IS THIS LOGIC?

We might as well buy our car licenses elsewhere as in Eldorado. Schleicher county hasn't had any roads for the past several years anyway, so there isn't much use in buying them at home.

The above is a type reasoning we heard a Schleicher county citizen make last week. This reasoning might have been justified and might have been true in every respect, but it's logical to believe that Schleicher county would never have any roads if everyone in the county took the same attitude.

Every Schleicher county car registered outside of Schleicher county bears proof that its owner doesn't care a whoop whether Schleicher county ever has any better roads than she has today. One who will register his car away from home, taking this money out of his own county's road fund, should have no room to grumble if the county roads are not ever repaired.

A ruling of the Attorney General specifies that car owners register their cars in their home county, but such an act of getting car license plates out of your home county doesn't merely show your disrespect for law, but a very poor sense of loyalty to your home county as well.

WHY BE A SUCKER?

Now as never before, with boom times predicted "just around the corner," it is essential that the small investor and the public fully appreciate dangers of blind speculation. Lessons of the late twenties must not be forgotten. An orgy of speculation and artificial prosperity is inevitably followed by a period of deflation and severe depression. Everyone suffers, particularly the average individual with limited resources.

It is easy to blame Wall Street and big business for depressions, yet Wall Street and the stock exchanges simply serve as a market place for the people's securities. Without them the wheels of industry would soon be motionless for lack of trading places for securities.

Depressions cannot be legislated out of existence. The public as a whole and individually must heed the lessons of the past if severe future depressions are to be avoided. True, certain fact-finding and regulatory legislation has been of great benefit to the investing public. But as President Gay of the New York Stock Exchange, recently pointed out, there are no laws to prevent buyers from speculating on a hit or miss basis, if they wish to, in the face of expert warnings against it.

During a period when nearly all thought has been turned toward attaining complete economic security through Washington, it must not be forgotten that in the last analysis it is the initiative and common sense of the individual upon which the welfare of the nation finally depends. This is as it should be in a true Democracy.

DEATH CANYON

Shadows began to gather in the valley, and the lofty peaks above were gold in the sunset glow. Purple shadows danced across the sage as Jimmie Dell pulled his tired horse to a walk. He gave a low whistle, and Wolf rame running to him.

"Better stick 'round close oie boy," he said, "don't wanta get lost."

When a kid, Jimmie had left his home, and now his father's death had caused him to return. He was thinking of his aged mother, how she had cried and begged him not to leave. She would be glad, and he could make it up to her now.

Not far away a coyote howled. A drop of rain splashed on his cheek; then several. He glanced up at the sky. Clouds were gathering, and off toward his left, rain was coming fast.

"We've gotta make it through Death Canyon before it gets here, Pinto," he whispered to his horse which had already started off into a run.

As he raced along the dusty trail his father's words slowly came back to him, "God have pity on the man, who is caught in that there canyon when it is raining."

Only halfway through, and the driving rain was gurgling down rain spouts. There were wicked flashes of lightening. The wind howled in fury, shattered now and then, at the peak of its high shrieking, by resounding crashes of thunder. Rocks were falling all around him. He had just rounded a curve, when a large rock hit just where he had been. Instantly, Pinto flew into the air; bucking wildly, squealing and flung his master down upon the ground, with no light thud, just as a huge rock came rolling down from above, and crushed on Jimmie's right leg. The boys face turned pale. A low scream escaped his lips. Wolf ran up and began scratching on the rock; seeing he could not move it, began licking Jimmie's hand.

All at once an idea struck Jimmie. He managed to get an old piece of a letter and a pencil out of his pocket. He scribbled on it, and handed it to Wolf.

"Take—it—Wolf," he said between groans, "go find help. Bye—pard."

His voice ended in a whisper. A pain went through his body. He let out a low scream which echoed through the canyon.

"God—mother—" he whispered only loud enough for God and the angels to hear him. Then everything was peaceful, even the rain ceased. Death shadows, which crept over him had eased all pains.

