Within 60 days the Texas Water Development Board will rule on permit applications by two companies seeking to modify weather over the South Plains.

Palmer County, as a Commissioners Court protested Weather modification permits to be issued to two companies, Atmospherics, Inc. and Plains Weather Improvement Assn., Inc.

The protest was in the form that no permits would be issued until the counties were permitted to hold elections to that effect. This protest caused the setting of two hearings; one in Plainview and one in Littlefield.

In both hearings, the commissioners courts found out that in the last legislative session the voting rights for weather modification has been taken from the citizens of the state of Texas.

These two hearings, in Plainview and Littlefield caused a third hearing, called an Adjudicative hearing of the Texas Water and Development Board. The results being a ruling within the next 60 days as to whether the permits will be issued.

"We have the 25 counties of the Panhandle of Judges and Commissioners Association to go on record as to oppose any permits given, unless the counties are taxing entity, not less than a county, to be able to hold an election," quotes Parmer County Commissioner, Jimmy Briggs.

"However, Parmer County introduced a resolution to the West Texas Judges and Commissioners Association which consists of 120 counties, to go on record as opposing the permits until the voting rights of the county citizens are restored."

Crim's 54 Year Of Weather Predictions

On March 22, at sunrise, "Indian John", otherwise known as J.W. Crim, of Muleshoe, told the anxiously awaiting crowd, that this year would be a fair year. He said he put down posts and then built wire around it as near east and west and north and south as he could get it for accuracy. Then he built his fire in a teepee shape. The wire helps Crim determine the direction of the wind more than anything else. As soon as he can tell which direction the wind is coming from, he can tell you what kind of weather is expected. The fair weather was decided on by the light and smoothness of the wind right due north.

This was Crim's 54th year in weather predictions. "We'll have a little dry spell then maybe a little wet spell," Crim said as he looked intently upon the smoke drifting from the fire.

Crim conducted his first ceremony in 1922 so he is a legend in weather-forecasting from this area. Since he made the ceremony public in 1952, he has drawn a lot of attention. Crim was taught the technique from his father who worked on the railroad and every year on March

The quarrel is basically between dryland farmers and the farmers with irrigated property. The dryland farmers expect weather modification to reduce rainfall, while the other camp voluntarily contributes funds to fight crop destroying hail.

After the two companies restated their case, Thursday afternoon, the protesters called eight witnesses, all area farmers. They almost all said they had seen weather modification planes breaking up good clouds, that otherwise, left alone would produce rain.

You can BANK on it!
Bill Loyd, President
Muleshoe State Bank

An individual who wants to provide for his own retirement, and can qualify, can do so by setting up an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) at the bank. When retirement years arrive, there are some ground rules on withdrawals.

For example, if withdrawals are made by the depositor before 59 1/2 years of age, there is a penalty on the withdrawn amount -- and income taxes will have to be paid.

On the other hand, after age 59 1/2, withdrawals may be made in a lump sum, or in monthly, quarterly or yearly installments. It's a good idea to review the distribution, or withdrawal system, at age 70 1/2, because at that point it might be worthwhile to withdraw the remainder in a lump sum, when income taxes on the amount probably would be negligible.

There is another tax benefit for an IRA plan: If an individual retires and receives a lump sum settlement from his employer, this amount is immediately subject to taxation. However, if the amount -- less voluntary contributions -- is deposited within 60 days to an IRA, tax can be avoided until withdrawals are begun.

CPSC Launches Poison Prevention Program

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- Hundreds of volunteers nationwide will be going door-to-door asking consumers questions related to child-resistant packaging of prescription drugs as the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission launches its first Consumer Deputy Program on Poison Prevention Packaging for Prescription Drugs.

Beginning March 8 and continuing through early April, approximately 300 students, consumer and community organization members, and state and local government workers, trained by staff from the Commission's 13 Area Offices will canvass their communities to determine the packaging practices of local pharmacies relative to prescription drugs and child-resistant closures.

