Austin, Tex.—Hard news at the Texas statehouse last week was about as difficult to find as a 10-cent cup of coffee. The reason, of course, was that almost every Democratic state official was in New York attending the Democratic National Convention.

The convention, packaged by National Chairman Robert Strauss, a Texan, offered few surprises and little suspense as former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter won the nomination by acclamation.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, the state delegation chairman, and a majority of the 130-member Texas delegation expressed support for Carter's choice of a running mate, Sen. Walter Mondale of Minnesota. Gov. Briscoe, prior to leaving for the convention, said his choice for the vice presidential nomination was Sen. John Glenn of Ohio.

The Texas delegation cast 124 votes for Carter; four for California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., one for Alabama Gov. George Wallace and one for Leon Jaworski, Houston attorney and Watergate prosecutor.

Car Insurance Hike

Blaming spiraling inflation, insurance industry representatives have asked the State Insurance Board to grant a 27.9% increase for the typical automobile insurance policy.

Staff recommendations will be made public Aug. 4, according to board chairman Joe Christie. Any rate increase, if granted, would take effect Oct. 1.

Statewide, industry spokesmen asked for the following average increases:

- 30.3% in combined bodily injury and property damage liability.
- 15.5c for full comprehensive coverage for a private automobile.
- 36.2% for $100 deductible collision coverage.

The only reduction proposed was 4.2% for uninsured motorist protection.

Bullock Picks Robinson

Comptroller Bob Bullock has appointed former alcoholic beverage commissioner Luke E. Robinson as assistant director of the Sales Tax Division.

Robinson, 54, quit as ABC administrator three weeks ago under fire from his governing board. A state employee since 1950, Robinson previously worked for the State Employees Retirement System. A 1949 graduate of the University of Texas law school, he is a former president of the Texas Employees Association.

Bullock said Robinson has done an outstanding job in the ABC post and other positions, adding that "if I had an appointed board over me I'd have been fired a long time ago."

Short Snorts . . .

Former Democratic National Committeeman Hall Timanus of Houston, the only Wallace delegate on the Texas delegation to the Democratic National Convention, was mugged and robbed of $500 while strolling along Fifth Avenue in the heart of New York City.

University of Texas Regents will no longer pursue probate of Howard Hughes' so-called Mormon will after two handwriting experts, one hired by the university, determined the highly publicized document was a forgery.

State Chairman Bill Skees of the American Party of Texas says the party has submitted enough signatures to Secretary of State Mark White to get on the November general election ballot. Tom Anderson, the party's national chairman, is the candidate for president.

Ambassador Anne Armstrong and GOP Chairman Ray Hutchison are being touted as possible gubernatorial candidates in 1978.

The County In Good Shape After the Rain

From the 4th of July up to the present, a lot of rain has fallen in Schleicher County.

Approximate totals from July 4 include:

Earl Cathey says from the 4th of July has had better than 7 inches up to the present.

Victor Sauer had over 9 inches and he said that if the water would just run away, that would be all right. He said the crops of maize and cotton were just doing fine. All he wished for was dry weather.

Clemens Sauer in Reynolds said he got close to about 8 inches, and is ready to start farming as soon as it dries up. He is planting maize.

Mrs. Aaron Steward had a good rain from 6 to 6.5 inches. She added that they had a good feed crop. No cotton.

V. G. Sudduth had close to 7 inches. Good feed crop, but no cotton.

Claude Bruton place, nearly 7 inches.

Ruth Harper reported a good 8 inches on the ranch northwest of town.

Peyton Cain had 5 inches or more and he was expecting a good hay crop.

Good Prospects For Cotton Crop - But

John Mayo, cotton buyer for Schleicher county, has been traveling all over farming areas and he says the prospects for good cotton crop are good, with some reservations.

The county has 4,000 acres planted, as compared with an allotment of 9,000 acres; the farmers could plant if they wanted to.

This year much acreage has been planted in maize.

