David Lloyd Elected As Eldorado-Divide SWCD's New Director

David Lloyd, Reynolds Community farmer, was recently elected to serve a 5 year term on the board of directors of the Eldorado-Divide Soil and Water Conservation District. David replaces Steve Williams who has been on the board of directors since 1975.

The election was held on October 4 in the Memorial Building. About 30 people took part in the election and barbeque sponsored by the District.

Lloyd will represent the farmers and ranchers in Zone 2 of the conservation district. This zone includes the area from Eldorado to the west county line and is bounded by the Big Lake highway on the south and the Will Davis Road and Bootlegger Lane on the north.

The retiring district director, Steve Williams, contributed much to the soil conservation efforts in Schleicher County. Steve encouraged many fellow farmers to take advantage of conservation programs to improve their land. Over half of a million feet of terraces had been constructed in his zone since 1975. The number of active Great Plains Conservation Program contracts in the District increased from 5 to 30 during this same time period.

Ozona Third Quarter Surge Downs Eldorado

| Eldorado | Ozona |
|----------------------|--------|
| 11 First downs | 14 |
| 115 yards-rushing | 252 |
| 46 yards-passing | 79 |
| 16-4-1 Passing | 11-5-0 |
| 4-27 Punts-average | 3-35 |
| 1 Fumbles-lost | 1 |
| 4-50 Penalties-yards | 8-90 |

In a game which unfortunately resembled last week's loss to Mason, the Eldorado Eagles were defeated by the Ozona Lions, 28-8. Again, the Eagles were very much in the game, until the third quarter. Then something happened.

EHS took the opening kickoff and drove to the Ozona 24 yardline, handling the Lions with ease for three first downs. But there, on fourth and long, the drive stalled.

The Lions took over on downs and promptly drove for three first downs all the way to the Eldorado ten. But the Eagles dug in and a big play by Robert Markell dropped the lions back for a five yard loss. On fourth down they tried a 20-yard field goal, which was wide, and the first quarter ended after good drives by both teams.

On Eldorado's next possession, an attempted screen pass backfired. A questionable call by the officials ruled that the pass to Tommy Martinez was actually a lateral. Suddenly, a seemingly dropped pass turned into a fumble and Lion recovery at the Eldorado ten yard line.

The Eagles' defense, with the aid of some good hitting and a clipping penalty, set the home team back to their own 35. The Lions were forced to punt to co-captain Mike Griffith who made a fair catch standing on his 35 with three minutes left in the half.

Quarterback and co-captain Keith McCormack rushed for 15 yards and a first down to midfield. Fullback Eddie Montalvo added ten more on a dive play. The drive fizzled and Coach Johnny Clawson resourcefully tried a fake punt, which fell short by a yard.

So, the ball went over with 2:13 showing on the clock. The Lions were forced into a passing situation and the Eagle linemen obviously knew this as they applied good pressure on the Ozona quarterback, Varlyn Aldridge.

But Aldridge cashed in on some big plays by Ernie Borrego and Larry Payne to be in scoring position from the 17 with only 25 seconds left in the half. Ozona then got its first score on a pass to Kelly Buckner. The Lions passed for a two point PAT and the half ended 8-0, with Ozona going 70 yards in the last two minutes.

Ozona took the second half kickoff and utilized Borrego four straight times. It was Borrego for the score from three yards out with 8:02 left. Then things began to fall apart for the Eagles. On their next series of downs, the Eagles punted to number 88. Payne, who raced 47 yards down the sidelines for Ozona's second score on as many possessions. The PAT was good to make it 22-0 with 6:12 left in the third quarter.

Eldorado was again held and the punt was shanked out of bounds at their 25. It took the Lions five plays to score. The PAT failed, but the lead was increased to 28-0 with still 2:30 to play in the third quarter.

McCormack was sidelined with an injury and was replaced at quarterback by Griffith. John Paul Joiner was inserted at halfback. Danny Pina, from the other halfback slot, carried for a first to the Ozona 40. Then Martinez scooted with a quick-hitch pass for 12 yards to the Lion 28. The same play worked again for 16 yards.

Martinez was then interfered with in the endzone to give the Eagles a first and goal at the one. Pina got the score and McCormack fired a strike for the two-point PAT. Some good defensive play by Joel Robledo and Mark Wallis prevented another Ozona Score and the game ended with the Eagles on the short end of a 28-8 count.

| Score by quarters: | | | | |
|--------------------|---|---|----|------|
| Eldorado | 0 | 0 | 0 | 8-8 |
| Ozona | 0 | 8 | 20 | 8-28 |

Scoring Summary:
Ozona -- 17 yd. Varlyn Aldridge to Kelly.
Buckner (PAT pass Aldridge to Aldo Delgado)

Ozona -- Ernie Borrego 3 run (will Mason kick)
Ozona -- Larry Payne 43 point return (PAT no good)
Ozona -- Aldo Delgado 1 run (PAT kick no good)
Eldorado -- Danny Pina 2 run (PAT pass Keith McCormack to Mike Griffith)

Loeffler Endorses Reagan for President

Congressman Tom Loeffler last week issued the following statement reaffirming his support of Gov. Ronald Reagan's candidacy for the presidency:

Americans have heard nothing but promises for the past four years from the current Administration—empty promises.

Four years ago, Texans and all Americans were coping with an inflation rate that had dropped to 4.8%. Today, inflation is at 12.2% and Jimmy Carter keeps insisting we are on the road to recovery. I doubt many people agree with him, particularly those who have lost their job, and have become unemployed through no fault of their own. Four years ago, Jimmy Carter promised to balance the Federal budget. He has since presided over the largest four year deficit in the history of America.

Four years ago, he promised to control Federal spending. Federal spending has increased by 58% since Jimmy Carter took office.

Four years ago, candidate Jimmy Carter promised the American people he would never raise taxes on working men and women. President Carter has allowed the largest tax increase in the history of this country. Taxes overall in 1981 will be double what they were in 1976.

Jimmy Carter promised us a solution to our country's crippling dependence on foreign sources of energy. What did he provide us with? A Windfall Profits Tax that is the moral equivalent of highway robbery.

