

"Bryant" Well-Known Mother To Children

"Bryant" and her children

Keeping ten or twelve or even more children each day would make many people shudder, but to Mrs. E. R. Bryant that has been a way of life for about 28 years.

"Bryant" as she prefers to be called, is going on her second generation of children. In fact, she has lost count of the number of children she has kept through the years.

"My first three children were Prissy Linticum (Paxton), Joe Charles Christian and Lynn Meador," she recalls, adding, "and Nancy Thompson was the first school teacher I kept a child for." And now she is keeping Mrs. Paxton's and Meador's children. But after that, she says she has lost count of the number of children she has kept.

In the beginning, Bryant's daughter warned her that she would be hurt when the parents would not need her to keep their children any more. "And she was nothing but right," Bryant said with a tear in her eye. "And it still hurts every time I lose one, even if it is just for the summer."

Until about five years ago, she kept children without a state license or a fence around her yard. "I kept children for 20 years without a license and didn't think I needed it, but the state did," she said. At that same time, she added a chain link fence around her yard.

"I still don't like fences," she will tell you. "I would rather tell the children where they can and where they cannot play and watch them. I never had one to run out in the street while I was keeping them."

Watching Bryant working with her children is amazing. She knows where each one of them is and what he is doing at all times. She is always cool and calm and perhaps that is why they are all so well behaved while they are at "Bryants."

Each child knows where to play, where to sit and where to take his nap and each knows not to argue with Bryant because "what she says goes."

Because of the state license the 78 year old woman is unable to keep as many children as she wants to, and as a result, she is swamped with calls from mothers to keep their children because there is such a shortage of women keeping children in Eldorado.

"I just love children," she will tell you. "I wish I could keep them all."

Bryant follows several rules at her house. "I always give a child two minutes to obey a command because it takes that long for them to understand. And I never pick one up without giving them a love spat and a kiss. She is also extra careful to follow any directions mothers give her about their children.

She is famous for her muffins which she makes several times a week and any child who has ever stayed with her never forgets their delicious taste.

Bryant not only keeps children for working mothers, but she has also kept children during funerals and weddings. "I was just glad to help out," she will say refusing any payment.

Bryant also keeps the nursery at First Baptist Church each Sunday. During the Mother's Day service this year, Rev. Don Williford, pastor, asked Bryant to come to the service. He asked Mrs. Bryant to stand and then asked each member who had left any of their children with her to stand. "And almost everyone in the audience stood up," she said with a laugh.

Williford added that Bryant had not only been a mother to her own two children but to the town because she has kept so many children. He couldn't have said it any better.

Independence Day Dance Is A Big Success

About 136 square dancers attended the El Dorado Kountry Cousins square dance held at the new Quadra building Saturday night. Representing 15 area towns, they danced to the calling of Dick Parrish of Hobbs, N.M.

Towns represented include Uvalde Hamlin, Del Rio, Odessa, Sonora, San Angelo, Snyder, Eagle Pass, Ballinger, Brady, Abilene, Crane, Kerrville, Alpine and Coleman.

Three other callers, Dub McDaniels of San Angelo, Bill Prichard of Eagle Pass and Roger Boroff of Del Rio also attended.

After the dance, the dancers were served barbecue, beans, salads and deserts prepared by the local club.

This is the second year the Kountry Cousins have hosted an Independence Day Square Dance in Eldorado.

Fashion Revue and Craft Show Being Held Today

Schleicher County 4-H'ers will show off what they learned in sewing projects this summer during the annual 4-H Dress Revue and Craft Show in the Memorial Building today.

