- Garden Checklist for July
1. Water you lawn to keep it green when rainfall is short. Kill patches of crabgrass with post-emergence chemicals.
  2. Keep your lawn mower sharp. Dull mowers bruise turf instead of cutting uniformly, thus leaving unnecessary brownness. Buy a new file and sharpen the blade before each cutting.
  3. Control mildew on flowers with Funginex, Benomyl or folpet (phaltan) through September. Those most troubled are chrysanthemums, dahlias, delphiniums, phlox, zinnias, honeysuckle, ivy, lilac, privet and crape myrtle.
  4. Shake narrow-leaved evergreen branches over a piece of white paper to check for spider mites. Spray with Kelthane to control.
  5. Check lawn areas for grub worms. The time to bring them under control is in July and/or August depending on the area of the state in which you are located. The key to control is proper timing. Check with the entomologist in your area for the most effective time. The Extension entomologists recommend using either diazinon or dursban.
  6. If pyracantha, sycamore and elm leaves are taking a light tan appearance, look for lace bugs on the underside of the leaf. If control is needed, diazinon or malathion should do the job.
  7. Check the mulch in

8. Review the overall landscape and note any additions or changes needed that simplify the landscape this fall or winter.
9. Don't forget to water large leaved plants like hydrangea, coleus, caladiums and chrysanthemums. Even in shade the hot, dry wind can soon deplete the soil of moisture where these plants are grown.
10. Removal of spent flowers, trimming back excessive growth and applying fertilizer to an established annual bed can do wonders towards rejuvenation of the bed.
11. If your spring flowering bulbs produced small flowers that were few in number it was probably due to over-crowding. Now that the foliage has died down, it would be a good time to dig them up, thin out and throw away diseased, damaged or small bulbs. Work in organic matter and a complete fertilizer high in phosphorus and replant the best bulbs.
12. Have you checked your air conditioning unit? Refrigeration experts tell us the unit will be much more efficient if the condensing coils can be shaded

13. from the afternoon sun. a small tree or a lath structure would be very helpful.
14. Summer is not too late to plant colorful annuals, particularly if you are willing to purchase small plants rather than seed and to water well until the plants are well established. Plant hardy summer annuals such as vinca, salvia, zinnia, marigold, portulaca, nicotina and alyssum. Flowering annuals will increase their production, nicotina and alyssum. Flowering annuals will increase their production and beauty as summer gives way to fall.
15. To keep flowering annuals on the grow, remove the faded blooms often, which will induce more branching and more bloom. Seasonal flowering plants will profit, too, from an occasional feeding with a light application of ammonium sulfate fertilizer. Keep the fertilizer off of the foliage and flowers and never apply to dry soil. Water soil first then apply.
16. Be ready to enjoy your summer vacation by getting the yard ready for your absence.
17. Check mulch around azaleas and camellias. A loose coarse mulch material will aid in cooling root zone, conserve moisture and prevent compaction.
18. In North Texas, if you haven't done so, check lilac bushes and other spring flowering shrubs and thin out some of the old stems cutting them at the soil line. This encourages new canes to develop and

19. keeps the shrub lower to the ground. If the lawn is getting thin as the trees increase in size, you can either remove some of the lower branches, remove a few of the trees, or go to a shade tolerant groundcover such as English Ivy, lirope of vinca major.
20. Has the elm leaf beetle struck again? If so, maybe you should consider replacing them with non-susceptible species such as fruitless-mulberry, honeylocust, one of the many oaks, Chinese pistachio or Callery pear. Two elms that so far seem to be resistant are cedar elm, Ulmus crassifolia, native to Central Texas and the lacebark elm, Ulmus parvifolia.
21. Other gardening chores for July include: fertilizing strawberry plantings, once they have completed their current crop; selecting daylily varieties as they reach their peak of bloom; making cuttings of your favorite shrub or tree; controlling those persistent and hungry summer insects; fertilizing the rose garden; designing and constructing structural landscape features such as garden pools, walks, and patios...and the best of all, sitting back in your favorite lawn chair to enjoy the rewards of a long summer evening.