Instead of encouraging domestic energy production, his tax will stifle it. Particularly for the royalty owners and independent producers, many of whom are Texans, the windfall profits tax is punitive politics at its worst. Those who could help this country produce its way to energy self-sufficiency are blamed for the predicament we are in today. And the capital they need to bring in new energy is being confiscated by the IRS to be squandered by Washington bureaucrats.

We need an energy policy in this country. The cornerstone of that policy must be a President who understands the dimensions of our energy problem. And who will let our energy industries produce solutions.

Governor Reagan will be that President.

The trail of broken Jimmy Carter promises is endless. And working Americans in this coming election will judge Mr. Carter on those promises.

Governor Reagan believes—and stands ready to prove—that strong, stable leadership can make a difference. He has offered a comprehensive economic plan to get Americans working again, our economy growing again, and free Enterprise producing again—for the benefit of all Americans.

Governor Reagan's economic plan will cut the billions lost to waste and fraud. It will balance the budget, control government spending, create jobs and reduce the burden of heavy taxes shackling all Americans. At long last, inflation will be brought down. Jimmy Carter had four years to make good on his promises. His were four years of failure. Governor Reagan's promises will be matched by performance.

Joe Sullivan Challenges Loeffler to Debate Issues

Last week while in Eldorado as the guest of Mr. Jerroll Sanders, Mr. Joe Sullivan informed the Leader of his challenge to Congressman Tom Loeffler.

It seems the Democratic nominee for the U.S. Congress, 21st District, wanted to debate the incumbent on subjects of national defense, education, and energy. He stated, "I feel that it is in the best interest of the people of the 21st Congressional District that this debate take place so that the people will know some of the differences between the candidates on these matters of national importance."

On Monday Congressman Loeffler's campaign headquarters called to reply to Sullivan's challunge. He will decline to debate the challenger.

Loeffler said that his votes on the House floor concerning such issues is a matter of public record, therefore his position on the issues concerning the 21st District is well known. The Congressman does not consider it necessary to debate Mr. Sullivan.

Boosters Change Meeting Time

The Eldorado Booster Club will change its regularly scheduled meetings to 7:00 Tuesday evenings. The public is invited to attend and support our high school. The Booster Club is responsible for the all-sports banquet, among other things. The meeting will be held in the new addition at EHS. The Boosters are meeting at a different time to accommodate our return to regular hours. On October 26, Eldorado will set its clocks back one hour to take advantage of the shorter Winter daylight hours.

If your club or organization has a schedule change, please call us at the Leader so we may print it. GO EAGLES!!!!

Steer Evaluation Clinic Scheduled

San Angelo -- A two-day steer clinic here in November will include activities ranging from fitting animals for the show ring to studying carcasses on the rail—and learning much more in between.

The first annual Texas Steer Evaluation Clinic will begin at 8:30 a.m. Nov. 5 at the San Angelo Fairgrounds and continues Nov. 6 at the Angelo State University Center on Highway 87 North, starting at 9 a.m.

Sponsors are the county agricultural agents serving the West Central District (7) of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Kenneth D. Cook of San Angelo, district Extension director, said a $15 registration fee will be requested for two meals, other refreshments, course and carcass information.

Three judges of beef cattle at major shows will be on the program: Dr. Bill Able and Dr. Calvin Drake, beef cattle specialists at Kansas State University, and Dr. Herman Purdy, livestock consultant at Alexandria, Pa.

Others on the program, which ends at noon on the second day, will be Texas ranchers, county agricultural agents and Extension Service specialists.

Cook said program chairmen will be Dr. Uel R. Stocard of College Station, state leader for county Extension programs; Dr. Carl S. Menzies of San Angelo, resident director of research and animals scientist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, and Allen E. Turner of Ballinger, Runnels County Extension Agent.

Everyone at the clinic will have opportunity the first morning to judge three classes of fat cattle and then compare individual placings with those of Able, Drake and Purdy.

Carcasses of the cattle judged the first day will be studied on the rail the second day.

Other discussions will deal with the selection, nutrition and preparation of show steers;

Fielder Named as Leader Editor

Publisher Gus Allen has named a new editor at the Schleicher County Leader, effective immediately. He is David Fielder from San Angelo. David will replace Jym Trimble at the position.

David is a recent graduate of Angelo State University, but started his college education at Baylor University in Waco.

He attended Central High School from 1972-1975. There he participated in varsity football and track for three years. It was in high school when David developed an interest in Journalism as he has always been involved in student publications.

This past summer he worked for the San Angelo Standard-Times under Jack Cowan in the sports department. Also during the summers, he would work for his father, who owns and operates Fielder Pools in San Angelo.

