

Employees of Southwest Co-Op got Eldorado started in the Christmas season last Friday. Several men volunteered their services for hanging the Christmas decorations around town. They performed the task free of charge and did the town a service. This year's decorations are eye-pleasing and do lots to liven up the streets of Eldorado.

The Mason Punchers, District 9-2A champions, defeated Eastland 29-12 in bi-district action and hosted the Moody Bearcats last Saturday in a regional match-up. The game was expected to be a sell-out at Puncher Stadium.

The Punchers, coached by Don Abbott, dominated Eastland on every count. They had 366 total yards to Eastland's 136. The Punchers, cashed in on four interceptions.

Coach Abbott was able to play most of the team during the victory, which enabled Mason to advance against the Bearcats.

However they found things unfavorable for the first time since early in the season, when the Punchers were beaten twice in pre-district play.

Coach Johnny Clawson believed

Abbott's Punchers to be capable of winning the Moody contest, but crucial turnovers caused them to come up short, 14-10.

However congratulations are in order as Mason sported a fine season and was complimented by placing 10 Punchers on the All District-first team.

The Announcement has been withheld pending the end of their season. Eldorado was honored by the other 9-2A coaches as Senior Keith McCormack led five other Eagles honorees. Keith was the only member of the team to be elected to the first team. He was selected as a defensive back due to his alertness in the secondary and good speed.

The remainder of the Eagles were certainly first team candidates and enjoyed several exciting individual performances.

For instance, Senior Mike Griffith's versatility garnered him positions both ways as a defensive back and flanker. Mike impressed the coaches with his aggressive style of play also. A hard hitter when coming up from the secondary, while racking up huge amounts of yardage on offense, made his second team rating surprising.

Senior tackle Mark Wallis was one of Coach Clawson more dependable performers. He was chosen honorable mention, both ways also. One could always find Mark still plugging away late, in games long ago lost.

As consistent as Wallis, was the only junior in the group, fullback/linebacker Eddie Montalvo. It's difficult to recall this tough player ever leaving a contest. Coach Clawson often had to rely on his certain gains up the middle and big stops when playing defense.

Seniors Ed Willoughby and Ronnie Hall's selections were heartening to see after the two made a comeback after disabling injuries. On Ed's first night back, against Reagan County, he caught himself a shining moment when he brought the Eagles from behind to win that contest with a last minute touchdown catch.

At the same time, tight and defensive end Ronnie Hall was returning from a badly strained knee. These guys made a noticeable difference in Coach Clawson's attack. Hall was honorable mention, as was Ed, but as a defensive end. Somehow he managed to stuff offensive plays while operating on about 75 percent of that knee.

So in spite of a disappointing record, the Eagles had their moments. Congratulations.

The method of selection is worthy of debate. Coach Clawson was limited in his selection by the district rule which prohibits a coach from voting for his own team. I think they ought to let the district sportswriters vote as well. After all, we too stood out there in the cold, just as they did, trying to take notes with numbed hands.

First team 9-2A All-District:
Offense-Quarterback Mike Keller Jr., Mason; Backs: Jeff Dutton, Jr., Mason; Bobby Hurley, Jr., Junction; West Thiers, Sr., Wall; Center: James Jordan, Jr. Mason; Kicker: Will Mason, So. Hunting Pictures Sought by Leader

Now that football season has come to a close the thoughts of many West Texans will turn from the gridiron to the sporting outdoors, namely hunting. With the large number of sportsmen taking to the field there are bound to be plenty of Tall Tales to go around. The one that got away or the biggest buck ever seen. We at the Schleicher County Leader feel that it is our civic duty to document these "yarns" with a picture here at the leader office. So bring those trophies by anytime and we will be happy to set the story straight.

Tim McAngus puts one up in the Eight Grade victory over Ozona here Monday night. See related story Page 3.

Two Local Girls Among Entries For Our Regal Miss Contest

Two local girls will be competing in the "Our Miss Regal Miss" pageant in San Angelo this weekend. Vying for the crowns in different categories will be six year old Miss Traci Paxton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Paxton. Traci will be in the 4-5 year old "Princess" competition. She is being sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Den Rosford of Sonora.

Miss Tracey Richards, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Richards, will compete for the "Duchess" title. Tracey is sponsored by Beta Sigma Phi, Holley Hous, L.H. Hanusch Water Well Drilling, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Whitten, all of Eldorado, along with the Photo Ranch of Sonora.

Both girls will be judged on personality, talent, poise and appearance. Besides title and crown, winners in each age group will advance to state competition at Abilene in May.

In addition to the pageant, there will also be a modeling contest Saturday afternoon. The girls will model fashions in five categories: Christmas party; Night Before Christmas; Back to School; Sleigh Riding in Denim; Disco in the Snowflakes.

The pageant is being hosted by San Angelo's Beta Sigma Phi. It will be held at the S.A. Country Club, starting at 8:30 a.m. Saturday and Sunday. There will be a luncheon served. The public is invited to attend and these young ladies would be encouraged if there were some faces from home in the crowd.

