Serving McLean and the Area Since 1903

The community of Alanreed has certainly done a remarkable job on their clean-up campaign. I drove through the fog Thursday to watch as a group of judges looked over the work of the Alanreed Community Improvement League, and I was impressed.

And it has been a community wide effort, with people of all ages helping haul off trash and clean up vacant lots.

The city of McLean is going to have to really make a super effort on our clean-up campaign to match what our neighbor has done.

The massive clean-up in Wichita Falls continues following the killer tornadoes that swept that area recently.

McLean High School band director Mike Lee came by the News office the other day and told us that his parents house was hit by the tornado. His parents lost the roof off their home in the storm, but were not injured.

However, while they were in a shelter following the storm, a woman told them that she had lost everything, and had been shivering in the cold when a stranger asked if she needed a jacket. She said she did and he handed her a McLean High School letter jacket! She had never heard of McLean when she told the story to the Lee's, and she did not know the name of the man who gave her the jacket.

It is indeed a small world. I heard another interesting story when I went to Alanreed the other day. Seems a local Alanreed resident put his two dogs in his pickup, started the vehicle, and put it in park. He got out to check on something, and looked up in time to see his dogs hit the gear shift. The pickup careened down a hill, and finally crashed.

The vehicle was totaled, but the dogs were unharmed!

Don't forget to be preparing historical material about your family for the June edition. We have had some tell us that they are working on stories, but we need several to make this an interesting paper for the McLean High area.

We would like one picture with each story.

Deadline for all material for the June special edition is May 1. The paper we are planning will be much bigger than we normally run, so we will need several weeks to prepare copy for it.

If someone from the News office has contacted you about histories of your church, your family, or your business, don't forget to get them ready.

We are happy to welcome Margaret Parsons of Lefors as our Lefors correspondent. This will be the third week for the special section on Lefors, and I think she is doing a terrific job.

We hope the people of Lefors will help Margaret all they can. She is planning several special items about the community for our pages.

We would also be interested in historical pictures from Lefors, such as the ones we have been running for McLean. If anyone has a good one, call Margaret.

We made another mistake last week! Can you believe that? The city of McLean will pay El Paso Natural Gas $1.93 per thousand cubic feet for its gas as of June 1. I heard my source say the raise would be about 60 cents, and somehow I came up with $2.63.

McLean citizens will pay $2.75 for their gas.

Stella Lee, city secretary, said that it looks like the gas prices will be raised every three months because of the energy shortage.

Cash And Knives Taken

Two Businesses Burglarized Saturday

Burglars took cash, cigarettes, and a collection of pocket knives in two separate break-ins in McLean early Saturday morning.

Darryl Middleton, manager of the Dixie Restaurant, discovered the burglary at the restaurant when she opened at 5:15 a.m. Saturday morning.

A screen door at the back of the building had apparently been forced open, and a padlock on a steel door had been cut off.

Mrs. Middleton found a small steel cabinet in the office area of the restaurant had been rifled with and the drawer out of the cash register missing and a bank bag of money and checks gone.

Paul Middleton, owner of the business, said that he had about three-days receipts plus change for the business in the money sacks.

The only other item missing, Middleton said, was a carton of cigarettes out of the office.

A few hours after the burglary at the Dixie was discovered, Dale Glass, owner of J.M. Glass Oil Co., found that the west door of his service station was open.

Glass was unsure how the thieves forced open the door, but he found that a collection of pocket knives and change out of a vending machine had been taken.

A small metal cabinet had also apparently been searched, but nothing was missing.

Deputy sheriff Jimmy Shelton and Constable J.D. Fish investigated the two break-ins, but at press time had no leads in the incidents.

Neil Middleton, son of the owners of the Dixie, discovered the drawer from the cash register and the money sacks taken in the burglary in a shelter belt west of town Saturday afternoon.

Law enforcement officers from Pampa are helping in the investigation.

Since Jan. 1, McLean merchants have lost a reported $12,000 in cash in various burglaries.

Council Calls May 15 Bond Election

The McLean City Council met in special session Tuesday at 2 p.m. to set May 15 as the date for the special election to approve $1,028,000 in bonds to replace the city gas system.

The city has been losing 10-50 percent of all gas purchased for the last several years.

The bonds, if approved, will back a loan from the Farmers Home Administration. The loan, at five percent interest, will be paid back over a 40 year period.

The first payment on the loan, if the bonds are approved, will be Jan. 1, 1980 for $25,700. Subsequent payments will average $60,000 per year.

The loan payments will come from income received from the city's gas system, water system, and sewer system.