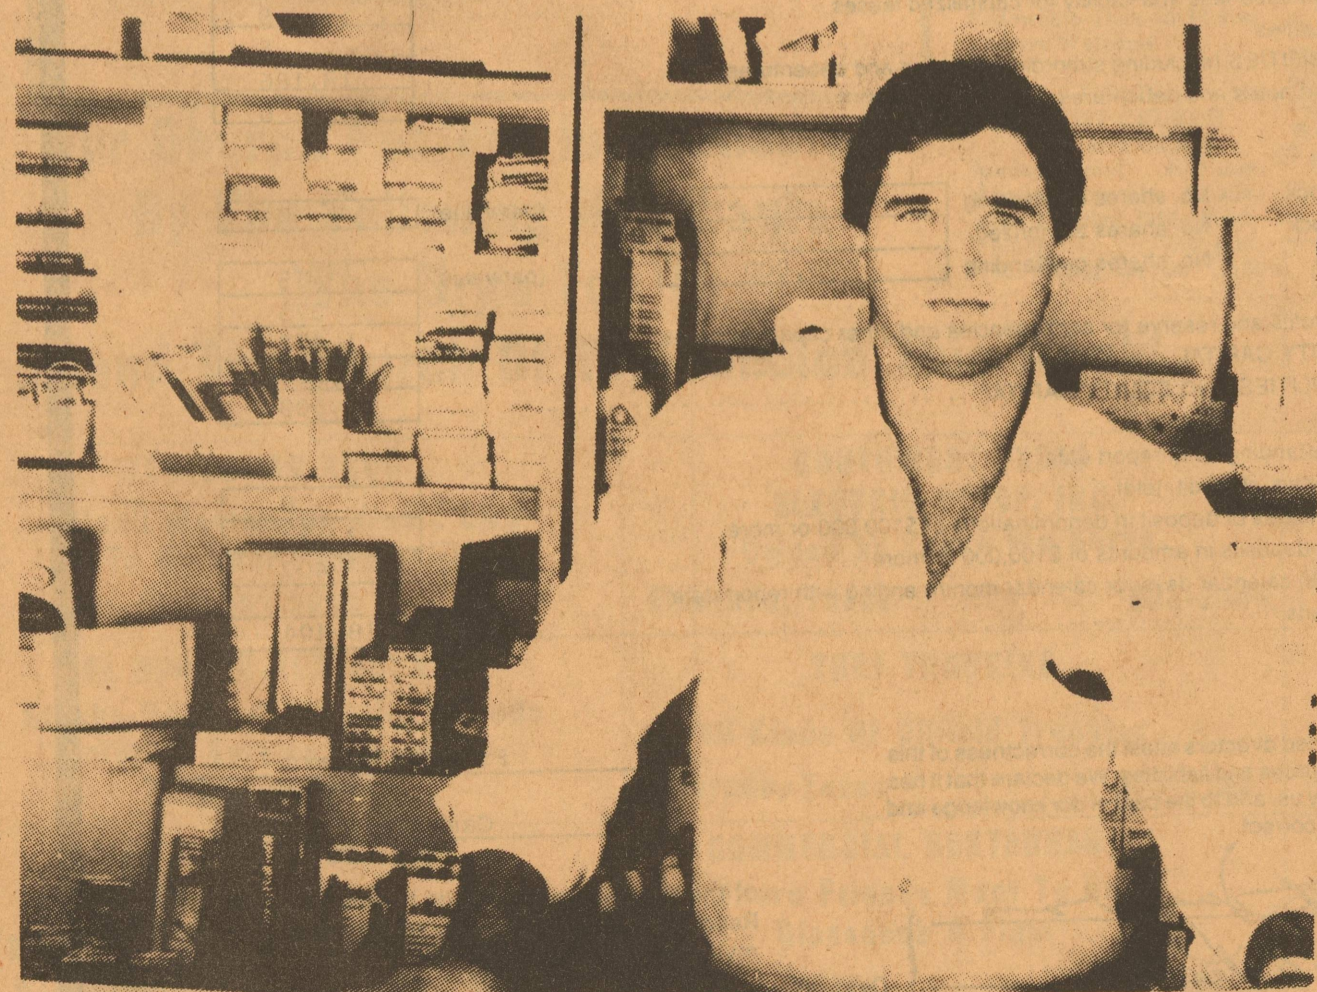

The new editor listed some academic and athletic honors, such as class favorite and Mr. CHS in high school. He was an all-district tailback for the Bobcats in 1974 after coming off two broken legs his Sophomore and Junior years.

Baylor head coach, Grant Teaff signed him to a full football scholarship in 1975. Another broken leg forced Fielder out of competition in 1977. He then returned to Angelo to finish college and get his B.A. in Journalism/English.

David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fielder of San Angelo. He has one brother, Dickie, 25.

Fielder plans on a career in journalism and intends to move to Eldorado soon. "I'm excited about my new job at the Leader, and moving here. This is a fortunate opportunity for me and I'm anxious to get things operating smoothly although a lot is to be learned. I hope for continued public input and support of our paper."

Cattle Feeding Program Slated

Anyone interested in investing in cattle feeding should attend a program on this topic Oct. 28 in Houston of Oct. 29 in Dallas, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Each program will feature discussions on physical and business aspects of a cattle feeding operation, tax benefits of cattle feeding and sources of factual information on cattle feeding. The program is designed to provide potential cattle feeding investors with factual information about this investment alternative.

Eldorado Art Club Sets New Meeting Time

The Eldorado Art Club met in a reorganizational meeting October 14 at the Memorial Building. Eight members were present: Faye Watson, Evelyn Stigler, Mildred Stanford, Doy Mittel, Sherri Belk, Mabel Blaylock, Juanita Taylor and Corrine Whitten. New officers were elected and new meeting time was set at 10 o'clock a.m. each second Tuesday in the month. If you are interested in painting you are invited to join us by calling any one of the members to get details. Many exciting projects are planned for the coming year, besides the fun and fellowship of painting together. Come on, let's paint!

Sutton County Gun Club Slates Work Day

Join Now If Interested

The newly formed Sutton County Gun Club is having its third work day this Sunday, Oct. 26 beginning at 9 a.m. at the HNG pit behind the cemetery.

Everything is reportedly going nicely and the club hopes to have the pit completed before hunting season opens.

The Sutton County Gun Club was organized last July. Officers elected were Sonny Anderson, president; Jim Cusenbary, vice president; Jack M. Sykes, secretary; and Al Elliot, treasurer.

The club is affiliated with the National Rifle Association and all members of the SCGC must also be members of the NRA which they can join through the club. Everyone interested in having a place to shoot as well as improving their shooting skills is invited to join. A special invitation is extended to all residents of surrounding communities.

The club meets the second Tuesday of each month at 8 p.m. at the HNG building.

The initiation fee for members joining during the month of October is $35. After Nov. 1 the fee will be $45 and $55 after Dec. 1. After Jan. 1, 1981, the initiation fee will be $70 plus the yearly dues of $75.

All interested persons are urged to join as soon as possible by contacting Jack Sykes (387-5568) at 418 College after 5 p.m., Jim Cusenbary at the Sonora Wool House, Claude T. Driskell at 2nd and Menard or Joe Kiowski at Bronco Pharmacy.

The club will be sponsoring competition trap, pistol, and rifle shoots with separate classes for the different degrees of proficiency among the shooters.

