Wool and Mohair Men Form Pact On Pool Contract

KERRVILLE, Texas, Sept. 21.—Twenty up 6,750,000 pounds of the fall mohair clip about 85 per cent of the entire United States production, representatives of the Wool and Mohair Warehouse Association of Texas at a meeting here Saturday afternoon signed a pact, extending the original pool contract effected in Kerrville on August 29.

Encouraged by the attitude of the Federal Farm Board, the national wool marketing association and the mills, the thirty-three warehouse firms represented here stood steadfast in the interest of West Texas mohair growers.

Although the minimum fall clip price agreed on here at the Aug. 29 meeting was not announced, Saturday afternoon the warehousemen declared that members of a committee which recently went East to confer with the Federal Farm Board, the mills and Boston dealers, were empowered to negotiate for the sale of the pooled mohair at not less than 25c a pound for grown hair and 40c a pound for kid hair. The committee includes L. A. Schreiner, Kerrville, chairman; Fred Horner, Uvalde, and C. C. Belcher, Del Rio.

Members of the warehouse association, following a report of the committee, expressed the feeling that the Federal Farm Board and National Wool Marketing Association, as well as their selling agents, were doing their utmost to overcome the prevailing low prices. The men gathered here Saturday also expressed the belief that the Eastern mills are cognizant of the need for some stabilizing adjustment in order to prevent huge loss to growers, banks, mills and manufacturers.

Putting more teeth in the contract by revisions made here, Saturday, the warehousemen raised the penalty for violating the contract through sale on the open market from 1c to 5c a pound. An amendment was adopted providing that the 1932 spring clip is not to be sold for a price less than the 1931 clip.

WILSON-DEATON

Wednesday September 16, Miss Ruby Wilson and Mr. Mildred Deaton motored to New Mexico, where they were joined in the holy bonds of wedlock.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Wilson, and attended Sul Ross College last year. It was there that she met the groom and the courtship began. Miss Wilson graduated from the Eldorado High School in 1930 and has been reared here where she has a host of friends.

The groom's home is at Longfellow but he is working for an uncle on his ranch near Langtry, and his sister would join their sister States was confidently expressed.—Dallas News.

New Cotton Law

BY WILLIAM M. THORNTON

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 20.—In a formal statement Sunday, the conference committee explained the principal provisions of the agreed cotton acreage control bill and also asserted that it will stand up in the courts as well as probably being followed in principle by the other cotton-growing States. All ten members of the conference committee were expected to sign and make it a unanimous report when submitted Monday. A majority in both houses will vote for it, according to the conferees, and the Governor is expected to sign it.

Representative Lawrence Westbrook of Waco wrote the committee's statement, which follows:

"The bill recommended by the conference committee provides the following:

"1. That not to exceed 30 per cent of the land cultivated to all crops during the year 1931 may be planted to cotton in the year 1932.

"2. That no land planted to cotton in 1932 may be planted to cotton in 1933, and that not to exceed 30 per cent of the land planted to cotton in 1933.

"3. That in 1934 and the years thereafter, no land may be planted to cotton which was planted to cotton in the preceding year.

Fifty Per Cent Cut.

"The effect of this bill will be to limit the maximum allowable acreage of cotton planted to cotton in 1932 and in 1933 to an estimated one-half of the acreage planted to cotton in 1931; and to prohibit the planting of cotton following cotton after 1932.

"It is believed by the committee that the increased yield per acre which might be expected to result from the decrease in total acreage will be more than offset by loss in total acreage due to probable failure of all farmers to take advantage of the maximum allowable acreage. The desired result of 50 per cent decrease in production will thereby be obtained.

"It was brought out in the conference committee that concurrence by a majority of the cotton-growing States has been assured in telephone conversations by Governor Sterling and committee members with Governors of the other cotton-growing States.

"The laws to be enacted by the other States will not necessarily be patterned after the Texas statutes, but will be drawn so as to effect the same proportionate reduction in their cotton acreage. Some cotton States, notably Louisiana and South Carolina, have already passed laws calling for the total prohibition of cotton in 1932, but the Governors of practically all others have agreed that their States would enact laws following the Texas plan of 50 per cent limitation for two years rather than the 100 per cent prohibition for one year, and the hope that Louisiana and South Carolina would join their sister States was confidently expressed.—Dallas News.

MRS. A. P. BAILEY ENTERTAINS
Mrs. A. P. Bailey entertains a group of her friends, Tuesday September 22, with a Bridge Luncheon, at her home in Eldorado.

Sixteen guests gathered at 10 a. m. and luncheon was served at 12. Contract bridge was played. Prizes for the games were awarded Mrs. M. H. Crabb, high; Mrs. W. D. Gregory, high cut and Mr. Jack, consolation.

Mrs. Oscar Gibson was visiting in the city Saturday and shopping.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Politer were in from the Don McCormick ranch Saturday buying supplies.

Claud Meador was among the stockfarmers that visited in the city Saturday.

Geo. Caraway and family were in from Station A. Saturday visiting and shopping.

We thought the Kaiser had left Doran, Holland, and come to Eldorado, Wednesday, when we heard some one sawing logs behind the office, but it turned out to be our friend G. H. Taylor of the San Angelo Telephone Co. office, sawing telephone poles.