The total amount to be paid back over the 40 year period will be $2,380,650 if note payments are made early. That amount includes $1,352,650 for interest.

The city purchases 90 percent of the gas used from El Paso Natural Gas Company, at the rate of $1.93 cents per thousand cubic feet effective June 1. The city consumer pays $2.75 per mcf for gas used in the city limits, and $2.90 per mcf outside the city.

City superintendent Bob Glenn said that the average loss of gas due to leaky pipes was about 20 percent. The largest loss of gas occurred in April, 1974, when the city lost 50 percent of the gas purchased.

The loan would be used to remove the old gas lines, and replace them with new pipe.

The city bought 14 million cubic feet of gas in March, and 22 million in January. During the summer months, consumption drops to less than one million cubic feet, according to Stella Lee, city secretary.

In other business, council members discussed the city's responsibility in maintaining the Hillcrest Cemetery, and decided to present a permanent policy for consideration at the next council meeting.

The council also read, for the second time, the ordinance for raising the gas rates.

Haynes read a letter from Wayne Steddum, Pampa manager of Sammons Corporation, the owner of the cable television system in McLean. Steddum stated in the letter that the company is planning extensive renovation of the McLean facility, and that service will be interrupted for a few hours May 2.

The council will meet in a special called meeting May 15 at 8 p.m. in City Hall to canvas the results of the bond election.

Attending the meeting were Mayor Sam Haynes; council members George Terry, Miro Pagan, Dale Glass, and Boyd Meador; city secretary Stella Lee; city superintendent Bob Glenn; and Bob Davis of Fred Baker Associates of Amarillo, a representative of the bonding company.

School Board Votes Little League Priority Use Of Baseball Field

The Little League Baseball program was given priority use of the school-owned baseball field at a special board meeting of the McLean school board Monday night at the school business office.

The motion came following a lengthy discussion between a group representing the Little League and a group representing adults who want to play softball on the facility.

Representing the Little League, George Eck said that at a previous board meeting several years ago, the school board agreed to give the Little League exclusive use of the facility and pay the lights and water bills in return for the organization upgrading and maintaining the field.

Superintendent Carl Dwyer said "The board has been forced into a difficult position... because I have been unable to find any record of such an agreement in the board minutes."

Jack Dorsett, representing a group of adults and older school students, said that his group wanted to use the field to practice on Wednesday nights, when the Little League was not using the facility.

Charles Wynn said that that might be a problem because there were several adult groups who might want to use the field, and there wasn't time for all of them to practice.

Board member Jim Allison said "The school doesn't have the right to grant exclusive use to any one party to use school property."

Following the discussion the two groups agreed to meet and work out a set of rules governing the use of the field.

The board passed a motion to give the Little League priority use of the field. They also passed a motion requiring that the lights at the field be off by approximately 10 p.m. every night.

In other action Dwyer said that the district did not award trophies for first place in golf. The board voted to buy trophies for the trophy case for McLean High School's first place wins by the boys' and girls' golf teams.

Attending the meeting were board members Tony Smitherman, June Suggs, Joe Magee, Jim Allison, Darryl Herndon, Lloyd Hunt, and Joe Billingsley; superintendent Carl Dwyer; principals Dorman Thomas and Ron Cummings; business manager, Shirley Johnson; and David Tolleson, Thomas Wayne Tolleson, Jack Dorsett, Bob McDowell, Charles Wynn, George Eck, Gerald Tate, and Casper Smith.

Paris, Bailey Elected To Club Board

J.D. Paris of Miami and Billy Jack Bailey were elected new members of the board of directors of the McLean Country Club at a stockholders meeting of the club April 17 at the club building.

Re-elected to the board were June Suggs and Robert Keuhler of Groom.

Bailey, Paris, and Mrs. Suggs will serve three years, and Keuhler was elected for a one-year term.

Officers of the board for 1978-79 are R.B. Cook of Pampa, president; Glynn Bell of Shamrock, vice-president; Thelma Hill, secretary; and Mrs. Suggs, treasurer.

Other members of the governing board are J.T. Trew and A.J. Garland.

Approximately 40 stockholders were present for the voting.

The members also discussed the swimming pool, and set May 29 as the tentative opening date for the pool.

Local Man Is Elected To Post

Johnnie Carpenter of McLean was one of nine board members elected by stockholders of the Red River Savings and Loan Association April 17 in a meeting at the association's office in Shamrock.

Other directors elected were Glynn Bell, Don Biggers, Phil Cates, Ernest Henderson, Raymond Moore, Rex Shoulders, Don Tarver, and Don Wells.

The Board of Directors elected Glynn Bell Chairman, Don Wells, Treasurer, and Janis Baxter secretary.