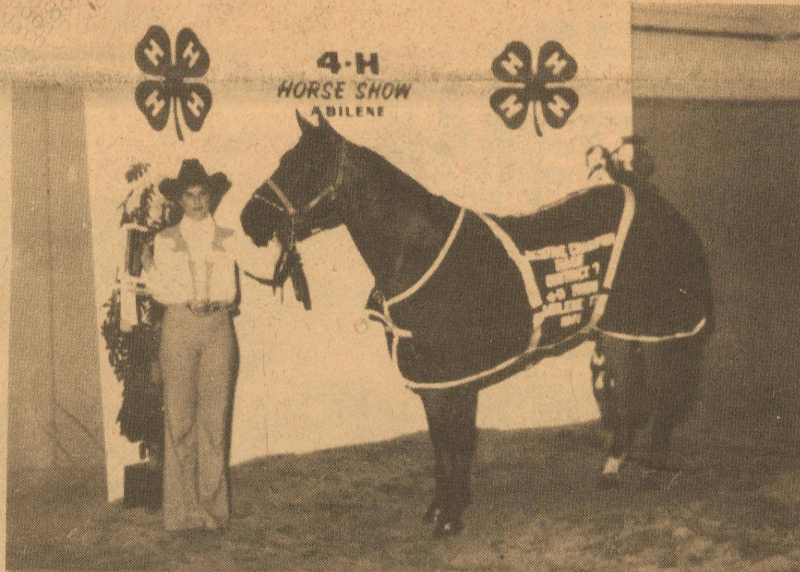

They will model their garments for judges at 9:30 a.m. and practice modeling at 10:30 a.m. Construction judging will be at 11 a.m. and the style show and award presentations will be at 2 p.m.

The craft show will be held in conjunction with the dress revue.

County extension agent Nancy Lester is in charge of arrangements. Sherry Lux, Glenda McCarron and Karen Henderson are providing refreshments and Janelle Hausenfluck, Lou Ann Turner and Gloria Kent are in charge of decorations.

Winners of the beginner, intermediate and senior dress revue divisions will be advancing to the district revue in Abilene July 28.

Sub-juniors are also competing in the county revue.

Ruthie Dacy Honored At Local Nursing Home

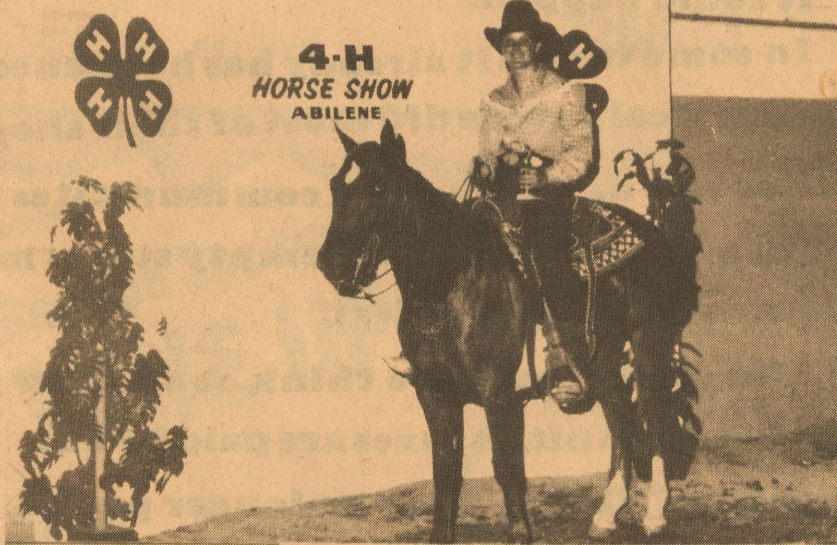

It was an emotional party Monday night as members of the hospital auxiliary hosted a fare well party for nursing home activities director Ruthie Dacy who has resigned after ten years of service.

Hadden Ellis and his wife entertained nursing home residents with several lively tunes. Also entertaining were several employees, Patsy Hutcherson, Mary McKinney, Rita Reeves and Maxine Locklin. They presented a medley of songs and then a humorous song they wrote just for Mrs. Dacy.

