Post Script

Monday afternoon, Eldorado had its own miniature version of the Great New York Blackout, which was much in the news a week earlier.

Here, the power failed in the north end of town at about 1:30 p.m. and was back on about 20 minutes later. That end of town is predominantly residential.

But that was just the start of things. . . .

—ps—
In downtown Eldorado, the power was out for a much longer time.

—ps—
This led to some odd situations. In Parker Foods, Glenn Parker and Naomi McCoy were at the check stands at the front. A woman was checking out her bill of groceries and the cash drawer on the electronic cash register was closed just as she was to be given her change. There was no way to open the drawer so she just had to wait for the duration.

—ps—
The crew in at Parker's were telling each incoming customer, "We can only sell you something if you have the correct change to pay for it with."

—ps—
Down at the First National Bank, the only light was from the windows at the front, but the tellers were able to cash checks and do other simple transactions . . . everything but use the electric adding machines.

—ps—
At the new Mini Mart store, they were able to keep things going about as usual. Their electronic cash registers were switched to stand-by batteries.

—ps—
At Foxworth-Galbraith, things went along about as usual with their hand-operated adding machine, and a battery powered calculator still operating, and they were able to conduct most business. The only inconveniences were having the air conditioner off and they had to saw a few pieces of wood by hand, being unable to use the big power saw.

—ps—
Power service to the town of Eldorado remained erratic during much of Monday afternoon.

—ps—
Service was restored to downtown but remained out for a longer period in the north end.

—ps—
At the local West Texas Utilities office, manager John Pitts and Bill Hodges, along with Glenda Harris, were kept busy answering the constantly jangling telephone and trying to trace the trouble. It was stated that a malfunction in equipment had caused the isolated power failures.

—ps—
The power mishap occurred on a typically hot July afternoon. Monday's temperature reading reached well over a hundred degrees by late in the day.

—ps—
San Angelo had an official reading of 101, and the thermometer on the front of Parker Foods said 107.

—ps—
News of building . . . Foundation was cast recently on

Nine Units Of Blood Given Last Thursday

The Bloodmobile from West Texas Blood Services in San Angelo was here last Thursday afternoon, and only 9 units of blood were given by local citizens.

This was a project sponsored by the Eldorado Lions Club.

Adams Honored By Shell For Service

Charles W. Adams was one of four Shell employees honored recently for long service with the company.

Adams is an electrical technician and he recently completed 25 years service with the firm.

A native of Trinidad, Colo., Adams graduated from Haskell High School and attended Texas Tech. After joining the firm at Baytown, Adams went to Eldorado as a pipeliner. In 1959 while at McCamey Adams began electrical training and was transferred back to Eldorado as an electrical technician in 1963. His wife is the former Lora Nell Hartley of Floydada.

the new building on South Main to house the Soil Conservation Service. Cement tile walls were going up by Monday of this week.

—ps—
Walls and roof are in place on the addition being built onto the headquarters building of Southwest Texas Electric Co-Op.

—ps—
Around the business district . . . Parker Foods has installed new electronic cash registers at both check stands in the store.

—ps—
Jason Ford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ford, was winner of the door prize given at the recent opening of Jan's Plaster Place in the east part of town. Jan and Dan Bullock opened the establishment.

—ps—
After operating the Gulf service station for about a month, Russell Stewart closed it last week and has gone back to truck driving.

—ps—
Bill Gentry had his barber shop open for business Monday. His scheduled opening Saturday was delayed on account of plumbing work that was held up for a while.

—ps—
Well, with the power failure we had to contend with, there was a failure of a different sort at the Eldorado Nursing Home.

—ps—
It wasn't with the lights.

—ps—
We had plenty of light and power and the air conditioner kept all the rooms comfortably cool while it was hot and 100 degrees outside.

—ps—
It wasn't until all the patients had had their supper that someone noticed their T-V was not getting a signal.

—ps—
Johnny Hawkins reported it first. He said it happened about midway in the afternoon. But others became alerted and most of the patients were waiting for the news after supper.

—ps—
The men were waiting for a baseball game at 8:00 o'clock. We missed that and all the national and state news.

