Why The Initial Municipal Court Session Has Had To Be Postponed

A WORD FROM YOUR MAYOR:

An Apology To You Is In Order. I informed you in my last article that our new city court would convene at 4:30 P.M. on Monday, June 20, 1977. You are probably aware by now that we did not hold court at originally planned.

Several items came to our attention that made us decide to postpone the opening of court on the date set. We felt that opening on that date could raise a question of the legality of our court. The old days when a judge could take a law book and with the Rap of A Gavel declare court to be in session are no more. Law now requires that many procedures be determined and many policies set prior to opening court.

Last Monday we were privileged to be visited, on my request, by the Judge and City Attorney of the City of San Angelo. Their visit, to say the least, was both informative and educational. According to law the Municipal Court of San Angelo and Eldorado both must conform to the same mode of operation. Our determination to establish Municipal Court came largely from a manual entitled Code of Criminal Procedure which spelled out, to our satisfaction, those procedures required to establish court. This manual, the one we use, is out of date. A later edition shows revisions which were not included in the older edition. Those revisions effect the establishment of a Municipal Court.

Required is a City Code which is a system of numeration of our ordinances so that they can be tried in court. In their present form they are not enforceable. We are in the process of making the necessary format changes now. Both Judges and Clerks of Municipal Courts must be bonded. This is being done. A seal is required on all documents. This is being ordered. A municipal court can be convened by the mayor by law; however, I believe that it is in our best interest to establish court by ordinance. An ordinance is required to appoint a court clerk. The law requires that a mayor is a magistrate but ties his hands in so many ways. Also required is an extensive accounting system. A municipal court is not a court of record but strict laws require that the books be ready for audit at any time.

As you can see, a few hurdles have been jumped, a few more lie in our path. However, it is my personal feeling that it would be in the best interest of our citizens for our court to be established without any question of its legality, within the framework of the latest known laws. This will enable us to hold court with the knowledge that you, the citizen, are receiving absolute justice from our court.

We will keep you informed as we progress. Our new target date for opening court is the week of July 18, 1977. Please be assured that we are working toward the opening of court at that time. Thank you for your continuing interest in our city government and the support of your mayor. —J. Patrick Ragsdale.

Krueger Invites Public To Rally On July 4th

BOB KRUEGER

New Braunfels, Tex.—Congressman Bob Krueger (D-TX) will host an old-fashioned political rally July 4, in his hometown of New Braunfels, where he will announce his plans for a 1978 U. S. Senate race.

The rally, 2-6 p.m., is planned in the traditional manner and will include free watermelon, nickel coke and nickel beer, rides for the children, bands and lots of fun. Buses will be running to shuttle people from parking areas at the Comal County Fairgrounds to the three-acre lot adjacent to the Krueger home, where the rally will be.

"I hope my many friends over the 21st District will take this as my personal invitation to attend," said Krueger, "since I can think of no better way to begin a campaign than with the support of those I have had the privilege of representing in the U. S. Congress."

The formal announcement speech at 3:00 p.m. by Krueger is the only scheduled speech for the day, according to him, and the rest of the day will be geared toward having fun.

ANTIOCH BAPTIST CHURCH will have charge of the services this Sunday afternoon, July 3rd, at the Nursing Home here in Eldorado.

FARM GROUPS AND GAS: Worried about future energy supplies for farming, 19 Washington-based agricultural organizations have asked Congress to end federal restraints on natural gas production. "Delay on comprehensive energy reform has already been dangerous and costly," says Bill Brier of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives, one of the groups actively seeking immediate decontrol of natural gas. Along the same lines, J.W. Cozad, vice president of finance for Standard Oil Company (Indiana), says "the nation is paying for the folly of price control. Cheap prices held down all-out exploration for new supplies of oil and gas, and discouraged extensive research into extracting cleaner-burning fuels from coal."

"It may be more productive to pause and examine what we have done instead of grinding out additional legislation just for legislation's sake."—Senator Wendell Ford (D-Ky.)