Wolf, who stood looking down at his dead master, put his front paws on his breast, pointed his nose toward heaven, sent forth three long mournful howls then disappeared in the darkness.

Poorly Nourished Women — They Just Can't Hold Up

Are you getting proper nourishment from your food, and restful sleep?

A poorly nourished body just can't hold up. And as for that run-down feeling, that nervous fatigue, — don't neglect it!

Cardui, for lack of appetite, poor digestion and nervous fatigue, has been recommended by mothers to daughters — women to women — for over fifty years.

Try it! Thousands of women testify Cardui helped them. Of course, if it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Joe Lane lay down his book, which he had been reading, and began removing his boots for bed.

"Sleep, Bill?" he asked his brother.

"Yeah", answered Bill, "What time is it?"

"Twelve-thirty exactly," Joe said. Guess that's ole Red scratching on the door. 'Spect I'd better let 'em in. Shore is cold outside.

When he opened the door, a big wolf dog bounced into the room. His head and body were scarred, and some of the brass studs of his heavy collar were sprung loose.

"What's the—!" Joe Lane exclaimed, "Wa'al, I'll eat my old socks if it ain't Jimmie Dell's dog!"

Not until the dog gave a low whine did he notice a slip of paper in his mouth. He gently took it out, stalked over to the lamp, and began reading aloud the dim words,

IN DEATH CANYON, PINNED BY ROCK. JIM DELL.

"Bill," Joe Lane said to his brother, "I'll stop at Sam Shelton's and get help on my way over there. You ride over to the Bar U and prepare Mrs. Dell for the news.

"Darn if anybody can get any sleep 'round here." Bill Lane grumbled as he pulled on his boots, and stalked out of the cabin.

The people of Death Valley were amazed at Mrs. Dell. They expected her to scream and cry, but she did neither of these. When she looked into the face of her dead son, she murmured, "Thank God. He has sent my boy home safe for me, never to roam again. Now, I shall know that he isn't hungry and cold."

Upon the advice of a neighbor she kept Wolf fed. Altho she kept food and water in his reach he never touched it. He grew thinner and thinner, until one morning, Mrs. Dell removed the chain which held him a prisoner. He pressed his cold nose to the palm of her hand, whined low and ran off into the forest as fast as his weak legs could carry him. He did not check his speed until he came to a new made mound upon the hill top. He sniffed all over it—then put his front paws upon the grave, pointed his nose toward heaven sent forth three long piercing howls—then dropped dead upon his master's grave.

The blazing sun sank slowly into the hills that lay blue and stern and lofty in the hazy distance. Dust came slowly, lingering, and then the soft, velvety blanket of darkness.

So long, folks
Smiling Tex.

Civics Class Hears President Roosevelt's Inaugural Address Over Radio Wednesday

Hear Nation's Leaders As They Are Administered Their Oaths Of Office

On Wednesday, Jan. 20, the Seventh Grade B Civics class listened to the inauguration of the President over a radio which one of the pupils, Sam Henderson, was kind enough to bring to school.

They first heard descriptions of the scene from different points. Then the oath of office was taken by the Vice-President. This was the first time the oath of office has been administered to the Vice-president on the inaugural platform with the president. The oath was administered by Senator Joseph P. Robinson of Arkansas. The President then took the oath of office. It was administered to him by Chief Justice Hughes of the Supreme Court. After he took the oath the President made his inaugural address. The U. S. Marine Band played the Star Spangled Banner. Descriptions of the parade which followed were given. People in England and France were heard telling how clearly they heard the inauguration ceremonies and how they enjoyed them.

This kind of civics lesson is very interesting and educational and is enjoyed by all.

4-H CLUB BOYS DEVELOP OUTSTANDING PROJECTS

Members of 4-H boys' clubs have completed many outstanding demonstrations during the past year, reports from county agricultural agents indicate.

