Serving McLean and the Area Since 1903

Editor's Notebook

The wet weather we've been having is more appreciated in this area than it would be in big cities or other parts of the country. People in the Panhandle know it takes rain for crops and grass to grow and that anything which helps farmers and ranchers generally helps the area as a whole.

There certainly can be too much of a good thing at times--for example, the flooding at Canyon and vicinity. That has brought grief to some, and it directly affected at least one McLean family when Mark and Becky Simmons lost practically everything they had in their house at Canyon.

But rain almost always is more help than harm, and as someone said Sunday, we should be thankful for it. Many people here do pray for rain, but the thank-you is easy to forget.

A major omission that we made last week was advance news of the Memorial Day service which was Monday at the cemetery. Now that was a "big" event and shouldn't have been forgotten, but I mention it to point up the fact that it is hard to keep up with everything that goes on, even in a town the size of McLean.

We appreciate it anytime anyone lets us know about anything that is happening--whether it is a small family news item or something big that we should already know about (but might have forgotten.)

I don't know too much about him, but my impression of Max Sherman after hearing him speak about three times is that he is a good person to have in the top position at West Texas State University.

He seems sincere, friendly, able to get along with people. Plus, he seems to have the interest and drive it takes to keep a university growing, to find the funds necessary for needed programs.

One thing that I liked at last week's graduation ceremony was Sherman's references during his speech to some of the McLean students and what they had said in their talks. That shows that he wasn't just a stock speech that he presents exactly the same time after time. He also made the speech more personalized for McLean by mentioning what his topic was when he spoke here a few years ago as a state senator.

And it seemed that he truly was interested in young people and in the events of the night when he asked one of the Mc-

1978 Seniors End High School Careers

The rain and stormy weather waited until the commencement exercises were over and the diplomas were in hand last Thursday night, but the elements didn't give the 1978 seniors much time to celebrate--not outdoors, anyway.

Wind and rain probably speeded up the reception at the school cafeteria which followed the graduation exercises. The commencement itself, however, went according to form.

In a hot McLean High School auditorium (it will be air conditioned next year), 30 diplomas were awarded to the Class of '78. Max Sherman, president of West Texas State University and a former state senator, provided encouragement to the young men and women in his role as principal speaker.

Gina Layne, the valedictorian of the 1978 class, spoke to the large audience, and Melinda Hunt presented the traditional salutatory address.

Both of their speeches are printed on page 3 of this edition of The McLean News. The entire class sang the song, "The Way We Were," with a tape-recorded poem by class sponsor Ian Johnson woven into the performance. The poem also is printed on page 3.

Nursing Home Work Set

Construction was scheduled to begin today (Thursday) on the Thomas Nursing Home in McLean. Final papers were signed May 25, according to Tommy Thomas, director of the Thomas Nursing Home in Wellington.

The proposed $450,000 structure should be completed and ready for patients by Dec. 1.

Blevins Construction Co., Inc., of Fort Worth will build the 15,000-square-foot structure.

Only One Case Reported

Five-Year-Old McLean Girl Dies Monday Night

Five-year-old Marsha Gail Whiteley of McLean died Monday night of an unconfirmed case of meningitis. The child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Rex Whiteley, was admitted to McLean Hospital Monday morning and was transferred to the Amarillo Emergency Receiving Center that afternoon.

She died there about 8:30 p.m. Dr. Harold Fabian, McLean's city health officer, said Tuesday that those persons who had direct contact with the child should take preventative measures to keep from contracting the disease. Fabian said direct contact would be defined as those in the household or children who had been in contact with the girl at the day care center or Sunday school.

"There is no cause for widespread panic," said Fabian, "but people who are concerned could begin a program of antibiotics, such as ampicillin."

The Texas Department of Health was called Tuesday by city manager Bob Glenn, and Marjorie Holland of Pampa, that agency's representative, arrived in McLean the same day to check for the possible source of contamination. She planned to visit the girl's family and check other relevant information. According to Fabian, meningitis is caused by different types of bacteria, and this possibility is an isolated case of contamination. He said the possibilities of an epidemic are slim.

Dr. Henry C. Moritz of Canyon, Region I director of the state health department, strongly emphasized that one case does not mean an epidemic. He did not recommend a large number of people taking medicine because of the one case.

Pharmacist Mike Johnson filled more than 275 prescriptions Monday night until 3:30 a.m., as word spread across the city of the possible problems connected with the disease. At press time, an autopsy on the child had not been completed, but doctors in Amarillo said the chances of the child having meningitis are very strong.