Traffic deaths per 100 million miles driven are decreasing, says the Highway Users Federation. Goal of the Federation: no more than three deaths per 100 million miles (we're now around the 3.5 mark). Safest states? Rhode Island leads the way with only 1.9 deaths per 100 million miles. Next is Connecticut (2.1) and New Jersey (2.2). Worst safety records: Wyoming (5.9) and New Mexico (5.8).

THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

July 4, 1776

Never before in history had a nation founded its life on the belief that people are the heart of governments. We declare that government exists to secure the happiness of the people; that government gets its power only through the approval of the people it governs. In 1776 these beliefs were new. As the Third Century gets under way, let us all pause to cite the foresight and courage of the Founding Fathers. HAPPY FOURTH OF JULY TO ALL ! ! !

TOWER TALKS

by U.S. Senator for Texas
JOHN TOWER

WASHINGTON—Texans and all Americans by now probably have concluded that the more things change with the postal system, the more they remain the same.

It's small wonder. Pending congressional hearings into continued budget deficits and exhaustive studies conducted by the Commission on Postal Service, established last year to assess overall postal operation, point to the fact that a further overhaul of the financially-troubled mail system can be expected.

The extent of reform remains to be seen, but such efforts in the past usually have preceded an increase in the cost of first-class mail.

Larger postal revenues through stamp increases have not proved the answer to inefficiency, however. In fact, since 1971, the cost of first class postage has increased from eight to 13 cents while the service we've received in return has fallen off perceptibly. Mail reliability has never been worse.

What will it take to bring some sanity to the postal quagmire? First of all, it may require a realization that the U.S. Postal Service cannot long endure unless management adopts some very fundamental principles understood by every good businessman—the most important of which include emphasis on productivity and adaptability to change.

The postal service, after all, was meant to operate more like a business when it received quasi-independent status in 1971. But strings to the federal government were kept intact in the form of taxpayer subsidies, and without the interjection of this money, the postal system would have been forced to close its doors long ago.

Why the poor showing? Sharply rising costs to mail and to advertise have driven many companies to seek other means to reach customers, and the result has been a steady drop in parcel post volumes.

But more importantly, new electronic communications systems have begun to attract a sizeable market for the 80 percent of the first-class mail which is business mail, and especially that part of the business mail which involves the transfer of money—checks, bank statements and the like. The postal system has been slow to recognize its potential.

Despite hard evidence that mail volumes decline as costs continue to rise, postal officials have pressed for further stamp increases and a commitment for further subsidization, in addition to more stringent measures to curb basic services such as a cutback in delivery days from six to five.

Postal management even went so far as to say a reduction in delivery days would result in a one-cent savings for Americans: the expected increase in first-class postage by 1978 could be held to two cents rather than three if one delivery day—most likely Saturday—were eliminated.

No plan could work a more severe hardship on small rural Texas communities which have little enough postal service as it is. And this plan disregards the very real public service Americans should be able to expect from the mail system—one not measured in dollar terms. It's a public service which must be preserved.

Comprehensive solutions to the ailing postal system are long overdue and no doubt some drastic action may be required. But half measures such as cutbacks in delivery days and other basic services are not the answer.

It's time that emphasis on efficiency and innovation replace bankrupt notions that stamp increases and slashed service are the only ways the postal system can become self-sustaining.

FROM SEA TO SHINING SEA

Fourth of July, and, from sea to shining sea, our flag flies proudly. Across the nation, school bands parade, fireworks splinter, and hometown newspapers carry full-page dissertations on what it means to be an American.

And I wonder. In these troubled days of dissension and White House pickets, what does it mean? Does it mean free speech without responsibility? Does it mean moral freedom that lacks integrity?

To be sure, an American today is a citizen in a changing world; but the things that count have not changed. Inalienable rights still require us to account for our deeds.

As our ancestors migrated across this vast continent, the Church moved with them. It taught integrity, responsibility, and a calm strength in the face of danger.

In today's world of unrest and contention, the Church remains steadfast. The principles it teaches still point the way for us to be a "nation with liberty and justice for all."
