1979 MAJORETTES—Leading the Goin' Band from Eagle Land will be these three Eldorado High school students. Majorettes are Toni Fatheree and Susan Crippen. Drum major for the Eagles is Mary Byrd.

They will lead the band during half time performances during the football games including when the Eagles meet Iraan this Friday in Iraan.

City And County To Meet About Street Paving

Ten local citizens met with the County Commissioners court Monday morning, requesting that the Old Merton Highway be paved. Elton McGinnes, who had met with the court previously about the matter, spoke for the group. He noted that the county had paved other exit roads from the city and this road was the only exit road that was not paved.

somewhere.

"Why should there be cutting off place anywhere?" asked Charlie Niblett, a member of the group. "Why can't someone pave all the streets in Eldorado?"

Paul Page Jr. told the group the first step was to meet with the city and see about possibilities of an agreement between the two agencies to begin a paving project. After a long discussion, Mc-extension. After a short discussion, no action was taken on the matter.

The court also took bids on repair of the airport runway, presenting the bid to Seidel, Inc. of San Angelo who submitted a bid of $15,286. Other bids were from Reece Albert and E.W. Wilson.

Russell Sallee Burned

Russell Sallee is home recovering from burns he suffered in an explosion at his home Sept. 4. Sallee was injured as he was trying to drain water from a pressure pump in his basement while reinstalling the pump.

Evidently, butane from the motor had leaked, falling to the bottom of the building and when one of the points of the motor were hit with a screwdriver, it exploded. The explosion blew out some windows and doors in the house, burning Sallee on his hands and face. He was hospitalized at Schleicher County Medical Center for several days.

Mrs. Sallee, who had been called to the phone only seconds before suffered from high blood pressure. She was treated and released.

Just Talkin'

By Nell Edmiston

"If anyone wants some tips on how not to burn out a rattlesnake, just ask T.J., he'll tell them," quipped Jewel Bailey, wife of T.J. Bailey who tried unsuccessfully to do a snake in with fire.

Seems like T.J.'s dog cornered a snake at their ranch home "The Red Barn" on the Merton Highway this summer. T.J. went out to see and the snake crawled into the rock fence, so he quickly got a can of fuel and of course it exploded. Still no snake, so he opened the can of fuel (thinking the fire was completely gone) and threw more fuel in the hole.

The creepy character didn't come out, so T.J. threw a match on the fuel and of course it exploded. Still no snake, so he opened the can of fuel (thinking the fire was completely gone) and threw more fuel in the hole.

Unfortunately, there was just enough spark left to ignite the fuel and it "shot a blue streak" back in the can, catching T.J.'s pants legs on fire.

According to the rancher, he "did quite a jig" until he spied a water trough close by and jumped in. Jewel heard him holler and took in to the doctor.

Of course, T.J. didn't think it was too bad at first, but ask him and Jewel now—they'll tell you he suffered severe painful burns on his shins and feet, and remained in the hospital for quite some time.

He is doing well now, walking just almost as spry as ever. But the next time you try to kill a snake with fire, think of T.J.

We received several subscription renewals last week, including one with shaky handwriting. On the card, it said "broken wrist". So, to Lodice Carter of San Angelo: "Good luck with your wrist, hope it heals quickly."

I met Cecil Westerman in downtown Eldorado one hot day last week. He says he predicts rain every morning, which I suppose is an optimist's view. Trouble is, he says, he is right only one percent of the time. "At least I try," he grinned.

Juanice Orr, who works at McCallas told me recently she liked my article about my three year old son. That was nice, until she said it didn't get any better. Thanks a lot of the reassurance, Juanice.

Sharon Clawson, wife of head coach Johnny Clawson, took her daughter, Aron, to the new mall in San Angelo. She told her friend she had to run to the end of the mall to do some errands. "Where will are you going to run me?" Asked the confused five-year-old. Sharon said that was too hard to answer and just went about her business. Said she would try to explain at a later date.

During the recent 15th year reunion of the class of 1964, Wanda Whitten said she thought it was funny Texans called people from Arizona Yankees, since people there called people from the east Yankees. "What should we call y'all?" someone asked. "Westerners, I guess," Wanda replied, "but, please, not Yankees."

Wanda, by the way, is the wife of former Eldoradoan Gary Whitten who has returned to his native home only a handful of times since his graduation from high school. And yes, Wanda is a native of Arizona.

Eldorado Eagles Bomb Rankin Red Devils

By Ruby Morrison

The Eldorado Eagles are still flying high this week after their first win of the season against the Rankin Red Devils 14-6 Friday night. The win was a signal for a fresh start for the Eagles and the reason for a victory rally at the school Monday morning.

The game began when Michael Mertz kicked to the Red Devil's deep back for a return of 21 yards. After three series of play, Rankin made a first down. On the next play, Rankin fumbled and lost the ball which was covered by Joel Robledo of the Eagles.