Mr. Mayo says that the cotton fields are looking good, but growers are apprehensive about the crop as the season develops. They are afraid of the bollweevil.

Krueger Among Texans Who React To Jordan

Following Texas Congresswoman Barbara Jordan's keynote address to the National Democratic Convention last week in New York City, several Texas political leaders commented.

U. S. Rep. Bob Krueger of New Braunfels, who is completing his initial two-year term for the 21st District, said:

"This embodies the hopes of the Democratic Party—that America will be a land of opportunity for all, including blacks and women who have not shared in positions of authority, in positions of responsibility as have others in society."

Schleicher In Top 10 In Sheep And Lambs

Austin, Tex.—Schleicher ranchers ranked in the top ten in the state in the number of sheep and lambs, with a total of 92,000 head on hand at the beginning of the year, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced.

"Production in the county figured importantly in helping Texas maintain its national supremacy in sheep and lamb numbers, with a total of 2,600,000 head recorded across the state Jan. 1," White said.

He added that the total value of all sheep and lambs in Texas reached $81,900,000 as of the first of 1976, an increase of more than $18 million from a year earlier.

Schleicher County ranchers produced 733,000 lbs. of wool in 1975 out of a state total of 23,600,000 lbs. Last year's production showed a small decrease from the 1974 total of 23,900,000 lbs., with the increase in total value of the sheep and lamb industry Jan. 1 boosted by the average $8.00 per head increase in animal value between 1975 and 1976.

Other Texas counties in the top ten in sheep and lamb production include Concho, Crockett, Val Verde, Terrell, Tom Green, Pecos, McCulloch, Sutton, Menard, and Irion.

Festival Coming Up In San Antonio

San Antonio, Tex.—Youngsters reared in the science fiction fantasyland of the Nuclear Age can learn to load an 18th century rifle, used when combat was strictly man-to-man.

People who are experts at eating a Rueben sandwich on the run at fast food restaurants can slow down, pick a cabbage from a wagonload, and try making sauerkraut.

These and scores more demonstrations, performances & "schools" are scheduled by 26 separate Texas ethnic and cultural groups who will become volunteer "teachers" when the Institute of Texan Cultures stages its annual Texas Folklife Festival August 5-8.

These citizen teachers come from over 100 Texas cities and communities to teach bits of their unique heritage to the more than 100,000 visitors expected for the four-day Festival on HemisFair Plaza in downtown San Antonio.

Learning is the theme of the 1976 Texas Festival and visitors will be urged to participate in everything from churning butter to making lye soap.

Visitors who prefer play to learning a skill will have plenty of opportunities. Texans of Belgian origin will demonstrate "bolls," their version of bowling. Italians will teach bocce and there will be dart games in the pub operated by English Texans.

Energetic visitors can try their luck at a Scottish caber toss. For the more sedentary, there will be a short course in whittling.

"Our goal for the 1976 Folklife Festival will be to make learning fun," Jack Maguire, executive director of the sponsoring Institute of Texan Cultures, said. The Institute is a part of The University of Texas at San Antonio.

During and between classes, however, there will be so many varieties of ethnic foods available that the "students" will need hours just to sample them all.

Greek souflaki (marinated shish kebabs), or Czech klobasnickies (sausage rolls) will be available. Lebanese Texans will serve such Middle Eastern foods including baked Kibbe (meat loaf), taboulee (health salad), sambuski (pecan pastries) and spinach pies. And this is only a hint of the international feast available for either sampling or full meals.

Entertainment is nonstop. Visitors can enjoy the steel drum music and comic patter of Bongo Joe Coleman of San Antonio, or listen to the Bunny Brass Band from the Easter Fires Pageant in Fredericksburg. They can join the Cajun Texans in a fais do-do, or dance with the Czech Texans in a Moravian Beseda (circle) dance.