Two Qualify For State

Brown, Day Win Trip To Austin

McLean High School seniors Johnny Day and Jeanette Brown will travel to Austin May 3 to participate in the University Interscholastic League state literary finals.

Day placed second in science in the UIL Regional competition at Levelland last week to qualify for the meet, and Miss Brown was first in shorthand.

The students will compete May 5 in their respective contests.

The only other regional qualifier to place in an event was Leslie Skipper who won 4th in the high jump. Only the first two places qualify for the state meet.

Mrs. Jan Johnson shorthand sponsor, and Bob Glass, science sponsor will accompany the youngsters to Austin.

MHS's regional qualifiers in boys track and golf are competing in Levelland this week for a chance to go to the state finals.

Other competitors at the regional meet were Randy Suggs in feature writing and Steve Ellison in science.

SUPPORT OF MILLION DOLLAR BOND ELECTION WILL BE McLEAN'S MOST ECONOMICAL CHOICE

When the city fathers ordered a gas line to be laid in McLean with used pipe in 1926, they had no way of knowing that the abundant supply of natural gas in the Panhandle of Texas would someday dry up. Nor could they have visualized that their city would be using the same gas lines 53 years later.

The McLean city council has set May 15 as the date for city residents to vote on replacing the leaky gas lines in the city. This is a serious question for the voters to consider, and they should study the issue closely before making a decision.

The city has been losing anywhere from 10-50 percent of the gas that it purchases every month.

Engineers have studied the problem for years, and finally decided that the loss is coming from the leaky gas lines.

The cost of replacing the city gas lines will be $1,028,000. Farmers Home Administration has agreed to give the city a loan at five percent interest, repayable over a 40 year period.

The bond election will ensure that the loan will be paid. THERE IS NO TAX INCREASE. The loan will be paid from revenue from the city's gas, water, and sewage systems.

The first payment in January, 1980 will be $25,700 and the next thirty-nine payments will be about $60,000.

Can the city afford to make these payments out of revenue? There is legally no way that the city can raise taxes to pay this indebtedness, so the money must come from the utility income.

Let's look at some figures. In 1977, McLean bought 106,700 thousand cubic feet of gas from El Paso Natural Gas Co., and used 20,777 mcf from the city's wells.

If that rate of consumption remains constant next year, the city will pay El Paso $205,931 at the new rate of $1.93.

The city would receive $350,572.75 from consumers, if no gas was lost. This would leave $144,641.75 for the city to use to pay the loan and for other expenses connected with the gas system.

Now, these figures will not remain the same year after year. In the first place, the city will continue to pay more and more for its gas, because gas rates are going up across the country. And the city will probably continue to raise rates for the consumer to offset the costs.

But IF THERE WAS NO GAS LOST, due to leaky pipes, the city could easily make the loan payment, and use the extra money for services for the citizens of McLean.

We have a choice in McLean. We can vote no on the bonds, and continue to lose an average of 20 percent of gas purchased every month. The safety hazard will undoubtedly grow, because the old pipes are not going to be better as the years go by. We could vote no, because we want to wait until sometime in the future to replace the lines. In 1977, when the city first started trying to secure funding to replace the gas lines, the estimated cost was $700,000. Just two years later, inflation has forced that amount up over the million dollar mark.

So if we wait, we are looking at more and more money, and we will continue paying for gas leaking out of city lines.

IS TELEVISION DULLING YOUR CHILD'S MIND?

How is television changing the character of modern man? No one knows the answer to that, but in a recent Los Angeles Times article by Barry Siegel, some interesting facts about television, and perhaps a partial answer to that question, are revealed.

Siegel describes some research which shows that people watching television slip into an predominately "alpha" state.

The alpha state is the one in which the brain is relaxed; for example, when a person is daydreaming, or starting into a fireplace, or starting to fall asleep.

One scientist hooked 40 children up to an electroence-phalogram (EEG), which measures brain waves.

He then connected the EEG to a television set, so that the TV would stay on only as long as the child remained visually attentive.

The children were told to pay attention. Not one child could keep the television set on for more than 30 seconds!

The conclusions of the test are not definitive, but they certainly pose some questions about what television is doing to us and to our children.

It is possible to infer from these tests that by allowing our children and ourselves to watch endless hours of television, we are slowing down our ability to concentrate. And the young child is developing patterns which will possibly slow down his ability to concentrate, a vital skill for learning in school.

Should we deny ourselves the pleasure of watching television? Should we forbid the boob tube to our children? No, that is not the answer. But we must learn that television is like any other drug (a drug or alcohol can also put us into an alpha state). All methods of relaxing can be good if used properly.