Rankin's defense held Eldorado on their first series of play and forced the Eagles to punt. Mickey Nixon, Eagle punter, got off a 25 yard punt. Rankin's offense made three first downs and tried for another on the fourth down. But the Eagle defense held and Eldorado took over once again.

In the next series of play, quarterback Randy Morrison passed to end Keith McCormack but the pass was incomplete. A 15 yard holding penalty against Rankin gave the Eagles a first down but the Rankin defense held again and forced Eldorado to punt.

After three offensive plays, Rankin fumbled and Eagle Joel Robledo recovered another pass from the quarterback was thrown to end Mike Griffith and was incomplete. A holding penalty against Rankin gave the Eagles another first down.

Another pass by the Eagles was tried, but it was picked off by the Rankin defense. Rankin ran two plays and fumbled. Eagle Todd Swift recovered on Rankin's 33 yard line. The Eagles failed to move the ball on offense and was forced to punt again, this time for 40 yards.

Rankin also failed to move the ball and was forced to punt. Eagle Tommy Martinez blocked it and Eldorado took over on their own 35 yard line. A pass to Keith McCormack was good for 34 yards and a first down on the one yard line. One play later, Tommy Martinez took the ball over for the first score of the game. Michael Mertz made the point after good and the Eagles led 7-0 in the second quarter.

After receiving the kick, Rankin failed to move the ball. Eldorado took over after the punt, but also had problems and could not make a first down. The half ended with the Eagles leading 7-0.

Rankin kicked off to the Eagles at the first of the second half. After three offensive plays, Randy Morrison picked up a first down but fumbled the ball and Rankin took over again. The first play from the line of scrimmage, Rankin fumbled and Eagle Joel Robledo recovered for Eldorado. After three offensive plays, Michael Mertz fumbled and Rankin took control of the ball.

Rankin ran one offense play and fumbled and Eagle Don Garlitz recovered. In the next series of plays, an Eagle pass was intercepted by Rankin and this set up a touchdown for the Red Devils. The point after was not good and the score was Eldorado, 7 and Rankin, 0.

The Eagles failed to move the ball and had to punt again. Rankin also tried but failed to move the ball and had to punt.

On the next series of plays, the Eagles had a third down and tree yards to go. Morrison's quick pass to McCormack for 25 yards gave the Eagles another touchdown. The point after was good and the score was 14 to 6.

Rankin returned the ball to the 35 yard line after the kickoff. After making one first down, the Red Devils were forced to punt. Eldorado also failed to move the ball and was forced to punt again to Rankin. After making one first down, Mertz intercepted a pass from Rankin on the 35 yard line. After failing to move the ball, the Eagles were forced to punt.

Due to a slick ball the snap was fumbled and Nixon had to run with the ball. Rankin took over on the 40 yard line. A pass was intercepted by Eagle Todd Swift on the 45 yard line. The Eagles failed to move the ball and had to turn it over to Rankin again. A Rankin pass was picked off by Mickey Nixon and Eldorado ran the remaining 40 seconds out on the clock.

School Board Sees Cafeteria Drawing

The county court, city council, and the school board met in a joint session in conjunction with the regular school board meeting Monday night to discuss a joint tax assessing board for the county.

The three boards will make nominations for the five man board which has to be formed by Oct. 15.

In other school business, the board was presented a drawing of the new cafeteria building and discussed changes in the plans, which were presented by architect Gary Donaldson.

The board also chose to purchase liability insurance presented by Boon-Chapman Insurance.

Elementary principal Walter Wallis reported a total of 308 students and high school principal Richard McCarsion reported a total of 292 in high school.

The board also discussed bus parking and security, but the item was tabled until a later date.

Ray Lewis Ballew presented a plan from the auditors about the way financial books were kept.

NOW ON DISPLAY--Ruby Damron, left, and Mildred Roach display a quilt they made together and donated to the hospital auxiliary. The auxiliary will have a drawing for the quilt in December. Proceeds will go to items needed for the hospital. This quilt is only one of many the two sisters have made to benefit the auxiliary and hospital.

WED 50 YEARS-the Rev. and Mrs. Esteban L. Flores have been honored with two receptions marking their 50th wedding anniversary. One reception was held in the Primera Iglesia Bautista of Houston and the other in Eldorado, where the couple resides.

The couple was married in Ozona July 13, 1929.

Attending the ceremony were relatives, friends and well wishers and their children who performed the ceremony. Their children are Robert Flores of California, Delia Pina of Eldorado, Odilia Duran, Cristela Gonzales and Esteban Florez Jr., all of Houston. They have 12 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Rev. Flores was ordained as a Baptist minister Jan. 23, 1944 in Junction.

He has served as pastor in Sonora, Ozona, San Antonio, McAllen, Houston and presently in Eldorado.

Hosts for the anniversary celebrations were their children and members of the churches in Houston and Eldorado.

Tempie Hill's son, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Hill and daughter, Mrs. Parsons, visited with her this past week, also.