Advance tickets are on sale at the Institute, and will be offered elsewhere in San Antonio in mid-June. They sell for $2 per adult and 35 cents for children under 12. Gate prices are slightly higher.

Free shuttle bus service will be available from downtown San Antonio parking lots.

Signs will mark Park and Ride locations, as well as downtown bus pick up sites.

Additional information is available from the Institute Information Office, Institute of Texan Cultures, Box 1226, San Antonio, Texas, 78294, telephone 512-226-7651.

HMO'S Discussed For Prepaid Health Care

A few years ago, health maintenance organizations, HMO's, were widely discussed as the solution to a variety of problems in the American health care delivery system. The Texas Legislature, in the 1975 session, passed a law that was supposed to clear the way for the establishment of HMO's in Texas. Since then, little has been heard about HMO's.

According to Carroll Gregory, director of the Health Maintenance Organizations Division of the Texas Department of Health Resources, the idea hasn't gone away. In fact, Gregory says that a lot has happened since passage of the Texas law in May of 1975.

"Most of the initial activity was background information-gathering in preparation for writing rules and regulations for both the State Board of Insurance and the Texas Department of Health Resources," Gregory explains. However, he says, "The law became effective December 1, 1975, and after that time, we have been actively engaged in talking to developing HMO's, consulting with them, and in doing actual on-site surveys."

An HMO is defined as a prepayment plan under which enrollees pay a set fee, usually on a monthly basis. In return, they are entitled to receive a broad range of health care services from physicians and other practitioners who are associated with the HMO program.

Gregory says, "There is considerably more to the HMO concept than simply the prepayment of the enrollee's fee. The HMO concept is designed for a number of health care purposes including preventive health." Gregory adds, "It is hoped that the preventive health aspect of the HMO program will include immunizations, public health education, and all of the other elements making up a sound program for keeping the public informed about their health care needs and how to take care of them. In theory, since the enrollee has already paid for such preventive services thru his monthly fee, he is more likely to be aware of them."

Watermelon—Perfect Taste Treat For Summer

Take a cool, crisp watermelon to your next picnic for the perfect dessert—or for a snack. How to choose the "perfect" watermelon?

Watermelons should be mature when purchased. The larger ones have more edible flesh, proportionately, than smaller ones. The popular thump test is not really reliable when selecting watermelons. Stale and fully-ripe watermelons both give a hollow sound.

We point out that when selecting watermelons, color is the best key to ripeness. A yellowish underside, regardless of a rich green color on the rest of the melon, is a good sign of ripeness.

When buying a melon, select one that is symmetrically shaped, firm and has a velvety bloom. The melon should appear dull rather than shiny.

Although more expensive, you may be more sure of getting a good melon by buying cut watermelon. Avoid "white heart"—the hard, white streak running lengthwise through the watermelon. Seeds should be dark brown or black for the common varieties. The flesh should have a fresh, firm texture and bright color.

An uncut watermelon will keep for about 10 days in the refrigerator. And if cut, the surface should be covered with moisture-proof paper and used within two days.

Nutritionally, a four-inch by eight-inch wedge of watermelon supplies about half the daily requirement for vitamins A and C. And that's not bad for only 115 calories.

Watermelon can be served in a variety of ways. Try some of the following recipes:

Candied Watermelon Crescents

(Use only a thick watermelon rind for this candy)

1 pound watermelon rind
1½ cups sugar
½ cup water

Remove all green and pink from the rind. Soak the rind in lime water, using one tablespoon lime to one quart water and allow to stand for three hours. Drain and soak in fresh cold water for one hour. Drain again and cut the rind into crescent or desired shapes.

Boil the sugar and water for five minutes. The crescents may be left their natural color and flavored with ginger. If colored a delicate red, use only the best vegetable coloring and flavor with a few drips of oil of cinnamon or according to taste. If crescents are colored green, have a delicate shade and flavor with a few drops of peppermint. Add crescents and cook until tender and transparent or glassy in appearance. The syrup should be very low and thick. Drain the crescents on a plate to save syrup. Place them on a clean thin white cloth, over a rack in a warm place. Dry the slices until they are not sticky (about 24 hours). A very slow oven might be used for this purpose, but exercise care to prevent scorching.