Coincidentally, National Poison Prevention Week will be observed March 21 through the 27. The Poison Prevention Packaging Act of 1970, administered by the Commission, provides that those household products, including prescription drugs, which are found to be hazardous or potentially hazardous may be required to be packaged in child-resistant containers that the majority of children under five years of age cannot open. In the case of a regulated prescription drug, a non-complying package is available only upon request of the customer or the prescribing physician. Data currently being collected by the Commission from several poison control centers throughout the country indicate that the ingestion of oral prescription drugs by children less than five years of age continues. Many of these ingestions involve drugs dispensed in vials without safety closures which were purchased after the effective date, April 16, 1974, of the oral prescription drug regulation. It is not clear whether these containers represent non-compliance on the part of the pharmacist or were requested by persons with children less than five years of age. According to a CPSC spokesperson, the use of consumer deputies to survey consumers directly should net the Commission a greater understanding of retail pharmaceutical practices than would be possible through an extensive field enforcement program of retail outlets. The information collected by the deputies will provide a sample of the marketplace in addition to alerting the Commission to the names and number of pharmacies which may not be complying with the Poison Prevention Packaging Act. The anonymity of consumers contacted by the deputies will be preserved. This is the seventh Consumer Deputy program the Commission has sponsored since it began operation in May 1973. Previous consumer deputy programs involved toys, furniture polishes, oven and drain cleaners, children's sleepwear and decorative Christmas lights. Consumers seeking additional information about child-resistant closures should call the Commission's toll-free hotline at 800/638-2666; Maryland residents only 800/492-2937.

Texas Industrial Week Celebrates 25 Anniversary

Communities throughout the state will honor Texas business and industry April 1 - 7 during the 25th anniversary of Texas Industrial Week.

Activities, sponsored by local chapters of the Texas Association of Business (TAB), include plant tours, open houses, radio and television panel shows, presentations before schools and service clubs, and other events highlighting the involvement of business and industry in community affairs.

This year's observance follows the recent announcement that Texas has the best business climate in the United States and that the state leads the nation in the number of manufacturing jobs won.

The Department of Labor noted that Texas gained 150,000 manufacturing jobs during a recent eight-year study representing a 22.8 percent increase in manufacturing employment. Each 100 manufacturing jobs supports 68 additional non-industrial jobs and adds over $1 million per year of personal income to a community.

Bill Gray, TAB president, noted that the significance of Texas' tremendous gain in manufacturing employment becomes clear when compared to the national average gain during this period of 10,000 manufacturing jobs per state.

"The lack of corporate and personal income taxes coupled with favorable labor laws are keys to Texas' manufacturing growth," he said. "We are fortunate in Texas to have a legislature that understands that a good business climate means more jobs and a higher standard of living for all. Texas Industrial Week helps to point out the importance of these economic contributions."

Sponsored by TAB, Texas Industrial Week was established in 1951 by a concurrent resolution of the Texas Legislature.

Governor Dolph Briscoe, in proclaiming this year's observance, noted that the state's economy continues to remain sound with the location of 192 major new industries and the expansion of 287 existing ones within the last year.

"This growth did not just happen but is the result of individuals and organizations across the state working to maintain our favorable business climate," he said. "Texas Industrial Week provides an opportunity to demonstrate our appreciation of these contributions and to encourage business and industry to continue to help improve the economic conditions of our state's citizens. I urge all citizens to give due recognition to business and industry in Texas and to demonstrate our support for the free enterprise system."

The great men and the doctors understand not the Word of God, but it is revealed to the humble and to children. -Martin Luther.

How the Cancer Quack Remains in Business

A special "Grape Cure" diet, cobwebs saturated with arsenic, assorted unproven drugs and a bizarre zinc-lined pine box that absorbs "orgone energy" are a few of the many tools cancer quacks have employed to treat cancer patients searching for a "miracle cure."

"Unless you understand the nature of cancer itself, it is easy to fall into the cancer quack's trap," explains Dr. Emil J. Freireich, head of M. D. Anderson's Department of Developmental Therapeutics. For the last nine years he also has served on the American Cancer Society's Committee for Unproven Remedies.

"The first thing to remember," he explains, "is that all diseases, without exception, are remittent to a certain extent." That is, while the disease does progressively worsen without proper treatment, there are alternating periods where the patient improves and then declines.

Because cancer quacks most often prescribe harmless but non-effective treatments, the success of the treatments depends solely on the disease's fluctuating symptoms. For example, if treatment is given when the patient is worsening, odds are that the natural course of the disease will reflect a brief period of improvement. Thus, the quack's treatment appears 100 percent successful even though it played no role in the improvement. If the patient stays the same, then the treatment once again was successful. It only needs to be increased to enhance its success. If the patient's condition worsens, adds Dr. Freireich, the quack usually points out that the cancer obviously was incurable and no treatment would have worked. Thus, using the alternating cycles that are characteristic of cancer, the quack can manipulate his treatment to appear completely effective or justified every time. The quack, explains Dr. Freireich, is careful never to apply a treatment when his patient is experiencing a period of improvement because he knows that the chronic nature of the disease will soon bring about a worsening condition, thus discrediting the treatment. While the patient is progressively getting worse during the cycles of improvement, the quack merely explains that the treatment only needs more time and the patient more faith.

