MATRIMONIAL TANGLE

One of the strangest matrimonial mix-ups on record is reported from Pittsburgh. John Murphy and Frances Jones wanted to get married, but on account of Murphy's extremely youthful appearance he feared to apply for a marriage license, so a friend named Lefflingwell volunteered to secure the coveted document in Murphy's name, which was done.

To complete his good turn, Lefflingwell also went through the marriage ceremony with Miss Jones, representing himself to be Murphy, then turned the happy bride and wedding certificate over to Murphy and called it a day. Later on, meditating no doubt over his friend's happiness, Lefflingwell took unto himself a bride of his own, but their matrimonial bark soon went upon the rocks of incompatibility and a divorce was the result. Meditating again, Lefflingwell was reminded that he had really been married to the supposed Mrs. Murphy, confronted her with the fact, and suggested that she fly with him. She flew. Tiring, Lefflingwell flew again, but alone. In the meantime, Murphy has also disappeared.

Now Mrs. Murphy, or it may be Mrs. Lefflingwell, if either, finds herself in a predicament and is asking these questions: Has she a husband at all? Or has she two? Or if only one, which? And why?

Although a bolt of lightning wrecked the bed on which she was sleeping and set it on fire, Mrs. Julius Adams of St. Petersburg, Fla., was uninjured.

J. W. Reid of Dallas had a color movie made of an operation he recently underwent which he exhibits to any one who wishes to see it.

A large Persian cat, valued at $250, jumped from the care of tourists at Brooklyn, Ia., and the family stayed over two days until it was found.

Arthur Steinberger of Paterson N. J., tried to pull an aching tooth with a pair of pliers. After pulling the wrong one he sought a dentist.

Albert Sanders, an amusement park employee at Indianapolis, was sent for $20 worth of nickels. He returned with $16 worth of pickles, saying that was all he could find.

AUSTIN—Oil continued to occupy the center of attention in Austin at the week-end, as the end of the 5-day shutdown by Texas and five other oil-producing states, controlling 65 percent of U.S. production, neared.

Hearings on application of the Humble to increase its allowable in East Texas by 45 percent were closed during the week, as experts offered opposing formulas for prorating that world's largest oil field. Humble sought a higher allowable under authority of a Federal court order, but did not advocate an overall increase for the field. One group of independents sought a higher overall allowable for the entire field. Other independents advanced varying theories for allocating production among wells in the field. The Railroad Commission closed the hearing, agreed to hear arguments later, and turned its attention to the September statewide hearing, which was scheduled for Monday.

Commissioner Ernest Thompson, who is also chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact has called a special meeting of the compact, at the same time, to discuss probable continuance of the shutdown, unless price cutting by certain majors—the real cause of the shutdown—are rescinded meanwhile. Several small independent crude buyers in Texas and other producing states have already rescinded the 20 to 32 cents a barrel slash which brought on the trouble. Meanwhile there were rumors a special session of the Illinois legislature may be called to enact a proration law. Illinois, running 300,000 barrels daily of unprorated oil, has been a major factor in the market disturbance which has upset the industry.

Etex Pressure Rises
With a world war threatening again, and crude stocks reported who has taken the lead in the East Texas field was reported by Thompson to have jumped over 31 pounds during the shutdown. This he said, is a distinct contribution to conservation, and will prolong life of many producing wells materially.

The red-headed commissioner, who has taken the lead in the fight precipitated by the mid-continent crude price cuts, threw another curve at the major price-cutters, when he drew up an order for a hearing on pipe-line rates, dated tentatively Sept 7, and cited sworn reports of major pipe-line companies, showing $400,000,000 of net profits in nine years as evidence of need for a review of pipeline rates, and of justification for his advocacy of a 5-cent a barrel tax on pipeline-transported oil. He would use the revenue for pensions and other social security measures. Thompson also promised independent refiners short of crude the Commission would seek to obtain crude for them to operate with "thus testing their good faith in the matter of reducing their stocks."

Mann's Rulings
Attorney General Gerald Mann handed down two important rulings during the week. First, he held Gov. O'Daniel's veto of appropriations for eight examiners employed by the Life Insurance Commission did not prevent the Commission from appealing to the Board of Control for power to re-employ these inspectors, who are paid out of funds assessed against the insurance companies for supervision purposes.