Gray County voters will decide between incumbent Don Hinton and challenger Robert McPherson in the race for county judge Saturday as the two candidates meet in a Democratic runoff election. Hinton, who was appointed to the office in 1977, led the field of three candidates in the May 6 Democratic primary. Both Hinton and McPherson are from Pampa. The polling place in McLean will be at the senior citizens building at 112 E. Main. The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

In neighboring Wheeler County, former sheriff Bus Dorman, who led a field of three in the primary, will meet Billie Atherton in the contest for commissioner of Precinct 2. Five races remain to be decided in Donley County. The candidates are: For commissioner, Precinct 4: William Chamberlain, the primary leader, and Jess Finley of Alanreed, the incumbent; For county judge: W.R. See RUNOFF, Page 2

The other senior sponsor is Bill Coward. After high school principal Ron Cummings presented the class as eligible for graduation the diplomas were handed out by Tony Smitherman, president of the school board, and Homer Jefferson, superintendent.

The ceremony was opened with an invocation by senior Scott Baines and was closed by senior Natalie Morris, who gave the benediction.

Class president Carter Trew introduced Sherman to the audience.

Pianist for the affair was Mrs. Ida Hess.

Cummings presented trophies to Miss Layne and Miss Hunt for their academic accomplishments as well as scholarships for which they qualified. Greg Hienley also received a scholarship as the highest ranking boy in the class scholastically.

Brian Stokes and Brenda Heasley received scholarships from the Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

Miss Layne, Miss Hunt, and Jerece Boyd were listed as honor students for the 1978 class.

Officers of the Class of 1978 are: President, Carter Trew; Vice President, Curtis Simpson; Secretary, Jerece Boyd; and Treasurer, Gina Layne.

Simmons House Flooded

Among those who suffered property losses in last week's flooding at Canyon were Mr. and Mrs. Mark Simmons, who live in Canyon.

The Simmons' residence was filled with water almost to the ceiling, and mud and debris were left throughout the house. Simmons said very little of their belongings can be salvaged.

A motorized water ski vehicle and a trailer were among items which were washed away from the house and have not been found.

Simmons is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Simmons of McLean, and his wife Becky is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Bob Adams, former McLean residents. Mark and Becky have one child, Natasha.

Brad Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Parker of McLean, was one of the first law officers to assist victims of the flooding. Parker is a Department of Public Safety trooper based in Amarillo.

The top two students scholastically of the 1978 eighth grade class are Leslie Skipper, left, the salutatorian, and Terri Glass, the valedictorian. The two are pictured just before a reception for their class Friday night. Miss Skipper is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Skipper of McLean. Basketball Clinic Set For Local Youngsters

A basketball clinic will be conducted June 19-30 for local young people to improve their basketball skills and knowledge.
The clinic, which will be run by coaches Bill Coward and Lester Joiner, will be open to boys and girls ages 9-15, although participation in the clinic by high school students would make them ineligible for varsity competition next year, in accordance with a UIL rule.
Tentative plans for the clinic include two two-hour sessions each afternoon. Registration is scheduled for June 16 at the school gymnasium.
There will be a $25 fee, and each young person involved will receive a McLean Tiger T-shirt.

GREAT SCOT!

By Jack House, The Director, Teacher's Scotch Information Centre
The World's Biggest Pencil
The biggest pencil in the world is in Scotland—or so claim the Scots. It must be admitted, though, that nobody could write with it. It is, in fact, a towering stone monument.

From a distance, especially from the sea, its tall slim shape looks exactly like a pencil, and it marks the place where the Scots defeated the Norwegians in the Battle of Largs in 1263.
The Norwegians, under King Haakon, made a bold attempt to capture the whole of Scotland. When their war galleys swooped down, Alexander, King of Scots, marched his army to meet them. The Norwegians at tempted a landing but were beaten off. Then a great storm arose that swept the Norwegian fleet out into the Irish Sea. There was a great loss of life and what remained of the Norwegian army went home, reports Teacher's Scotch Information Centre.

Today Norwegians and Scots are close friends, and many Norwegians make the trip to Largs to see The Pencil.
Survivors include his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Elmer C. Delozier of Spearman and Mrs. W. C. Burrell of Shamrock; three brothers, Phillip of Shamrock, Paul of White Deer and S. A. of Miami; three sisters, Mrs. Nell Downey, Mrs. Neal Brown and Mrs. Ura May York; six grandchildren; and 13 great-grandchildren.

A little pull in the right places can help a lot if you have weeds growing between the stones or bricks of a walkway. But since pulling the weeds may also mean pulling your neck, there's now a liquid vegetation killer called Conquer* you can sprinkle on weeds to be rid of them for up to a year, no matter what the breed of weed.

Lean students for a copy of her graduation speech.
I have a folder at the news office containing several photographs and a few newspaper clippings and other assorted items which people have brought for use in the paper. I know that most of the people who brought in the items intended to get them back, and I'm guessing that most have forgotten about them.

If you have brought a picture or other item to us that we used in the paper, or didn't use, come by the news office, and more than likely, it is in the folder.
When we printed information on the Class of 1968 a few weeks ago, we didn't locate a class picture of them. We've been trying the past couple of weeks to find one so that we can print it soon, since we did print photos of the 1958, 1948, 1938, 1928, and 1918 classes. So far we haven't had any luck. But I know that someone in McLean has one, and if you do and don't mind us borrowing it, we would appreciate it very much.