The date and type of shoot the club will first sponsor will be announced at a later date. These shoots are an excellent way for people to improve their shooting skills.

For more information contact Sykes after 5 p.m. at 387-5568.

Predictions for Upland Cotton Crop Varied

Conditions of the 1980 Upland cotton crop in New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas varied widely rating from poor to good at mid-September. Some dryland fields have been plowed under due to poor prospects. Others await farmers' decisions regarding economic feasibility of harvesting marginal fields. Irrigated cotton is generally good to excellent depending on the availability of irrigation water supplies during the growing season. However, insect and worm infestations have been the heaviest in many years reducing yield prospects in some areas. Heavy rain and driving winds, resulting from hurricanes, halted harvest operations and destroyed some unharvested cotton fields in earlier Texas areas. Harvested cotton stored in modules also sustained weather damage with some concern being expressed as to the effect on seed quality.

On September 1, 1980, Upland cotton production in New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas was forecast at 4,012,000 bales almost 35 percent below the 1979 crop of 6,141,000 bales. The New Mexico crop is in somewhat better condition than last year, but Texas and Oklahoma have suffered major declines thus far in the season, offsetting the gain.

Latest predictions have the 1980 California cotton crop forecast 12 percent below the record crop of last year based on the lateness of the crop and the below-normal temperatures earlier in the season; however, this gap could be narrowed if suitable maturing weather prevails between now and harvest.

The largest crop on record is expected from this year's Arizona cotton crop. While the yield per acre will be down slightly, the increased acreage for harvest accounts for the record production. Had the growers followed through with planting as much cotton following the small grain harvest as planned earlier, the production would have been even greater.

Forecasts on September 1, placed total U.S. cotton production at almost 11.7 million bales for the 1980 crop. This falls short of the 1979 crop by 20 percent. Lint yield per acre was 421 pounds, some 127 pounds less than the 1979 average. This coupled with slightly over a 500,000 acre increase in projected harvested acres this year denotes the magnitude of adverse weather and problems experienced by farmers with the 1980 crop.

Cecil Meador Remembered After Death

Tommy Cecil Meador, the Schleicher County rancher and oilman who gave agriculture-oriented presidents' advice and took the shirts of election bettors, is dead at 82.

Meador, born March 5, 1898, in Lamesa, was well-known throughout West Texas, not only for his successes in business, ranching and oil, but for a quick wit and political opinions which were often uncannily accurate in calling an election horse race.

In the 1952 presidential contest, he was kept busy several days after collecting the more than $10,000 he won on Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's victory.

Meador had long enjoyed a reputation for picking the winners in an election. In fact, one Midland man calling for a tip on Eisenhower's chances said Meador was "better than Gullup Poll."

And Meador, sure his man would win, said even his cows were fans of Ike's.

"Up to now about the best I've been able to do was burn prickly pear for them. But after this I'll be able to buy them a little protein, too," he said, figuring his winnings would go toward livestock feed during the "drouthy" winter.

His rich heart was in the right place, however.

He endorsed a $500 check he had won from Kelly Owen of San Saba and turned it over to the Salvation Army, a check which might have meant the difference between the office staying in the black and going into the red that year, said Capt. Basil C. Wyatt, officer in charge of the San Angelo Salvation Army office at the time.

Because of the drouth, Wyatt said, many people who ordinarily give money had been unable to do so. Quipped Meador: "You see? Eisenhower's starting to balance the budget already."

Probably the biggest loss he ever had was on the Lyndon Johnson-Coke Stevenson senatorial race.

Meador, an avid eat-more-beef campaigner, went on a 'round-the-world trip in 1961 with a group of Southwesterners.

Wishing he had more time to study the many countries he visited, Meador hoppedscotched through Tokyo, Hong Kong, Singapore, Calcutta, New Delhi and Cairo.

Japan's industriousness impressed him, but it was India he had trouble comprehending.

"They do not believe in killing their cattle, which wander among the people on the streets," he said on his return, with slacks tucked neatly into cowboy boots. He said Indians were against killing animals of any kind, including insects.

"It's something when millions of people refuse to raise a hand to swat a fly," he said.

Meador counted among his acquaintances such men as Eisenhower, who paid him a personal visit to see pear burning to save cattle just south of San Angelo during the East Texas drought of the 50's. Eisenhower wrote Meador later, when the rains finally fell, to wish the helpful ranchman greener pastures.

Meador was a member of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks and the Permian Basin Petroleum Association. He was past president of the Business Men's Bible Class of San Angelo and the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association.

He was married to Williwood Birdwell in September 1936 in Ballinger and had lived in Schleicher County since 1900.

Services were held October 16 at 2:30 p.m. in First Baptist Church in Eldorado with J.G. Bunyard, of the Business Men's Bible Class of San Angelo, officiating. Burial was in Eldorado Cemetery under the direction of Kerbow Funeral Home.

TSGRA Industry News

During the next two weeks, oilmen will seek, not only the black gold treasure underground, but also equipment, products, services and supplies which can be auctioned at the Joint Venture for crippled Children sale October 29.

Members of the steering committee for the Joint Venture, which benefits the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, met and planned solicitation of fellow oilmen to donate to the sale, then come to the sale and bid and buy.

The sale will be at 1 p.m. October 29 in the round building at the West Texas Fairgrounds.

The Joint Venture, started by oilmen to raise money for WTRC, has a goal in 1980 of $500,000. More than $100,000 was realized from the Bob Hope & Friends Benefit Dinner in July. The remainder will come from cash donations and from the sale. Early donations for oilfield equipment, products, supplies and services are valued at more than $150,000 and new donations are coming in daily.

Attracting much interest is "The Black Gold Prospect," one-eighth interest in a well to be drilled before the end of 1980 in Nolan County, donated by Abilene geologist John Chalmers.

Other donations include $10,000 drilling from D-B Drilling, Abilene; diesel fuel donated by refineries and chartered airplane services. Casing, truck time, drilling mud and a separator are among the items donated.