—ps—
Blame was placed on the cable company.

—ps—
It was still off Tuesday morning.

—ps—
TV service was restored at the Nursing Home at about 1:00 o'clock Tuesday. It was off nearly 22 hours.

—ps—
The firemen were called out Monday afternoon to a grassfire on the McIntosh road, east of town.

City Council To Meet

There will be a special meeting of the City Council this coming Tuesday evening. It will be on the Budget.

Nursing Home Notes

This article will have to be short this week, as there hasn't been very much happening here this past week.

After this report had already been taken to the newspaper office last week, we heard that one of our residents, Weynona Bennett, had passed away during the night. We were sorry to hear of her death and we extend to her large family our deepest sympathy.

There were only a few visitors last week.

Margie Pope visited her mother Pearl Edffison. Mrs. Gerald Nicks of Sonora came to visit her aunt, Georgia Springstun.

For some reason a record was not kept of the Bingo winners on Wednesday of last week.

On Friday, the winners were: Maggie Sluder 2, Beulah Harris 2, Carrie Blakeway 2, Ella Casbeer 1.

Frank Reed is doing much better this week. He came to the dining room at noon a day or so lately.

Flossie Crawford has not been doing so well for several days but she is some better today.

The happiest miser on earth is the man who saves up every friend he can make. —LaVita Brooks and Beulah Harris, reporters.

Commissioners Set '78 Budget Hearing

The County Commissioners held a meeting Monday in the Court House, and set a Public Hearing on the Annual Budget for 1978 for August 8 at 10:00 o'clock. This hearing will be held in the Commissioners Courtroom.

Also at their meeting this week, the Commissioners took up the proposed use of 1978 Revenue Sharing Funds, but action on this was tabled pending a legal opinion.

There was also discussion of extending Farm to Market road 2596 in the county, and the Court agreed to pay expenditures of right of way, easement and fencing, the two miles to the county line.

Austin, Tex.—The legislature's brief special session is now history. In the nine-day meeting, lawmakers logged these accomplishments in response to subject matter submitted by Gov. Briscoe.

—Passed a $945.4 million public school finance bill, which provides more aid to local districts and raises teachers' pay.

—Provided tougher controls over nursing homes and ordered prison sentences for employees who deliberately mistreat and injure patients.

—Voted standby authority for the state to finance an offshore oil unloading terminal through revenue bonds if a privately-financed superport plan folds.

—Amended the law to permit coastal counties to participate in a federal flood-plan insurance program, though they hadn't agreed to join before June, 1970.

—Guarantees that bonds and other debts of state agencies will be paid in full.

The special session was called by Briscoe after lawmakers failed to agree on a school finance plan in regular session.

The governor later expanded the agenda to include the other subjects but firmly turned down a long list of requests to broaden the special session assignments further.

City Tax Boosts

City sales tax rebates are 20.3% based of last year.

Comptroller Bob Bullock said his office mailed checks totaling $23.6 million to 363 cities as their July share of the 1% local sales tax levies.

The July checks raise to $190.7 million the total income to the cities from the levy for the first seven months of the year. The figure compares with $158.6 million for the same period last year.

Bullock said the increase is another sign of the strength of the Texas economy, since state sales tax collections in Texas are showing a bigger percentage gain than those in any other state.

Farm Safety Week Is Now On, July 25-31

College Station, Tex.—Every year hundreds of thousands of farm and ranch residents suffer unnecessary injury and sometimes disability and death from accidents on the farm, said President Carter in a proclamation designating the week of July 25-31 as National Farm Safety Week.

Recognizing that accident injuries and property damage are an economic drain on farm and ranch income potentials, the theme for the week is Safety Is a Good Investment.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service fully agrees with the cost savings theme of Farm Safety Week, said Dr. Gary S. Nelson, an Extension safety engineer, and we will be giving it our full support.

Nelson added that it is good to recognize that in addition to saving lives and preventing injuries, a small investment in accident prevention may prevent larger insurance and medical costs, equipment damage, and associated production loss expenses involving lack of labor and equipment or time delays resulting from accidents. An accident loss is an accident loss, contended Nelson.