Applications Made To Rehabilitate Texas Railroad Track

The Railroad Commission has submitted two grant applications to the Federal Railroad Administration for a total of $3.48 million to rehabilitate 37.5 miles of railroad track in Texas.

The first application is for $1.19 million to rehabilitate 13.4 miles of track between Etter and Sunray. However, the application is conditional on the purchase of the track by TeCe Corp. from the trustee of the Rock Island rail line, which went bankrupt and is being liquidated.

Michael Calhoun, director of the Transportation Division's Rail Planning Section, told the Commission that TeCe acquisition of the former Rock Island line will restore vital rail service to an important wheat producing area in the Panhandle.

Nine grain elevators, which had been shipping approximately 425,000 tons of wheat each year by rail, have been without rail service for a year as the result of the Rock Island problem, he said. Consequently, Calhoun explained, the elevators are having to pay higher trucking costs to move wheat. Two elevators will close if the line is permanently abandoned, he added.

Other commodities shipped over the line were petroleum products, carbon black, anhydrous ammonia and livestock feedstuff.

TeCe is negotiating the purchase of a total of 74 miles of former Rock Island track between Etter and Hitchland, but not enough grant money is available to allow the Commission to assist in the rehabilitation of the entire length, Calhoun said.

Therefore, he added, the TeCe application is limited to the cost of fixing the 13.4 mile portion of the line on which 70 percent of the line's traffic begins or ends.

The second application is for $2.29 million to rehabilitate 24.1 miles of track between Dublin and Gorman now operated by Texas Central Railroad.

Calhoun advised that Texas Central does not have adequate financial reserves to fully rehabilitate the line, and continued delay of maintenance could result in abandonment.

He said the loss of rail service by Texas Central would cause 135 persons near Gorman to lose their jobs, as one firm would be forced out of business and another would have to cut production by 50 percent. Twelve other shippers on the line would have to pay greatly increased transportation costs, making their businesses noncompetitive in the marketplace.

Half of the peanut crop grown in Texas and Oklahoma is processed through facilities on the Texas Central line, Calhoun said.

The Local Rail Service Assistance Act of 1978 allows federal financial assistance for rehabilitating certain rail lines. Under the rail assistance program, each state is required to designate a state agency to prepare and implement a state rail plan. The Railroad Commission, the agency given the responsibility by the governor, completed the Texas State Rail Plan in 1979 and it was approved by the Federal Railroad Administration.

The Act requires each state's plan to focus on light-density branch lines that are being abandoned or are in danger of abandonment. Once the plan is approved by the FRA, the state is eligible to apply for federal grant funds to upgrade the endangered lines. The grant applications forwarded by the Commission today mark the third and fourth rehabilitation projects proposed by the Commission since it submitted the Texas Rail Plan.

The first project, a $1.7 million rehabilitation of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad Company's (MKT) Wichita Falls-Burkburnett line, began in late 1979 and was completed in October 1980. The second project, now underway, is a $2.6 million dollar upgrade of the MKT's line between Dallas and Carrollton. Benefits from these projects to Texas shippers and consumers are estimated to be $11.4 million.

Home Canning Makes Sense

With gardens flourishing, many consumers are attempting food preservation at home to save on food costs. While home canning may look simple, every detail requires careful attention.

If you do choose to can some vegetables, the Food Quality and Safety Committee of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, offers these important points:

--Before starting, contact your local county Extension office for the latest information.

--Use only high quality produce for best results.

--Be sure to have the pressure gauge on your pressure canner checked. Your local county Extension office usually has the equipment to provide this service.

--Also check gaskets and seals on your pressure canner.

--Follow directions to every detail; do not use your own times or pressures.

--All low-acid foods such as green beans, corn and potatoes must be processed in a pressure canner. Water bath methods are not adequate for proper preservation of low-acid foods. Firm, fresh tomatoes which are not over-ripe may be processed in a water bath.

--Use only approved canning techniques; processing in a microwave oven or conventional oven is not an approved method.

--Use only standard canning jars with lids and rings; old mayonnaise or peanut butter jars are not designed for home canning.