Introducing "Mike and Ike"

Here are the famous midget twins, "Mike and Ike"—the only midget tall, and weigh 35 pounds each. They were born of normal parents near Kent Hosmer, press agent of the Beck-Budapest, Hungary, and have been on mann & Gerety shows. Mike and Ike will be at the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 10 to 25, as one of the features on the carnival midway, and are being presented in company with a group of Lilliputian entertainers who offer an eight-act vaudeville show of exceptional merit.

It is not only as midgets that Mike and Ike have become a headline attraction. They are linguists of ability and rank high in the amusement field.

CAR TURNS OVER

Tuesday afternoon two men and a woman coming from San Angelo, one of the men being a Catholic Priest, in trying to pass a car just north of the W. R. Nicks home, ran off the highway and turned their car over, damaging the car considerably but not hurting any of the occupants, the car was pushed into Eldorado by L. T. Barber who came upon the scene immediately after the accident.

In mentioning the girls that left for College last week, The Success overlooked the departure of Miss Margaret (Pat) Tisdale, who was taken to Georgetown Sunday Sept. 13, where she enters the Southern Methodist University. Mr. and Mrs. Tisdale went to take Margaret and The Success trusts that she will have a very successful year in that Grand Old Institution, which during the past has turned out many great and honorable citizens.

OIL WELL NEWS

The J. D. Wesner No. 1 W. R. Nicks which was cemented last week end to stop caving, has drilled out the cement and is making new hole this week as we go to press.

The Stanolind Oil and Gas Co. No. 1 W. H. Williams' have been having trouble with caving and the cementing last week has been drilled out, and some new hole made below 6,170 feet, but the cementing is just partly being and will probably have to be recemented.

No decision on the Joe Tisdale well as to whether it would be deepened had been reached as we go to press, that we know of.

V. G. Tisdale, who visited at Johnson City last week, reports that the country is dry all the way through. He was accompanied by Mrs. Tisdale and visited an aunt of Mrs. Tisdale's that she had not seen in many years. They were returning from Georgetown where they carried Miss Margaret, who will attend the Southern Methodist University there.

NOTICE

We have installed a flour and corn mill. It will run one day in each week until further notice.

Former Schleicher County Sheriff Passes Away

A. F. Luedecke age 55, died at his home in Eldorado Sunday morning about 7:00 a. m., after a lingering illness of several months.

He was a native Texan, born in Austin County, February, 16, 1876, and reared around Lockhart, from which place he came to Schleicher County about 20 years ago. He was elected Sheriff in 1917 and served this county in that capacity for 14 years, retiring from office, by refusing to become a candidate for re-election. In this office he gave his best talent and during his tenure of office made many warm friends, not only in Schleicher County but throughout this section of Texas. August was never married, but was a kind and affectionate son and considerate of others, always willing to help his fellowman. He joined the Presbyterian Church in 1908, and his Pastor W. B. Gray assisted by his former pastor, Guy Davis, conducted the funeral service, which was held in the First Baptist Church, owing to the small seating capacity of his church, and the Baptist Church was crowded beyond its seating capacity.

The floral offering was a beautiful one which within itself spoke the highest esteem for our departed friend. Mr. Luedecke is survived by his mother, three brother and two sisters. His mother, grandmother Luedecke, who is an invalid, has just moved into Eldorado with her son a few days before her son's death, to the Redford home. His brothers are W. J. Luedecke and John Luedecke of Eldorado, and Sam Luedecke of Ft. Davis, Texas; the two sisters are Mrs. M. F. Doyle of Dalhart, Texas and Mrs. W. J. Benson, of Stamford, all present at the funeral except Mrs. Doyle.

The remains were laid to rest in the Eldorado Cemetery, Monday afternoon, the District Court being in session here, adjourned for the funeral. The Masonic order had charge of the funeral service at the cemetery. Pall bearers were Edgar Spencer, Ervin Mund, J. F. Isaacs, T. P. Robinson, W. M. Holland and B. E. Moore.

"As you are now,
So once was I.
As I am now,
So you will be
So prepare to live
To follow me."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their wonderful kindness, during the illness and death of our beloved son and brother. Words cannot express our feeling of appreciation and gratitude in this our hour of sadness. May each and every one receive the same kindness when sorrow comes to them, and may God Bless all, in our prayer.

Mrs. Josephine Luedecke.
Mr. and Mrs. Will Luedecke and family.
Mr. and Mrs. Martin Doyle and family.
Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Benson and family.
Mr. and Mrs. Sam Luedecke and family.
Mr. and Mrs. John Luedecke and family.

The death of August Luedecke was a matter of regret to all West Texas. A kind hearted man, who took his duty as a sheriff as a sacred trust from the people and not as a license to go around hammering the electorate over the head with two guns he could have been sheriff there for 100 years if he had lived. Quiet, peaceful, a gentleman all the way through he did a lot to make Schleicher County the peaceful and well regulated county that it is. Few sheriffs in West Texas ever had as many friends as August. Prisoners at the county jail here liked him and he made their lot as easy as he could. Peace to his ashes as he rests today in the live oak country to which he came as a young man seeking a place for happy residence. His kind created respect for the law—if he ever abused a prisoner in his charge, no one ever told it. His successor in office, O. E. Conner, continues the good reputation for Schleicher County peace officers. Both express the spirit of good people living in a good country.—Sam Ashburn, San Angelo Standard.

SCHLEICHER COUNTY TEACHERS TO FORM CLUB

Plans are at present being formulated by a committee appointed by Mr. Holt for a Teacher's Professional Improvement Club for all Schleicher County teachers, some thirty in number.