It is also important to remember, says Dr. Freireich, that a fraction of cancer patients, no matter how acute their disease, will never die of their cancer for reasons no one can explain. The patients, along with persons the quack treats who never had cancer to begin with, add to the quack's conviction that his treatments are effective.

"The real problem with cancer quackery," notes Dr. Freireich, "is that it exploits people at the time of their greatest weakness when their only real resource is the health professional."

The person who seeks a miracle cure denies himself the proper early treatment that is vitally important for ultimate control of cancer. "People must have an alternative to being desperate and hopeless," explains Dr. Freireich. Today that hope is being provided by thousands of research scientists and clinicians throughout the world who daily are developing a better understanding of cancer and its treatments. Because of their efforts physicians are now more than ever prepared to provide the best care available for the cancer patient.

Miss Williams, Wed To Rozell

Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson Rozell

The candlelight ceremony uniting Gaynell Williams and Johnny Nelson Rozell, was solemnized at the Trinity Baptist Church on Saturday, March 20. Rev. David Everts, performed the double-ring wedding ceremony at 7:30 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Williams, of Muleshoe. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Rozell, of Morton.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal length gown of bridal satin, fashioned with a square ruffle and trimmed in sheer yoke. An overlay of silk organza, adorned the bodice. The long sleeves of silk organza ended in lace ruffles at the wrist. A wide, self fabric ruffle emphasized the skirt at the hem-line. The gown was enhanced by a wide-brimmed hat of lace braid. The bride carried a nosegay bouquet of pale yellow and blue daisies, with sprays of baby's breath.

A fern tree featuring doves holding blue ribbons, extending to candlelabrums decorated the altar.

Gayla Redwine, attended the bride as maid of honor. She was attired in a floor length gown of pale blue, reflecting the brides chosen colors of blue and white. Her gown featured a square neckline and short, full sleeves. She wore a pale blue wide-brimmed hat of lace braid and carried a long stemmed pale blue spider mum.

Filling the duties as best man, was Larry Turney, of Morton. Serving as ushers and candlelighters were Johnny Melvin Williams and Randall Williams, brothers of the bride.

Music selections were performed by Karen Rozell, of Lubbock, sister of the groom. She accompanied soloist Debbie Everts, as she sang "We've Only Just Begun" and ended the ceremony with "The Lord's Prayer".

Deanna Smith registered the guests.

The ceremony was followed by a reception held in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The brides table, was laid with a white lace cloth over blue. A four tiered wedding cake, baked by a friend of the family, Ruby Ward, was featured on the table. The top layer of two doves surrounded by blue roses, was poised over miniatures of the bride and groom. The guests were served cake, white punch, mints and nuts by Debbie Dillard and Teri Duben.

Rice bags were distributed by the brides niece, Jackie Jean Williams.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home at 301 E. Fillmore in Morton, where the groom is employed at KRAN Radio Station.

Special guests attending the wedding were the brides sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Smitty Aylesworth, of Arlington.

I read the following paragraph in the "Readers Digest", perhaps you didn't read it or might like to read it again, it is so true and sincere. "Resolve to be tender with the young, compassionate with the aged, sympathetic with the striving, and tolerant with the weak and wrong. Sometime in life you will have been all of these." - quoted by Bob Goddard. If we could all practice more patience, tolerance and sympathetic feeling toward our fellow man, this would be a happier place and we too would be happier and more sincere in our daily lives.

The Panama Canal Company is under a Congressional mandate to run its operations on a break-even or better basis. In other words, not to lose money. In the years since its construction, the Canal Company has been able to do that with ease. But now inflation, plus the world slowdown in shipping has put the Panama Canal in the red and may keep it there for several years.

The reopened Suez Canal has diverted traffic from the Panama Canal. Despite a 20 percent increase in the toll charge, the Panama Canal lost over $8 million in 1975. It may lose $12 million in 1976. So, the government-owned Panama Canal Company will have to increase the toll charge again since wage through the Canal is about $12,700 for the typical container-shipment. Increasing the toll charge to $20,000 or more would narrow the advantage of using the Canal, instead of going the long way around.