A bitter blow to 300 University of Texas students was Mann's second ruling, holding that part-time jobs for students by state departments are not authorized. It has been customary to create a single job, then divide the work and the pay between two or three students, each working part of the day. This makes many friends for the politicians who give out the jobs, and also enables many students to get work to help pay their college expenses. Mann pointed authority for "splitting" the jobs was left out of the detailed appropriation bills, and the practice could not legally be continued.

Appointments
Appointments recently made by Gov. O'Daniel indicated that there is no great difference between the way it is done in business, and the way it has always been done in politics. The Governor named F. C. Branson, building and loan association executive of Galveston, state banking commissioner. Branson was employed by the Maco Stewarts, and reportedly had two years of a three-year contract yet to fill. His compensation as Banking Commissioner is $5,000. The Maco Stewart interests have been ardent and enthusiastic friends and advisors of the Governor since election. Mrs. Ella Mae Murphy, of Corpus Christi, an employe of the Board of Cosmetology, which licenses and supervises beauty shops, was named a member of the board, succeeding Mrs. P. A. Houston of Henderson. Mrs. Murphy, described as a highly capable employe of the board, is also the sister of a prominent public utility lobbyist, who led an active fight among the special interests group to pass S.J.R. No. 12, the Governor's sales tax constitutional amendment at the regular session. Leon, the governor's banjo-picking foil on his radio program, is fulfilling his duties in a new position as disbursement officer of the Texas National Guard. He is stationed at Camp Mabry, easily available for the Sunday morning radio broadcast.

IMAGINE a mountain of dollars—45 million of them! That is the cold cash invested in Electric Service facilities required to serve some 51,000 homes, business concerns and industries now on this company's 46,000 square-mile network of lines in West Texas.

A large part of this $45,000,000 was attracted to West Texas from outside. All of it is invested in three big power plants having a total capacity of 65,000 horsepower of electric energy, 2,700 miles of major transmission lines, 2,400 miles of distribution lines, and the many, many other items of equipment necessary to maintain modern electric service.

ALL the people profit from this investment. Electric rates have dropped over 70 per cent since this company built the first transmission line in West Texas. Taxes paid to support city, county, state and federal governments and to build schools, highways, parks, etc., amount to $9.75 per residential customer each year. Power plants each day consume 9,398,000 cubic feet of natural gas—making this company the largest individual consumer of one of West Texas' greatest natural resources. Hundreds of men and women are given employment. Other hundreds are small investors. So widespread are the benefits derived from Electric Service that ALL the people profit.

City Council Will Publish Periodical Financial Statements

The Stratford City Council is making preparations for periodical publications of the financial condition of the City in the Stratford Star to furnish information for tax payers. Reports have been completed for the first financial statement and publication will follow soon after members of the City Council return home from vacations.

Sale To Utilities Profitable

One of the most profitable moves made during the last few years was the sale of the City water and light plants to the West Texas Utilities Company, the report shows. Funds derived from the sale of the City property which have been placed on time deposit have paid all the utility expenses of the City and have cleared approximately $2,000,000 for the City since the plant was sold. The sale is also partially credited with lowering of the City tax from $1.65 to its present status of 80 cents. Tax exempt property which was sold to the West Texas Utilities pays some of the heaviest taxes to both the City and the local school of any in Stratford.

Crab No. 1 Test Abandoned

The Shamrock No. 1 in Moore County, the I. F. O. P.

The City of Stratford now has transmission line electric service. The first transmission line in West Texas was built by this company in 1914 and extended 16.2 miles from Abilene to Merkel. By giving better service at lower cost, it made obsolete the small, isolated light plant of that day and time and gave birth to a new industry that serves all the people.

Eldorado Churches Bid You WELCOME!

A Message By Rev. C. T. Aly, Pastor of The First Baptist Church

STANDING FOR GOD

Judges 7:15-21.
Ephesians 6:13-17.