Mrs. Dacy has been in charge of activities for nursing home patients and such as field trips, parties and games since she went to work at the facility.

"I really hate to leave these people at the home," she said quietly, adding, "I have really enjoyed working with them."

Nursing home patients and auxiliary members returned the feeling, saying they were really sorry to see the activities director leave.

Seven 4-H'ers Going To State Horse Show

Seven Eldorado youngsters will be going to the state 4-H Horse Show next week after winning top honors during the district show in Abilene June 26.

Cindy and Jeffrey Hausenfluck will compete in the regular horse show after they showed the reserve champion mare and the champion gelding, respectively.

Cindy Hausenfluck, Shanna Swift and Mary Lisa O'Harrow will compete in the open division of the Western Pleasure futurity.

Patti Hausenfluck and Jay O'Harrow will show yearling fillies while Shanna Swift shows a horse in the yearling gelding futurity.

Kirk Griffin will compete in the tie-down calf roping and breakaway calf roping in the open division.

In the district show, Wendy Dunagan showed a fourth place registered young gelding and Jay O'Harrow showed a third place futurity yearling filly. Craig Griffin placed fourth in the open breakaway roping and Patti Hausenfluck showed the second place age registered mare. Shanna Swift placed third in the Western Pleasure futurity for two year olds and Kirk Griffin was fourth in the tie down calf roping.

WHAT IF ALL THE STORES IN ELDORADO CLOSED DOWN?

It could happen.

In some towns it already has happened... because local people did most of their shopping OUT of town. We know of communities with lots of empty stores. And, empty stores means less tax support...a lot less!

Did you ever stop to think about how much of our community's taxes are paid by our businesses? If they were no longer paying their share, think how much MORE your taxes would increase to pay for essential local services.

If they no longer made charitable donations to groups to which you belong, how much MORE would YOU pay? A healthy business community benefits everyone. Shop here at home in Eldorado--IT MAKES SENSE.

Reports from Washington

A LOOK AT BLOCK GRANTS

As Congress begins its final deliberations on President Reagan's Program for Economic Recovery, a new jargon and a new philosophy have found their way into the language of budget legislation. Phrases like "Bipartisan Coalitions" and "Boll Weevils" have become familiar as the Congress considers the President's proposals to balance the Federal budget.

And for the first time in decades, a President at the beginning of his administration has brought forth a comprehensive program to restore to state and local governments control over Federally-funded programs. Even though this philosophy is as old as the Constitution itself, decentralization of Federal authority is one of the most controversial aspects of the President's program. It also defines a philosophy of New Federalism to which both President Reagan and I are firmly committed. Without this commitment to share power with the state and local governments, I believe that neither you nor I will be able to control the rampant bureaucracy that takes a larger chunk of our paychecks each year. When we, the taxpayers, pay nearly one-fourth of each of our paychecks to the Federal government in 1981, the time for a government slowdown is now!

One of the key components of the President's economic package and a practical application of the New Federalism philosophy is the block grant concept. In simple language, under the block grant proposals Congress provides general funds to state and local governments for use in broad functional areas. The goal of block grants is not just to lump programs together in the name of administrative simplicity, but to decentralize control as well. The real beauty of block grants is the diffusion of general control over locally-administered programs. For it is only at the local levels that the consequences of problems are most and most obvious, motivation to solve them most direct, and the benefits from action most immediate.

Earlier this year, President Reagan proposed legislation that would consolidate nearly 100 individual education, health and social services programs into eight block grants. The block grant concept cuts costs by eliminating Federal administrative overhead. And the less money we spend supporting the bureaucracy, the more money we can deliver to those who really need a helping hand. The block grant proposal is included in the budget reconciliation package now before Congress. At a time when we are trying to reduce Federal spending in a fair and equitable fashion in all areas, it only makes sense to streamline program administration and give the state and local governments some freedom to target funds to areas of need.