The Canal also wants to base the toll charge on below-deck shipping space and especially on-deck shipping space used by container ships and not currently included in the computation of tolls. Containership companies argue that this makes it too expensive to use the canal. The House Appropriations Subcommittee will hold hearings soon on the financing arrangements for the canal. Any decision to increase tolls requires President Ford's signature.

The Consumer Alert
by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Every day thousands of Texas consumers receive flyers and mailers proclaiming a "special sale" on one or many items. Newspapers are full of "spring specials" on everything from lawn and garden equipment to Easter dresses.

And many of these sales are advertised something like this: "Buy one for $10, get the second one for half price," or "normally sells for $59.99, our sale price now $39.99."

These are price comparison advertisements, our Consumer Protection attorneys say, and they are a widely used and effective means of promoting Consumer Protection Act, which prohibits "false or misleading statements of fact concerning the reasons for, existence of, or amount of price reductions."

They say that while most businessmen use price comparisons to advertise legitimate cost reductions, there are a few unscrupulous merchants who treat both consumers and their competitors unfairly by misusing price comparison advertising.

For example, they may raise the price of an attractive item, then later offer "an incredible price reduction on our most popular line of power tools." Our lawyers say it's misleading and illegal if the seller raised his price on an item a short period before a sale, since the previous price must have been in effect for a reasonable period of time, and must have been sold regularly at that price before the sale.

Consumers should also read sale literature carefully. Phrases such as "made to sell for $29," or "compare at $7.99" can be meaningless. They may not mean the merchandise actually sold at that price, or that the merchant even tried to sell it at that price. Yet they give the impression that the purchaser will be getting a real bargain.

Other phrases such as "reduced from manufacturer's suggested retail price" can also

Letters To The Editor

Editor's note: The following is reprinted from a recent issue of the Thomas Tribune in Oklahoma submitted to the Journal by a local reader.

Dear Editor:

As a small town businessman I have some questions I'd like to ask of Thomas residents and surrounding areas. Fact is, it is a matter of economic survival to me as well as millions of other "Little people" who own small stores in small towns.

Who do you ask for credit when things are tight?

Who do you ask to take ads for your organization, school papers, year books, programs, etc.?

Who do you ask for contributions for your community, church and other activities?

Who do you call on after hours when you need a special item?

Who do you ask to put up your posters for special events?

Who pays the largest amount of taxes to help educate your children and pay wages to those institutions and other local public service offices?

It's your local, hometown small businessman. After all, he's your friend and neighbor who is anxious to serve you even after the sale.

But when you want to make a purchase, how often do you shop out of town in the larger cities thinking you might save a few cents without giving your local merchant a chance or even comparing his prices?

In most cases you will find our prices, quality of merchandise and services are better. But we can't survive forever on a faithful few or just operating a convenience business.

Think about it! It's becoming more and more difficult for the small town independent businessman to survive. When we go, you'll miss us.

A Thomas (Okla.)
Businessman

be misleading if a manufacturer customarily lists an unrealistically high "suggested price" so retailers can offer what seems to be a good buy.

And offering merchandise at "factory price," "dealer cost," or "wholesale" can be deceptive if the merchant's definition of "dealer cost" means what an item cost a dealer, plus his overhead, advertising costs, sales commissions, and other expenses.

If you have a consumer complaint about deceptive or misleading advertising, get in touch with our Consumer Protection Division, your county or district attorney, or your local Better Business Bureau.

Children need models more than they need critics.

"For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also"

THE CHURCH IS GOD'S APPOINTED AGENCY IN THIS WORLD FOR SPREADING THE KNOWLEDGE OF HIS LOVE FOR MAN AND HIS DEMAND FOR MAN TO RESPOND TO THAT LOVE BY LOVING HIS NEIGHBOR. WITHOUT THIS FOUNDATION IN THE LOVE OF GOD, NO GOVERNMENT OR SOCIETY OR WAY OF LIFE WILL LONG PERSIST AND THE FREEDOMS WHICH WE HOLD SO DEAR WILL INEVITABLY PERISH. THEREFORE, EVEN FROM A SELFISH POINT OF VIEW, ONE SHOULD SUPPORT THE CHURCH FOR THE SAKE OF THE WELFARE OF HIMSELF AND HIS FAMILY. BEYOND THAT, HOWEVER, EVERY PERSON SHOULD UPHOLD AND PARTICIPATE IN THE CHURCH BECAUSE IT TELLS THE TRUTH ABOUT MAN'S LIFE, DEATH AND DESTINY; THE TRUTH WHICH ALONE WILL SET HIM FREE TO LIVE AS A CHILD OF GOD.