Members of the committee are: Dick Bowen, Abilene, chairman; Jerry

Anderson, Tony Adress, Bill Brewington, John Chalmers, Jack Cox, Gus Edwards, Myrtle Greathouse, C.N. (Smokey) Griggs, Fred Henry, Ben Hood, Guy McCarty, R.W. McDonnell, Wayne Moore, Jimmy Morris, Randy Nicholson, Robert Patton, Jim M. Polk, David Ratliff and John Troland, all of Abilene.

Also, William B. Blake-more of Midland, Phillips M. Pitzer of Breckenridge, and Richard Salmon, Wade Simpson, Frank Stringer, Jr. and Larry Tucker, all of San Angelo.

The West Texas Rehabilitation Center is a private, non-profit treatment facility for handicapped children and adults. More than 8,000 patients will receive treatment in 1980, without charge in San Angelo, Abilene, and Snyder.

PUBLIC NOTICE

In compliance with Sec. 43(a) of Art. 1446c, V.A.C.S., West Texas Utilities Company hereby publishes NOTICE that it has filed, on September 30, 1980, its statement of intent to make changes in its rates charged for electricity and services sold and rendered inside and outside municipal jurisdictions, such proposed changes to be effective November 4, 1980. Such Statement of Intent includes the proposed revisions of tariffs and schedules and a statement specifying in detail each proposed change, the effect the proposed change is expected to have on the revenues of the Company and the classes and numbers of utility customers affected. Gross revenues are expected to be increased 8.27 per cent by the new rates. Statements of intent were filed with the Public Utility Commission of Texas and with the following municipalities:

"When you get a good one, I say, 'keep him!'"

O. C. Fisher, Former Democratic Congressman, 21st District

The Honorable O. C. Fisher, our Democratic Congressman for 32 years, has endorsed Republican Tom Loeffler for reelection to Congress. In fact, Mr. Fisher now serves as Co-Chairman of the Loeffler Campaign '80 Committee.

To use Mr. Fisher's own words:

"I served in Congress for 32 years. During that time, I served with some 1,500 members and I think I learned something about how to evaluate members who come and go. I'm not supporting Tom Loeffler because he's a Republican—I'm supporting him because I'm worried about the future of this country. I think this is probably the most critical peacetime election that has come about in many years, and Tom Loeffler, during the two years he's served in Washington, has given an excellent account of himself. When you get a good one, I say, 'keep him!'"

We agree. During the two years Tom Loeffler has served us, he's proven his performance is beyond campaign promises. He's the best of a new breed of responsible and responsive congressmen forging a new brand of leadership in Congress. He deserves our overwhelming vote of confidence on November 4th!

Paid for by the Loeffler Campaign '80 Committee, the Honorable O. C. Fisher and Jim Lutz, Co-Chairmen, June Deason, Manager.

There something about autumn and the cooler temperatures that moves the adrenalin in cowboys and horses to the point that roping fever becomes so high that every weekend is spent somewhere...and the gatherings usually include the whole family. Two such big weekends are forthcoming.

John Stokes of Sonora will host a two-day roping on his K-Bar Ranch in Sutton County November 1 and 2. The San Angelo Stock Show and Rodeo Association will have its 27th Annual Cowboy Roping Fiesta November 8 and 9.

The Stokes event will kickoff Saturday morning, Nov. 1, with "a scrambled egg roping," he explains, "and will consist of mixed age groups. The juniors must be under 18 years of age and the senior ropers over age 35.

"That event will be followed by an 80 year old (combined ages) team roping," he said. This means two 40 year old cowboys can make-up a team or other combinations which total 80 years.

An open roping at the K-Bar cannot be entered by anyone who has won over $5,000 in the past three years.

"All these ropings will feature $30, three headers, progressive after one," adds Stokes. There will be a $6 cattle charge and ropers can enter all roping events six times. "They can tie on one end if they are female or over 45 years of age."

This year's San Angelo

roping Fiesta will feature a match roping between Roy Cooper of Durant, Oklahoma, the world's number one roper, and Paul Tierney of Rapid City, South Dakota the world's number two. Each will rope and tie 12 calves for a winner take all purse (of approximately $7,500 or 40 percent of the gate).

Also on Saturday, there will be a jackpot roping with 40 of the top ropers competing for a purse of approximately $14,500. They will rope and tie two calves each with the top twelve roping a third calf for the finals. Twelve of these ropers are among the top 20 ropers in the world.

On Sunday, November 9 35 of the top steer ropers will rope, trip and tie three steers each with the top roping a fourth steer for the finals for a purse of approximately $24,000. Thirteen of the steer ropers scheduled to participate in the San Angelo roping finished in the top 20 in the world.

"Some 5,000 spectators are expected to brave any kind of weather and attend each day of roping," comments Sheila Rathmell SASSA secretary. "Roping fans already purchasing tickets come from all over the United States. Orders have been received from Ashburnah, Massachusetts; Roswell, New Mexico, Kiowa Kansas; Broadlands, Illinois, Welsh, Louisiana as well as from East Coast to West Coast of Texas."

So, roping fans, get your windbreakers out and make your plans.

Controlling brush on Edwards Plateau ranges by using fire will be the subject of a one-day symposium set for Thursday, October 23 at the Stevenson Memorial Center in Junction.

Considerable interest in prescribed burning as a range management practice is currently developing, a result of the high cost of other brush control efforts, possible elimination of certain chemicals for widespread ranch use, and recent research findings, according to Dr. Larry White area range specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in Uvalde and symposium coordinator. Registration begins a 8:30 a.m. The program gets underway at 9 a.m. Nine experts in prescribed burning or closely related fields are scheduled to give presentations in their respective area of specialization. Paul Garrison and Harold Schmidt, ranches in Bandera and Gillespie Counties, respectively, will discuss their experiences with prescribed rangeland burning.

Some of the topics to be covered include: livestock response to the practice, wildlife impact, improving shin oak range, and the costs of using prescribed burning. The natural role of fire will be discussed to provide the ecological basis for wise use of prescribed fire.

A special presentation will be made by Curtis Henderson, Kimble County Extension agent, outlining steps in organizing a county range fire association to work with ranchers during prescribed burns. Kimble County has organized such an association, complete with the latest equipment.