Let's take a look at the proposed education block grant. Nearly all professional educators and public administrators agree that there are too many small-scale, highly-specialized programs coming out of the Department of Education which allocated $5.6 billion in 1981. Nearly half of these programs accounted for less than $100 million. For example, a $1.8 million metric education program requires a fully-staffed Washington office to prepare and review applications, set standards and administer the local programs long-distance.

The Reagan block grant proposal would provide two block grants for all education programs — one for state educational funding and the other for programs for disadvantaged children. President Reagan's block grant proposals seem to me to be the most efficient method of providing Federal money to the state and local governments. The states still operate under broad national guidelines, but with a measure of discretion and control that was lost years ago to Big Government.

The Congress has already approved a multi-billion dollar budget cut, though the exact figures are yet to be decided upon. If President Reagan's package is fully implemented, the flexibility of block grants will allow government services at the local levels to meet local needs. For once, local officials will be able to decide which programs are most important to their area and their people. This time citizens and local governments won't be disenfranchised — it will be the Federal bureaucracy.

Cattle Information Is Needed

The Texas Animal Health Commission and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station are seeking information from the state's livestock producers and cattle auction markets to assist in a cost-benefit study for the Texas brucellosis program.

Two thousand cattlemen and 161 livestock auction markets are being contacted by mail in this effort.

"We are seeking information which we can incorporate into the Texas brucellosis program to make it more practical for the cowman," Dr. John Holcombe, executive director, Texas Animal Health Commission, explained.

on movement of beef breeding cattle and dairy cows and heifers. "This, too, will be held in confidence; individual firm information will not be identified," he said. When the information has been received and analyzed, programs can be devised to assist the Texas Animal Health Commission in implementing the state's brucellosis program. Questionnaires have been mailed to those involved. "We want to thank those who will take the time to provide this information. We hope all producers and auction market operators will cooperate," Dr. Holcombe said.

Marketing firms are being asked to provide data received will be handled in a confidential manner; individual operations will not be identified," Dr. Holcombe explained.

Of the 2,000 livestock producers, half of them will involve quarantined herds for beef and dairy. "One of the major areas of concern involves the management characteristics, herd health practices, herd health practices, and cattle movement data of both quarantined and non-quarantined livestock. Information which is received will be handled in a confidential manner; individual operations will not be identified," Dr. Holcombe explained.

Alien Held For Theft

Lupe Rodriguez, an illegal alien, is being held in Schleicher County Jail after being arrested and charged with theft of a pickup Saturday night. Rodriguez allegedly stole a 1975 Chevrolet pickup belonging to Charles Kellogg. He was arrested in Terling Green county Saturday night and returned to Eldorado Sunday.

Prepare Landscape Before Vacation

Preparing the Landscape by Ted Fisher
 Travis Co. Horticulturist
 Now that summer has arrived, you're probably thinking about that summer vacation. If you're planning to take an extended vacation now or later this summer, be sure your landscapes left unattended and uncared for several weeks can be virtually ruined by our summer sun, wind and heat.
 Just a little extra effort on your part before leaving can make a big difference in the health and well-being of your plants. Here are some practical tips which should help to ensure that your home landscape will not suffer the "post vacation blues."
 1. Water the home grounds well prior to leaving. Soak your lawn, garden and all landscape plants deeply. Our shallow soils can dry out rapidly even after heavy watering, so if you'll be gone over 5-7 days, plan to have a neighbor hook up your hose and do a little supplemental watering.

 2. Mow your lawn a day or two before you leave. Use the same cutting height that you normally do. Don't lower the mower blade for a "closer shave."
 Doing so could easily cause sun scald and damage.
 If you plan to be gone more than a week, it would be an excellent idea to arrange to have a neighbor mow the lawn for you. Also, have them pick up papers if the paper boy forgets. Unmowed lawns and a collection of old newspapers in the yard is a dead give-away that no one is home.