In the seventh chapter of Judges and the twenty-first verse we have a very significant statement, "and they stood every man in his own place, around about the camp and all the hosts ran, and cried, and fled." Two or three things that would be well to note about these Gideonites are: First, they faced a challenging task, a task that claimed the attention of every man. Not only did it claim the attention but the cooperation of every man was given. Second, they were organized to win. Where could there be more beautiful organization than that of Gideon in his army going against the Midianites? Even though the Midianites outnumbered Gideon and his forces, they didn't have the organization that was necessary to put over the work. Gideon had only three hundred men but he had them so organized as to encircle his enemy. One has only to look at his organization to find the importance of the same to this important task. Another thing that would be important to note here as they faced their challenging task of conquering the Midianites with well organized forces is that they followed their leader. Gideon was the leader. He gave the orders that brought about desired results. His army looked to him for leadership. No wonder such a victory came, for every man stood in his own place. Let us notice about three things in discussion of the above subject.

1. What is involved in standing for God?
2. Why these men stood for God.
3. The results of their standing for God.

1. What is involved in standing for God? The first thing that we see in these men standing for God is that they loved their leader, and the cause which was at stake. Gideon was a man, led of the Lord to perform this task and bring victory to his people. Seemingly, his people realized that this was true. God had led him in the selection of his men; God led him in the preparation of his men; and surely, God must have led him in the execution of his plan that brought victory to his army. Truth and righteousness was at stake and these three hundred men loved truth and righteousness. As Gideon led out, therefore, he had the love and appreciation of his men. If we today stand for God, we must love the one who is to be our leader. Christ came to lead men from darkness to light, from destruction to victory, and from sin to salvation. If the victories come in the Christian ministry today, men must realize from whence cometh their leader, they also must know and love their leader.

2. They wore their armor. They were well equipped for their task, with the trumpet, a pitcher, and a lamp. Each man was so equipped that the enemy could tell that they were of Gideon's army. How many more victories we would have today if those who profess to be Christians would as Paul said, "Put on the whole armor of God in order that they might stand against the wild of the Devil and for the will of God." The armor for the Christian to wear today is all offensive material. There is no armor to go on the back but all of it would be inviting to us to go forward. With the armor that Paul mentions in the sixth chapter of Eppesians, Christians are able to fight the battles against sin and be victorious in that battle. Then if I am to stand for God, as a man, I must wear His armor.

3. These men obeyed the order of their leader. My, what change would come in the world today if Christian people would obey the orders of their leader when he said, "Go, thee, therefore and teach all nations, baptizing them"

ONE THING And THEN ANOTHER
By Fred Gipson

SAN ANGELO—It was during the Santa Anna rodeo last week. I found him sitting in a pool hall, where most of the bronc busters and bulldoggers hung out during the day between performances. He was about 17, a cotton-headed pinched-faced kid. He wore a battered old hat. His boot heels were run over. His jeans were faded with many washings. He looked just a little scared.

He was hungry. A man could see it in his eyes.

I sat down in the empty chair next to him and asked where he was from. He said, Beaumont. He said he'd just hitched-hiked into town, hoping to pick up mount money for coming out of the chute on a steer or a bronc. They wouldn't let him enter the contest yet. Claimed he wasn't good enough.

It was getting close to lunch time. I suggested food.

"I'm broke," he said, frankly.

"I'll have to get a ride to eat."

"That's what I figured," I said.

"Let's go eat."

"I ain't no bum," he said. His eyes flashed resolutely.

"I had that figured, too," I said.

"But I've been broke and had to draw up my belt at mealtime. Let's go eat."

He came on, then. I ordered a plate lunch. He ordered a hamburger and milk. Before I could object, he said shortly: "That'll do me to ride on. I don't never eat much, nohow."

I didn't insist further. I had lots of pride at his age, too. And it's not good for a kid to have his pride knocked out of him too fast.

While he was wolfing his hamburger, I couldn't help but think back to when I was his age and give thanks to the gods for the early jolt they handed me and turned me from following the hazardous trail to the rodeo game.

I guess that if I ever had any ambition, it was to become a rodeo performer. I talked and breathed and ate and read and slept rodeo. I'd risk a good threshing from Papa to rope up his yearlings and try to ride them. Any stray burro I could get a rope on served as practice stock. I might get dumped like a sack of salt, but I'd give him a try. I could see myself kicking out the salty ones in Madison Square Garden soon. I could even hear the applause of the crowds.