When the crescents are thoroughly dried, they should be perfectly clear and tender. Crystallize the crescents as follows:

Crystallized Syrup

1½ cups sugar
½ cup water

Boil water and sugar until a good thread hangs from the spoon. Remove from fire and beat a few seconds and keep syrup hot by placing pan in boiling water and keep boiling. Dip crescents at once into syrup, coating the candy with syrup. Place on waxed paper to dry. Remove to slow oven to evaporate any surplus moisture. Place carefully in boxes, using oil paper between each layer. Do not let crescents touch in the box.

Watermelon Cocktail

Cut the rip deep pink part of the watermelon into three-fourths-inch cubes or balls. Sprinkle with lemon juice and sugar. Cover and chill several hours in the refrigerator. Serve in sherbet glasses.

Watermelon Ice

Place one cup crushed watermelon (seeds removed) and three-fourths cup sugar in saucepan. Bring to a boil and stir in three more cups of crushed watermelon. Freeze to mush. Then stir in two egg whites, which have been beaten stiff. Makes six servings.

Watermelon Fondue

1 cup undiluted evaporated milk
2 cups chocolate chips
¼ cup butter
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
watermelon balls.

Melt over low heat in a double boiler. Place in fondue pot. Dip melon balls in the hot chocolate sauce. For a simpler recipe, melt one package of chocolate chips, dip melon cubes or balls in hot sauce.

Watermelon Shimmer

2/3 oz. packages strawberry or raspberry flavored commercial gelatin mix:

1 cup boiling water
2 teaspoons lime juice
1 cup watermelon pulp (seeds removed)

1 cup watermelon juice.

Add boiling water to gelatin. Stir to dissolve completely. Place watermelon in blender until liquified or force through a sieve. Strain to obtain watermelon juice. Add watermelon juice and lime juice to gelatin. Pour into mold. Chill until slightly thickened and then fold in watermelon pulp. Chill until set. Unmold on a plate of escarole or endive and garnish with mayonnaise and watermelon balls. Serves six to eight.

Watermelon Pickles

Pickling lime (slaked lime)
4 lb. (5½ pints) watermelon rind
6 cups sugar
1 pint water
1 cup white vinegar
1 cup cider vinegar
Spice bag: 1 T. whole cloves, 1 T. whole allspice, and 3 large sticks cinnamon, crushed.

After watermelon is eaten, cut rind into two-inch strips. Remove any remaining pink meat and green part of rind. Cut strips into one-inch squares or smaller if desired. Soak melon overnight in lime water. Use one tablespoon lime for each quart of water. Completely cover rind. Second day, drain, rinse and cover with fresh water. Cook until almost tender, 20-25 minutes. Let stand in the water overnight. Third day, drain and rinse. Combine remaining ingredients and bring to a boil. Cook at rolling boil for 15 minutes. Add rind and return to boil. Simmer gently about 20 minutes. Pack in sterilized jars and process in a water bath for 20 minutes.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF SALES: Avoid overstocking with commercially frozen food that's always available; use your freezer as your own bargain counter and store foods you can buy on sale. But do allow space for short-time baked goods, leftovers and special party foods.

LOCK IN FLAVOR: Use moisture and vapor-proof materials especially designed for freezers to wrap your foods. Tightly sealed, these lock in flavor and moisture and prevent "freezer burn" (surface drying) on foods. Don't use wax paper, bread paper or regular cellophane for freezer foods.

LABEL PACKAGES: Date and identify freezer packages so 1) you don't accumulate a lot of mysterious shapes and 2) you'll be able to pick out foods that have been in the freezer longest.

