ELECTRIC REFRIGERATION to Protect His Frecious Health

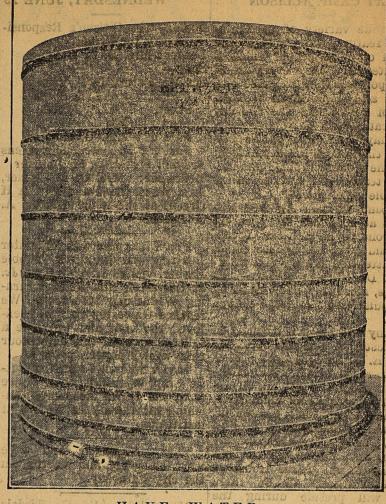

As you no doubt know, your baby's future health and happiness depend, in a large measure, on the nutritive quality and the purity of the foods he receives now. The matter of proper ne trition is taken care of through the scientific diet prescribed by your doctor . . . but it's your job to insure the other requisite, Purity!

. . And here's how you can do it: Health authorities agree that to prevent und sirable bacterial action foods must be kept at a constant temperature of below fifty degrees. This constant cold, so necessary to safe preservation of baby's foods is assured automatically through the mechanical perfection of the modern Electric Re rigerator. So the simplest answer to the problem of safely guarding health is through use of this invaluable

EAST TEXANS BECOME SELF-PROVIDING BY LIVE AT HOME PLAN

AUSTIN, Tex. June, 21.-East Texas farmers are "really liv ing at home this year," and will be even more self-providing next ear, says E. T. Crozier, in charge of sweet potato certifi-cation for the Department of Agriculture, who spends much of his time in that area. In contrast to former years, the East Texans are producing their own milk, meat, butter and eggs; feedstuffs for their livestock; and are canning and preserving surplus vegetables and fruit, Crozier relates. While the freeze considerably thinned out the peach crop, tending to make the peaches larger because of fewer per tree, the growers are not anticipating high prices and are not making plans for the marketing of many but are preparing to con sume them at home, canning the surplus for winter use, Crozie. said. The same is true of the strawberry crops.