There were several McLean residents who performed outstanding service Monday night when many people were hearing rumors about meningitis in McLean.
Although doctors say the next day would have been soon enough for people to obtain preventive medicine, credit needs to go to those who helped obtain and deliver medicine.
Mike Johnson, with the help of his wife Jan, worked late Monday night dispensing antibiotics. Jim Yakubovsky, Darryl Herndon, Thacker Haynes, and Jim McDonald all were involved in the effort.
Dr. Harold F. Fabian also was working much of the night in connection with the scare.

Fire Department Rescues Man After Fall Into Tank For June 8-10

McLean firemen got a chance to exercise their rescue skills Friday when they answered a call to the George Jackson farm in Kellerville.

Jackson, a former Kellerville resident who now lives in Pampa, had been trapped in a 20-foot-deep water storage tank for almost eight hours before being found by a friend who came to unload some feed and discovered that Jackson was missing.

Jackson, who broke his hip and dislocated his shoulder in the fall, was able only to whistle to attract attention.
After almost an hour of work rescuers Jim Barker, Neil Middleton, and Jim McDonald lifted Jackson onto a basket-type stretcher and hauled him to the top of the well. Jackson then was taken to Highland General Hospital in Pampa.

The McLean 66 Rodeo is scheduled for June 8-10, with one performance each night at 8 p.m. The McLean Roping Club will sponsor the annual event.
The rodeo will feature saddle bronc riding, bareback bronc riding, bull riding, barrel racing, and calf roping, with the average winner from all three performances taking the prize money.
Cowboys who wish to enter may contact rodeo secretary Ann Long. Books will be kept at Rex Long's residence, with the deadline for entry set at 3 p.m. Wednesday.
The McLean Lions Club will be in charge of the concession stands.

The rodeo will feature saddle bronc riding, bareback bronc riding, bull riding, barrel racing, and calf roping, with the average winner from all three performances taking the prize money.

FOOD FACTS & FANCIES

Lemons

This brilliant yellow citrus fruit is valued not only for its nutritive value, but as an excellent household cleanser, a cosmetic (hair rinse) and as the principal ingredient in a wide range of folk remedies. British sailors on long voyages used it to prevent scurvy.

Lemonade may have been invented by the 13th century Mongolians as a treat for the very wealthy.

It wasn't until ice was easy to obtain that lemonade became popular. In a classic 19th century book lemonade was reported to be helpful in curing everything from acne to swollen joints. Today, one lemon derivative, pectin, is used in more than 50 pharmaceutical products, and lemon juice itself is often suggested as a salt substitute.

Summer Readers Begin This Week

Lovett Memorial Library has begun the annual summer reading program for children, according to Martha Parker, librarian.

Registration began May 29 for the program, which is titled "Come To Chimera."

The program will continue throughout the summer and will be culminated by a party for all youngsters who have participated.

YOU DECIDE

On June 3, Texas voters will elect one of two men as the Democratic candidate for Railroad Commissioner:

Jerry Sadler, 70, is a twice-defeated former Land Commissioner. Here's what three of the state's leading newspapers have to say about him:

The Austin American-Statesman: "Voters deserve to know whom they will be choosing between in the runoff June 3. Poerner is not a household name; Sadler has a sorry record in state government. He is the only person ever censured by the Texas House of Representatives (for failure to cooperate with an investigation). He became notorious for attempting to choke then-State Rep. Jake Johnson. He was defeated at the polls in 1970 and lost to Jon Newton in a race for Railroad Commissioner in 1976. And now he's back again."
The Dallas Times Herald: "Sadler has made Texas government a universal target of ridicule and derision."
The San Angelo Standard Times: "Under Sadler, the Railroad Commission just might become the laughing stock he once made of the General Land Office."

John Poerner, 45, is a respected businessman and rancher. John Poerner was elected to three successive terms in the Texas House before being named Executive Director of the Governor's Committee on Aging and Director, Education Resources of Texas.

His honors include being named "Citizen of the Year" in his hometown of Hondo, receiving a "Distinguished Legislator" award from the Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association, and being named to the "Agriculture Hall of Fame" at Southwest Texas State University.

He was recently appointed to the Railroad Commission by the Governor. "Poerner is a solid, competent individual with a record of 10 years of dedicated public service," says the Houston Chronicle. "We urge" his election."

It is a little known fact, even within the confines of the Japanese empire, that the Emperor is an absolute teetotaler. On the royal banquet tables not a drop of alcoholic beverages is set, and in addition, His Majesty is also a non-smoker. This good example of the Mikado already has begun to exert a benign influence over the youth of Japan, and many who have been addicted to pay homage at the shrine of Bacchus or to enjoy the fragrant weed have eschewed the practices altogether, these young men reading in the act of His Majesty an example to them all.