MARKET REPORT—

College Station, Tex.—High quality forequarter cuts are top features at most Texas grocery store meat markets this week—and it's a good time to put extra chuck roasts and steaks into the freezer, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt advises.

She added that a few values may also be found on ground beef, steak for broiling and beef liver.

"Pork supplies still are not adequate for normal demand, but some items to consider include quarter-loins cut into chops, semi-boneless hams, frankfurters and liver."

Mrs. Clyatt is consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Price difference between large- and medium-size eggs is about ten cents, making the medium eggs a better value than the large-size eggs of the same grade. Supplies are adequate and prices about the same as last week.

"Fresh vegetables are making 'special' news at most markets now. Fresh corn continues to be in good supply, and cucumbers for pickling are available—but prices are relatively high for the small sizes," she said.

Southern varieties of peas are on the market, including blackeye, purplehull and cream peas. Also okra, carrots, green peppers, soft shell squash and dry yellow onions generally have lower price tags. Cabbage continues to be one of the better green vegetables from the standpoint of nutrition, value and cost, she said.

Good supplies of fresh peaches are available now. Sizes are large and prices are moderate. Also, look for lots of plums, nectarines, grapes, bananas, and sweet cherries.

Consumer Watchword: To lower food bills, compare the cost of fish with other protein foods—you'll be surprised at cost-per-serving figures.

County Extension Agent's Column

County Agents To Hold State Meeting

Waco—Members of the Texas County Agricultural Association will gather at the Knights' Inn here Aug. 1-3 for their annual meeting.

Highlighting the affair will be keynote speakers, award presentations and business sessions, points out Lee Roy Colgan, Jr., of Lamesa, Dawson County Extension agent and association president.

Registration is scheduled for Sunday afternoon, Aug. 1, as well as the following morning, with the official opening of the meeting set for 9:15 Aug. 2.

Food Production Items Freed From Sales Tax

Texas farmers and ranchers no longer have to pay sales taxes on certain purchases to be used in the production of food and fiber.

Effective July 20, the Texas sales tax exempted agricultural producers from sales taxes on such items as baling wire, fencing supplies, and machinery and equipment.

However, a farmer or rancher does not automatically qualify for exemption from the sales tax. Producers must file an exemption certificate with each firm or business with which they deal. These certificates are available from the Comptroller of Public Accounts in Austin or from local branch offices of the Comptroller.

To qualify for an exemption, the item purchased must be used exclusively on a farm or ranch. A farm or ranch is defined as land used entirely or partially in the production of crops, livestock or other agricultural products. Home gardens are not considered a farm.

Certain items are exempt without the use of an exemption certificate. These include feed for farm and ranch animals, fertilizer, seeds and annual plants, and animals.

Items requiring the use of an exemption certificate include fungicides, insecticides, herbicides, defoliants, desiccants, all medications for farm and ranch animals, and machinery and equipment used in food, grass and feed production, including such expendable supplies as hand tools, baling wire, fence wire and posts, gates and storage facilities for bulk commodities.

Natural gas or electricity used on a farm or ranch is also exempt with the appropriate certificate if used for pumps for livestock or irrigation water, dairy barn operations, welding machines, electric fences, and lights for barns, pens and poultry houses.

To request exemption certificates producers may write or call the Sales Tax Division, Comptroller of Public Accounts 111 East 7th St., Austin, Texas 78774 or call toll free (800-292-9687; after Aug. 1, 800-252-5555).

Farm Safety Week Set For July 25-31

College Station, Texas.—National Farm Safety Week is set for July 25-31, and an agricultural safety engineer for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service asks that farmers and ranchers make more than just a casual note of the observance.

"We should all ask ourselves, 'What's in it for me?', and get an answer," emphasizes Nelson. "National Farm Safety Week is designed to affect the thinking and work habits of those involved in agriculture."

The safety engineer suggests that farmers and ranchers look at the observance in a positive sense with the realization that accidents can happen to anyone and that something can be done to reduce their occurrence.