Texans Baptists Give To Brazilians

This Christmas, Texas Baptists are working to give Brazilian Baptists one of the best Christmas presents they have ever received—a $2 million mission offering called Lottie Moon Plus.

The $2 million Plus offering is part of a total statewide goal of $10 million for the annual Lottie Moon Christmas Offering, a special offering taken in Southern Baptist churches to help support foreign missions.

In one of the largest cooperative mission ventures in history, Texas Baptists are working with Brazilian Baptists and the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board to double the number of Baptist churches and members in Brazil—6,000 churches with a million members—by 1982 the Brazilian Baptist Centennial.

More than 10,000 decisions for Christ have been reported this year by about 500 Texas Baptist who have paid their own way to help Brazilian Baptists win their nation for Christ, said Texas Baptist Executive Director James H. Landes.

Dr. Landes anticipates that at least 2,000 other Texas Baptist volunteers will go to share their faith with Brazilians in the next two years.

Texas and Brazil have much in common and are strong allies for world missions, said Landes. Southern Baptist missionaries from Texas—W.B. and Anne Luther Bagby—organized the first Brazilian Baptist church in 1882.

The $2 million Christmas gift will go to aid a "Major Cities Evangelization" program which pairs ten Brazilian cities with Texas cities and areas.

The Brazilian cities and their Texas counterparts which have been matched include Sao Paulo and Houston; Rio de Janeiro and Dallas; Belo Horizonte and Fort Worth; Curitiba and El Paso; and Recife and Amarillo-Lubbock-Plainview.

Other partners include Salvador and San Antonio-Austin-Waco; Fortaleza and San Angelo; Belem and Wichita Falls; Victoria and the Golden Triangle; and Brasilia and Midland-Odes-

From City Hall

By Carolyn Mayo

As you have seen, the City Animal Control officer is working and has picked up a total of 22 dogs since beginning work on the 12th of last month. If a property owner is having trouble with a specific animal, you may call City Hall during the morning and ask that the Animal Control Officer enter your property to collect the animals. Otherwise he will only be collecting animals from the streets and alleys.

Of the 22 animals collected as of Dec. 1, only six fines have been paid and the animals retrieved. All other dogs have been put to sleep at the end of the 3-day holding period.

Through the cooperation of our citizens in keeping their animals penned or tied or by reporting strays, the problem is being resolved. Thank you for your help so far and please continue to help City personnel in this manner.

Jerry Lackey's Country Folk

Now the weather prognosticators are saying the whole pattern will change drastically as a result of St. Helen's volcano burps. Weather people are predicting very hot and dry summers and cold damp winters in the sunbelt. And the frightening thing about it is the fact that what we have witnessed in West Texas for a year or more. Last summer was hard on livestock as well as the land. Already we have seen two snows this fall.

Most parts of Central and West Texas did receive good moisture early in autumn... enough to grow some grass and weeds before frost. In my travels west, quite a contrast has come to the terrain in three months. Visiting on the Keith Mitchell ranch in Terrell County before the holidays, I noted that country wet and green. A snow proved to be an asset following some good rains.

"Matter of fact, the snow here and on our Alpine ranch has delayed shipping of cattle for four weeks," commented Mitchell. "But those kinds of delays we can live with," he smiled. Bill Frerag of Eldorado talked about the good cover of vegetation in Schleicher County along with expressing his jubilation at not having to feed so heavy this winter.

However, some problems are coming as a result of the moisture, for instance, Loco Weed is breaking out in a big way in the Alpine/Marfa country. And with the summer drought followed by a wet fall, some of the pecans in San Saba have not matured or have fallen from the trees before.

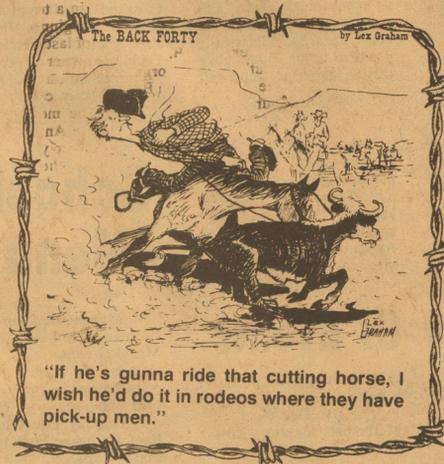

The same thing is said of acorns in parts of the Texas Hill Country. Although the liveoak product is falling early, it is nonetheless providing a small meated kernel keeping deer away from feed blinds and sheep and goats scattered in the pastures.

Well, perhaps the hardest hit area in Texas last summer was the Southwest part of the state. Going from a drought said to be the worst in half a century to flooding from hurricanes probably the worst on that side of the scale, weather patterns have indeed changed.

So, if what the weather people believe to be more than theory proves to be fact, those of us in the sunbelt may need reconsider moving further south. And again, we may need to change our lifestyles and plant earlier, harvest earlier and stock up for winter like the red ants.

Jr. Highs Bounce Ozona

Things went well for the Eldorado Junior High teams here Monday night. All three teams upped their records with victories over Ozona.