Plaques Will Be Awarded In May

D'Anne Clark and Kent Lowry were chosen winners in Muleshoe High School Speech and Drama Department's Annual Beauty Pageant held Monday, March 22, in the MHS auditorium. Kerry Moore, director of speech and drama, was the emcee for the gala event.

The contestants in the pageant were Regina Burden, Nicky Bamert, Alice Lopez, Carey Sudduth, Sheryl Stovall, Curtis Carpenter, Teresa Hamilton, Kent Lowry, Benetta Roming, Danny Wilson, Paula Pepper, Tracy Buhrman, Glenda Rasco, Gary Gunter, Debbie Dillard, Brent Maddox, Patti Poyner, Kyle Kimbrough, D'Anne Clark, Wade Wilson, Joie Carpenter, Keith Hawkins, Morgan Pena, Billy Donaldson, Jo Roming, Ray Chavez, Susan Crittenden, and Mark Harmon.

The pageant began with informal wear competition to put the audience and contestants in a relaxed mood. At that time Mr. Moore, introduced all the contestants to the audience.

Following the informal competition, an interlude of five minutes featured the beautiful piano music of Judy Precure. After the interlude, the formal wear competition began. All of the contestants were indeed very polished and attractive.

The entire audience voted on the contestants as each member had been given a ballot. The audience was urged to vote for two men and two women.

The winners will be awarded plaques at the Awards Assembly in May, and their pictures will appear in the 1975-76 Muletrain annual. Muleshoe High School would like to thank Tracy Buhrman for his wonderful coordination of the pageant and all of the speech and drama students who helped to make the pageant a success.

VICA Competition At Wayland College

Four Muleshoe High School auto mechanics students attended the annual area VICA competition at Wayland Baptist College. Charles Shain, auto mechanics teacher and VICA advisor, accompanied the VICA members.

Bobby Smith, Mark Hartline, and Keith Seales competed in auto mechanic speed skill competing against 98 other boys, most second year students. This was Muleshoe's first time to enter for several years; and although the boys won no awards, they gained knowledge and confidence to do better next year. Ronald Armstrong competed in job interviews. Armstrong is looking forward to next year and hopes to place in the top five.

The Gym at Wayland was filled with group and individual displays in auto mechanics, auto bodies, machinists, woodwork, building trades, cosmetology and many more projects.

Muleshoe had no entry this year, but Shain expects to have a display next year.

At the end of this happy life, the man with the most money will find it means very little.

FBI Uniform Crime Reports Increased

Reported serious crime in the United States in 1975 was nine percent higher than in 1974, Attorney General Edward H. Levi announced today. This compares with a national increase of 18 percent in 1974 over 1973, Levi said.

The latest figures covering calendar 1975 were contained in the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports, released today by FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley. "While the percent increase in reported serious crime in the Nation was only half as great as it was in 1974, the levels of crime remain much too high," Levi said. "All segments of the criminal justice system must continue to improve their efforts to reduce crime."

Director Kelley said the crime figures were based on the Crime Index, which is composed of the offenses of murder, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny-theft, and motor vehicle theft. The information was furnished by city, county, and state law enforcement agencies.

Kelley said the violent crimes of murder, forcible rape, robbery, and aggravated assault increased five percent as a group. Aggravated assault and robbery each rose five percent and forcible rape increased one percent. Reported offenses of murder decreased one percent. Property crimes, consisting of burglary, larceny-theft, and motor vehicle theft, rose nine percent. Larceny-theft was up 12 percent, while burglary and motor vehicle theft were up seven percent and two percent, respectively.

Major cities with populations in excess of 100,000 experienced an eight percent increase in the volume of Crime Index offenses. Suburban law enforcement agencies had a 10 percent increase, while rural areas registered a nine percent rise.

Geographically, Crime Index offenses reported to law enforcement authorities increased 11 percent in the Southern States and 10 percent in the Northeastern States. The rise in the North Central States was eight percent, and the Western States had an increase of six percent.

Kelley said that in 1973, the volume of reported offenses increased six percent over 1972.

The Sandhill Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm seems puzzled about all the Presidential primaries. He may not be alone.

Dear Editor:
I don't know about you, but I don't understand Presidential Preference primaries, the things the newspapers and television networks are reporting every week as though they were professional football games leading to the Super Bowl.