"Nothing in life is completely safe or unsafe; there are only 'levels of risk.' Accidents are more likely to occur under high risk than low risk conditions," notes Nelson.

Regarding the level of risk involved, this is where the individual comes in.

"Every individual has some degree of control over the kinds of risk to which he exposes himself," points out the Texas A&M University System engineer. "By practicing 'risk control,' an individual will tend to expose himself to only those circumstances that involve 'reasonable risk.'"

Reasonable risks are taken to realize a benefit greater than the potential loss associated with the risk, explains Nelson. A reasonable risk is usually associated with activity where there is not only a low probability of injury or property damage but the severity of possible injury or damage is also low should an accident occur.

"Practicing 'risk control' involves a continual evaluation of the risks around us and then choosing to avoid those hazards associated with a high risk—those with a high damage potential and a high probability of occurrence. By playing the odds in our favor, we will all gain increased freedom from accidents," contends Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Niblett and family spent a week in Dallas recently, and were accompanied home by Jan Cain and children, Craig, Blake and Debbie of Arlington.

TOWER TALKS by U.S. Senator for Texas JOHN TOWER

Bad Medicine

WASHINGTON—In the early days of medicine the practice of "bleeding" was widespread. The physicians of long ago believed that virtually all diseases were caused by "noxious humours" in the blood, and that the way to cure a sick patient was to open a vein and drain out the "bad" blood.

The result, of course, was that patients who were already seriously ill were weakened still further. After being bled, they often died.

Medicine long ago abandoned the obnoxious practice of bleeding, but it lives on in other spheres. Eight "bleeders" on the Senate Judiciary Committee have reported out a bill to break up the 18 largest American oil companies. It could be voted on before the year is out.

The measure would dismember the large oil companies by forcing them to sell off their assets and operations in all but one of the four basic functions of the industry: exploration and production; refining; transportation, and marketing.

Sponsors of the bill say it is needed because the major oil companies have too much power and make too much money. They claim that divestiture would result in increased competition and lower prices to the consumer.

The facts say otherwise. The oil industry is far more competitive than most other major industries. No one company accounts for more than 11 per cent of oil and gas production. The top four account for only 31 per cent. In comparison, the concentration ratios for all American manufacturing is 40 per cent for the four top firms. In the auto industry, there ARE only four major producers.

With the exception of one year—1974—oil company profits (measured as a return on stockholder equity) have tracked with the average for all U.S. manufacturing, 13.4 per cent to 13 per cent. The windfall, one-time-only profit in 1974 was the result not of any action by the oil companies, but by the Arab oil embargo and the subsequent quadrupling of the crude oil price by the OPEC cartel.

Consumers of petroleum products get a better deal in the United States than anywhere else on earth. Europeans and Asians pay three, four and five times as much for a gallon of gasoline as we do. Prior to the Arab oil embargo, oil product prices rose much more slowly than overall consumer prices. From 1947 to 1973, when the embargo began, the price of regular gasoline increased just 59 per cent, compared to a 99 per cent hike in the Consumer Price Index during the same period.

The divestiture bill will not do what its sponsors say it will do, because the bills it purports to correct are as non-existent as the "noxious humours" that the bleeders of old wished to purge. But it would not be without effect.

Passage of the divestiture bill would set off a 10-20 year legal struggle to divide up the pieces. This would be a bonanza for lawyers, but a disaster for the rest of us, since oil exploration and production would grind to a near standstill as the courtroom battles were being fought.

Once the pieces were sorted out, the splintered companies would find it harder than ever to raise the enormous amounts of capital needed to maintain—much less to increase—our current energy production. The splintered survivors would be far weaker in bargaining with OPEC than the majors are today, and thus far less able to resist exorbitant price increases at a time when our dependence on foreign oil would be growing.

In addition to the higher prices we would have to pay for OPEC oil, you and I would have to pay more to make up for the loss of the efficiencies of integrated production, and to pay the costs of the new administrative bureaucracies that would be required for each of the spun-off companies.