--Do not reuse lids.

--Do not use jars that are chipped or cracked.

--Do not overfill jars as this can cause a faulty seal.

--Be sure tops of jars are wiped clean before sealing.

--Avoid sudden pressure drops; wait until the pressure gauge is at zero before opening the lid.

--Be sure to allow for processing adjustments for those elevations over 1,000 feet; charts are available in canning guides.

--Avoid placing jars direct from the pressure canner onto cool surfaces; it's best to cool jars by placing them on a rack.

--Be sure to check all lids for a depression which indicates a good seal; products in jars without a good seal may be eaten immediately but should not be stored for later use.

Fireworks Pose Dangerous Threat

As the July Fourth weekend approaches, Texas Safety Association points out that fireworks, even hand-held sparklers, are dangerous and should not be handled by anyone but licensed pyrotechnicians.

Nelson Mueller, the volunteer safety organization's vice president for home and leisure activities, suggests that Texans enjoy "the rockets' red glare" and "bombs bursting in air" safely by attending community fireworks exhibitions supervised and controlled by professionals.

Mueller notes that nationwide 1,378 persons were injured by fireworks last July Fourth weekend. Most of these injuries occurred in one of four situations:

*Children using fireworks without adult supervision.

*Persons attempting to enhance effects by combining fireworks elements from several devices.

*Persons setting off devices inside building and starting fires.

*Persons, particularly teenagers, using fireworks to startle others.

Mueller adds that for those amateurs who insist on playing with fireworks, the following precautions should be taken:

*Follow the manufacturer's directions carefully.

*Never explode firecrackers in crowded public areas.

*Keep children and pets away from the firing areas.

*Never set off the devices near areas where flammable liquids are kept such as boats, garages or barbecue areas.

Brucellosis Committee Proposes Changes

The Brucellosis Committee of the U.S. Animal Health Association, meeting in Denver June 16, approved proposed changes in the Federal Brucellosis Eradication Program that would reduce testing requirements for the intrastate movement of cattle and would raise the acceptable herd infection rates for classification as A and B areas around the state. John S. Cargile, president of Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, testified in favor of the proposals on behalf of the Texas Cattle Raisers Association of the Texas cattle industry.

Brucellosis is a livestock disease that robs cattlemen and consumers of millions of dollars in lost beef production through cattle abortion and reduced calf crops.

The proposed amendments to the Uniform Methods and Rules of the Brucellosis program were sent to the USAHA subcommittee for change of ownership test requirements for further study and refinement. These changes will be reviewed at the fall meeting of USAHA and, if approved, can be incorporated into the UM RS before Jan. 1, 1982.

Cargile, who serves on the USAHA brucellosis committee from Texas, said that in Class B and C states, the new rules for intrastate movement would require one negative test and would not require additional testing. An educational program to encourage the voluntary retest of moving animals would be augmented at the same time.

Currently, the Western portion of Texas is classified as a Class A status and as a class A control area and the Eastern portion is in a Class B control status.

Under the USDA's proposed change in classification standards, Class A status would cover any state with one half of one percent or less accumulated 12-month herd infection rate. Class B status would cover any state with two percent or less herd infection rate, compared to the old rate of one percent or less. Class C status would encompass any state with a two percent infection rate or higher.

Cargile noted that Texas started an accelerated brucellosis program July 1, 1980, and that Texas cattlemen have given the new program excellent support and are trying to make it work.

"Cattlemen by and large are not enthusiastic about the brucellosis program but have accepted it and are cooperating because they have been convinced by the leadership that it is the best solution offered today to a tough problem," Cargile said.

The proposed rules for movement in the Class B and C areas originally set for Jan. 1, 1982, asked for multiple testing that cattlemen are not prepared to accept, he said.

The revisions supported by Cargile would reduce the burden on the cattlemen and encourage compliance with the program.

Cargile also told USAHA that the number of calves being vaccinated in Texas is rising rapidly with the availability of the reduced dose of Strain 19 vaccine. Implementation of the changes will further encourage cattlemen to continue calfhood vaccinations, an important step toward eradicating the disease.