In his proclamation, President Carter urged producers to commit themselves to safe conduct in all activities. He further urged all who work with and serve agricultural producers to assist and support them in providing safe equipment and chemicals for use on the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Manning spent the week end on a fishing trip at Brady Lake.

The Farmer and Social Security

Life for the American farmer has changed drastically with the advent of modern technology, so that today's farmer may enjoy all the comforts of life available to people who live in cities. Very often there may be little basic difference in life styles.

Social security is a part of this change. Before social security coverage was extended to farmers in 1955, it was not unusual for the typical small farmer to keep up the unrelenting pace of farm work right through his declining years. A disabling condition that prevented him from working could mean total disaster. And if he died in the prime of life with young children, his widow had the difficult choice of trying to operate the farm without him or selling it to make ends meet.

Social security pays retirement benefits as early as age 62, and disability benefits at any age to people whose disability is severe enough to keep them from working for a year or more or is likely to result in death. Benefits are also paid to the survivors of a deceased person who has worked long enough under social security. Medicare helps defray the cost of health care in old age, or in case of prolonged disability.

These payments mean the farmer might be able to slow up the pace in his old age or even retire. If he becomes disabled or dies prematurely, the family's options may include keeping the farm. At the very least the social security benefits help the farmer and his family maintain a measure of independence and self-reliance that is still much a part of farm living.

The average monthly social security retirement benefit currently being paid to a retired worker at age 65 is $234, and $400 if his wife starts getting payments at 65. The minimum retirement benefits at age 65 are $114.30, and the maximum payment at age 65 this year for a worker who always had the maximum earnings covered by social security is $437.10. The average family disability benefit is $517, and the average family survivors benefits is $547.

For social security purposes, a farmer is a person who operates a farm for profit. He or she may be an owner-operator, partner, renter, or share farmer. A share farmer is a farm operator who arranges to produce a crop or livestock on land owned by another person with whom the crop or livestock or proceeds are shared.

Usually, in a family farming arrangement, the father or head of the household is considered to be self-employed, and the earnings of the farm are credited to that person even though other members of the family contribute their efforts to the success of the farming operation. Sometimes a farmer and other members of the family actually have a partnership and all can earn social security coverage based on the farm income. All facts in such cases are carefully examined in determining just what is the actual arrangement.

Farmers are covered under social security as self-employed persons. The tax rate for 1977 for self-employed persons is 7.9%.

When your net farm earnings are $400 or more in a year, you get social security credit for all of your net earnings up to $16,500, the maximum on which social security contributions are paid in 1977. If your net earnings are under $400, there is an optional method of reporting you can use to get social security credit. Here's how it works: Instead of reporting net earnings for the year, you can report two-thirds of your gross earnings if two-thirds is $400 or more but not more than $1,600, provided these amounts are not less than your actual net earnings.

This means that, if your gross earnings are $800 or more, by using the optional method you can get social security credit even if your net earnings for the year is under $400.

Consumer Food News

College Station, Tex.—Fresh fruits and vegetables offer economical variety, egg prices are very reasonable, but meat and poultry prices are higher. Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, reports.

Mrs. Clyatt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Fresh Fruits—Peaches, cantaloupes and watermelons in plentiful supply have attractive prices. Other seasonal items at the most economical prices are nectarines, cherries, plums, seedless grapes, pineapples and bananas.

Fresh Vegetables—Best buys include green peppers, cabbage, corn, carrots and cucumbers—along with head lettuce, okra, purple hull and blackeye peas, zucchini and yellow squash.

Poultry—Eggs continue as a very reasonably priced protein food; however, fryer chicken prices are higher because of lower supplies.

Dairy—Cheese, in large supply, reflects budget prices and wide variety. Other low-price items are yogurt, sour cream, 2% and low-fat milk.

Grocery Market Aisles—Features include canned applesauce, cooking oil, macaroni, cake mixes and breads.

Frozen Foods—Excellent values are frozen lemonade, strawberries, sherbet, french fries and fried chicken.

Beef—Prices remain at the higher levels of preceding weeks, but best values are ground beef, rib steaks, round steaks and roasts, chuck roasts and steaks, along with beef and calf liver.