The chain reaction from a breakup of the oil companies would be tremendous. A decline in refinery and pipeline construction, for example, would mean the manufacture of fewer pumps, the purchase of less steel, and the hiring of fewer people. The ripple effects throughout our economy would extend far beyond the oil fields.

Doctors abandoned medieval notions about medicine as soon as the facts became available. I hope Congress abandons its medieval notions about economics before the patient bleeds to death.

MISS RICHARDSON BECOMES BRIDE OF MR. ADAMS IN BAPTIST CHURCH RITE

Mrs. Charles W. Adams, Jr.

On July 17, 1976 at 1:00 p.m., Gay Lynn Richardson became the bride of Charles W. Adams, Jr., in a double ring ceremony at the First Baptist Church, Eldorado, Texas. Reverend Gene Stark officiated.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Richardson of Eldorado. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adams of Eldorado.

Miss Richardson chose a formal gown of satin organza and venise lace. Lace appliques covered the Empire bodice, framed the deep "V" shaped neckline, and encircled the peaked waistline. Small Venise appliques were scattered over the long Camelot sleeves. The circular skirt of organza fell in soft folds to floor length. Matching lace edged the chapel length mantilla. She carried a cascade of white daisies over a Bible covered in satin and lace. The Bible served as the "something old" in the ancient tradition of "something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue."

Miss Janet Kollmeier of Fort Worth was maid of honor and the bridesmaid was Miss Tracye Lair of Lubbock. They were gowned alike in soft blue crepe slipper length dresses styled with a shawl collar, extended shoulders, and a center front one-way pleat. Shaped self tie belt held in fullness at waistline.

Best man was Greg Mitchell of Pecos and groomsmen was Shannon McWilliams of Lubbock. Acting as usher was Derrick Adams, brother of the groom.

Soloist for the wedding was Mrs. Bob McWhorter of Eldorado, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Wedding Prayer." Organist for the wedding was Mrs. Evelyn Stigler.

At the bride's book was Mrs. Charlie Sorrells, sister of the bridegroom of Uvalde.

The reception followed the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church. Members of the house-party were Mrs. Don Scott and Mrs. H. A. Belk of Eldorado; Mrs. Sam Adams and Miss Kelly Adams of Welch; Mrs. Dan Richardson of Lubbock; Mrs. Rodney Owen and Miss Carla Owen of Oklahoma City, Okla.; Mrs. Randy Collins of Brownwood, and Mrs. Shannon McWilliams of Lubbock.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at the El Dorado Restaurant.

Gay is a proposed December graduate of Texas Tech University in Lubbock. Charlie graduated from Texas Tech University in May, 1976, with a B. S. in Education. He is employed as a varsity football and girls basketball coach at Fritch, Texas. After a wedding trip to Austin and Houston, the couple will reside in Fritch.

The bride's travel ensemble was a soft tan suit. The top, with tucked front and back stitched to yoke had extended shoulders, stand-up collar, front button closing, belt and self carriers. The below the knee skirt was worn with matching accessories.

Among the out of town guests at the wedding were Mrs. Jeffie B. Adams of Haskell, grandmother of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Adams of Welch, aunt and uncle of the groom; Mrs. John Knott of Syracuse, Kansas, grandmother of the groom; Mrs. Lela Duncan of Greeley, Colo., great aunt of the groom; and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swinson of Haskell. Bob Hope To Headline Day At Fredericksburg

Bob Hope to headline "Stars Over the Hill Country Day" Celebration at Fredericksburg's Gillespie County Fairgrounds August 14 Dedicated To The Admiral Nimitz Center.