The danger is in using any of them to excess.

So...turn off that television occasionally and get reacquainted with your family, and rediscover the pleasure of reading.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Gov. Bill Clements, sticking to his unpredictable ways, said this week he will veto any measures passed by the Legislature designed to raise interest rates on home mortgages.

Piling one surprise on top of another, Clements didn't just say he would but actually did veto a bill that would have let truckers set their own rates before bringing them to the Railroad Commission for approval.

Clements described the trucking legislation as "bad public policy," and said the bill could have exempted the trucking industry from state antitrust laws.

The governor saved his heaviest criticism for legislation that would have raised the home loan interest rate allowed by law from 10 to 12 percent. Clements said it took a certain amount of "audacity" on the part of the savings and loan industry "to come to the Legislature asking for more money" when S&L institutions are already reporting record-high profits.

Sen. Bill Meier, the sponsor of legislation to raise the home loan interest ceiling, predicted a recession because of Clements' move "and more probably a depression in the Texas housing industry."

But Clements said he had heard no convincing arguments to raise interest rates "when the average Texan is fighting just to keep his head above water financially."

Spokesmen for the savings and loan industry said first-time home buyers and sellers of used homes would find fewer mortgages on the market and higher down payments on those mortgages that were available.

Clements said he would consider calling a special session if there is a serious housing slump.

Consumer groups warned to beware of a "backdoor" strategy that might be used to, in effect, get the interest rates increased by reducing the penalties for charging more than the 10 percent now allowed by the law. A bill reducing penalties for savings and loan institutions that charge more than the legal limit has already passed the House.

Meier, who last week managed to pass legislation that will weaken the Consumer Protection Act, said Clements' announcement of a veto means his legislation is "dead."

A veto can be overridden by a two-thirds vote but it hasn't been done since 1941 and up until that time, the Legislature has seen fit to overturn only 25 gubernatorial vetoes.

Teacher Pay Raises

Now that legislators know how Clements feels about interest rates, they can get on to other more pressing matters such as teacher pay raises. The governor has kept no one in the dark about how he feels on this subject.

From the outset, Clements made clear that he favored only a 5.1 percent pay boost for all state employees, including teachers.

This week, seven of the state's largest school districts sent representatives to a half-hour meeting with the governor, and Linus Wright, Dallas school superintendent, said Clements made clear "he was not going to change his position" on teacher pay raises.

All of the superintendents said the governor's proposal of a 5.1 percent increase was unacceptable. "That is not going to be sufficient to meet the needs of our teachers," Austin superintendent Jack Davidson told reporters after meeting with the governor.

The superintendents said local school districts will have to come up with the money for bigger teacher pay raises if the Legislature goes ahead with Clements' plan to boost salaries by only 5.1 percent. Wright, Davidson and other superintendents felt a 7 percent pay hike was justified.

School officials said Clements wasn't all that receptive to their pleas for teachers to be treated differently than other state employees. But the superintendents found the governor "very receptive" to the suggestion that large metropolitan districts like Dallas and Houston be treated differently.

Most of the larger school districts have already put in to effect some of the changes Clements called for during his gubernatorial campaign last year, such as competency testing for students.

The governor also assured the superintendents that they will have a voice in school matters through Clements' education task force.

Short Snorts

The government has hoisted the warning flags again, telling American motorists there may not be enough gas to run their cars on by the time summer rolls around. Despite the warnings, consumption is up by four percent over this time last year.

One demand that Gov. Clements has been making this session is that legislators vote into law some kind of proposal that would give the voters initiative and referendum rights. Such legislation, for all practical purposes, has been beached in both houses, but Clements has threatened a special session if no such bills reach his desk.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Speaker of the House Bill Clayton seem to have come up with a proposal that will pacify the governor—indirect initiative powers. Under such a plan, voters would be able to present laws to the Legislature and have them considered like any other major piece of legislation. Clements said he would support indirect initiative powers as long as voter-proposed laws have to come up for a vote in the Legislature.

Bingo was a loser in the House of Representatives this week. Sen. Babe Schwartz of Galveston got his bill legalizing the game through the Senate but his legislation fell 16 votes short of the required 100 votes for a constitutional amendment to pass the House. Lawmakers also failed to approve legislation banning corporate and personal income taxes.

While the federal government was telling us to drive less and save gasoline, legislators were getting their tanks filled up with "gasohol," a fuel made by mixing gasoline and alcohol made from farm products.

Rep. Dan Kubiak, the prime mover behind "gasohol" in this state, said it could serve as "one of the immediate answers to our fuel crisis."