Pork—The more economical pork cuts include bacon, smoked picnic, whole semi-boneless hams and end chops, although prices in general are trading upward.

Rural Health Bill To Benefit Texas Counties

Bentsen Says Senate Action Due On Rural Health Bill. Benefits 23 Texas Counties That Have No Doctors.

Washington, D. C.—Senator Lloyd Bentsen said Monday he is hopeful that the Senate will take action soon, possibly before the August recess, on legislation he is pushing to make medical care available to elderly and disabled residents in many of the 23 Texas counties that have no medical doctors.

At Bentsen's urging, Senator Herman Talmadge (D-Ga.), Chairman of the Senate Finance Subcommittee on Health, has called hearings on the legislation for this Thursday. The proposal could be reported to the full Senate as early as the latter part of next week.

"Many rural areas in Texas have been unable to attract medical doctors. For example, when someone in Olton, Texas—a South Plains town of 2,000—gets sick or is injured, he has to either drive 30 miles to Littlefield or 23 miles to Plainview for medical care. This is a special hardship on the elderly and disabled," Bentsen said.

"The fact is that as of the last count, on December 31, 1973, there were 23 Texas counties that had no medical doctors. We lead the country in the number of counties without physicians."

The legislation Bentsen is backing provides that in rural areas where no medical doctors are available, Medicare can reimburse health clinics for service provided by either physician assistants or nurse practitioners.

Under present law such Medicare payments can be made only to physicians.

Bentsen, a member of the Health Subcommittee, introduced the House version of the health care legislation Monday in a parliamentary maneuver. It was cosponsored by Senators Talmadge and Robert Dole (R-Kan.) to facilitate the coming hearings, which will include both House and Senate versions of the legislation.

"I am hopeful the Senate will take action quickly on this legislation. The present Medicare reimbursement policy makes it difficult—and in some cases impossible—for the elderly and disabled residents of many rural areas to receive any Medicare benefits at all," Bentsen said.

"The issue in these areas is not the QUALITY of health care, but the very EXISTENCE of it," Senator Bentsen said.

Virginia Griffin, Jake Spencer, Edith Shaw and Gladys Gunn have just returned from a week end trip to Ruidosa, New Mexico.

Mrs. Alma Corbell is confined at home with a broken leg.

PORK STUFFED CHICKEN

A stuffed bird does not have to be reserved for special occasions. The following recipe of Northern Italian origin is not difficult nor time consuming to prepare.

Serve the chicken with roasted or fried potatoes and a green vegetable like broccoli or string beans. Use a dry white wine such as a chablis or Soave and open it early to use in making the stuffing.

PORK STUFFED CHICKEN

Degree of difficulty: Moderate Servings: Four, with leftovers
Time: Work time: 1 1/2 hours; Cost: Inexpensive
Cooking time: 2 hours

Ingredients:

2 Italian sweet pork sausages	4 tablespoons butter
1 3 to 4 pound roasting chicken, with heart and liver	1/2 cup white bread crumbs
1 medium onion, chopped	1/4 cup dry white wine
1 celery stalk, chopped	1 teaspoon salt
	2 tablespoons olive or vegetable oil

- Preheat the oven to 450°.
- Skin the sausages and chop them together with the chicken heart and liver. (You can also use a meat grinder for this step.)
- Sauté the onion and celery in 2 tablespoons of butter over moderate heat until transparent but not brown.
- Add the chopped meats and cook, stirring constantly until all of the meats' pinkness has disappeared.
- In a medium sized mixing bowl combine the bread crumbs and the wine. Then add the meats and vegetables and stir to combine thoroughly. Stir in the salt and a few grindings of black pepper.
- Melt the remaining 2 tablespoons of butter in a saucepan with the 2 tablespoons of oil. Set aside.
- Wipe out the chicken cavity with a paper towel. Spoon the stuffing in, being careful not to over stuff. Sew or skewer the opening closed.
- With a basting brush coat the chicken all over with the oil and butter mixture. Place the chicken breast side down on the rack of a roasting pan. Place it in the middle of the preheated oven.
- After 10 minutes turn the chicken breast side up (I use 2 large spoons for turning) and baste again with the butter and oil.
- After another 10 minutes turn the bird again and baste again. Reduce the heat to 350°. Continue cooking for 30 minutes, basting once.
- After 30 minutes, turn the chicken for the last time (it should finish breast side up) and baste. Cook for 30 minutes more, basting once.
- Carve and serve. A Consumer Service from the CYANAMID Agricultural Division.