The aim or purpose of the club will be the advancement and improvement of the teachers through the medium of professional reading and discussion of modern tendencies in education. The club will probably meet once each month, and the program will consist of reports on books on educational problems, reports on current articles in professional magazines such as the National Education Association Journal and the Texas Outlook, roundtable discussion of these topics by the teachers after each report has been made, and discussion of relevant questions to broaden the knowledge of the topic.

The teachers in the county will be divided into about eight committees, each of which will take charge and be responsible for one of the monthly meetings. The main topics for the eight meetings will be prepared in advance, and it will be the responsibility of each committee to assign such reading and research as will develop this topic.

The teachers of Schleicher County are to be complimented on their professional attitude in voting to appoint an investigating committee on this phase of school work. It is else he probably thought he'd never thought that the club, when it is completely organized, will do much toward creating a professional attitude among the teachers and a desire for professional improvement.

THE FRESHMAN CLASS

By Zona Clare Koy

The Freshman class this year is rather large. There are about thirty-four members in the class, most of them being seventh graders of last year. At first, they certainly felt out of place, but it is getting to seem natural to be in high school now. We have made some mistakes as usual, but altogether, they have done well.

Most of the boys play football; some girls are in the pep squad, and some are going to play basket ball. By the time the year is over, they will feel they have accomplished a great deal.

SPORTS

THE SUCCESS
SEPTEMBER 25, 1931

The Schleicher County Court has been restored the power to try any cases that might be brought under its jurisdiction. This was restored to the county during the regular session of the State Legislature. It went into effect in March. So Judge Bradley may be called upon to act as a real Judge some day.

A TIME FOR COUNSEL is approaching. As a famous statesman once said, we are now facing a condition, not a theory. Cotton acreage is going to be cut in half by law. We must confess that we have been somewhat surprised at the small amount of opposition to this new order of things which has developed among our "economic leaders" and the feeble character of such opposition as has been manifested. Probably there was some stopping it. And in any event it has been generally agreed that cotton acreage ought to be reduced radically. Now that we are going to have a law, is it not in order that the most practicable program of cooperation with it shall be worked out by all those concerned? It is just possible that the new condition presents an opportunity—an opportunity to bring about a revised system of agriculture, more profitable in the long run than the old cotton system. We have a suspicion that there is a big job for the county farm demonstration agents and the extension forces of Agricultural and Mechanical College in connection with this situation. And it seems reasonable to believe that there is need of cooperation in the planning and executing of that job from the farm landowners and the "country bankers." We are sure that the regional chambers of commerce have a place in the picture also. Most of these have kept in the background while our statesmen have been down at Austin saving the farmers. But it is to be feared that the farmers still remain to be saved, and that the prosperity of the State generally is in the same boat. Passing a law reducing cotton acreage, and even enforcing such a law, are very different from adjusting our people to the conditions created by that law. But the statesmen have done their "duty." When they adjourn they will be through. It seems to us it will then be in order for the "economic leaders" of the State to counsel together over the question: What next?

THE BOOKKEEPING CLASS
By Helen Craddock
We have an exceptional large and interested bookkeeping class this year. The students studying this course are: Lucile Oglesby, Helen Craddock, Hollis McCormick, Hollis Alexander, Margaret Bradley, Melba Jones, Lola Davis, Albert McGinty, Pauline Rape, Lawson Edmiston, Raymond Smith, Frances Ballew, Evelyn Anderson, Vance Morgan, Dixie Faught, Morris Bricker, and Lawrence Morgan. Bookkeeping is a course which will be beneficial throughout life. It teaches the technical knowledge of bookkeeping and also gives one a thorough general knowledge of the many phases of business. So far it has proved to be a very interesting course to the whole class.

SENIOR CLASS ORGANIZES
By Lucile Oglesby
The seniors of 1931-32 organized their class September 10, with about 25 members. This is a much larger class than the 1930-31 class, which had about 10 members. Gusta V. Graves was elected class president, and Lucile Oglesby was elected secretary. The class also decided to buy their rings. About a week later they ordered their invitations and selected their class colors and flowers. Their colors are pink and silver and their flower is sweet peas. The seniors hope to make this the most successful senior class that has ever graduated from Eldorado High School.

El Gets Laughs By Kidding Self

Comedian In "The Spider,"
Fox Mystery Picture,
Famed As Wit

"Wit is the scorpion of wisdom. It carries a sting in its tail."

A noted wit has described his profession and temperament in this pithy epigram and, for the most part, it is true. When one speaks of wit one calls it "salty", "stinging", "keen". The word has an edge to it, not usually for suicide but conversational homicide.

There is a wit out in Hollywood at the Fox Studios, who is a very original fellow, so unusual in fact, that he reverses the customary process of his calling. It is a matter of record that El Brendel has never told a joke in which the laugh was not against himself.

Brendel gives what advance reports have described as one of his most sidesplitting exhibitions in "The Spider", Fox mystery picture, which the Ritz Theatre will display Friday and Saturday. Moviegoers are warned to watch especially for his antics during the mind-reading seance which Edmund Lowe, featured with Lois Moran, gives as Chatrand The Magician.

It concerns a brother and sister separated by a scheming uncle. They are united when the sister, Lois Moran, sees the brother, Howard Phillips, assisting Edmund Lowe in his magical act. Suddenly the lights go out, a shot is fired, the uncle, Earle Foxe falls dead into the aisle, and then the coils begin to wind.