Then came that fateful day when I attempted to bulldog my first steer. I was riding a little flea-bitten grey mare. She was as fractious as some women. We choused a steer out of the brush, headed him out across a broad mesquite flat. Having no other horseman to act as a hazer and keep the animal in line, I had to let him run in the lead until I came to the opening where I aimed to pile off on his head. Then I cut the grey into him and leaned from the saddle.

From there on, I'm not certain. The grey cut too short and ran into the steer. Or the steer cut back and ran into the mare. Anyhow, the two collided, with disastrous results.

The steer went down. The grey's heels flew up. She somersaulted over the steer. Me—I sailed spraddle-legged out over a couple of mesquite bushes and hit the ground rolling—rolling in sharp-pronged grass burrs. They stuck in my face. They were ground into my head. My pants were jinned to my skin with them. I couldn't even sit in the saddle long enough to ride back to the house. I had to walk.

Papa helped me pick the burrs out, what would come out. The rest, he drove deeper into my posterior regions with a barrel stave. Papa was pretty mad about that steer's leg being broken and the grey's having a hole gouged into one shoulder where she'd fallen across a stump.

And worst of all, I was so sore the next day, I could hardly move. Which gave Mama the idea that maybe I was bilious, too. And just to make certain, she gave me a big dose of liver medicine.

I think it was that dose of liver medicine that turned the trick. That's what kept me off the rodeo trail, kept me from breaking my neck, kept me from becoming a bum, like this kid from Beaumont will soon be, in spite of his so evident pride.

Hunger will knock the pride out of an an mighty fast.

UNDERGROUND ROAD BUILDING MATERIALS
LOCATED BY INSTRUMENT

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 25th—Recently an electrical instrument for determining natural formations of the earth to depths of 100 feet or more below the ground surface has been developed by the Public Roads Administration. The Texas Highway Department has been experimenting with the use of this instrument in Texas for locating hidden deposits of caliche, gravel and rock, suitable for pavement base courses, and is effecting economies through the use of it. Hidden deposits of suitable materials have been found adjacent to construction projects, and where they were not previously known to exist. This instrument, with its accessories, is as easily transported as an engineer's transit or level, and with practice can be operated rapidly.

Examples of savings which have been made with the aid of this electrical resistivity instrument are as follows:

1. In one District a search by digging test holes had uncovered no suitable material in the vicinity of the project and it appeared that base material would have to be hauled quite a long distance. A search then was started with the and a large deposit of suitable material was located only one-half mile from the highway project. It is estimated that $5,150.00 in haul was saved by the finding of this local deposit with the electrical instrument.

2. On another construction project the nearest known deposits of gravel for pavement base course was 10 miles from the job.

TEXAS BEAUTIES WILL PARTICIPATE IN PAGEANT AT STATE FAIR

ADLLAS, Aug. 25—More than fifty Texas beauties, from every point of the compass, will participate in the gorgeous pageant opening day of the 51st State Fair of Texas, October 7. This announcement was made here by Alphonso Ragland, Jr., member of the Pageant Committee after a conference with Hal C. Worth, director.

Mr. Worth has just completed a tour of South and West Texas where he reported intense interest already in the event.

Plans for the stage setting for the coronation of the Queen of Queens in the massive Cotton Bowl at 7:30 p. m., all free to Fair visitors, was also announced.

The setting is to be in silver and gold relief of the Oriental type. Thousands of feet of scenery will be built and flowers in profusion of varied foliage will enhance the garden setting.

A highlight of the coronation will be 150 girls representing a cellophane court with illuminated arches through which the Queens and their retinue will march. Floats, bearing the Queens which will pass in review through downtown Dallas at noon, will carry the royal beauty to the Cotton Bowl at night, depositing these in the royal setting where the Bluebonnet Queen will be crowned.

This highlight of opening day entertainment and pageantry will be free. A special musical score, synchronizing with the pageant play, will be interspersed with dancing numbers as the program progresses.

The Queen crowned at this ceremonial is assured of a screen test in Hollywood.

C. F. Jones and John R. Jones went to Harper Tuesday on business.

Mrs. D. A. McClatchey of Wink spent last Saturday night at the ranch with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McClatchey.