One wedding that surprised everybody, even the most intimate friends of the bride, was that of Miss Eunice Floyd of this city to Mr. T. B. Gibson of Amarillo, which occurred at the Presbyterian Manse Monday evening at 10 o'clock, Rev. H. M. Smith officiating.

Unlike most surprise weddings, this one was not the result of a brief courtship, for the contracting parties first met in 1916, when they were students at Wayland College, in Plainview. Mr. Gibson has made several visits in time past, but seems to have made special efforts not to be conspicuous, for many people never knew he came.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Loyd, and is well known to our people and popular among a large circle of friends.

The groom is a Class One man, and expects to be called into military service in a few weeks, and adopted the popular policy of marrying before he goes.

The News joins in wishing the happy couple the best of the good things as they go through life together.

Some of those involved in the commencement exercises last week at the McLean High School auditorium were, left to right: Melinda Hunt, who gave the salutatory address; Max Sherman, West Texas State University president, who was the main speaker; Greg Henley, the highest ranking boy of the senior class academically; and Carter Trew, president of the Class of '78. Ronnie Bradshaw Tapped As New Matador Mentor Ronnie Bradshaw, 26, a former resident of McLean, has been named head football coach at Motley County High School in Matador.

Bradshaw replaces Randy Hicks, who resigned to accept a position at Kermit as defensive coordinator. Hicks was head coach at McLean in 1974-75.

Bradshaw's father, C. D. Bradshaw, was head coach at McLean around 1960.

The younger Bradshaw graduated from Memphis High School in 1970 and attended Texas Tech University for two years before graduating from Howard Payne University in 1975. He played offensive guard for the Howard Payne Yellowjackets.

He began his coaching career at Matador in January, 1976, as an assistant coach and math teacher.

His father was head coach at Matador from 1956 to 1958. The elder Bradshaw currently is on the athletic staff at Tahoka High School.

The first pole vaulter to clear the bar at 15 feet was Cornelius Warmerdam on April 13, 1940, in Berkeley, California.

Simpson States Postal Priorities For Packages

Postmaster Frank Simpson has issued a reminder to postal customers in McLean that if the Postal Service's new packaging guidelines are followed they can virtually eliminate damage to their parcels.

Simpson said checks at bulk mail plants show that more than 80 percent of all articles damaged in the mails were improperly packaged.

While the regulations and guidelines adopted recently by the Postal Service are detailed, they boil down to several basic steps that can help assure safe delivery.

First, select a strong carton. Use a fiberboard box with the "burst-test" number printed on it.

If the box says, for instance, 125 lbs., it can be used for mailing many types of merchandise weighing up to 20 lbs.

When a person is shipping dense or heavy materials, such as books, stronger boxes are required. For 10 lbs. of books the Postal Service recommends a box with a 175-lb. burst test.

The Postal Service suggests that wrapping paper not be used on cartons. If a wrapper is torn or lost in transit, the mailing address can disappear. Further, the paper adds nothing to the package's strength.

The use of masking and cellophane tapes for closing or sealing is prohibited. In transit they tend to peel off, and they have little strength. String is not recommended. If twine loops, it can readily catch on processing machinery.

Instead, parcel post customers are urged to use the pressure-sensitive, reinforced tapes. They are almost unbreakable.

When marking a package "Do Not Bend," it is required that the container have stiffeners which will protect it from being bent.

In using a second-hand box, it is important to mark out addresses that may have been printed on it along with extraneous numbers that could be confused with the ZIP Codes.

A final suggestion: Enclose a return address card in the package so that it can be returned if the mailing label is damaged or lost.

Simpson said customers should contact the McLean Post Office for more information.

SENIORS OF '78

By Jan Johnson

Tonight, May 25th, 1978
You as a class will graduate.

So for a moment I would like to recall
My fondest memories of You
ALL.

We've all felt joy, laughter, and tears--
disappointments and sadness
Throughout your four years.

You will always remain very special to me-- and I hope I was a part of helping you be--

A lawyer, a teacher, a housewife-- who can know but just be the best wherever you go.

I'll remember you each in your own special way-- Jeff's smile, Bryan's laugh, even Ken's "cut" made my day.

Whoe to bother me all next
year?
Not Greg or Carter--not Sam-- My senior girls won't even be around.

Ricky will salute as he goes on his way,
Curtis will smile--
Butch--just "Hey."

Brenda, Jerec and Teresa will soon march down the aisle,
as classmates watch them.
They will turn and smile.

No Tommie to joke with next
year,
I declare--
No Rob to listen--you'll both be somewhere.

Out in the halls will be different faces--
Because Margie, Sandra, Nat and Carolyn will be in new places.

I remember you Scott in typing class--and saying to Jodette, "We never will pass."

With Glen's talent he left to the school in design.
A replacement for him will be hard to find.