"Gasohol" is made from 90 percent gasoline and 10 percent alcohol and backers of the fuel claim it can be burned in most cars without any expensive alterations. The idea of "gasohol" is 70 years old. Kubiak pointed out, and 11 states already have it available. Cars burning "gasohol" supposedly have less engine wear and produce fewer pollutants.

"OF COURSE I KNOW THE VALUE OF A DOLLAR. THAT'S WHY I'M ASKING FOR TWO."

Plans for McLean's 70th anniversary celebration, ex-students reunion, and rodeo June 16 and 17 are becoming more exciting every week. Parade chairman George Terry has received word that Shamrock will send at least three floats to the parade, and the Hi-Steppers Twirling group of Borger will be in the parade.

Terry said that he hopes that several clubs and businesses in McLean will try to have floats or other entries for the parade. He also stresses that all the businesses in downtown should plan to put up bunting or otherwise decorate for the festivities.

This celebration could be one of the biggest boosts that McLean has had in a long time. When all the exes come back home, we should surprise them with how much McLean has grown and improved since they left.

Mr. Merchant, if you're planning to refurbish your business building in the next few months, why not do it before the reunion? And don't forget to order bunting for your store from one of the Lions Club members.

DEATHS

KURT JOHNSON

Kurt Johnson, a former student in the McLean public schools, was killed in a plane crash March 23, near Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Johnson, 24, was the son of Paul and Vera Ann Johnson, who have lived in Sulphur Springs since they left McLean in 1967. He also was a resident of Sulphur Springs, along with his sister, Kamilla Johnson, 22, and his brother Sam Johnson, 17.

Johnson was in the sixth grade when his family moved from McLean. He and his family resided at the El Paso Natural Gas Co. camp east of McLean.

He was born Sept. 5, 1954, in Midland. He graduated from Sulphur Springs High School in 1972, East Texas State University in 1976, and Spartan School of Aeronautics in 1978.

He was a pilot for Great Western Airlines. Johnson was a member of Wesley United Methodist Church.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE FOSTER WHALEY

capitol comments

Most past legislatures have been stuck with one name or another and the legislative watchdogs are already sharpening their pens in search of an apt description for the 1979 lawmakers. Several have struck a common chord and described this session as a heyday for lobbyists and earmarked this session "The Special Interest Legislature," or "Year of the Lobbyist."

After the Sharpstown scandals of the early 1970s, the "Reform Legislature" of 1973 passed the Lobby Control Act that required lobbyists to register with the Secretary of State and report all of their expenditures.

Since that time the lobby has kept up a low profile in Austin, but this year the lobbyists are back, crowding the trough of the State Treasury seeking special favors, or some are squealing like pigs caught in a fence, protesting and trying to kill laws they consider damaging to their special interests.

Despite the legitimate claim of undue lobby influence, I think the lobby can have a constructive role in the legislative process. My personal experience with lobbyists this session has been 90 percent pleasant and beneficial. No large, downstate special interest group with particular legislative goals contributed to my campaign for office, so your representative has been able to listen to both sides of every issue and vote by conscience rather than lobby dictates.

In fact, I have been a strong vocal opponent of some of the special interest groups, including lobbyists for the church-related schools and colleges who are seeking state funds which I think rightfully should go to our public school teachers and public institutions.

Of course, the lobby (sometimes called the "third house") is only one of several sources of information on bills, but in many cases the information is useful in decision-making.

Several distress calls from constituents this week have made me aware of how you as an individual may benefit from belonging to an association that is represented by a lobbyist headquartered in Austin. These constituents were caught unaware by bills they believed would be harmful to their best interests and they wanted to protest all or parts of these bills. If these people had been members of an association, they would have been informed by their lobbyist of the dates of committee hearings, which is the best time for citizen protest on bills.

In my view, nearly every session deals with too many narrow, special interest laws that keep legislators from concentrating efforts on broader public interest issues. But the 66th session is making some headway in this area and I'll discuss some of these larger issues at a later date.

In the meantime, legislators continue in daily sessions, passing good and bad bills, with and without lobby influence. The Democratic process demands constant attention from citizens who believe in representative government rather than government by special interests. I encourage you to learn of committee hearings and participate at the sessions whenever possible. And telephone and write me of your concerns. In this way, the "people's lobby" can have a part in the lawmaking process.

The dumb cane plant (dieffenbachia) is grown for its pretty green and white leaves—but the plant is poisonous, producing painful swelling of the tongue if chewed.

Daniel Webster (1782-1852), the great orator, was so shy as a child he could not stand up in school to recite.

In the Kitchen BY LINDA HAYNES

A perfect salad can make even an ordinary meal into a feast. Try this one for your next company meal.