KEEP HANDS OFF!

In a recent issue of the Collingsville Illinois Herald, James Monroe, publisher, who is a likewise a State Senator, opposes discriminatory tax legislation against business, in a long and logical editorial.

Senator Monroe centers his arguments around a suggested chain-store tax, but, as he points out, laws dealing with chain-stores are the least of it. "When you start penalizing, you need not be surprised if the arm of the law reaches out and gathers you in."

"After all," he says, "we ought not to ask the state nor any other superpower to stifle our competition. The best thing to do is to let business alone let the state tend to the public business and stay out of private business, stay away from public ownership, and not try to pull anybody's chestnuts . . ."

"In short, I think that business will get along better and the public will benefit in the long run, if the government keeps hands off."

Senator Monroe's position is sound. We must not, in the heat of argument, lose track of fundamentals. Once the state, through laws or taxation, discriminates unfairly against one business, discrimination against others will come as a matter of course. And among those other businesses may be your own.

For the best HOME-ROLLED cigarettes ever... try this

2 full ounces in every Tin
No other tobacco is like it —AND THE PAPERS ARE IMPORTANT, TOO. The perfect combination for home-rolled cigarettes; P.A. for filler and OCB for wrapper. The world's finest papers, made at the famous Bollore mills in France expressly for R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company. Book of 150 leaves for 5¢. Buy OCB's with good old P.A. and you're all set to be satisfied

OPEN a tidy red tin of Prince Albert... sniff the delightful fragrance of the tobacco. It's the grandest aroma that ever floated out of a package of smoking tobacco. Then spread a cigaretteful in a paper and see how quick and easy it rolls into a trim cigarette that burns evenly and stays put. No fuss or muss or spilled tobacco... because P.A. is crimp-cut. That's why it rolls so smooth.

Now light up!
You'll have to admit that no other home-rolled cigarette ever had so much to recommend it. Prince Albert is simply better tobacco, Gentlemen.

Have you tried a pipe lately? Men who thought a pipe was not for them have changed their minds after the first load of P.A. This friendly tobacco just wouldn't think of biting your tongue or parching your throat. Take my tip... get out the old pipe and give it a new deal.

WHOLE COUNTY GOES TO CANNING

LEVELLAND—Food preservation work in Hockley county in 1931 is putting the citizens of that county in a very favorable position for the winter, according to reports of W. T. Magee Tarwater, farm and home agents of the county. Each of the 300 home demonstration club members has been asked by the county home demonstration club to make out a food budget, and to learn how to use a steam pressure canner and automatic sealer; each club woman is to stand ready to give her three women general information in regard to canning. In this manner all of the 1344 farm homes will be assured of plenty. The next step in the county's food program is to prepare an additional amount of canned products for use in case any want of food arises in the county. J. T. Caddell of Sundown community started this movement by offering to give 100 ears of corn to be canned for that purpose provided the cans were furnished. Mr. Caddell said "I can easily and gladly do this now, but I will not be able to give money to buy food for the needy if we wait until winter and try to take care of the situation in that way." Other farmers made similar offers, so a committee was appointed that raised nearly $100 to buy the cans. The Levelland school home economics laboratory was secured for use in the canning, the rural people brought corn, beans, peas, apples and greens, every one went together and did the work of canning under the supervision of the county home and farm agents and 802 cans of food for use in the county later resulted. Out of this plan evolved the one of helping each farm family to help themselves. A public canning kitchen was equipped and the Commissioners' Court arranged to distribute cans to be paid for in canned products if the family is unable to pay in money. These cans of food may be redeemed later by paying for all of the cans, and if not redeemed will be used by the Court to feed the county prisoners. A hardware company in Levelland is also doing what it can to help out, by selling 10,000 cans on time to families which agree to return them filled, subject to redemption by November 1 for the price of the cans plus 25 cents for insurance. Only 100 cans were allowed to a family on this plan and these were taken up at once. In addition to this many business men are letting cans out to be filled on halves, and most of them have already on hand stocks of from one to three hundred cans filled in this way. The community canning kitchen has run day and night since it was opened and is signed up for some time to come at that rate.

Miss Ruth Espy, accompanied by Mrs. Van McCormick, spent Saturday Sept. 19 in San Angelo. Walter Ramsay, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Ramsay, came in Sunday for a few days visit with his parents. Alf Stevens was in the city Tuesday. Alf said he has raised the biggest feed crop he ever raised and had plenty stuff to feed it too. He has no cotton this year. If our farmers had all cut their cotton crop half as much as he did there would have been no surplus.

WEST TEXANS MAKE MOLASSES TO LIVE AT HOME

ALBANY—Molasses making, so common among East Texas farmers living in Shackelford county, as a means of rounding out a good job of preparing adequately for winter. According to O. G. Tumlinson, county agent, farmers there have been holding consultation meetings during the last year and among other things decided to grow enough sweet sorghum to make their own syrup, which these men have done with a little surplus to sell. Two molasses mills in two communities have been in steady operation lately. The county agent reports that these farmers have plenty of feed in their barns, corn and wheat to make their own bread, milk cows for milk and butter, chickens for eggs and meat, pigs in the pen for bacon, ham and sausage, steer calves fattening for a cool weather kill, good gardens and plenty of vegetables canned on pantry shelves.