STANDING FOR GOD — Rev. C. T. Aly's Message, continued from "Go to Church" ad in inside page.

in the name of the Father, and the Son and the Holy Ghost, teaching them to observe all things, whatsoever I have commanded you." Such orders ring clearly today in the hearts of his disciples as they did to the first disciples. The nations of the earth have lost their ways from God. What a blessing would come if these nations would find their way back to God and they would find their way back to God if every Christian man would stand in his own place, around about the church. Men are totally deprived in their sin, but they come to know life eternal if Christian men would stand in their place and present the truth as it is in God's word to these lost and dying men.

2. Why these men stood for God. There were some reasons for these men standing for God.

1. They realized that they were needed. It was a very big thing to see Gideon with only three hundred men battle against an army of thousands and every man stood because he realized there was no one to stand for him. When men stand for Christ today because they are needed, we come to see outstanding victories. During the Revival seasons men come to know the needs of the souls that are lost in their community before they stand for God. But when such need is realized Christian men are willing to stand in their places. Oh, that more Christian men would realize the need of the lost, round about them.

.. These men stood for God because they were interested in the task. The main interest of these men was not that of material gain, social position, or political station; the supreme interest in their hearts was to carry out the orders of their leader and accomplish the task set out before them. A worthy task for them, a challenging task was this task of fighting against the Midianites. Oh, if Christians today could be challenged by the importance of fighting against Satan's forces and reaching men and women with the truth. We could win in the battle against sin if we today were interested in our tasks as these three hundred men were interested in their task.

3. They realized that they were fighting for God. The call of Gideon to this task is one of the most thrilling incidents about which we read in all of the old testament. The absolute certainty of Gideon that God had called him is a joy to note. He said, "I put the fleece of wool in the door, and if the dew be on the fleece only and it be dry upon the earth beside, then shall I know that thou wilt save Israel by mine hand." Gideon realizing that God had called him for this task was able to deliver instructions as one with authority and the men realized that as Gideon spoke, so God expressed his will. They could feel the presence and the power of God himself as they were divinely equipped for this God ordered task. There would be so many more victories today among our men if we could come to know that we are fighting for God and feel and know his presence and will in our lives.

3. The results of standing for God. One of the most thrilling things about the text is the result of these men standing for God.

1. The enemy is put to flight, "and all the hosts ran and cried and fled." Always the enemy is put to flight when God's will is wrought out in the lives of men. God wants men to fight for him who are willing to conquer the enemy.

2. The army was victorious. They were victorious over the wickedness and sin of the Midianites. This was a big victory. There were more men fighting in the army of the enemy than in the army of the victor. As far as men were concerned, the Gideonites should have been defeated but with the leader called of God for a certain task with a well organized group of men, and every man standing in his place is enough to conquer the entire forces of the enemy. This should be a helpful thought to any church with God's man as their leader in such important business as the church is sent to do to know that with such leadership and cooperation mighty armies can fall at their feet.

3. Happiness prevailed. "He that goeth forth and weeping, bearing precious seed, shall doubtless come again rejoicing bringing his sheaves with him." Gideon sent messengers through all Ephraim and called for the people to "come down against the Midianites and take before them the waters of Bethbarah and Jordan"

We're not exaggerating when we say that you'll find it the motor oil for perfect performance in your car. Continuously improved over a period of years, further definite improvements in 997 have been made possible by recent additions to our manufacturing facilities at Baytown refinery, so that now you get—in 997—all the desirable qualities of a motor oil in perfect balance... We haven't space enough here to go into a highly technical discussion of those qualities, but we can tell you what they mean in performance. BALANCED 997 will give you: a clean motor, low oil consumption, safe service, great stability at high and low temperatures, minimum engine wear, freedom from sticky gum and varnish-like formations on pistons and piston rings, easy starting in winter, instant lubrication, a perfect seal between piston rings and cylinder walls, low carbon, easy pumpability and circulation... We know you're interested in a motor oil which will give you that kind of performance, because your friends and neighbors have already shown that they are—they're asking for Balanced 997 when they change oil... Follow their lead... Stop at the nearest Humble sign, and let a Humble salesman drain your crankcase and refill it with BALANCED 997 Motor Oil.