The seventh grade played impressive ball while running up and down the court to a 34-12 win. They are coached by Teresa Baker. She could be the one responsible for their advanced style of play. The young Eaglettes sure do move the ball around well for their age group.

In the following girls' eighth grade action Coach Baker's bunch was led by Stephanie Field with 8 points. Roxanne Pina and Delia Heffernan both added four.

Jennifer Willoughby showed good speed and ball-control during the win. Other starters for the Eaglettes are Michelle Walker, Rita Adame, Kara Garlitz, and Kelly Leggett had a hand in some scoring. The final score was 29-16.

The eighth grade boys' action was fast and furious. Coach Leifester's bunch de-initely do not know the term slow-paced. And one probably could not count the number of turnovers which resulted. But the Eagles had fewer and came out on top, 39-22.

Brett Nikolauk led the scoring with 12 points. He was followed by Victor Gutierrez with six, and Chris Woodward with seven. Eloy Martinez is quick as a hic-cup and uses his speed to play good defense.

The seventh grade boys and girls play in tournament this Friday and Saturday at Ozona. All three teams will be back in action here, December 11.

-vs- Menard

The Eldorado Jr. High got into some heated basketball action at Menard last Monday. The eighth grade Eagles lost a close game to the Yellowjackets. However the seventh graders scored two points in overtime to defeat their opponents by a 16-14 margin.

High scorers for the eighth grade were Victor Gutierrez with six and Brett Nikolauk with eight. Other scoring were Eloy Martinez and Gene Kackley with two a piece. Chris Woodward added four to round out the scoring. The final count was in favor of Menard, 22-23.

The major factor in the close game was as usual determined at the free-throw line. The Eagles managed only two of twelve for a shoddy 16 percent.

But the seventh grade capitalized on its opportunity from the line and made 6 of 11 for an impressive 54 percent. The young Eagles saw their nine point lead disappear in the third quarter when the Yellowjackets rebounded for 12 unanswered points. The Yellowjackets were scoreless at the half.

The Eagles held on for a 16-14 win in overtime with two points coming in the extra period. The starting five consists of Mike Bellman, Ron Mittel, Jimmy Tuberville, Steven Saldivar and Kenny Gutierrez. Tuberville was the hot-shot with a 40 percent shooting percentage.

Extension Notes

Texas Forage Picture Mixed-Forage quality and quantity are mixed over Texas, but for the most part, quantity is down while quality is better than last year, says a range specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Accident Control--Choose Christmas gifts with safety in mind, cautions the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Look for sound construction, sharp edges, pinch points and exposure to mechanical parts, and consider possible health related hazards. Electrically powered items should have testing laboratory approval.

Texas A&M University System. This situation has been brought about by drought conditions in late 1979 and through most of this year followed by September rains. These rains brought a lot of drought-stressed grasses back to life and caused an upsurge in quality, with protein content doubling and tripling in some cases.

Legumes Getting More Popular--More and more pasture growers throughout Texas are planting legumes, says a forage specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Legumes offer higher quality forage than grass, lengthen the grazing season, and improve soil fertility and physical condition. Also, excess growth can be harvested for top quality hay. Among legumes suited for different areas of Texas are vetch, Hubam and Madrid sweetclover, Yuchi arrowleaf clover and subterranean clover.

Need A Dentist?

The Texas Dental Association is working with the twelve Health Systems Agencies in Texas to help solve the dental manpower maldistribution situation in the state. Many areas are simply oversaturated with dentists. Additionally, the cost of setting up a new practice is almost prohibitive with today's inflation and interest rates. Unless a community is supportive of a dental practice, the dentist may not be able financially to make ends meet.

Senior dental students will register with the National Health Professions Placement Network (NHPPN) and/or Texas Project M.E.D.I.H.C. services. The NHPPN is a computerized matching service made possible through funding from the American Dental Association Health Foundation and the W.K. Kellogg Foundation. Use of this service has improved the distribution of dentists/dental auxiliaries throughout the nation. The fee for this service is $35.00 to employer/community representatives and $15.00 to applicants seeking positions. The Texas Project M.E.D.I.H.C. is a state funded program sponsored by the University of Texas Health Science Center at Houston, School of Public Health. This matching service is free of charge for both the employer/community and the health professional. At the end of its first year of operation in June 1980, the NHPPN had received applications from more than 1400 dentists seeking positions as well as over 400 auxiliaries.

Account For Yourself

Romans 15:9 -- For to this end Christ both died and rose, and revived, that He might be Lord of the dead and living.

Verses 10: But why dost thou judge thy brother? Or why dost thou set at naught thy brother? For we shall all stand before the judgment seat of Christ.

Verses 11: For it is written, as I live saith the Lord, every knee shall bow to me, and every tongue shall confess to God.

Verses 12: So then every one of us shall give account of himself to God.

Each one will give account on the day of judgement, but we need to give account to ourself before that day to be ready for that day. Every day that goes by in our life we are another day closer to the coming of the Lord. Some people may think the coming of the Lord is afar off, but I feel his coming is soon.

I don't know the time nor do you, but the signs are coming to pass. Search your heart and make sure your ready.

What ever it takes to get ready, strive for it because it will be worth it all.