In Llano county, 17 boys fed out 115 pigs and produced 12,500 pounds of pork which was valued at $1,125. The pork was produced at a feed cost of $625, and most of the feed, with the exception of tankage and protein supplement was raised by the boys.

The Llano county 4-H clubs purchased a farm level to use in running terrace lines in the county.

In McCulloch county, 20 4-H club boys are feeding out 60 head of beef calves which they will enter in the spring shows. One boy, Richard Winters, has 24 calves left after exhibiting a car lot at fall shows. These calves are gaining at the rate of 2.34 pounds a day.

A total of 60 lambs are being fed out by 6 Menard county club boys for the spring shows, while 5 boys in Schleicher county have 31 lambs on feed.

A heavy infestation of lice on the calves of six Gillespie county boys was controlled by washing them with a cattle dip preparation at 14 day intervals.

Club boys in Blanco county have secured six bushels of Yellow Surecopper corn from the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station which they will plant in a series of corn demonstrations this spring.

RIVERSIDE HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB MEETS JANUARY 19

The Riverside Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. Damon Evans on January 19th. The program was "Safety in the Home."

Refreshments were served to Miss Frances Bowen, Mrs. W. H. Whitworth, Mrs. Jim Stockton, Mrs. J. C. Murr, Mrs. Swift, Mrs. Frank Pullen and Mrs. W. R. Evans.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. L. L. Tisdale on Tuesday, February 2. The program will be on nutrition, meal planning and purchasing.

REPAIR WORK TO START THIS WEEK ON OLD BUILDING

A contract was given last week to re-surface the roof, glaze the windows, and weather-strip the old building. This work will be done by the same company that did it five years ago. The guarantee on the roof expired last week.

Some of the rooms in the old building are so cold some of the time that it is almost impossible to use them. By weather-striping the windows the building will be made much warmer and it will be conducive to better school work on cold days. There are a few leaks in the roof that will be fixed with the re-surfacing of the roof.

GIRL'S RECORD—1936

In the 4-H garden demonstration for Schleicher County during 1936, the girls were to make a bed for leafy vegetables, provide sub-irrigation and conserve 10 containers per person in the family.

Five girls made garden plans and eight added fertilizer, nine made hot beds and four installed irrigation. There were 7,880 pounds of vegetables gathered. One girl sold 68 pounds of vegetables and received $3.90 for them.

651 quarts of vegetables were canned and 195 quarts were brined, pickled or preserved. 257 pounds were stored.

Eleven 4-H club girls improved their bedrooms—

Ten provided curtains; 5 repapered the walls, 5 improved floors, 5 made rugs, one helped make a mattress and one added a factory made mattress. There were 38 new pieces of bed linen, 6 spring or mattress protectors, 7 bedspreads, and 4 woolen covers added. Three girls improved closets, 4 added writing tables and three added book shelves. 14 pieces of furniture were refinished.

All work done amounted to a cost of $36.36.

GIRLS VOLLEYBALL TEAM DEFEAT SHERWOOD

The local girls' volleyball team defeated Sherwood in a game here Tuesday afternoon. In the first three games the following Eldorado girls played: Floyce Sherrod, Ernestine Finnigan, Charlene Mund, Josephine Parrent, Nola Smith, and Rosalyn Jones. These games were won after a hard fight. To win a game a team has to be first with fifteen points and at least two points ahead of the opposing team.

The next games in which the Eldorado second team were defeated the following girls played: Maude Brown, Hazel Doyie, Iva Dell Lewis, Virginia Martin, Venita Morgan, Annie Mac Chadwick, Jewel Butler, and Betty Jo Whitten. Both teams showed excellent coaching and good sportsmanship. Mr. Tom D. Riddle referred the game.