In the first place, they're supposed to be selecting delegates to the two national nominating conventions, but in at least one state it's just a popularity contest, with no delegates actually going to the candidates. In lots of other states about half the delegates selected are uncommitted; they can go to the convention and vote for just anybody, a choice they sometimes have.

Or take New Hampshire, whose primary is held in January, the first in the country. Although the state hasn't got as much population as a lot of cities, its Presidential primary attracts nation-wide attention, some people say nation-wide significance, because it's the first one held. New Hampshire is so proud of the honor that it has a law saying its primary will be held one week ahead of any other state's primary, regardless of when that happens. Thus if say Idaho wanted to try to be first and set its primary in December, New Hampshire's would be held perhaps in November. If enough states entered into the joke, this could go on until New Hampshire was holding its primary four years before the next Presidential election, meaning of course that candidates would have to announce four years in advance. This might prove to be an advantage to the voters, because where's the candidate who could stand four years of being investigated by the newspapers? The ideal situation for some candidates would be to announce only one week before the election. How much could you find out about them in that short a time?

By the way, I heard a politician say once more the other day when he was asked a question he didn't want to answer: "I'll cross that bridge when I come to it." I have observed however that when politicians do come to that bridge, most of them veer and go downstream hunting for a place they can cross without being noticed.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Three major statewide judicial races on the May 1 Democratic primary are attracting widespread interest among attorneys, although the general public remains largely unaware.

Resignation of veteran Judge W.A. Morrison from the court of Criminal Appeals effective March 31 created the third contest. The filing deadline will be reopened to permit candidates to get their names on the ballot. Gov. Dolph Briscoe has authority to fill the vacancy until the November general election.

In the other judicial races, Fourth Court of Civil Appeals Chief Justice Charles W. Barrow, 54, of San Antonio and Houston attorney Donald B. Yarbrough, 34, are contesting for a Texas Supreme Court seat being vacated.

Barrow outpolled Yarbrough 10,086 to 1,741 in a sampling of lawyer opinion through the State Bar. Yarbrough said that was the "greatest compliment" he could receive.

Court of Criminal Appeals Judge Truman Roberts, 58, seeking his second term, is opposed by Dallas District Judge Jerome Chamberlain, 53.

Roberts topped Chamberlain in the Bar poll 8,894 to 2,751. Chamberlain has been criticizing Roberts' opinions as over-technical. Roberts says he follows the law strictly.

Toll Rises

The 1975 traffic death toll in Texas rose 13 per cent, according to the Department of Public Safety.

At that, the number of deaths were 263 below the all-time-record year, 1973.

Voluntary compliance with the 55 miles per hour speed limit is not as good as it should be, but traffic continues to move slower than under the old 70 mph limit, according to DPS Director Wilson E. Speir.

The death toll last year was 3,429, compared to 2,945 in 1974 and 3,692 in 1973.

Allowable Set

For the 49th straight month, the Railroad Commission set the statewide oil allowable at 100 per cent.

Exceptions include the East Texas Field (86 per cent).

Buyers asked more than 3.9 million barrels a day, a slight decrease of 2,174 from March.

The commission acted after oil company executives lambasted federal energy policies at length during a day-long hearing.

Unemployment Up

Texas unemployment increased by more than 7,000 during January. Texas Employment Commission reported.

TEC said 305,500 were seeking work, compared with 298,200 in December.

The jobless rate went up from 5.6 per cent to 5.8 per cent of the labor force. The total number employed dropped from 5,042,900 in December to 4,976,400 in January.

Courts Speak

Texas Supreme Court agreed to hear arguments in a former Texas Tech football player's suit claiming the school should be liable for his knee injury since trainers didn't tape the knee properly.

The high court also upheld suspension of a Fort Worth dentist for publishing a booklet supporting nutritional supplements as a cancer cure.

Supreme Court justices upheld an order the Dallas Civil Service Board must consider charges against police officers in a beating and shooting death.

A divided Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a life sentence burglary conviction of an Abilene man, noting the lumber shed he was accused of entering was not an enclosed structure.

A San Antonio man sentenced to 15 years for manslaughter in the death of a two-year-old stepdaughter lost his appeal.

The Court of Criminal Appeals ordered a new trial for a Hidalgo County man convicted of violating probation terms due to an illegal search for weapons.

Another new trial was ordered in a Jefferson County case of probation revocation involving injection of a prescription drug.

Possibly

A bridegroom tried to get married with a dog's license. But maybe that was the kind of life he expected to lead.