We did not have the community luncheon this month because of the holiday.

Fall Gardening Tips

Do vegetable seeds you plant while the weather is still hot refuse to become productive plants for your fall garden?

Providing a better environment for the seed is the real key.

To begin, bed garden rows before planting. Then make about a one-inch furrow down the center of each row. Water the furrow several times to moisten soil to 2 or 3 inches and then you're ready to plant.

It also helps to soak seed overnight to improve germination, points out the agent.

After spreading seed evenly in the furrow, cover it with a light layer of compost, potting soil or vermiculite. Vermiculite, which is light in color, effectively reflects the sun's scorching rays and provides a cooler environment for the seedlings.

As seedlings appear, protect them from the sun with boards, cardboard or draped cloth, particularly on the west side of the plants. And remember to keep watering.

After seedlings reach a height of 1 to 2 inches, thin excess plants to allow those remaining to reach full production.

Heflins Have New Daughter

Oil Evidence Is Lost

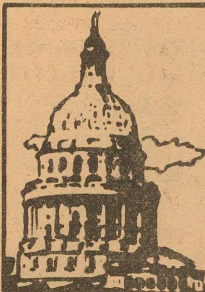

AUSTIN — Texas Attorney General Mark White said last week that important evidence for his investigation into the cause of history's largest oil spill was lost when a SEDCO drilling rig was scuttled by its owners.

White is investigating Gov. Bill Clements' SEDCO drilling firm and other parties involved in the Campeche Bay oil spill to determine if negligence was the cause of the spill.

He told Austin reporters he was "shocked" to learn SEDCO had towed the rig into Gulf of Mexico international waters and sank it in between 6,000 and 10,000 feet—an irretreivable depth.

"I couldn't understand why they would have taken this action. You know this (the drilling rig) was obviously going to be a piece of evidence that would be important in terms of an assessment of negligence," White said.

Gil Clements, the governor's son who now runs SEDCO, said the decision to sink the rig was made after company and insurance officials determined the rig could not be salvaged.

Clements said that after the June 3 blowout, the rig was towed from the spill site and examined by insurance officials who settled with SEDCO for $20 million.

The rig was then scuttled after the first of July, according to Clements, who said he suspected "that White's staff was told early on that this rig had been sunk."

White was looking into reports that when SEDCO pulled the rig from the well, that action cracked a wellhead casing, which may have resulted in the uncontrolled flow of oil into the Gulf.

Party Switch

A power shift of another sort occurred last week when veteran Democrat Sen. Bill Braecklein of Dallas announced he is becoming a Republican. His reason is he can't support President Jimmy Carter and he believes Carter is too great a burden to carry in his district, which almost went Republican in the state senate race four years ago.

Dallas State Rep. David Cain and County Democratic Chairman Ron Kessler are both eyeing that party's slot for the race against Braecklein.

Creighton to Step Down

State Sen. Tom Creighton, D-Mineral Wells, has announced he will retire, giving up his seat of 20 years to devote full time to law practice.

"I'm tired," Creighton explained. "I've had 20 years in the senate, plus another eight years public service as Palo Pinto County attorney. That ought to be enough, don't you think?"

A staunch business supporter, Creighton chaired the economic development committee. Supporters of Gov. Bill Clements had tried in past weeks to get Creighton to switch parties, but he balked at that, saying he ran as a Democrat and would die a Democrat.

Creighton was the last "admitted" tobacco chewer in the Senate, and an adept pilot who once had to crash land his plane in an emergency while en route to a Colorado hunting trip.

He is also the only Texas senator to have been married on a radio show. He and his wife, Sue, were married in 1950 on the "Bride and Groom Show" in Hollywood.

Marathon Suit Settlement

The Texas Railroad Commission approved final settlement of the marathon natural gas contract dispute between Coastal States Gas Corp. and LoVaca Gathering Co. and some 400 customers.

The six-year legal battle is the longest and most complex in the commission's history.

The $1.6 billion breach of contract suit began in 1970 when it became apparent Coastal LoVaca would be unable to meet long-term contract conditions to supply natural gas to Austin, San Antonio and other Texas cities.

Under the settlement, customers will drop their $1.6 billion damages suit. LoVaca will be separated from Coastal States and transformed into a new company known as Valero Energy Co., Coastal States will spend $180 million minimum over the next 15 years exploring for gas for Valero, and Austin, San Antonio and the Lower Colorado River Authority will have the chance to buy extensive lignite leases now owned by Coastal in Bastrop, Fayette and Washington counties.

Gerald Tinney Is Honored

Gerald Tinney of Eldorado was honored recently by Pool Well Service for ten years of service. Originally from Ballinger, he grew up in the West Texas area and is regional manager.

Tinney received his award from Gene Butts, general manager of the company. Also receiving an award was J.B. Warren of Levelland. Attending the ceremonies were George Loch, president of the company and Frank Pool, who founded the company in 1948. The company is now the world's largest well servicing contractor.