Annual Staff Re-Doing Part Of "The Talon"

The annual staff sent to the publishers the first fourth of "The Talon" last week. Several days later the editor received a letter from one of the Steck Company saying that there were numerous inaccuracies in it. They returned it with the suggestion that it either be re-done or all the inaccuracies corrected. This is the first year that there has been an annual published by the high school and none of the staff has had any previous experience in that line.

NUTRITION VITAL TO GOOD HEALTH

Austin, January 26.—Importance of maintaining uniform good health for all parts of the body is stressed in a message sent out by Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer. "More and more," he said, "we are coming to realize that the normal functioning of special parts of the body are dependent to a large extent upon the general condition of the body as a whole. "All parts of the body are nourished from the blood stream," he said, "and so if all the essential elements of the body are met by an adequate food supply daily each part will receive what it needs to function normally. Experimental work in nutrition in all parts of the world has shed new light on the relationship between a properly balanced food intake and the eyes.

"Essential to adequate nutrition is the inclusion in the diet of foods containing vitamin A. When general bodily health is impaired by a lack of vitamin A, it often happens that the tear glands of the eye cease to function. Such results have repeatedly been shown in animal experimentation, and also among humans in times of food shortage. During the World War extreme cases of this eye disease known as xerophthalmia were found in Denmark among malnourished children who were living on skimmed milk and a very restricted diet. To cure this disease the government ordered that butter be added to the diet and a certain percentage of butter fat be retained in the milk.

"Since vitamin A is such an important factor in growth, development, and health, it is essential that every one, especially children, eat foods containing it. Vitamin A is found principally in green and yellow vegetables, in fresh eggs and cream, and in various animal fats. It may be manufactured from carotene, the yellow coloring matter of these foods.

"Although a deficiency in vitamin A might result disastrously immediately, its effects over a period of years probably would culminate in a lack of normal growth, physical debility, and injury to various parts of the body."

IN TRUCK LEGISLATION

Any change in existing Texas truck laws which will increase the present 7,000-pound load limit will affect adversely all communities in the state, both rural and urban. This statement is proved best by identifying the causes and effects upon Texas communities.

These are:

1. Increasing truck loads mean correspondingly increasing the distance which the truck can profitably carry its load.
2. Increasing the distance of profitable truck haul means bringing the small town wholesale houses and industrial plants, such as wholesale grocers, bottling plants, feed mills, oil mills, grain elevators, cotton compresses and retail lumber yards, into direct competition with similar establishments in large cities.
3. Such competition will inevitably result in further drying up the small country towns by taking from them the payrolls, taxes and local purchases represented by their present establishments. Property values, both residential and commercial, will decline; volume of retail sales will grow smaller and former employes will migrate to the cities to reinforce the ranks of the unemployed and the bread lines.

4. Large cities, at first stimulated by increased trade territories, bought at the expense of the country towns, will be ultimately affected adversely because of the resulting unhealthy condition of the rural communities forming these trade territories.

5. Because of the consequent shrinkage of the state's tax revenues from country towns, taxes from the cities will have to be increased correspondingly.

6. The lower truck load limit of Texas now has the effect of acting as a barrier at Texas borders to the movement of the larger truck loads carrying merchandise from the metropolitan and producing centers of other states. Any increase in Texas truck load limits will break down that barrier and permit the free truck movement into the state of many commodities which unquestionably would be sold directly to the retailers, thus destroying, in a large measure, the business of wholesalers and jobbers now located in Texas cities.

Conditions which affect adversely the well-being of Texas communities also affect Texas railroads in identical manner and degree.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