Zesty Spanish Zucchini
Soothes Summer Days

For a light, easily-prepared meatless summer meal that can be cooked indoors or out, consider Spanish Zucchini. Zucchini is a plentiful vegetable that is available in most produce sections year-round, and many home gardeners find it grows easily. A bland vegetable, zucchini takes on zest when combined with onions, olives, tomatoes and a touch of basil. You can cook it in a covered pan on your range or in an aluminum foil pan, covered with foil, on your outdoor grill. Either way, it's quick, easy, and delicious. Here's what you need:

1 medium size onion, thinly sliced	1 teaspoon salt
2 cloves garlic, crushed	1 teaspoon paprika
3 tablespoons Mario's olive oil	1/8 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons flour	1 can (1 lb.) tomatoes
1 1/2 teaspoons crushed, dried basil	3 medium zucchini, cut in 1/2-inch slices
	1 cup sliced Mario's pimiento-stuffed olives

Cook onion and garlic in the olive oil until tender. Stir in flour and seasonings. Add tomatoes, and cook until thickened. Add the zucchini and olives. If cooking in a foil pan, cover the top with a piece of foil and fold under the edges so no heat escapes while simmering over gray coals. On the range, cover your pan. Cook until zucchini is tender, about 20 minutes on the range and some 40 minutes on the outdoor grill. Makes 6 servings. Good reheated, too.

Greenhouse vegetable growers attending a recent conference at Texas A&M University heard about Small Business Administration (SBA) loans for financing their operations and about the proper construction of greenhouses. SBA can provide up to a 90% loan when it works with banks and other lending agencies. Greenhouses should be located in a north-south direction for better sunlight and air circulation. The 1977 State Hay Show will be held Nov. 5 at the Municipal Coliseum Stock Barns in Austin, announces a pasture and forage specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Hay samples must be received by the Travis County Extension Office by Oct. 14. The show is designed to encourage efficient, economical and profitable production and utilization of high quality hay.

Think Safety!

Water Safety-'PFD's' A Must

A Service of Underwriters Laboratories

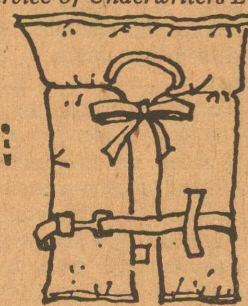

Personal flotation devices or PFD's (life jackets) are an essential part of water safety, yet many persons fail to use them. Lives which could have been saved by PFD's are lost through negligence.

Underwriters Laboratories Inc. urges you to use personal flotation devices, and offers the following information to be considered when purchasing such equipment.

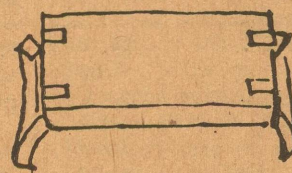

PFD's should be selected for high quality and long life, bearing the UL Listed Label — which means they have been subjected to rigid tests and found to comply with stringent U.S. Coast Guard safety requirements. Also check the U.S. Coast Guard requirements for your particular size boat, before purchasing your PFD's.

Flotation devices come in various designs, and should be purchased with your particular needs in mind. PFD's (both jackets and bib designs) have superior buoyancy characteristics — holding the wearer upright with face above the water. Type I & II devices are designed to turn a wearer from face down to a face up position if unconscious. Type III devices are designed to keep a conscious person in a vertical position but not turn wearer face down. Type IV is designed to be thrown to a person in the water.

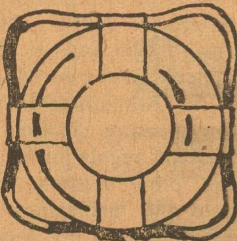

Children's devices are designed for persons weighing less than 90 lbs. Adults should never use a PFD

Buoyant Vest

Buoyant Cushion

designed for children or vice versa — a child can slip out of an adult's.