GIVE PEACE A TRIAL

Peace has never yet had a trial. War has been with us always. The intervals of peace have been periods of preparing for the next war. The terrifying experience of the last war has convinced peoples everywhere that another such war will mean destruction in dimensions undreamed of and death in the term of approximate extermination. Nevertheless, the great nations, through their Governments, are frantically preparing for that next war. Mr. Lloyd George has described Europe as "an armed camp," with military establishments that eclipse the forces of pre-war times. The peoples of the world are paying an annual bill of $5,000,000,000 in getting ready for the next war which, experts are agreed, will be the end of this civilization. If the billions expended yearly in war could be turned into productive channels, the poverty and destitution of the world would quickly be relieved. The millions of men out of employment would presently be at work, bare cupboards would be filled, underfed children would have enough to eat and happiness would reappear in homes of every land now darkened with despair. It might be that in such circumstances the arts would get drowsy and science nod in its laboratories and inventive genius turn off its alarm clock. But peoples everywhere are quite willing to take a chance on an intellectual let-down. Culture is a pretty poor substitute for bread when folks are hungry, as they are today. The peoples of the world are more than ready to exchange the sardonic "blessings of war" for the substance of peace. And if their Governments fail them the failure will be tragic.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Sept. 6, 1931.

Alf Stevens was in the city Tuesday. Alf said he has raised the biggest feed crop he ever raised and had plenty stuff to feed it too. He has no cotton this year. If our farmers had all cut their cotton crop half as much as he did there would have been no surplus.

THE SUCCESS
 SEPTEMBER 25, 1931

There is no further need for anyone to be out of work in Schleicher County, as there is plenty of cotton picking needs to be done, and the man who picks the cotton will make more than the man who raises it per bale.

The farmers of Schleicher County are not discouraged on the price of small grain for this year. One arose in district court and asked to be excused from jury service, so he could plow in his small grain crop.

Three men offered excuses Monday morning, wanting off of jury service. One had cotton to pick, one had sick sheep and the other was plowing land and planting small grain. Two of the three got excused. The farmer planting the grain was held for duty.

Up in Iowa the farmers are refusing to let State Veterinarians test their cows, consequently 1,500 troops have been called out by the Governor and we presume that the dairy cows will be placed under martial law.

Now since the new cotton law has been passed and prohibits our friend W. E. Bruton from planting all the cotton he wants to, maybe cotton will have a tendency to go up, but there is one thing you could never blame our friend Elmer, he never rushed his cotton on the market. We expect he has sold more cotton after Christmas than before, but this 30 per cent discount, (if carried out) ought to stimulate the price. The Success doubts very much if the farmer gets any of the stimulants. It will come too late for the producer, but will probably help the spectators.

We knew when all these darn fool laws to keep the town boys from hunting and fishing, that the country lads would have a day. Now they can't plant what they want too, and by gads we would not be surprised that the ranchmen will be prohibited from raising all the sheep he wants too. But there will be plenty of hell to be raised and maybe we can raise a surplus of that.

It is always a pleasure for an Editor to see the merchant that constantly patronizes his advertising columns do a good business. And if when buying from him you will tell him you saw his ad and liked his prices and quality, you would stimulate him to write a better one next week.

The Slaton State Bank closed its doors Monday, or failed to open Monday morning. It had a capital stock of $25,000.00 and on June call, showed a deposit of $191,822.25. R. J. Murray is its president.

Well some Atlantic fliers have been found alive that were announced drowned in the pond. Well it is every once in a while we hear of some one being lucky besides our selves.

In speaking of the New Cotton Law passed by the Legislature, Senator Holbrook said: "The bill incongruous, disjointed, disconnected and disappointing." He said it was "conceived in foolishness, its provisions were foolish and it is impracticable and impossible of enforcement." He termed it a political booby trap through which Senators would seek to escape in fooling the farmers but predicted that the farmers will not be fooled and would know that these Senators have been hot and cold in being for cotton and then saying no cotton. He said there is no relief in the bill and that it is impossible of enforcement besides being unconstitutional in half a dozen places."

If you don't think that Schleicher County citizens are living almost right, read the grand jury report, they reported no work and adjourned.

The same kind of a report came in Tuesday morning on cotton that we have been hearing for several weeks. The fellow that thought he would wake up Tuesday to see cotton on a hike was undoubtedly disappointed.

Now is the time to invest your money in Schleicher County property. The depression has not affected the productive power of the Schleicher county rich soil. The fine crops now being harvested is self evidence that the soil here has the productive power which will down any depression.

"Why My Next Car will be A FORD"

WHEN you buy a Ford there are two things you never have to worry about. One is reliability. The other is long life.

"My Ford was purchased May 8, 1928, and has been run 121,767 miles. It has never stopped on the road for repairs of any kind whatsoever except punctures.

"The brakes were relined at 101,000 miles. My gas mileage averaged 21 miles to the gallon, and on tires, 19,000 miles per tire. I travel over all kinds of road conditions—mountainous and flat.

"I consider this a wonderful record and I assure you my next car will also be a Ford."

This is just one of many tributes to the reliability and long life of the Ford. A Ford owner in Iowa tells of driving his Ford 73,000 miles in a single year. Another writes of 120,000 miles of good service.

Think ahead when you are considering the purchase of an automobile and consider what it will be like after thousands of miles of driving. Will you still be satisfied? Will you still say "it's a great car"?