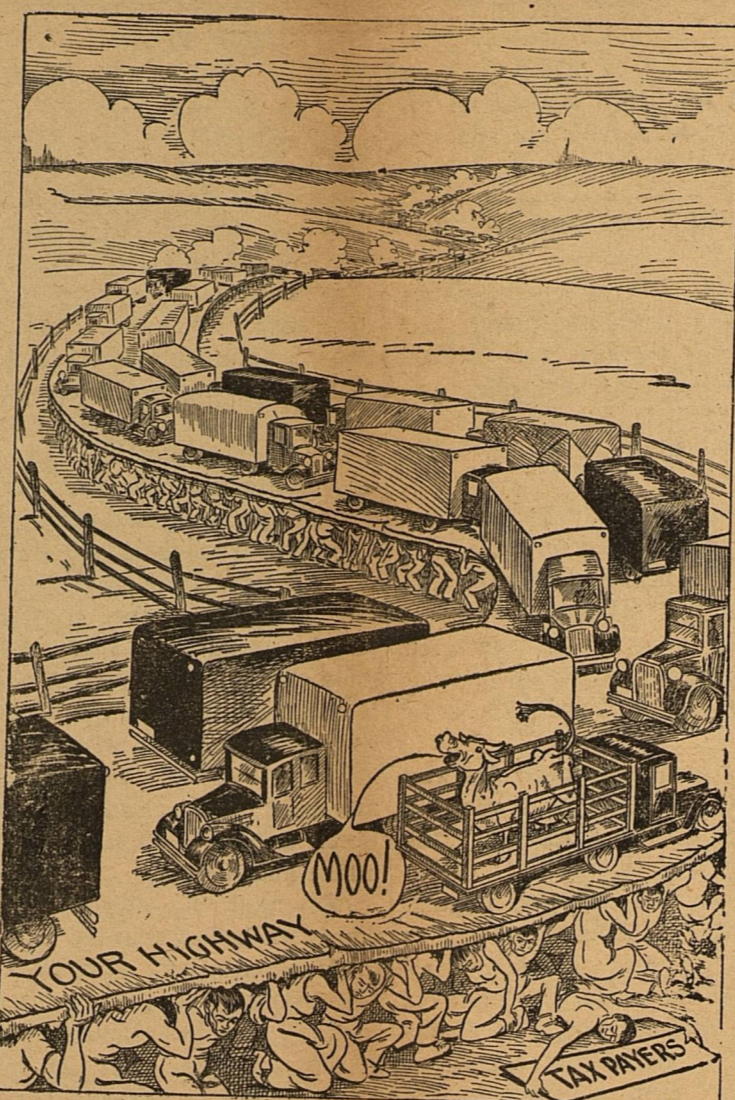

Austin.—Pursuing its leisure course, the legislature made some slight headway during its second week by adopting rules of procedure in the house, and Speaker Bob Calvert announced he would name standing committees at the opening of the third week. The solons after a brief session Thursday adjourned until Monday, indicating they were in no rush to settle down to hard labor.

The senate confirmed more than a score of Gov. Allred's appointees, including all that were submitted except the three members of the unemployment compensation commission, Bob Anderson, C. R. Miller and Wallace Reilly. Bitter opposition to Reilly, former executive secretary of the Texas State Labor federation, was the cause, as there is no opposition to either Anderson or Miller. The fight on Reilly is led by Weaver Moore, of Houston, and Clint Small of Amarillo, who contend Reilly, through his organized labor setup, tried to defeat them for re-election last summer, because of their failure to support legislation Reilly and the unions favored. They have been joined by anti-child labor members of the senate who dislike Reilly because of his vigorous support of that amendment, and at the weekend, the situation looked serious for Reilly's confirmation. If he should fail of confirmation, Reilly would be in an embarrassing position, as he resigned his labor federation job to take the commission post tendered by Gov. Allred, and he would be "out in the cold" if the senate rejected him.