No Leisa to fuss at--
No Lynda to cry,
When graduation is over,
it will be just "Goodbye."

Van and Dinky were something in class,
and believe it or not,
They really did pass!

No Mike and Randy to skip out of school
Seems that they never learned the absentee rule.

Gina and Billie won't be a Tigerette,
But the effort they put forth
we will never forget.

No Melinda in pep club, what will we do--
To her school and its spirit
she always remained true.

Someday you'll come back, seniors, but it won't be the same--
Though MHS will always remain.

You will recall all the good times
Forget all the bad,
And say to yourself "What a good time we had."

I hope I'll be a small part in your life evermore,
And if ever you need me,
Just knock at my door.

Anglers Forecast

(Compiled by personnel of the Canyon fisheries lab, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department)

McLLELLAN LAKE--Most species are being caught except bass. Several channel catfish from 5-6 pounds were caught recently. Water temperature is near 65 degrees F. GREENBELT LAKE--Generally fishing has been good for most species of fish with white crappie, largemouth bass and white bass improving as warmer spring weather arrives. Several channel and blue catfish have been caught last week. Crappie have not spawned. Water temperature is still cool at 63 degree F. at five feet. Some walleye have been caught and a few northern pike also.

LAKE MEREDITH--Generally, fishing started earlier than usual, but slowed somewhat with recent cool weather. Recent P&WD creek checks from various boat ramps have confirmed good strings of fish, especially sand bass and white crappie.

During a recent Amarillo bass club tournament, several anglers on the department creel checks recorded 24 channel catfish, 62 white bass, 8 small mouth bass, 10 large mouth bass, 107 white crappie, 45 walleye. Fishing should improve with the warmer temperatures. A good rainfall on the lake's watershed would be the greatest contributing factor in improving fishing at Meredith.

Sap does not rise and fall. It moves out towards the surface in the spring, in towards the center in the autumn.

Since many of us don't worry about what we can't see, we tend to let a hazy or cloudy day deceive us into believing we can't get sunburned. Actually, these atmospheric conditions merely scatter the sun's rays and can produce a burn.

Parts of the Arabian Desert have only been seen from the air. Its name in Arabic means "the empty place."

VALEDICTORY ADDRESS

By Gina Layne

In a few short minutes which may seem like eternity to some, we, the McLean High School graduating seniors of 1978, will walk across this stage and receive diplomas for completing twelve years of school. The educational process we have been subjected to over the past years has been largely a process of teaching certain rules and standards which have been adopted through the long experience of the human race as being worth preserving. The aim of this process is to make students mature into good American citizens who are capable and self-sufficient individuals and who can meet the responsibility of rearing the next generation and running things in the community in which they live. It is my opinion, however, that a young person can consider himself educated not when he receives a diploma for completing school, but when he arrives at that point in life when he stops answering questions and begins questioning answers.

Before blindly following all of society's wishes, we should stop for a moment to think for ourselves, using our own minds. Man's mind is his most important asset. It is the basic tool of his survival. His life, his body, and his mind are given to him, but survival, sustenance of the body, and content of the mind are not given to him. He must act in order to remain alive, but before he can act, he must know the nature and purpose of his action. To remain alive, he must think.

To think, however, is an act of choice. In any issue of life, one is free to think or to evade that effort. We are not free to escape from our nature because of the fact that survival, so the question, "To be or not to be?" becomes "To think or not to think."

We as young people need to learn, if we haven't already, to think for ourselves. By practicing careful and independent thinking all of the time, we can expect our brains to function at their best. The brain is a vehicle for intelligence, thought, and reason which can take us as far as we want to go if we use it with full vigor.

By developing our minds to their fullest and being unafraid to think independently, we will be free to go where we wish and be what we wish. But we must also believe in ourselves, for if we do not believe in ourselves, we can be certain that no one else will. I cherish the idea that every person is free to rise as far as he is able or willing, but it is only the degree to which he thinks for himself and believes in himself that determines the degree to which he will rise.

Let us, seniors of 1978, follow these simple principles of living life to the fullest, and let us realize that all of life is a purposeful struggle in which our only choice is that of a goal. Choose a goal and strive to reach it, always looking to the future but keeping in mind that now is the only forever by living each moment fully. Let us never stop learning nor reaching out to touch perfection in that which we most love to do--whatever it may be.

We should not lose the knowledge that our proper estate is an upright posture, an intrepid mind, and a step that travels roads limited only by ourselves. Remember, we can lift ourselves out of ignorance and find ourselves creatures of excellence and intelligence and skill. We can be free. We can learn to fly.

SALUTATORY ADDRESS

By Melinda Hunt

Honored guests, faculty members, parents, and fellow classmates,

We, the graduating class of 1978, would like to welcome you to our graduation exercises. We are honored that you can be with us in this memorable occasion. Yes, an occasion that we have looked forward to for many years, a goal that we have finally reached and an evening that we will look back upon with great pride.