Ring life buoys and buoyant cushions are handy in an emergency — they can be thrown to a person who has fallen into the water. Never wear a buoyant cushion on your back — it can turn you face down in the water.

Care and storage of PFD's is important. Make sure they are thoroughly dry and stored in a well ventilated area — not the bottom of lockers or deck storage boxes where moisture may accumulate, and away from excessive heat and sun. Avoid abusing the equipment, never use as a boat bumper, etc. Torn, rotted or defective devices should be destroyed — cut into pieces or burned so no one will use them.

Special Purpose

UL advises that PFD's be worn at all times when in or near the water.

JAMBALAYA

Making leftovers interesting can really tax a cook's creativity. After you have made a baked ham, jambalaya, a mainstay of Creole cooking is an interesting and simple main course that incorporates the leftovers.

Since vegetables and rice are already in the dish, nothing else needs to be served with the jambalaya unless you want to accompany it with a cool mixed green salad. Serve with plenty of hot buttered French bread and a robust red wine like Chianti or California zinfandel. If you are making jambalaya for company this recipe can be easily doubled to serve eight, or, if you want to stretch it, just double the rice, stock and seasonings. If you have some leftover, add a few tablespoons of water when you warm it up the next day.

Jambalaya

Degree of difficulty: Moderate Servings: Four
Time: 60 minutes Cost: Inexpensive

- Ingredients:
- 3 tablespoons butter
 - 2 cups onion, chopped
 - 1 medium green bell pepper, seeded and chopped
 - 3/4 cup celery, chopped
 - 2 tablespoons parsley, minced
 - 2 cloves garlic, minced
 - 1 pound lean pork, such as shoulder, cut into 3/4 inch cubes
 - 1 cup chicken meat, cooked or uncooked, diced (optional)
 - 1-1/2 cups baked ham, diced
 - 1/4 teaspoon dried thyme
 - 1/4 teaspoon chili powder
 - 1/8 teaspoon cayenne pepper
 - 1/4 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
 - 2 teaspoons salt
 - 1 bay leaf, crushed
 - 1/8 teaspoon ground cloves
 - 1-1/2 cups long grain rice (uncooked)
 - 3 cups beef stock

Note: you can also use 2 cups of stock and 1 cup of tomato puree or tomato sauce.

• In a heavy casserole or pot, melt the butter over low heat. Add the onions, green pepper, celery, parsley and garlic. Cook over low heat for 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Add the meat and seasonings and continue to stir for 10 minutes — until the pork is browned.

• Now, add the rice and stock (and tomato sauce, if you are using it) and bring the mixture to a boil over high heat. Cover, reduce the heat to low and simmer for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally.

• After 30 minutes, uncover. If the rice appears too moist, continue cooking over low heat for an additional few minutes stirring constantly. Serve immediately. A Consumer Service from the CYANAMID Agricultural Division.

SSI Recipients Should Report Changes In Circumstances

People should promptly report changes in circumstances that could affect their supplemental security income (SSI) payments and should not wait to hear from social security, according to Franklin Upp, social security district manager in San Angelo, Texas.

The SSI program makes monthly payments to people with little or no income and limited resources who are 65 or over or blind or disabled. Eligibility and monthly payments amounts can be affected by changes in income, resources, living arrangements, marital status, and other circumstances.

"To get the right SSI checks to the right people on time," Upp said, "the Social Security Administration periodically contacts people getting payments to review their eligibility and monthly payment amounts."

"But we may not be in touch with people as often as their circumstances change," he said. "So they should report changes to us as promptly as possible."

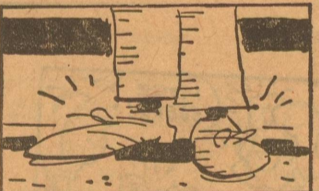

Failure to report changes—or delay in reporting—can mean penalty reductions in payments.

"People can get information about reporting changes by calling or writing any social security office," Upp said.