TRUCK LOBBY HITS SNAC

The active lobby which is sponsoring amendment to present state laws to raise the load limit and permit huge trucks to ply the highways with loads in excess of the present 7000 pound limit, and to remove certain trucks owned by private mercantile establishments from regulation as common carriers has run into a chain of circumstances that appears to have hampered their program seriously. Instead of liberalizing the truck laws, they may find the legislature disposed to tighten up substantially the present restrictions. A wave of public sentiment thruout Texas is reported by many legislators, demanding safety measures to put an end to the slaughter and maiming of citizens on the highways. Gov. Allred lent the weight of his office to this effort, when he recommended doubling the state highway patrol and other specific remedies. Safety councils, chambers of commerce, newspapers and other organizations are demanding radical amendments to the drivers license law. Armed with figures from the state bureau of vital statistics, showing that, based on their relative numbers, trucks kill twice as many people as passenger cars the safety advocates are centering their fire on trucks as the greatest menace on the highways. They are also demanding that a reasonable fee be charged for issuance of drivers licenses, on the theory that if the motorist must pay for the privilege of driving, he will value that privilege and seek to keep it. The present drivers' license, issued free without restriction, has proved chiefly useful for identifying the dead and dying motorists after wrecks. Those who would make the right to drive a car in Texas a privilege point out that revenue from licenses would finance additional highway patrolmen, and other safety measures Gov. Allred has a personal, as well as an official interest, since it was a privately operated truck which killed his sister in an East Texas wreck last summer. With an aroused public sentiment that is pouring letters in to legislators, and bringing other pressure to bear in behalf of tightened restrictions, the truck operators who want to make more profit from the public highways, apparently are going to find the going very rough indeed.

ANOTHER SQUABBLE

Interest of sportsmen centered this week in the row on the game, fish and oyster commission, which by a 3 to 2 vote, asked the resignation of Will J. Tucker, executive secretary for the past 10 years. Jack O'Brien San Antonio, Mrs. Hal Peck of Amarillo, and Chairman Jess Showers of Vernon voted to remove Tucker. Gus Schreiner of Kerrville, and C. G. Pillot of Houston opposed the action, and Caesar Kelburg of Kingsville was absent. Question as to the legality of the action has been raised. Whatever its outcome, the row has had an adverse effect on legislation sought by the commission for universal hunting and fishing license laws, and a law to give the commission more authority in control of hunting certain migratory game. Terms of Schreiner and Kleberg expire soon, and the action of Gov. Allred in reappointing them, or appointing their successors, may clarify the present bad situation.

BIBLE TO COACH

Friends of Texas U. football hailed with joy the signing of a 10-year contract with Dana X. Bible, former A. and M. head coach, and later head mentor at Nebraska for eight seasons, as head man of Longhorn gridiron activity. They pointed out Texas U. will now be able to attract its share of promising high school stars, with assurance they will be able to play under an able coach, whose continuous tenure is assured long enough for pupils to learn his system, and build real football careers. Bible's salary, reported as $15,000 annually drew some opposition from President Benedict and faculty members, who aren't paid nearly so much, but everybody agreed harmoniously in the end.

HONOR HIGHWAY OFFICIAL

South Texas citizens paid tribute to D. K. Martin, member of the highway commission who is retiring Feb. 15, and his successor, new Chairman R. L. Bobbitt, at a San Antonio dinner this week. The affair, sponsored by the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce, drew representative delegations from every section of South Texas.

NAMES AND NEWS

Each session brings its "freak bills." Tops so far is proposed by Rep. A. E. Amos of Ft. Worth who would garb sulphur lobbyists in yellow uniforms, oil lobbyists in green, and require each to wear a placard, giving his name and salary. Col. Bill Talbot, of Dallas, president of Progressive Texans, and violently vexed in his patriotism, has clinaxed five years of hard work for development of Texas industries with a radio contest offering prizes for users of Texas-made products. The contest starts at 5:15 p. m. Feb. 4, on the Texas Quality network. He urges loyal Texans to listen in. Sen. T. J. Holbrook, "the Old Roman" from Galveston, lost $250 to a pickpocket during the inaugural ball. Gas consumers in 42 West Texas towns were notified by Chairman Ernest O. Thompson of the railroad commission of a substantial gas rate reduction, ordered by the commission, and agreed to by the West Texas Gas Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Meador were visitors in San Angelo last Sunday.