A distinguished native son of the Texas Hill Country, the late Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, will be honored by one of his close friends and admirers, famed entertainer Bob Hope. Hope will appear in Fredericksburg as the leading star of a full day event to benefit the work of the Admiral Nimitz Center a museum in the nostalgic Nimitz Hotel on Main Street in Fredericksburg just a step away from where the famous American naval hero was born. The hotel was built by the Admiral's grandfather who raised the younger Nimitz and instilled in him the ambition to attend the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis and begin an inspiring, illustrious career.

Admiral Nimitz spent his boyhood in Fredericksburg and Kerrville, two historic and beauty-treasured locations in the magnificent Texas Hill Country, where the past has been superbly preserved, and living appeal continues to attract a mounting population of tourist visitors and new residents alike.

In announcing the plans for the August 14th Stars Over the Hill Country event Dr. Vern Spiva appeared for the occasion at a special press conference at the Admiral Nimitz Center in Fredericksburg.

"For sometime now, we have had plans for a big special day to help us financially, to complete the Admiral Nimitz Center, especially to begin restoration of the famous Hotel, long a famous landmark," commented Dr. Spiva, "and we could think of no one more appropriate than our nation's most famous entertainer of the Armed Service, Bob Hope." August 14th is the day chosen for the Nimitz Center benefit so the theme "Victory for Peace" can be an underlying keynote since the Japanese ceased hostilities on August 14, 1945 bringing World War II to an end. Just a few weeks ago a magnificent Garden of Peace was dedicated on the Nimitz grounds, a gift of the Japanese people, dedicated to peace and international friendship. Admiral Nimitz helped Japan in its remarkable recovery following World War II.

Plans for the all-day event will include a daytime recreation of the popular "Night In Old Fredericksburg," with traditional Hill Country food, drink, cooking and entertainment, including polka bands, dancing, festivities of colorful costumes and varied attractions to be staged at the Gillespie County Fairgrounds following the kick-off parade in downtown Fredericksburg at 10:00 a.m. The Bob Hope Show will climax the big day at the Fairgrounds beginning at 8:00 p.m. that evening. The Saturday attractions will be known as a "Day In Old Fredericksburg." A single ticket will be admission to all attractions; in-and-out parking at the Fairgrounds, and will include a number of allied events. Related activities will be tours of the nearby LBJ State and National Historic Parks and other area attractions. The Bob Hope Show will have the Bob Hope Orchestra, as well as singers, dancers and a package of three-hour variety fair.

"Stars Over The Hill Country," will be a Star One Event, coordinated with officials of the Admiral Nimitz Foundation which will benefit directly from proceeds of ticket and concession sales, the Admiral Nimitz-Hill Country Navy League, the Fredericksburg and Kerrville Chambers of Commerce and the Gillespie County Fair and Festival Association. The Bob Hope Show will be produced and presented by Tommy Reynolds and Associates, who have handled many of the Bob Hope road shows.

Information concerning the event will be available from the Admiral Nimitz Center, P.O. Box 4777, Fredericksburg, TX 78624, Telephone 512-997-4379 and from the Fredericksburg Chamber of Commerce, Telephone 512-997-3444.

OUR FLAG Historical Highlights

SYMBOLS OF STRUGGLE

The first flags adopted by our Colonial forefathers were symbolic of their struggles with the wilderness of a new land, according to the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve. Beavers, pine trees, rattlesnakes, anchors, and various like insignia with mottoes such as "Hope," "Liberty," "Appeal to Heaven" or "Don't Tread on Me" were affixed to the different banners of Colonial America.

Little Known Facts About America's Greatness

There should be plenty of food available for Americans, if the trend established in the 1950s, 1960s and 1970s continues. Reliable statistics from the U.S. Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System show our food production doubled in 20 years.

There's plenty of railroad tracks around for American trains. Statistics show that America has more length of railroad than any other country, with 205,782 miles of track.

Lightning flashes across the sky. Thunder unleashes its ominous rumblings. The first spatter of rain falls briskly on a nearby row of rocks.
The wind begins an eerie song high above in the swaying tops of tall pines. Sullen banks of clouds blanket the pale moon.