Highway Department Plans Improvements

The State Highway and Public Transportation Commission has approved the 1982 Rehabilitation and State Highway Safety and Betterment and Farm to Market Road Improvement Program at an estimated cost of $218.9 million.

The program includes improvement and rehabilitation of 5,335.3 miles of state-maintained highways, in all, there are 892 separate projects in 214 counties of the state.

The work includes projects which will upgrade existing highways to handle heavier volumes of traffic.

enhance safety, reduce the amount and kind of maintenance necessary and to protect the large public investment in the highways of Texas.

The projects for Schleicher County include:

R.M. 846 from the Sutton County Line, Northeast a distance of 3.0 miles, seal coat.

R.M. 1828 from U.S. 190 to R.M. 915, a distance of 16.3 miles, seal coat.

R.M. 2596 from the Sutton County Line, Northwest a distance of 2.0 miles, seal coat.

Students On Texas Tech Honor Roll

More than 5,200 students at Texas Tech University qualified for the dean's honor rolls in the six colleges during the 1981 spring semester.

They include three Eldorado residents. They are: Dominick C. Cavouti of Big Lake Highway, Carl G. Igo of Eldorado, and Jeanie S. Nicholson of Eldorado.

To qualify for a dean's honor roll a student must have a grade point average of 3.0 or more on a 4.0 scale and must have taken at least 12 semester hours of work.

Texas Tech has an enrollment of more than 23,000 students in six colleges: Agricultural Sciences, Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Education, Engineering and Home Economics.

Goodfellow AFB Celebrates 40th Anniversary

Military units marching in review, rededication ceremonies with senators making flowery speeches, former pilot training classes getting together with former commanders, old and new aircraft standing on static display and fireworks exploding over San Angelo -- All this and more will commemorate Goodfellow's 40th Anniversary.

Goodfellow AFB will open its gates to the public July 4 to celebrate its 40th anniversary with an open house.

Construction of Goodfellow Field actually began in mid-August 1940, to handle the overflow of pilot trainees at Randolph, AFB, Texas. The first class of cadets arrived in February 1941, but formal dedication ceremonies were not held until July 4, 1941.

Goodfellow's celebration will begin at 9 a.m. with a military parade on the flightline. The ceremonies then shift to the headquarters building where at 10 a.m. Goodfellow will be rededicated 40 years after the original ceremony.

Senator John Tower and Congressman Tom Loeffler will be the keynote speakers for the ceremony.

At 10:40 a.m. a flyover of Confederate Air Force aircraft is scheduled, followed by static displays of aircraft that were flown at GAFB over the years. There will also be some aircraft from the Air Force's present inventory on display.

Instructors from the usually heavily-restricted school of cryptological science will conduct tours through the school house from 1 to 3 p.m. Bus tours of the entire base will also be available.

All the former wing commanders of Goodfellow have been invited to attend the festivities, and several have indicated they will attend. There will also be class reunions of several pilot training classes.

There will be many other exhibits which will be open until 4 p.m. The base festivities terminate downtown with a fireworks display over Santa Fe Park at 9 p.m.

CAUGHT IN THE RAIN-- Mrs. Ello Wilde got caught in the rain last Thursday and tried to save a sack of cow feed in the back of her pickup. However, it wasn't her day, as the sack broke and spilled feed out on the wet pavement. However, she did succeed in saving most of the sack before it was ruined. It wasn't good news for wheat farmers, either, as they were trying desperately to harvest the rest of a record crop.

Warning On Fireworks Issued

With Independence Day approaching the Texas Society to Prevent Blindness is once again issuing what has become its annual warning: "Don't Play with Fireworks; They are not Toys!"

"Fireworks are dangerous projectiles that injure thousands of Americans each year," says R.E. Margo, M.D., State Medical Chairman of the Society.

"Last year alone 9,400 people were treated in hospital emergency rooms for fireworks caused injuries, 1,700 of these injuries to the eyes, a regrettable increase of nearly 40 percent over the number reported the preceding year. The figures, moreover, represent only a fraction of the problem because they don't include injuries treated in doctor's offices or those admitted directly into the hospital."