The supplemental security income program is administered by the Social Security Administration, an agency of the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

TOWER TALKS by U.S. Senator for Texas JOHN TOWER

Big Government

WASHINGTON—Too much intrusion into the lives of individual Americans, spiraling costs to taxpayers and a suffocating bureaucracy are typical of the chorus of complaints one hears when Uncle Sam's name is mentioned these days.

Unfortunately, the criticism is deserved. Hardly a day goes by when Texans or the American public in general don't have good reason to shake their heads in disgust at government's ineptitude or some perversion of its public trust.

Opinion polls paint a dimmer picture of the public attitude toward the Federal establishment. The latest surveys indicate that only 23% of those Americans polled expressed confidence in the Federal government. While this percentage has edged upward in recent years, there is no mistaking the fact that government's job performance, as viewed by a majority of Americans, leaves much to be desired.

There are plenty of reasons why. Part of the explanation may be that leadership and institutions have come up lacking when serious answers to some of our most pressing national questions are needed.

This includes, for example, a solution to the Social Security dilemma: how do we make up the alarming depletion in the system's trust fund as an ever-larger number of Americans retire earlier?

What about a Federal budget that continues to swell, defying sound fiscal management while new and ever more expensive programs are proposed and implemented by a spendthrift Congress?

And as we witnessed this winter, energy shortages are real with a present danger which no one in Washington dreamed imaginable only a few years ago. Insufficient energy supplies threaten to disrupt our economy and way of life, yet the Administration's response to the problem is a stopgap measure centered around conservation and continued federal regulation of the energy market.

There are other reasons for government's tarnished image. Waste and inefficiency have become synonymous with government at every level, and thus far promises to reorganize or reduce the Federal bureaucracy have proved little more than the same campaign rhetoric heard every four years.

But it is here where some fundamental changes in the way government conducts its business may have some immediate impact. Congress may begin to make a dent in a burdensome regulatory process if, as expected, the House and Senate act favorably on legislation which finally will hold regulatory agencies and wasteful programs to account.

Appropriately named "sunset" legislation, these proposals if enacted into law will force the regulatory agencies to justify their continued existence at the end of set budget cycles. Those agencies and programs which could not pass muster would be terminated.

The sunset legislation answers a crying need for government to weed out expensive agencies, commissions, bureaus, and programs serving a marginal purpose but which have been reauthorized year after year because no mechanism existed in the budgeting process to force an assessment of cost effectiveness.

Such legislation is long overdue. It means that intrusive agencies like the Occupational Safety and Health Administration with rules and regulations that proved contrary to congressional intent and which have served to frustrate farmers and the small businessman for too long, must present a persuasive case for their continued existence.

Sunset legislation is only a beginning, and it's not the be all and end all to government reform. But if it can help restore a measure of public trust in government, those of us who endorse its principles will have accomplished a major goal.

Two Wildcats Set In Henry Speck Field

Kitjonginen Marclayzz, Inc., Dallas, will drill two projects in the Henry Speck (Canyon gas) field of Schleicher county and as 8,000-foot wildcats, 10 miles west-southwest of Eldorado.

Both projects are in 60-D-GC&SF. The No. 3 Edmiston-Kit is 1,980 feet from the north and west lines. The No. 2 Edmiston-Kit is 660 feet from the north and 1,980 feet from the east lines.

Schleicher Confirmer
Gulf Oil Corp. No. 1-UF State, in 4-54-University, 1/2 mile west of the gas opener and 3/8 mile northwest of the oil opener in the two-well University Block 54 (Ellenburger) field of Schleicher County, 20 miles northwest of Eldorado, surfaced gas immediately, flowing at the maximum daily rate of 160,000 cubic feet, decreasing to 26,000 cubic feet and recovered three feet of 37 gravity oil, plus 195 feet of drilling fluid on a drillstem test in the Ellenburger.