A new chapter in our lives will be written within the next ten years. There will be many decisions to make. Each of us will have to make a choice of the career we will enter. We will make a choice of our moral, social, and personal values, and then we will strive to meet our Utopia.

We will soon be moving from a somewhat structured school situation to a relatively unstructured life situation. We will take our basic knowledge of the past 12 years and apply it to actual life--this is why it is a must to take our school years seriously. The trials and errors of youth are great lessons as guide-posts leading to adulthood.

Many times the questions is asked, Are youth different from past generations? There are many viewpoints at which to look at this. Yes, each graduating class changes with the times just as with each generation, words have different meanings.

For instance, the word cool has many connotations. Probably it's first meaning was the opposite of hot--then cool meant a neat person, and today cool even has a different meaning.

Many of us will enter the world of work. We will associate with many different kinds of people. Some of these persons, we will enjoy and others we may dislike, but nevertheless, it is essential to get along with these whom we may not care for as well as those whom we like. We as persons have to make an earnest effort to do so. Good manners and behavior are an honest asset in our lives ahead, and this is where our training at home and school is a necessity.

To meet our Utopia, it must be a combination of our accomplishments in the past and dreams for the future with our goals fulfilled.

As this is the turning point of our lives, we will have to learn to accept the things we cannot accept and to know the difference between them or all we will be is dust in the wind.

"Sparkie Williams," a bird owned by a woman in Bear Cross, Hampshire, England, reportedly had a vocabulary of 531 words.

LIONS

McLEAN LIONS

50 Years Of Service

The McLean Lion's Club will celebrate its 50th anniversary at a banquet Monday night at 8 p.m. at the McLean Country Club. International Director Ed Flood of Amarillo will be the speaker. Former members from throughout the state have been invited to attend.

On Wednesday, June 13, 1928, a group of young men met at the American Cafe to form a luncheon club. The Rev. R.R. Rives was elected president of the group, and E.L. Sitter was elected secretary-treasurer. The group decided to meet each Tuesday at noon. Present at the meeting were M.D. Bentley, Rives, J.F. Lynch, H.W. Brooks, Sitter, T.A. Landers, C.C. Bogan, Perry Everett, J.I. Cobb, Arthur Erwin, H.M. Benson, W.L. Campbell, H.W. Gindey, H.S. Williams, D.A. Deal, and O.G. Stokely.

On June 26, the group met again, this time in the basement of the Presbyterian Church, and decided to become affiliated with Lions International. Charter night was set for July 10, 1928.

On July 3, 1928, officers were elected. They were R.R. Rives, president; George Timmons, first vice-president; O.G. Stokely, second vice-president; E.L. Sitter, secretary-treasurer; Dr. H.W. Finley, tail twister; H.W. Brooks, Lion tamer; and C.C. Bogan and F.A. Bourland, directors.

Lions International records show M.D. Bentley as the first president, in 1928, while The McLean News files document the Rev. R.R. Rives as the first president, also in 1928. Monthly dues were set at $3 per month.

Since its beginning in 1928, the Lions Club has been very active in civic affairs. In 1929 the club surveyed McLean's utility rates and compared them to surrounding towns.

They also sponsored a high school oratorical contest that year and gave prizes to the winners. They worked to install a better parking system in downtown McLean. They donated $650 to the Amarillo club for crippled children. They sponsored a farm boys program, a yard and garden beautification program, a clean-up week, a flag street decoration for July 4, and a spelling bee.

In the intervening 50 years, the Lions Club has continued to be very active in community affairs. They currently are sponsoring projects for the Lighthouse of the Blind, the Texas Eye Bank, CARE, the crippled children's camp at Kerrville, and Gristown. They also help provide baskets of food for the needy each Christmas.

Officers to be installed Monday night are Jim Allison, president; Thacker Haynes, vice-president; David Haynes, second vice-president; Dorman Thomas, third vice-president; Casper Smith, secretary-treasurer; Bill McElroy, Lion tamer; Joe Cooke, tail twister; and S.A. Cousins, J.M. Hathaway, Dale Glass, and J.T. Pennington, directors.

Plowin' Out The Corners

What is our greatest reward for being honest and straightforward in our daily life? It would be that of being able to look the whole world in the face. And, next to that it would be that of being able to live with our own self. Look the man in the mirror square in the eye.....

Doing not one thing is the most tiresome work in the world, because first of all there is no way we can take a rest... The best rest for doing nothing is to get busy with something. With me it is getting out among the people... I thank God for giving me the ability to like people... It is such a good feeling to think that you like all of humanity; unless someone has offended me I do feel that I like them... Lately, I have been working on ways to try again to like some of those that roughed my feelings once upon a time... I ask myself, why go through life with even a little chip on our shoulder?... Tell me what has helped you to love those that you think may dislike you...