The symposium is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas Section Society for Range Management, Texas A&M University and Texas Tech University. A nominal registration fee will be charged to cover publication costs of symposium proceedings which will be provided to each person who registers.

If you are interested in prescribed burning as a range management practice, make plans now to attend. Check with your county Extension agent for more details.

Interest Increase Okayed for Savings Bonds

Secretary of the Treasury G. William Miller today announced that President Carter approved a 1 percent increase in the interest rate paid on United States Savings Bonds and Savings Notes.

The President acted after signing legislation permitting the Secretary of the Treasury, with the President's approval, to raise Savings Bonds interest rates by up to 1 percent during any 6-month period. Previously the interest rate ceiling was fixed by statute.

The interest rate on Series EE Bonds purchased on and after November 1, 1980 is being increased from 7 percent to 8 percent, compounded semiannually, when the Bonds are held to original maturity. The term to maturity is being shortened from 11 to 9 years.

The interest rate on Series HH Savings Bonds purchased on and after November 1, 1980, is being increased from 6 1/2 percent to 7 1/2 percent to their original maturity, which remains at 10 years. Interest on these Bonds is paid Semiannually by check.

All outstanding Series E, EE, H and HH Savings Bonds, as well as outstanding Savings Notes (Freedom Shares) will also benefit from a 1 percent increase to their next maturities. The redemption value of E and EE Bonds and Savings Notes and the interest on H and HH Bonds during periods before their maturity will be improved. In general, the increase will be effective with the first semiannual interest period that begins on or after November 1, 1980. Maturity periods for these Bonds and Notes will not be changed.

Secretary Miller said: "This action and the phase-out of ceilings on deposit interest rates that was begun earlier are major steps toward the Administration's goals of assuring a fair rate of return to small savers and encouraging greater total savings.

"Giving small savers a fair return and encouraging increased savings in this country are integral parts of our efforts to reduce inflation and provide the enormous investment needed to revitalize our economy in the 1980's."

Depending on market conditions, a further rate increase of up to 1 percent may be made as early as May 1, 1981.

The new 8 percent rate for EE Bonds and 7 1/2 percent rate for HH Bonds will be guaranteed minimum yields to their original maturities.

Poerner Urges Commitment To Exploring More Energy Sources

Texas Railroad Commission Chairman John Poerner has urged the nation to commit its best efforts to finding and developing enormous, untapped oil reserves that remain within the U.S. as "a good energy mix" is formulated.

"Let's not forget the best milk cow in the herd -- 'Bosey' oil," Poerner declared in comments on U.S. energy capacity at the Commission's monthly oil and gas hearing here.

Despite production declines and shifts of attention to alternative sources of energy, "oil will remain king in Texas for many years," he declared in pointing to estimates of as much as 30 billion barrels of heavy oil still to be tapped in hard-to-produce reservoirs mostly in the southernmost and south-central regions of the state.

So far, Texas has produced only five billion barrels of its estimated original heavy crude in place, he reported.

Furthermore, stressed Poerner, Texas continues as the leading oil producing state, is the site of three of the nation's top four oil fields, and has many more good sized fields and a multitude of small fields.

Lignite, uranium and other energy minerals will make an important contribution in the future and their importance to the wellbeing of Texas and the nation cannot be underestimated, Poerner observed.

But, he maintained, "we should seek these untapped (oil) reserves first," and efforts to do so will require new methods of production.

"I believe this nation will respond to the need for advanced technology to recover the 'hard to get' oil in order to supplement our reserves and production," he said.

Poerner expressed these thoughts on the potential of heavy oil production in Texas:

---heavy oil deposits rank among the most important source of future petroleum production.

---recoveries of heavy oil, which has the consistency of tar, have been limited in the past because such oil does not easily flow at normal reservoir temperatures. But, fireflooding of the reservoir or the injection of hot fluids into the zone greatly improve the mobility of the heavy oil and its ultimate recovery.

---production of heavy oils require a great deal of energy -- about one barrel's worth of energy is used to recover three barrels of oil at present -- but research is being pressed to improve rates of recovery.

---ultimate recovery of heavy oil originally in place will depend on how closely wells are spaced and how effectively the crude is soaked with heat or steam.

---heavy oil recovery rates could be as high as 40 to 50 percent.

RRC Sets Oil Allowable at 100 Percent for 45th Month

The Railroad Commission Oct. 16 set the Texas oil production rate for November 1980 at 100 percent of market demand for the 45th month in a row and the 101st time since the Commission first went to the ceiling level in April 1972.

Chairman John Poerner and Commissioner Mack Wallace directed the continuance of the maximum statewide allowable after receiving and reviewing purchaser nominations for Texas oil in November totaling 2,580,211 barrels daily, a decrease of 36,885 barrels daily when compared with October buyer requests. November 1979 nominations totaled 2,684,931 barrels daily. Commissioner James E. (Jim) Nugent did not attend the session.

November's permissible rate of output is calculated to average 3,396,653 barrels daily with actual production estimated at 2.5 million barrels daily. The maximum allowable applies to all but 10 fields in Texas that are assigned lower legal rates of flow for conservation reasons. Actual production in November 1979 was 2,631,476 barrels daily.

Poerner reported that November 1980 nominations for October amounted to 23,381,425 Mcf daily. November 1979 gas nominations totaled 24,001,692 Mcf daily.

The next statewide oil and gas hearing will be held on Thursday, Nov. 20, at 9 a.m. at the Hilton Inn here.

Major purchasers filed these floor nominations for Texas oil in November:

Don Harris, Sun Oil Co., 87,400 barrels daily, down 1,300 from October; B.L. Young, Arco Petroleum, 142,000, down 11,000;

WTU Servicemen Get Accreditation From Frigidaire

Two Eldorado servicemen have qualified as accredited technicians for the West Texas Utilities Company, an authorized Frigidaire dealer.