If it's a Ford, you know everything will be O. K. It will be taking you there and back in good style, just as it has always done. And you will have saved many important, worth-while dollars in cost of operation and up-keep and low yearly depreciation.

"THIS AND THAT"

By Jimmy

"What's your objection to calling him a consummate liar when he's pusillanimous, deniable, contemptible liar?"

The speaker was Senator Hornsby, and the braying was in the senate chamber at Austin, The "Liar" in question was the governor of Louisiana—and it was just a lot of "Hokey."

On the face of it, there should be no objection to calling the governor of a neighboring state a "consummate liar." But when you start "legislating" liars the same care must be used as when you legislate cotton production. The state of Texas can't afford to make a liar out of a man and then find out later that it's unconstitutional. A "perfect" liar must be one who can stand the tests of higher courts. And the people of Texas have no assurance that there are not bigger liars in Texas.

Moreover, one liar more or less don't make a great deal of difference and certainly don't rate an extraordinary session of the legislature, which costs the "dear people" to the tune of $2,500 a day. Liars—darn good liars, too—can be found for less money than that. Even if the "perfect" liar is something to be sought for, it's doubtful if the people of this state care enough who he is to pay thousands of dollars out of the public coffers.

This last special session of the legislature was called a "farmers' session." Farmers were told to make known their wishes. Some farmers said they wished the soons would go home so the state would save some money. The lawmaker said it would not be constitutional—or something.

So the farmers didn't get what they wanted. WHOSE A LIAR?

Of the action taken by the senate the Waco "News-Tribune" said, in part:

"It was, of course, tremendously important to put a man like Huey Long in his place and we presume the authors of the bill, measure or whatever form went up to Edgar Witt's rostrum, made certain through our attorney general that it was constitutional; are as certain of its constitutionality as they are of the constitutionality of the acreage reduction bill they are about to pass.

"There is one hitch, perhaps in the 'liar' bill. The senate may have tacked on a clause providing that its designation of Mr. Long is not to go into effect unless all the other cotton states vote likewise. . . ."

The San Angelo Evening Standard termed the action as "a definite accomplishment dealing with the cotton situation and one of its incidental 'heroes.'" And said further that "the senate has by resolution termed Governor Huey Long of Louisiana a liar—a consummate one, if that makes a great deal of difference. At least it distinguishes him from the garden variety."

Concludes by saying: "They call him a coward. It takes the same brand of bravery he has to call him a liar, when the only danger to which either can expose themselves is a word battle over the radio and through the press."

But we must agree with the Waco writer, who summed up the whole thing in a few words: "If you want our frank opinion on the senate's action, it was clownish attention paid to a notorious clown."

ON TOP OF THE HEAP

"It's an ill wind that blows no good"—is an old axiom, but apparently as true today as ever.

Whoever would have thought we should be rejoicing over any phase of this depression business? Yet, that is exactly what Dr. Harold J. Knapp, Health Commissioner of Cleveland, is doing; because he finds in that city considerable decline in disease with the general health of the people there greatly improved. His theory is that people eat less in times like these, that their diet contains fewer luxuries and that health is improved by plain food.

Carefully planned meals cost less money. The less one spends for food the more important milk becomes. Milk is all food, no waste. The least amounts of food which can be used with safety are—Every Meal: milk for the children, bread and butter for all; Every Day: cereal, potatoes, green or yellow vegetables, fruit, tomatoes or oranges for children; Two to Four Times a Week: Tomatoes for all, dried beans, peas or peanuts, eggs—especially for children—lean meat, fish, poultry, cheese. Amounts to suit the size of family.

Simple, plain foods these—but they offer protection and bring health at a cost in keeping with a decreased food allowance.

ROADS FOR EVERYBODY

One of the present farm problems is the lack of year-round, weather-proof roads, affording quick and economical transportation, at all times, to and from markets.

Less than 500,000 American farms are situated on roads usable every day in the year. Two and three-quarter million are on unimproved dirt roads, which become a series of mud-holes in the winter, and about 2,000,000 are on roads where but little improvement has been made. All in all, it is stated on the authority of the American Farm Bureau Federation, less than five per cent of the farmers of the country have access to roads that they can rely on using any and every day, irrespective of weather and seasonal conditions.

High-type main highways cost in the neighborhood of forty thousand dollars a mile. But modern development have produced bituminous materials that now make it possible to build good secondary roads for $4,000 a mile—an eighth or less of the cost of hard pavement. Upkeep cost is likewise extremely low, and economy is further advanced by the fact that each road may be adapted to the characteristics of local soils and materials used for bases.

Such roads, of course, are not suitable for extremely heavy traffic. But new surface can be laid on as traffic increases—something of an installment—buying basis for highways. In this way almost every rural area can be adequately provided with weather-proof feeder roads without going in for heavy bond issues or materially increasing the tax burden.

Mr. Shouse, chairman of the National Democratic Committee says he personally favors beer and wine. If looks as if from the walloping the Democrats got in last election by favoring wine and beer, they would try and find a new campaign hobby.

J. A. Enochs was in the city Saturday.

INDIGESTION

"My work is confining, and often I eat hurriedly, causing me to have indigestion. Gas will form and I will smother and have pains in my chest.

"I had to be careful what I ate, but after someone had recommended Black-Draught and I found a small pinch after meals was so helpful, I soon was eating anything I wanted.

"Now when I feel the least smothering or uncomfortable bloating, I take a pinch of Black-Draught and get relief."

The Success

REPUDIATED?