The salad was adapted by Lisa Patman from the Merimar Restaurant in Ft. Worth. Carol Allison adapted the recipe from Lisa's version, and my sister provided the poppy seed dressing recipe to set the whole thing off.

SPINACH SALAD

Loose Marbles told us the best way to check for fresh mushrooms. Make sure the wide part of the mushroom is still closed next to the stem, and you will have fresh mushrooms!

Another hint for the salad... don't wash the spinach until you get ready to prepare the salad...and then wash, wash, wash...it tends to have much sand.

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 tsp. dry mustard
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/2 cup wine vinegar
- 3 Tablespoons onion, grated
- 1 cup salad oil
- 1 tsp. poppy seed
- Combine sugar, dry mustard, salt, and vinegar in blender jar and blend. Add onion and blend. Add oil slowly, blending constantly until thick. Add poppy seed. Store in refrigerator.

1 bunch of fresh spinach, washed thoroughly, torn into pieces

1/2 pound of fresh mushrooms, sliced

1/2 head fresh cauliflower, divided into florets

5 strips bacon, fried crisp

1 boiled egg, grated

Ask IRS For Identification

Taxpayers should ask to see the credentials of any individual claiming to be an Internal Revenue Service employee, the IRS cautioned. From time to time, individuals pose as employees of the IRS to collect money for what these impostors refer to as unpaid taxes, according to the IRS.

In almost every instance, taxpayers who owe money will receive written notification before being contacted in person by the IRS. In addition, every IRS employee who makes public contact carries distinctive identification and is required to show it when conducting official business.

Taxpayers who doubt the validity of the credentials offered can verify the person's employment by immediately contacting the nearest IRS office.

KEEPING FROZEN FOOD SAFE:

Consumers should be aware of the safety of frozen food from the time they first look into the display case in the store. Be careful to buy frozen foods stored in commercial freezer cabinets only if they are stored under the line marked for safety level. Buy frozen or refrigerated foods last, then take them directly home to the freezer. Home freezer temperature should be kept at 0 degrees F. Labels on many frozen foods tell whether the product can be refrozen. It's not a good idea to refreeze unless the label says this won't harm the food.

When using frozen foods, plan ahead so they can be defrosted in the refrigerator. Thawing foods at room temperature for long periods can permit bacteria to grow, producing illness. Thaw foods in the refrigerator.

HANDLING CREAM-FILLED PASTRIES SAFETY:

Improperly handled cream-filled pastries are one of the main sources of food-borne illness. To protect against staph bacteria growing and causing illness, cook cream filling for pastries and custard fillings to at least 165 degrees F. immediately after it is mixed. Then pour it into the baked shell or crust.

Custards should be baked in the serving dish or crust. Unless these are to be served immediately, refrigerate them promptly at 40 degrees F. or below—and keep them at this temperature until served. If pastries have a meringue topping, use only the whites from good quality, clean eggs with uncracked shells. After browning at 426 degrees F., the pastry should be served immediately or refrigerated.

The key to avoiding food-borne illness from cream-filled pastries is to be sure not to let them stand at room temperature—either eat hot from the stove or refrigerate immediately for later eating.

HOMEMAKER HINTS:

Main sources of polyunsaturated fats are soy, safflower, corn and cottonseed

LOOSE MARBLES

BY LISA PATMAN

One of the greatest fears that besets townspeople of small communities is the idea that less populated communities will fade out of existence, being gradually replaced by larger, although not necessarily better, townsites.

For several years now small towns have been racing around trying to find new ways to get their names on the map, so to speak, by way of unusual events aimed at attracting tourists, and the news media, to the old home place.

In order to do this there has been a rash of wacky ideas which have actually served to do exactly what their creators intended - an annual cow chip throwing contest has put the town of Beaver, Oklahoma, if not on the pages of the New York Times, at least in the footnotes of many news broadcasts, and consequently has drawn thousands of interest tossers and observers to the small burg.

Similarly, armadillo beauty contests, pancake races, and the selection of young girls as Miss Peach Fuzz, or some such title, have served to draw national attention to otherwise rarely noted cities.

I have been thinking lately that we could use something of this sort here. (City officials may want to either take notes at this point, or indeed, clip this entire column for further reference to these attention-getting ideas.)

For starters, how about a chicken chip throwing contest. Committeemen could probably find many generous citizens who would graciously donate mounds of dried chicken chips for the contest. The wonderful thing about this contest is that anyone could enter. There would be little muscle required in throwing one of the light, dainty chips, thereby eliminating the need for any handicap divisions.