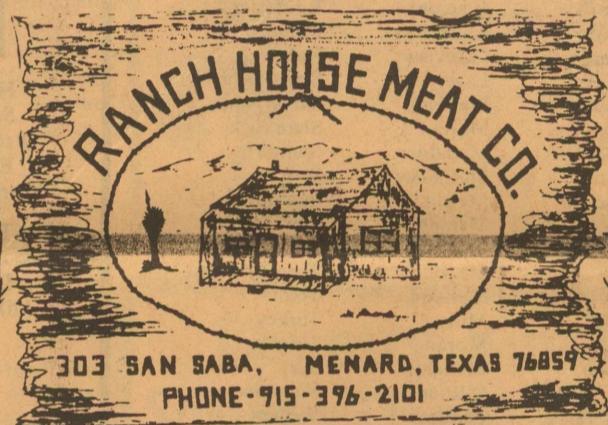

The announcement has been made by Manuel Gomez, Southwest Regional Service Manager for the Frigidaire Parts & Service Company, a division of White Consolidated Industries, Inc., based in Arlington, Texas.

Qualifying technicians include: John Pitts, 12 years Accredited Technician, Master Technician. Leroy Reeves, 6 years

Accredited Technician, Master Technician.

Frigidaire rates the technicians on strict standards, such as appearance and good work habits. To qualify, a technician must have a minimum of two years experience with a Frigidaire dealer servicing major appliances. He must also complete a Frigidaire designated service training program, including customer relations training.

"Service technicians must demonstrate the highest standards of service excellence," Gomez said, "if they are to hold an accredited rating from Frigidaire."

Dear Customers,

At this time we extend sincere thanks to all of our customers for your business, support and friendship. We are most grateful to each of you for your custom processing business, for your friendship and, most especially, for making us feel welcome in this area.

For this reason we sincerely regret that we have had to make the decision to quit custom slaughtering. Many factors have caused us to make this most difficult decision: Refrigeration costs have almost doubled in the past two years; Costs of materials for packaging and boxing have doubled in the past two years; Hide prices have dropped 80% since last summer; and Maintenance and repair required on the old plant to meet inspection standards have been very costly. In fact, even with higher customer charges, we have had serious losses over the past few months. Therefore, if we are to continue in business, we have no choice except to concentrate on projects such as specialty smoked meats, mail order, deer season and catering which yield a profit.

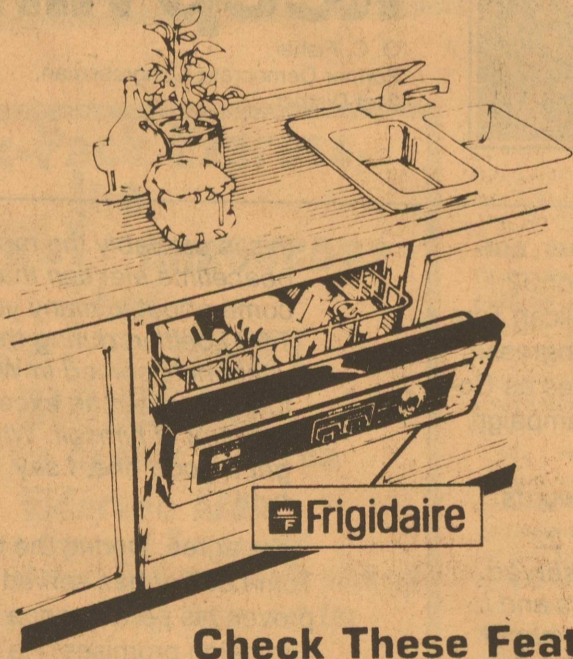

Again, we genuinely regret that we will no longer be able to offer the service of custom slaughtering. The decision was made after much deliberation, concern and prayer. We sincerely hope that you understand our situation and the sorrow we feel in having to eliminate this service.

Thursday, October 9, today, will be the last day that we will slaughter. We do hope that you will continue to enjoy our sausage products. Also, other Ranch House products such as hams, bacons, Canadian bacons and cured, smoked turkeys will be available for the holiday season.

Thank you once again for your kind support.

With sincerest appreciation,
Max & Marsha Stabel

JV Takes Perfect Record To Menard

This week the Eldorado J.V. takes its perfect 4-0 record to Menard for a 7:30 p.m. game. Last Thursday night Eagles pounced on the Ozona Cubs for a 39-6 win. Unfortunately, the game could not be covered by the Leader and for this we apologize.

But, some of the facts were obtained from the Eagles' coaching staff. Obviously, the Eagles had little trouble with the visitors.

Quarterback Greg Davidson opened the scoring with a 51-yard run to paydirt. The J.V. then exhibited its depth in the backfield with each member scoring after long drives. Mark Nikolauk Randy Lentz, and Floyd Fay scored from 3, 5, and 6 yards respectively.

Eight Grade Wins Defensive Battle Over Ozona, 8-0

A sound, hard-hitting Eldorado defense kept the Ozona Cubs' eighth grade panned-up on their end of the field for most of the Thursday evening game. The result was an Eagle 8-0 victory at home.

The win raised their record to a 2-2 mark. But for while it was questionable if anyone would score, which was largely due to turnovers and missed opportunities.

It took a big play from number 72, Sonny Dean, in the form of an intercepted pass, to put the Eagles into scoring position.

The score was stymied at 0-0 for most of the game with several miscues, such as fumbles and penalties, stopping both teams.

Then with less than three minutes remaining, Dean provided his clutch play by hauling in a Cub pass at the 50-yard line and returning the ball to their 15.

This time Coach Craig Bessent's team was not to be turned back. A nifty

The 7th, 8th, and J.V. teams have only one home game left, which is scheduled for Oct. 30. This one we will not miss!

Number 80, Victor Gutierrez hauls down the winning score against Ozona.

Mark Wallis Named EHS Player Of The Week

Senior Mark Wallis was named "Player of the week" by the EHS coaching staff. Coach Johnny Clawson cited Mark's leadership and outstanding play at offensive guard and defensive end.

Mark wears number 74 and was all over the field last Friday against Ozona. He managed to maintain good intensity throughout the Eagles' 28-8 thrashing at the hands of Ozona.