When the graduation announcements come in May, followed by the weddings in June, we often seem to get behind but when we get the little thank you notes and we know how many do really appreciate the little things, then we are always more than repaid... May God Bless Our Young People... We must admit that the temptations in their lives today are so much more complicated than a half-century ago... They need understanding more than our criticism, oft times.

Brainard Wins 4-H Scholarship

Wreck Results In Minor Injuries To Driver

A semi-tractor-trailer rig traveling east on Interstate 40 Friday turned over about 10 miles west of Alanreed, resulting in minor injuries to the driver and passenger.

Driver Earnest Ray Nelson, 34, of Betesville, Miss., was admitted to McLean Hospital for observation after he received lacerations on the head. He was released Saturday.

Edward Lucius Infinger, 52, who also was in the truck, was treated and released after the McLean Area Ambulance brought the pair to the hospital.

According to Department of Public Safety trooper R. C. Parker, the driver lost control of the truck while on a curve and passing another vehicle. When he attempted to return the truck to the road from the shoulder, it turned over on its right side.

The truck was carrying a load of lettuce.

RELAXATION ODDITIES-HELPFUL TIPS

By Joy Miller

A game that's beginning to shoot up in popularity is volleyball. A particularly American game, it was invented by a Massachusetts YWCA instructor in 1895. It got its name because his players "volleyed" the ball over the net.

Popular in thousands of schools and colleges in the United States, we now see it played more and more on beaches between swims.

A good tip when organizing a beach volleyball game is not to place all your tall men in one row, as players rotate after the serve. Since you have three chances to get the ball over, always try and pass the ball to a net man so he can spike it over the net for a point.

"LIVING HISTORY" TO RESUME AT FORT UNION Fort Union was established as an army post in 1851 when Secretary of War C.M. Conrad decided that the troops in New Mexico were costing too much and weren't solving the "Indian problem."

So he directed Lt. Col. Edwin V. Sumner, First Dragoons, to take command in New Mexico and reorganize. Sumner did. His first action was to order department headquarters and the principal supply depot out of Santa Fe, which he called a "sink of vice and extravagance."

He moved them to the junction of the Santa Fe Trail where the Cimarron Cutoff and Mountain Branches met. From there Sumner and his men were better able to guard the Santa Fe Trail.

The fort remained active until 1891 when it passed out of existence along with the Santa Fe Trail. But its ruins can still be seen, just eight miles north of Interstate 25, midway between Wagon Mound and Las Vegas, N.M.

And today's visitor to these ruins is likely to run into one of Sumner's First Dragoons, or at least a reasonable facsimile thereof.

Fort Union is now Fort Union National Monument, administered by the National Park Service and "living history" demonstrations will be held daily at the site from early June through Labor Day.

"Living history" is the National Park Service's unique way of presenting the past so that visitors can smell, taste, touch, hear and feel it.

And members of the staff will shuck their Smokey Bear hats this summer in favor of the historic garb of the 19th century. Haunting the ruins will be Colorado Volunteers, Sixth Cavalry troops, First Dragoons as well as civilian laundresses, quartermaster employees and the like.

They'll be doing such historic tasks as making lye soap, cooking army chow, making adobe bricks, chopping wood, growing a post garden and firing small arms for the enjoyment of visitors.

Superintendent Ross Hopkins said the monument will be open from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m. daily and he's inviting everyone to stop by for a bite of hard-tack and a whiff of gunpowder. "Travelers along Interstate 25 shouldn't miss it," Hopkins said. "The monument is only 10 minutes off the interstate over a paved road and it's an excellent place to enjoy a picnic lunch."

In addition to the living history demonstrations, visitors can enjoy touring 70 acres of ruins and the visitor center museum.

If you are planning to visit a NPS area on your vacation, write the agency at P.O. Box 728, Room P-1, Santa Fe, N.M. 87501. You'll be sent a free trip planning guide that lists NPS areas within an easy drive of your home and charts facilities and services at each.

Unsung Heroes Of America

OUR NUCLEAR EMERGENCY SEARCH TEAM

On January 24, 1978, a Soviet nuclear-powered satellite fell from its orbit around the earth and crashed in a remote area of Canada's frigid Northwest Territories. Within hours, while the world speculated on the radiation danger, the U.S. Department of Energy Nuclear Emergency Search Team (NEST) had arrived in Edmonton, Alberta to assist the Canadian government in the search for radioactive debris.

"Operation Morning Light," as the joint Canadian-American effort was called, marked the first "all-out" deployment of NEST, probably the most highly trained group of its kind in the world. NEST is composed of scientists and technicians from the Department of Energy, the national weapons laboratories, the Environmental Protection Agency, and EG&G, Inc., an international science and technology firm based in Wellesley, Massachusetts.

EG&G, in addition to providing approximately 75 of the 120 scientific and technical personnel from the United States, also designed and built the gamma-ray detectors which were the basic search tool on board three Canadian C-130 Hercules transports. Supplemental work in the 1,500 square mile search area was accomplished using an EG&G Convair 580T aircraft.