It might be a good idea to coat the chips with a fluorescent material and hold the contest at night, certainly a novel idea which no other community has as yet hit upon. The only drawback I can see to this is that in announcing the winner, we would have to have a particularly gifted speaker, for saying "Chicken Chip Champion" very quickly can get a person in a lot of trouble. Try saying it three times, really fast, and you'll see what I mean.

Another idea that was suggested to me was a two-part contest, certain to be a super-attention getter. This would be an "Ugliest Man" and an "Ugliest Woman" contest. There could be several divisions, with judging being done in swimsuit, formal wear, and street wear contests. A category for least talented could also be included.

And we couldn't forget the question and answer part, which would give points to the person giving the stupidest, most uninformed, most totally irrelevant answers.

Naturally one of the most coveted awards would be "least congenial", an award voted by the contestants themselves to be the most deserving person. I imagine the race for that title would be a real pot-boiler.

Another particularly exciting event could be run in a manner similar to the Indianapolis 500, the Annual Jaywalking Contest.

In this contest, participants would be required to jaywalk across a busy street while avoiding irate and harried truckdrivers and/or old tired farmers, driving pick-up trucks, who have never quite been able to remember which of those pedals is the brake and which is the accelerator.

With the jogging craze going full force, we could hold some sort of marathon. There could be awards for persons who run the farthest without getting their cigarettes sweaty, persons who can run the most yards before giving in to the temptation of a cold beer, and even an award for the person who can come up with the best excuse NOT to participate in the marathon.

Some of you folks may have some thoughts of your own on this subject. If so, why not relay them to some of our city officials. I know that I certainly got a stunned and thoughtful response when I gave them mine.

Just keep on thinking, we'll get this town on "60 Minutes" yet.

County Agents Judge Alanreed Community Improvements Thursday;

Judging for the Texas Community Improvement Association annual contest was held last week. All incorporated or unincorporated communities with a population of 1,000 or less at time of entry are eligible to enter the contest and compete for cash awards.

The city of Alanreed is competing with Wildorado, Vega and Follette. There is no set requirements. Each community chooses its own goals and they are based on individual family and community needs and wants.

Alanreed entered the competition two years ago. This years program started in the gymnasium with the attendance of many citizens, the school students and staff and four judges, a group of county agents.

The program opened with school students singing America, America The Beautiful and the Alanreed School Song under the direction of Cynthia Hauck. Robert Bruce, president of the local association presided over the informal committee reports.

Larry Long, school superintendent reported on Community organization. Officers are rotated each year and selections are made at one of the monthly community development meetings. A salad supper is always planned to precede the business meeting. As chairman of the community action committee Larry is always at school to discuss and exchange ideas with people who come to visit school.

Dick Bode reported on improving Family Living. This includes improvements of property and family needs such as grounds landscaped, nutritional needs and family spending. More than twelve homes in Alanreed have done major remodeling and repair this year. Four families added rooms to their homes. There have been more than one hundred fifty trees planted.

Citizen Involvement is sparked with the help of chairman Granville Simmons. The purpose is to help older citizens, new families, to keep youth involved in community decision making and to build good will between rural and urban neighbors.

Bill Crisp reported on Economic development and Business Management. There have been in the past year three new fields of love grass, two irrigation wells drilled, a catfish farm under construction, new fences, new corrals, four new fields of alfalfa, five new irrigation systems. Alanreed also has a fiddle maker and a bootmaker. One resident has built a new barn.

Polly Harrison is chairman of Community services and facilities and she reported on our utilities, repair and upkeep of the school gym Home Demonstration club programs and the businesses in Alanreed which include two service stations, two restaurants, two mechanics and the post office, and our hopes for the future that someone will build a grocery store. This committee hopes to stress programs on health during the coming year.

The final report given by association secretary Lena Carter was a recapping of activities in the community the past year. This included the school carnival, Thanksgiving supper, Christmas program, Homecoming and Monthly suppers.

The people of Alanreed have been invited to attend a supper at Lefors on May 7 to help members of that community to establish their own improvement group. Ray Gossett of Lefors attended the judging at Alanreed. He is president of the Lefors group.

After the program the judges made a tour with officers of the association. The group then returned to the gym for refreshments and visiting and to view the handwork of local people. The judges did say to several people that they enjoyed the informal committee reports and felt they had come from the hearts of the "good old boys" of the town of Alanreed.