 3. Prune hedges and other plants likely to get rangy by the time you return. Cutting back annual flowers and applying additional fertilizer will have them well on their way to another flowering cycle by the time you return.
 4. Mulch to help conserve valuable moisture needed for plant growth whether you are home or away. Choose a clean mulch, free of weed seed, and one which will remain loose and well aerated. Consider dried grass clippings, pine bark, compost, or a variety of other organic materials. Mulching will also reduce or eliminate the weeding problem.

5. Check carefully and spray for insects and disease problems if present to prevent a build-up of pests during your absence.

6. A build-up of growth while you are away will be difficult to manage on your return.

7. Take lawn and garden equipment to the repair shop for any needed repairs. They'll have it ready when you return.

8. Harvest all ripe or nearly ripe fruit and vegetables. If you'll be gone over a week arrange for a friend to pull and use the produce. You may want to ask them to save a few for you just before you return.

Railroad Commission Sets Production Rate

The Texas Railroad Commission recently set the Texas oil production rate for July at 100 percent for the 53rd month in a row. Buyers wanted to purchase 2,558,000 barrels a day during July.
 The month's permissible rate of output is calculated to average 3.5 million barrels a day with actual production estimated at about 2.5 million barrels each day. The maximum allowable applies to all but ten fields in Texas that are assigned lower legal rates of flow for conservation purposes. Actual production in July of last year was

2.5 million barrels a day. There have been several articles written lately about oil prices remaining stable for a period of up to three years. May we quickly say don't count on it. The present oversupply of oil in the world was engineered by Saudi Arabia and can be stopped almost at will. In fact, some reports say the Saudis have already begun a cutback in production. The Saudis are currently producing about 3.5 million barrels a day more than their target of approximately 6.5 million barrels. The 3.5 million is almost exactly the amount of the glut now on the world market. By raising oil prices, OPEC countries have succeeded in making it profitable once again to look for oil in the U.S. and in forcing people to cut back on the use of petroleum products.

 Don't be surprised if the glut disappears early next year and prices start back up.
 And, the special session of the Texas Legislature, set to begin July 13th, will deal with property taxes. We'll keep a close eye on any changes that might affect the industry.
 The Permian Basin rig count last week was 450. One year ago it was 325.

SELF-CONTROL CAN BE THE SMARTEST THING YOU DO THIS SUMMER...

Self-control can be the smartest thing you do this summer. Sometimes you have to cut down on the things you like, that takes self-control. Self-control is important when you indulge in too many calories or when you over cool your home. It can be rough on your pocketbook if you set your thermostat too low on hot summer days. WTU recommends setting your thermostat at 78 degrees or higher. Clean or replace your air conditioner filter at least once a month so your unit will operate as efficiently as possible.

Forlano, Thoma Wed June 20

Viki Anna Forlano became the bride of Ronald Jeffrey Thoma on June 20 in Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church with the Rev. Deacon Manuel Maldonado of San Angelo officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Albert J. Forlano of Eldorado and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Thoma of San Angelo.

The bride was escorted to the altar by both of her parents, attired in her mother's Alencon lace wedding gown. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and lillies of the valley.

The bride was preceded down the aisle by her niece, Anna Loomis of Houston and her sister, Gina Loomis of Houston who was her matron of honor.

John Downing of Midland was best man. Seating guests were Rusty Thoma of Houston and Randy Thoma of Fort Worth, the bridegroom's brothers.

Altar attendants were Rico Forlano, the bride's brother and Ryan Thomas brother and Ryan Thoma of San Angelo, the bridegroom's brother.

Wedding music was provided by Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Melone of San Angelo.

A wedding reception for the family and close friends was held in the church hall following the ceremony.

The bride is a 1979 graduate of Eldorado High School and a junior pre-medicine major at Angelo State University. Her husband is a 1977 graduate of San Angelo Central High School and is a 1981 graduate of ASU. He is an accountant employed by the L.J. Barnes CPA firm in San Angelo, where the couple will live.