The Convair and its crew handled infrared aerial scanning and scientific aerial photography.

The tangible results from each of the C-130 missions were a multitude of tape recorded data establishing aircraft position and documenting the radiation levels encountered along each leg of the journey. Using the computers in an EG&G mobile laboratory—as well as giant computer facilities at the national laboratories—the radiation information was sorted out. Gamma ray emissions from natural uranium and thorium deposits in the earth had to be distinguished from emissions from the satellite's radioactive fragments. Once the data were studied and a real "hit" pinpointed, a helicopter team equipped with maps and hand-held radiation counters was sent in to locate the debris and bring it back for analysis.

Although this was the first major test of the emergency team, EG&G is no stranger to airborne radiometric surveying. As a prime contractor to the Department of Energy, EG&G, through its Aerial Measurement Operations in Las Vegas, Nevada; Santa Barbara, California, and Andrews Air Force Base near Washington, D.C., regularly monitors environmental radiation at government facilities, such as the nuclear test site in Nevada, and conducts airborne surveys of natural background radiation over the United States. The accumulation of such background data makes it possible later on to discern and measure manmade sources of radiation whether in the form of emissions from a nuclear power plant or from a lost industrial radiation source.

"Operation Morning Light" was the first big test of this country's nuclear emergency team. The fact that the operation was successful in one of nature's harshest environments speaks well for the concept and for the technology which makes it possible to respond so effectively to a nuclear accident.

Some Family Records Are Irreplaceable, Warns Family Management Specialist

COLLEGE STATION--Some general guidelines can help a family decide where to keep personal and family records and papers, says Dr. Carolyn McKinney, family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System. Consider getting a safe deposit box--annual rental is fairly inexpensive, she suggests.

However, don't use it as a "catchall" for souvenirs and unimportant papers. As a general guide, keep only those records that cannot be replaced or would be extremely costly or troublesome to replace in the safe deposit box.

This might include items such as: --birth, death and marriage certificates, --deeds and titles to real estate and personal property, --citizenship, adoption and veteran's papers,

--divorce decrees, --carbon copy of a will, --copy of household inventory, --important contracts, and --bond and stock certificates. Other important papers such as tax receipts, cancelled checks, loan payment books, insurance policies, and family health records are usually easily replaced, the specialist explains.

So, keep these in a well organized household file. Keep a current list of where family papers are located so that they can be easily found, she adds.

Combined killed-virus vaccines are available for eastern and western equine encephalitis (EEE and WEE) and also for eastern, and western and Venezuelan (VEE), EEE and WEE occur seasonally in many parts of the country.

HOMEMAKER NEWS

By ELAINE HOUSTON County Extension Agent

The Association of Home Appliance Manufacturer's offer this advice for smooth-top range care.

'Appearance' is one of the sales features which has helped push 'smooth top' cooking range sales to more than 10 per cent of today's electric range total.

Maintaining the appearance of the cooking surface thus becomes important to a growing number of consumers.

The smooth top range features a tough glass ceramic surface containing heating elements. This surface gets hot during cooking. But when cool it's easily cleaned.

Discoloration of the cooking area may be due to baked-on soil from splatters or spillovers, mineral deposits from steam, or marbling of the surfaces if soft metal (such as aluminum or copper) utensils are used.

To prevent these problems you should read and carefully follow the individual manufacturer's instructions for the care and cleaning of your smooth top range.

Most manufacturers recommend use of a specific cleaning agent and method. Do not use a metallic cleaning pad which may scratch the surface.

Wipe cleaning materials off the surface before using the range unless instructions specify otherwise. Some manufacturers use a cleaner-conditioner which should not be removed. Also, spills, splatters or water droplets from steam should be wiped up as soon as the surface cools.

Use a clean paper towel rather than a cloth or sponge which may contain residual soil or grease. Heavily burned-on soil may require gentle scraping with a razor blade in the same manner as cleaning paint from window glass. Several commonly available cleaning products are recommended by various range manufacturers. These should be used to remove stains caused by mineral deposits or markings from metal pans.

It's best, and easiest, to remove these after every use rather than letting stains build up.

Also-- Avoid abrasive cleaners which may scratch the surface and encourage discoloration as small amounts of food are burned into the scratches.

--Don't use strong caustic materials such as chlorine bleach, dry-cleaning fluids or oven cleaners.

--Be sure cooking utensils are clean and free of burn or bumps.

--Keep salt, dirt, sand or other foreign substances from between the surface element and the utensils.

--Turn diamond rings away from the surface to prevent scratching it.

--Don't use food release sprays which may 'burn on'.

--Don't cook food directly on the smooth top surface. Remember, too, that commercial foil containers such as those used for TV dinners, pot pies, and other thin foil wrappers may melt if placed directly on the hot surface.

This will damage it, of course.

--Don't let utensils 'cook dry' since this may damage or crack the glass ceramic surface.
