plastic that eventually cracked or was very uncomfortable because the backs were straight and the seats thinly padded, if at all.

Today's dinette has such a new look, with more sophisticated styling and better materials, manufacturers don't call them dinettes anymore.

A lot has gone into research and development since those early days. Manufacturers have become more concerned about what the consumer wants and will buy.

Howell, the home furnishings division of Interlake, Inc., Chicago, has gone to the ultimate designer for styling suggestions—the consumer.

Periodically, the firm invites a panel of consumers to its offices to get ideas and criticisms on how to make the product better. That's why Howell's dining sets have deep cushioning, rich upholstery on seating pieces that can be cleaned with a damp cloth (even mustard wipes off), backs and seats that curve to the body and tables with warm woodgrain looks.

Styles run the range from modern, with sleek, sculptured chrome bases, to Mediterranean with high-rise backs.

Chrome legs are shiny bright and sculptured, but need little care. A light dusting is the only occasional requirement.

Tops have been designed with easy-care in mind, too. Stain and burn resistant materials are in most of today's styles. Be sure to check with your dealer before you buy.

Some seats feature tilt backs for full relaxation; others swivel. And there's one chair from Howell that stacks several high for easy storage but lots of use.

There's a whole new world of dining furniture from which to choose. There's something to fit every style and need, and it's designed with today's homemaker in mind. Easy to clean and built to last.

To help you with your furniture selections, Howell is offering a simple-to-use home planning kit. It includes room layout sheets, along with peel-off pieces for designing a room, marking yardage, etc. The planner also includes a home decorating idea booklet. It's available for 50 cents from: The Howell Company, St. Charles, Ill. 60174.

PARTY PERFECT DESSERT

A special occasion calls for a special dessert. Party Pastel Baked Alaska is a new version of the dessert favorite. The day before the party, make the lemon-scented cake using DROMEDARY Pound Cake Mix. Fill with a trio of sherbets in pastel hues and frost with meringue. Pop into the freezer. All that's left to do is to brown lightly just before serving. Enjoy!

PARTY PASTEL BAKED ALASKA

- 1 (17-ounce) package DROMEDARY Pound Cake Mix
- 1 cup milk
- 4 eggs, separated
- 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 cup raspberry sherbet
- 1 cup orange sherbet
- 1 cup lime sherbet
- 1 cup granulated sugar

Grease an 8-inch springform pan; then line bottom with wax paper. Prepare DROMEDARY Pound Cake Mix according to package directions, using 1 cup milk and 4 egg yolks in place of eggs and adding lemon rind and baking powder with egg yolks. Pour into prepared pan. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350°F.) about 55 minutes, or until done. Cool in pan 10 minutes; then invert on rack; peel off wax paper; cool completely. Cut horizontally into 4 layers. Spread one layer with raspberry sherbet, one with orange sherbet and one with lime sherbet; place in freezer to firm up; then stack. Top with fourth layer. Keep in freezer while preparing meringue. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form; gradually add sugar, while beating until stiff and glossy. Spread over top and sides of cake. Freeze until ready to serve. Before serving, bake in a preheated hot oven (450°F.) about 3 minutes, or until lightly browned. Serve immediately. Makes 12 (about 2 1/2-inch) wedges.

Flee as fast as you will, your fortune will be at your tail.

The Master's Touch

God must love beauty, to use it so lavishly. The Master Artist dapples the soft green leaves with golden sunshine, turns the brook to flowing crystal, and puts a song into Spring itself.

There is beauty in us, too . . . because He put it there. In His sight, none of us are ugly, none of us are forsaken, none of us are "lost."

But sometimes, in the busy process of day-to-day living, we turn blind eyes upon the world's loveliness, and take for granted the gifts which should brighten the hours and years. We need a faith that gives us vision to find again the inner beauty He gave us in the beginning . . . a gift which He never takes away. Let us go, then, to His Church. Let us "enter into His gates with thanksgiving . . . for the Lord is good; His mercy is everlasting; and His Truth endureth forever."