Wholesale desertions from the ranks of Sterling's political supporters are by far the most significant political development of recent weeks. It is a movement that involves many of the newspapers that successfully carried the governor through the first and second primaries.

The reason is that Ross Sterling is not the strong, sound-thinking, fearless leader some half million voters thought him to be. With a cargo of opportunity the like of which no other commonwealth ever carried, the Texas ship of state drifts aimlessly in threatening economic seas. The hull is strong and sound, an able crew of men stand alert and eager upon her decks, and engines throb to the head of steam that is ready to propel her to havens of security. But there is no navigator to lay her course; there is no leader. In consequence, to borrow the words of the Houston Chronicle, "we drift, we know not where."

Governor Sterling has done nothing dishonest. He has done nothing for which a voice may be raised against him. And that, perhaps, is just the trouble. To avoid blame, he had evaded any display of initiative. He has made himself putty in the hands of a vociferous, half-hysterical group who demanded ice-cream when they needed castor oil. It seems that he possesses every qualification for leadership except the divine spark of leadership itself. If he has dreams, he crushes them; if he has enthusiasm, he suppresses it. If he has convictions, he lacks the courage to stand upon them; and if he has courage, he has no convictions wherewith to arm it.

No stronger indictment of the administration's hesitant and irresolute tactics could be penned than the Houston Chronicle's masterful editorial, "Drifting," and it is possible that the Chronicle is thereby estopped from again supporting the man it drafted into the governor's race. The Dallas Journal administered no gentle rebuke when it contrasted the actions of Grover Cleveland and Ross Sterling under comparable circumstances and concluded with the observation that Texas needed a Grover Cleveland today. The other member of the influential News and Journal combination asserted that "nothing but results" could justify the governor's resort to martial law in the shutdown of East Texas oil fields, leaving the inference that the governor's only defense must be that the end justifies any means. West Texas newspapers are almost unanimous in condemning the governor for his stand on sectional matters: indeed, they accepted him in the beginning only when a "better man" (Clint Small) was eliminated from the race. Pefer Molyneux (The Texas Weekly) and J. J. Taylor (The Dallas News) are both of them publicists with large followings and both irrevocably opposed to legislative tampering with the cotton situation, question the governor's wisdom in spending more state money on "what will be another futile session" of the legislature. The Corpus Christi Caller, on the other hand, deplored the governor's hesitancy and delay in calling the session, a position which was seconded by the Waxahachie Light. The Denison Herald agrees with the Marshall Morning News that "all of the newspapers which have been patting Governor Sterling on the back for his course in opposing the railroad commission reprobation order, are left with the bag to hold."

All of which, probably, proves that in trying to displease none, the governor has succeeded in alienating the support of many. Had he adopted a policy and adhered to it, the chances are he would have retained the support of most of them. The people expect more of a governor than compliance; they demand a type of leadership that compels respect even if it

ENEMIES OF PROSPERITY

There has never been a time when it was more important to keep governmental expense down to reasonable levels than now.

Businesses and individuals are striving to make both ends meet. Authorities, public and private, are working on plans to stimulate industrial activity and thus provide employment for those who are out of work. And rising taxes are one of the principle barriers in the way of success of such plans.

Extravagance and waste on the part of officials are enemies of prosperity and result from "government in business" in competition with its private citizens and taxpayers.

CONSTITUTION WEEK

Last week was Constitution Week. Had the fact never been mentioned, almost any reader of Texas newspapers should have guessed it.

Did not a Fort Worth Court declare unconstitutional an important part of the bitterly-contested and dearly-won peddler's bill? And had not federal courts in Houston, just a few days before, decided that almost everything in the truck bill except the enacting clause was a violation of our fundamental law?

Were that not enough to bring Constitution Week to the forefront, did we not have General Wolters administering martial law in East Texas under an authority by many people thought to be as unconstitutional as light wines and beer? And was not the legislature actually engaged in the enactment of anti-cotton-planting laws whose constitutionality, to say the least, was somewhat doubtful?

Fortunately, however, constitutions are not impregnable. If you are cunning, you can find convenient holes in them. If you are a legislator, you can suspend them. Failing that, and providing you can persuade sufficient similarly minded people to join you, you can amend them.

The truth of the matter is our Texas constitution is so amended and shattered it is doubtful its authors would recognize it. With all due respect to the document under whose protective phrasing the greatest commonwealth in Christendom has been won from a wilderness, it is an archaic and unsuited to modern times as the Princess Eugenie hat. We can wear it if we have to, but how it cramps our style!

We are trying to run an up-to-the-minute governmental locomotive over a roadbed built for the tiny engines of the early nineteenth century. The result is as unsatisfactory as might be expected. We can not hope to avoid waste, nor can we reasonably expect to lower taxes, so long as we persist in a practice so impracticable.

If Constitution Week spurred us to any sort of sane and sober reflection it must have shown us the urgent necessity for an early constitutional convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack of Amarillo, came in last week and are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Tom Henderson

Months before Mr. Sterling announced his candidacy, the Abilene Reporter said: "It would be too bad to lose a fine chairman of the highway commission to sacrifice a rich man on the altar of political prejudice." Now the handwriting on the wall suggests that this dire prophecy is about to be fulfilled.

FINE ARTS TEACHERS TO TEACH IN ELDERADO

Miss Estelle Coker, who is to open classes in Eldorado next Monday, September 28, comes to the San Angelo School of Fine Arts from Dallas highly recommended by teachers and critics of Dallas.