Tool was open 3 1/2 hours on the test taken from 7,855-85 feet. Drilling continued below 7,915 feet on an 8,560-foot contract. The gas opener, the firm's No. 1 State, TB, was finalized Dec. 13, 1976 for a calculated, absolute open flow of 5.9 million cubic feet of gas daily, with gas-liquid ratio of 44,368-1, through perforations at 7,800-23 feet; the oil opener, the firm's No. 1 State UO, was finalized April 14 for 150 barrels of 43.4 gravity oil, with g-soil ratio of 3,942-1, through a 13-94-inch choke and perforations at 7,709-820 feet.

'Older Americans Handbook Is Available

"Retirement is far from the end of life; it can be the beginning. But you have to know the rules to enjoy the game," Congressman Bob Krueger says of his new pamphlet, "The Older Americans Handbook." The 12-page booklet is designed to help older Americans "Continue to make your own, very special contribution to the quality of American life," Krueger said.

A sample of what the booklet has to offer:
—You're about to retire. When and where do you start receiving Social Security checks?

—What if all the money you can get each month, just isn't enough?
—What can you expect from Medicare, and how can you get the most out of it?

Krueger opposes mandatory retirement at age 65, but he adds, "Our older Americans deserve special attention."

The Older Americans Handbook is available free of charge to anyone who requests a copy, from: U.S. Congressman Bob Krueger, 727 E. Durango, Suite B-209, Federal Bldg., San Antonio, Texas 78206. The booklet was paid for with funds remaining from Krueger's 1976 Congressional Campaign.

The Older Americans Act of 1965 ensures everyone of retirement age the free exercise of individual initiative in planning and managing their own lives.

Krueger pointed out that this booklet is designed to help older Americans make their own best choices, to fulfill that promise.

SAFETY SAMPLER

Last year over 1000 deaths were associated with C.B. antennas.

Base station antennas should be installed as far away from power lines as possible.

Don't try to install antennas while it's windy or wet.

Never work alone.

Turkey On The Grill

Have you discovered how good turkey is cooked in an outdoor covered grill? The tender, juicy turkey takes on a subtle smoked flavor that is most appealing.

Prepare the turkey for the grill just as you would for oven roasting. It is best to roast the bird unstuffed as the stuffing becomes too smoky in flavor. Stuffing is better when cooked in a covered pan or foil packet in the covered grill.

Brush the turkey with melted fat or oil before cooking. There is no need to baste it during cooking unless you wish, because a Butterball Swift's Premium Turkey is deep basted where hand basting cannot reach. You might baste the turkey during the last half hour of roasting with your favorite barbecue sauce for a bit of flair.

A turkey cooked in a covered grill takes about the same length of time as it does when roasted in the oven in the kitchen range. Use the same tests for doneness as you do when roasting a turkey indoors. Begin these tests about an hour before the approximate roasting schedules indicate. Also, during the last half hour of cooking, a vegetable with an Italian accent can be added to the grill.

Cut zucchini lengthwise allowing one to a foil packet. Interleave the zucchini slices with onion rings. Season with butter, grated Parmesan cheese and salt and pepper. A salad of spinach with black olives, garbanzo beans and plum tomatoes laced with Italian dressing adds another Italian note.

Outdoor Power Tool Safety Tips

— A Service of The Power Tool Institute

- Keep children out of your power tool work area. Trips and falls could be hazardous.
- Long outdoor extension cords require your alertness as to what is going on at both ends.
- Don't rush into yard chores. Have a plan. One thing at a time. Hurry does cause accidents.
- Always check carefully for forgotten or hidden objects in and around your lawn.
- Respect the blade of power tools - know their action.
- Overreaching from ladders, or working alone when you shouldn't be, can be very dangerous. Don't work in the rain either.

EVERY JOURNEY...

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The caravan has travelled through the desert for many days... and the men are glad to see the tall date palms of the oasis in the distance. Here they will rest and refresh themselves beside the cool spring before continuing on their way.

Every journey is made easier if it is broken by intervals of restoration and renewal. Even life itself can be a weary road if it does not contain times and places where we can pause to gather new strength. Where can modern men and women regain the equilibrium and peace of mind that they need so badly?

Fortunately, we too have an oasis... the Christian Church. The teachings of Jesus offer deep wells of comfort for the spirit, and springs of joy to revitalize any life that lacks goal or purpose.