Concerning the game, Coach Clawson reflected, "We played about as well as expected, considering the personnel we have out."

He was referring to three two-way starters the Eagles are missing. Split-end Ed Willoughby, tackle Rojello Adame, and tight-end Ronnie Hall are sidelined. All are seniors.

To add to Coach Clawson's problems this week is Joel Robledo who has been temporarily suspended for disciplinary reasons.

This week the Eagles host Menard's "extremely large" Yellowjackets.

Seventh Grade Scores Shutout Over Ozona, 12-0

The Eldorado 7th graders are enjoying an impressive football season, so far. Thursday, the young Eagles increased their record to a perfect 3-0 for the season. The victims this time were the Ozona Cubs who fell by a 12-0 score.

Number 25, Duwain Moody, and number 10, Eloy Martinez scored the game winning points for the Eagles. The 7th grade is coached by Winston Leifester. Congratulations is due to this bunch, especially the defense which held the Cubs scoreless.

Congress' Unfinished Business

Few Congresses in recent memory have had so much important work to complete. Few have postponed action on so much of the people's business for partisan political reasons.

Unfortunately, this Congress has dragged its feet on its most basic of responsibilities — the Nation's money matters.

When it recessed on October 2 for the upcoming general election, Congress left the country's checkbook in disarray. Most of the 13 regular appropriation bills had not been acted upon. These bills determine actual monies for the Federal agencies and departments for the fiscal year beginning October 1 each year.

Failing to act on these bills, Congress was forced to pass a continuing resolution. This allowed the Federal government to continue to operate until regular appropriation bills have been enacted. Nor did Congress make a final determination on the second and binding budget resolution for next year.

It will be returning to consider these matters after the election — in a special lame duck session.

For several reasons, the American public got shortchanged by Congress' failure to act on these important matters.

First, voters on November 4 will have little basis for determining whether those they are voting on to serve have a responsible record of spending taxpayer money. Again, Congress will not be considering these appropriation bills — and the budget itself until after voters go to the polls.

Final action was postponed on these measures for a reason. The majority party did not want to face voters in November with the budget blueprint the majority party drew up for next year. It calls for more spending, not less, and a Federal budget widely out of balance. The majority party chose to evade accountability to the public.

Second, this Congress will reconvene in mid-November with the possibility that a significant number of its members may have been defeated on election day. These individuals will be voting on important spending and budget matters, even though they no longer represent a constituency.

And once again, this year, passing a continuing resolution to provide stopgap funding for the Federal government bogged down over differing House and Senate language. Just as in the past, those who rely on a check from the Federal government were left wondering if they would receive it.

I have sponsored legislation to put an end to this uncertainty. Federal agencies should be able to continue their operations from one year to the next without the threat of interruption in the event Congress does not complete appropriation bills in a timely, responsible fashion. The elderly, the poor, civil servants, military personnel, disabled veterans, and retired persons should not have to worry needlessly that their means of livelihood will be jeopardized because of House and Senate bickering.

My bill makes an appropriation automatic from one year to the next at the funding level of the previous year if Congress shirks its constitutional responsibilities to appropriate money.

My bill will correct this problem. The larger problems of a budget out of balance and a Congress governed by a majority party unwilling to act responsibly and in a timely fashion to correct it are an entirely different matter.

Budgets are important because they impose discipline on spending. By failing to act on next year's budget, the majority party in the Congress said to the American people that it will determine what constitutes discipline — and just when it will be imposed.

Voters should keep that in mind on November 4. This will be my last report to you until the Congress reconvenes on November 12. At that time, all the unfinished business Congress must yet complete will be taken up. The budget and all appropriation legislation will be priority items for consideration. But there will be other issues as well, issues this 96th Congress must act on before it becomes history.

Suit Filed By Royalty Owners Assoc. Against WPT

A major lawsuit has been filed against the Windfall Profits Tax. Thirty-one petroleum and royalty owner-related associations have joined as plaintiffs in a legal challenge to the Windfall Profits Tax. In addition, the States of Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Wyoming are likely to join as direct parties or as friends of the court. The suit was filed October 14th in Federal District Court in Cheyenne, Wyoming.

A research team of experts in constitutional law, tax law, administrative procedures, federal trial practice and pleadings was assembled to formulate the case. The legal action is based on the belief that the tax is unconstitutional. The arguments are that the tax is not being levied uniformly and that it violates the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution. The Tax exempts certain crude oil production in the State of Alaska. The Fifth Amendment prohibits the taking of private property for public use without just compensation.

The Independent Petroleum Association of America says the tax constitutes a significant threat to national security and energy independence, strikes at the foundation of personal freedom and the ownership of private property and is bad energy policy, bad social policy and bad economic policy.

The battle will be a long, expensive one.

Building Named After O.C. Fisher
 Washington—(October 7) U.S. Representative Tom Loeffler today announced that his bill, naming the Federal Building in San Angelo for former 21st District Congressman O.C. Fisher has been signed into law by the President.
 "The President made it official today," Loeffler said from Texas. "Clark Fisher's name, for 32 years associated with service to his constituency and to his country, will be an ever present reminder in San Angelo of good government and the standards he set for representation. I am proud to have offered this legislation, and proud to call O.C. Fisher a friend."
 Loeffler said the General Services Administration will now proceed to make plans to dedicate the building.

Isaiah 40:27: Why sayest thou, O Jacob and speakout, O Israel my way is hid from the Lord, and my judgement is passed over from my God?
 28: Hast thou not known? Hast thou not heard, that the everlasting God, the Lord the Creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is weary? There's no searching of his understanding.
 29: He giveth power to the faint; and to them that have no might he increaseth strength.
 30: Even the youth shall faint and be weary, and the young men shall utterly fall.
 31: But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles, they shall run and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint.
 People searching her and there and ll over for understanding but when is there a true repentance and they are baptized they shall receive the Holy Ghost. The Holy Ghost will lead you in all truth. The windows of heaven will be opened to you.
 Knowledge and wisdom is a gift from God for his sons and daughters.
 Rev. Walter Ford