Alanreed School Has Interesting History Since 1901 Beginning

By Jeanette Fish

Remember your school song written to the tune of some very familiar melody that you will hear over and over during your life? So familiar that you might be rushing down a busy highway or in a large department store but you could hear that tune and be rushed with feeling. Notice how it always slows down your head and takes you somewhere special in time to place where something says "I belong here, this is mine." Somebody, one time gave you that song and that feeling and no one can take it away. Alanreed School is giving that same gift to a new generation. The tune is "Mary Is A Grand Old Name" by George M. Cohan. The words were written by Cynthia Hauck, Alanreed teacher. There is a universal stillness when a school song is sung. This is understood and honored by the bitterest sports opponents or the staunchest political enemies.

That magic stillness can be felt at Alanreed when less than twenty voices solemnly sing -- AND THERE IS SOMETHING HERE THAT IS SO DEAR. YOU'RE A GRAND OLD SCHOOL.

The first school was built in Alanreed in 1901. Mrs. Marvin Hall, still known as "Miss Rose" graduated from that school in 1921 and through the years has continued to be the central guiding force. Miss Rose has taught three generations of Alanreeders and served for many years as principal and school superintendent. She and Marvin have four children who are all school teachers. Many of their students have gone on to become teachers, doctors, lawyers, professionals in many areas and just a lot of happy well adjusted people due to her influence.

Miss Rose spoke at a recent school program and gave a history of the school to the students. The pupils of kindergarten through eighth grade listened quietly for more than a half hour as she recounted the past of the school. "I love children", she said, "and it has always fascinated me to see how a young mind works and to do everything I could to develop those qualities." The group was also reminded that the present gymnasium will be fifty years old when some of today's students graduate the eighth grade. It has a history of its own. Much of the brick in the building is from the old Alanreed Bank.

Miss Rose made many trips to Austin to the Capitol through the years to "do battle face to face with the legislature", to comply with state regulations and to keep up to date on educational trends. She has continued to do substitute teaching this year so that the teachers could attend workshops in reading, math, drug and criminal law and gifted and talented workshops where they were given materials to set up their own testing and program for gifted students.

Many people have worked hard for seventy eight years to give a good education to our children. Others have tried to instill a certain spirit of pride in their roots. Miss Rose has done both and for that we thank her. THERE IS SOMETHING HERE THAT IS SO DEAR YOU'RE A GRAND OLD SCHOOL.

A school song and the feeling cost nothing. The best things in life are free.

There will be a Community Singing at the Alanreed Baptist Church on Friday night, April 27. Everyone who enjoys singing is invited to bring some cookies and punch and come and sing from 7 to 9 p.m.

Don't let the fear of growing roses keep you from enjoying their beauty and fragrant odor. A plant that has survived the rigors and perils of this world for 60 million years is far tougher than you would believe. Take advantage of this "Year of the Rose" and add the "Queen of the Garden" to your garden.

Roses Can Add Beauty Without Undue Effort

Sooner or later, everyone who has a garden thinks about growing roses. Unfortunately, many people don't ever get beyond the dreaming stage because they are overwhelmed by the thought that growing roses is beyond their ability.

Hogwash! Certainly, there are the usual sorts of demands made by a living plant—proper soil conditions, regular fertilizing, sufficient water, good drainage, occasional pruning, a regular program of insect and disease control. And certain varieties do require special pampering. There are, however, hundreds of different varieties of roses, and you can easily find several that will suit your needs, tastes and maintenance requirements.

According to the American Association of Nurserymen, this is an excellent time to add fragrant, colorful rose bushes to your landscape. The nursery association is cooperating with other horticultural organizations in a nationwide "Year of the Rose" campaign in 1979, saluting that flower as a symbol of love, friendship and peace.

Although there are many varieties of roses, most can be placed into six basic classes. Hybrid Teas are hardy plants with long pointed buds whose blooms are noted for their fragrance and delicate color. Floribunda roses are known for their abundant flowers and adaptability to most any landscape purpose. Grandiflora roses combine the beauty of the Hybrid Tea with the free-flowering form of the Floribunda. They are generally taller and harder than the Hybrid Tea. Climbing roses are not a type of rose per se but include all varieties which have long shoots or canes that can be trained to many forms and purposes. Miniature roses are plants dwarfed in every respect, hardy, ever-blooming and used as potted plants both indoors and out. Finally, Shrub roses are a species of wild roses, extremely hardy, vigorous and easy to maintain.

Not only are there many kinds of roses, they may also be used in many different ways—to brighten a dull entryway, as a colorful border, climbing on a fence or privacy screen, growing in tubs to beautify a city garden, as a colorful foreground for an evergreen hedge, in a rock garden. Consult your local nursery garden center for the type of rose most appropriate to your particular needs and locations.

Being okay with yourself and others is a matter of concern to Gary Burghoff, better known as "Radar" of the TV series "M*A*S*H." Burghoff is the host of a