"The sale of fireworks is illegal in many Texas cities," Dr. Margo noted, "but efforts to extend the law statewide have been stalled. The 1981 Legislature passed a bill which limits the amount of explosives allowed in fireworks, but does not restrict their sale."

"This means that the same eye-damaging fireworks, especially bottle and sky rockets, will once again be available in Texas. And contrary to what salesmen may claim, there is no such thing as a 'safe' firecracker. Even sparklers, which are often thought of as harmless, can sizzle at temperatures over 1500 degrees. A burn to the eye at that temperature can impair sight for a long time, even for a lifetime."

"The Texas Society to Prevent Blindness" directs its July Fourth warning to parents in particular," Dr. Margo stressed, "because youngsters under 19 yearly suffer two-thirds of all reported injuries. Most of the accidents also occur at home, an environment that parents can control."

To keep the Fourth the happy holiday it is meant to be, the Society urges parents not to purchase fireworks this year.

"Take the family instead to a safe, licensed public display," Dr. Margo concluded.

The Texas Society to Prevent Blindness is an affiliate of the National Society to Prevent Blindness, the oldest voluntary health agency nationally engaged in preventing blindness through community service programs, public and professional education and research.

Carnival Is A Rare Treat

West Texas' rarest treat, the annual Fort Stockton Water Carnival, will again delight visitors to the city July 16-18.

The water extravaganza featured on an "Eyes of Texas" episode after the 1980 show, is a spectacle all summer in the making.

This year, Neptune, king of the sea world, comes to rescue two young survivors of a sinking ship as the show opens at historic Comanche Springs' olympic-sized swimming pool.

STATEMENT OF INTENT TO CHANGE RATES

General Telephone Company of the Southwest, in accordance with the Rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the Company's intent to implement a new schedule of rates in Texas effective October 1, 1981.

On April 28, 1981, the Public Utility Commission of Texas issued its order in Docket 3690, creating a separate Docket 3861 to consider the impact and effect of the accounting changes ordered by the Federal Communications Commission (CC Docket 79-105).

The Federal Communications Commission has changed the method of accounting for inside wiring costs associated with the one-time station connection, move, or change activity. The new rate schedule will increase the Company's gross annual revenue derived from local service by no more than three percent. The schedule of rates and charges is available for inspection at each Company business office in the State of Texas.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas effective July 21, 1981, unless otherwise determined by the Commission.

It is expected that the requested rate schedule will furnish a 15.8 percent increase in the company's intrastate revenues.

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas.

Notice to Customers of Other Telephone Companies

The filing includes, but is not limited to, proposals to increase rates for interexchange private line and foreign exchange (FX) service. Changes in such rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies because such companies provide interexchange private line and foreign exchange service in accordance with rates specified in Southwestern Bell's tariffs.

Aviso Público

Southwestern Bell, en conformidad a las reglas del Public Utility Commission (Comisión de Servicios Públicos) de Texas, por la presente hace saber su intención de establecer un nuevo arancel para servicio de teléfono en Texas con vigencia a partir del 21 de Julio de 1981, a menos que la Comisión haga otra determinación.

Se espera que el nuevo arancel que se ha solicitado rendirá un aumento de 15.8 por ciento en los ingresos intraestatales de la compañía.

Una copia completa del nuevo arancel se ha archivado en las oficinas del Public Utility Commission en Austin, Texas, al igual que en cada municipalidad afectada y servida por Southwestern Bell, y cada una de las oficinas de la compañía para negocios con el público en Texas tiene una copia para lectura pública.

Aviso a los Clientes de Otras Compañías de Teléfono

El registro incluye, pero no se limita a, propuestas para aumentar las tarifas para servicio de línea privada entre centrales telefónicas (interexchange private line) y servicio de central telefónica extranjera (foreign exchange FX). Cambios en dichas tarifas de servicio también afectarían a clientes de otras compañías de teléfono porque dichas compañías proveen los servicios ya mencionados en conformidad a tarifas especificadas por Southwestern Bell.