Miss Coker is a graduate of The Coker School of Expression of Dallas and an advanced student of Southern Methodist University. She has traveled extensively in this country and abroad and has taught in connection with the Coker School of Expression also with The Boulder Chautauqua, Boulder, Colo. and Southwest Chautauqua, Las Vegas, N. M. Miss Coker has appeared in many plays in Las Vegas, Boulder and Dallas and has had excellent experience in play directing.

Mr. H. G. Munden has been connected with the San Angelo School of Fine Arts since last spring. Being a musician of many years of experience, Mr. Munden has proven himself very necessary and successful to the school.

Mr. Munden studied Trombone with private teachers and at Daus Musical Institute, Warren, Ohio, Piano at Indianapolis Piano College, Indianapolis, Indiana, and Violin at The Metropolitan School of Music, Indianapolis, Indiana. Later taking up arranging, composing and band directing with H. A. Vandercook, Chicago, Ill. Mr. Munden has taught for seven years in East Texas State Teachers College and several years in Longview. His bands and orchestras have entered many contests and have won many medals and trophies. All who may be interested in joining the Eldorado Band under his direction may see him next week.

MUCH COTTON OUT BY TRUCK

Thirty Loads Out From This Area In One Day

Thirty truckloads of cotton left here yesterday from points between San Angelo and Ballinger for Corpus Christi. The trucks, each carrying 20 to 25 bales, were under the direction of J. T. Geer, who lives in Ballinger. The company for which he operates, an exporting firm in Corpus Christi, will handle between 6,000 and 10,000 bales of cotton by truck this season.

Roads leading to the port points are reported here by travelers to be lined with cotton trucks.—San Angelo Standard.

Mrs. Seth Ramsay entertained the Blue Bonnet Bridge Club, Wednesday, September 23 at her home in Eldorado.

Miss Ethel Enochs was up from Christoval Wednesday visiting her friend Miss Lois Sharp.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Oglesby Sr., of Mertzton were in Eldorado Wednesday visiting their sons here.

BORN—Sunday Sept. 13, to Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Shoemaker a daughter, and now Edna May has a new boss.

J. F. Webster, who ranches in the east side of the county, was in Eldorado, Monday. Came in to attend the funeral of A. F. Luedecke, former Sheriff of this county.

Mrs. E. W. Brooks had The Success sent to Joe Muller Christian, who entered Texas Tech last week at Lubbock.

R. H. Jackson was here Monday serving as a grandjuror.

M. W. Jones was in from the ranch the first of the week attending district court.

Joe Hearne Moore left Saturday for A. & M. College. Joe made a good student in the Eldorado High School, and The Success is betting 2 to 1 that he makes A. & M. an A one student. Joe is a son of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Moore, who own a farm west of town and is one of Eldorado's noble youths.

Mrs. Joe Edens was shopping and visiting in the city Saturday.

BAILEY RANCH SCHOOL NEWS

Jack Meador—Editor

IMPROVEMENT ON SCHOOL BUILDING

The second weev of school saw the finishing of work on the Bailey Ranch School Building.

A great deal of time was spent on the building and play ground material. Two new rooms were built on the old building. The school house was repainted outside and in. The school yard fence has been rebuilt and all is in good condition now for a progressive school year.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

As a whole the high school room is a success. Mr. Tom Redford, our teacher, is the hombre that keeps us busy. When the pupils don't know their lessons he recites and then turns on them the next day by giving an examination.

ELEMENTARY GRADES

Three weeks of school have passed and no one has been "The Bad Boy" yet. Everything is working fine and we hope to continue the same.

PRIMARY GRADES

Miss Herbert, the intermediate teacher, shows to be a progressive teacher in class room and play ground also.

The pupils in the elementary grades are taking particular pains in school work and striving to make good impressions on their new teacher.

PRIMARY GRADES

The primary teacher in our school certainly has won the favor of her pupils through her kind supervision. Miss Ashmore takes great interest in her pupils and her work, which is evident shown by the enthusiasm expressed by her pupils.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Parks' children have returned to take up school work. They have been absent for almost two weeks due to sickness. We are glad to have them back.

Last Sunday morning Jack Meador was thrown from his horse and injured his arm seriously. He was immediately taken to the Doctor and he has been unable to attend school this week. We hope to have him back in the school room again at least by next week.

ICE CREAM SUPPER AT BAILEY RANCH

Last Friday night an ice cream supper was given at the Bailey Ranch School House, celebrating the finish of new building. It was given by Mrs. Claude Meador and Mrs. Ervin Mund. The people of Bailey Ranch and Station A communities were invited and everyone seemed to enjoy the party.

HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS

Boys in high school are preparing to start training in basket ball this week. Mr. Redford thinks he has some good material for a progressive team. The grade boys are showing a lot of interest in foot ball and some play with indoor baseball.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS

The girls are taking a lot of interest in tennis and they have already made progress under Miss Herbert's coaching. The grade girls play volleyball and some use the swings and slides.

JAPAN AND CHINA IN NEW SCRAP

Over in Manchuria, Chinese territory, a new scrap is now going on. About 500 Chinese and 100 Japanese have been killed. Japan seems to be getting the best of the scrap, and China has called upon the League of Nations to make Japan call her boys back home. We note that Uncle Sam says he will keep hands off. China is too busy fighting among themselves to make war on another nation.