Jerry Lackey's Country Folk

There was always something special about the Mason County watermelons that melt in your mouth. It could be the rich red sandy soil they grow in or the extra hot summer days...no one knows for sure nor do they care as long as the farmers of the Hill Country area keep growing melons!

I was driving through the country roads down around Streeter, Kamecy and Fredonia last week. Where I didn't see watermelon patches; there were peanuts and all looked well and prospering.

"The peanuts are coming along fine," said Logan Stevens. "This is the first year I can ever remember not irrigating the peanuts before the fourth of July." Logan's father-in-law, Baxter spoke up: "We always watered them a few times by now."

Rains throughout Mason County have been regular since early spring. It is a most unusual year.

Over in Menard County, I bumped in John Powell in the Menard National Bank. He recorded 1.20 inches on his ranch last week and said the clouds moved on to the Martin Ranch and dumped 3 inches.

Aubrey Kothmann, who ranches in Kimbie and Mason counties, says he has no complaints concerning the weather or the grass cover. "Our rains have come just right."

But cattle prices are off some and the concern was obvious at the quarterly directors meeting of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Assoc- tion in San Angelo. "There was the non-government, an undertone during the industry self-help program. two days of sessions in June," said Lee Hudgins of Sherman. "The time is right for more aggressive beef promotion," said R.L. Bliss, president of Texas Cattle Feeders Association.

John Cardile of San Angelo, president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association stated: "It's not enough just to say beef is good for you, we have to prove it."

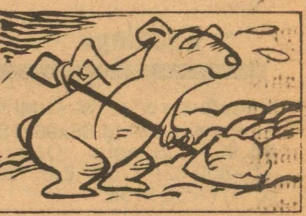

Started officially July 1, Texas cattle markets and packers are deducting 25 cents per head on sale of cattle and calves. This voluntary investment by Texas beef producers and feeders will stimulate and support national beef promotion, research and education programs conducted by the Beef Industry Council of the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

Five Texas organizations have joined forces to back Roy Wheeler, president of Independent Cattlemen's Association of Texas, said "We can help consumers to be better beef buyers."

Between now and the time beef promotion really gets rolling again, lets eat some Mason County watermelons in the good old summertime!

prizes were given. Evelyn Stigler, pianist, and Alice Van Horn, violinist, provided musical entertainment. Refreshments were served to all who attended.

Library Books Are Still Being Sold

The Library Board is still offering several books for sale after their Book and Bake Sale recently. The books can be found in the reading room during normal library hours, Monday through Friday.

The board met July 1 and reported making $572.45 from the sale. They are expressing thanks to all of those who helped by doinating food and buying books. Story hour at the library, for children four and five years old, is from 4-5 p.m. each Monday.

Awarding of certificates for the reading program will be July 31. Ada Howard, coordinator for the Big Country Library, will show films for children and adults on this program and make awards.

Society Plans Repair Work On Local Museum

Members of the Schleicher County Historical Society met Monday and approved a motion to do repair work on the museum building. Repair work will be done on the floor and other places.

The society sold twelve story books during the month of June.

Members reported that the historical markers on the highway had been put back up. They also reported the 105 visitors that went through the museum during the open house held in conjunction with Mias Amigas.

Memorials were given in memory of Billy Gene Edmiston, Ella Miller, Mrs. John McCormick.

Present at the meeting were Mable Freitag, Frankie Williams, Ruth Baker, Ola Ruth Barbee, Hubert Graves, Dick Bearce and one guest, Shelia Safford.

SONORA PRICES ARE LOWER!

For months you've been bombarded through the tube and the daily paper with the idea that you can go to San Angelo or Abilene, and get a better automobile deal than you can get in Sonora....

The city dealers pay the same factory price we do... There the differences become great.

We're out of the high-rent district. We keep our operating costs low... and we pass these savings on to you!!!
